1 SAMUEL 21 [†] [1] Then David came to [v]Nob to [w]Ahimelech the priest. And Ahimelech [x]came to meet David trembling and said to him, “Why are you alone, and no one with you?” [2][†]And David said to Ahimelech the priest, “The king has charged me with a matter and said to me, ‘Let no one know anything of the matter about which I send you, and with which I have charged you.’ I have made an appointment with the young men for such and such a place. [3]Now then, what do you have on hand? Give me five loaves of bread, or whatever is here.” [4][†]And the priest answered David, “I have no common bread on hand, but there is [y]holy bread—[z]if the young men have kept themselves from women.” [5]And David answered the priest, “Truly women have been kept from us as always when I go on an expedition. The vessels of the young men are holy even when it is an ordinary journey. How much more today will their vessels be holy?” [6]So the priest gave him [y]the holy bread, for there was no bread there but the bread of the Presence, [a]which is removed from before the LORD, to be replaced by hot bread on the day it is taken away.

[7][†]Now a certain man of the servants of Saul was there that day, detained before the LORD. His name was [b]Doeg the Edomite, the chief of Saul’s herdsmen.

[8]Then David said to Ahimelech, “Then have you not here a spear or a sword at hand? For I have brought neither my sword nor my weapons with me, because the king’s business required haste.” [9]And the priest said, [c]“The sword of Goliath the Philistine, whom you struck down in [d]the Valley of Elah, behold, it is here wrapped in a cloth behind the ephod. If you will take that, take it, for there is none but that here." And David said, "There is none like that; give it to me."

David Flees to Gath

[10][†]And David rose and fled that day from Saul and went to [e] Achish the king of Gath. [11]And the servants of Achish said to him, "Is not this David the king of the land? [f] Did they not sing to one another of him in dances,

> 'Saul has struck down his thousands,
>   and David his ten thousands'?"

[12]And David [g] took these words to heart and was much afraid of Achish the king of Gath. [13]So he changed his behavior before them and pretended to be insane in their hands and made marks on the doors of the gate and let his spittle run down his beard. [14][†]Then Achish said to his servants, "Behold, you see the man is mad. Why then have you brought him to me? [15]Do I lack madmen, that you have brought this fellow to behave as a madman in my presence? Shall this fellow come into my house?"

1 SAMUEL 22 [†]David departed from there and escaped to [h] the cave of [i] Adullam. And when his brothers and all his father's house heard it, they went down there to him. [2][†][j] And everyone who was in distress, and everyone who was in debt, and everyone who was bitter in soul, [1] gathered to him. And he became commander over them. And there were with him [k] about four hundred men.

[3]And David went from there to Mizpeh of Moab. And he said to the king of Moab, "Please let my father and my mother stay [2] with you, till I know what God will do for me." [4]And he left them with the king of Moab, and they stayed with him all the time that David was in the stronghold. [5][†]Then the prophet [l] Gad said to David, "Do not remain in the stronghold; depart, and go into the land of Judah." So David departed and went into the forest of Hereth.

6[†]Now Saul heard that David was discovered, and the men who were with him. Saul was sitting at Gibeah under [m] the tamarisk tree on the height with his spear in his hand, and all his servants were standing about him. 7And Saul said to his servants who stood about him, "Hear now, people of Benjamin; will the son of Jesse [n] give every one of you fields and vineyards, will he make you all commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds, 8[†]that all of you have conspired against me? No one discloses to me [o] when my son makes a covenant with the son of Jesse. None of you [p] is sorry for me or discloses to me that my son has stirred up my servant against me, [q] to lie in wait, as at this day." 9Then answered [r] Doeg the Edomite, who stood by the servants of Saul, "I saw the son of Jesse [s] coming to Nob, to [t] Ahimelech the son of Ahitub, 10 [u] and he inquired of the LORD for him and [v] gave him provisions and gave him the sword of Goliath the Philistine."

11Then the king sent to summon Ahimelech the priest, the son of Ahitub, and all his father's house, the priests who were at Nob, and all of them came to the king. 12And Saul said, "Hear now, son of Ahitub." And he answered, "Here I am, my lord." 13And Saul said to him, "Why have you conspired against me, you and the son of Jesse, in that you have given him bread and a sword and [u] have inquired of God for him, so that he has risen against me, [w] to lie in wait, as at this day?" 14Then Ahimelech answered the king, "And who among all your servants is so faithful as David, who is the king's son-in-law, and captain over [3] your bodyguard, and honored in your house? 15Is today the first time [u] that I have inquired of God for him? No! Let not the king impute anything to his servant or to all the house of my father, for your servant has known nothing of all this, [x] much or little." 16And the king said, "You shall surely die, Ahimelech, you and all your father's house." 17And the king said to [y] the guard who stood about him, "Turn and kill the priests of the LORD, because their hand also is with David, and they knew that he fled and did not disclose it to me." But the servants of the king would not put out their hand to strike the priests of the LORD. 18Then the king said to Doeg, "You turn and strike the priests." And Doeg the Edomite turned and struck down the priests, [z] and he killed on that day eighty-five persons who wore the linen ephod. [19][†]And Nob, the city of the priests, he put to the sword; [a]both man and woman, child and infant, ox, donkey and sheep, he put to the sword.

[20][†]But one of the sons of Ahimelech the son of Ahitub, named [b]Abiathar, escaped and fled after David. [21]And Abiathar told David that Saul had killed the priests of the LORD. [22]And David said to Abiathar, "I knew on that day, [c]when Doeg the Edomite was there, that he would surely tell Saul. I have occasioned the death of all the persons of your father's house. [23][d]Stay with me; do not be afraid, for he who seeks my life seeks your life. With me you shall be in safekeeping."

David Saves the City of Keilah

1 SAMUEL 23 [†]Now they told David, "Behold, the Philistines are fighting against [e]Keilah and are robbing the threshing floors." [2]Therefore David [f]inquired of the LORD, "Shall I go and attack these Philistines?" And the LORD said to David, "Go and attack the Philistines and save Keilah." [3]But David's men said to him, "Behold, we are afraid here in Judah; how much more then if we go to Keilah against the armies of the Philistines?" [4]Then David [f]inquired of the LORD again. And the LORD answered him, "Arise, go down to Keilah, [g]for I will give the Philistines into your hand." [5]And David and his men went to Keilah and fought with the Philistines and brought away their livestock and struck them with a great blow. So David saved the inhabitants of Keilah.

[6][h]When Abiathar the son of Ahimelech had fled to David to Keilah, he had come down with an ephod in his hand. [7][†]Now it was told Saul that David had come to Keilah. And Saul said, "God has given him into my hand, for he has shut himself in by entering a town that has gates and bars." [8]And Saul summoned all the people to war, to go down to Keilah, to besiege David and his men. [9]David knew that Saul was plotting harm against him. And he said to Abiathar the priest, [i]"Bring the ephod here." [10]Then David said, "O LORD, the God of Israel, your servant has surely heard that Saul seeks to come to Keilah, to destroy the city on my account. [11]Will the men of Keilah surrender me into his hand? Will Saul come down, as your servant has heard? O LORD, the God of Israel, please tell your servant." And the LORD said, "He will come down." [12]Then David said, "Will the men of Keilah surrender me and my men into the hand of Saul?" And the LORD said, [j]"They will surrender you." [13]Then David and his men, [k]who were about six hundred, arose and departed from Keilah, and they went [l]wherever they could go. When Saul was told that David had escaped from Keilah, he gave up the expedition. [14][†]And David remained in the strongholds in the wilderness, in the hill country [m]of the wilderness of [n]Ziph. And Saul sought him every day, but God did not give him into his hand.

Saul Pursues David

[15]David saw that Saul had come out to seek his life. David was in the wilderness of Ziph at Horesh. [16][†]And Jonathan, Saul's son, rose and went to David at Horesh, and strengthened his hand in God. [17]And he said to him, "Do not fear, for the hand of Saul my father shall not find you. You shall be king over Israel, and I shall be next to you. [o]Saul my father also knows this." [18][p]And the two of them made a covenant before the LORD. David remained at Horesh, and Jonathan went home.

[19][†][q]Then the Ziphites went up to Saul at Gibeah, saying, "Is not David hiding among us in the strongholds at Horesh, on the hill of Hachilah, which is south of [r]Jeshimon? [20]Now come down, O king, according to all your heart's desire to come down, [s]and our part shall be to surrender him into the king's hand." [21]And Saul said, [t]"May you be blessed by the LORD, [u]for you have had compassion on me. [22]Go, make yet more sure. Know and see the place where his foot is, and who has seen him there, for it is told me that he is very cunning. [23]See therefore and take note of all the lurking places where he hides, and come back to me with sure information. Then I will go with you. And if he is in the land, I will search him out among all the thousands of Judah." [24][†]And they arose and went to Ziph ahead of Saul.

Now David and his men were [v]in the wilderness of Maon, [w]in the Arabah to the south of [r]Jeshimon. [25]And Saul and his men went to seek him. And David was told, so he went down to the rock and lived in the wilderness of Maon. And when Saul heard that, he pursued after David in the wilderness of Maon. 26Saul went on one side of the mountain, and David and his men on the other side of the mountain. And David was hurrying to get away from Saul. As Saul and his men were closing in on David and his men to capture them, 27[†]a messenger came to Saul, saying, “Hurry and come, for the Philistines have made a raid against the land.” 28So Saul returned from pursuing after David and went against the Philistines. Therefore that place was called the Rock of Escape. [1] 29[†] [2] And David went up from there and lived in the strongholds of [x] Engedi.

David Spares Saul’s Life

1 SAMUEL 24 [†] [1] [y] When Saul returned from following the Philistines, he was told, “Behold, David is in the wilderness of Engedi.” 2[†]Then Saul took [z] three thousand chosen men out of all Israel and went to seek David and his men in front of the Wildgoats’ Rocks. 3And he came to the sheepfolds by the way, where there was a cave, and Saul went in [a] to relieve himself. [2] Now David and his men were sitting in the innermost parts [b] of the cave. 4And the men of David said to him, [c] “Here is the day of which the LORD said to you, ‘Behold, I will give your enemy into your hand, and you shall do to him as it shall seem good to you.’” Then David arose and stealthily cut off a corner of Saul’s robe. 5And afterward [d] David’s heart struck him, because he had cut off a corner of Saul’s robe. 6[†]He said to his men, [e] “The LORD forbid that I should do this thing to my lord, the LORD’s anointed, to put out my hand against him, seeing he is [f] the LORD’s anointed.” 7So David persuaded his men with these words [g] and did not permit them to attack Saul. And Saul rose up and left the cave and went on his way.

8Afterward David also arose and went out of the cave, and called after Saul, “My lord the king!” And when Saul looked behind him, David bowed with his face to the earth and paid homage. 9And David said to Saul, “Why do you listen to the words of men who say, ‘Behold, David seeks your harm’? 10Behold, this day your eyes have seen how the LORD gave you today into my hand in the cave. [h] And some told me to kill you, but I spared you. [3] I said, ‘I will not put out my hand against my lord, [f] for he is the LORD’s anointed.’ 11See, my father, see the corner of your robe in my hand.

For by the fact that I cut off the corner of your robe and did not kill you, you may know and see that [i] there is no wrong or treason in my hands. I have not sinned against you, though [j] you hunt my life to take it. [12][†] [k] May the LORD judge between me and you, may the LORD avenge me against you, but my hand shall not be against you. [13]As the proverb of the ancients says, 'Out of the wicked comes wickedness.' But my hand shall not be against you. [14]After whom has the king of Israel come out? After whom do you pursue? [l] After a dead dog! [m] After a flea! [15] [k] May the LORD therefore be judge and give sentence between me and you, and see to it and [n] plead my cause and deliver me from your hand."

[16]As soon as David had finished speaking these words to Saul, Saul said, [o] "Is this your voice, my son David?" And Saul lifted up his voice and wept. [17]He said to David, "You are more righteous than I, [p] for you have repaid me good, whereas I have repaid you evil. [18]And you have declared this day how you have dealt well with me, in that you did not kill me when the LORD put me into your hands. [19]For if a man finds his enemy, will he let him go away safe? So may the LORD reward you with good for what you have done to me this day. [20][†]And now, behold, [q] I know that you shall surely be king, and that the kingdom of Israel shall be established in your hand. [21] [r] Swear to me therefore by the LORD that you will not cut off my offspring after me, and [s] that you will not destroy my name out of my father's house." [22][†]And David swore this to Saul. Then Saul went home, but David and his men went up [t] to the stronghold.

The Death of Samuel

1 SAMUEL 25 [†] [u]Now Samuel died. And all Israel assembled [v]and mourned for him, and they buried him [w]in his house at [x]Ramah.

David and Abigail

Then David rose and went down to [y]the wilderness of Paran. [2][†]And there was a man in [z]Maon whose business was in [a]Carmel. The man was very rich; he had three thousand sheep and a thousand goats. [b]He was shearing his sheep in Carmel. [3][†]Now the name of the man was Nabal, and the name of his wife Abigail. The woman was discerning and beautiful, but the man was harsh and badly behaved; [c]he was a Calebite. [4][†]David heard in the wilderness that Nabal [b]was shearing his sheep. [5]So David sent ten young men. And David said to the young men, “Go up to Carmel, and go to Nabal and greet him in my name. [6]And thus you shall greet him: [d]‘Peace be to you, and peace be to your house, and peace be to all that you have. [7]I hear that you have shearers. Now your shepherds have been with us, and we did them no harm, [e]and they missed nothing all the time they were in Carmel. [8]Ask your young men, and they will tell you. Therefore let my young men find favor in your eyes, for we come [f]on a feast day. Please give whatever you have at hand to your servants and to your son David.’”

[9]When David’s young men came, they said all this to Nabal in the name of David, and then they waited. [10][†]And Nabal answered David’s servants, [g]“Who is David? Who is the son of Jesse? [h]There are many servants these days who are breaking away from their masters. [11]Shall I take [i]my bread and my water and my meat that I have killed for my shearers and give it to [j]men who come from I do not know where?” [12]So David’s young men turned away and came back and told him all this. [13]And David said to his men, “Every man strap on his sword!” And every man of them strapped on his sword. David also strapped on his sword. And [k]about four hundred men went up after David, [k]while two hundred [l]remained with the baggage.

them. [15]Yet the men were very good to us, and we suffered no harm, [n] and we did not miss anything when we were in the fields, as long as we went with them. [16]They were [o] a wall to us both by night and by day, all the while we were with them keeping the sheep. [17]Now therefore know this and consider what you should do, [p] for harm is determined against our master and against all his house, and he is such [q] a worthless man that one cannot speak to him."

[18]Then Abigail made haste and took two hundred loaves and two skins of wine and five sheep already prepared and five seahs [1] of parched grain and a hundred clusters of raisins and two hundred cakes of figs, and laid them on donkeys. [19]And she said to her young men, "Go on before me; behold, I come after you." But she did not tell her husband Nabal. [20]And as she rode on the donkey and came down under cover of the mountain, behold, David and his men came down toward her, and she met them. [21]Now David had said, "Surely in vain have I guarded all that this fellow has in the wilderness, [r] so that nothing was missed of all that belonged to him, and he has [s] returned me evil for good. [22][†] [t] God do so to the enemies of David [2] and more also, if by morning I leave so much as one male of all who belong to him."

[23][†]When Abigail saw David, she hurried [u] and got down from the donkey [v] and fell before David on her face and bowed to the ground. [24]She fell at his feet and said, [w] "On me alone, my lord, be the guilt. Please let your servant speak in your ears, and hear the words of your servant. [25]Let not my lord regard [q] this worthless fellow, Nabal, for as his name is, so is he. Nabal [3] is his name, and folly is with him. But I your servant did not see the young men of my lord, whom you sent. [26]Now then, my lord, [x] as the LORD lives, and as your soul lives, because [y] the LORD has restrained you from bloodguilt and from [z] saving with your own hand, now then [a] let your enemies and those who seek to do evil to my lord be as Nabal. [27]And now let this [b] present that your servant has brought to my lord be given to the young men who follow my lord. [28]Please forgive the trespass of your servant. For the LORD will certainly make my lord [c] a sure house, because my lord [d] is fighting the battles of the LORD, and evil shall not be found in you so long as you live. [29]If men rise up to pursue you and to seek your life, the life of my lord shall be bound in the bundle of the living in the care of the LORD your God. And the lives of your enemies [e] he shall sling out as from the hollow of a sling. [30]And when the LORD has done to my lord according to all the good that he has spoken concerning you and has appointed you prince [4] over Israel, [31]my lord shall have no cause of grief or pangs of conscience for having shed blood without cause or for my lord [z] working salvation himself. And when the LORD has dealt well with my lord, then remember your servant."

[32][†]And David said to Abigail, [f]"Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, who sent you this day to meet me! [33]Blessed be your discretion, and blessed be you, [y] who have kept me this day from bloodguilt [z] and from working salvation with my own hand! [34]For as surely [g] as the LORD, the God of Israel, lives, [y] who has restrained me from hurting you, unless you had hurried and come to meet me, truly by morning there had not been left to Nabal so much as one male." [35][†]Then David received from her hand what she had brought him. And he said to her, [h]"Go up in peace to your house. See, I have obeyed your voice, and I have granted your petition."

[36]And Abigail came to Nabal, and behold, [i] he was holding a feast in his house, like the feast of a king. And Nabal's heart [j] was merry within him, for he was very drunk. So she told him nothing [k] at all until the morning light. [37][†]In the morning, when the wine had gone out of Nabal, his wife told him these things, and his heart died within him, and he became as a stone. [38]And about ten days later [l] the LORD struck Nabal, and he died.

[39]When David heard that Nabal was dead, he said, [f]"Blessed be the LORD who has [m] avenged the insult I received at the hand of Nabal, [n] and has kept back his servant from wrongdoing. [o] The LORD has returned the evil of Nabal on his own head." Then David sent and [p] spoke to Abigail, to take her as his wife. [40]When the servants of David came to Abigail at Carmel, they said to her, "David has sent us to you to take you to him as his wife." [41]And she rose [q] and bowed with her face to the ground and said, "Behold, your handmaid is a servant to wash the feet of the servants of my lord." [42]And Abigail hurried and rose and mounted a donkey, and her five young women attended her. She followed the messengers of David and became his wife.

[43][†]David also took Ahinoam of [r] Jezreel, [s] and both of them became his wives. [44][†]Saul had given Michal his daughter, David’s wife, to Palti the son of Laish, who was of Gallim.

David Spares Saul Again

1 SAMUEL 26 [†] [t] Then the Ziphites came to Saul at Gibeah, saying, “Is not David hiding himself on the hill of Hachilah, which is on the east of Jeshimon?” [2]So Saul arose and went down to [u] the wilderness of Ziph with [v] three thousand chosen men of Israel to seek David in the wilderness of Ziph. [3]And Saul encamped on the hill of Hachilah, which is beside the road on the east of Jeshimon. But David remained in the wilderness. When he saw that Saul came after him into the wilderness, [4]David sent out spies and learned that Saul had indeed come. [5]Then David rose and came to the place where Saul had encamped. And David saw the place where Saul lay, with [w] Abner the son of Ner, the commander of his army. Saul was lying within [x] the encampment, while the army was encamped around him.

[6][†]Then David said to Ahimelech the Hittite, and to Joab’s brother [y] Abishai the son of Zeruiah, [z] “Who will go down with me into the camp to Saul?” And Abishai said, “I will go down with you.” [7]So David and Abishai went to the army by night. And there lay Saul sleeping within [x] the encampment, with his spear stuck in the ground [a] at his head, and Abner and the army lay around him. [8]Then Abishai said to David, [b] “God has given your enemy into your hand this day. Now please let me pin him to the earth with one stroke of the spear, and I will not strike him twice.” [9]But David said to Abishai, “Do not destroy him, for who can put out his hand [c] against the LORD’s anointed and be guiltless?” [10]And David said, [d] “As the LORD lives, [e] the LORD will strike him, or [f] his day will come to die, [g] or he will go down into battle and perish. [11][†] [h] The LORD forbid that I should put out my hand against the LORD’s anointed. But take now the spear that is [i] at his head and the jar of water, and let us go.” [12]So David took the spear and the jar of water from Saul’s head, and they went away. No man saw it or knew it, nor did any awake, for they were all asleep, because [j] a deep sleep from the LORD had fallen upon them.

[13]Then David went over to the other side and stood far off on the top of the hill, with a great space between them. [14]And David called to the army, and to Abner the son of Ner, saying, “Will you not answer, Abner?” Then Abner answered, “Who are you who calls to the king?” [15]And David said to Abner, “Are you not a man? Who is like you in Israel? Why then have you not kept watch over your lord the king? For one of the people came in to destroy the king your lord. [16][†]This thing that you have done is not good. [k] As the LORD lives, you deserve to die, because you have not kept watch over your lord, the LORD’s anointed. And now see where the king’s spear is and the jar of water that was [l] at his head.”

[17]Saul recognized David’s voice and said, [m] “Is this your voice, my son David?” And David said, “It is my voice, my lord, O king.” [18]And he said, [n] “Why does my lord pursue after his servant? For what have I done? What evil is on my hands? [19][†]Now therefore let my lord the king hear the words of his servant. If it is the LORD who has stirred you up against me, may he accept an offering, but if it is men, may they be cursed before the LORD, [o] for they have driven me out this day that I should have no share in [p] the heritage of the LORD, saying, ‘Go, serve other gods.’ [20]Now therefore, let not my blood fall to the earth away from the presence of the LORD, for the king of Israel has come out to seek [q] a single flea like one who hunts a partridge in the mountains.”

[21]Then Saul said, [r] “I have sinned. Return, my son David, for I will no more do you harm, because my life was precious in your eyes this day. Behold, I have acted foolishly, and have made a great mistake.” [22]And David answered and said, “Here is the spear, O king! Let one of the young men come over and take it. [23] [s] The LORD rewards every man for his righteousness and his faithfulness, for the LORD gave you into my hand today, and I would not put out my hand against the LORD’s anointed. [24]Behold, as your life was precious this day in my sight, so may my life be precious in the sight of the LORD, and may he deliver me out of all tribulation.” [25]Then Saul said to David, “Blessed be you, my son David! You will do many things and will [t] succeed in them.” So David went his way, and Saul returned to his place.

David Flees to the Philistines

1 SAMUEL 27 [†]Then David said in his heart, “Now I shall perish one day by the hand of Saul. There is nothing better for me than that I should escape to the land of the Philistines. Then Saul will despair of seeking me any longer within the borders of Israel, and I shall escape out of his hand.” [2]So David arose and went over, he and [u]the six hundred men who were with him, [v]to Achish the son of Maoch, king of Gath. [3]And David lived with Achish at Gath, he and his men, every man with his household, and David with [w]his two wives, Ahinoam of Jezreel, and Abigail of Carmel, Nabal’s widow. [4]And when it was told Saul that David had fled to Gath, he no longer sought him.

[5][†]Then David said to Achish, “If [x]I have found favor in your eyes, let a place be given me in one of the country towns, that I may dwell there. For why should your servant dwell in the royal city with you?” [6][†]So that day Achish gave him [y]Ziklag. Therefore Ziklag has belonged to the kings of Judah to this day. [7][z]And the number of the days that David lived in the country of the Philistines was a year and four months.

[8][†]Now David [a]and his men went up and made raids against [b]the Geshurites, [c]the Girzites, and [d]the Amalekites, for these were the inhabitants of the land from of old, [e]as far as Shur, to the land of Egypt. [9]And David would strike the land and would leave neither man nor woman alive, but would take away the sheep, the oxen, the donkeys, the camels, and the garments, and come back to Achish. [10][†]When Achish asked, “Where have you [f]made a raid today?” David would say, “Against the Negeb of Judah,” or, “Against the Negeb of [g]the Jerahmeelites,” or, “Against the Negeb of [h]the Kenites.” [11]And David would leave neither man nor woman alive to bring news to Gath, thinking, “lest they should tell about us and say, ‘So David has done.’” Such was his custom all the while he lived in the country of the Philistines. [12]And Achish trusted David, thinking, “He has made himself an utter stench to his people Israel; therefore he shall always be my servant.”

Saul and the Medium of En-dor

1 SAMUEL 28 [†]In those days [i] the Philistines gathered their forces for war, to fight against Israel. And Achish said to David, “Understand that you and your men are to go out with me in the army.” [2]David said to Achish, “Very well, you shall know what your servant can do.” And Achish said to David, “Very well, I will make you my bodyguard for life.”

[3][†]Now [j] Samuel had died, and all Israel had mourned for him and buried him [k] in Ramah, his own city. And Saul had put [l] the mediums and the necromancers out of the land. [4]The Philistines assembled and came and encamped [m] at Shunem. And Saul gathered all Israel, and they encamped [n] at Gilboa. [5]When Saul saw the army of the Philistines, he was afraid, and his heart trembled greatly. [6][†]And when Saul inquired of the Lord, [o] the Lord did not answer him, either [p] by dreams, or [q] by Urim, or by prophets. [7][†]Then Saul said to his servants, [r] “Seek out for me a woman who is a medium, that I may go to her and inquire of her.” And his servants said to him, “Behold, there is a medium at [s] En-dor.”

[8]So Saul [t] disguised himself and put on other garments and went, he and two men with him. And they came to the woman by night. And he said, [u] “Divine for me by a spirit and bring up for me whomever I shall name to you.” [9]The woman said to him, “Surely you know what Saul has done, [l] how he has cut off the mediums and the necromancers from the land. Why then are you laying a trap for my life to bring about my death?” [10]But Saul swore to her by the Lord, [v] “As the Lord lives, no punishment shall come upon you for this thing.” [11]Then the woman said, “Whom shall I bring up for you?” He said, “Bring up Samuel for me.” [12][†]When the woman saw Samuel, she cried out with a loud voice. And the woman said to Saul, “Why have you deceived me? You are Saul.” [13][†]The king said to her, “Do not be afraid. What do you see?” And the woman said to Saul, “I see a god coming up out of the earth.” [14]He said to her, “What is his appearance?” And she said, “An old man is coming up, and he is wrapped [w] in a robe.” And Saul knew that it was Samuel, and he bowed with his face to the ground and paid homage.

[15][†]Then Samuel said to Saul, “Why have you disturbed me by bringing me up?” Saul answered, “I am in great distress, for the Philistines are warring against me, and [x]God has turned away from me and [y]answers me no more, either by prophets or by dreams. Therefore I have summoned you to tell me what I shall do." [16]And Samuel said, "Why then do you ask me, since the LORD has turned from you and become your enemy? [17]The LORD has done to you as he spoke by me, for [z]the LORD has torn the kingdom out of your hand and given it to your neighbor, David. [18] [a]Because you did not obey the voice of the LORD and did not carry out his fierce wrath against Amalek, therefore the LORD has done this thing to you this day. [19][†]Moreover, the LORD will give Israel also with you into the hand of the Philistines, and tomorrow you [b]and your sons shall be with me. The LORD will give the army of Israel also into the hand of the Philistines."

[20]Then Saul fell at once full length on the ground, filled with fear because of the words of Samuel. And there was no strength in him, for he had eaten nothing all day and all night. [21]And the woman came to Saul, and when she saw that he was terrified, she said to him, "Behold, your servant has obeyed you. [c]I have taken my life in my hand and have listened to what you have said to me. [22]Now therefore, you also obey your servant. Let me set a morsel of bread before you; and eat, that you may have strength when you go on your way." [23]He refused and said, "I will not eat." But his servants, together with the woman, urged him, and he listened to their words. So he arose from the earth and sat on the bed. [24][†]Now the woman had a fattened calf in the house, and she quickly killed it, and she took flour and kneaded it and baked unleavened bread of it, [25][†]and she put it before Saul and his servants, and they ate. Then they rose and went away that night.

The Philistines Reject David

1 SAMUEL 29 [†] [d]Now the Philistines had gathered all their forces at [e]Aphek. And the Israelites were encamped by [f]the spring that is in [g]Jezreel. [2]As [h]the lords of the Philistines were passing on by hundreds and by thousands, and David and his men were passing on in the rear [i]with Achish, [3]the commanders of the Philistines said, "What are these Hebrews doing here?" And Achish said to the commanders of the Philistines, "Is this not David, the servant of Saul, king of Israel, who has been with me [j]now for days and years, and since he deserted to me [k] I have found no fault in him to this day.” [4][†]But [h] the commanders of the Philistines were angry with him. And the commanders of the Philistines said to him, “Send the man back, that he may return [l] to the place to which you have assigned him. He shall not go down with us to battle, [m] lest in the battle he become an adversary to us. For how could this fellow reconcile himself to his lord? Would it not be with the heads of the men here? [5]Is not this David, of whom they sing to one another in dances, > [n] ‘Saul has struck down his thousands,

> and David his ten thousands’?”

[6][†]Then Achish called David and said to him, [o] “As the Lord lives, you have been honest, and to me it seems right that [p] you should march out and in with me in the campaign. For I have found nothing wrong in you from the day of your coming to me to this day. Nevertheless, the lords do not approve of you. [7]So go back now; and go peaceably, that you may not displease the lords of the Philistines.” [8][†]And David said to Achish, “But what have I done? What have you found in your servant from the day I entered your service until now, that I may not go and fight against the enemies of my lord the king?” [9]And Achish answered David and said, “I know that you are as blameless in my sight [q] as an angel of God. Nevertheless, [r] the commanders of the Philistines have said, ‘He shall not go up with us to the battle.’ [10]Now then rise early in the morning [s] with the servants of your lord who came with you, and start early in the morning, and depart as soon as you have light.” [11][†]So David set out with his men early in the morning to return to the land of the Philistines. But the Philistines went up to [t] Jezreel.

David’s Wives Are Captured

1 SAMUEL 30 [†]Now when David and his men came to [u] Ziklag on the third day, [v] the Amalekites had [w] made a raid against the Negeb and against Ziklag. They had overcome Ziklag and burned it with fire [2]and taken captive the women and all [1] who were in it, both small and great. They killed no one, but carried them off and went their way. [3]And when David and his men came to the city, they found it burned with fire, and their wives and sons and daughters taken captive. [4]Then David and the people who were with him raised their voices and wept until they had no more strength to weep. [5]David's [x]two wives also had been taken captive, Ahinoam of Jezreel and Abigail the widow of Nabal of Carmel. [6][†]And David was greatly distressed, for the people spoke [y]of stoning him, because all the people were bitter in soul, [2] each for his sons and daughters. But David strengthened himself in the LORD his God.

[7] [z]And David said to Abiathar the priest, the son of Ahimelech, "Bring me the ephod." So Abiathar brought the ephod to David. [8] [a]And David inquired of the LORD, "Shall I pursue after this [b]band? Shall I overtake them?" He answered him, "Pursue, for you shall surely overtake [c]and shall surely rescue." [9][†]So David set out, and [d]the six hundred men who were with him, and they came to the brook Besor, where those who were left behind stayed. [10]But David pursued, he and four hundred men. [e]Two hundred stayed behind, who were too exhausted to cross the brook Besor.

[11][†]They found an Egyptian in the open country and brought him to David. And they gave him bread and he ate. They gave him water to drink, [12]and they gave him a piece of a cake of figs and two clusters of raisins. And when he had eaten, [f]his spirit revived, for he had not eaten bread or drunk water for three days and three nights. [13]And David said to him, "To whom do you belong? And where are you from?" He said, "I am a young man of Egypt, servant to an Amalekite, and my master left me behind because I fell sick three days ago. [14][†] [g]We had made a raid against the Negeb of [h]the Cherethites and against that which belongs to Judah and against the Negeb of Caleb, and we burned Ziklag with fire." [15]And David said to him, "Will you take me down to this band?" And he said, "Swear to me by God that you will not kill me or deliver me into the hands of my master, and I will take you down to this [i]band."

David Defeats the Amalekites

[16]And when he had taken him down, behold, they were spread abroad over all the land, eating and drinking and dancing, because of all the great spoil

they had taken from the land of the Philistines and from the land of Judah. [17][†]And David struck them down from twilight until the evening of the next day, and not a man of them escaped, except four hundred young men, who mounted camels and fled. [18][j]David recovered all that the Amalekites had taken, and David rescued his two wives. [19]Nothing was missing, whether small or great, sons or daughters, spoil or anything that had been taken. [j]David brought back all. [20]David also captured all the flocks and herds, and the people drove the livestock before him, [3] and said, “This is David’s spoil.”

[21]Then David came to [k]the two hundred men who had been too exhausted to follow David, and who had been left [k]at the brook Besor. And they went out to meet David and to meet the people who were with him. And when David came near to the people he greeted them. [22]Then all the wicked and worthless fellows among the men who had gone with David said, “Because they did not go with us, we will not give them any of the spoil that we have recovered, except that each man may lead away his wife and children, and depart.” [23]But David said, “You shall not do so, my brothers, with what the Lord has given us. He has preserved us and given into our hand the band that came against us. [24]Who would listen to you in this matter? [l]For as his share is who goes down into the battle, so shall his share be who stays by the baggage. They shall share alike.” [25][†]And he made it a statute and a rule for Israel from that day forward to this day.

[26][†]When David came to Ziklag, he sent part of the spoil to his friends, the elders of Judah, saying, “Here is a present for you from the spoil of the enemies of the Lord.” [27]It was for those in [m]Bethel, in Ramoth of the Negeb, in [n]Jattir, [28]in [o]Aroer, in Siphmoth, in [p]Eshtemoa, [29]in Racal, in the cities of [q]the Jerahmeelites, in the cities of [r]the Kenites, [30]in [s]Hormah, in Bor-ashan, in Athach, [31]in [t]Hebron, for all the places where David and his men had roamed.

The Death of Saul

1 SAMUEL 31 [†] [u]Now the Philistines were fighting against Israel, and the men of Israel fled before the Philistines and fell slain [v]on Mount Gilboa. [2]And the Philistines overtook Saul and his sons, and the Philistines struck down [w] Jonathan and [x] Abinadab and Malchi-shua, the sons of Saul. [3] [y] The battle pressed hard against Saul, and the archers found him, and he was badly wounded by the archers. [4] [†] [z] Then Saul said to his armor-bearer, “Draw your sword, and thrust me through with it, lest these [a] uncircumcised come and thrust me through, and mistreat me.” But his armor-bearer would not, [b] for he feared greatly. Therefore Saul took his own sword [c] and fell upon it. [5] And when his armor-bearer saw that Saul was dead, he also fell upon his sword and died with him. [6] Thus Saul died, and his three sons, and his armor-bearer, and all his men, on the same day together. [7] [†] And when the men of Israel who were on the other side of the valley and those beyond the Jordan saw that the men of Israel had fled and that Saul and his sons were dead, they abandoned their cities and fled. And the Philistines came and lived in them.

[8] The next day, when the Philistines came to strip the slain, they found Saul and his three sons fallen on Mount Gilboa. [9] So they cut off his head and stripped off his armor and sent messengers throughout the land of the Philistines, [d] to carry the good news [e] to the house of their idols and to the people. [10] [†] [f] They put his armor in the temple of [g] Ashtaroth, and they fastened his body to the wall of [h] Beth-shan. [11] [†] [i] But when the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead heard what the Philistines had done to Saul, [12] [j] all the valiant men arose and went all night and took the body of Saul and the bodies of his sons from the wall of Beth-shan, and they came to Jabesh [k] and burned them there. [13] And they took their bones [l] and buried them under [m] the tamarisk tree in Jabesh and [n] fasted seven days.

Study Notes for 1 Samuel

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:1–7:17 The Story of Samuel. Samuel's birth is God's answer to the prayer of a childless woman. Samuel becomes a prophet who guides Israel as they move from the period of the judges to the period of the kings. These chapters also tell the story of Eli, the priest at Shiloh, and his two wicked sons, Hophni and Phineas.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:1–28 These verses record the birth and dedication of Samuel.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:1 Ramathaim-zophim is called Ramah in v. 19 and 2:11. Samuel later lived there (7:17; 8:4; 25:1). It is presumably the city in the land of Zuph where Saul meets him (9:5).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:2 two wives. Probably Hannah was Elkanah's first wife, since she is named first. He most likely married Peninnah because of Hannah's inability to have children.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:3 year by year. This may have been an annual family gathering, including women and children. the LORD of hosts. This is the first appearance in the Bible of the title "the LORD of hosts," to whom Elkanah sacrifices and Hannah prays (v. 11) at Shiloh. The title is used in Samuel several times and very frequently in the Psalms and the Prophets. "Hosts" can refer to any large group of items such as heavenly bodies (Isa. 40:26), angelic beings (Josh. 5:14), the armies of Israel (1 Sam. 17:45), or all creatures (Gen. 2:1). Shiloh is 20 miles (32 km) north of Jerusalem. The tent of meeting was set up there in Josh. 18:1.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:4 portions. Elkanah's sacrifice is a peace offering. Parts of the sacrificial animal are burned, parts are given to the priest, and parts are eaten by the people who brought the sacrifice (Lev. 7:11–36; see also 1 Sam. 2:12–17).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:7, 9 house of the LORD . . . temple of the LORD. Was this a tent, or a building with solid walls? The word "house" refers to a dwelling without specifying the material it was made of. In 2 Sam. 7:2 David says, “the ark of God dwells in a tent,” and in 2 Sam. 7:6 the Lord says, “I have not lived in a house . . . to this day.” First Samuel 2:22 mentions the “tent of meeting.” On the other hand, “doorpost of the temple” (1:9) and “opened the doors” (3:15) suggest something more permanent. Perhaps there was a more solid structure surrounding a tent.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:8 Am I not more to you than ten sons? Elkanah tries to comfort Hannah because of her barrenness.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:9 The seat was a symbol of Eli’s authority; normally, people sat on the ground.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:11 I will give him to the LORD all the days of his life may mean that Hannah will dedicate her son as a Nazirite. According to Numbers 6, people could make a special vow to separate themselves to serve the Lord for a time. This involved letting no razor . . . touch one’s head, eating and drinking nothing from the grapevine, and not going near a dead body. Hannah mentions only the razor in the text, but that probably stood for the entire vow. According to Lev. 27:1–8, a person as young as a month old could be given to the Lord with such a vow.

FACT

Children were of great importance in ancient times for several reasons. They carried on the family name and helped to care for the family’s flocks and herds. Women who could not have children were often looked down upon because children were considered a blessing from the Lord. It was common for children to die as infants, so couples would often have many children, knowing some would not survive.

HANNAH

Hannah was one of Elkanah's two wives. Although his other wife, Peninnah, had children, Hannah did not. While at the temple in Shiloh, Hannah wept bitterly because of her inability to have a child. Deeply distressed, she prayed to the Lord. She vowed that if he gave her a son, she would dedicate the child to God. Eli the priest observed Hannah praying and thought that she was drunk. When he realized that her display of emotion was genuine, however, he blessed Hannah. God answered Hannah's prayer, and she gave birth to Samuel. When the child was weaned, she took him to Eli at the temple in fulfillment of her vow. Hannah's song, praising God for her new son, is very similar to the prayer of Mary in Luke 1:46–55 as she looked forward to the birth of her son Jesus. (1 Samuel 1:9–11)

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:12–18 Eli assumes that Hannah is drunk and therefore rebukes her. This shows his devotion to the law, which forbade drunkenness in the sanctuary.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:20 Samuel can mean "name of God" or "offspring of God." Samuel bore the name of God, who gave him to Hannah.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:24 Three-year-old bull could also be translated "three bulls" (ESV footnote). In either case, Elkanah apparently was a prosperous man, able to afford an expensive animal offering and large amounts of grain and wine. See Num. 15:9; 28:12, 20, 28.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:26 As you live, or "as your soul lives," is a common OT form of oath (2 Sam. 11:11), as is the phrase "as the LORD lives" (see 1 Sam. 14:39; 26:16). The two oaths were often combined (20:3; 25:26).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:27–28 And the LORD has granted me my petition that I made to him repeats almost word for word Eli's blessing in v. 17. The words "petition" (here and v. 17), "asked" (v. 20), and "lent" (v. 28 twice) are all from the same Hebrew word family.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:1–10 Hannah's song is very similar to the prayer of Mary in Luke 1:46–56. There are also many similarities to psalms and other passages of the OT—especially Psalm 113—as the numerous ESV cross-references show. The reference to the "king" in 1 Sam. 2:10 looks forward to the rest of 1 Samuel.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:1 my horn is exalted in the LORD. This is the theme of Hannah’s song. When Hannah speaks of my enemies, she is referring to the enemies of God.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:2 there is none besides you. There is no holy being besides the Lord. Only the Lord is God (see Deut. 4:35; 32:39). The Lord is often described as a rock (compare Deut. 32:4, 15; 2 Sam. 22:2), which means that he provides shelter and protection for his people. In saying our God, Hannah is speaking as a member of the covenant community.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:3 by him actions are weighed. God’s knowledge extends even to the motives behind human actions.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:5 seven. Hannah actually had only six children, including Samuel (v. 21). This is a general statement, and seven is a poetic number for perfection.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:6–7 The Lord controls not only birth and death, but all of life in between.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:6 Sheol. The place of the dead. God also raises up a soul from Sheol (compare Ps. 30:3). He has authority over the dead as well as the living.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:8 the pillars of the earth are the LORD’s. The Lord is sovereign over life, for he created and owns the world (on them he has set the world). Compare “pillars” (Job 9:6; Ps. 75:3) and “foundations” (2 Sam. 22:16). The Lord upholds the physical place where his people live as well as the moral order of this world. He protects his faithful, while he destroys the wicked (1 Sam. 2:9).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:10 The LORD will judge. See Ps. 96:10. The ends of the earth describes God’s uniqueness, majesty, and authority (compare Ps. 67:7; 98:3; Prov. 30:4; Isa. 52:10; Mic. 5:4; Zech. 9:10). Since there was currently no king in Israel, it is possible that the last two lines of this verse are a comment by the writer of 1 Samuel rather than part of Hannah’s actual prayer. The law made provision for a king, however, and the idea of kingship was well known in Israel even before it was practiced (Judg. 9:6; 1 Samuel 8), so these could have been Hannah’s words. The phrase his anointed appears here for the first time in the Bible. In Samuel, it usually refers to a king. The Hebrew word for “anointed” can also be translated “Messiah.”

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:11–36 At the same time that the boy Samuel is ministering to the Lord (vv. 11, 18; 3:1), Eli’s own two sons, Hophni and Phineas (see 1:3; 2:34), are hindering the worship there.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:12–17 These verses describe how the worthless . . . sons of Eli (v. 12) treated the tabernacle sacrifices with contempt (v. 17). They behaved in this way because they did not know the LORD (v. 12).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:13–14 The priests were to be supported by portions of the sacrifices of the people (see, e.g., Lev. 7:31–32; Deut. 18:3). But the custom described in these verses seems to have been a serious deviation from the law.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:15–16 These verses seem to suggest that Eli’s sons were guilty of a further deviation from the already degenerate custom described in vv. 13–14. This is an extraordinary situation: the priest, who was supposed to know the rules of sacrifice, was engaging in behavior that shocked even the ordinary worshiper.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:18–21 The story returns to Samuel. Before, Samuel was ministering “in the presence of Eli the priest” (v. 11), but now he is ministering simply before the LORD, in the garment of a priest. The linen ephod was probably a simple tunic or apron worn by priests (22:18).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:22–23 Eli’s sons committed sexual immorality with women who worked with them in the sanctuary.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:25 if someone sins against the LORD, who can intercede for him? This shows the need for a mediator between man and God. Hophni and Phineas had rebelled against God, even ignoring their father’s warnings about their behavior. Because of Eli’s sons’ willful rejection of him, it was the will of the LORD to put them to death.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:26 Similar language is used in Luke 2:52 to describe the physical and spiritual growth of the boy Jesus.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:27–28 A man of God (a prophet) confronts Eli about the wicked behavior of his two sons. I gave to the house of your father all my offerings by fire. When an offering was made, part was burned as a "memorial portion." The remaining part was normally eaten by the priests (Lev. 6:14–18; 7:1–38). But Eli's sons have made a mockery of this law (1 Sam. 2:12–17).

FACT

"Thus says the Lord." Ancient messengers would begin their message by stating the sender's name and saying, "[The sender's name] has spoken thus." The message would then be delivered in the first person as if the sender were saying it himself (2:27).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:30 Though the Lord had promised the priesthood (go in and out before me) to the descendants of Levi, the agreement can be broken if they are not obedient.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:31–34 The man of God (see v. 27) declares a curse for Eli and all his descendants for their breaking of the covenant. Compare the punishments described in Deut. 28:15–68. Behold, the days are coming indicates that the prophesied events will happen during a future time of God's judgment. The only one who would be spared from this judgment would be Abiathar, who escaped when the 85 priests of Nob were killed (1 Sam. 22:18–20). Solomon later banished him, and this was seen as the final fulfillment of the prophecy against Eli and his priestly descendants (1 Kings 2:26–27). Eli will not live to experience the punishment, but the death of his two sons on the same day (see 1 Sam. 4:11) will be a sign to him that the prophecy is true.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:35 The faithful priest with a sure house is probably Zadok, a priest under David and a descendant of Ithamar's brother Eleazar, son of Aaron (2 Sam. 8:17; 1 Chron. 24:3; see also Judg. 20:28). The anointed is the king (see 2 Sam. 7:16).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:1–4:1a The word of the LORD was rare in those days in Israel (3:1), but that is about to change, as the Lord calls Samuel to serve him.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:3 The lamp of God was in the tent of meeting, in the Holy Place. It burned every day from evening to morning (Ex. 27:20–21; Lev.

24:1–3). It had not yet gone out, so the time was probably just before dawn. The ark of God was beyond the veil, in the Most Holy Place.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:7 Samuel did not yet know the LORD in a personal relationship, though of course he knew about him.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:10 Samuel! Samuel! The Lord called other people by uttering their name twice, e.g., Abraham (Gen. 22:11), Jacob (Gen. 46:2), and Moses (Ex. 3:4).

FACT

Samuel! Samuel! When God called Samuel to his service, he called out his name twice (3:10). Abraham, Jacob, and Moses also heard the Lord speak their name twice at a crucial point in their lives.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:12 all that I have spoken. See 2:27–36.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:14 Though normal or unintentional sins of priests could be atoned for by offering (Lev. 4:3–12), Eli's sons sinned defiantly. Their guilt could not be removed (see Num. 15:30 and note on Num. 15:30–31; see also Heb. 10:26–27), as Eli himself recognizes (1 Sam. 2:25).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:17 May God do so to you and more also if is a form of solemn appeal to the Lord, a kind of oath. Compare Ruth 1:17; 2 Sam. 3:9; 19:13; 1 Kings 19:2.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:18 It is the LORD. Eli accepts the judgment humbly.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:19 the LORD . . . let none of his words fall to the ground. That is, all that Samuel spoke was fulfilled, and so he could be known as a prophet (see Deut. 18:21–22).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:20 From Dan to Beersheba is the traditional limits of Israel to the north and south (Judg. 20:1; 2 Sam. 17:11).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:1b–7:1 The ark of the covenant was the visible sign of God's presence with Israel. After a disastrous defeat by the Philistines, the elders of Israel realize that the defeat was the work of the Lord, but apparently they do not seek to know how they have sinned. Instead, they decide that bringing the ark to the battlefield will save them. But that plan does not work. Israel is defeated, the ark is captured by the Philistines, and Eli and his sons die. However, the Lord cannot let the enemy think that they have defeated him. For seven months he causes plagues and disturbances wherever the Philistines take the ark, until they give up and send it back to Israel with a tribute of gold. The ark will then remain in Kiriath-jearim until David takes it to Jerusalem (2 Samuel 6). Samuel is completely absent from this story (reappearing in 1 Sam. 7:3), which indicates that these events took place while he was growing up.

SAMUEL

Samuel's birth was God's answer to Hannah's prayer for a son. Dedicated to the Lord as a small child, he lived and ministered at Shiloh. When he was a young man, the Lord spoke to him and established him as a prophet. Samuel called the people of Israel to repent and put aside idolatry. During Samuel's lifetime, Israel changed from a collection of tribes ruled by various temporary "judges" to a nation ruled by a king. As the last judge of Israel, Samuel anointed Saul as Israel's first king. When Saul disobeyed God and was rejected as king, Samuel anointed David as his successor. Samuel acted as a faithful judge, prophet, and priest, foreshadowing the work of Christ as king, prophet, and priest (Heb. 1:1–3). (1 Samuel 3:19–21)

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:1b–22 After suffering defeat in battle, the Israelites try to use the ark of the covenant to ensure victory. Instead, the Philistines defeat them again, killing Eli's two sons and taking the ark into exile. When Eli hears of it, he suddenly dies. For reflections on these events see Ps. 78:58–66 and Jer. 7:8–15.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:1b Aphek was 8 miles (13 km) east of Tel Aviv, north of the Philistia plain, and just to the west of the hill country of Ephraim. The location of Ebenezer is uncertain, but it may have been 2 miles (3.2 km) farther east.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:3–4 from Shiloh. The ark of the covenant had been "in the temple of the LORD" in Shiloh (3:3). (On the details of the ark, see Ex. 25:10–22; 37:1–9; and illustration.) Moses was commanded by the Lord to put the tablets of the covenant, the "testimony," into the ark (Ex. 25:16; Deut. 10:5; see 1 Kings 8:9). enthroned. The ark represented God's actual presence among his people (Ex. 25:22). It showed that he was fighting for Israel. Let us bring the ark of the covenant of the Lord . . . that it may come among us. The language here suggests that the people were treating the ark disrespectfully.

The Journey of the Ark of the Covenant in 1–2 Samuel

1 Sam. 3:3	The Lord calls to Samuel who is sleeping in the tent of meeting, “where the ark of God was”
1 Samuel 4	Philistines capture the ark (for seven months: 1 Sam. 6:1)
1 Sam. 5:1–7	Philistines bring the ark to Ashdod, setting it up next to the idol Dagon
1 Sam. 5:8–9	Philistines bring the ark to Gath
1 Sam. 5:10–12	Philistines send the ark to Ekron
1 Sam. 6:10–15	Philistines return the ark with guilt offering to Beth-shemesh
1 Sam. 6:19–21	The Lord strikes 70 men for looking into the ark
1 Sam. 7:1–2	Men of Kiriath-jearim take the ark to the house of Abinadab (where it stays for 20 years)
1 Sam. 14:18	Saul commands Ahijah to bring the ark to the war camp
2 Sam. 6:2–5	David begins to move the ark to Jerusalem on a cart
2 Sam. 6:6–7	The Lord strikes Uzzah dead for holding on to the ark
2 Sam. 6:10–11	David takes the ark to the house of Obed-edom, where it stays for three months
2 Sam. 6:12–17	David brings the ark to Jerusalem, and places it inside the tent he pitched for it
2 Sam. 15:24–25	Zadok brings the ark to David, who commands him to carry it back to Jerusalem
2 Sam. 15:29	Zadok and Abiathar carry the ark back to Jerusalem

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:3 The elders of Israel were senior tribal leaders entrusted with important decisions. They realize that the defeat was a punishment from the Lord, but there is no indication that they want to know how they have sinned.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:5 a mighty shout. The Israelites are confident in the ark’s power, but the rest of the story will show that they have failed to approach God’s presence in faith and obedience.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:6 The Philistines usually refer to the Israelites as Hebrews (e.g., 14:11; 29:3). The term apparently comes from the name Eber (Gen. 10:21–25). “Hebrew” is an ethnic term for the people (see Gen. 14:13), while “Israel” is a religious and political designation.

FACT

The term “Hebrews” is used in 4:6 by the Philistines to describe the Israelites as an ethnic group. The term literally means “descendants of Eber” (Gen. 10:21–25). After David established the monarchy, the nation was referred to as “Israel” rather than “the Hebrews.”

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:7–8 A god. The Philistines thought the ark was an image of Israel’s God. Because they believed in the existence of many gods, the Philistines assumed Israel did as well. Struck the Egyptians . . . in the wilderness probably shows the Philistines’ ignorance about the exact course of events during Israel’s wilderness wanderings.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:10 Israel was defeated. In view of v. 3, one cannot give the Philistines all the credit for defeating Israel. The phrase every man to his home was a common way of describing the disbanding of an army, either intentionally (Judg. 20:8; 1 Sam. 13:2; 2 Sam. 20:1, 22) or because of defeat (2 Chron. 25:22).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:17 Your two sons . . . are dead is the sign that Eli had been told to expect as a forewarning of the destruction of his priestly descendants (2:34), but it seems that he is even more concerned about the ark.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:18 Besides being a priest at Shiloh, Eli had also judged Israel for forty years.

ELI

Eli was a priest at Shiloh and a judge of Israel. He became Samuel’s guardian after Hannah brought her son to the temple. When God spoke to Samuel, it was Eli who realized the voice was the Lord’s, and he told Samuel how to respond. Eli had two sons, Hophni and Phinehas, who also served as priests. Both of them were wicked and blasphemed God. Although Eli rebuked his sons, they did not listen. A messenger from God announced to Eli that his household had been rejected by the Lord. Eli died after receiving news that both of his sons had been killed in battle and the ark of the Lord had been captured. (1 Samuel 4:12–18)

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:21–22 Like Eli (see note on v. 17), Phinehas’s wife seems more concerned with the fate of the ark than with the death of her husband. Ichabod means “where is the glory?” She mourns for Israel because it is without the presence of God. She doesn’t know that the Lord is going to demonstrate his glory in the land of Philistia, as will be seen in ch. 5.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:2–5 When the Philistines set the ark beside their god Dagon, the idol fell to the floor and was broken. A people whose gods were in enemy hands was considered to be completely conquered.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:6 The tumors, together with an apparently abnormal number of mice in the area (6:5), have led most commentators to identify the disease as bubonic plague. Yet 5:12 has no reference to the mice at all.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:8 The five (6:4, 16) lords were the rulers of the five leading Philistine cities (see 6:17).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:3 Many ancient religions recognized that it was wrong to mishandle objects used in worship. The Philistines thought the Israelites' God was angry about how they treated the ark. They hoped he would be satisfied by a guilt offering.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:5 Even the pagan Philistines must eventually give glory to the God of Israel.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:6 as the Egyptians. The Philistine religious professionals knew about the events of the exodus (see especially Ex. 10:1–2; but see also note on 1 Sam. 4:7–8).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:7–9 Untrained milk cows could not pull a cart well as a team. If they went anywhere, it would be home to their calves. Therefore, if they pulled the cart uphill toward Israel, it must be the work of the Lord (v. 9).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:12 Beth-shemesh was partway up the Sorek Valley, connecting Israel and Philistia. It was the scene of many of Samson's exploits. It is listed among the Levitical cities in Josh. 21:16.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:17–18 All of the Philistines, both fortified cities and unwalled villages, participated in the guilt offering.

FACT

Why the offering of golden mice and tumors? The tumors that afflicted the Philistines were most likely inflamed lymph nodes. This is the most common symptom of bubonic plague, which is often spread through rodents such as mice. Therefore, in order to appease the God of Israel, the Philistines sent gold replicas of the mice and tumors (6:17).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:19 Looked upon indicates staring, peering into, perhaps gloating. This irreverence explains why God struck some of the men.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:20 The Israelites in Beth-shemesh responded to the presence of the ark in much the same way as the Philistines had responded (5:7–10)!

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:21 Kiriath-jearim was about 10 miles (16 km) farther up the Sorek Valley toward Jerusalem, strategically situated on a hill at the intersection of the boundaries of Judah, Dan, and Benjamin.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:1 Eleazar may have been descended from Aaron, and that may have been why the people of Beth-shemesh asked Kiriath-jearim to take the ark. (Aaron also had a son named Eleazar; the name was probably common in the Levitical families.)

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:2–17 Samuel has not appeared since 4:1, but when he calls the people to repent of their idolatry, they respond. He is clearly the leader of “all . . . Israel” (8:4).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:3–4 Returning here means repenting, that is, a change of direction back to the Lord. Samuel gives three commands: (1) turn away from idolatry; (2) direct the heart to the LORD; and (3) serve him alone (see Deut. 6:4–15; Josh. 24:14–28; Judg. 10:6–16). Foreign gods and the Ashtaroth refers to all idols. The Baals and the Ashtaroth has the same meaning.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:5–6 Mizpah was probably about 7 miles (11 km) north of Jerusalem, near an important north-south road. It was a place of assembly for all Israel, as in Judges 20–21 and also 1 Sam. 10:17–27, where Saul was proclaimed king. Samuel was the judge for the city. I will pray to the LORD for you. Samuel was known as an intercessor (7:8; 12:23; Jer. 15:1). They drew water and poured it out before the LORD and fasted. Like fasting, pouring out the water was an act of self-denial.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:9 nursing lamb. An animal could be sacrificed once it was eight days old (Lev. 22:27). A basic purpose of the whole burnt offering was to make atonement (Lev. 1:4).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:10 confusion. Compare Ex. 14:24, where the Lord threw the Egyptian army into “panic.” Compare also “confusion” (Ex. 23:27), “panic” (Josh. 10:10), and “routed” (2 Sam. 22:15 and Ps. 18:14). These are all the same Hebrew word.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:13 did not again enter the territory of Israel. The victory is here described as a decisive turning point, although Philistine armies do reappear later (e.g., 10:5; 13:3).

FACT

Ebenezer (7:12) means “stone of help.” The monument was raised to remember the victory of the Israelites over the Philistines. Samuel chose to name it after the place where the Philistines first defeated the Israelites. This monument represented a chance of a fresh start for Israel because God had changed their circumstances and restored them as a nation.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:14 Restored to Israel, from Ekron to Gath probably means that the Israelite territories that had come under the control of those two Philistine cities were now freed. peace also between Israel and the Amorites. Thus Israel was no longer bothered by enemies from outside or from inside the land.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:15–16 Samuel judged Israel all the days of his life. This is a summary of Samuel’s activities as judge. From his hometown of Ramah, he visited the cities of Bethel, Gilgal, and Mizpah, which are all in or around the territory of Benjamin. In the book of Judges and here in 1 Samuel, a “judge” can be someone who simply leads or governs, but apparently Samuel also “judged” in the sense of deciding legal cases.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:1–22 Transition to the Monarchy. Chapter 8 is a turning point in OT history, marking Israel’s transition from judgeship to kingship. Until now the people had depended on the Lord to raise up judges to lead them as needed, but now they want a monarchy. Samuel’s sons were causing problems, but instead of rejecting these hereditary judges and demanding that better judges be appointed, the people ask for a hereditary kingship. As threats from their enemies resumed (v. 20; 9:16; 10:5; 12:12), they may have felt the need for stronger and more permanent leadership. But the text suggests that they simply wanted to have their own king, “like all the nations” around them. In doing so, they were rejecting the Lord as their true king (8:7).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:1 he made his sons judges. Samuel himself may have contributed to the problem (see note on vv. 1–22) by appointing his sons as judges. There had not been hereditary judges before; Gideon had rejected the idea (Judg. 8:22–23).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:2 Beersheba was the extreme south of Israel in traditional descriptions (see 3:20).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:3 turned aside after gain . . . took bribes and perverted justice. Such self-serving practices by leaders are criticized repeatedly in the Bible.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:4–5 appoint for us a king . . . like all the nations. Samuel had appointed judges. The elders, recognizing his authority, ask for a king. They want to exchange their unique position as the people of the incomparable God (2:2) to be “like all the nations.” The law had given permission to appoint a king, but it was not a requirement (Deut. 17:14–20).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:6 the thing displeased Samuel. Literally, “the thing was evil in Samuel’s eyes.” It was more than just a personal sense of rejection.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:9–18 The Lord told Samuel to solemnly warn the people about the ways of the king, since they so desperately wanted their own king. Some of the things Samuel warned about were the normal cost of running a large central government, but others were clearly abuses of power (see note on vv. 14–15).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:11 Having men run before his chariots was a status symbol. Both Absalom and Adonijah had a chariot, horses, horsemen, and 50 runners to run before them (2 Sam. 15:1; 1 Kings 1:5).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:12–13 The commanders of thousands and commanders of fifties were probably permanent officers over soldiers forced to serve. The king will also force people to make weapons, prepare his food, and provide him with luxuries (perfumers and cooks and bakers).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:14–15 the best of your fields and vineyards and olive orchards. Rather than serving the people without seeking self-enrichment (as Samuel did, 12:3–5), the king would use his power to "take" the best for himself and those around him (8:11–15). Servants refers to high-ranking officials.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:17 you shall be his slaves. The Israelites and all their possessions would be subject to the king's use. Forced labor (see 1 Kings 5:13–16) would probably be the most objectionable form of this "slavery."

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:19–21 "We," "us," and "our" appear frequently in this short speech. The king's functions are (1) to give influence and status like all the nations; (2) to judge us (2 Sam. 15:2–4; 1 Kings 3:16–28; Psalm 72); and (3) to go out before us and fight our battles—that is, be a war leader (e.g., 1 Sam. 14:47–48).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:22 make them a king. The Lord grants the people's demands, even though it means that they have rejected him (v. 7). By raising up David's dynasty, God will bring good out of Israel's sinful desire for a king.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:1–15:35 The Story of Saul. Saul, the first king over all Israel, starts out well. But he fails as a king because he will not obey the word of God that comes through Samuel.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:2 Saul seems to be the ideal candidate for king, with a striking physical appearance. From his shoulders upward he was taller than any of the people. See also 10:23.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:3–8 Saul's father sends him in search of some lost donkeys. Just as Saul is about to give up the search, God intervenes through Saul's servant. The servant suggests that they inquire of a local man of God (that is, a "seer"; v. 9). The servant just happens to have some silver with him, which would provide the customary present for the seer (compare 1 Kings 14:3; 2 Kings 8:8).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:9 Inquire refers to seeking guidance from the Lord, either through a prophet or by lots (compare 10:22; 2 Kings 22:13; Jer. 21:2). It could also refer to inquiring of pagan gods (2 Kings 1:2). Seer, prophet, and "man of God" (1 Sam. 9:6) are used almost interchangeably in the OT.

FACT

A gift for the prophet. Gift-giving was an important custom in the social dealings of the ancient world, as is often the case today in various cultures around the world. It was expected that a person seeking knowledge from a prophet would give a gift in exchange (9:6–8).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:12 As they prepared to enter Canaan, the Israelites were told to destroy all the "high places" of the Canaanites (Num. 33:52). However, worship of the Lord at such places was allowed before the time of the temple (1 Kings 3:2, 4). Such worship sites were often built on hills or mountains to represent the power of the Lord (or of a pagan deity). After the temple was built, worship at these high places was no longer acceptable (2 Kings 23:15).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:16 you shall anoint him. The king was the Lord's "anointed one," a term that can also be translated "messiah."

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:20–21 for whom is all that is desirable in Israel? As king, why should Saul concern himself with donkeys when he will receive the choicest things of the land (see 8:11–17)? However, Samuel's question could also be seen as a criticism, since it can be translated, "For whom is all the desire of Israel?" In making Saul its king, Israel gets what it desires (ch. 8). Am I not . . . from the least . . . the humblest of all the clans? Saul's emphasis on his low status indicates that he understands this question in the former, positive sense.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:24 the cook took up the leg. The leg was the priest's portion (Ex. 29:27). Saul is told in 1 Sam. 10:4 to accept bread that probably was originally intended as an offering and would have been eaten by the priests (see Num. 18:8). These are indications of the sacredness of his kingship.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:1 the LORD has anointed you. This is a private anointing. Later Samuel will demonstrate publicly, by casting lots, that Saul has been chosen by the Lord (see vv. 17–27). The Hebrew for his heritage appears six times in Samuel and can refer either to the Lord's land or to his people Israel.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:4 The two loaves of bread were probably intended for the sacrificial meal (see note on 9:24), because the men were "going up to God at Bethel" (10:3). Saul's authority as divinely anointed king is acknowledged through this act.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:6 In 1 and 2 Samuel, the phrase "the Spirit of the LORD" appears only in connection with Saul and David (1 Sam. 16:13–14; 2 Sam. 23:2). The expression the Spirit of the LORD will rush upon (someone) appears only in Judges and 1 Samuel, ending with David (Judg. 14:6, 19; 15:14; 1 Sam. 10:10; 11:6; 16:13). It always speaks of God's Spirit coming suddenly on someone to equip and empower that person to serve God's people. be turned into another man. He will be equipped to play a new role (see Judg. 6:34; 11:29).

FACT

Though musical instruments were used to induce trances in pagan worship, the Israelites used them for pleasing the Lord. The instruments used by the prophets in 10:5 were the same ones used during feasts (Isa. 5:12).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:9–10 Saul is given another heart and he prophesies. This is possible because the Spirit of God rushed upon him (see v. 6; 11:6). Later the Spirit of the Lord "departed from Saul" (16:14; 18:12).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:11–12 The people who knew him previously were shocked to see Saul prophesying. Their response, Is Saul also among the prophets? became a proverb, that is, an often-repeated saying in Israel (compare "Thus it is said"; 19:24).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:12 who is their father? The man's question may simply be about leadership, since "father" elsewhere describes the leader of a group of prophets (2 Kings 2:12; 6:21; 13:14). If so, the man may have been implying that no good leader would permit someone like Saul to join his group. On the other hand, he may have been wondering why Saul was associating with such madmen as these prophets (compare 2 Kings 9:11). See also note on 1 Sam. 19:23–24.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:14–16 Saul's uncle, probably Abner (see 14:50), asks where he has been and what Samuel said to him. Saul's fate would be of great concern to Abner, since he was probably next in line after Kish and Saul to inherit Abiel's estate (see 9:1).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:22 Saul had hidden himself, perhaps for fear of accepting his new responsibilities.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:24 Long live the king! At last Saul is publicly and officially presented and accepted by the people as the king. Here Samuel says that the LORD has chosen Saul, while in 12:13 he says to the people, “you have chosen.”

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:25 The rights and duties of the kingship represent the agreement between the people and the king about the king’s privileges and responsibilities. Here Samuel was the intermediary and witness. He also laid the document before the LORD, that is, deposited it in a sanctuary.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:26 Gibeah (“hill”), Saul’s home, was about 3 miles (4.8 km) north of Jerusalem. It had a panoramic view and a north-south road nearby. This is probably the same as “Gibeath-elohim, where there was a garrison of Philistines” (v. 5).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:1–15 Saul’s victory over the Ammonites confirms his kingship.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:1 Jabesh-gilead was probably east of the Jordan River near the western edge of the Gilead mountains.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:2 To make a treaty is literally “to cut a treaty,” which usually involved sacrificial animals. But Nahash demands to “cut” the treaty with the men’s eyes.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:3 For elders, see note on 4:3.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:4 There were probably strong blood ties between Jabesh-gilead and Gibeah (see Judg. 21:12). The 42-mile (68-km) journey from Jabesh to Gibeah may have taken two days.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:6–7 As in 10:6 (see note there), the Spirit of God rushed upon Saul, and he is filled with power like one of the judges (Judg. 3:10; 6:34; 11:29; 14:6).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:8 Bezek was probably on the opposite side of the Jordan from Jabesh.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:10 Give ourselves up to you can also mean “march out to you.” The speech of the men is deliberately unclear.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:12–15 This ceremony at the worship center of Gilgal seems to be a religious coronation, as opposed to the political recognition in 10:17–25.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:1–25 The setting of this address is not clear, though it was probably a different occasion than ch. 11. From now on, Samuel will no longer be the judge of all Israel: the age of kingship has begun. But this is neither a retirement ceremony for Samuel nor his last public address; his authority as the prophet who gives the word of God to the king and people of Israel remains powerful (see 12:18), and he has one more king to anoint (ch. 16).

SAUL

God chose Saul to be the first king of Israel. Soon after Samuel anointed him privately, the entire nation discovered by means of casting lots that he was to be their king. Saul was a gifted military leader who won the confidence of Israel by saving the city of Jabesh-gilead from the Ammonites. The Bible describes him as a tall, handsome man. Although Saul was chosen by God, he was not faithful to the Lord. He eventually grew proud and disobedient, and God rejected him as king. Tormented into paranoia by a harmful spirit, Saul became insanely jealous of David’s popularity and success and sought to kill him. He was wounded in a battle against the Philistines, and ultimately took his own life to avoid capture. (1 Samuel 11:15)

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:3–6 Samuel asks the people to testify to his honorable behavior as a judge, in contrast to that of his sons (see 8:3). Whose ox have I taken? Samuel has not used his office as a means of personal enrichment (see notes on 8:3; 8:14–15).

FACT

A king is crowned. Saul becomes the first king of all 12 tribes of Israel in ch. 12. Only three kings (Saul, David, and Solomon) ruled the entire nation before the people divided into the nations of Israel and Judah.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:10 the Baals and the Ashtaroth. That is, the foreign gods and goddesses; see note on 7:3–4.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:14–15 No king in Israel is exempt from obeying the Lord's commandments.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:21 empty things. Worthless idols. Those who trust in them receive only emptiness in return.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:23 Praying and instruction are two of Samuel's major roles as prophet, even now that Israel has its king.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:25 Both the people and the king are required to obey the Lord.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:1–23 In preparing for battle, Saul disobeys God's commands given through Samuel. God cannot endure such a king over Israel.

FACT

Lord of lords. Beginning with Saul and David, kings ruled over Israel. But kings did not have supreme authority. That position still belonged to the Lord. Any king who undermined the authority of the Lord or the words he sent through his prophets would eventually see his kingdom fail.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:1 The Hebrew text of this verse is difficult, and various solutions have been proposed. One possibility (see ESV footnote) is that some numbers, giving Saul's age and length of reign, were lost from the text in the process of transmission. Most Septuagint manuscripts lack this verse completely. Acts 13:21 says that Saul reigned for "forty years."

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:2 In ch. 9 Saul is described as a "young man," but here he has a son who can command troops, and so a number of years may have passed. Michmash is about 7 miles (11 km) northeast of Jerusalem and 3 or 4 miles (4.8 or 6.4 km) south of Bethel. These three thousand men were Saul's standing army.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:5 Thirty thousand chariots seems to be a very high number. Some ancient Bible manuscripts have "three thousand." Beth-aven is probably the Beth-aven near Ai (Josh. 7:2).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:7 land of Gad and Gilead. Or “land of Gad, that is, Gilead.”

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:8–15 Saul knows he has done wrong, for he starts making excuses (vv. 11–12). Saul is unable to trust and obey the word of the Lord, so instead he responds to circumstances or relies on religious ritual to gain God’s favor (see 14:24 and the incident in 4:3).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:13–14 Saul fails to acknowledge the prophet’s higher role as God’s messenger (compare 15:11, 13, 19, 22–23). He loses the kingship because of his disobedience.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:16 Geba is only a mile or two (1.6–3.2 km) from Michmash. The two are separated by a deep ravine, which is an important pass from the Jordan Valley into the Ephraimite hills. The Philistines were stationed at the hilltop that overlooks the ravine from the north, while Saul’s army was encamped to the south. See ch. 14.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:19–22 no blacksmith (in) Israel. The Philistines apparently had been able to take over the production of the kind of metal (probably iron) needed for swords and spears. This put the Israelites at a great disadvantage. Thus the Israelite victory at Michmash (ch. 14) was certainly the Lord’s doing.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:1–52 This chapter focuses on Saul’s son Jonathan, who will become a friend of David. Jonathan’s act of trust in this chapter is sandwiched between two examples of Saul’s disobedience (chs. 13 and 15).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:2–3 The outskirts of Gibeah may mean “the edge of the hill.” Migron may mean “threshing floor.” Court was often held under a tree (22:6; Judg. 4:5) or on threshing floors (1 Kings 22:10).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:4 Bozez means “the gleaming one,” and Seneh means “the thorny one.”

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:6 Jonathan’s trust contrasts with Saul’s concern about numbers (13:11, 15). Uncircumcised was a customary insult directed at the Philistines (see Judg. 14:3; 1 Sam. 17:26; 2 Sam. 1:20).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:10 if they say, “Come up to us.” This would give Jonathan and the armor-bearer the opportunity to get into the Philistine camp at what was probably its most thinly protected point, without raising an alarm. The guards’ words in v. 12 suggest that an attack by these two lone men was unexpected.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:14 The Hebrew “yoke” (ESV footnote) was a unit for measuring area.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:15 A very great panic is literally “a panic of God” (see ESV footnote), suggesting divine intervention.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:16 Saul was in Gibeah, about 4 miles (6.4 km) from Michmash. His watchmen were probably stationed nearer, watching Michmash.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:18 The ark had apparently been brought from Kiriath-jearim to be with the army for some special reason. Saul wanted Ahijah, who carried the sacred lots in the ephod, to cast the lots before the ark.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:21–22 Some people called Hebrews had previously sided with the Philistines (compare 29:3) while others had hidden themselves during this time of war. Now that Israel is succeeding, both groups commit to fighting for Israel.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:23 beyond Beth-aven. This battle seems to have driven the Philistines from the central mountain areas.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:24 so Saul had laid an oath. Jonathan, of course, had not been present at the time.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:27 His eyes became bright suggests renewed vitality (compare Ezra 9:8; Ps. 13:3).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:28 this day. See v. 24 (“until it is evening”). The day began at sunset.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:32–33 When evening comes (v. 34) and the people are once again free to eat (see v. 24), they are in such a hurry that they do not drain the blood properly from the animals they kill (v. 33). Eating meat with blood is strictly prohibited in the law (Gen. 9:4; Lev. 17:10–14).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:39 he shall surely die. Saul assumes that the Lord does not answer Saul's prior question (v. 37) because of some unknown sin (v. 38). Just as it was Saul's own poor decision to impose the ban on eating (v. 24), it is also his decision to kill the person, whoever it is, whose guilt has prevented the Lord from answering him.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:41–42 give Urim. . . . give Thummim. . . . Cast the lot. The Urim and Thummim (or just Urim) are mentioned also in Ex. 28:30; Num. 27:21; Deut. 33:8; 1 Sam. 28:6; and Ezra 2:63. They may have been two stones of two different colors, one representing a positive and the other a negative answer, that were kept in the "breastpiece of judgment" of the priest's ephod (see Ex. 28:30; Lev. 8:8). They were the only legitimate means of directly seeking a "yes" or "no" answer from the Lord, apart from God's speaking directly to people.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:45 Shall Jonathan die? . . . Far from it! As the LORD lives . . . The people use the same oath that Saul used in v. 39. They obviously think God spoke much more clearly in Jonathan's victory than in Saul's foolish oath (v. 24).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:49 It is possible, but not certain, that Ishvi is a variation of the name Ish-bosheth (2 Sam. 2:8; he is called "Eshbaal" in 1 Chron. 8:33).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:50–51 Abner the son of Ner, Saul's uncle. Although it may not be clear from the text, Abner was Saul's uncle.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:1–35 The Lord finally rejects Saul as king.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:2 what Amalek did to Israel. The Amalekites were a nomadic tribe that inhabited the desert south of Judah (Num. 13:29). They attacked Israel at Rephidim (Ex. 17:8), and the Lord declared war on them (Ex. 17:14–16; Deut. 25:17–19). They joined other groups against Israel in Num. 14:41–45; Judg. 3:13; 6:3; 10:12. Later, they attacked David's city of Ziklag (1 Samuel 30), and David subdued them in 2 Sam. 8:12.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:3 devote to destruction. This usually meant that all living things—men, women, children, and livestock—were to be killed (see notes on Deut. 20:16–18; Josh. 6:17–18). This was done partly to protect Israel from the influence of paganism.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:4 Although the army of Judah is mentioned separately (as also in 11:8), it seems that Judahites in general considered themselves part of the larger nation. Judah was near the Amalekites and must have been particularly affected by their raids (30:14).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:6 Kenites. Moses' father-in-law Jethro was a Kenite (Judg. 1:16). He and his son had been helpful to the Israelites (Exodus 18; Num. 10:29–32). depart; . . . lest I destroy you with them. The Kenites had settled among the Amalekites. Saul's action in this situation is admirable.

FACT

Why did Saul spare the Kenites? Moses' father-in-law Jethro was a Kenite. Jethro and his son were helpful and kind to the Israelites when they came out of Egypt. Because of this, David also showed favor to the Kenites when he became king.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:9 Spared is in sharp contrast to Samuel's instructions ("Do not spare," v. 3).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:11 I regret (also vv. 29, 35). Here, as in Gen. 6:6, the Lord "regrets" something. This means that God feels genuine sorrow when contemplating Saul's sin. It does not mean that God thinks his decision to make Saul king was a mistake in his plans for history (see Isa. 46:9–10). For more on divine regret, see note on 1 Sam. 15:29.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:12 Carmel here is a town in Judah about 7 miles (11 km) south of Hebron. That Saul has gone there to set up a monument for himself raises further suspicions about his character.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:15 Saul's excuse for his disobedience (the people spared) contrasts with the facts ("Saul and the people spared," v. 9). to sacrifice to the LORD your God. They were probably also planning to share in eating the sacrifices, contrary to the order for destruction (see note on v. 3).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:17 Samuel reminds Saul here again (see v. 1) that the LORD anointed you king over Israel. Why should Saul, as God's anointed, yield to the people's opinion over God's directions? He became king because the people asked for a king; now he is rejected because he listened to them (compare Prov. 29:25) rather than leading them to obey God.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:20–21 I have obeyed . . . but the people. See note on v. 15.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:22 The Lord himself does not need sacrifices like the gods of other religions. Rather, the people need to bring sacrifices in order to approach the holy God (see Leviticus 1–5). Even the best sacrifice without obedience gains nothing.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:23 Rebellion (see 12:15) and presumption mean rejecting the Lord. The Hebrew word translated idolatry refers to either "household gods" (Gen. 31:19; Judg. 17:5; 1 Sam. 19:13) or "ancestor figurines" used as aids in divination (Ezek. 21:21; Hos. 3:4; Zech. 10:2). Saul is rejected as king here and also in 1 Sam. 15:26 (see 13:13–14).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:24–26 Saul confesses, I have sinned. At least he admits the basic issue (I feared the people). Instead of being struck with the awfulness of his sin, Saul is more concerned with his reputation among the people (v. 30). the LORD has rejected you from being king. In 13:13, God rejected Saul's dynasty. Here, Saul himself is rejected as king.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:27 Saul seizes the skirt of Samuel's robe as a final, humble plea for mercy.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:28 The term this day is used in a legal sense: the rejection is final and has already taken effect (see Ruth 4:9–10; Ps. 2:7). In God's sight, the kingdom has already been torn from Saul and given to someone else (past tense), though the actual act is yet to come.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:29 Verses 11 and 35 say that God regretted making Saul king, while here Samuel denies that God will ever lie or have regret. The term for "have regret" can be translated "relent" or "change one's mind" (e.g., Ex. 32:14; Num. 23:19; Ps. 106:45; Jonah 3:9–10) or "have pity or compassion" (Deut. 32:36; Judg. 2:18; Ps. 135:14) as well as "be sorry" or "have regret" (see Gen. 6:6–7). Thus the term as used in 1 Sam. 15:11, 35 describes God’s own feeling of sorrow that Saul had turned out as he did. In v. 29, God will not change his mind concerning a decision once he has made it. For further discussion of God’s “relenting” from sending good or disaster on a people, see note on Jonah 3:10.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:30 honor me now. What Saul wants most is now clearly seen (see vv. 24–25).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:31 Samuel chooses to stay with Saul. This could be because of concern for Saul personally (v. 35) or for the peace of the nation.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:32–33 Bring here to me Agag. Samuel himself takes on the task that Saul failed to finish. Hacked . . . to pieces was not the normal means of putting to death. Usually slaying before the LORD involves sacrificing an animal (see Ex. 29:11; Lev. 1:5). In this case Agag himself is the sacrifice, justly put to death for his own sin (see note on 1 Sam. 15:3).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:34 Ramah is only 2 miles (3.2 km) from Gibeah.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:35 Formerly angry, Samuel now grieved over Saul. On the LORD regretted, see notes on vv. 11 and 29.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:1–31:13 The Story of Saul and David. Now that Saul has been completely rejected as king, David is introduced as his successor. God trains David, through suffering, to lead his people.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:1–13 God tells Samuel that David is his choice to replace Saul as king. After David’s anointing, before a limited audience, the Spirit of God empowers him for service.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:1 Jesse was a descendant of Perez, son of Judah and Tamar (Gen. 38:29), and a grandson of Ruth and Boaz (Ruth 4:18–22). Bethlehem is in Judah, about 10 miles (16 km) from Ramah.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:2 and say, “I have come to sacrifice to the LORD.” This was a true but incomplete statement of the reasons Samuel came to Bethlehem (see v. 1). Yet the Lord told him to say it, so it should not be considered morally wrong. It seems that telling only part of what one knows to be true is morally right in some situations.

The Fall of Saul and the Rise of David in 1 Samuel

Saul	David
Holy Spirit removed; evil spirit given (16:14–23)	Anointed with Holy Spirit (16:1–13)
Jealous and treacherous (ch. 18)	Faithful friend (ch. 20)
Attempts to kill David (ch. 19)	Protects Saul’s life (chs. 24; 26)
Failed holy warrior (ch. 15)	Mighty holy warrior (ch. 17)
Kingdom torn away (13:13–14; 15:11, 26)	Kingdom promised forever (2 Sam. 7:1–17)

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:5 Consecrate yourselves. They would probably wash themselves and perhaps also wash their clothes (Ex. 19:10; Num. 8:21).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:7 man looks on the outward appearance, but the LORD looks on the heart. The “heart” in Scripture refers to a person’s inward moral and spiritual life, including the emotions, will, and reason.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:8–9 And he said. It is unclear whether the Lord is speaking to Samuel or Samuel is speaking to Jesse.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:10 seven of his sons. Was David the seventh son or the eighth? Jesse had eight sons according to 17:12. David is listed as “seventh” in 1 Chron. 2:15, but this may represent the “telescoping” of a genealogy to give David the number of perfection (see notes on 1 Chron. 2:9–17; Matt. 1:17).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:13 David’s name is mentioned here for the first time. the Spirit of the LORD rushed upon David from that day forward. See note on 10:6.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:14–23 Saul and David become acquainted when David begins serving Saul. As the story develops, David will become Saul’s most successful servant.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:14 The Spirit of the LORD departed from Saul as soon as the Lord’s Spirit came upon David (see v. 13). A harmful spirit sent by the Lord tormented Saul as a form of judgment for his turning against the Lord (15:22–29). Though God himself never does evil, he sometimes uses evil agents to accomplish his purposes (such as the Babylonians conquering Israel, or sinful people crucifying Christ).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:16–18 David was already skillful in playing the lyre, but a man of valor, a man of war probably refers to his ability and not his experience (see 17:13, 33). Perhaps some of Saul's men knew of how David had single-handedly defeated both lions and bears (see 17:36).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:21 An armor-bearer was a close personal attendant.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:22 As was his custom (see 14:52) with brave men, Saul kept David nearby.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:1–54 David has been chosen by the Lord, anointed as king privately, and has been serving in Saul's court. Now, he defeats Goliath and, as a result, becomes publicly known. David's victory leads to Saul's jealousy, which drives the plot of the rest of the book. David shows himself better qualified than Saul to serve as the king of Israel.

The Battle at Elah

Sometime after being anointed as the next king of Israel, David was sent from Bethlehem by his father to take food to his brothers serving in the Israelite army near Socoh and Azekah. When David arrived, he learned of the Philistines' challenge to the Israelites to send a champion to fight their warrior Goliath from Gath. David took up the challenge and killed Goliath, leading the Israelites to rout the Philistines and chase them all the way to Gath and Ekron.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:1–2 The Valley of Elah runs westward from Bethlehem, from the hill country of Judah toward Gath and Ekron (see v. 52). It is immediately south of and parallel to the Sorek Valley (see note on 6:12). Control of this valley would give the Philistines entry into the hill country of Judah.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:4–11 A champion in ancient Near Eastern literature is a man who steps out to fight between two battle lines. Here Goliath offers to fight, on behalf of his side, against any champion that Israel will put forward. A champion's personal victory would amount to victory for his side (vv. 8–10). Six cubits and a span is about 9 feet 9 inches (3 m).

FACT

A battle of champions. To save lives, the outcomes of battles were at times decided by one-on-one combat (17:4). A champion was selected from the opposing armies to fight each other. Both sides assumed that the gods had thereby determined the winning side.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:11 It was Saul's job to accept the challenge on behalf of Israel. Instead he was greatly afraid (see 15:24), along with everyone else.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:12 Ephrathite refers to a man from Judean Ephrathah, around Bethlehem (see Ruth 1:2; 4:11; Mic. 5:2).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:18 their thousand. The Hebrew term usually means "thousand," but in the present context it probably refers to a military unit of undetermined size.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:25–26 Have you seen? "You" is plural; the question is not directed toward David. armies of the living God. To David, this battle is fundamentally spiritual (see vv. 45–47; see Eph. 6:12). His father's house refers to a person's extended family, smaller than a tribe or clan, with 50 to 100 persons. Free means exempt from taxes and other obligations to the palace.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:34 a lion, or a bear. Both lions and bears were common in the land during this time.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:43 sticks. Goliath sees David's staff (v. 40) but not the true weapon, the sling. Goliath's gods are probably Dagon (5:2) and Ashtaroth (31:10).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:44, 46 In Israel, being unburied and exposed to birds and beasts was considered worse than death itself (see 31:8–13; 2 Samuel 21; Ps. 79:2–3).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:52 men of Israel and Judah. There were divisions between Judah and the rest of Israel from the earliest time of the Davidic monarchy (see 11:8; 15:4; 2 Sam. 19:41–43).

FACT

Fed to the birds and beasts. In Israel, being killed and left for scavenger birds, like vultures, was considered shameful (17:46). It deprived a person of a meaningful burial where family members could properly mourn.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:54 Jerusalem refers to a suburb in the area around Jerusalem, not the Jebusite walled city that David captured later (see 2 Sam. 5:6–9).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:55–18:5 Immediately after his defeat of Goliath, everyone loves David. Saul takes him into his service. All of Saul's officials love David, even though they are potentially his rivals. Even members of Saul's own family welcome David into the royal court. Jonathan becomes an especially close friend of David, even though he realizes that David will eventually receive the crown that by hereditary right should be his.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:55–58 whose son is this youth? Even though Saul knew David, he would not remember the name of David's father. He wants to ask his father to let him keep David permanently (see 18:2).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:2 Saul took David into his service and would not let him return to his father's house. This was an example of the "ways of the king" that Samuel had warned of ("he will take your sons"; 8:11).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:3–4 he loved him as his own soul. Jonathan would eventually give up any claim to the throne for David's sake (23:17) and would even risk his life for David (20:30–33); see note on 2 Sam. 1:26. Jonathan . . .

gave his robe and other symbols of royal power to David. Perhaps unintentionally, Jonathan's actions foreshadowed the transfer of the kingship to David.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:6–30 As David's success increases, Saul's jealousy also increases.

JONATHAN

Jonathan was King Saul's oldest son. He showed great trust in God at Michmash (14:6), where he led a daring raid that brought an Israelite victory over the Philistines. Jonathan became a close friend of David. The Bible says that he loved David "as his own soul" (18:1). When his father sought to kill David, Jonathan warned his friend and helped him escape. As Saul's popular eldest son, Jonathan would have been easily accepted as Saul's heir. He showed radical self-denial, however, in giving up any right to the throne of Israel. He gave his absolute support to David as the Lord's choice to succeed Saul as king. Jonathan remained devoted to his father, dying alongside him at Mount Gilboa. (1 Samuel 18:1–4)

FACT

The sound of victory. The sight of women singing, dancing, and playing tambourines was very common following a military victory (18:6). Ancient clay figurines or plaques showing women playing tambourines have been found in Israel.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:7–9 Saul has struck down his thousands, and David his ten thousands could be seen as simply an example of Hebrew parallelism, meaning "Saul and David together have killed many thousands." Yet naming two distinct people in a number parallelism was unusual, and Saul in his paranoia interpreted the song as saying that David was superior to him.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:17 fight the LORD's battles. See 17:47. Saul tried to use David's commitment to God to get him killed by the Philistines. Saul's plotting shows little faith in the Lord, for he thought the Philistines could defeat David even though "the LORD was with him" (18:12).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:18–19 Who am I? Saul used David's humble reply as an excuse to give Merab to another man.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:20–21 that she may be a snare for him. Saul agrees to let his daughter Michal marry David. Saul hopes that he can use her to destroy David.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:25 The bride-price was normally money, but since David could not afford what was due a king’s daughter, the king let him display his bravery instead. The Philistines had foreskins because they were “uncircumcised” (see 14:6 and note).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:1–20:42 Saul moves from trying to use the Philistines to kill David to actually ordering him killed. Jonathan brings about a reconciliation between Saul and David, but David finally flees the court permanently.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:4 Jonathan appeals to Saul the king on the basis of a king’s obligation to do justice (see 25:31).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:5 took his life in his hand. Jonathan reminds Saul that David has risked his life for Israel.

David Flees from Saul

David's growing reputation among the people as a warrior and leader incited Saul's jealousy, and Saul began trying to kill David. David fled from Saul in Gibeah (1) and went to Samuel at Naioth in Ramah (2), but soon Saul sought him there, and David fled back to Jonathan in Gibeah (3). After Jonathan warned David of Saul's determination to kill him, David fled to Ahimelech the priest at Nob (4), where he collected food and Goliath's sword. David briefly sought refuge in the Philistine city of Gath (5) and then set up his headquarters at the cave of Adullam (6), where the ranks of his army swelled to 400 men. In order to protect his parents from harm, David left them in the care of the king of Moab at Mizpeh (7) and went to live in "the stronghold" (8). After some time, David went to the forest of Hereth (9) and then left to rescue nearby Keilah (10) from some Philistine raiding parties. When David heard that Saul was coming to Keilah, he and his growing army of 600 men relocated to the wilderness of Ziph (11). After the men of Ziph betrayed David to Saul, David and his men went to live in the wilderness of Maon (12) and narrowly escaped capture there by Saul. Fleeing the strongholds of Engedi (13), David again evaded capture by Saul and refused an opportunity to take Saul's life. David returned to "the stronghold" (14) and then to the wilderness of Paran (15). While he was there, David was again betrayed to Saul by the men of Ziph and refused another opportunity to take Saul's life. Finally, David and his men sought refuge with Achish, the king of Gath (16).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:9 harmful spirit from the LORD. See note on 16:14.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:10 David fled and escaped also in vv. 12, 18.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:13 The image here was of human size and shape; contrast Laban's smaller household gods in Gen. 31:19, 34–35.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:14 He is sick. The author does not pass judgment on Michal's apparently deceptive response (compare note on Josh. 2:4).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:19 Naioth may refer to a shepherds' camp in Ramah, 10–15 miles (16–24 km) north of Bethlehem. It was common for groups of prophets to live in such settlements.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:20–21 They also prophesied (twice in these verses) probably means that Saul's messengers uttered words of prayer and praise to God as well as correction for each other, under the influence of the Spirit of God.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:23–24 he too prophesied before Samuel. The earlier question, "Who is their father?" (10:12), is answered by Samuel's presence as "head" over the prophets (see 19:20). The Spirit of God came on Saul to take away his self-control and turn his hostility to prophetic praise. Even the will of the king is subject to the Lord's will. And he too stripped off his clothes. The aggressive, angry king is humbled, even comically humiliated, before the power of the Lord. Thus it is said. See note on 10:11–12.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:5 The new moon was the day of the first appearance of the crescent moon in the western sky at sunset, marking the beginning of the month in the lunar calendar. It was one of Israel's main festivals (see Num. 10:10; 1 Chron. 23:31; Ezek. 46:3). One could not always predict the exact day when the new moon would become visible, so it may be that the feast was held on the first possible day, and if the moon did not appear on that day, the feast was held on the second day as well (1 Sam. 20:27). Hence, David proposed meeting on the third day (see also "or the third day"; v. 12).

FACT

What was the significance of the new moon? The new moon was the day of the first appearance of the crescent moon in the western sky at sunset. This marked the beginning of the month in the lunar calendar. One of the main festivals in Israelite society was held at the time of the new moon.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:15 my house. That is, “my offspring”; see v. 42. See also 2 Samuel 9, where David shows “kindness” to Jonathan’s son Mephibosheth.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:26 Because the feast involved sacrifices, one had to be clean to participate (on the terms “clean” and “unclean,” see Introduction to Leviticus, Problems in Understanding Leviticus).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:29 My brother presumably refers to David’s eldest brother, Eliab (17:28). It reflects a system of family leadership passing to the eldest son; his father Jesse had already retired (see 17:12; compare Laban’s role in Gen. 24:50).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:31 neither you nor your kingdom shall be established. Jonathan had already accepted this to be God’s will (vv. 14–15). Saul, on the other hand, assumed that kingship was hereditary, though there was no divine revelation to justify such an assumption.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:1–26:25 David begins his life as a fugitive. He moves around from place to place, gathering a group of 400 men, which later increases to 600. Saul is single-minded in his determination to kill David. He destroys the priests of Nob for innocently aiding David, and whenever he gets some firm news of David, he pursues him with his whole army. David continues to respect Saul as king and does not kill him, even when he apparently has God-sent opportunities to do so.

FACT

After the destruction of Shiloh, Nob apparently became the city where the priests and Levites lived. Although its exact location is unknown, it was probably a mile or two north of Jerusalem. After the building of the temple, Jerusalem became the nation’s official religious center.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:1–23:29 Chapter 21 tells of David's visit to the shrine at Nob and ch. 22 tells of the disastrous consequences of that visit. Throughout these chapters are various other stories of David's flight from Saul.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:1 Nob, a city between Jerusalem and Gibeah, apparently became the priestly city after the destruction of Shiloh. Ahimelech was the great-grandson of Eli. Jesus refers to this incident as being "in the time of Abiathar the high priest" (Mark 2:26), identifying Abiathar by the title he later held.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:2 The king has charged me. David deceived Ahimelech the priest by implying that he (David) was on official business for the king. David's deception would result in the deaths of Ahimelech and the priests at Nob (22:9–19; see 22:22). Though David normally acted in an upright way, the Bible does not hesitate to record his wrongdoing.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:4–5 Common bread, which might be eaten by anyone, is distinguished from holy bread, which, like sacrifices, could be eaten only by the "clean" (e.g., Lev. 10:10). Sexual contact was one source of uncleanness (Ex. 19:15; Lev. 15:18), especially on a military expedition (see 2 Sam. 11:9–11; on the terms "clean" and "unclean," see Introduction to Leviticus, Problems in Understanding Leviticus). The "holy bread" was the bread of the Presence (Ex. 25:30; Lev. 24:5–9). Ahimelech was bending the rules, since only priests were allowed to eat the bread, and only in a holy place. However, Jesus endorsed Ahimelech's judgment in responding with mercy rather than strict adherence to the ceremonial law.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:7 Doeg. See 22:9–19.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:10–15 David apparently had the idea of serving Achish (into my house, v. 15) as an anonymous mercenary, but he was recognized. It is not clear why they called David "king." They may have been speaking ironically, mocking David. Or perhaps the Philistines used the word in a broader sense than it bore in Israel.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:14 you see the man is mad. David pretended to be insane, and Achish was convinced of it. God was continuing to protect David.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:1–4 Adullam is halfway between Gath and Bethlehem, and the cave is probably nearby. David's family is in danger from Saul, so they join him. But because life in the wilderness would be too difficult for David's aged parents, he takes them to Moab, where David's great-grandmother Ruth had come from.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:2 everyone who was in distress. David was gathering the outcasts of Israel, but under his leadership they became an effective fighting force (see 23:5; 27:8), for "the LORD was with him" (18:12).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:5 The stronghold was probably not in Judah, since Gad told David to go into the land of Judah. It may have been Masada, the mesa on the western shore of the Dead Sea which would be the last holdout of the Jews in A.D. 73. The location of Hereth is unknown.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:6 Saul was sitting at Gibeah under the tamarisk tree. Court was often held under a tree (Judg. 4:5).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:8–10 all of you have conspired against me. Saul does not trust in the Lord, and now he trusts no one else either, even his own servants. Doeg is called the Edomite three times in this episode (vv. 9, 18, 22; also 21:7), probably to point out that it was a foreigner who betrayed David and killed the priests. In 21:1–9 there is no reference to Ahimelech's consulting the Lord, so Doeg may be lying here.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:19 Saul treats Nob like some enemy city that has been "devoted to destruction" (see note on 15:3), though previously he had failed to destroy the Amalekites (ch. 15).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:20 Through Abiathar, the benefit of true priestly counsel moves from Saul to David. Abiathar will remain with David as his priest until David's death (2 Sam. 20:25).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:1 Keilah was probably 3 miles (4.8 km) south of Adullam and east of Gath. It was apparently closer to Philistine territory than Hereth was.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:7 God has given him into my hand. Saul apparently still believes that the Lord is on his side.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:14–15 Ziph was about 5 miles (8 km) southeast of Hebron, near where the land starts going down toward the Dead Sea. Horesh was probably a grove of trees nearby.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:16–18 Though David’s situation is much worse than in ch. 20, Jonathan sees even more clearly than before that David will be king.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:19 The Ziphites were Judahites, but they apparently were not happy to have David and his men in the area. David composed Psalm 54 in response to this occasion.

FACT

Psalms of deliverance. Many of the psalms of David were composed during his time spent on the run from Saul.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:24–28 Apparently David was on the eastern slope of a mountain trying to escape toward the Dead Sea, while Saul was on the western slope. Saul divided his force into two flanks and sent them around the mountain to the north and south to encircle David. Since the land to the east was open country, he could easily have captured him.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:27 The raid by the Philistines was undoubtedly caused by the Lord to save David at the last minute.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:29 Engedi is an oasis on the western shore of the Dead Sea, due east of Ziph.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:1–26:25 The three episodes in the next three chapters all have the same theme: David, who as a warrior has already killed many of the Lord’s enemies, should not kill for his own advantage. He should let the Lord act for him.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:2 Three thousand chosen men is five times as many as David’s men (23:13). This suggests that Saul is very afraid of David.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:6 David respects Saul as the LORD’s anointed because Saul is still on the royal throne as king over Israel, even though the Spirit of the Lord has already left him.

FACT

Why was David sorry after he had cut Saul's robe? The cutting of another person's clothes (24:5) was considered an act of humiliation and provocation. Thus, it could lead to war (2 Sam. 10:4–5). David realizes that doing this to the Lord's anointed one is an offense against the Lord himself.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:12–13 May the LORD judge. David is willing to let the Lord defend him against his enemies (compare Deut. 32:35). Out of the wicked comes wickedness. That is, if David were as wicked as Saul believed him to be, he would certainly have killed Saul.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:20 I know that you shall surely be king. As with the reconciliation in 19:7, this one will be temporary.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:22 but David and his men went up to the stronghold. Despite Saul's acknowledgment of David's right to the throne (v. 20), David does not trust him.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:1 Samuel died and was buried in his house. Burial in a house was common in some ancient cultures, though unusual in Israel. Perhaps David went to Paran because he feared that Samuel's death might turn Saul against him again.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:2 "The wilderness of Paran" (v. 1) usually refers to the northeastern part of the Sinai peninsula (Num. 10:12). If the "stronghold" of 1 Sam. 24:22 is Masada, David would not have had to travel very far. Carmel is not the mountain in the north of Israel but a Judahite town between Ziph and Maon (see 15:12).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:3 Nabal means "foolish" or "boorish" (see v. 25). Since it is unlikely that someone would be given a name with that meaning, it may have originated from another Hebrew word that is now unknown. Calebite may mean a descendant of Caleb, one of the scouts who was willing to enter Canaan (Num. 14:6–7) and who was given the land around Hebron (Josh. 14:6–14). Nabal's wife Abigail should not be confused with David's sister Abigail (1 Chron. 2:16–17).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:4–8 Sheepshearing was a time of festivity (v. 8) as well as work. David addresses Nabal politely and respectfully. Sending ten young men suggests that he was asking for a substantial handout, but hardly enough to feed 600 men.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:10 Nabal refuses David's polite request (which might have been justifiable), and he treats David's men with contempt. Like Saul and Doeg (20:27, 30; 22:8, 9, 13), Nabal seems to use the son of Jesse as an insult.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:22 God do so to the enemies of David and more also is a common conditional curse formula (as in 3:17 and 14:44). The word male in this verse translates a Hebrew phrase that literally means "one who urinates at a wall." In the Bible, the phrase always refers to the killing of all the males of a group (compare 1 Kings 14:10; 2 Kings 9:8).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:23–31 Abigail warns David not to shed innocent blood. It would not be good for the future king to have killed fellow Israelites. He must let God remove his enemies, not take vengeance himself. The bundle of the living (v. 29), or "the document of the living," is probably equivalent to "the book of the living" in Ps. 69:28.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:32–35 For David to give up taking vengeance meant breaking the vow he made in v. 22. If one vows to sin, however, it is better to break the vow than to commit the sin vowed. Indeed, the very act of making a rash vow is a sin (Lev. 5:4–6). Jephthah (Judg. 11:29–40) and Herod the tetrarch (Matt. 14:7–9) should have broken their sinful vows.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:35 Go up in peace to your house is more than just a conventional greeting. David is telling Abigail that her household is safe.

ABIGAIL

Abigail was the wife of Nabal, a wealthy but extremely foolish man. Nabal insulted David by refusing to care for and feed David and his men. His rudeness made David very angry, but Abigail wisely convinced David not to take vengeance. She sent food to David and spoke humbly and respectfully to him. Abigail calmed David's anger and persuaded him not to kill her wicked husband and his household. Impressed by Abigail's wisdom and discernment, David blessed Abigail and sent her home in peace. When she told Nabal what had happened, his "heart died within him" (25:37). A few days later, the Lord struck Nabal and he died. Following his death, David married Abigail. (1 Samuel 25:32–35)

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:37–38 Abigail’s words had a devastating effect on Nabal. Whether he had a heart attack (his heart died within him) or a stroke (he became as a stone), ten days later the LORD struck Nabal, and he died.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:43 Because Ahinoam is always mentioned first, David probably married her before he married Abigail (v. 42). Ahinoam was the mother of David’s eldest son, Amnon (2 Sam. 3:2; 13:1–13). Abigail became the mother of David’s little-known second son Chileab (2 Sam. 3:3), also known as Daniel (1 Chron. 3:1). Since no mention is made of Chileab in the later family quarrels, he probably died young.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 25:44 David had probably not seen his first wife, Michal, since she helped him escape from Saul in 19:11–17.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:1–25 This chapter resembles ch. 24, but there are too many differences to think that they are simply different versions of the same event.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:1 The Ziphites are no happier to have David among them now than they were in 23:19.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:6 Ahimelech the Hittite is mentioned nowhere else in Scripture. He may have been a hired warrior. Joab’s brother Abishai the son of Zeruiah. Zeruiah was David’s sister (1 Chron. 2:16–17), so Joab and Abishai were David’s nephews. For more on David’s family relationships, see note on 2 Sam. 2:13.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:11–12 “take now the spear. . . .” So David took the spear. The narrator can say that David “took the spear” because David was the one who ordered it to be taken (“take now the spear”).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:16 you deserve to die, because you have not kept watch over your lord. David uses the plural “you.” He is accusing Saul’s men as a group.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 26:19–20 they have driven me out this day. David has concluded that he can no longer stay in Israel. Partridge is literally a “calling [bird].” Abner had asked who was “calling” the king (v. 14), so, perhaps humorously, David compares himself to a partridge being hunted down by Saul.

FACT

“Go, serve other gods.” Telling a fellow Israelite to go and serve other gods (26:19) was a capital offense against the Lord. For non-Israelites, it was a commonly accepted practice to serve the gods of the nation where one lived, regardless of one’s own national gods.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 27:1–30:31 David and his men finally gain some stability by serving the Philistine king Achish of Gath. David pretends to be loyal to Achish by attacking various non-Israelite peoples in the area while giving the impression that he is attacking Israel itself (27:8–12). When the Philistines prepare to attack Saul’s army, however, it seems that David is in danger of becoming an enemy of his own people. But the Philistine leaders do not trust him in battle, so he and his men go back to their city of Ziklag (30:1). On arrival, they find that Ziklag has been destroyed by the Amalekites. David manages to pursue and destroy the raiders and gain much spoil, which he shares with the cities of Judah. Meanwhile in ch. 28, as the Philistines prepare to invade, Saul seeks advice from the deceased Samuel through divination but receives only a prophecy of his own death.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 27:1–12 Here, as in 21:10, David goes to the Philistine city of Gath as a mercenary. Whereas before he went anonymously and alone, here he goes in his own name, accompanied by his 600 men and their families. As he said in 26:19, he has finally concluded that he can no longer stay in Israel. Though he is the rightful king, he must remain a while longer in exile. To stay in good favor with the Philistines, David must pretend to be attacking Israel (27:8–12).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 27:5 let a place be given me in one of the country towns. David probably wanted to get away from Gath so he could act freely, without interference.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 27:6 Ziklag may have been some distance from Gath, but the cities nearer to Gath probably belonged to other foreigners serving Achish, a fact that David must have been well aware of when he made his request.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 27:8 The Geshurites are those living near the Philistines (Josh. 13:2), not the Geshurites living near Bashan (Josh. 13:11). The Girzites are not mentioned elsewhere in the Bible. The Amalekites mentioned in these chapters lived in the south, toward the Egyptian border.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 27:10–12 The Negeb was the area east and west of Beersheba and north of Kadesh-barnea. David would tell Achish that he attacked Judahite, Jerahmeelite, or Kenite settlements in the area. This would leave the impression that he was attacking the outposts of Israel itself and thus was loyal to the Philistines. Achish trusted David. The deception worked.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:1–2 After David has been with Achish for over a year, the Philistines decide to attack Israel. Apparently they wanted to gain control over the northern Jezreel Valley, a wide, agriculturally rich plain. you and your men are to go out with me. David, as a paid soldier for Achish, is naturally expected to participate in the attack.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:3–25 The story now shifts to King Saul's visit to the medium at En-dor and returns to David and the Philistines in 29:1. Saul faces overwhelming odds as the Philistines prepare to attack. In desperation he apparently decides that the only one who can guide him is the deceased prophet Samuel. This account shows that in some circumstances a medium may be able to contact the dead, but it stresses the wrongness of the practice. First Chronicles mentions this incident as one reason for Saul's death (1 Chron. 10:13–14).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:3–4 Saul had put the mediums and the necromancers out of the land. Mosaic laws forbade mediums and necromancers, who consult the spirits of the dead, as well as other forms of divination (Lev. 19:31; 20:27). Saul's action in banishing them shows that he knows this, yet now he will go ahead and consult a medium anyway.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:6 By dreams, or by Urim, or by prophets were the allowable means of determining the will of the Lord. The LORD did not answer because he had rejected Saul from being king (15:23).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:7–8 En-dor was 4.5 miles (7.2 km) northeast of Shunem, where the Philistines were encamped, so it was on the other side of the enemy from Saul. He was risking his life by going there, so he disguised himself and went by night.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:12 she cried out with a loud voice. Perhaps Samuel's appearance surprised the woman and she realized something was happening outside of her control. Readers are not told how the woman realized who Saul was.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:13–14 A god is a term used of the spirits of the dead in ancient Near Eastern texts.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:15–19 Then Samuel said to Saul. The Bible text assumes that the spirit raised by the medium really is Samuel. He is called "Samuel" in vv. 15–16. He speaks much as he had spoken to Saul during his lifetime (compare vv. 16–18 with 15:18, 26–28: in both places, Samuel describes David as Saul's "neighbor"). He uses the name of the LORD seven times, and adds the true prophecy that Saul and his sons will die. An evil spirit would not deliver a true prophecy or true words to Saul, as Samuel does here. That the woman's actions brought Samuel up is implied by 28:15, Why have you disturbed me? Therefore, whatever the limits on a medium's power normally were, in this case the Lord let her raise the spirit of Samuel himself.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:19 Be with me may simply mean that Saul will die. Some think it implies that Saul's spirit will join Samuel's in the place of the dead, perhaps even among those whose sins are forgiven.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:24 A fattened calf is a stall-fed calf that was being prepared for eating, rather than a pasture-fed calf.

FACT

How is a fattened calf different from a regular calf? A fattened calf (28:24) was one that had been set aside for a special occasion. While most cattle simply grazed in fields, these select animals were fed in a stall. The extra food and the inability to roam freely meant that they would gain more weight.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 28:25 Saul went away, back to Gilboa. Saul apparently accepted that his death was the unchangeable will of the Lord. He does not try to escape the battle on the next day.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 29:1–11 The story backtracks to right after 28:2, partially repeating 28:1.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 29:4 Although Achish of Gath trusted David, the other Philistine commanders mistrusted him. They feared that he would seek to regain the favor of Saul (his lord) by betraying the Philistines and presenting him with the heads of the men here (probably meaning "our heads"). One can see the hand of the Lord working even through the Philistine commanders to keep David from fighting the Lord's people, which he had managed to avoid doing so far. That would probably have prevented him from being accepted by Israel as king.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 29:6 As the LORD lives. For polytheistic people, it was quite acceptable to make an oath in the name of a god other than the gods they normally served.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 29:8 fight against the enemies of my lord the king. The identity of "my lord the king" is perhaps deliberately unclear. On the surface the phrase refers to Achish, but it is possible David was actually referring to Saul, whose "enemies" were the Philistines. Readers are not told what David was thinking.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 29:11 From here, the action splits. Chapter 30 follows David's actions as he is sent home to Ziklag, while ch. 31 continues Saul's actions in 28:5–25 and the Philistines' actions in ch. 29. The Philistines went up to Jezreel by way of Shunem (see 28:4, then ch. 31). Saul's visit to the medium (28:5–25) occurred within this area. Jezreel is at the northwest foot of Mount Gilboa and guards the eastern entrance to the Jezreel Valley.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:1 the third day. It was about 50 miles (81 km) from Aphek to Ziklag. The Amalekites surely knew that the bulk of the armies of Philistia and Judah had gone to battle in the north, and they had taken advantage of the situation to raid Ziklag.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:6 But David strengthened himself in the LORD his God. Rather than despairing over the destruction of Ziklag, David turns to God in prayer and worship (see Ps. 56:3–4).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:9 If the hypothesis is correct that Ziklag was Tel esh-Sheriah and the brook Besor was Wadi Ghazzeh, this takes place about 12 miles (19 km) southwest of Ziklag.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:11–12 Bread here may refer simply to bread, or it may be a general term for food.

FACT

Pressed fig cakes were a common food for travelers (30:12). The dried figs would not spoil, and their sugar content made them an ideal energy food.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:14 The Negeb of the Cherethites is probably southern Philistia (see Ezek. 25:16 and Zeph. 2:5, where "Cherethites" seems to be a synonym for "Philistines"). The Negeb of Caleb is the area south of Hebron.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:17 The word translated twilight usually means "dusk" but occasionally it can mean "dawn." The meaning of the word here is not clear. If it means "dawn," David and his men probably waited until morning to attack in order to avoid killing their own people or letting the Amalekites escape. The battle continued during the daylight hours until sunset, which would be considered the start of the next day.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:25 Rule is translated elsewhere as "custom" (2:13), "ways" (8:11), and "rights and duties" (10:25).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 30:26–31 David generously distributes the spoils of victory to all who sided with him. He even gives gifts to others who will soon be his subjects. Hebron was the major city in the area. Bethel is not the famous Bethel (7:16; 10:3; 13:2) but an otherwise unknown city in Judah. Jattir and Eshtemoa are Levitical cities in the Judean hills (Josh. 15:48, 50; 21:14). Bor-ashan is probably Ashan in the Shephelah (Josh. 19:7). The locations of the other places are uncertain.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 31:1–13 The army of Israel is completely defeated, Saul's sons are killed, Saul kills himself to avoid capture, and the Philistines take over the region.

The Battle at Mount Gilboa

c. 1010 B.C.

Philistine forces advanced to Shunem from Aphek and prepared to attack the Israelites near their camp in Jezreel. Saul, fearing the great army that faced him, slipped away during the night to consult a medium at En-dor in order to seek the counsel of the deceased Samuel. When the Philistines attacked the next morning, the Israelites retreated up the slopes of Mount Gilboa. Saul and three of his sons were killed, and the Philistines mocked Israel by hanging their bodies on the wall of Beth-shean. Later, men from Jabesh-gilead traveled through the night and recovered the bodies.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 31:1 The events of this chapter directly follow those of chs. 28 and 29. The Philistines have left their camp at Shunem and are attacking the Israelite army on Mount Gilboa (see 28:4).

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 31:4 Saul took his own sword and fell upon it. See note on 2 Sam. 1:6–10 for the claim that Saul was killed by an Amalekite.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 31:7 The other side of the valley is the north side of the Jezreel Valley.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 31:10 Beth-shan is at the intersection of the north-south road along the Jordan Valley and the road from Gilead to the Jezreel Valley.

1 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 31:11–13 Saul had saved Jabesh-gilead at the beginning of his reign (ch. 11), which the men of the city remembered. They cross the Jordan and go about 10 miles (16 km) to Beth-shan. The burning of bodies was usually considered desecration, but here the purpose may have been to keep them from further dishonor. bones. Even after lengthy burning, large bones would remain. David later reburied the bones (2 Sam. 21:12–14).

The Global Message of 2 Samuel

Second Samuel in Redemptive History

The reign of King David in 2 Samuel represents a breakthrough in God's plan to redeem the world. The covenants that God had already made with his people, first with Abraham (Gen. 12:1–3; 15:1–21; 17:1–21) and then with Israel (Exodus 19–24), culminate in God's promise to give David an eternal kingdom (2 Sam. 7:8–16). The later kings of Israel and Judah will be far from perfect—their unrighteousness eventually leads to God's punishment through exile to a foreign land. But God's promise of an eternal kingdom means that David's family will ultimately bring a worldwide blessing for all peoples, most notably in the last and greatest Son of David, Jesus Christ.

The Israelites asked for a king. That was what they got. But their kings were plagued with the same fundamental problem that afflicted the people—sin. What the people needed most desperately was not a king to reign over them as a fellow sinner and to lead them to victory over other nations. What they needed was a king to lead them in victory over sin itself, and to bring that victory to other nations.

Blessing the Nations

The covenant with Abraham. God's covenants with Abraham and Israel paved the way for his covenant with David. Back before Abraham's time, rebellious humanity had plotted to "make a name for ourselves" (Gen. 11:4). Such sinful rebellion was thwarted when God chose an unlikely man, Abraham, and sent him on a rather different road to greatness: "I will bless you and make your name great, so that you will be a blessing" (Gen. 12:2). God planned to bless Abraham so that he would be the channel through whom "all the families of the earth shall be blessed" (Gen. 12:3). The Abrahamic commission to bless the world is later extended to Abraham's descendants, Israel, a people chosen by God to be "a kingdom of priests"

(Ex. 19:6). Thus the covenant God made with Israel at Sinai commissions a people who will mediate between a righteous God and a sinful world.

The covenant with David. The Davidic covenant joins together the ideas of divine election, kingship, priesthood, and blessing for the nations, all of which are found in God's earlier covenants with Abraham and Israel. After God has given rest from Israel's enemies (2 Sam. 7:1), King David desires to build God a "house" (7:2), that is, a temple like those of other deities in the ancient world. But the God of Israel does not need such a house, since his presence is not confined to a single place (7:4–7). As in the promises to Abraham, God promises David a "great name" (7:9; compare Gen. 12:2) through building him a "house" (2 Sam. 7:11–12)—that is, an eternal kingdom through David's descendants (7:13). Unlike other kings, the "house" of David will remain even when his descendants fall into sin. God will forgive them and establish this dynasty forever (7:14–17).

Understanding the global significance of God's promises to him, David responds with words of gratitude and amazement (2 Sam. 7:18–29). This guarantee of a future dynasty must serve as "instruction for mankind" (7:19), a truth that all nations must know (see also 22:50–51). David receives "greatness" (7:21) so that he might declare to the nations that God is "great" (7:22). The mighty God who promises David a "great name" (7:9) has been working since the days of the exodus to make a name for himself among the nations of the world (7:23, 26).

A Sure Promise

David's sin. God's promise of an everlasting kingdom is quickly jeopardized by the sinful behavior of David and the later kings of Israel and Judah. David commits adultery with Bathsheba and then manipulates the death of her husband Uriah (2 Samuel 11–12). David's son Absalom attempts to seize the throne (chs. 13–18). Solomon walks away from God, and the Davidic kingdom splits in two (1 Kings 11–12). And the last of numerous evil Davidic rulers, King Zedekiah, is taken into exile when Jerusalem is destroyed by Babylon (2 Kings 25). Kingship, then, appears to work out poorly in the long run for God's people. Yet David could assert at the end of his life that God would preserve his throne forever: "He has made with me an everlasting covenant, ordered in all things and secure" (2 Sam. 23:5). But how can David's royal line endure in light of his family's tendency to rule sinfully like other earthly kings?

The Messiah's suffering. The answer lies in the way the Bible speaks of the coming Messiah more broadly than as a Davidic king of military power. For all his virtues, David was typical among ancient rulers for maintaining his kingdom with military might (e.g., see 2 Sam. 22:35, 38). The New Testament transforms the expectation of a coming king by joining the military dimensions of Davidic kingship with other messianic foreshadowings such as the "suffering servant" of Isaiah 40–55. Jesus is not only a king who will one day rule over his enemies in perfect justice. He is also a king who suffers for the sake of God's people (Mark 8:31; 9:31; 10:33–34). Indeed, Jesus' "weakness" in suffering is precisely what overcomes the powers of the world and crowns him as the rightful king (Phil. 2:5–11; Col. 2:14–15). The cross of Jesus redefines true greatness.

The Global Message of 2 Samuel for Today: True Kingship

In his suffering, then, Jesus Christ is crowned as the last and greatest king, fulfilling the Davidic covenant. It is in Jesus that God's promise of an eternal kingdom is fulfilled. Yet this promise is clinched in two stages. His first crowning as a suffering king occurs through his death on the cross in the middle of history (Matt. 27:29; Mark 15:12–13; John 19:19). His second crowning as a triumphant king will occur when Jesus returns to earth at the end of history to claim and vindicate his own people, a people from every tribe and language and people group (Rev. 5:5, 9).

Around the globe today, many different forms of government exist. Some are more healthy than others. Leaders within various governmental systems vary widely in terms of integrity, virtue, and wisdom. Throughout the world, believers are to submit to the government God has placed over them (Rom. 13:1–7; 1 Pet. 2:13–17), while always remembering that their first loyalty is to God (Acts 4:19–20; 5:29).

We must work for justice and peace in the various governments that are over us, yet not place our final hope in human government. Whatever the specific political situation of global believers, we take heart in the hope of a coming leader and king who will reign one day in perfect integrity, virtue, and wisdom. This is the final Son of David, Jesus himself. "Of the increase of his government and of peace there will be no end, on the throne of David and over his kingdom, to establish it and uphold it with justice and with righteousness" (Isa. 9:7).

David Hears of Saul’s Death

2 SAMUEL 1 [†]After the death of Saul, when David had returned [a] from striking down the Amalekites, David remained two days in Ziklag. [2]And on the third day, behold, [b] a man came from Saul’s camp, [c] with his clothes torn and dirt on his head. And when he came to David, [d] he fell to the ground and paid homage. [3]David said to him, “Where do you come from?” And he said to him, “I have escaped from the camp of Israel.” [4]And David said to him, [e] “How did it go? Tell me.” And he answered, “The people fled from the battle, and also many of the people have fallen and are dead, and Saul and his son Jonathan are also dead.” [5]Then David said to the young man who told him, “How do you know that Saul and his son Jonathan are dead?” [6][†]And the young man who told him said, [f] “By chance I happened to be on Mount Gilboa, and there was Saul leaning on his spear, and behold, the chariots and the horsemen were close upon him. [7]And when he looked behind him, he saw me, and called to me. And I answered, ‘Here I am.’ [8]And he said to me, ‘Who are you?’ I answered him, ‘I am an Amalekite.’ [9]And he said to me, [g] ‘Stand beside me and kill me, for anguish has seized me, and yet my life still lingers.’ [10]So I stood beside him and killed him, because I was sure that he could not live after he had fallen. [h] And I took the crown that was on his head and the armlet that was on his arm, and I have brought them here to my lord.”

[11]Then David took hold of his clothes and [i] tore them, and so did all the men who were with him. [12][†]And they mourned and wept [j] and fasted until evening for Saul and for Jonathan his son and for the people of the LORD and for the house of Israel, because they had fallen by the sword. [13]And David said to the young man who told him, “Where do you come from?” And he answered, “I am the son of a sojourner, an Amalekite.” [14][†]David said to him, “How is it you were not [k] afraid to put out your hand to destroy [l] the LORD’s anointed?” [15][†]Then [m] David called one of the young men and said, “Go, execute him.” And he struck him down so that he died. [16][†]And David said to him, [n] “Your blood be on your head, for your own mouth has testified against you, saying, ‘I have killed [o] the LORD’s anointed.’”

David’s Lament for Saul and Jonathan

17[†]And David [p]lamented with this lamentation over Saul and Jonathan his son, 18[†]and he said it [1] should be taught to the people of Judah; behold, it is written in [q]the Book of Jashar. [2] He said:

19[†] “Your glory, O Israel, is slain on your high places!
[r]How the mighty have fallen!
20[†] [s]Tell it not in Gath,
[t]publish it not in the streets of Ashkelon, [u]lest the daughters of the Philistines rejoice, lest the daughters of [v]the uncircumcised exult.

21[†] [w]“You mountains of Gilboa, let there be no dew or rain upon you,
nor fields of offerings! [3]
For there the shield of the mighty was defiled, the shield of Saul, not [x]anointed with oil.

22[†] “From the blood of the slain,
from the fat of the mighty, [y]the bow of Jonathan turned not back,
and the sword of Saul returned not empty.

23[†] “Saul and Jonathan, beloved and lovely!
In life and in death they were not divided;
they were [z]swifter than eagles;
they were [a]stronger than lions.

24[†] “You daughters of Israel, weep over Saul, who clothed you luxuriously in scarlet,
[b]who put ornaments of gold on your apparel.

25 [c]“How the mighty have fallen in the midst of the battle!

“Jonathan lies slain on your high places.
[26][†] I am distressed for you, my brother Jonathan;
very pleasant have you been to me; [d] your love to me was extraordinary, surpassing the love of women.

[27] [c] “How the mighty have fallen,
and the weapons of war perished!”

David Anointed King of Judah

2 SAMUEL 2 [†]After this David [e] inquired of the LORD, “Shall I go up into any of the cities of Judah?” And the LORD said to him, “Go up.” David said, “To which shall I go up?” And he said, “To [f] Hebron.” [2]So David went up there, and [g] his two wives also, Ahinoam of Jezreel and Abigail the widow of Nabal of Carmel. [3]And David brought up [h] his men who were with him, everyone with his household, and they lived in the towns of Hebron. [4][†]And the men of Judah came, and there they anointed David [i] king over the house of Judah.

When they told David, [j] “It was the men of Jabesh-gilead who buried Saul,” [5]David sent messengers to the men of Jabesh-gilead and said to them, [k] “May you be blessed by the LORD, because you showed this loyalty to Saul your lord and buried him. [6]Now may the LORD show steadfast love and faithfulness to you. And I will do good to you because you have done this thing. [7]Now therefore let your hands be strong, and be valiant, for Saul your lord is dead, and [i] the house of Judah has anointed me king over them.”

Ish-bosheth Made King of Israel

[8][†]But [l] Abner the son of Ner, commander of Saul’s army, took Ish-bosheth the son of Saul and brought him over to [m] Mahanaim, [9]and he made him king over Gilead and the Ashurites and Jezreel and Ephraim and Benjamin and all Israel. [10][†]Ish-bosheth, Saul’s son, was forty years old when he began to reign over Israel, and he reigned two years. But the house of Judah followed David. [11] [n] And the time that David was king in Hebron over [i] the house of Judah was seven years and six months.

The Battle of Gibeon

[12][†]Abner the son of Ner, and the servants of Ish-bosheth the son of Saul, went out from Mahanaim to Gibeon. [13][†]And Joab the son of Zeruiah and the servants of David went out and met them at [o] the pool of Gibeon. And they sat down, the one on the one side of the pool, and the other on the other side of the pool. [14]And Abner said to Joab, “Let the young men arise and compete before us.” And Joab said, “Let them arise.” [15]Then they arose and passed over by number, twelve for Benjamin and Ish-bosheth the son of Saul, and twelve of the servants of David. [16]And each caught his opponent by the head and thrust his sword in his opponent’s side, so they fell down together. Therefore that place was called Helkath-hazzurim, [1] which is at Gibeon. [17]And the battle was very fierce that day. And Abner and the men of Israel were beaten before the servants of David.

[18]And the [p] three sons of Zeruiah were there, Joab, Abishai, and Asahel. Now Asahel was [q] as swift of foot as a wild gazelle. [19][†]And Asahel pursued Abner, and as he went, he turned neither to the right hand nor to the left from following Abner. [20]Then Abner looked behind him and said, “Is it you, Asahel?” And he answered, “It is I.” [21]Abner said to him, “Turn aside to your right hand or to your left, and seize one of the young men and take his spoil.” But Asahel would not turn aside from following him. [22]And Abner said again to Asahel, “Turn aside from following me. Why should I strike you to the ground? How then could I lift up my face to your brother Joab?” [23][†]But he refused to turn aside. Therefore Abner struck him [r] in the stomach with the butt of his spear, so that the spear came out at his back. And he fell there and died where he was. And all who came to the place where Asahel had fallen and died, stood still.

Do you not know that the end will be bitter? How long will it be before you tell your people to turn from the pursuit of their brothers?” [27]And Joab said, “As God lives, if [s]you had not spoken, surely the men would not have given up the pursuit of their brothers until the morning.” [28][†]So Joab blew the trumpet, and all the men stopped and pursued Israel no more, nor did they fight anymore.

[29][†]And Abner and his men went all that night through [t]the Arabah. They crossed the Jordan, and marching the whole morning, they came to [u]Mahanaim. [30]Joab returned from the pursuit of Abner. And when he had gathered all the people together, there were missing from David’s servants nineteen men besides Asahel. [31]But the servants of David had struck down of Benjamin 360 of Abner’s men. [32]And they took up Asahel and buried him in the tomb of his father, which was at Bethlehem. And Joab and his men marched all night, and the day broke upon them at Hebron.

Abner Joins David

2 SAMUEL 3 There was a long war between the house of Saul and the house of David. And David grew stronger and stronger, while the house of Saul became weaker and weaker.

[2][†] [v]And sons were born to David at Hebron: his firstborn was Amnon, of [w]Ahinoam of Jezreel; [3]and his second, Chileab, of [w]Abigail the widow of Nabal of Carmel; and the third, Absalom the son of Maacah [x]the daughter of Talmai king of [y]Geshur; [4]and the fourth, [z]Adonijah the son of Haggith; and the fifth, Shephatiah the son of Abital; [5]and the sixth, Ithream, of Eglah, David’s wife. These were born to David in Hebron.

[6]While there was war between the house of Saul and the house of David, Abner was making himself strong in the house of Saul. [7][†]Now Saul had a concubine whose name was [a]Rizpah, the daughter of Aiah. And Ish-bosheth said to Abner, [b]“Why have you gone in to my father’s concubine?” [8]Then Abner was very angry over the words of Ish-bosheth and said, “Am I [c]a dog’s head of Judah? To this day I keep showing steadfast love to the house of Saul your father, to his brothers, and to his friends, and have not given you into the hand of David. And yet you charge me today with a fault concerning a woman. [9] [d]God do so to Abner and more also, if I do not accomplish for David [e] what the LORD has sworn to him, [10]to transfer the kingdom from the house of Saul and set up the throne of David over Israel and over Judah, [f] from Dan to Beersheba." [11]And Ish-bosheth could not answer Abner another word, because he feared him.

[12][†]And Abner sent messengers to David on his behalf, [1] saying, "To whom does the land belong? Make your covenant with me, and behold, my hand shall be with you to bring over all Israel to you." [13]And he said, "Good; I will make a covenant with you. But one thing I require of you; that is, [g] you shall not see my face unless you first bring [h] Michal, Saul's daughter, when you come to see my face." [14]Then David sent messengers to Ish-bosheth, Saul's son, saying, "Give me my wife Michal, [i] for whom I paid the bridal price of a hundred foreskins of the Philistines." [15]And Ish-bosheth sent and took her from her husband Paltiel the son of Laish. [16]But her husband went with her, weeping after her all the way to [j] Bahurim. Then Abner said to him, "Go, return." And he returned.

[17]And Abner conferred with the elders of Israel, saying, "For some time past you have been seeking David as king over you. [18]Now then bring it about, [k] for the LORD has promised David, saying, 'By the hand of my servant David I will save my people Israel from the hand of the Philistines, and from the hand of all their enemies.'" [19]Abner also spoke to [l] Benjamin. And then Abner went to tell David at Hebron all that Israel and the whole house of Benjamin thought good to do.

[20]When Abner came with twenty men to David at Hebron, David made a feast for Abner and the men who were with him. [21]And Abner said to David, "I will arise and go and [m] will gather all Israel to my lord the king, that they may make a covenant with you, and that you may [n] reign over all that your heart desires." So David sent Abner away, and he went in peace.

[22][†]Just then the servants of David arrived with Joab from a raid, bringing much spoil with them. But Abner was not with David at Hebron, for he had sent him away, and he had gone in peace. [23]When Joab and all the army that was with him came, it was told Joab, "Abner the son of Ner came to the king, and he has let him go, and he has gone in peace." [24]Then Joab went to the king and said, "What have you done? Behold, Abner came to you. Why is it that you have sent him away, so that he is gone? [25][†]You know that Abner the son of Ner came to deceive you and to know [o] your going out and your coming in, and to know all that you are doing.”

Joab Murders Abner

[26][†]When Joab came out from David’s presence, he sent messengers after Abner, and they brought him back from the cistern of Sirah. But David did not know about it. [27][†]And when Abner returned to Hebron, Joab took him aside into the midst of the gate to speak with him privately, [p] and there he struck him [q] in the stomach, so that he died, for the blood of Asahel his brother. [28][†]Afterward, when David heard of it, he said, “I and my kingdom are forever guiltless before the LORD for the blood of Abner the son of Ner. [29] [r] May it fall upon the head of Joab and upon all his father’s house, and may the house of Joab never be without [s] one who has a discharge or who is [t] leprous or who holds a spindle or who falls by the sword or who lacks bread!” [30]So Joab and Abishai his brother killed Abner, because [u] he had put their brother Asahel to death in the battle at Gibeon.

David Mourns Abner

[31]Then David said to Joab and to all the people who were with him, [v] “Tear your clothes and [w] put on sackcloth and mourn before Abner.” And King David followed the bier. [32]They buried Abner at Hebron. And the king lifted up his voice and wept at the grave of Abner, and all the people wept. [33]And the king [x] lamented for Abner, saying, [y] “Should Abner die [z] as a fool dies?

[34] Your hands were not bound;
your feet were not fettered;
as one falls before the wicked
you have fallen.”

And all the people wept again over him. [35]Then all the people came [a] to persuade David to eat bread while it was yet day. But David swore, saying, [b] “God do so to me and more also, if I taste bread or anything else [c] till the sun goes down!” [36]And all the people took notice of it, and it pleased them, as everything that the king did pleased all the people. [37]So all the people and all Israel understood that day that it had not been the king’s will to put to death Abner the son of Ner. [38]And the king said to his servants, “Do you not know that a prince and a great man has fallen this day in Israel? [39]And I was gentle today, though anointed king. [d] These men, the sons of Zeruiah, are more severe than I. [e] The LORD repay the evildoer according to his wickedness!”

Ish-bosheth Murdered

2 SAMUEL 4 When Ish-bosheth, Saul’s son, heard that Abner had died at Hebron, [f] his courage failed, and all Israel was dismayed. [2][†]Now Saul’s son had two men who were captains of raiding bands; the name of the one was Baanah, and the name of the other Rechab, sons of Rimmon a man of Benjamin from Beeroth ([g] for Beeroth also is counted part of Benjamin; [3] [h] the Beerothites fled [i] to Gittaim and have been sojourners there to this day).

[4][†][j] Jonathan, the son of Saul, had a son who was crippled in his feet. He was five years old when the news about Saul and Jonathan [k] came from Jezreel, and his nurse took him up and fled, and as she fled in her haste, he fell and became lame. And his name was Mephibosheth.

[5]Now the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, Rechab and Baanah, set out, and about the heat of the day they came to the house of Ish-bosheth as he was taking his noonday rest. [6]And they came into the midst of the house as if to get wheat, and they stabbed him [l] in the stomach. Then Rechab and Baanah his brother escaped. [1] [7][†]When they came into the house, as he lay on his bed in his bedroom, they struck him and put him to death and beheaded him. They took his head and went by the way of [m] the Arabah all night, [8]and brought the head of Ish-bosheth to David at Hebron. And they said to the king, “Here is the head of Ish-bosheth, the son of Saul, your enemy, [n] who sought your life. The LORD has avenged my lord the king this day on Saul and on his offspring.” [9]But David answered Rechab and Baanah his brother, the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, [o] “As the LORD lives, [p] who has redeemed my life out of every adversity, [10][†] [q] when one told me, ‘Behold, Saul is dead,’ and thought he was bringing good news, [r] I seized him and killed him at Ziklag, which was the reward I gave him for his news. [11]How much more, when wicked men have killed a righteous man in his own house on his bed, shall I not now [s]require his blood at your hand and destroy you from the earth?” [12][†]And David commanded his young men, and they killed them and cut off their hands and feet and hanged them beside the pool at Hebron. But they took the head of Ish-bosheth and buried it [t]in the tomb of Abner at Hebron.

David Anointed King of Israel

2 SAMUEL 5 [†]Then all the tribes of Israel [u]came to David at Hebron and said, “Behold, [v]we are your bone and flesh. [2]In times past, when Saul was king over us, [w]it was you who led out and brought in Israel. And the LORD said to you, [x]‘You shall be shepherd of my people Israel, and you shall be prince [1] over Israel.’” [3]So all the elders of Israel came to the king at Hebron, [y]and King David made a covenant with them at Hebron [z]before the LORD, and they anointed David king over Israel. [4]David was thirty years old when he began to reign, and [a]he reigned forty years. [5] [a] At Hebron he reigned over Judah [b]seven years and six months, and at Jerusalem he reigned over all Israel and Judah thirty-three years. [2]

[6][†] [c] And the king and his men went to Jerusalem [d]against the Jebusites, the inhabitants of the land, who said to David, “You will not come in here, but the blind and the lame will ward you off”—thinking, “David cannot come in here.” [7]Nevertheless, David took the stronghold of Zion, [e]that is, the city of David. [8][†]And David said on that day, “Whoever would strike the Jebusites, let him get up the water shaft to attack ‘the lame and the blind,’ who are hated by David’s soul.” Therefore it is said, “The blind and the lame shall not come into the house.” [9][†]And David lived in the stronghold and called it [e]the city of David. And David built the city all around from the [f]Millo inward. [10]And David became greater and greater, for the LORD, the God of hosts, was with him.

[11][†] [g] And [h]Hiram king of Tyre sent messengers to David, and cedar trees, also carpenters and masons who built David a house. [12]And David knew that the LORD had established him king over Israel, and that he had exalted his kingdom for the sake of his people Israel.

13[†]And David took more [i] concubines and wives from Jerusalem, after he came from Hebron, and more sons and daughters were born to David. 14[j] And these are the names of those who were born to him in Jerusalem: Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, Solomon, 15Ibhar, Elishua, Nepheg, Japhia, 16Elishama, Eliada, and Eliphelet.

David Defeats the Philistines

17[†]When the Philistines heard that David had been anointed king over Israel, all the Philistines went up to search for David. But David heard of it and went down [k] to the stronghold. 18Now the Philistines had come and spread out in [l] the Valley of Rephaim. 19And David [m] inquired of the LORD, "Shall I go up against the Philistines? Will you give them into my hand?" And the LORD said to David, "Go up, for I will certainly give the Philistines into your hand." 20And David came to Baal-perazim, and David defeated them there. And he said, "The LORD has broken through my enemies before me like a breaking flood." [n] Therefore the name of that place is called Baal-perazim. [3] 21And the Philistines left their idols there, and David and his men carried them away.

22[†]And the Philistines came up yet again [o] and spread out in the Valley of Rephaim. 23[p] And when David inquired of the LORD, he said, "You shall not go up; go around to their rear, and come against them opposite the balsam trees. 24And [q] when you hear the sound of marching in the tops of the balsam trees, then rouse yourself, [r] for then the LORD has gone out before you to strike down the army of the Philistines." 25And David did as the LORD commanded him, and struck down the Philistines from Geba [s] to Gezer.

The Ark Brought to Jerusalem

2 SAMUEL 6 [†] [t] David again gathered all the chosen men of Israel, thirty thousand. 2And David arose and went with all the people who were with him from [u] Baale-judah [v] to bring up from there the ark of God, which is called by the name of the LORD of hosts [w] who sits enthroned on the cherubim. 3[†]And they carried the ark of God [x] on a new cart and brought it [y] out of the house of Abinadab, which was on the hill. And Uzzah and Ahio, [1] the sons of Abinadab, were driving the new cart, [2] [4]with the ark of God, and Ahio went before the ark.

Uzzah and the Ark

[5][†]And David and all the house of Israel were celebrating before the LORD, with [z] songs [3] and lyres and harps and tambourines and castanets and cymbals. [6][†]And when they came to the threshing floor of [a] Nacon, Uzzah [b] put out his hand to the ark of God and took hold of it, for the oxen stumbled. [7]And the anger of the LORD was kindled against Uzzah, and [c] God struck him down there because of his error, and he died there beside the ark of God. [8]And David was angry because the LORD had broken out against Uzzah. And that place is called Perez-uzzah [4] to this day. [9]And David was afraid of the LORD that day, and he said, “How can the ark of the LORD come to me?” [10]So David was not willing to take the ark of the LORD into the city of David. But David took it aside [d] to the house of Obed-edom the Gittite. [11]And the ark of the LORD remained in the house of Obed-edom the Gittite three months, [e] and the LORD blessed Obed-edom and all his household.

[12][†]And it was told King David, “The LORD has blessed the household of Obed-edom and all that belongs to him, because of the ark of God.” [f] So David went and brought up the ark of God from the house of Obed-edom [g] to the city of David with rejoicing. [13]And when [h] those who bore the ark of the LORD had gone six steps, [i] he sacrificed an ox and a fattened animal. [14][†]And David [j] danced before the LORD with all his might. And David was [k] wearing a linen ephod. [15]So David and all the house of Israel brought up the ark of the LORD with shouting and with the sound of the horn.

David and Michal

[16][†]As the ark of the LORD came into the city of David, Michal the daughter of Saul looked out of the window and saw King David leaping and dancing before the LORD, and she despised him in her heart. [17]And they brought in the ark of the LORD and set it [l] in its place, inside the tent that

David had pitched for it. [m]And David offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before the LORD. [18]And when David had finished offering the burnt offerings and the peace offerings, [n]he blessed the people in the name of the LORD of hosts [19]and distributed among all the people, the whole multitude of Israel, both men and women, a cake of bread, a portion of meat, [5] and a cake of raisins to each one. [o]Then all the people departed, each to his house.

[20][†]And David returned to bless his household. But Michal the daughter of Saul came out to meet David and said, “How the king of Israel honored himself today, [p]uncovering himself today before the eyes of his servants’ female servants, as one of the [q]vulgar fellows shamelessly uncovers himself!” [21]And David said to Michal, “It was before the LORD, [r]who chose me above your father and above all his house, to appoint me as prince [6] over Israel, the people of the LORD—and I will celebrate before the LORD. [22]I will make myself yet more contemptible than this, and I will be abased in your [7] eyes. But by the female servants of whom you have spoken, by them I shall be held in honor.” [23]And Michal the daughter of Saul had no child to the day of her death.

The Lord’s Covenant with David

2 SAMUEL 7 [†] [s]Now when the king lived in his house and the LORD [t]had given him rest from all his surrounding enemies, [2]the king said to [u]Nathan the prophet, “See now, I dwell [v]in a house of cedar, but the ark of God dwells [w]in a tent.” [3]And Nathan said to the king, [x]“Go, do all that is in your heart, for the LORD is with you.”

[4]But that same night the word of the LORD came to Nathan, [5]“Go and tell my servant David, ‘Thus says the LORD: [y]Would you build me a house to dwell in? [6][†]I have not lived in a house [z]since the day I brought up the people of Israel from Egypt to this day, but I have been moving about [a]in a tent for my dwelling. [7]In all places where [b]I have moved with all the people of Israel, did I speak a word with [c]any of the judges [1] of Israel, whom I commanded [d]to shepherd my people Israel, saying, “Why have you not built me a house of cedar?”’ [8][†]Now, therefore, thus you shall say to my servant David, ‘Thus says the LORD of hosts, [e]I took you from the pasture, from following the sheep, that you should be prince [2] over my people Israel. [9][f]And I have been with you wherever you went and have cut off all your enemies from before you. And I will make for you a great name, like the name of the great ones of the earth. [10]And I will appoint a place for my people Israel [g]and will plant them, so that they may dwell in their own place [h]and be disturbed no more. [i]And violent men shall afflict them no more, as formerly, [11][j]from the time that I appointed judges over my people Israel. And [k]I will give you rest from all your enemies. Moreover, the LORD declares to you that [l]the LORD will make you a house. [12][†][m]When your days are fulfilled and [n]you lie down with your fathers, [o]I will raise up your offspring after you, who shall come from your body, and I will establish his kingdom. [13][p]He shall build a house for my name, and [q]I will establish the throne of his kingdom forever. [14][†][r]I will be to him a father, and he shall be to me a son. When he commits iniquity, [s]I will discipline him with the rod of men, with the stripes of the sons of men, [15][s]but my steadfast love will not depart from him, [t]as I took it from Saul, whom I put away from before you. [16][u]And your house and your kingdom shall be made sure forever before me. [3] [u]Your throne shall be established forever.’” [17]In accordance with all these words, and in accordance with all this vision, Nathan spoke to David.

David’s Prayer of Gratitude

[18][†]Then King David went in and sat before the LORD and said, [v]“Who am I, O Lord GOD, and what is my house, that you have brought me thus far? [19]And yet this was a small thing in your eyes, O Lord GOD. [w]You have spoken also of your servant’s house for a great while to come, and this is instruction for mankind, O Lord GOD! [20]And what more can David say to you? [x]For you know your servant, O Lord GOD! [21]Because of your promise, and according to your own heart, you have brought about all this greatness, to make your servant know it. [22][y]Therefore you are great, O LORD God. [z]For there is none like you, and there is no God besides you, according to all that we have heard with our ears. [23][a]And who is like your people Israel, the one nation on earth whom God went to redeem to be his people, making himself a name [b] and doing for them [4] great and awesome things by driving out [5] before your people, whom [c] you redeemed for yourself from Egypt, a nation and its gods? 24 [d] And you established for yourself your people Israel to be your people forever. And you, O LORD, became their God. 25And now, O LORD God, confirm forever the word that you have spoken concerning your servant and concerning his house, and do as you have spoken. 26And your name will be magnified forever, saying, 'The LORD of hosts is God over Israel,' and the house of your servant David will be established before you. 27For you, O LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, have made this revelation to your servant, saying, 'I will build you a house.' Therefore your servant has found courage to pray this prayer to you. 28And now, O Lord GOD, you are God, and [e] your words are true, and you have promised this good thing to your servant. 29Now therefore may it please you to bless the house of your servant, so that it may continue forever before you. For you, O Lord GOD, have spoken, [f] and with your blessing shall the house of your servant be blessed forever."

David's Victories

2 SAMUEL 8 [†] [g] After this David defeated the Philistines and subdued them, and David took [h] Metheg-ammah out of the hand of the Philistines.

2 [i] And he defeated Moab and he measured them with a line, making them lie down on the ground. Two lines he measured to be put to death, and one full line to be spared. And the Moabites [j] became servants to David and [k] brought tribute.

9When Toi king of [u] Hamath heard that David had defeated the whole army of Hadadezer, 10Toi sent his son Joram to King David, to ask about his health and to bless him because he had fought against Hadadezer and defeated him, for Hadadezer had often been at war with Toi. And Joram brought with him articles of silver, of gold, and of bronze. 11 [v] These also King David dedicated to the Lord, together with the silver and gold that he dedicated from all the nations he subdued, 12from Edom, [w] Moab, [x] the Ammonites, [y] the Philistines, [z] Amalek, and from the spoil of Hadadezer the son of Rehob, king of [m] Zobah.

13[†]And David made a name for himself when he returned from striking down 18,000 Edomites in [a] the Valley of Salt. 14Then he put garrisons in Edom; throughout all Edom he put garrisons, [b] and all the Edomites became David's servants. And the Lord gave victory to David wherever he went.

David's Officials

15[†]So David reigned over all Israel. And David administered justice and equity to all his people. 16 [c] Joab the son of Zeruiah was over the army, and [d] Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was recorder, 17[†]and [e] Zadok the son of Ahitub and Ahimelech the son of Abiathar were priests, and [f] Seraiah was secretary, 18[†]and [g] Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over [1] the [h] Cherethites and the Pelethites, and David's sons were priests.

David’s Kindness to Mephibosheth

2 SAMUEL 9 [†]And David said, “Is there still anyone left of the house of Saul, that I may [i] show him kindness for Jonathan’s sake?” [2][†]Now there was a servant of the house of Saul whose name was [j] Ziba, and they called him to David. And the king said to him, “Are you Ziba?” And he said, “I am your servant.” [3]And the king said, “Is there not still someone of the house of Saul, that I may show [k] the kindness of God to him?” Ziba said to the king, “There is still a son of [l] Jonathan; he is crippled in his feet.” [4]The king said to him, “Where is he?” And Ziba said to the king, “He is in the house of [m] Machir the son of Ammiel, at Lo-debar.” [5]Then King David sent and brought him from the house of Machir the son of Ammiel, at Lo-debar. [6][†]And [n] Mephibosheth the son of Jonathan, son of Saul, came to David and fell on his face and paid homage. And David said, “Mephibosheth!” And he answered, “Behold, I am your servant.” [7]And David said to him, “Do not fear, [i] for I will show you kindness for the sake of your father Jonathan, and I will restore to you all the land of Saul your father, and [o] you shall eat at my table always.” [8]And he paid homage and said, “What is your servant, that you should show regard for [p] a dead dog such as I?”

[9][†]Then the king called Ziba, Saul’s servant, and said to him, “All that belonged to Saul and to all his house I have given to your master’s grandson. [10]And you and your sons and your servants shall till the land for him and shall bring in the produce, that your master’s grandson may have bread to eat. But Mephibosheth your master’s grandson [o] shall always eat at my table.” Now Ziba had [q] fifteen sons and twenty servants. [11][†]Then Ziba said to the king, “According to all that my lord the king commands his servant, so will your servant do.” So Mephibosheth [o] ate at David’s [1] table, like one of the king’s sons. [12]And Mephibosheth had a young son, [r] whose name was Mica. And all who lived in Ziba’s house became Mephibosheth’s servants. [13]So Mephibosheth lived in Jerusalem, for [o] he ate always at the king’s table. Now [l] he was lame in both his feet.

David Defeats Ammon and Syria

2 SAMUEL 10 [†] [s] After this the king of the Ammonites died, and Hanun his son reigned in his place. [2]And David said, “I will deal loyally [1] with Hanun the son of [t] Nahash, as his father dealt loyally with me.” So David sent by his servants to console him concerning his father. And David’s servants came into the land of the Ammonites. [3]But the princes of the Ammonites said to Hanun their lord, “Do you think, because David has sent comforters to you, that he is honoring your father? Has not David sent his servants to you to search the city and to spy it out and to overthrow it?” [4]So Hanun took David’s servants and shaved off half the beard of each and cut off their garments in the middle, [u] at their hips, and sent them away. [5]When it was told David, he sent to meet them, for the men were greatly ashamed. And the king said, “Remain at Jericho until your beards have grown and then return.”

[6][†]When the Ammonites saw that they had become a stench to David, the Ammonites sent and hired the Syrians of [v] Beth-rehob, and [w] the Syrians of Zobah, 20,000 foot soldiers, and the king of [x] Maacah with 1,000 men, and the men of [y] Tob, 12,000 men. [7]And when David heard of it, he sent Joab and all the host of [z] the mighty men. [8]And the Ammonites came out and drew up in battle array at the entrance of the gate, and [w] the Syrians of Zobah and of Rehob and [y] the men of Tob and Maacah were by themselves in the open country.

[9][†]When Joab saw that the battle was set against him both in front and in the rear, he chose some of the best men of Israel and arrayed them against the Syrians. [10]The rest of his men he put in the charge of Abishai his brother, and he arrayed them against the Ammonites. [11]And he said, “If the Syrians are too strong for me, then you shall help me, but if the Ammonites are too strong for you, then I will come and help you. [12][†] [a] Be of good courage, and [b] let us be courageous for our people, and for the cities of our God, and [c] may the LORD do what seems good to him.” [13]So Joab and the people who were with him drew near to battle against the Syrians, and they fled before him. [14]And when the Ammonites saw that the Syrians fled, they likewise fled before Abishai and entered the city. Then Joab returned from fighting against the Ammonites and came to Jerusalem.

[15]But when the Syrians saw that they had been defeated by Israel, they gathered themselves together. [16]And Hadadezer sent and brought out the Syrians who were beyond [d]the Euphrates. [2] They came to Helam, with [e]Shobach the commander of the army of Hadadezer at their head. [17]And when it was told David, he gathered all Israel together and crossed the Jordan and came to Helam. The Syrians arrayed themselves against David and fought with him. [18]And the Syrians fled before Israel, and David killed of the Syrians the men of 700 chariots, and 40,000 horsemen, and wounded [f]Shobach the commander of their army, so that he died there. [19]And when all the kings who were servants of Hadadezer saw that they had been defeated by Israel, they made peace with Israel [g]and became subject to them. So the Syrians were afraid to save the Ammonites anymore.

2 SAMUEL 11 [†] [h] [i]In the spring of the year, the time when kings go out to battle, David sent Joab, and his servants with him, and all Israel. And they ravaged the Ammonites and besieged [j]Rabbah. But David remained at Jerusalem.

[2][†]It happened, late one afternoon, when David arose from his couch and was walking on [k]the roof of the king's house, that he saw from the roof a woman bathing; and the woman was very beautiful. [3][†]And David sent and inquired about the woman. And one said, "Is not this [l]Bathsheba, the daughter of Eliam, the wife of [m]Uriah the Hittite?" [4][†]So David sent messengers and took her, and she came to him, and he lay with her. ([n]Now she had been purifying herself from her uncleanness.) Then she returned to her house. [5]And the woman conceived, and she sent and told David, "I am pregnant."

[6][†]So David sent word to Joab, "Send me Uriah the Hittite." And Joab sent Uriah to David. [7]When Uriah came to him, David asked how Joab was doing and how the people were doing and how the war was going. [8]Then David said to Uriah, "Go down to your house and [o]wash your feet." And Uriah went out of the king's house, and there followed him a present from the king. [9][†]But Uriah slept at the door of the king's house with all the servants of his lord, and did not go down to his house. [10]When they told David, “Uriah did not go down to his house,” David said to Uriah, “Have you not come from a journey? Why did you not go down to your house?” [11]Uriah said to David, [p]“The ark and Israel and Judah dwell in booths, and my lord Joab and [q]the servants of my lord are camping in the open field. Shall I then go to my house, to eat and to drink and to lie with my wife? As you live, and [r]as your soul lives, I will not do this thing.” [12]Then David said to Uriah, “Remain here today also, and tomorrow I will send you back.” So Uriah remained in Jerusalem that day and the next. [13]And David invited him, and he ate in his presence and drank, [s]so that he made him drunk. And in the evening he went out to lie on his couch with [q]the servants of his lord, but he did not go down to his house.

[14][†]In the morning David [t]wrote a letter to Joab and sent it by the hand of Uriah. [15]In the letter he wrote, “Set Uriah in the forefront of the hardest fighting, and then draw back from him, [u]that he may be struck down, and die.” [16]And as Joab was besieging the city, he assigned Uriah to the place where he knew there were valiant men. [17]And the men of the city came out and fought with Joab, and some of the servants of David among the people fell. Uriah the Hittite also died. [18]Then Joab sent and told David all the news about the fighting. [19]And he instructed the messenger, “When you have finished telling all the news about the fighting to the king, [20]then, if the king’s anger rises, and if he says to you, ‘Why did you go so near the city to fight? Did you not know that they would shoot from the wall? [21][†] [v]Who killed Abimelech the son of Jerubbesheth? Did not a woman cast an upper millstone on him from the wall, so that he died at Thebez? Why did you go so near the wall?’ then you shall say, ‘Your servant Uriah the Hittite is dead also.’”

[22]So the messenger went and came and told David all that Joab had sent him to tell. [23]The messenger said to David, “The men gained an advantage over us and came out against us in the field, but we drove them back to the entrance of the gate. [24]Then the archers shot at your servants from the wall. Some of the king’s servants are dead, and your servant Uriah the Hittite is dead also.” [25]David said to the messenger, “Thus shall you say to Joab, ‘Do not let this matter displease you, for the sword devours now one and now another. Strengthen your attack against the city and overthrow it.’ And encourage him.”

[26][†]When the wife of Uriah heard that Uriah her husband was dead, she lamented over her husband. [27]And when the mourning was over, David sent and brought her to his house, and [w]she became his wife and bore him a son. But the thing that David had done displeased the LORD.

Nathan Rebukes David

2 SAMUEL 12 [†]And the LORD sent [x]Nathan to David. He came to him and said to him, [y]“There were two men in a certain city, the one rich and the other poor. [2]The rich man had very many flocks and herds, [3]but the poor man had nothing but one little ewe lamb, which he had bought. And he brought it up, and it grew up with him and with his children. It used to eat of his morsel and drink from his cup and lie in his arms, [1] and it was like a daughter to him. [4][†]Now there came a traveler to the rich man, and he was unwilling to take one of his own flock or herd to prepare for the guest who had come to him, but he took the poor man’s lamb and prepared it for the man who had come to him.” [5][†]Then David’s anger was greatly kindled against the man, and he said to Nathan, [z]“As the LORD lives, the man who has done this deserves to die, [6]and he shall restore the lamb [a]fourfold, because he did this thing, and because he had no pity.”

[7][†]Nathan said to David, “You are the man! Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, [b]‘I anointed you king over Israel, and I delivered you out of the hand of Saul. [8][†]And I gave you your master’s house and your master’s wives into your arms and gave you the house of Israel and of Judah. And if this were too little, I would add to you as much more. [9][†][c]Why have you despised the word of the LORD, [d]to do what is evil in his sight? [e]You have struck down Uriah the Hittite with the sword and [f]have taken his wife to be your wife and have killed him with the sword of the Ammonites. [10][†]Now therefore the sword shall never depart from your house, because you have despised me and have taken the wife of Uriah the Hittite to be your wife.’ [11]Thus says the LORD, ‘Behold, I will raise up evil against you out of your own house. And I will take your wives before your eyes and give them to your neighbor, and he shall lie with your wives in the sight of this sun. [12]For you did it secretly, [g]but I will do this thing before all Israel and before the sun.’” [13][†][h]David said to Nathan, [i]“I have sinned against the LORD." And Nathan said to David, [j]"The LORD also has put away your sin; you shall not die. [14]Nevertheless, because by this deed you have utterly [k]scorned the LORD, [2] the child who is born to you shall die." [15][†]Then Nathan went to his house.

David's Child Dies

And the LORD afflicted the child that Uriah's wife bore to David, and he became sick. [16]David therefore sought God on behalf of the child. And David [l]fasted and went in [m]and lay all night on the ground. [17]And the elders of his house stood beside him, to raise him from the ground, but he would not, nor did he eat food with them. [18]On the seventh day the child died. And the servants of David were afraid to tell him that the child was dead, for they said, "Behold, while the child was yet alive, we spoke to him, and he did not listen to us. How then can we say to him the child is dead? He may do himself some harm." [19]But when David saw that his servants were whispering together, David understood that the child was dead. And David said to his servants, "Is the child dead?" They said, "He is dead." [20][†]Then David arose from the earth [n]and washed and anointed himself and changed his clothes. And he went into the house of the LORD [o]and worshiped. He then went to his own house. And when he asked, they set food before him, and he ate. [21]Then his servants said to him, "What is this thing that you have done? You fasted and wept for the child while he was alive; but when the child died, you arose and ate food." [22]He said, "While the child was still alive, I fasted and wept, for I said, [p]'Who knows whether the LORD will be gracious to me, that the child may live?' [23][†]But now he is dead. Why should I fast? Can I bring him back again? I shall go to him, [q]but he will not return to me."

Solomon's Birth

[24][†]Then David comforted his wife, Bathsheba, and went in to her and lay with her, and [r]she bore a son, and he called his name [s]Solomon. And the LORD loved him [25]and sent a message by Nathan the prophet. So he called his name Jedidiah, [3] because of the LORD.

Rabbah Is Captured

[26][†] [t]Now Joab [u]fought against [v]Rabbah of the Ammonites and took the royal city. [27]And Joab sent messengers to David and said, “I have fought against Rabbah; moreover, I have taken the city of waters. [28]Now then gather the rest of the people together and encamp against the city and take it, lest I take the city and it be called by my name.” [29]So David gathered all the people together and went to Rabbah and fought against it and took it. [30]And he took the crown of their king from his head. The weight of it was a talent [4] of gold, and in it was a precious stone, and it was placed on David’s head. And he brought out the spoil of the city, a very great amount. [31]And he brought out the people who were in it and set them to labor with saws and iron picks and iron axes and made them toil at [5] the brick kilns. And thus he did to all the cities of the Ammonites. Then David and all the people returned to Jerusalem.

Amnon and Tamar

2 SAMUEL 13 [†]Now [w]Absalom, David’s son, had a beautiful sister, whose name was [x]Tamar. And after a time Amnon, David’s son, loved her. [2]And Amnon was so tormented that he made himself ill because of his sister Tamar, for she was a virgin, and it seemed impossible to Amnon to do anything to her. [3][†]But Amnon had a friend, whose name was Jonadab, the son of [y]Shimeah, David’s brother. And Jonadab was a very crafty man. [4]And he said to him, “O son of the king, why are you so haggard morning after morning? Will you not tell me?” Amnon said to him, “I love Tamar, my brother Absalom’s sister.” [5]Jonadab said to him, “Lie down on your bed and pretend to be ill. And when your father comes to see you, say to him, ‘Let my sister Tamar come and give me bread to eat, and prepare the food in my sight, that I may see it and eat it from her hand.’” [6][†]So Amnon lay down and pretended to be ill. And when the king came to see him, Amnon said to the king, “Please let my sister Tamar come and [z]make a couple of cakes in my sight, that I may eat from her hand.”

[7]Then David sent home to Tamar, saying, “Go to your brother Amnon’s house and prepare food for him.” [8]So Tamar went to her brother Amnon’s house, where he was lying down. And she took dough and kneaded it and made cakes in his sight and baked the cakes. [9]And she took the pan and emptied it out before him, but he refused to eat. And Amnon said, [a]"Send out everyone from me." So everyone went out from him. [10]Then Amnon said to Tamar, "Bring the food into the chamber, that I may eat from your hand." And Tamar took the cakes she had made and brought them into the chamber to Amnon her brother. [11]But when she brought them near him to eat, he took hold of her and said to her, "Come, lie with me, my sister." [12][†]She answered him, "No, my brother, do not violate [1] me, for [b]such a thing is not done in Israel; do not do this [c]outrageous thing. [13]As for me, where could I carry my shame? And as for you, you would be as one of [d]the outrageous fools in Israel. Now therefore, please speak to the king, for he will not withhold me from you." [14]But he would not listen to her, and being stronger than she, he violated her and lay with her.

[15][†]Then Amnon hated her with very great hatred, so that the hatred with which he hated her was greater than the love with which he had loved her. And Amnon said to her, "Get up! Go!" [16]But she said to him, "No, my brother, for this wrong in sending me away is greater than the other that you did to me." [2] But he would not listen to her. [17]He called the young man who served him and said, "Put this woman out of my presence and bolt the door after her." [18]Now she was wearing [e]a long robe [3] with sleeves, for thus were the virgin daughters of the king dressed. So his servant put her out and bolted the door after her. [19][†]And Tamar [f]put ashes on her head and [g]tore the long robe that she wore. And [h]she laid her hand on her head and went away, crying aloud as she went.

[20][†]And her brother Absalom said to her, "Has Amnon your brother been with you? Now hold your peace, my sister. He is your brother; do not take this to heart." So Tamar lived, a desolate woman, in her brother Absalom's house. [21][†]When King David heard of all these things, he was very angry. [4] [22]But Absalom spoke to Amnon [i]neither good nor bad, for Absalom hated Amnon, because he had violated his sister Tamar.

Absalom Murders Amnon

came to the king and said, “Behold, your servant has sheepshearers. Please let the king and his servants go with your servant.” [25]But the king said to Absalom, “No, my son, let us not all go, lest we be burdensome to you.” He pressed him, but he would not go but gave him his blessing. [26]Then Absalom said, “If not, please let my brother Amnon go with us.” And the king said to him, “Why should he go with you?” [27]But Absalom pressed him until he let Amnon and all the king’s sons go with him. [28]Then Absalom commanded his servants, “Mark when Amnon’s [k] heart is merry with wine, and when I say to you, ‘Strike Amnon,’ then kill him. Do not fear; have I not commanded you? Be courageous and be valiant.” [29][†]So the servants of Absalom did to Amnon as Absalom had commanded. Then all the king’s sons arose, and each mounted his mule and fled.

[30]While they were on the way, news came to David, “Absalom has struck down all the king’s sons, and not one of them is left.” [31]Then the king arose and [l] tore his garments and [m] lay on the earth. And all his servants who were standing by tore their garments. [32]But [n] Jonadab the son of Shimeah, David’s brother, said, “Let not my lord suppose that they have killed all the young men, the king’s sons, for Amnon alone is dead. For by the command of Absalom this has been determined from the day he violated his sister Tamar. [33]Now therefore let not my lord the king so [o] take it to heart as to suppose that all the king’s sons are dead, for Amnon alone is dead.”

[34] [p] But Absalom fled. And the young man who kept the watch lifted up his eyes and looked, and behold, many people were coming from the road behind him [5] by the side of the mountain. [35]And Jonadab said to the king, “Behold, the king’s sons have come; as your servant said, so it has come about.” [36]And as soon as he had finished speaking, behold, the king’s sons came and lifted up their voice and wept. And the king also and all his servants wept very bitterly.

[37][†] [q] But Absalom fled and went to [r] Talmai the son of Ammihud, king of [s] Geshur. And David mourned for his son day after day. [38] [q] So Absalom fled and went to Geshur, and was there three years. [39]And the spirit of the king [6] longed to go out [7] to Absalom, because [t] he was comforted about Amnon, since he was dead.

Absalom Returns to Jerusalem

2 SAMUEL 14 [†]Now Joab the son of Zeruiah knew [u] that the king's heart went out to Absalom. [2]And Joab sent to [v] Tekoa and brought from there a wise woman and said to her, "Pretend to be a mourner and put on mourning garments. [w] Do not anoint yourself with oil, but behave like a woman who has been mourning many days for the dead. [3]Go to the king and speak thus to him." So Joab [x] put the words in her mouth.

[4][†]When the woman of Tekoa came to the king, [y] she fell on her face to the ground and paid homage and said, [z] "Save me, O king." [5]And the king said to her, "What is your trouble?" She answered, [a] "Alas, I am a widow; my husband is dead. [6]And your servant had two sons, and they quarreled with one another in the field. There was no one to separate them, and one struck the other and killed him. [7]And now the whole clan has risen against your servant, and they say, 'Give up the man who struck his brother, that we may put him to death for the life of his brother whom he killed.' And so they would [b] destroy the heir also. Thus they would quench my coal that is left and leave to my husband neither name nor [c] remnant on the face of the earth."

[8][†]Then the king said to the woman, "Go to your house, and I will give orders concerning you." [9]And the woman of Tekoa said to the king, [d] "On me be the guilt, my lord the king, and on my father's house; let the king and his throne be guiltless." [10]The king said, "If anyone says anything to you, bring him to me, and he shall never touch you again." [11]Then she said, "Please let the king invoke the LORD your God, that [e] the avenger of blood kill no more, and my son be not destroyed." He said, [f] "As the LORD lives, [g] not one hair of your son shall fall to the ground."

[12]Then the woman said, "Please let your servant speak a word to my lord the king." He said, "Speak." [13]And the woman said, "Why then have you planned such a thing against [h] the people of God? For in giving this decision the king convicts himself, inasmuch as the king does not bring [i] his banished one home again. [14]We must all die; we are [j] like water spilled on the ground, which cannot be gathered up again. But God will not take away life, and he devises means [k] so that the banished one will not remain an outcast. [15]Now I have come to say this to my lord the king because the people have made me afraid, and your servant thought, 'I will speak to the king; it may be that the king will perform the request of his servant. [16]For the king will hear and deliver his servant from the hand of the man who would destroy me and my son together from [l] the heritage of God.' [17]And your servant thought, 'The word of my lord the king will set me at rest,' for my lord the king is [m] like the angel of God to discern good and evil. The LORD your God be with you!"

[18]Then the king answered the woman, "Do not hide from me anything I ask you." And the woman said, "Let my lord the king speak." [19]The king said, "Is the hand of Joab with you in all this?" The woman answered and said, [n] "As surely as you live, my lord the king, one cannot turn to the right hand or to the left from anything that my lord the king has said. It was your servant Joab who commanded me; [o] it was he who put all these words in the mouth of your servant. [20]In order to change the course of things your servant Joab did this. But my lord has wisdom like the wisdom of [m] the angel of God to know all things that are on the earth."

[21]Then the king said to Joab, "Behold now, I grant this; go, bring back the young man Absalom." [22]And Joab fell on his face to the ground and paid homage [p] and blessed the king. And Joab said, "Today your servant knows that I have found favor in your sight, my lord the king, in that the king has granted the request of his servant." [23]So Joab arose and went to [q] Geshur and brought Absalom to Jerusalem. [24][†]And the king said, "Let him dwell apart in his own house; he is not to come into my presence." So Absalom lived apart in his own house and did not come into the king's presence.

[25]Now in all Israel there was no one so much to be praised for his handsome appearance as Absalom. [r] From the sole of his foot to the crown of his head there was no blemish in him. [26][†]And when he cut the hair of his head (for at the end of every year he used to cut it; when it was heavy on him, he [s] cut it), he weighed the hair of his head, two hundred shekels [1] by the king’s weight. [27][†]There were born [t]to Absalom three sons, and one daughter whose name was Tamar. She was a beautiful woman.

[28][†]So Absalom lived two full years in Jerusalem, without coming into the king’s presence. [29]Then Absalom sent for Joab, to send him to the king, but Joab would not come to him. And he sent a second time, but Joab would not come. [30]Then he said to his servants, “See, Joab’s field is next to mine, and he has barley there; go and set it on fire.” So Absalom’s servants set the field on fire. [2] [31]Then Joab arose and went to Absalom at his house and said to him, “Why have your servants set my field on fire?” [32]Absalom answered Joab, “Behold, I sent word to you, ‘Come here, that I may send you to the king, to ask, “Why have I come from [q]Geshur? It would be better for me to be there still.” Now therefore let me go into the presence of the king, [u]and if there is guilt in me, let him put me to death.’” [33][†]Then Joab went to the king and told him, and he summoned Absalom. So he came to the king and bowed himself on his face to the ground before the king, and the king kissed Absalom.

Absalom’s Conspiracy

2 SAMUEL 15 [†]After this Absalom [v]got himself a chariot and horses, and fifty men to run before him. [2]And Absalom used to rise early and stand beside [w]the way of the gate. And when any man had a dispute to come before the king for judgment, Absalom would call to him and say, “From what city are you?” And when he said, “Your servant is of such and such a tribe in Israel,” [3][†]Absalom would say to him, “See, your claims are good and right, but there is no man designated by the king to hear you.” [4][†]Then Absalom would say, [x]“Oh that I were judge in the land! Then every man with a dispute or cause might come to me, and I would give him justice.” [5]And whenever a man came near to pay homage to him, he would put out his hand and take hold of him and kiss him. [6]Thus Absalom did to all of Israel who came to the king for judgment. So Absalom stole the hearts of the men of Israel.

[7][†]And at the end of four [1] years Absalom said to the king, “Please let me go and pay my vow, which I have vowed to the LORD, in Hebron. [8]For your servant [z]vowed a vow [a]while I lived at Geshur in Aram, saying, ‘If the LORD will indeed bring me back to Jerusalem, then I will offer worship to [2] the LORD.'" [9]The king said to him, [b]"Go in peace." So he arose and went to Hebron. [10][†]But Absalom sent secret messengers throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying, "As soon as you hear the sound of the trumpet, then say, 'Absalom is king at Hebron!'" [11]With Absalom went two hundred men from Jerusalem [c]who were invited guests, and they went in their innocence and knew nothing. [12][†]And while Absalom was offering the sacrifices, he sent for [3] [d]Ahithophel the Gilonite, [e]David's counselor, from his city [f]Giloh. And the conspiracy grew strong, and the people with Absalom [g]kept increasing.

David Flees Jerusalem

[13][†]And a messenger came to David, saying, [h]"The hearts of the men of Israel have gone after Absalom." [14]Then David said to all his servants who were with him at Jerusalem, "Arise, and let us [i]flee, or else there will be no escape for us from Absalom. Go quickly, lest he overtake us quickly and bring down ruin on us and strike the city with the edge of the sword." [15]And the king's servants said to the king, "Behold, your servants are ready to do whatever my lord the king decides." [16]So the king went out, and all his household after him. And the king left [j]ten concubines to keep the house. [17]And the king went out, and all the people after him. And they halted at the last house.

[18][†]And [k]all his servants passed by him, and all the Cherethites, and all the Pelethites, and all the six hundred Gittites who had followed him from [l]Gath, passed on before the king. [19]Then the king said to [m]Ittai the Gittite, "Why do you also go with us? Go back and stay with the king, for you are a foreigner and also an exile from your home. [20]You came only yesterday, and shall I today make you wander about with us, since I go [n]I know not where? Go back and take your brothers with you, and may the LORD show [4] steadfast love and faithfulness to you." [21]But Ittai answered the king, [o]"As the LORD lives, and as my lord the king lives, [p]wherever my lord the king shall be, whether for death or for life, there also will your servant be." [22]And David said to Ittai, "Go then, pass on." So Ittai the Gittite passed on with all his men and all the little ones who were with him.

[24][†]And [t]Abiathar came up, and behold, [u]Zadok came also with all the Levites, [v]bearing the ark of the covenant of God. And they set down the ark of God until the people had all passed out of the city. [25][†]Then the king said to Zadok, “Carry the ark of God back into the city. If I find favor in the eyes of the Lord, he will [w]bring me back and let me see both it and his [x]dwelling place. [26]But if he says, ‘I have no [y]pleasure in you,’ behold, here I am, [z]let him do to me what seems good to him.” [27][†]The king also said to Zadok the priest, “Are you not a [a]seer? Go back [5] to the city in peace, with [b]your two sons, Ahimaaz your son, and Jonathan the son of Abiathar. [28][†]See, I will wait at [c]the fords of [s]the wilderness until word comes from you to inform me.” [29]So Zadok and Abiathar carried the ark of God back to Jerusalem, and they remained there.

[32]While David was coming to the summit, where God was worshiped, behold, Hushai [h]the Archite came to meet him [i]with his coat torn and [i]dirt on his head. [33][†]David said to him, “If you go on with me, you will be [j]a burden to me. [34]But if you return to the city and say to Absalom, [k]‘I will be your servant, O king; as I have been your father’s servant in time past, so now I will be your servant,’ then you will defeat for me the counsel of Ahithophel. [35]Are not Zadok and Abiathar the priests with you there? So whatever you hear from the king’s house, [l]tell it to Zadok and Abiathar the priests. [36]Behold, [m]their two sons are with them there, Ahimaaz, Zadok’s son, and Jonathan, Abiathar’s son, [m]and by them you shall send to me everything you hear.” [37]So Hushai, [n]David’s friend, came into the city, [o]just as Absalom was entering Jerusalem.

David and Ziba

2 SAMUEL 16 [†]When David had passed a little beyond [p] the summit, [q] Ziba the servant of Mephibosheth met him, with a couple of donkeys saddled, bearing two hundred loaves of bread, [r] a hundred bunches of raisins, a hundred of summer fruits, and a skin of wine. [2]And the king said to Ziba, “Why have you brought these?” Ziba answered, [s] “The donkeys are for the king’s household to ride on, the bread and summer fruit for the young men to eat, and the wine for those who [t] faint in the wilderness to drink.” [3]And the king said, “And where is your master’s son?” [u] Ziba said to the king, “Behold, he remains in Jerusalem, for he said, ‘Today the house of Israel will give me back the kingdom of my father.’” [4]Then the king said to Ziba, “Behold, all that belonged to Mephibosheth is now yours.” And Ziba said, “I pay homage; let me ever find favor in your sight, my lord the king.”

Shimei Curses David

[5][†]When King David came to [v] Bahurim, there came out a man of the family of the house of Saul, whose name was [w] Shimei, the son of Gera, and as he came [x] he cursed continually. [6]And he threw stones at David and at all the servants of King David, and all the people and all the mighty men were on his right hand and on his left. [7]And Shimei said as he [x] cursed, “Get out, get out, you man of blood, you worthless man! [8]The LORD [y] has avenged on you all [z] the blood of the house of Saul, in whose place you have reigned, and the LORD has given the kingdom into the hand of your son Absalom. See, your evil is on you, for you are a man of blood.”

[9][†]Then Abishai the son of Zeruiah said to the king, “Why should this [a] dead dog [b] curse my lord the king? Let me go over and take off his head.” [10][†]But the king said, [c] “What have I to do with you, [d] you sons of Zeruiah? If he is cursing because the LORD has said to him, ‘Curse David,’ who then shall say, ‘Why have you done so?’” [11]And David said to Abishai and to all his servants, “Behold, [e] my own son seeks my life; how much more now may this Benjaminite! Leave him alone, and let him curse, for the LORD has told him to. [12]It may be that the LORD will look on the wrong done to me, [1] and that the LORD will repay me with good for his cursing today.” 13So David and his men went on the road, while Shimei went along on the hillside opposite him and [f] cursed as he went and threw stones at him and flung dust. 14[†]And the king, and all the people who were with him, [g] arrived weary at the Jordan. [2] And there he refreshed himself.

Absalom Enters Jerusalem

15[†] [h] Now Absalom and all the people, the men of Israel, came to Jerusalem, and Ahithophel with him. 16And when Hushai the Archite, [h] David’s friend, came to Absalom, Hushai said to Absalom, [i] “Long live the king! Long live the king!” 17And Absalom said to Hushai, “Is this your loyalty to your friend? [j] Why did you not go with your friend?” 18And Hushai said to Absalom, “No, for whom the LORD and this people and all the men of Israel have chosen, his I will be, and with him I will remain. 19And again, [k] whom should I serve? Should it not be his son? As I have served your father, so I will serve you.”

20Then Absalom said to Ahithophel, “Give your counsel. What shall we do?” 21[†]Ahithophel said to Absalom, “Go in to [l] your father’s concubines, whom he has left to keep the house, and all Israel will hear that you have made yourself a stench to your father, and [m] the hands of all who are with you will be strengthened.” 22So they pitched a tent for Absalom [n] on the roof. And Absalom went in to his father’s concubines [o] in the sight of all Israel. 23[†]Now in those days the counsel that Ahithophel gave was as if one consulted the word of God; so was all the counsel of Ahithophel esteemed, [p] both by David and by Absalom.

Hushai Saves David

2 SAMUEL 17 [†]Moreover, Ahithophel said to Absalom, “Let me choose twelve thousand men, and I will arise and pursue David tonight. 2I will come upon him while he is [q] weary and discouraged and throw him into a panic, and all the people who are with him will flee. [r] I will strike down only the king, 3and I will bring all the people back to you as a bride comes home to her husband. You seek the life of only one man, [1] and all the people will be at peace.” 4And the advice seemed right in the eyes of Absalom and all the elders of Israel.

5Then Absalom said, “Call [s] Hushai the Archite also, and let us hear what he has to say.” 6And when Hushai came to Absalom, Absalom said to him, “Thus has Ahithophel spoken; shall we do as he says? If not, you speak.” 7[†]Then Hushai said to Absalom, “This time the counsel that Ahithophel has given is not good.” 8Hushai said, “You know that your father and his men are mighty men, and that they are enraged, [2] [t] like a bear robbed of her cubs in the field. Besides, your father is expert in war; he will not spend the night with the people. 9Behold, even now he has hidden himself in one of the pits or in some other place. And as soon as some of the people fall [3] at the first attack, whoever hears it will say, ‘There has been a slaughter among the people who follow Absalom.’ 10Then even the valiant man, whose heart is like the heart of a lion, will utterly [u] melt with fear, for all Israel knows that your father is a mighty man, and that those who are with him are valiant men. 11But my counsel is that all Israel be gathered to you, [v] from Dan to Beersheba, [w] as the sand by the sea for multitude, and that you go to battle in person. 12So we shall come upon him in some place where he is to be found, and we shall light upon him as the dew falls on the ground, and of him and all the men with him not one will be left. 13If he withdraws into a city, then all Israel will bring ropes to that city, and we shall drag it into the valley, until not even a pebble is to be found there.” 14And Absalom and all the men of Israel said, “The counsel of Hushai the Archite is better than the counsel of Ahithophel.” [x] For the LORD had ordained [4] to defeat the good counsel of Ahithophel, so that the LORD might bring harm upon Absalom.

15[y] Then Hushai said to Zadok and Abiathar the priests, “Thus and so did Ahithophel counsel Absalom and the elders of Israel, and thus and so have I counseled. 16Now therefore send quickly and tell David, ‘Do not stay tonight at [z] the fords of the wilderness, but by all means pass over, lest the king and all the people who are with him be [a] swallowed up.’” 17[†]Now [b] Jonathan and Ahimaaz were waiting at [c] En-rogel. A female servant was to go and tell them, and they were to go and tell King David, for they were not to be seen entering the city. 18But a young man saw them and told Absalom. So both of them went away quickly and came to the house of a man at [d] Bahurim, who had a well in his courtyard. And they went down into it. 19 [e] And the woman took and spread a covering over the well's mouth and scattered grain on it, and nothing was known of it. 20 When Absalom's servants came to the woman at the house, they said, "Where are Ahimaaz and Jonathan?" And the woman said to them, "They have gone over the brook [5] of water." And when they had sought and could not find them, they returned to Jerusalem.

21 After they had gone, the men came up out of the well, and went and told King David. They said to David, [f] "Arise, and go quickly over the water, for thus and so has Ahithophel counseled against you." 22 Then David arose, and all the people who were with him, and they crossed the Jordan. By daybreak not one was left who had not crossed the Jordan.

23 [†]When Ahithophel saw that his counsel was not followed, he saddled his donkey and went off home to [g] his own city. He [h] set his house in order and [i] hanged himself, and he died and was buried in the tomb of his father.

24 [†]Then David came to [j] Mahanaim. And Absalom crossed the Jordan with all the men of Israel. 25 [†]Now Absalom had set [k] Amasa over the army instead of Joab. Amasa was the son of a man named Ithra the Ishmaelite, [6] who had married Abigal the daughter of [l] Nahash, sister of Zeruiah, Joab's mother. 26 And Israel and Absalom encamped in the land of Gilead.

27 [†]When David came to Mahanaim, [m] Shobi the son of Nahash from [n] Rabbah of the Ammonites, and [o] Machir the son of Ammiel from Lo-debar, and [p] Barzillai the Gileadite from Rogelim, 28 brought beds, basins, and earthen vessels, wheat, barley, flour, parched grain, beans and lentils, [7] 29 honey and curds and sheep and cheese from the herd, for David and the people with him to eat, for they said, "The people are hungry and [q] weary and thirsty [r] in the wilderness."

Absalom Killed

2 SAMUEL 18 [†]Then David mustered the men who were with him and set over them commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds. 2 [†]And David sent out the army, one third under the command of Joab, one third under the command of Abishai the son of Zeruiah, Joab's brother, and one third under the command of [s] Ittai the Gittite. And the king said to the men, "I myself will also go out with you." [3] [t] But the men said, "You shall not go out. For if we flee, they will not care about us. If half of us die, they will not care about us. But you are worth ten thousand of us. Therefore it is better that you send us help from the city." [4]The king said to them, "Whatever seems best to you I will do." So the king stood at the side of the gate, while all the army marched out by hundreds and by thousands. [5][†]And the king ordered Joab and Abishai and Ittai, "Deal gently for my sake with the young man Absalom." [u] And all the people heard when the king gave orders to all the commanders about Absalom.

[6][†]So the army went out into the field against Israel, and the battle was fought in the [v] forest of Ephraim. [7]And the men of Israel were defeated there by the servants of David, and the loss there was great on that day, twenty thousand men. [8]The battle spread over the face of all the country, and the forest devoured more people that day than the sword.

[9][†]And Absalom happened to meet the servants of David. Absalom was riding on his mule, and the mule went under the thick branches of a great oak, [1] [w] and his head caught fast in the oak, and he was suspended between heaven and earth, while the mule that was under him went on. [10]And a certain man saw it and told Joab, "Behold, I saw Absalom hanging in an oak." [11]Joab said to the man who told him, "What, you saw him! Why then did you not strike him there to the ground? I would have been glad to give you ten pieces of silver and a belt." [12]But the man said to Joab, "Even if I felt in my hand the weight of a thousand pieces of silver, I would not reach out my hand against the king's son, for [x] in our hearing the king commanded you and Abishai and Ittai, 'For my sake protect the young man Absalom.' [13]On the other hand, if I had dealt treacherously against his life [2] (and there is nothing hidden from the king), then you yourself would have stood aloof." [14]Joab said, "I will not waste time like this with you." And he took three javelins in his hand and thrust them into the heart of Absalom while he was still alive in the oak. [15]And ten young men, Joab's armor-bearers, surrounded Absalom and struck him and killed him.

into a great pit in the forest and raised over him [y] a very great heap of stones. And all Israel [z] fled every one to his own home. 18[†]Now Absalom in his lifetime had taken and set up for himself [a] the pillar that is in [b] the King's Valley, for he said, [c] "I have no son to keep my name in remembrance." He called the pillar after his own name, and it is called Absalom's monument [3] to this day.

David Hears of Absalom's Death

19[†]Then Ahimaaz the son of Zadok said, [d] "Let me run and carry news to the king that [e] the Lord has delivered him from the hand of his enemies." 20And Joab said to him, "You are not to carry news today. You may carry news another day, but today you shall carry no news, because the king's son is dead." 21Then Joab said to the Cushite, "Go, tell the king what you have seen." The Cushite bowed before Joab, and ran. 22Then Ahimaaz the son of Zadok said again to Joab, "Come what may, let me also run after the Cushite." And Joab said, "Why will you run, my son, seeing that you will have no reward for the news?" 23"Come what may," he said, "I will run." So he said to him, "Run." Then Ahimaaz ran by the way of [f] the plain, and outran the Cushite.

24[†]Now David [g] was sitting between the two gates, and [h] the watchman went up to the roof of the gate by the wall, and when he lifted up his eyes and looked, he saw a man running alone. 25The watchman called out and told the king. And the king said, "If he is alone, there is news in his mouth." And he drew nearer and nearer. 26The watchman saw another man running. And the watchman called to the gate and said, "See, another man running alone!" The king said, "He also brings news." 27The watchman said, "I think the running of the first is [i] like the running of Ahimaaz the son of Zadok." And the king said, [j] "He is a good man and comes with good news."

28Then Ahimaaz cried out to the king, "All is well." And he bowed before the king with his face to the earth and said, [k] "Blessed be the Lord your God, who has delivered up the men who raised their hand against my lord the king." 29[†]And the king said, [l] "Is it well with the young man Absalom?" Ahimaaz answered, "When Joab sent the king's servant, your servant, I saw a great commotion, but I do not know what it was.” [30]And the king said, “Turn aside and stand here.” So he turned aside and stood still.

David’s Grief

[31]And behold, the Cushite came, and the Cushite said, “Good news for my lord the king! For [m]the LORD has delivered you this day from the hand of all who rose up against you.” [32]The king said to the Cushite, [l]“Is it well with the young man Absalom?” And the Cushite answered, [n]“May the enemies of my lord the king and all who rise up against you for evil be like that young man.” [33] [4] And the king was deeply moved and went up [g]to the chamber over the gate and wept. And as he went, he said, [o]“O my son Absalom, my son, my son Absalom! Would I had died instead of you, O Absalom, my son, my son!”

Joab Rebukes David

2 SAMUEL 19 It was told Joab, “Behold, the king is weeping and mourning for Absalom.” [2][†]So the victory that day was turned into mourning for all the people, for the people heard that day, “The king is grieving for his son.” [3]And the people stole into the city that day as people steal in who are ashamed when they flee in battle. [4][†]The king [p]covered his face, and the king cried with a loud voice, [q]“O my son Absalom, O Absalom, my son, my son!” [5]Then Joab came into the house to the king and said, “You have today covered with shame the faces of all your servants, who have this day saved your life and the lives of your sons and your daughters and the lives of your wives and your concubines, [6]because you love those who hate you and hate those who love you. For you have made it clear today that commanders and servants are nothing to you, for today I know that if Absalom were alive and all of us were dead today, then you would be pleased. [7]Now therefore arise, go out and speak [r]kindly to your servants, for I swear by the LORD, if you do not go, not a man will stay with you this night, and this will be worse for you than all the evil that has come upon you from your youth until now.” [8][†]Then the king arose and took his [s]seat in the gate. And the people were all told, “Behold, the king is sitting in the gate.” And all the people came before the king.

David Returns to Jerusalem

Now Israel had [t]fled every man to his own home. [9]And all the people were arguing throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying, [u]“The king delivered us from the hand of our enemies and [v]saved us from the hand of the Philistines, and now [w]he has fled out of the land from Absalom. [10][†]But Absalom, whom we anointed over us, is dead in battle. Now therefore why do you say nothing about bringing the king back?”

[11]And King David sent this message to [x]Zadok and Abiathar the priests: “Say to the elders of Judah, ‘Why should you be the last to bring the king back to his house, when the word of all Israel has come to the king? [1] [12]You are my brothers; [y]you are my bone and my flesh. Why then should you be the last to bring back the king?’ [13][†]And say to Amasa, [z]‘Are you not my bone and my flesh? [a] God do so to me and more also, if you are not [b] commander of my army from now on in place of Joab.'" [14]And he swayed the heart of all the men of Judah [c] as one man, so that they sent word to the king, "Return, both you and all your servants." [15][†]So the king came back to the Jordan, and Judah came to Gilgal to meet the king and to bring the king over the Jordan.

David Pardons His Enemies

[16][†]And [d] Shimei the son of Gera, the Benjaminite, from Bahurim, hurried to come down with the men of Judah to meet King David. [17]And with him were a thousand men from Benjamin. And [e] Ziba the servant of the house of Saul, with his fifteen sons and his twenty servants, rushed down to the Jordan before the king, [18]and they crossed the ford to bring over the king's household and to do his pleasure. And Shimei the son of Gera fell down before the king, as he was about to cross the Jordan, [19]and said to the king, [f] "Let not my lord hold me guilty or remember how your servant [g] did wrong on the day my lord the king left Jerusalem. Do not let the king take it to heart. [20]For your servant knows that I have sinned. Therefore, behold, I have come this day, the first [h] of all the house of Joseph to come down to meet my lord the king." [21]Abishai the son of Zeruiah answered, "Shall not Shimei be put to death for this, because [i] he cursed the LORD's anointed?" [22]But David said, [j] "What have I to do with you, you sons of Zeruiah, that you should this day be as an adversary to me? [k] Shall anyone be put to death in Israel this day? For do I not know that I am this day king over Israel?" [23] [l] And the king said to Shimei, "You shall not die." And the king gave him his oath.

[24][†]And [m] Mephibosheth the son of Saul came down to meet the king. He had neither taken care of his feet nor trimmed his beard nor washed his clothes, from the day the king departed until the day he came back in safety. [25]And when he came to Jerusalem to meet the king, the king said to him, [n] "Why did you not go with me, Mephibosheth?" [26]He answered, "My lord, O king, my servant deceived me, for your servant said to him, 'I will saddle a donkey for myself, [2] that I may ride on it and go with the king.' For [o] your servant is lame. [27] [p] He has slandered your servant to my lord the king. But my lord the king is [q] like the angel of God; do therefore what seems good to you. [28]For all my father's house were but men doomed to death before my lord the king, but [r] you set your servant among those who eat at your table. What further right have I, then, to cry to the king?" [29]And the king said to him, "Why speak any more of your affairs? I have decided: you and Ziba shall divide the land." [30]And Mephibosheth said to the king, "Oh, let him take it all, since my lord the king has come safely home."

[31][†]Now [s] Barzillai the Gileadite had come down from Rogelim, and he went on with the king to the Jordan, to escort him over the Jordan. [32]Barzillai was a very aged man, eighty years old. [t] He had provided the king with food while he stayed at Mahanaim, for he was a very wealthy man. [33]And the king said to Barzillai, "Come over with me, and I will provide for you with me in Jerusalem." [34]But Barzillai said to the king, [u] "How many years have I still to live, that I should go up with the king to Jerusalem? [35]I am this day [v] eighty years old. Can I discern what is pleasant and what is not? Can your servant taste what he eats or what he drinks? Can I still listen to the voice of singing men and singing women? Why then should your servant be [w] an added burden to my lord the king? [36]Your servant will go a little way over the Jordan with the king. Why should the king repay me with such a reward? [37]Please let your servant return, that I may die in my own city near the grave of my father and my mother. But here is your servant [x] Chimham. Let him go over with my lord the king, and do for him whatever seems good to you." [38]And the king answered, "Chimham shall go over with me, and I will do for him whatever seems good to you, and all that you desire of me I will do for you." [39]Then all the people went over the Jordan, and the king went over. And [y] the king kissed Barzillai and blessed him, and he returned to his own home. [40]The king went on to Gilgal, and Chimham went on with him. All the people of Judah, and also half the people of Israel, brought the king on his way.

[41][†]Then all the men of Israel came to the king and said to the king, "Why have our brothers the men of Judah stolen you away and [z] brought the king and his household over the Jordan, and all David's men with him?" [42]All the men of Judah answered the men of Israel, "Because the king is [a] our close relative. Why then are you angry over this matter? Have we eaten at all at the king’s expense? Or has he given us any gift?” 43And the men of Israel answered the men of Judah, “We have [b]ten shares in the king, and in David also we have more than you. Why then did you despise us? Were we not the first to speak of bringing back our king?” [c]But the words of the men of Judah were fiercer than the words of the men of Israel.

The Rebellion of Sheba

2 SAMUEL 20 [†]Now there happened to be there [d]a worthless man, whose name was Sheba, the son of Bichri, a Benjaminite. And he blew the trumpet and said, > [e]“We have no portion in David,

> and we have no inheritance in the son of Jesse;
> [f]every man to his tents, O Israel!”

2So all the men of Israel withdrew from David and followed Sheba the son of Bichri. But the men of Judah followed their king steadfastly from the Jordan to Jerusalem.

3[†]And David came to his house at Jerusalem. And the king took [g]the ten concubines whom he had left to care for the house and put them in a house under guard and provided for them, but did not go in to them. So they were shut up until the day of their death, living as if in widowhood.

4[†]Then the king said to [h]Amasa, “Call the men of Judah together to me within three days, and be here yourself.” 5So Amasa went to summon Judah, but he delayed beyond the set time that had been appointed him. 6[†]And David said to Abishai, “Now Sheba the son of Bichri will do us more harm than Absalom. Take [i]your lord’s servants and pursue him, lest he get himself to fortified cities and escape from us.” [1] 7And there went out after him Joab’s men and the [j]Cherethites and the Pelethites, and all the mighty men. They went out from Jerusalem to pursue Sheba the son of Bichri. 8[†]When they were at the great stone that is in Gibeon, Amasa came to meet them. Now Joab was wearing a soldier’s garment, and over it was a belt with a sword in its sheath fastened on his thigh, and as he went forward it fell out. 9And Joab said to Amasa, “Is it well with you, my brother?” And Joab took Amasa by the beard with his right hand [k]to kiss him. [10]But Amasa did not observe the sword that was in Joab's hand. [l] So Joab struck him with it [m] in the stomach and spilled his entrails to the ground without striking a second blow, and he died.

Then Joab and Abishai his brother pursued Sheba the son of Bichri. [11][†]And one of Joab's young men took his stand by Amasa and said, "Whoever favors Joab, and whoever is for David, let him follow Joab." [12]And Amasa lay wallowing in his blood in the highway. And anyone who came by, seeing him, stopped. And when the man saw that all the people stopped, he carried Amasa out of the highway into the field and threw a garment over him. [13]When he was taken out of the highway, all the people went on after Joab to pursue Sheba the son of Bichri.

[14][†]And Sheba passed through all the tribes of Israel to [n] Abel of [n] Beth-maacah, [2] and all [o] the Bichrites [3] assembled and followed him in. [15][†]And all the men who were with Joab came and besieged him in [n] Abel of Beth-maacah. [p] They cast up a mound against the city, and it stood against the rampart, and they were battering the wall to throw it down. [16][†]Then a wise woman called from the city, "Listen! Listen! Tell Joab, 'Come here, that I may speak to you.'" [17]And he came near her, and the woman said, "Are you Joab?" He answered, "I am." Then she said to him, "Listen to the words of your servant." And he answered, "I am listening." [18]Then she said, "They used to say in former times, 'Let them but ask counsel at [n] Abel,' and so they settled a matter. [19]I am one of those who are peaceable and faithful in Israel. You seek to destroy a city that is a mother in Israel. Why will you [q] swallow up [r] the heritage of the LORD?" [20]Joab answered, "Far be it from me, far be it, that I should [q] swallow up or destroy! [21]That is not true. But a man of [s] the hill country of Ephraim, called Sheba the son of Bichri, has lifted up his hand against King David. Give up him alone, and I will withdraw from the city." And the woman said to Joab, "Behold, his head shall be thrown to you over the wall." [22][†]Then the woman went to all the people [t] in her wisdom. And they cut off the head of Sheba the son of Bichri and threw it out to Joab. So he blew the trumpet, and they dispersed from the city, [u] every man to his home. And Joab returned to Jerusalem to the king.

[23][†] [v] Now Joab was in command of all the army of Israel; and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was in command of the Cherethites and the Pelethites;

[24]and [w] Adoram was in charge of the forced labor; and Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was the recorder; [25]and Sheva was secretary; and [x] Zadok and Abiathar were priests; [26]and [y] Ira the Jairite was also David's priest.

David Avenges the Gibeonites

2 SAMUEL 21 [†]Now there was a famine in the days of David for three years, year after year. And David [z] sought the face of the LORD. And the LORD said, "There is bloodguilt on Saul and on his house, because he put the Gibeonites to death." [2]So the king called the Gibeonites and spoke to them. Now the Gibeonites were not of the people of Israel but [a] of the remnant of the Amorites. Although the people of Israel had sworn to spare them, Saul had sought to strike them down in his zeal for the people of Israel and Judah. [3][†]And David said to the Gibeonites, "What shall I do for you? And how shall I make atonement, that you may bless [b] the heritage of the LORD?" [4]The Gibeonites said to him, "It is not a matter of silver or gold between us and Saul or his house; neither is it for us to put any man to death in Israel." And he said, "What do you say that I shall do for you?" [5]They said to the king, "The man who consumed us and planned to destroy us, so that we should have no place in all the territory of Israel, [6]let seven of his sons be given to us, so that we may hang them before the LORD at [c] Gibeah of Saul, [d] the chosen of the LORD." And the king said, "I will give them."

[7][†]But the king spared Mephibosheth, the son of Saul's son Jonathan, because of [e] the oath of the LORD that was between them, between David and Jonathan the son of Saul. [8]The king took the two sons of [f] Rizpah the daughter of Aiah, whom she bore to Saul, Armoni and Mephibosheth; and the five sons of Merab [1] the daughter of Saul, whom [g] she bore to [h] Adriel the son of Barzillai the Meholathite; [9][†]and he gave them into the hands of the Gibeonites, and they hanged them on the mountain before the LORD, and the seven of them perished together. They were put to death in the first days of harvest, [i] at the beginning of barley harvest.

[10][†][j] Then Rizpah the daughter of Aiah took sackcloth and spread it for herself on the rock, from the beginning of harvest until rain fell upon them from the heavens. And she did not allow the birds of the air to come upon them by day, or the beasts of the field by night. [11]When David was told what Rizpah the daughter of Aiah, the concubine of Saul, had done, [12]David went and took the bones of Saul and the bones of his son Jonathan from the men of Jabesh-gilead, [k]who had stolen them from the public square of [l]Beth-shan, where the Philistines had hanged them, on the day the Philistines killed Saul on Gilboa. [13]And he brought up from there the bones of Saul and the bones of his son Jonathan; and they gathered the bones of those who were hanged. [14]And they buried the bones of Saul and his son Jonathan in the land of Benjamin in [m]Zela, in the tomb of Kish his father.

And they did all that the king commanded. And after that [n]God responded to the plea for the land.

War with the Philistines

[15][†]There was war again between the Philistines and Israel, and David went down together with his servants, and they fought against the Philistines. And David grew weary. [16][†]And Ishbi-benob, one of the descendants [o]of the giants, whose spear weighed three hundred shekels [2] of bronze, and who was armed with a new sword, thought to kill David.
[17]But Abishai the son of Zeruiah came to his aid and attacked the Philistine and killed him. Then David's men swore to him, [p]"You shall no longer go out with us to battle, lest you quench [q]the lamp of Israel."

[18][r]After this there was again war with the Philistines at Gob. Then [s]Sibbecai [t]the Hushathite struck down Saph, who was one of the descendants [u]of the giants. [19][†]And there was again war with the Philistines at Gob, and [v]Elhanan the son of Jaare-oregim, the Bethlehemite, struck down Goliath the Gittite, [w]the shaft of whose spear was like a weaver's beam. [3] [20]And there was again war at Gath, where there was a man of great stature, who had six fingers on each hand, and six toes on each foot, twenty-four in number, and he also was descended [x]from the giants.
[21][†]And when [y]he taunted Israel, Jonathan the son of Shimei, David's brother, struck him down. [22]These four were descended [x]from the giants in Gath, and they fell by the hand of David and by the hand of his servants.

David’s Song of Deliverance

2 SAMUEL 22 [†]And David spoke [z]to the LORD the words of this song on the day when the LORD delivered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul. 2 [a]He said,

[b]“The LORD is my rock and my fortress and my deliverer,
3 [c]my [1] God, my rock, [d]in whom I take refuge, [e]my shield, and [f]the horn of my salvation,
[g]my stronghold and [h]my refuge,
my savior; you save me from violence.
4 I call upon the LORD, who is [i]worthy to be praised,
and I am saved from my enemies.

5[†] [j]“For the waves of death encompassed me,
the torrents of destruction assailed me; [2] 6 [k]the cords of Sheol entangled me;
the snares of death confronted me.

7[†] [l]“In my distress I called upon the LORD;
to my God I called.
From his temple he heard my voice,
and my cry [m]came to his ears.

8[†] “Then [n]the earth reeled and rocked;
[o]the foundations of the heavens trembled and quaked, because he was angry.
9 Smoke went up from his nostrils, [3]
and devouring fire from his mouth;
[p]glowing coals flamed forth from him.
10[†] [q]He bowed the heavens and [r]came down;
[s]thick darkness was under his feet.
11 He rode on a cherub and flew;
he was seen on [t]the wings of the wind.
12 He made [s]darkness around him [u]his canopy, thick clouds, a gathering of water.

13 Out of the brightness before him
[v] coals of fire flamed forth.
14 [w] The Lord thundered from heaven, and the Most High uttered his voice.
15[†] And he sent out [x] arrows and scattered them;
lightning, and routed them.
16 Then the channels of the sea were seen;
the foundations of the world were laid bare,
at the rebuke of the Lord,
at the [y] blast of the breath of his nostrils.

17[†] [z] “He sent from on high, he took me;
he drew me out of many waters.
18 He rescued me from my strong enemy,
from those who hated me,
for they were too mighty for me.
19 They confronted me in the day of my calamity,
but the Lord was my support.
20[†] [a] He brought me out into a broad place;
he rescued me, because [b] he delighted in me.

21 “The Lord [c] dealt with me according to my righteousness;
according to the [d] cleanness of my hands he rewarded me.
22 [e] For I have kept the ways of the Lord
and have not wickedly departed from my God.
23 [f] For all his rules were before me,
and from his statutes I did not turn aside.
24 I was [g] blameless before him,
and I kept myself from guilt.
25 [d] And the Lord has rewarded me according to my righteousness, according to my cleanness in his sight.

26[†] [h] “With the merciful you show yourself merciful;
with the [g] blameless man you show yourself blameless; 27 with the purified you deal purely,

and with the crooked you make yourself seem tortuous.
28 [i] You save a humble people,
[j] but your eyes are on the haughty to bring them down.
29 [k] For you are my lamp, O LORD,
and my God lightens my darkness.
30 For by you I can run against a troop,
and by my God I can leap over a wall.
31 This God—[l] his way is perfect;
the [m] word of the LORD proves true;
he is [n] a shield for all those who take refuge in him.

32 “For who is God, but the LORD?
[o] And who is a rock, except our God?
33 This God is my [p] strong refuge and has made my [4] way blameless. [5] 34 [q] He made my feet like the feet of a deer and set me secure [r] on the heights.
35[†] [s] He trains my hands for war,
so that my arms can bend a bow of bronze.
36 You have given me the shield of your salvation,
and your gentleness made me great.
37 [t] You gave a wide place for my steps under me,
and my feet [6] did not slip;
38 I pursued my enemies and destroyed them,
and did not turn back until they were consumed.
39 I consumed them; I thrust them through, so that they did not rise;
they fell [u] under my feet.
40 For you equipped me with strength for the battle;
you made [v] those who rise against me sink under me.
41 You [w] made my enemies turn their backs to me, [7]
those who hated me, and I destroyed them.
42 They looked, but there was none to save;
they cried to the LORD, but [x] he did not answer them.
43 I beat them fine [y] as the dust of the earth;

I crushed them and stamped them down [z] like the mire of the streets.

44 “You delivered me from strife with my people; [8]
you kept me as the head of [a] the nations;
[b] people whom I had not known served me.
45 Foreigners came cringing to me;
as soon as they heard of me, they obeyed me.
46 Foreigners lost heart and came trembling [9] [c] out of their fortresses.

47 “The LORD lives, and blessed be my rock,
and exalted be [d] my God, [e] the rock of my salvation, 48 the God who gave me vengeance
and [f] brought down peoples under me, 49 who brought me out from my enemies;
you exalted me above [v] those who rose against me;
you delivered me from [g] men of violence.

50 [h] “For this I will praise you, O LORD, among the nations, and sing praises to your name.
51 [i] Great salvation he brings [10] to his king, and shows steadfast love to [j] his anointed, to David and his offspring [k] forever.”

The Last Words of David

2 SAMUEL 23 [†]Now these are the last words of David:

The oracle of David, the son of Jesse,
the oracle of [l] the man who was raised on high, [j] the anointed of the God of Jacob,
the sweet psalmist of Israel: [1]

2[†] [m] “The Spirit of the LORD speaks by me;
his word is on my tongue.

3 The God of Israel has spoken;
[n] the Rock of Israel has said to me:
When one rules justly over men,
ruling [o] in the fear of God,
4[†] he [p] dawns on them like the morning light,
like the sun shining forth on a cloudless morning, like rain [2] that makes grass to sprout from the earth.

5[†] “For does not my house stand so with God?
[q] For he has made with me an everlasting covenant, ordered in all things and secure.
For will he not cause to prosper
all my help and my desire?
6 But worthless men [3] are all like thorns that are thrown away, for they cannot be taken with the hand;
7 but the man who touches them arms himself with iron and the shaft of a spear, and they are utterly consumed with fire.” [4]

David’s Mighty Men

8[†] [r] These are the names of the mighty men whom David had: [s] Josheb-basshebeth a Tahchemonite; he was chief of the three. [5] He wielded his spear [6] against eight hundred whom he killed at one time.

9And next to him among the three mighty men was Eleazar the son of [t] Dodo, son of [u] Ahohi. He was with David when they defied the Philistines who were gathered there for battle, and the men of Israel withdrew. 10He rose and struck down the Philistines until his hand was weary, and his hand clung to the sword. And the LORD brought about a great victory that day, and the men returned after him only to strip the slain.

11[†]And next to him was Shammah, the son of Agee the [v] Hararite. The Philistines gathered together at Lehi, where there was a plot of ground full of lentils, and the men fled from the Philistines. 12But he took his stand in the midst of the plot and defended it and struck down the Philistines, and the LORD worked a great victory.

[13][†]And three of the thirty chief men went down and came about harvest time to David at the [w]cave of Adullam, when a band of Philistines was encamped [x]in the Valley of Rephaim. [14]David was then [y]in the stronghold, and [z]the garrison of the Philistines was then at Bethlehem. [15]And David said longingly, "Oh, that someone would give me water to drink from the well of Bethlehem that is by the gate!" [16][†]Then the three mighty men broke through the camp of the Philistines and drew water out of the well of Bethlehem that was by the gate and carried and brought it to David. But he would not drink of it. He poured it out to the LORD [17]and said, "Far be it from me, O LORD, that I should do this. Shall I drink [a]the blood of the men who went at the risk of their lives?" Therefore he would not drink it. These things the three mighty men did.

[18][†]Now Abishai, the brother of Joab, the son of Zeruiah, was chief of the thirty.[7] And he wielded his spear against three hundred men[8] and killed them and won a name beside the three. [19]He was the most renowned of the thirty[9] and became their commander, but he did not attain to [b]the three.

[20]And [c]Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was a valiant man[10] of [d]Kabzeel, a doer of great deeds. He struck down two ariels[11] of Moab. He also went down and struck down a lion in a pit on a day when snow had fallen. [21]And he struck down an Egyptian, a handsome man. The Egyptian had a spear in his hand, but Benaiah went down to him with a staff and snatched the spear out of the Egyptian's hand and killed him with his own spear. [22]These things did Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and won a name beside the three mighty men. [23]He was renowned among the thirty, but he did not attain to the three. And David set him over his bodyguard.

[24][e]Asahel the brother of Joab was one of the thirty; Elhanan the son of Dodo of Bethlehem, [25][f]Shammah of Harod, Elika of Harod, [26]Helez the Paltite, Ira the son of Ikkesh [g]of Tekoa, [27]Abiezer [h]of Anathoth, Mebunnai [i]the Hushathite, [28]Zalmon [j]the Ahohite, Maharai [k]of Netophah, [29]Heleb the son of Baanah [k]of Netophah, Ittai the son of Ribai of [l]Gibeah of the people of Benjamin, [30]Benaiah [m]of Pirathon, Hiddai of the brooks of [n]Gaash, [31]Abi-albon the Arbathite, Azmaveth of [o]Bahurim, [32][†]Eliahba the Shaalbonite, the sons of Jashen, Jonathan, [33][p]Shammah the Hararite, Ahiam the son of Sharar the Hararite, [34]Eliphelet the son of Ahasbai [q] of Maacah, [r] Eliam the son of [s] Ahithophel of Gilo, [35]Hezro [12] [t] of Carmel, Paarai the Arbite, [36]Igal the son of Nathan [u] of Zobah, Bani the Gadite, [37]Zelek the Ammonite, Naharai [v] of Beeroth, the armor-bearer of Joab the son of Zeruiah, [38] [w] Ira the [x] Ithrite, Gareb the Ithrite, [39] [y] Uriah the Hittite: thirty-seven in all.

David’s Census

2 SAMUEL 24 [†] [z] [a] Again the anger of the LORD was kindled against Israel, and he incited David against them, saying, [b] “Go, number Israel and Judah.” [2]So the king said to Joab, the commander of the army, [1] who was with him, “Go through all the tribes of Israel, [c] from Dan to Beersheba, and number the people, that I may know the number of the people.” [3][†]But Joab said to the king, [d] “May the LORD your God add to the people a hundred times as many as they are, while the eyes of my lord the king still see it, but why does my lord the king delight in this thing?” [4]But the king’s word prevailed against Joab and the commanders of the army. So Joab and the commanders of the army went out from the presence of the king to number the people of Israel. [5][†]They crossed the Jordan and began from [e] Aroer, [2] and from the city that is in the middle of the [f] valley, toward Gad and on to [g] Jazer. [6]Then they came to Gilead, and to Kadesh in the land of the Hittites; [3] and they came to Dan, and from Dan [4] they went around to [h] Sidon, [7]and came to the fortress of Tyre and to all the cities of the [i] Hivites and [i] Canaanites; and they went out to the Negeb of Judah at Beersheba. [8]So when they had gone through all the land, they came to Jerusalem at the end of nine months and twenty days. [9][†]And Joab gave the sum of the numbering of the people to the king: in Israel there were 800,000 valiant men [j] who drew the sword, and the men of Judah were 500,000.

The LORD’s Judgment of David’s Sin

[10][†]But [k] David’s heart struck him after he had numbered the people. And David said to the LORD, [l] “I have sinned greatly in what I have done. But now, O LORD, please take away the iniquity of your servant, for I have done [m] very foolishly." [11]And when David arose in the morning, the word of the LORD came to [n] the prophet Gad, David's [o] seer, saying, [12]"Go and say to David, 'Thus says the LORD, Three things I offer [5] you. Choose one of them, that I may do it to you.'" [13][†]So Gad came to David and told him, and said to him, "Shall [p] three [6] years of famine come to you in your land? Or will you flee three months before your foes while they pursue you? Or shall there be three days' pestilence in your land? Now consider, and decide what answer I shall return to him who sent me." [14]Then David said to Gad, "I am in great distress. Let us fall into the hand of the LORD, [q] for his mercy is great; but let me not fall into the hand of man."

[15] [r] So the LORD sent a pestilence on Israel from the morning until the appointed time. And there died of the people from [s] Dan to Beersheba 70,000 men. [16]And when [t] the angel stretched out his hand toward Jerusalem [u] to destroy it, [v] the LORD relented from the calamity and said to the angel [u] who was working destruction among the people, "It is enough; now stay your hand." And [t] the angel of the LORD was by the threshing floor of [w] Araunah the Jebusite. [17][†]Then David spoke to the LORD when he saw the angel who was striking the people, and said, "Behold, I have sinned, and I have done wickedly. But these sheep, what have they done? Please let your hand be against me and against my father's house."

David Builds an Altar

[18][†]And Gad came that day to David and said to him, "Go up, raise an altar to the LORD on the threshing floor of [x] Araunah the Jebusite." [19]So David went up at Gad's word, as the LORD commanded. [20][†]And when Araunah looked down, he saw the king and his servants coming on toward him. And Araunah went out and paid homage to the king with his face to the ground. [21]And Araunah said, "Why has my lord the king come to his servant?" David said, "To buy the threshing floor from you, in order to build an altar to the LORD, that the plague [y] may be averted from the people." [22]Then Araunah said to David, "Let my lord the king take and offer up what seems good to him. Here are the oxen for the burnt offering and the [z] threshing sledges and the yokes of the oxen for the wood. [23][†]All this, O king, Araunah gives to the king.” And Araunah said to the king, “May the LORD your God [a] accept you.” 24But the king said to Araunah, “No, but I will buy it from you for a price. I will not offer burnt offerings to the LORD my God that cost me nothing.” So David bought the threshing floor and the oxen for fifty shekels [7] of silver. 25[†]And David built there an altar to the LORD and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings. [b] So the LORD responded to the plea for the land, and the plague was averted from Israel.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:1–20:26 Story of King David. Most of 2 Samuel tells of David's rise to kingship, first over Judah and then over all Israel. Most of the problems David had to deal with resulted from his own sins.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:1–27 The book begins where 1 Samuel ends, with the death of King Saul and his sons at Mount Gilboa. David, who is in Ziklag, hears of Saul's death. But instead of rejoicing that his enemy is dead, he mourns Saul's death and executes the man who claims to have killed Saul.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:1–2 An Amalekite man (see v. 8) arrives to report the events of 1 Samuel 31. The torn clothes and dirt are signs of mourning.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:6–10 So I stood beside him and killed him (v. 10). The narrator in 1 Samuel 31 said that Saul killed himself. This man is lying to gain favor with the person most likely to replace Saul as king.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:12 David and his men fasted in mourning. After this summary statement, the story resumes the actual dialogue between David and the young man who told of Saul's death.

FACT

Laments were a common way of showing grief and mourning for the dead. They could poetically capture a person's feelings toward the departed.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:14 How is it you were not afraid . . . to destroy the LORD's anointed? See note on 1 Sam. 24:6. As a sojourner subject to the laws of Israel (Lev. 24:22), the Amalekite should have respected Saul as his king (as did Saul's armor-bearer; 1 Sam. 31:4–5). David himself had refrained from killing Saul (1 Samuel 24; 26).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:15 Go, execute him. David believed the Amalekite's story (but see note on vv. 6–10). On that basis he had him executed. David's action shows he had no part in Saul's death.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:16 Your blood be on your head means that the Amalekite (not David) is responsible for his own death (see Josh. 2:19; 1 Kings 2:32, 37; Ezek. 33:4).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:17–27 And David lamented. Though terribly wronged by Saul, David chose to remember him in a generous way.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:18 It should be taught refers to the lament that follows. Compare the heading of Psalm 60, "A Miktam of David; for instruction." The Book of Jashar is a non-biblical written source.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:19 How the mighty have fallen! This is the theme line of David's lament for Saul and Jonathan, repeated in vv. 25, 27.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:20 Gath and Ashkelon are Philistine cities. David does not want the Philistines to rejoice over Saul's death.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:21 let there be no dew or rain . . . nor fields of offerings! David wishes for lack of blessing on the place where Saul and Jonathan died. The line the shield of the mighty was defiled is paralleled by the next line, the shield of Saul, not anointed with oil (that is, "not in proper condition," since leather shields were treated with oil).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:22 Blood and fat are often used as a word pair to refer to the whole of a sacrifice. For bow of Jonathan, see 1 Sam. 20:18–23.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:23 In life and in death . . . not divided. In 1 Samuel 14 Jonathan acted without his father's knowledge and readily criticized him, and they disagreed over David (see especially 1 Sam. 22:8). Yet they apparently maintained a relationship, eventually fighting and dying together for Israel.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:24 Scarlet cloth, colored with a dye made from the dried bodies of an insect, was a sign of prosperity (Prov. 31:21).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 1:26 surpassing the love of women. David's remark does not carry any sexual overtones. Rather, he is calling attention to Jonathan's self-denial in giving up any right to the throne of Israel (1 Sam. 23:17). Jonathan loved and supported David as the Lord's choice to succeed his father Saul. He even risked his life for David (1 Sam. 20:30–33).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:1–5:5 Judah makes David its king. Saul's general Abner, however, seeks to restore Saul's kingdom with Saul's son Ish-bosheth as king. During the struggle between the two kingdoms, Abner, who has decided to go with David, is killed by David's commander Joab. Later, Ish-bosheth is killed by two of his own men, but David executes them for murder. With no candidate for king in the house of Saul, all of Israel unites to anoint the hero David as king. There are many cases of Israelites' shedding the blood of fellow Israelites, and this is tragic, but the narrator holds David innocent in each case, and thus he is qualified to be king over all Israel.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:1–3 Saul is no longer pursuing David, and David's home base of Ziklag has burned. After inquiring of the Lord, David moves to the Hebron area with his family and men. Hebron was the most important city of southern Judah. It was not far from Bethlehem.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:4b–7 See 1 Sam. 31:11–13. David seems to be presenting himself as Saul's successor and suggesting that Jabesh-gilead should enter into a treaty relationship with Judah. He is moved by their faithfulness toward Saul and wants to reward them.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:4 Rather than seeking a relative of Saul (from the tribe of Benjamin, 1 Sam. 9:1), the people of Judah choose one of their own, the hero David, as king. He was also chosen by the Lord (1 Sam. 16:1–23).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:8–9 Abner tries to continue Saul's kingdom, on a reduced scale. From these verses and 3:9, it appears that Abner, not Ish-bosheth, was actually in charge. Mahanaim, a city on the Jabbok River, was apparently the capital of Gilead. The fact that the capital had to be in Transjordan suggests the weakness of Ish-bosheth's reign. Gilead and the Ashurites and Jezreel refers to the northern and Transjordanian part of the country. Ephraim and Benjamin refers to the central and main part. Ish-bosheth did not necessarily have real control over all this area; the Philistines apparently were in the Jezreel Valley (1 Sam. 31:7). All Israel is a summary description of the area just mentioned.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:10–11 For a time, there are two kings in the land of Israel.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:12 Gibeon is about 6 miles (9.7 km) north-northwest of Jerusalem. The "pool" (v. 13) is probably the huge round cistern cut into the rock on its north side (compare Jer. 41:12).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:13 This marks the first appearance of Joab the son of Zeruiah, though Abishai was referred to as his brother in 1 Sam. 26:6. Joab was commander over the army (2 Sam. 8:16). He appears frequently in 2 Samuel, often in a major role. Since Abner knows him and his brothers well (2:20–22), Joab probably came to Saul's court soon after David's rise to prominence. He was one of the three sons of David's sister Zeruiah (1 Chron. 2:16), so he was David's nephew (2 Sam. 2:18).

FACT

The pool of Gibeon (2:13) was probably a huge round cistern cut into limestone rock. Since the water was about 80 feet (24 m) below ground, nearly 30 feet (9 m) of stairs were carved into the side of the shaft. These stairs led to a tunnel about 40 feet (12 m) long. At the end of this tunnel was the pool, where a person could draw water for daily use.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:19 Asahel was one of David's mighty warriors, "one of the thirty" (23:24; see also 1 Chron. 11:26).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:23 Abner, an experienced warrior, apparently stopped suddenly, thrusting his spear backward so forcefully that it went right through Asahel's body as he ran into it.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:28 Here, as in 18:16 and 20:22, Joab uses a trumpet to summon an army and mark the end of fighting after a victory.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 2:29 The Arabah is part of the Jordan Valley rift south of the Dead Sea.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:2–5 It is assumed that Chileab (called Daniel in 1 Chron. 3:1) died young, since he is not mentioned as a possible successor in 1 Kings 1. Geshur was north of the area controlled by Saul's house, so David's marriage with its king's daughter strengthened him against Ish-bosheth (2 Sam. 3:1).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:7 Saul’s concubine Rizpah bore him two sons. Taking the previous king’s wives was considered acceptable only for the new king (see 12:8; 16:21–22). If Abner had sex with Rizpah, it could be considered an act of treason.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:12–15 David clearly does not mind taking the Israelite kingdom from Ish-bosheth, and he stresses his closeness to Saul as Saul’s son-in-law. David states that he has legally paid the bride-price for Michal (see 1 Sam. 18:25–27). Apparently David never divorced Michal, even though Saul had given her to another man (1 Sam. 25:44).

FACT

Dogs are mentioned 40 times in Scripture, and few of the references are positive. Dogs were viewed as unclean animals because they were scavengers, not pets. To compare someone to a dog was a great insult (3:8).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:22–30 Joab’s motive for killing Abner could have been concern for David’s position as king (v. 25), concern for his own position (v. 23), personal revenge (v. 30), or a mixture of these motives (compare 18:14; 20:10).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:25 Know your going out and your coming in mainly refers to military actions (as in 1 Sam. 18:13). In other words, Joab claims that Abner came as a spy.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:26 Sirah is about 2.5 miles (4 km) north of Hebron.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:27 into the midst of the gate. City gates were elaborate structures.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 3:28–39 Joab is apparently too important and useful for David to punish him for killing Abner. Instead David curses Joab and publicly mourns Abner, having a funeral for him and chanting a lament for him. This is the only funeral described in detail in the OT. Because of Abner’s relationship to Saul, it was important for David and his future kingdom that all Israel know it was not David’s will to put Abner to death.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:2–3 Beeroth is about 2 miles (3.2 km) south of Gibeon. It is one of the cities that tricked Joshua into making a treaty with them (Josh.

9:17). The Beerothites had probably fled to Gittaim when Saul put the Gibeonites to death (see 2 Sam. 21:1). Apparently after that the Benjaminites (Neh. 11:33), including Rimmon and his family, came to live there.

ABNER

Abner was the commander of Saul's army. When Saul died, Abner took the king's son, Ish-bosheth, and made him king of Israel. During the Battle of Gibeon, Abner killed Asahel, one of David's mighty men. This led to hostility between himself and Asahel's brothers, Joab and Abishai. After a quarrel with Ish-bosheth, Abner convinced the elders of Israel that they should side with David. He was welcomed by David but was then murdered by Joab. David cursed Joab for killing Abner and held a public funeral for the murdered warrior. David called Abner "a prince and a great man" (3:38). (2 Samuel 3:38)

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:4 The information about Mephibosheth is probably put here to show why there was no move to make him king after Ish-bosheth's death. He was still a child, and he was crippled. Apparently his real name was "Merib-baal" (1 Chron. 8:34). Because "baal" could mean "lord" in general, the name probably referred to the Lord of Israel (as in 2 Sam. 5:20). At some point, to avoid using the name of the god Baal, in Samuel he is referred to as "Mephibosheth." Similarly, Saul's son Ish-bosheth is called "Eshbaal" in 1 Chron. 8:33, but "Ish-bosheth" in Samuel. Jerubbaal (that is, Gideon; Judg. 6:32) is called "Jerubbesheth" in 2 Sam. 11:21.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:7 This verse is an expansion of the previous verse.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:10–11 This refers to the incident in 1:13–16. The Amalekite had at least given the excuse that Saul had requested his own death, but Ish-bosheth's death was outright murder.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 4:12 Unlike the case of Joab, there is no problem with executing the killers of Ish-bosheth. For hanging a body after death, see 21:6 and Josh. 10:26.

FACT

Hanging by the neck was never used as a form of execution in ancient Israel. However, the hanging of a person's body after execution was a common practice (4:12). This was done to cast shame on the criminal and to warn others not to commit similar crimes.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:1 we are your bone and flesh. Even though there is a distinct division between Judah and the rest of Israel, they still recognize each other as family (compare "brothers," 2:26–27).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:6–13 The account of David's kingship over all of Israel starts with his capture of the Jebusite city of Jerusalem, on the boundary between Judah and Benjamin. Jerusalem had not been controlled by any one tribe, and thus it was both symbolically and geographically better suited to be the capital of all Israel than Hebron, which was in central Judah. Jerusalem was the "Salem" of which Melchizedek was king (Gen. 14:18). It had been too strong to be conquered when the Israelites first entered Canaan (Josh. 15:63). The stronghold of Zion was on the western slope of the Kidron Valley above the city's water source, the spring of Gihon. According to 1 Chron. 11:6, Joab led the attack by entering through the water shaft and was made David's chief commander because of his success.

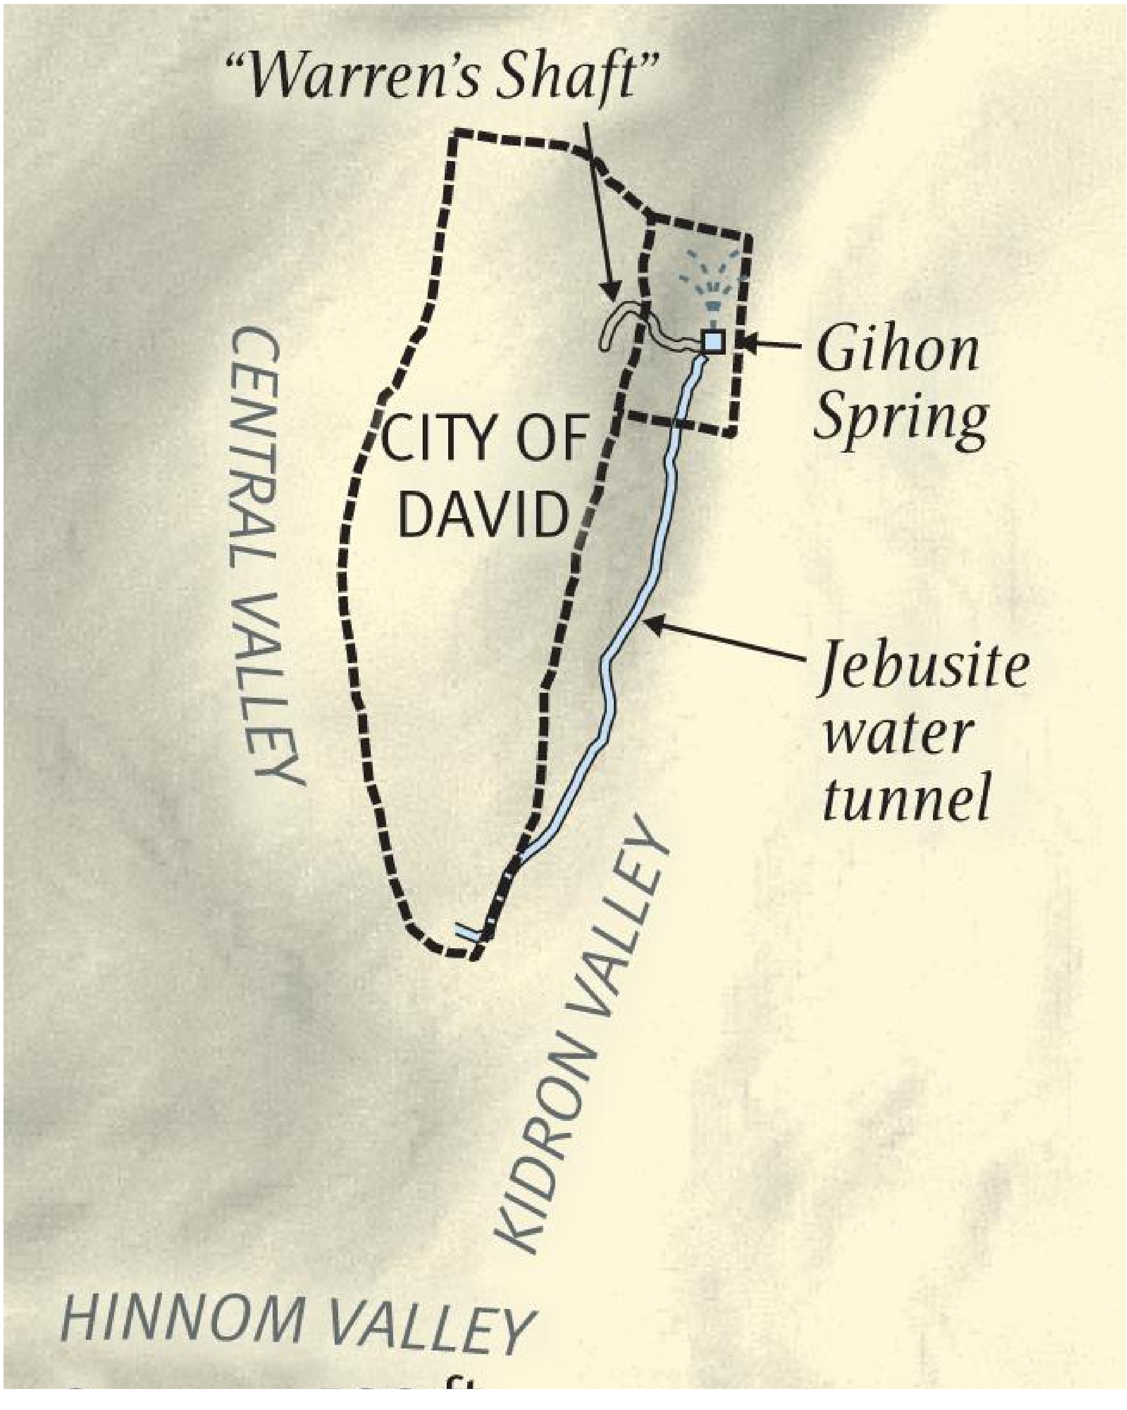
c. 1005 B.C.

After securing his reign over all Israel, David moved his capital from Hebron, a southern city of Judah, to a more central and tribally neutral location at Jerusalem. At the time, Jerusalem (called "the stronghold of Zion") was held by the Jebusites, and its terraced defensive walls and nearby steep hills and valleys made it seem impenetrable. But David sent men up a water shaft (believed by some to be Warren's Shaft) to capture the stronghold, and he renamed it the city of David.



"Warren's Shaft"
Gihon Spring
CENTRAL VALLEY
CITY OF DAVID
Jebusite water tunnel
KIDRON VALLEY
HINNOM VALLEY

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:6–8 the blind and the lame will ward you off. The Jebusites probably meant that the fortifications were so strong that the city needed no able-bodied defenders. The blind and the lame shall not come into the house may mean that the Jebusites were not allowed at David's court.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:8 water shaft. See note on vv. 6–13.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:9 The Millo (see 1 Kings 9:15; 1 Chron. 11:8) was a series of terrace walls, built on a steep slope, that supported the fill dirt behind it to create level areas. Houses were built on these artificial platforms and connected by narrow staircases. During heavy rains, the fill became heavy and increased the pressure on the terrace walls. These required regular maintenance, lest the houses fall down the steep slope and the city disintegrate.

FACT

Millo means "fill" in Hebrew. The Millo (5:9) was a series of terraces built so that houses and other structures could rest on flat areas of land. A retaining wall would first be built and then workers would "fill" dirt in behind it, piling it up until it formed a raised terrace.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:11 Hiram king of Tyre provides David with cedars to build his house. Tyre was a trading empire. It was important to them to keep the inland trade route from Israel to Egypt open to their merchants.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:13–14 This is a summary statement about David's kingship in Jerusalem (compare 3:2–5). It does not mean that these sons were all born before 5:17.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:17–21 Until now the Philistines may have considered David to be a paid soldier fighting for them (1 Samuel 27). But when David becomes king over Israel (that is, both Israel and Judah) and even captures Jerusalem, they realize he is a threat. went down to the stronghold. This is probably toward the Philistine country. The Valley of Rephaim is the valley leading toward Jerusalem from the southwest. "Baal" in Baal-perazim is here a common noun meaning "lord." The Philistines left their idols there (2 Sam. 5:21) is a reversal of 1 Samuel 4, where the Philistines carried off the ark of the covenant. According to 1 Chron. 14:12, David had these idols burned.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 5:22–25 It may be that the sound of marching was a distinct sound caused by the Lord that frightened the Philistines (as in 2 Kings 7:6). Another possibility is that the Philistines knew the sound was of trees, so David used it as cover for his attack. He drove the Philistines out of the central hill country.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:1–23 Jerusalem would not only be the political capital of a united Israel. It would be the religious center as well.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:1–2 Baale-judah was called Kiriath-jearim in earlier times (1 Sam. 7:1). the LORD of hosts who sits enthroned on the cherubim. See note on 1 Sam. 4:3–4.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:3–4 They carried the ark on a new cart. Presumably this refers to a ritually clean cart. But God had commanded that the ark be carried by Levites, using poles placed through rings on the sides of the ark (see Ex. 25:14–15; Num. 4:15; 7:8–9; Deut. 31:9).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:5 Before the LORD, as in Ex. 28:29, means that the Lord himself was present above the ark (see note on 1 Sam. 4:3–4). Both 2 Sam. 6:5–15 and 1 Sam. 4:1–7:2 show that the ark was not just a symbol of God's presence. Wherever the ark was, God manifested his presence in a special way, so the ark should not be treated lightly. with songs . . . cymbals. Music is part of worship in most societies, and it was an important part of Israelite worship. lyres and harps and tambourines. The lyre was basically a sound box with arms in a U-shape supporting a bar across the top. The lyre seems to have been considered the premier instrument. The harp was similar to today's concert harp. The tambourine was similar to the modern tambourine, but without the small cymbals. The Hebrew word translated castanets appears only here in the Bible.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:6–11 and God struck him down (v. 7). Touching the ark was a direct violation of God's law (Num. 4:15). Even though Uzzah touched the ark to prevent it from falling, he and those with him were wrong to transport it on a cart rather than having the Levites carry it on poles (see note on 2 Sam. 6:3–4). afraid of the LORD. This incident was a dramatic reminder to David of God's holiness and of the necessity of approaching God only according to his revealed instruction.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:12–15 those who bore the ark. This time the ark is carried properly (v. 13; 1 Chron. 15:12–15). The text may indicate that only one sacrifice was offered at the beginning of the journey, when they had gone six steps. But some interpreters think it means that David sacrificed every six steps. he sacrificed. Here and in 2 Sam. 6:17 it is doubtful that David himself killed all the animals, but it was done at his direction. David's ephod was the simple linen robe worn by priests (see 1 Sam. 2:18). The ram's horn was an instrument used especially for signaling.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:14 David danced before the LORD. The term for "dancing" in vv. 14 and 16 does not appear elsewhere in Scripture. It seems to describe a whirling dance. Dancing expresses joy (compare Ex. 15:20–21; Ps. 30:11) and can be a part of jubilant worship (see Ps. 149:3; 150:4).

FACT

Dancing was a vital part of both worship and celebration (6:14). The Hebrew word for dance can mean to twist or whirl about in circular movements or to leap or skip. Performed by both males and females, it was quite similar to traditional dancing in some parts of the world today.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:16–19 Michal . . . despised him in her heart. Michal is identified not as David's wife but as the daughter of Saul. She shares Saul's lack of spiritual understanding. She should have been rejoicing with David. The tent corresponds to the tabernacle of Exodus 26.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 6:20–23 Michal's sarcastic comment, "How the king of Israel honored himself today," suggests she felt he should have worn his royal robes. Michal's remark about David uncovering himself seems to be an expression of Michal's contempt for David rather than a statement of fact. had no child. The text does not say what caused Michal's childlessness. It could have been God's judgment of Michal for her contempt toward David, or the natural result of the rift between Michal and David.

MICHAL

Saul's daughter Michal loved David, and Saul hoped to use this to his advantage. Saul offered David the right to marry Michal, but he asked for a very unusual "bride-price" which he assumed would lead to David's death (1 Sam. 18:20–25). The scheme didn't work, and Michal became David's wife. When Saul once again tried to kill David, Michal warned him and helped him escape. Saul then gave Michal to another man even though she was still married to David. After Saul's death, David arranged for Michal to be returned to him. But the story of David and Michal had a sad ending. When David brought the ark of the covenant to Jerusalem, he celebrated by dancing before the Lord. This caused Michal to despise him, and she remained childless throughout her life. (2 Samuel 6:16–19)

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:1–29 This chapter, with its promise of the Messiah, is a key passage in the history of salvation. Verses 8–17 are often described as the "Davidic covenant," even though the word "covenant" does not appear there. This covenant is described in Ps. 89:3, using the words "I have made a covenant with my chosen one." The Lord states that he will establish David's house forever, and he promises David an eternal throne. This points to Solomon, who would "sit on the throne of Israel" and build "the house for the name of the LORD" (1 Kings 8:20). The promise will be completely fulfilled in Jesus, the Messiah who will sit on the throne eternally, thus establishing David's throne forever (2 Sam. 7:16; Luke 1:32–33). See 2 Chron. 13:5; 21:7; Ps. 89:20–38; Jer. 33:17.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:1–3 the LORD is with you. Nathan gives his own opinion as David's counselor. That night, however, he receives a specific revelation from God, which he delivers to David in his role as a prophet (vv. 4–17).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:6–7 I have not lived in a house. Nothing in the regulations about the ark in Exodus suggests that it was to be placed in a building. Rather, it would need carrying poles (Ex. 25:10–16), as it was carried from place to place.

FACT

Building a house for gods was a common thing for a king or leader to do in the ancient Near East. David's desire to build a temple for the Lord (7:6–7) may have been influenced by this tradition. Ultimately, however, the temple was built only because the Lord directed that David's son Solomon "shall build a house for my name" (7:13).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:8–17 God will not let David build him a house. Instead, the Lord will build David a house (a ruling dynasty). See notes on 1 Chron. 17:10b–14; 22:6–16.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:12 Your offspring after you refers to Solomon.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:14 I will be to him a father, and he shall be to me a son. Hebrews 1:5 applies these words to Christ. As Messiah, Jesus inherits David's role as representative of God's people (his "son," Ex. 4:22–23; see Ps. 89:26–27).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:18–29 In this moving prayer, David uses the phrase O Lord God (or "O Lord God") eight times, expressing his close intimacy with his God. this is instruction for mankind (v. 19). All people can learn about God's faithfulness and grace from his promises to David. there is none like you, and there is no God besides you (v. 22). The Bible clearly teaches monotheism (compare 1 Sam. 2:2). Who is like your people Israel describes the uniqueness of Israel, God's people, whom he has redeemed from Egypt and established for himself forever.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 7:18 Who am I, O Lord . . . , that you have brought me thus far? David humbly considers himself unworthy of all the Lord's blessings. He attributes all his success to the Lord.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:1–18 Chapter 8 lists David's military victories. These events do not necessarily match the historical order of the rest of the book.

DAVID

David was the youngest son of Jesse of Bethlehem. When Saul was rejected as king, God chose David as his successor. A handsome and gifted man, David played the lyre to soothe Saul, gaining his favor and eventually becoming his armor-bearer. On a mission to deliver food to his older brothers, David fought and killed the giant Goliath. He became Israel's greatest king, and made Jerusalem the nation's capital city. Although he was a godly man, David fell into sin with Bathsheba. God used him not because he was mighty or perfect, but because he found favor in God's sight. The Lord promised David an eternal throne (2 Sam. 7:16), and through his lineage came Jesus the Messiah. (2 Samuel 7:1–29)

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:1 Metheg-ammah perhaps refers to a type of land. After the time of David, there are no references to battles with the Philistines until the time of Hezekiah (2 Kings 18:8).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:3–12 Zobah and Damascus were both in Syria. Zobah was in the northern part of the Lebanon Valley (see Josh. 11:17), in what is now called the Bekaa Valley. Having captured chariot horses, David apparently decided to experiment with a small chariot force. He may have hamstrung the other horses (2 Sam. 8:4) to keep them from being used again by enemy soldiers. He may also have recalled the warnings of Moses that future Israelite kings should not be tempted to acquire many horses (Deut. 17:16). The hamstrung horses supposedly could have been used as farm or pack horses. Hamath was on the middle Orontes River; it bordered Zobah on the north.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:6 And the LORD gave victory. God's blessing, not David's skill, is the reason for David's victories (see v. 14).

FACT

Hamstringing horses (8:4) was a practice used by victorious armies to ensure that their enemy's horses could not be used in battle again. It involved severing the leg tendon on the horse so that it could not gallop. Though it was a cruel act, many of the horses could still be used for farming.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:13 The Valley of Salt must have been in the Edomite territory south and east of the Dead Sea.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:15–18 This is a list of David's officials (for similar lists, see 20:23–26; 1 Kings 4:1–6). It was the task of the king to establish justice and equity (see 1 Kings 10:9). Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud appears as recorder in all three lists.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:17 Zadok helped David during Absalom's rebellion (15:27–28; 17:15; 19:11) and later he supported Solomon (1 Kings 1:8). Zadok's father Ahitub was probably not Ahitub the father of Ahimelech, priest at Nob (1 Sam. 22:9). Abiathar appeared in 1 Samuel accompanying David (1 Sam. 22:20; 23:6; 30:7). He worked with Zadok during Absalom's rebellion.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 8:18 Benaiah led David's personal force of Cherethites and . . . Pelethites. He was one of David's mighty men (23:20–22). Like Zadok, he supported Solomon against Adonijah and became commander of the whole army under Solomon (1 Kings 1:1–2:46; 4:1–6). The Cherethites and Pelethites were foreigners who made up the king's bodyguard (see 1 Sam. 28:2). David's sons were priests. This may mean that they were chaplains for the royal family; only the descendants of Levi could serve as priests in the tabernacle and temple.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:1–13 Often in ancient times, even in Israel, a change in royal dynasty led to the killing of all male heirs of the defeated family (compare 2 Kings 10; 11; etc.). But David keeps his promise to Jonathan and Saul that he would not destroy their descendants (see 1 Sam. 20:14–17, 42; 24:21–22).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:2–4 For Ziba, Saul's servant, see note on v. 9. The exact location of Lo-debar is unknown, but it seems to have been in northern Transjordan (17:27).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:6–8 For the name Mephibosheth, see note on 4:4. The word father can mean either "father" or "grandfather," depending on the context. Dead dog is a term of self-abasement here and in 1 Sam. 24:14.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:9 Ziba had probably continued to be in charge of Saul's land after his death, but had paid the profits from the estate to David. From now on he is required to pay the benefits to your master's grandson, that is, Mephibosheth, the son of Jonathan and grandson of Saul.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 9:11 Mephibosheth ate at David's table, like one of the king's sons. The arrangement is similar to that for David's older sons. Though they "ate at David's table," some of them lived in their own houses in Jerusalem (13:7, 20) and had fields and farmlands of their own (13:23; 14:30).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:1–12:31 The Ammonite war is the background for the events of chs. 10–12. The war led to David's domination of the Syrian kingdoms (see 8:3–12; 10:15–19). Unfortunately, it was also the setting for his sin with Bathsheba (11:1–12:25).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:1–19 Israel's war with Ammon began when the Ammonites disgraced David's ambassadors; it did not result from any wrongdoing by David.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:1–5 David wants to deal loyally with Hanun because of his father Nahash (presumably the Nahash mentioned in 1 Samuel 11), who had dealt loyally with David. Also, David wants to keep the Ammonites as peaceful neighbors. It may be that the princes of the Ammonites are alarmed by the representatives of David, who had conquered Moab (2 Sam. 8:2), the country directly south of them. shaved off half the beard of each. This act of humiliation amounted to breaking off diplomatic relations. David allows his messengers to remain at Jericho so that they would not have to display their humiliation in the royal court.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:6–8 Beth-rehob, Zobah, Maacah, and Tob were Syrian kingdoms in the northern Transjordan and Lebanon Valley. Hiring armies was a common practice of the day (compare 2 Kings 7:6). The gate is that of the city of Rabbah (2 Sam. 11:1), the capital of Ammon, near present-day Amman, Jordan.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:9–19 David's army under Joab is trapped between the Syrians and the Ammonites, but they defeat the Syrians and force them to leave. Hadadezer of Zobah (see 8:5) attacks again at Helam, apparently a city in northern Transjordan, but is again defeated.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 10:12 let us be courageous . . . and may the LORD do what seems good to him. Joab expresses both faith in God and a resolve to fight with all his strength. Faith and human effort rightly go together.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:1–12:25 The story of the Ammonite war continues up through 11:1 and concludes in 12:26–31. In between comes the account of David and Bathsheba (11:2–12:25).

The Rise and Failure of David in 1 and 2 Samuel

David's Rise (1 Samuel 16–2 Samuel 10)	David's Failures (2 Samuel 11–20)
Eager holy warrior	Remains in palace
Marries honorably	Adultery with Bathsheba
Protects Saul's life	Plots Uriah's death
Decisive	Indecisive
Prayers effective	Prayers ineffective
Fearless when outnumbered	Fearfully takes census
Attracts thousands of followers	Loses thousands of followers

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:1 With the defeat of the Syrians, David can concentrate on besieging Rabbah (10:14). the time when kings go out to battle. . . . But David remained at Jerusalem. The connection of these two phrases hints that something is wrong: all Israel went out to battle, but Israel's leader did not.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:2 Archaeological discoveries suggest that the roof of the king's house may have overlooked the entire city (see illustration). bathing. See note on v. 4.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:3 Uriah the Hittite is listed among David's top warriors, the "thirty," in 23:39.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:4 sent messengers and took her. Considering David's elaborate attempt to cover up his act of adultery (vv. 6–13), it is hardly likely that he made his intention clear when he summoned Bathsheba. Since she had been purifying herself from her uncleanness ("bathing," v. 2), probably after her menstrual period (see Lev. 15:19–24), it is clear that her husband, Uriah, was not the father of the child who was conceived (2 Sam. 11:5).

Jerusalem In the Time of David (c. 1010–970 B.C.)

About four millennia ago, Melchizedek was king of Jerusalem, which was then called Salem (Gen. 14:18). This was an unwalled city, which was taken over in c. 1850 B.C. by the Jebusites, who built a city wall around it and called it Jebus (see 1 Chron. 11:4).

King David captured this city after having ruled for seven years in Hebron (2 Sam. 5:5). The city was strongly fortified, especially the area around the Gihon Spring, where massive towers dating from this period have been excavated. The Jebusites were so confident of their fortifications that they taunted David, saying that even the blind and the lame would prevent him from capturing their city (2 Sam. 5:6).

However, Joab, David's commander-in-chief, managed to secretly enter the city through its water system and open the gates for David to take control (1 Chron. 11:6). The Jebusite Citadel was destroyed and replaced by the "stronghold of Zion, that is, the city of David" (2 Sam. 5:7).

Later on in his life, David built an altar on the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite, which stopped a plague sent by God upon Israel from reaching Jerusalem (2 Sam. 24:18–25).

The top of Mount Moriah, called The Rock (Arabic "Sakhra"), is now visible inside the Islamic Dome of the Rock. King Solomon built the Most Holy Place (or Holy of Holies) of the temple on this rock (cf. 2 Chron. 3:1).

Mount Moriah is the name of the hilltop north of the city of David. It is part of the same Eastern Hill of Jerusalem on which David built his city. This hill is first mentioned in the book of Genesis as the place where Abraham went to sacrifice Isaac (Gen. 22:2).

David's Palace was built on the ruins of the Jebusite Citadel. The excavated "Stepped Stone Structure" supported this building on the east.

Araunah's threshing floor, located on the top of Mount Moriah, was the place where David built an altar to God. According to Jewish tradition, it is the same place where Abraham built an altar to sacrifice his son Isaac (see Gen. 22:2; 2 Chron. 3:1).

Pool (receives water from Gihon Spring)

The Millo was a terraced construction on a steep slope, on which houses were built.

The excavated Spring and Pool Towers protected the abundant water supply of the Gihon Spring. Water from the pool would presumably have been drawn from a wooden platform.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:6–13 Instead of repenting and trying to settle the matter openly, David tries to cover up his adultery.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:9 Sexual intercourse was a source of ritual impurity (Lev. 15:18), and so it was avoided during a military campaign, as is mentioned in 1 Sam. 21:5. Uriah considered himself still on duty, in contrast to David.

FACT

Sexual activity while on military duty was expressly forbidden by law in ancient Israel. It brought about ritual impurity and therefore forced a soldier to undergo purification rituals. This would prevent him from performing his military duty.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:14–15 Uriah unknowingly takes with him the letter that orders him killed. David is so overwhelmed by the need to cover up his wrongdoings that he will take the life of his faithful soldier.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:21 Jerubbesheth. See note on 4:4. cast an upper millstone on him from the wall. See Judg. 9:53.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 11:26–27 The mourning period was probably seven days (Gen. 50:10; 1 Sam. 31:13).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:1–23 Through the prophet Nathan, God calls David to account for his sins of adultery and murder (ch. 11).

FACT

David's disobedience. David broke three of the Ten Commandments in his relationship with Bathsheba. He broke the tenth commandment by coveting another man's wife, then the seventh commandment by committing adultery. He broke the sixth commandment by arranging the death of Bathsheba's husband, Uriah.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:4 The rich man in Nathan's story took the poor man's lamb, just as David "took" Bathsheba (see 11:4). The Lord's special concern for the poor is a major theme in the Bible. As his representative, the king was supposed to protect the poor against abuse by the powerful (Ex. 23:6; Lev. 19:15).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:5–6 David is truly concerned about justice, when not blinded by his own passion. fourfold. See Ex. 22:1.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:7–13 David has despised the Lord and his word.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:8 gave you . . . your master's wives. There is no other record of David marrying Saul's wives, but he was certainly in a position to do so.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:9 With the sword is a general term for causing violent death, as in 11:25.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:10–11 the sword shall never depart from your house. David's sons Amnon (13:29), Absalom (18:15), and Adonijah (1 Kings 2:25) all die by the sword. he shall lie with your wives in the sight of this sun. Absalom will rebel against David and publicly have sex with David's concubines on a rooftop (2 Sam. 16:22).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:13–14 David confesses his sin with Bathsheba and appears to repent. Yet the results of his actions remain: the child . . . shall die.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:15–23 When the child falls ill, David hopes that the Lord might change his mind and let him live, so he petitions him with fasting. When the child died, David washed and anointed himself and ate, even though fasting and refraining from anointing were also part of ordinary mourning (1 Sam. 31:13; 2 Sam. 3:35; 14:2). He has accepted the Lord's final verdict, knowing that the child will not return to me.

NATHAN

Nathan was a prophet during the reigns of David and Solomon. When David desired to build a temple, he asked for Nathan's counsel. At first, Nathan told him to go ahead, with the Lord's blessing. But then, after hearing directly from the Lord, Nathan told David that one of his sons, rather than David himself, would be the one to build the temple. Through Nathan God also promised to establish the house and the kingdom of David forever. After David sinned with Bathsheba, God sent Nathan to rebuke him. To show David how wrong it was for him to take another man's wife, Nathan told a parable about a rich man who took the only lamb belonging to a poor man. It was a powerful story, and David repented of his sin. (2 Samuel 12:1–15)

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:20 The house is presumably the tent where the ark of the covenant was housed (6:17).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:23 I shall go to him seems to indicate that David expects a future personal reunion with the child.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:24–25 First Chronicles 3:5 suggests that Solomon was the fourth son of David by Bathsheba. The line promised to David will continue through this son, and from this line the Messiah will eventually come (Matt. 1:6).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 12:26–31 The author returns to the siege of Rabbah, last mentioned in 11:25. The city of waters was probably that section of the city that controlled the water supply. With no water, the inhabitants would soon have to surrender. Therefore, Joab calls David to come to the front so that he can get credit for the victory.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:1–20:26 Nathan had warned David of "evil . . . out of your own house" (12:11) as a result of his sin with Bathsheba. Chapters 13–20 show how this prophecy comes true. Absalom kills his half brother Amnon to avenge the rape of his sister, but is eventually pardoned by David. Absalom then forms a conspiracy and declares himself king, but the rebellion is put down and Absalom is killed. In the aftermath there is an attempt by a group of Benjaminites to withdraw from Israel.

David and Absalom

c. 985 B.C.

In retaliation for the incestuous rape of his sister, Absalom killed his brother Amnon at Baal-hazor and fled to Geshur. After three years, arrangements were made for Absalom to return to Jerusalem, and later he and David were reconciled. Soon after this, however, Absalom led a coup against David in Hebron, and David fled to Mahanaim. When Absalom attacked David's forces in the forest of Ephraim, Absalom was defeated and killed, allowing David to return to Jerusalem.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:1–2 Tamar was Absalom's full sister and the half sister of Amnon, David's eldest son. he made himself ill. Amnon's "love" could better be described as lust.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:1 After a time suggests that some time has passed since the end of ch. 12.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:3 The term crafty is normally translated "wise" or "skillful." Here, however, it is used in a negative sense.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:6–8 cakes. Perhaps something considered helpful for the sick.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:12–13 such a thing is not done in Israel. Intercourse between brother and sister, even half brother and half sister, was forbidden in Lev. 18:9. he will not withhold me from you. Perhaps Tamar is saying that David would be willing to bend the rules, or perhaps she is just trying to escape.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:15–17 Then Amnon hated her. Having succeeded in seducing Tamar, Amnon's professed love for her quickly turned to hatred. this wrong . . . is greater than the other. If a man seduced an unmarried woman, he had to marry her unless her father refused (Ex. 22:16). Having harmed Tamar, Amnon had a responsibility toward her. Put this woman out. Amnon's hatred and contempt of his sister is expressed by his final refusal to heed her wishes or even use her name.

FACT

Why did Tamar not want to be sent away? Although Amnon raped her, Tamar knew that the Mosaic Law said he must now marry her or pay damages for what he had done. Though she told her father David what had happened, he did nothing to punish Amnon (13:20-22). Both Amnon and David ignored God's standards in this sad episode.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:19 Putting ashes (or dirt) on one's head and tearing one's clothes were expressions of grief or humiliation.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:20 Following her rape by Amnon, Absalom advised Tamar to not take this to heart. But Absalom himself did take it to heart (vv. 23–29).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:21 David was very angry, but he did not do anything to punish Amnon. He showed favoritism toward his eldest son (3:2; see also ESV footnote), which caused many of the later problems in David's family (see 1 Kings 1:6). Because of his sin with Bathsheba, David had lost his moral courage and wisdom.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:23 As seen in 1 Samuel 25, sheepshearing was a time of feasting. Absalom invited David to the festivities, probably guessing that he would decline, in order to mask his true intentions. If he had started out by inviting Amnon, it could have seemed suspicious.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:29 The king's sons seem to have normally ridden mules. Absalom even rides one into battle (18:9).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 13:37 Talmai was Absalom's maternal grandfather (3:3).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:1–3 The king's heart went out to Absalom does not necessarily imply that his thoughts were positive, just that he kept thinking about the matter. Tekoa is in the Judean hills about 10 miles (16 km) south of Jerusalem, near Bethlehem.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:4–7 A woman uses a parable to appeal to David, for the good of his family, to set aside the ordinary laws demanding the death of a murderer (e.g., Num. 35:31). Now that Amnon is dead, apparently Absalom is considered the heir.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:8–17 Perhaps David already suspects that Joab is involved in the woman's coming to him, so he deliberately uses the vague word anyone in v. 10. The woman, however, sticks to her own story by referring to my son, while she uses a very sensitive term, avenger of blood (v. 11), which would apply to David himself. David indirectly expresses his determination to bring back his own lost son (v. 11). The woman says what Joab has sent her to say (vv. 13–14) and then goes back to her made-up story (vv. 15–17). This in v. 15 would refer both to her real message in vv. 13–14 and to her "family problem" in vv. 5–7.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:24 he is not to come into my presence. David's forgiveness is incomplete, as Absalom complains in v. 32. David is unwilling to punish, but he is also unwilling to forgive fully. The situation remains unresolved.

FACT

Geshur was a border town between the nation of Israel and Aram to the north. David's wife and Absalom's mother, Maacah, was from this city, which may explain why Absalom fled there.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:26 The reference to Absalom's long hair gives a detail that will be important later (18:9). The king's weight indicates that Israel had a royal standard of measurement.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:27 Since the three sons are unnamed and Absalom says he had no sons (18:18), these sons probably died young. His daughter, Tamar, was probably named for his sister.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:28–32 Absalom is dissatisfied with being kept away by David. He wants to be either executed or restored to the royal household (v. 32).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 14:33 the king kissed Absalom. The kiss points to Absalom's restoration.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:1–19:43 The account of Absalom's rebellion against David is divided into six parts: (1) Absalom's conspiracy and proclaiming himself king (15:1–12); (2) David's escape from Absalom, and the people he met on the way (15:13–16:14); (3) the war council where the competition between Ahithophel and Hushai determines David's fate (16:15–17:23); (4) David's favorable reception at Mahanaim (17:24–29); (5) the battle and the death of Absalom (18:1–19:8a); and (6) David's return to Jerusalem (19:8b–43).

FACT

Regicide is the act of murdering a king. In most cases, a person who killed a king was trying to place himself on the throne.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:1 a chariot and horses, and fifty men to run before him. Absalom's pride stands in contrast to David's humility (1 Sam. 26:9–11; 2 Sam. 7:18; 15:25–26). Later Adonijah behaves similarly, "saying 'I will be king' " (1 Kings 1:5). See also 1 Sam. 8:11.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:3 there is no man designated by the king to hear you. Absalom's statement was surely an exaggeration. The widow of Tekoa got a hearing. And if it had been known that there was no chance of a hearing, people would not have come to Jerusalem in hopes of having their cases heard.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:4 Oh that I were judge in the land! Absalom is essentially saying that he wants to be king. For the judging role of kings, see 1 Sam. 8:5; Prov. 31:9.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:7 Hebron was where David had ruled when he was king only of Judah (2:4). It was Absalom's birthplace (3:2–3).

ABSALOM

David's son Absalom was a handsome man with the personality of a strong leader. When Absalom's half brother Amnon raped Absalom's sister Tamar, Absalom retaliated by killing Amnon. He then fled into exile. Three years later he returned to Jerusalem and was reconciled with David. But then he led a rebellion against David, and David himself was forced to flee the city. While battling David's men, Absalom's long hair became stuck in the branches of an oak tree, enabling David's commander Joab to kill him. Absalom's death allowed David to return to Jerusalem, but he mourned bitterly for his fallen son. Absalom's betrayal of his father helped fulfill Nathan's prophecy (12:10–12) that, because of his sin with Bathsheba, the "sword shall never depart" from David's house. (2 Samuel 15:1–6)

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:10 The phrase the tribes of Israel sometimes refers to all of Israel, and at other times refers to Israel as opposed to Judah. Here, it refers to all of Israel, including Judah. It is clear that Judah participated in the rebellion. In chs. 15–18, "Israel" usually means "Absalom's side," while David's side is referred to as "David's servants" or "the army."

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:12 These sacrifices were apparently part of a coronation ceremony (see 1 Sam. 11:14–15; 1 Kings 1:9–11) formally declaring Absalom’s kingship (2 Sam. 15:10; 16:16).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:13–16:14 David flees Jerusalem so that the city will not be destroyed.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:18–20 The Cherethites and the Pelethites are David’s bodyguard (8:18). The Gittites (that is, men from Gath) had come yesterday (15:20), that is, recently, and could go back to their homes. This group is probably not David’s own 600 men who had gone with him from Israel to Ziklag (1 Sam. 27:2).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:23 The brook Kidron runs just east of Jerusalem. The Mount of Olives (v. 30) is to the east of the brook.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:24–37 Though David leaves the city, by the providence of God he is able to set up a messenger system: from Hushai, to Zadok and Abiathar, to their sons (via a maid, 17:17), to David (15:36).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:25–26 Carry the ark of God back into the city. David does not try to use the ark as some sort of good luck charm. Perhaps he realizes that Absalom’s rebellion is partly the result of David’s own sins (12:10), and he does not know how far the Lord intends to punish him (let him do to me what seems good to him).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:27 Are you not a seer? Perhaps David is implying that Zadok does not know precisely what God will do about David (see note on vv. 25–26). Maybe he is indicating that Zadok, because the people hold him in honor as a seer, will be allowed to pass safely into the city, where he will be most useful to David.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:28 The fords of the wilderness were at the west bank of the Jordan River.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:30 Going barefoot and with his head covered were signs of mourning. weeping as he went. David had many reasons to weep: his own misfortunes and the dangers he now faced, as well as the troubles now facing Israel and his own family, for which he was partly responsible.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:31–32 Ahithophel had been David’s trusted counselor (v. 12; see 16:23), but now he was among the conspirators.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 15:33–36 whatever you hear . . . tell. Although earlier David may have questioned Zadok's "seeing" (v. 27), it is clear that what Zadok and Abiathar "hear" from the undercover work of Hushai in Jerusalem (v. 34) will benefit David and his followers (vv. 35–36; see 17:15–16, 22).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:1–4 Ziba, the servant of Mephibosheth (the disabled grandson of Saul, whom David had taken into his care; see ch. 9), arrives with provisions for David and his people. Ziba implies that the gifts are entirely his idea, and that Mephibosheth himself sees David's difficulty as an opportunity to reclaim the kingdom (Today the house of Israel will give me back the kingdom of my father). Mephibosheth will later present a different version of the situation (19:24–29). Behold, all that belonged to Mephibosheth is now yours. David judged too quickly, without opportunity to hear a defense from the accused Mephibosheth.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:5 Shimei is apparently a prominent man (19:16). Bahurim is a Benjaminite town on the north side of the Mount of Olives; some of its inhabitants supported David (17:18).

FACT

A stiff penalty. The punishment for cursing God (Lev. 24:10–23), the king (Ex. 22:28), or one's parents (Lev. 20:9) was death. Shimei cursed King David (2 Sam. 16:5–14), but later begged David's forgiveness, and David forgave him (19:16–23).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:9 As always, Abishai is ready to act (compare 1 Sam. 26:8). Cursing a ruler is forbidden in Ex. 22:28.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:10–11 What have I to do with you? David's point is that he and Abishai do not see things the same way, and it would be disastrous for him to take Abishai's advice. let him curse, for the LORD has told him to. David expresses his trust in God's providence (compare 15:25–26; 16:12). He still wonders whether all this opposition is the Lord's just punishment for his sin, and he humbly endures the abuse.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:14 arrived weary. The journey from Jerusalem to the Jordan was 21 miles (36 km).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:15–17:23 The writer resumes his account from 15:37. For “Israel,” see note on 15:10.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:21–22 Absalom’s public sexual relations with several of David’s concubines would indeed have strengthened . . . the hands of Absalom’s followers, as he made it clear that he was claiming the throne. Nathan had prophesied such an event (see 12:11).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 16:23 Ahithophel’s advice was highly valued. It seems he has chosen to help Absalom.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:1–23 This chapter presents the crucial contest between Ahithophel (Absalom’s ally) and Hushai (David’s ally) before Absalom and the elders of Israel (vv. 4, 14). Ahithophel offers the good advice to attack and kill David immediately. With no one else to turn to, he says, the whole country would embrace Absalom. If this advice had been followed, it is likely that David would have been defeated. But Absalom decides to also hear advice from Hushai. Hushai gives a time-consuming speech that flatters Absalom, giving David enough time to regroup and prepare for battle. Hushai knows that if Ahithophel’s advice is accepted, there will be no time to lose. So even before he hears the council’s response he sends word to David that he should at least cross the Jordan River (vv. 15–16). The council rejects Ahithophel’s good advice in favor of Hushai’s misleading advice. The poor decision leads to Absalom’s defeat. When Absalom finally gathers his army and goes after David (v. 24), David is already in Mahanaim in Gilead, with the forest of Ephraim (18:6) between him and Absalom.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:1 Ahithophel suggests that he himself lead the force against David.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:7–13 my counsel is that all Israel be gathered to you . . . and that you go to battle in person (v. 11). Hushai appeals to Absalom’s pride and suggests that Absalom, not Ahithophel, should gather even more support and then personally lead the forces against David (v. 11). His proposal will let David choose his own time and place of battle with his experienced, trained force. Cities were often attacked by pulling down the walls with ropes attached to grappling hooks. Since cities were usually built on high places, they were hard to rebuild once the stones of their walls had been dragged into the valley.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:17–18 Jonathan and Ahimaaz were known to be allied with David, so rather than be seen in Jerusalem they waited at En-rogel, a spring near the city, for a female servant to deliver word from Hushai for David. The servant's normal duties probably included trips to the spring.

FACT

When attacking a city, ropes with grappling hooks were often used to bring down its walls (17:13). Since most cities were built on hills, the attackers could simply pull the walls away and down the slopes of the hill.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:23 Realizing that the rejection of his advice meant Absalom's defeat and his own ruin, Ahithophel set his house in order and hanged himself.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:24–29 From the place where he crossed the Jordan River (see 16:14), David had traveled another 37 miles (59 km) north.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:25 Amasa is David's nephew (1 Chron. 2:16–17).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 17:27–29 Mahanaim, a city in the deep canyon of the Jabbok River, is where Saul's son Ish-bosheth had set up his capital before David became king (2:8). Shobi the son of Nahash from Rabbah of the Ammonites apparently was the brother of Hanun, the king of Ammon (10:2). David had probably set him on the throne in place of his brother (12:30). Machir had sheltered Mephibosheth in his childhood (9:4). Barzillai later accompanies David on his trip back to Jerusalem (19:31–39). The fact that these people came from a distance to help him suggests that David had real support in the area of Gilead.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:1–19:8a After a brief description of the battle, the author focuses on how Absalom died and on David's grief over his son's death.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:2–3 David's men believe that the ultimate success or failure of Absalom's rebellion will depend on whether Absalom can kill David. This was also the opinion of Ahithophel (17:3).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:5 Deal gently . . . with . . . Absalom. Why did David make this request? Was it out of pure fatherly love, or did it also involve a feeling of guilt toward Absalom?

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:6–8 The forest of Ephraim was actually not in Ephraim but east of the Jordan in Gilead. Here David's experienced army could effectively attack a much larger force, most of whom were apparently unable to move around well in a forest (the forest devoured more people . . . than the sword).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:9 The king's sons usually rode mules, rather than horses (13:29). his head caught fast in the oak. It seems that Absalom's hair got tangled in the tree (see 14:26). In God's providence, the source of Absalom's pride became the cause of his downfall.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:17 every one to his own home. See note on 1 Sam. 4:10.

FACT

The forest of Ephraim was east of the Jordan River in Gilead. Gilead was known for its forests, and there David's men would have a tactical advantage against a larger force.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:18 I have no son. See note on 14:27. The author contrasts the memorial pillar with Absalom's actual tomb, a big pile of rocks (18:17; compare Josh. 7:26; 8:29).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:19–23 today you shall carry no news, because the king's son is dead. Joab does not seem to be hiding anything from David (Go, tell the king what you have seen). But he apparently wants to protect Ahimaaz, son of Zadok the priest, from having to deliver the bad news to David. Then Ahimaaz . . . outran the Cushite. It may be that the Cushite took a direct road over the mountains, while Ahimaaz took the longer but easier way along the plain.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:24–25 The two gates are the outer gate and the inner gate of the gate complex. A man running alone would be a messenger; a group would probably be men fleeing.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 18:29 a great commotion. Ahimaaz may have been trying to break the news gently.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:2 So the victory that day was turned into mourning. David lets his own grief overcome his kingly responsibilities and even his gratitude to God for saving the nation.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:4–6 Because David has covered his face with grief, he has covered with shame the faces of his loyal servants. you love those who hate you and hate those who love you. The words for "love" and "hate" here can mean "be loyal" and "be disloyal."

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:8 David makes peace with his men, behaving as king and sitting in the gate.

JOAB

Joab was the commander of David's army. He was a complicated person, showing both strong faith and chilling ruthlessness in battle. In retaliation for the death of his brother Asahel, Joab murdered Abner, Saul's general. He helped to bring about David's reconciliation with Absalom. But later, after Absalom rebelled against David, Joab killed Absalom even though David had told him not to do so. Then, Joab rebuked David for mourning for his rebellious son rather than rejoicing with his victorious troops. As Joab so memorably expressed it, "you love those who hate you and hate those who love you" (19:6). Later, Joab supported Adonijah instead of Solomon as David's successor. David advised Solomon to have Joab put to death. Joab was killed as he hid in the sanctuary. (2 Samuel 19:1–8)

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:10 why do you say nothing? The question highlights the factions that developed within Israel and Judah concerning David's return to the throne.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:13–14 commander of my army. It seems shocking for David to demote the victorious loyal general Joab in favor of the soundly defeated rebel general Amasa (17:25). Perhaps David did this because Joab had disobeyed his specific order not to kill Absalom (18:5, 14). He may also have promoted Amasa out of a desire to reunite the nation—which is exactly what happened (he swayed the heart of all the men of Judah).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:15 Gilgal was an important religious center near Jericho and the Jordan River (Josh. 4:19; 5:10; 1 Sam. 10:8; 11:14; 15:21). Its location is uncertain.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:16–23 At the Jordan (see v. 15), David meets various people he had encountered during his flight from Jerusalem. David wants this to be a day of rejoicing, not revenge. However he apparently did not fully forgive Shimei (see 1 Kings 2:8–9, 36–46).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:24–30 David also met Mephibosheth the son of Saul (actually Jonathan's son [4:4] and Saul's grandson) after David had come to Jerusalem. The narrator does not state whether Mephibosheth or Ziba is telling the truth, but Mephibosheth's sorrow (19:24) and gracious humility (v. 30) suggests that he is the honest one. In a city facing invasion, it is not surprising that a lame Mephibosheth (v. 26) was stuck when his own donkey was taken by Ziba.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:31–40 As he crossed the Jordan (see v. 15), David also met Barzillai, who had helped him in Mahanaim (v. 32; see 17:27). David never forgot Barzillai's help (1 Kings 2:7).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 19:41–43 Apparently David left Mahanaim and came to the Jordan without allowing time for all the northern tribes to come and accompany him. They resent this, being the larger group and considering themselves more loyal to David (vv. 9–11) than Judah. The men of Judah retort that David did not favor his own tribe with grants (unlike Saul in 1 Sam. 22:7).

FACT

Kissing was a cultural means of showing respect, friendship, or reverence, as it is in many places today. A kiss was often given as a form of greeting or farewell (19:39). There are only three places in all of Scripture where kissing is connected with romance (Prov. 7:13, Song 1:2; 8:1.).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:1–26 Sheba's rebellion is directly connected with the split within the nation seen in 19:41–43. This particular rebellion does not seem to have gained support outside of Sheba's own clan (20:14), but the feeling that the king was not treating them well seems to have lingered among the northern tribes. That feeling increased under Solomon, who did not require Judah to supply him with food (1 Kings 4:7–19), and finally caused the nation to split in two (1 Kings 12).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:1 Sheba rejects David’s right to rule and leads a revolt.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:3 The ten concubines are those whom Absalom had claimed in 16:22.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:4–5 David had made Amasa commander in 19:13, replacing Joab. Three days is a rather short time if he is supposed to gather men from all over Judah.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:6 When Amasa failed to produce an armed force on schedule (v. 5), David turned to Abishai, brother of Joab (see note on 19:13–14). Abishai and Joab had often worked together in battle (3:30; 10:9–10; 18:2; also 1 Kings 11:15; 1 Chron. 18:12). Sheba . . . will do us more harm. David seems to have overestimated Sheba’s strength. Apparently only the members of Sheba’s own Bichrite clan were truly committed to his cause (2 Sam. 20:14). Your lord’s servants refers to David’s standing army, as does “the servants of David” in 18:7.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:8–10 Readers are not told why Amasa was in Gibeon instead of in Judah. The sword falls out of Joab’s belt, but when he takes Amasa’s beard with his right hand, with his left hand he either picks it up again or gets out a hidden sword (compare the story of Ehud; Judg. 3:15–23). Compare Joab’s similar murder of Abner in 2 Sam. 3:27 and his execution of Absalom in 18:14. brother. Joab and Amasa were first cousins.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:11–13 The people who are addressed in v. 11 and who stopped at the sight of Amasa were probably the “men of Judah” of v. 4 who had come from Judah to Gibeon with Amasa.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:14 Sheba and his men go to Abel. It is located just west of Dan in the north of Israel.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:15 The mound is a ramp built against the wall to get near its top.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:16–22 The woman is wise (v. 16), skilled in choosing a strategy to avert destruction and in persuading people to follow her plan. A mother in Israel (v. 19) describes a main city with associated (daughter) villages (see Judg. 1:27). The hill country of Ephraim (2 Sam. 20:21) includes Benjaminite territory.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:22 Joab returned to Jerusalem to the king. Apparently David did not punish Joab for the murder of Amasa (since Joab was still commander at the end of David's reign; 1 Kings 1:19), but he did not forgive him either (1 Kings 2:5).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 20:23–26 This list is very similar to the lists in 8:15–18 and 1 Kings 4:1–6. The posts and officials overlap to a large degree, but the order is different. David's priest (2 Sam. 20:26) may have been similar to a private chaplain or adviser.

21:1–24:25 Epilogue. The last four chapters provide an epilogue to David's story. They contain six episodes, which are not necessarily in chronological order (e.g., the first episode occurred "in the days of David"; 21:1). The first describes a famine and its connection to Saul's family. The second details David's wars with Philistia. The third and fourth are psalms of David. The fifth lists David's heroic warriors. The sixth describes David's pride and its results, concluding with the important story of how David acquired the future site of the temple.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:1–14 When told by the Lord that a famine is the result of Saul's misdeed against the Gibeonites, David has Saul's sons slain to make atonement.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:1–2 Joshua 9 tells how the Gibeonites tricked the Israelites into guaranteeing their safety with an oath (Josh. 9:15). Because of his zeal, Saul had broken that oath and killed some Gibeonites. This incident is not recorded elsewhere.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:3–6 The Gibeonites' request that seven of his sons be given to them to be put to death ignores the command in Deut. 24:16: "nor shall children be put to death because of their fathers." The narrator never says that God approved of David's action here.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:7–8 The writer lists the sons of Saul who were handed over to the Gibeonites. Mephibosheth the son of Rizpah (Saul's concubine; see 3:7) is different from Mephibosheth son of Jonathan, who was spared. Likewise Barzillai, grandfather of five of the hanged men, is not the Barzillai of 19:31–40.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:9 The beginning of barley harvest was April.

FACT

Barley was an essential grain for the Israelite people and their livestock (21:9). A failed barley crop could spell disaster for a whole community.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:10–14 Rizpah, mother of two of the men hanged by the Gibeonites, sheltered their bodies from the birds and wild animals (compare 1 Sam. 17:44, 46; Ps. 79:2). According to Deut. 21:22–23, the bodies of those who are hanged should be buried that same day (see Josh. 8:29). until rain fell upon them. It may have been decided that the men would not be buried until the rains fell and the famine stopped. This suggests that, when David heard what Rizpah was doing, he buried them earlier than planned. God responded (2 Sam. 21:14), probably by sending rain.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:15–22 This section tells of four fights with Philistine giants. "There was war again" suggests that this is an excerpt from some writing about David's wars.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:16 The giants are usually identified as the Rephaim, the ancient, pre-Israelite inhabitants of Canaan (e.g., Gen. 15:20; Deut. 2:10–11, 20–21; 3:11).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:19 Elhanan . . . struck down Goliath the Gittite. Since David killed Goliath of Gath (1 Samuel 17), and "Gittite" means someone from Gath, this statement is puzzling. Among the proposed solutions are three that uphold the truthfulness of Scripture: (1) in view of the parallel passage in 1 Chron. 20:5, perhaps this passage should read "Lahmi the brother of Goliath"; (2) the passages refer to two different men named Goliath; (3) "Goliath" was a common noun meaning "giant."

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 21:21 Jonathan may be the Jonathan listed as one of David's 30 mighty men (23:32). Shimei was David's third eldest brother, not the Shimei of chs. 16 and 19. His name is given in various forms in 1 Sam. 16:9; 17:13; 2 Sam. 13:3; and 1 Chron. 2:13.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:1–51 David's song recorded in this chapter is almost identical with Psalm 18, where it was adapted to serve as a public hymn.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:5–6 Here Sheol is a synonym for "death."

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:7 Heard implies an attentive listening and, usually, a positive response. Temple probably refers to the heavenly temple of God, from which he came down (v. 10; see Ps. 11:4; Mic. 1:2–3).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:8–16 The Lord's sudden appearance to help David is described in vivid language. It sounds like a description of a volcano, which causes earthquake, smoke, fire, fiery coals, and ash clouds (compare Ps. 77:18; Isa. 5:25; 24:18).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:10 Bowed the heavens could mean "spread open" or "parted" the heavens.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:15 Them refers to David's enemies.

FACT

David's Song of Deliverance is nearly identical to Psalm 18. Perhaps 2 Samuel 22 was meant to be read aloud for instruction and Psalm 18 was meant to be sung or prayed as part of worship.

---

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:17 many waters. Compare v. 5, where "waves" and "torrents" of trouble were overwhelming David.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:20 A broad place is a place of comfort and freedom.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:26–27 To the crooked, God shows himself tortuous. That is, he makes simple truths seem confusing and impossible to understand.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 22:35 A bow of bronze is probably a bow reinforced with bronze, which would be powerful but difficult to draw.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:1–7 The "last words of David" are a song praising God for establishing his house as the ruler; the song recalls God's promise in 7:8–19. It contrasts the just ruler and worthless men. The righteous ruler is like the morning light at sunrise; worthless men are like uprooted thorns.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:1 The man who was raised on high refers to David's position as king. the sweet psalmist of Israel. David wrote about half of the psalms in the book of Psalms.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:2 The Spirit of the LORD speaks by me. David describes himself as a prophet, whose songs and wise sayings come from God (see Acts 1:16; 4:25).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:4 Like the morning light, like the sun . . . like rain are images for bringing health and life. He in this verse refers to the just ruler of the previous verse.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:5 This verse refers to the covenant God made with David in ch. 7 (see also Ps. 89:29; 132:12). Ordered in all things and secure is probably a legal term. It stresses the validity of God's covenant with David.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:8–39 This list of David's mighty men is divided into two groups: the three (vv. 8–12), and the thirty (vv. 18–39). Together, these two groups include thirty-seven in all (v. 39). Actually, the list of the "thirty" includes 34 names. This could mean that (1) "thirty" is a round number; or (2) the group began with 30 members and continued to be called "the thirty" when other men were added to the group; or (3) the group remained at 30, but when some died they were replaced by others on this list (the parallel list in 1 Chron. 11:10–47 has 16 additional names, probably for this reason).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:11–12 Shammah is remembered for defending a garden against the Philistines. Compare the Philistines' robbing the threshing floors in 1 Sam. 23:1.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:13–17 The three men remembered in these verses were apparently not the "three" of vv. 8–12 but rather members of the "thirty" listed in vv. 18–39. This episode may have occurred while David was fleeing Saul, or possibly during one of the Philistine attacks in 5:17–25. Oh, that someone would give me water . . . from the well of Bethlehem. David's words are not a command. It probably did not occur to him that someone might actually act on his words.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:16–17 When his men actually brought David water from Bethlehem, he would not drink of it. He poured it out to the LORD. David realized that the water represented the very blood of his men, for they had risked their lives to get it. By pouring it out, David was saying that he was not worthy of it; he offered it "to the LORD" instead.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:18–39 This is the list of David’s thirty men. Some of the names appear as officers in 1 Chronicles 27. Most appear in the list in 1 Chron. 11:20–47, which is an expansion of this list but is not labeled as being a list of “the thirty” (compare 2 Sam. 23:24 and 1 Chron. 11:26).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 23:32 The sons of Jashen probably refers to two men, possibly twins. In the list, however, they seem to be counted as one item.

ABISHAI

Abishai was David’s nephew and became the commander of David’s “thirty men.” Like his brothers Joab and Asahel, Abishai was a loyal but ruthless warrior. He killed 18,000 Edomites in the Valley of Salt. He urged David to allow him to kill Saul, but David refused to let him kill “the LORD’s anointed” (1 Sam. 26:8–9). He fought alongside his brothers at the Battle of Gibeon, where Abner killed Asahel. Abishai later helped Joab kill Abner in revenge. When Shimei cursed David, Abishai thought he should be put to death, but again David refused his request. He helped lead David’s troops against Absalom, and again fought for David when Sheba led a rebellion against him. Abishai also saved David’s life by killing the Philistine giant Ishbi-benob. (2 Samuel 23:18–19)

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:1–25 The Lord’s anger and David’s sin lead to a plague. It also leads to the purchase of a place of worship in Jerusalem.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:1 Here the text says the LORD . . . incited David, while the parallel account in 1 Chron. 21:1 reads, “Satan . . . incited David.” God himself never does evil, but sometimes he uses either Satanic forces or sinful human beings to accomplish his purposes. For more on how to reconcile the two accounts, see note on 1 Chron. 21:1; see also notes on Gen. 50:18–21; 1 Sam. 16:14; Mark 14:21; Acts 2:23.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:3 By numbering the people for military purposes (v. 9), David apparently was showing a lack of trust in the Lord to supply soldiers when they were needed. He was also displaying a sinful pride in the hundreds of thousands of fighting men at his command (see v. 10). Joab knew it was wrong. See note on 1 Chron. 21:5–6.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:5–8 The fortress of Tyre was probably an Israelite fortress.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:9 For the contradiction between these numbers and those given in 1 Chron. 21:5–6, see note there.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:10 I have sinned. See note on v. 3.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:13 Pestilence kills faster (three days) than famine (three years).

FACT

David's census was most likely a military census. Its purpose would have been to find the age and location of potential new draftees for service in the army. It was either intended to give David pride in the number of his supporters or was a sign of his fear of another rebellion. Either way, it showed his lack of faith in God.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:17 Behold, I have sinned. David pleads that the people may not suffer for his sin. But he is the representative of God's people: they will bear the consequences of his behavior, whether good or evil.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:18 Go up. From David's home there was a yet higher place, the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite. The Jebusites were the previous inhabitants of Jerusalem (see 5:6), and some still lived there.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:20 Araunah looked down. Threshing floors were usually on a high place so that the wind could blow the chaff away. This site was on the top of a hill about 450 yards (412 m) to the north of the city of David (see illustration).

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:23–24 David feels that, because he is the one who sinned, and because it is for the sake of the nation, he should pay for the sacrifice. He pays fifty shekels of silver for the threshing floor and the oxen.

2 SAMUEL—NOTE ON 24:25 The parallel account in 1 Chron. 22:1 states that this threshing floor is where Solomon would build the temple. This is a fitting end to the story of David.

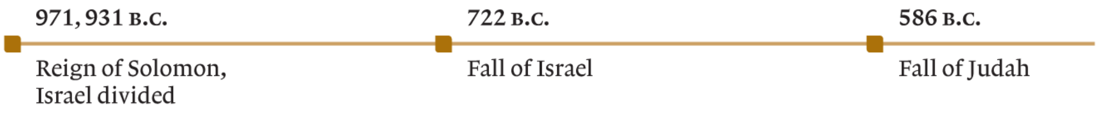
Introduction to 1–2 Kings

Introduction to 1–2 Kings

Timeline



Author and Date

The author or authors of these two books is unknown. As the titles of the books indicate, 1–2 Kings describe the period of the monarchy in ancient Israel (970–586 B.C.), concentrating on the kings who ruled after David.

Theme

The books show that Israel suffers again and again because of its great sinfulness (2 Kings 17:7–23; 24:1–4). Yet there is still hope for the nation, because God's chosen family of kings has not come to an end (2 Kings 25:27–30), and God remains ready to forgive those who repent (1 Kings 8:22–61).

Purpose, Occasion, and Background

The fall of Jerusalem to Babylon in 586 B.C. raised several questions: Was Israel's God not in fact in control of history, as Moses had claimed? If the God of Moses did exist, and was good and all-powerful, how was it that God's chosen city and temple had been destroyed, and his chosen royal family had all but come to its end?

The books of Kings respond to such questions, explaining why Israel was defeated. Israel's God is indeed in control of nature and history. There are no other true gods anywhere. It is this good and all-powerful God who has overseen the destruction of his chosen city and his temple, and Israel's exile to Babylon. Israel's sin has caused these punishments.

After the division of the kingdom, the northern kingdom of Israel lasted slightly more than 200 years (931–722 B.C.), with 19 different kings, all of whom were wicked. The southern kingdom of Judah had the same number of kings, but many of them were good, and Judah lasted almost 150 years longer (931–586 B.C.). Toward the end of Judah's monarchy came two of its best kings: Hezekiah (2 Kings 18:1–20:21) and Josiah (2 Kings 22:1–23:30). Yet the people still rebelled against the Lord, and Judah, like Israel, eventually went into exile as punishment for its sin. But hope remained, for God's chosen royal line had not come to a complete end (2 Kings 25:27–30), and God remained ready to forgive those who repented.

Key Themes

1. Yahweh is the only true God, and he controls nature. There is only one living God, and he is the Lord. He alone controls the natural order (1 Kings 17–19; 2 Kings 1:2–17; 4:8–37; 5:1–18; 6:1–7, 27).
2. Yahweh controls history. The Lord rules over the past, present, and future. He alone controls the historical process (1 Kings 11:14, 23; 14:1–18; 22:1–38; 2 Kings 5:1–18; 10:32–33; 18:17–19:37).
3. Yahweh demands exclusive worship. As the only God, the Lord demands exclusive worship. He alone will be worshiped, by Israelite and foreigner alike (1 Kings 8:41–43, 60; 2 Kings 5:15–18; 17:24–41).
4. The content and place of true worship. Much of 1–2 Kings is concerned with exposing false religion. It speaks out against the content of false worship (1 Kings 11:1–40; 12:25–13:34; 14:22–24; 16:29–33; 2 Kings 16:1–4; 17:7–23; 21:1–9). It also exposes the wrongful place of such false worship (1 Kings 3:2; 5:1–9:9; 15:14; 22:43; 2 Kings 18:4; 23:1–20).
5. The consequences of false worship. True worship of God includes obedience to the law of God. The worship of something other than God always leads to mistreating other people.
6. Yahweh is the just and gracious Lawgiver. The Lord gave the law, which defines true worship, right thinking, and correct behavior. The Lord is also the one who punishes wrongdoers.
7. Yahweh is the promise-giver. Israel's God is a promise-giver. The divine promises given to the patriarchs and to David are an important theme in

1–2 Kings.

The Extent of Solomon’s Kingdom

c. 971–931 B.C.

Solomon’s reign marked the high point of Israel’s power and wealth in biblical times. Solomon’s father, David, had given him a kingdom that included Edom, Moab, Ammon, Syria, and Zobah. Solomon would later rule over the kingdom of Hamath as well, and his marriage to Pharaoh’s daughter resulted in an alliance with Egypt. Solomon controlled important trade routes between several major world powers, including Egypt, Arabia, Mesopotamia, and Anatolia (Asia Minor).

The Global Message of 1 Kings

The books of 1 and 2 Kings record Israel's prolonged struggle between true and false worship. From the reign of King Solomon until the exile to Babylon—a period of nearly 400 years—the prophets of God clash with the kings of Israel and Judah regarding their idolatrous behavior. Since God's predictions about exile are eventually fulfilled, the prophets prove to have the last word over those kings who follow other gods. In this way the Lord shows himself superior over all other spiritual powers, including the false gods that so many of Israel's faithless kings follow.

Amid the chorus of idols beckoning for the attention of God's people both in ancient times and today, only the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ reigns supreme and deserves our trust.

Spiritual Warfare on Mount Carmel

In 1 Kings, the sovereignty of the Lord over other powers is expressed most powerfully in the confrontation between the prophet Elijah and the prophets of Baal on Mount Carmel (1 Kings 18). This story is frequently cited as an example of a "power encounter"—that is, a procedure for triumphing over the powers of darkness. Advocates of such approaches to spiritual warfare typically claim that power encounters are necessary to bring breakthroughs for the gospel, especially in animistic and tribal contexts. But the broader context of 1 Kings 17–18 indicates that "truth encounters" and "power encounters" always work together in proving that the Lord is superior to all false gods.

God Usurps Baal's Power in Sidon

God's fickle people. The prophet Elijah appears on the scene (1 Kings 17:1) shortly after we read that King Ahab has built a temple in Israel for Baal, the Canaanite god of fertility (16:32). This happens only a few decades after Solomon built the temple in Jerusalem and confessed, "O Lord, God of Israel, there is no God like you, in heaven above or on earth beneath" (8:23). Yet Israel's king now chooses to worship a pagan deity who must die every year in the autumn season and be resurrected to life in the spring so that the rains may come. Since the land of Israel lacked a constant water supply, each planting season brought the annual temptation for God's people to put their hope in fertility gods like Baal.

God's powerful word. Elijah's opening words to Ahab pose a direct challenge to Baal and his supposed power: "As the Lord, the God of Israel, lives, before whom I stand, there shall be neither dew nor rain these years, except by my word" (1 Kings 17:1). Elijah declares that his God, not Baal, always lives and controls the rain. This truth will be proven through the powerful "word" that Elijah receives from God. This divine word tells Elijah to hide east of the Jordan, where he will receive miraculous sustenance from ravens by a brook (17:3–4). Once this brook dries up from drought, the "word" tells Elijah to go and stay in Zarephath, a town in Sidon (17:7–9).

God's surprising ways. The land of Sidon is Baal's home territory. But God does not call Elijah to confront Baal directly at this point, choosing instead to send him to the most unlikely person to give him food in a famine—a widow whose own supplies are about to run out. When Elijah asks her for food and water, her reply is an implicit challenge to see whether the Lord can do better than Baal: "As the Lord your God lives, I have nothing baked, only a handful of flour in a jar and a little oil in a jug. And now I am gathering a couple of sticks that I may go in and prepare it for myself and my son, that we may eat it and die" (1 Kings 17:12). Elijah reassures her that the Lord will be faithful to his "word" in providing for her (17:14–16), and later he raises her son from the dead—something Baal cannot do (17:17–24). It is amazing that Elijah's ministry begins here in a destitute widow's home, far from Israel, but it is in such surprising places that God's word is proven faithful. By first defeating Baal in Sidon, the God of Israel proves that he rules over the whole earth.

God Defeats Baal's Prophets in Israel

Elijah's proposal. In chapter 18, Elijah's return to Israel begins with the now-familiar refrain, "the word of the Lord came to Elijah," telling him to go to King Ahab (1 Kings 18:1). Ahab resents Elijah's return and refuses to acknowledge the prophet by name (18:17) since pronouncing his name in Hebrew would undermine Ahab's loyalty to Baal (in Hebrew, "Elijah" means "the Lord is my God"). So Elijah suggests having a contest to settle this theological dispute once and for all: "Now therefore send and gather all Israel to me at Mount Carmel, and the 450 prophets of Baal and the 400 prophets of Asherah, who eat at Jezebel's table" (18:19). A single prophet of the Lord will confront 850 pagan prophets! Yet Elijah's concern is more for the faith of the people, whom he challenges to make up their minds: "How long will you go limping between two different opinions? If the LORD is God, follow him; but if Baal, then follow him" (18:21). Elijah declares that the god who answers by fire is the true God (18:24).

God's victory. The people soon learn that their loyalty to Baal is misguided. After preparing the bull to be consumed by Baal's fire from heaven, the prophets repeatedly call out, "O Baal, answer us!" (1 Kings 18:26). Nobody responds, so Elijah taunts the people (18:27). Baal's prophets respond by trying harder, shouting louder, and slashing themselves in an effort to compel Baal to answer (18:28). But Baal is not there: "There was no voice. No one answered; no one paid attention" (18:29). Baal is silent and nowhere to be found because the Lord alone is supreme over all pagan powers.

Prayer in Spiritual Warfare

Dignified faith. Many people think that prayer in spiritual warfare must be aggressive and loud. Though Elijah has mocked the prophets of Baal, his final prayer to the Lord is simple and dignified rather than obnoxious: "O LORD, God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, let it be known this day that you are God in Israel, and that I am your servant, and that I have done all these things at your word" (1 Kings 18:36). No gyrating and ritual are found here, just Elijah's straightforward request that God would show his power. This is the quiet trust in the Lord that is called for as God's people today all around the world engage in battling "the cosmic powers over this present darkness" (Eph. 6:12).

Confidence in God's word. Such trust is generated as we hold fast to God's word. The divine word that sustained Elijah in chapter 17 accomplished its victory in chapter 18. The Lord answered Elijah with fire, and the people confessed, "The LORD, he is God; the LORD, he is God" (1 Kings 18:39). A steady downpour then began to fall in response to Elijah's silent prayers for rain (18:42). In 1 Kings 17–18, confronting and subduing pagan powers is more about faithful prayer than frenetic ritual. Spiritual warfare according to the Bible is not a confrontation of escalating, frantic chaos but rather a firm trust in the Lord who is sovereign over all the powers. His divine word is our anchor and confidence. Indeed, he “upholds the universe by the word of his power” (Heb. 1:3).

David in His Old Age

1 KINGS 1 [†]Now King David was old and advanced in years. And although they covered him with clothes, he could not get warm. [2][†]Therefore his servants said to him, "Let a young woman be sought for my lord the king, and let her wait on the king and be in his service. Let her lie in your arms, [1] that my lord the king may be warm." [3]So they sought for a beautiful young woman throughout all the territory of Israel, and found Abishag the [a]Shunammite, and brought her to the king. [4]The young woman was very beautiful, and she was of service to the king and attended to him, but the king knew her not.

Adonijah Sets Himself Up as King

[5][†]Now [b]Adonijah the son of Haggith exalted himself, saying, "I will be king." [c]And he prepared for himself chariots and horsemen, and fifty men to run before him. [6]His father had never at any time displeased him by asking, "Why have you done thus and so?" He was also a very handsome man, [d]and he was born next after Absalom. [7][†]He conferred with [e]Joab the son of Zeruiah and with [f]Abiathar the priest. And they followed Adonijah and helped him. [8]But [f]Zadok the priest and [g]Benaiah the son of Jehoiada and [h]Nathan the prophet and [i]Shimei and Rei and [j]David's mighty men were not with Adonijah.

[9]Adonijah sacrificed sheep, oxen, and fattened cattle by the Serpent's Stone, which is beside [k]En-rogel, and he invited all his brothers, the king's sons, and all the royal officials of Judah, [10]but he did not invite Nathan the prophet or Benaiah or the mighty men or [l]Solomon his brother.

Nathan and Bathsheba Before David

[11]Then Nathan said to Bathsheba the mother of Solomon, "Have you not heard that [b]Adonijah the son of Haggith has become king and David our lord does not know it? [12]Now therefore come, let me give you advice, that you may save your own life and the life of your son Solomon. [13][†]Go in at once to King David, and say to him, 'Did you not, my lord the king, swear to your servant, saying, [m]“Solomon your son shall reign after me, and he shall sit on my throne”? Why then is Adonijah king?’ [14]Then while you are still speaking with the king, I also will come in after you and confirm [2] your words.”

[15]So Bathsheba went to the king in his chamber (now the king was very old, and Abishag the Shunammite was attending to the king). [16]Bathsheba bowed and paid homage to the king, and the king said, “What do you desire?” [17]She said to him, “My lord, you swore to your servant by the LORD your God, saying, [m]‘Solomon your son shall reign after me, and he shall sit on my throne.’ [18]And now, behold, Adonijah is king, although you, my lord the king, do not know it. [19][n]He has sacrificed oxen, fattened cattle, and sheep in abundance, and has invited all the sons of the king, [f]Abiathar the priest, and Joab the commander of the army, but [l]Solomon your servant he has not invited. [20][†]And now, my lord the king, the eyes of all Israel are on you, to tell them who shall sit on the throne of my lord the king after him. [21]Otherwise it will come to pass, when my lord the king [o]sleeps with his fathers, that I and my son Solomon will be counted offenders.”

[22]While she was still speaking with the king, Nathan the prophet came in. [23]And they told the king, “Here is Nathan the prophet.” And when he came in before the king, he bowed before the king, with his face to the ground. [24]And Nathan said, “My lord the king, have you said, ‘Adonijah shall reign after me, and he shall sit on my throne’? [25]For he has gone down this day and [n]has sacrificed oxen, fattened cattle, and sheep in abundance, and has invited all the king’s sons, the commanders [3] of the army, and Abiathar the priest. And behold, they are eating and drinking before him, and saying, [p]‘Long live King Adonijah!’ [26][q]But me, your servant, and Zadok the priest, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and your servant Solomon he has not invited. [27]Has this thing been brought about by my lord the king and you have not told your servants who should sit on the throne of my lord the king after him?”

Solomon Anointed King

[28]Then King David answered, “Call Bathsheba to me.” So she came into the king’s presence and stood before the king. [29]And the king swore, saying,

[r]“As the LORD lives, who has redeemed my soul out of every adversity, [30][s]as I swore to you by the LORD, the God of Israel, saying, ‘Solomon your son shall reign after me, and he shall sit on my throne in my place,’ even so will I do this day.” [31][†]Then Bathsheba bowed with her face to the ground and paid homage to the king and said, [t]“May my lord King David live forever!”

[32]King David said, “Call to me Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada.” So they came before the king. [33][†]And the king said to them, “Take with you [u]the servants of your lord and have Solomon my son ride on my own mule, and bring him down to [v]Gihon. [34]And let Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet there [w]anoint him king over Israel. [x]Then blow the trumpet and say, [y]‘Long live King Solomon!’ [35]You shall then come up after him, and he shall come and sit on my throne, for he shall be king in my place. And I have appointed him to be ruler over Israel and over Judah.” [36]And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada answered the king, “Amen! May the LORD, the God of my lord the king, say so. [37][z]As the LORD has been with my lord the king, even so may he be with Solomon, [a]and make his throne greater than the throne of my lord King David.”

[38][†]So Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, [b]and the Cherethites and the Pelethites went down and had Solomon ride on King David’s mule and brought him to Gihon. [39][†]There Zadok the priest took the horn of [c]oil from the tent and [d]anointed Solomon. [x]Then they blew the trumpet, and all the people said, [y]“Long live King Solomon!” [40]And all the people went up after him, playing on pipes, and rejoicing with great joy, so that the earth was split by their noise.

[41][†]Adonijah and all the guests who were with him heard it as they finished feasting. And when Joab heard the sound of the trumpet, he said, “What does this uproar in the city mean?” [42]While he was still speaking, behold, [e]Jonathan the son of Abiathar the priest came. And Adonijah said, “Come in, [f]for you are a worthy man and bring good news.” [43]Jonathan answered Adonijah, “No, for our lord King David has made Solomon king, [44]and the king has sent with him Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and the [b]Cherethites and the Pelethites. And they had him ride on the king’s mule. [45]And Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet have anointed him king at [y]Gihon, and they have gone up from there rejoicing, so that the city is in an uproar. This is the noise that you have heard. [46][g]Solomon sits on the royal throne. [47]Moreover, the king’s servants came to congratulate our lord King David, saying, [h]‘May your God make the name of Solomon more famous than yours, and make his throne greater than your throne.’ And the king [i]bowed himself on the bed. [48]And the king also said, ‘Blessed be the Lord, the God of Israel, [j]who has granted someone [4] to sit on my throne this day, my own eyes seeing it.’”

[49]Then all the guests of Adonijah trembled and rose, and each went his own way. [50][†]And Adonijah feared Solomon. So he arose and went [k]and took hold of [l]the horns of the altar. [51]Then it was told Solomon, “Behold, Adonijah fears King Solomon, for behold, he has laid hold of the horns of the altar, saying, ‘Let King Solomon swear to me first that he will not put his servant to death with the sword.’” [52]And Solomon said, “If he will show himself a worthy man, [m]not one of his hairs shall fall to the earth, but if wickedness is found in him, he shall die.” [53]So King Solomon sent, and they brought him down from the altar. And he came and paid homage to King Solomon, and Solomon said to him, “Go to your house.”

David’s Instructions to Solomon

1 KINGS 2 [n]When David’s time to die drew near, he commanded Solomon his son, saying, [2][†][o]“I am about to go the way of all the earth. [p]Be strong, and show yourself a man, [3]and keep the charge of the Lord your God, walking in his ways and keeping his statutes, his commandments, his rules, and his testimonies, as it is written in the Law of Moses, [q]that you may prosper in all that you do and wherever you turn, [4][†]that the Lord may [r]establish his word that he spoke concerning me, saying, [s]‘If your sons pay close attention to their way, [t]to walk before me in faithfulness with all their heart and with all their soul, [u]you shall not lack [1] a man on the throne of Israel.’

[5][†]“Moreover, you also know what Joab the son of Zeruiah [v]did to me, how he dealt with the two commanders of the armies of Israel, [w]Abner the son of Ner, [x]and Amasa the son of Jether, whom he killed, avenging [2] in time of peace for blood that had been shed in war, and putting the blood of war [3] on the belt around his [4] waist and on the sandals on his feet. [6][†]Act therefore [y] according to your wisdom, but do not let his gray head go down to Sheol in peace. [7]But deal loyally with the sons of [z] Barzillai the Gileadite, and let them be [a] among those who eat at your table, [b] for with such loyalty [5] they met me when I fled from Absalom your brother. [8]And there is also with you [c] Shimei the son of Gera, the Benjaminite from Bahurim, who cursed me with a grievous curse on the day [d] when I went to Mahanaim. [e] But when he came down to meet me at the Jordan, I swore to him by the LORD, saying, 'I will not put you to death with the sword.' [9]Now therefore do not hold him guiltless, [f] for you are a wise man. You will know what you ought to do to him, and you shall [g] bring his gray head down with blood to Sheol."

The Death of David

[10][†] [h] Then David slept with his fathers and was buried in [i] the city of David. [11][†]And the time that David reigned over Israel was [j] forty years. He reigned seven years in Hebron and thirty-three years in Jerusalem. [12][†] [k] So Solomon sat on the throne of David his father, and his kingdom was firmly established.

Solomon's Reign Established

[13]Then Adonijah the son of Haggith came to Bathsheba the mother of Solomon. And she said, [l] "Do you come peacefully?" He said, "Peacefully." [14]Then he said, "I have something to say to you." She said, "Speak." [15]He said, "You know that [m] the kingdom was mine, and that all Israel fully expected me to reign. However, the kingdom has turned about and become my brother's, [n] for it was his from the LORD. [16]And now I have one request to make of you; do not refuse me." She said to him, "Speak." [17][†]And he said, "Please ask King Solomon—he will not refuse you—to give me [o] Abishag the Shunammite as my wife." [18]Bathsheba said, "Very well; I will speak for you to the king."

[19]So Bathsheba went to King Solomon to speak to him on behalf of Adonijah. And the king rose to meet her and bowed down to her. Then he sat on his throne and had a seat brought for the king’s mother, [p] and she sat on his right. [20]Then she said, “I have one small request to make of you; do not refuse me.” And the king said to her, “Make your request, my mother, for I will not refuse you.” [21]She said, “Let [o] Abishag the Shunammite be given to Adonijah your brother as his wife.” [22][†]King Solomon answered his mother, “And why do you ask [o] Abishag the Shunammite for Adonijah? Ask for him the kingdom also, [q] for he is my older brother, and on his side [r] are Abiathar [6] the priest and Joab the son of Zeruiah.” [23]Then King Solomon swore by the LORD, saying, [s] “God do so to me and more also if this word does not cost Adonijah his life! [24]Now therefore [t] as the LORD lives, who has established me and placed me on the throne of David my father, and who has made me a house, [u] as he promised, Adonijah shall be put to death today.” [25]So King Solomon sent [v] Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and he struck him down, and he died.

[26][†]And to Abiathar the priest the king said, “Go to [w] Anathoth, to your estate, for you deserve death. But I will not at this time put you to death, [x] because you carried the ark of the Lord GOD before David my father, [y] and because you shared in all my father’s affliction.” [27][†] [z] So Solomon expelled Abiathar from being priest to the LORD, thus fulfilling [a] the word of the LORD that he had spoken concerning the house of Eli in Shiloh.

[28][†]When the news came to Joab—for Joab [b] had supported Adonijah although [c] he had not supported Absalom—Joab fled to the tent of the LORD and caught hold of the [d] horns of the altar. [29]And when it was told King Solomon, “Joab has fled to the tent of the LORD, and behold, he is beside the altar,” Solomon sent Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, saying, “Go, strike him down.” [30]So Benaiah came to the tent of the LORD and said to him, “The king commands, ‘Come out.’” But he said, “No, I will die here.” Then Benaiah brought the king word again, saying, “Thus said Joab, and thus he answered me.” [31]The king replied to him, [e] “Do as he has said, strike him down and bury him, [f] and thus take away from me and from my father’s house the guilt for the blood that Joab shed without cause. [32]The LORD will [g] bring back his bloody deeds on his own head, because, without the knowledge of my father David, he attacked and killed with the sword two men [h] more righteous and better than himself, [i] Abner the son of Ner, commander of the army of Israel, and [j] Amasa the son of Jether, commander of the army of Judah. [33] [g] So shall their blood come back on the head of Joab and on the head of his descendants forever. But for David and for his descendants and for his house and for his throne there shall be peace from the LORD forevermore." [34]Then Benaiah the son of Jehoiada went up and struck him down and put him to death. And he was buried in his own house in the wilderness. [35] [k] The king put Benaiah the son of Jehoiada over the army in place of Joab, and the king put [l] Zadok the priest [m] in the place of Abiathar.

[36][†]Then the king sent and summoned [n] Shimei and said to him, "Build yourself a house in Jerusalem and dwell there, and do not go out from there to any place whatever. [37]For on the day you go out and cross [o] the brook Kidron, know for certain that you shall die. [p] Your blood shall be on your own head." [38]And Shimei said to the king, "What you say is good; as my lord the king has said, so will your servant do." So Shimei lived in Jerusalem many days.

[39]But it happened at the end of three years that two of Shimei's servants ran away to [q] Achish, son of Maacah, king of Gath. And when it was told Shimei, "Behold, your servants are in Gath," [40]Shimei arose and saddled a donkey and went to Gath to Achish to seek his servants. Shimei went and brought his servants from Gath. [41]And when Solomon was told that Shimei had gone from Jerusalem to Gath and returned, [42]the king sent and summoned Shimei and said to him, "Did I not make you swear by the LORD and solemnly warn you, saying, 'Know for certain that on the day you go out and go to any place whatever, you shall die'? And you said to me, 'What you say is good; I will obey.' [43]Why then have you not kept your oath to the LORD and the commandment with which I commanded you?" [44]The king also said to Shimei, "You know in your own heart [r] all the harm that you did to David my father. So the LORD will [s] bring back your harm on your own head. [45]But King Solomon shall be blessed, [t] and the throne of David shall be established before the LORD forever." [46]Then the king commanded Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and he went out and struck him down, and he died.

Solomon’s Prayer for Wisdom

1 KINGS 3 [†] [v] Solomon made a marriage alliance with Pharaoh king of Egypt. He took Pharaoh’s daughter and brought her into [w] the city of David until he had finished [x] building his own house [y] and the house of the LORD [z] and the wall around Jerusalem. [2][†] [a] The people were sacrificing at the high places, however, because no house had yet been built for the name of the LORD.

[3]Solomon [b] loved the LORD, [c] walking in the statutes of David his father, only he sacrificed and made offerings at the high places. [4]And the king went to Gibeon to sacrifice there, [d] for that was the great high place. Solomon used to offer a thousand burnt offerings on that altar. [5] [e] At Gibeon [f] the LORD appeared to Solomon [g] in a dream by night, and God said, “Ask what I shall give you.” [6]And Solomon said, “You have shown great and steadfast love to your servant David my father, because [h] he walked before you in faithfulness, in righteousness, and in uprightness of heart toward you. And you have kept for him this great and steadfast love and [i] have given him a son to sit on his throne this day. [7][†]And now, O LORD my God, [j] you have made your servant king in place of David my father, [k] although I am but a little child. I do not know [l] how to go out or come in. [8] [m] And your servant is in the midst of your people whom you have chosen, a great people, [n] too many to be numbered or counted for multitude. [9] [o] Give your servant therefore an understanding mind [p] to govern your people, that I may [q] discern between good and evil, for who is able to govern this your great people?”

[10]It pleased the Lord that Solomon had asked this. [11][†]And God said to him, “Because you have asked this, and have not asked for yourself long life or riches or the life of your enemies, but have asked for yourself understanding to discern what is right, [12]behold, [r] I now do according to your word. Behold, [s] I give you a wise and discerning mind, so that none like you has been before you and none like you shall arise after you. [13] [t] I give you also what you have not asked, [u] both riches and honor, so that no other king shall compare with you, all your days. [14]And if you will walk in my ways, keeping my statutes and my commandments, [v] as your father David walked, then [w] I will lengthen your days.”

[15]And Solomon [x]awoke, and behold, it was a dream. Then he came to Jerusalem and stood before the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and offered up burnt offerings and peace offerings, and made a feast for all his servants.

Solomon’s Wisdom

[16][†]Then two prostitutes came to the king [y]and stood before him. [17]The one woman said, “Oh, my lord, this woman and I live in the same house, and I gave birth to a child while she was in the house. [18]Then on the third day after I gave birth, this woman also gave birth. And we were alone. There was no one else with us in the house; only we two were in the house. [19]And this woman’s son died in the night, because she lay on him. [20]And she arose at midnight and took my son from beside me, while your servant slept, and laid him at her breast, and laid her dead son at my breast. [21]When I rose in the morning to nurse my child, behold, he was dead. But when I looked at him closely in the morning, behold, he was not the child that I had borne.” [22]But the other woman said, “No, the living child is mine, and the dead child is yours.” The first said, “No, the dead child is yours, and the living child is mine.” Thus they spoke before the king.

[23]Then the king said, “The one says, ‘This is my son that is alive, and your son is dead’; and the other says, ‘No; but your son is dead, and my son is the living one.’” [24]And the king said, “Bring me a sword.” So a sword was brought before the king. [25]And the king said, “Divide the living child in two, and give half to the one and half to the other.” [26]Then the woman whose son was alive said to the king, because [z]her heart yearned for her son, “Oh, my lord, give her the living child, and by no means put him to death.” But the other said, “He shall be neither mine nor yours; divide him.” [27][†]Then the king answered and said, “Give the living child to the first woman, and by no means put him to death; she is his mother.” [28]And all Israel heard of the judgment that the king had rendered, and they stood in awe of the king, because they perceived that [a]the wisdom of God was in him to do justice.

Solomon’s Officials

1 KINGS 4 [†]King Solomon was king over all Israel, [2][†]and these were his high officials: Azariah the son of Zadok was [b]the priest; [3][†]Elihoreph and Ahijah the sons of Shisha were secretaries; [c]Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was recorder; [4][d]Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was in command of the army; [e]Zadok and Abiathar were priests; [5][†]Azariah the son of Nathan was over [f]the officers; Zabud the son of Nathan was priest and [g]king’s friend; [6]Ahishar was in charge of the palace; and [h]Adoniram the son of Abda was in charge of [i]the forced labor.

[7][†]Solomon had twelve officers over all Israel, who provided food for the king and his household. Each man had to make provision for one month in the year. [8]These were their names: Ben-hur, in [j]the hill country of Ephraim; [9]Ben-deker, in Makaz, Shaalbim, Beth-shemesh, and Elonbeth-hanan; [10]Ben-hesed, in Arubboth (to him belonged Socoh and all the land of Hepher); [11]Ben-abinadab, in all [k]Naphath-dor (he had Taphath the daughter of Solomon as his wife); [12]Baana the son of Ahilud, in [l]Taanach, Megiddo, and all [l]Beth-shean that is beside Zarethan below Jezreel, and from Beth-shean to Abel-meholah, as far as the other side of Jokmeam; [13]Ben-geber, [m]in Ramoth-gilead (he had [n]the villages of Jair the son of Manasseh, which are in Gilead, and he had [o]the region of Argob, which is in Bashan, sixty great cities with walls and bronze bars); [14]Ahinadab the son of Iddo, in Mahanaim; [15]Ahimaaz, in Naphtali (he had taken Basemath the daughter of Solomon as his wife); [16]Baana the son of Hushai, in Asher and Bealoth; [17]Jehoshaphat the son of Paruah, in Issachar; [18][p]Shimei the son of Ela, in Benjamin; [19]Geber the son of Uri, in the land of Gilead, [q]the country of Sihon king of the Amorites and of Og king of Bashan. And there was one governor who was over the land.

Solomon’s Wealth and Wisdom

[20]Judah and Israel were as many [r]as the sand by the sea. They ate and drank and were happy. [21][†] [1] [s]Solomon ruled over all the kingdoms from the [t]Euphrates [2] to the land of the Philistines and to the border of Egypt. [u]They brought tribute and served Solomon all the days of his life.

[22]Solomon's provision for one day was thirty cors [3] of fine flour and sixty cors of meal, [23]ten fat oxen, and twenty pasture-fed cattle, a hundred sheep, besides deer, gazelles, roebucks, and fattened fowl. [24]For he had dominion over all the region west of the Euphrates [4] from Tiphsah to [v] Gaza, over all the kings west of the Euphrates. [w] And he had peace on all sides around him. [25][†]And Judah and Israel [x] lived in safety, [y] from Dan even to Beersheba, [z] every man under his vine and under his fig tree, all the days of Solomon. [26][†] [a] Solomon also had 40,000 [5] stalls of horses for his chariots, and 12,000 horsemen. [27]And those officers supplied provisions for King Solomon, and for all who came to King Solomon's table, each one in his month. They let nothing be lacking. [28]Barley also and straw for the horses and [b] swift steeds they brought to the place where it was required, each according to his duty.

[29] [c] And God gave Solomon wisdom and understanding beyond measure, and breadth of mind [d] like the sand on the seashore, [30][†]so that Solomon's wisdom surpassed the wisdom of all [e] the people of the east [f] and all the wisdom of Egypt. [31]For he was [c] wiser than all other men, wiser than Ethan the Ezrahite, and Heman, Calcol, and Darda, the sons of Mahol, and his fame was in all the surrounding nations. [32] [g] He also spoke 3,000 proverbs, [h] and his songs were 1,005. [33][†]He spoke of trees, from the cedar that is in Lebanon to the hyssop that grows out of the wall. He spoke also of beasts, and of birds, and of reptiles, and of fish. [34]And people of all nations came to hear the wisdom of Solomon, and from [i] all the kings of the earth, who had heard of his wisdom.

Preparations for Building the Temple

1 KINGS 5 [1] Now [j] Hiram king of Tyre sent his servants to Solomon when he heard that they had anointed him king in place of his father, [k] for Hiram always loved David. [2]And Solomon sent word to Hiram, [3][†] [l] "You know that David my father could not build a house for the name of the LORD his God [m] because of the warfare with which his enemies surrounded him, until the LORD put them under the soles of his feet. [4] [n] But now the LORD my God has given me rest on every side. There is neither adversary nor misfortune.

[5]And so I intend to build a house for the name of the LORD my God, [o]as the LORD said to David my father, ‘Your son, whom I will set on your throne in your place, shall build the house for my name.’ [6][†]Now therefore command that cedars of Lebanon be cut for me. And my servants will join your servants, and I will pay you for your servants such wages as you set, for you know that there is no one among us who knows how to cut timber like the Sidonians.”

[7][†]As soon as Hiram heard the words of Solomon, he rejoiced greatly and said, “Blessed be the LORD this day, who has given to David a wise son to be over this great people.” [8]And Hiram sent to Solomon, saying, “I have heard the message that you have sent to me. I am ready to do all you desire in the matter of cedar and cypress timber. [9][†]My servants shall bring it down to the sea from Lebanon, and I will make it into rafts to go by sea to the place you direct. And I will have them broken up there, and you shall receive it. And you shall meet my wishes [p]by providing food for my household.” [10]So Hiram supplied Solomon with all the timber of cedar and cypress that he desired, [11]while Solomon gave Hiram 20,000 cors [2] of wheat as food for his household, and 20,000 [3] cors of beaten oil. Solomon gave this to Hiram year by year. [12]And the LORD gave Solomon wisdom, [q]as he promised him. And there was peace between Hiram and Solomon, and the two of them made a treaty.

[13][†]King Solomon drafted [r]forced labor out of all Israel, and the draft numbered 30,000 men. [14][†]And he sent them to Lebanon, 10,000 a month in shifts. They would be a month in Lebanon and two months at home. [s]Adoniram was in charge of the draft. [15]Solomon also [t]had 70,000 burden-bearers and 80,000 stonecutters in the hill country, [16]besides Solomon’s 3,300 [u]chief officers who were over the work, [v]who had charge of the people who carried on the work. [17][†]At the king’s command [w]they quarried out great, costly stones in order to lay the foundation of the house with dressed stones. [18][†]So Solomon’s builders and Hiram’s builders and [x]the men of Gebal did the cutting and prepared the timber and the stone to build the house.

Solomon Builds the Temple

1 KINGS 6 [†] [y] In the four hundred and eightieth year after the people of Israel came out of the land of Egypt, in the fourth year of Solomon's reign over Israel, in the month of Ziv, which is the second month, [z] he began to build the house of the LORD. 2 [a] The house that King Solomon built for the LORD was sixty cubits [1] long, twenty cubits wide, and thirty cubits high. 3The vestibule in front of the nave of the house was twenty cubits long, equal to the width of the house, and ten cubits deep in front of the house. 4And [b] he made for the house windows with recessed frames. [2] 5 [c] He also built a structure [3] against the wall of the house, running around the walls of the house, both the nave and [d] the inner sanctuary. And he made [e] side chambers all around. 6The lowest story [4] was five cubits broad, the middle one was six cubits broad, and the third was seven cubits broad. For around the outside of the house he made offsets on the wall in order that the supporting beams should not be inserted into the walls of the house.

8The entrance for the lowest [5] story was on the south side of the house, and one went up by stairs to the middle story, and from the middle story to the third. 9 [g] So he built the house and finished it, and he made the ceiling of the house of beams and planks of cedar. 10He built the structure against the whole house, five cubits high, and it was joined to the house with timbers of cedar.

11Now the word of the LORD came to Solomon, 12[†]"Concerning this house that you are building, [h] if you will walk in my statutes and obey my rules and keep all my commandments and walk in them, then I will establish my word with you, [i] which I spoke to David your father. 13And [j] I will dwell among the children of Israel [k] and will not forsake my people Israel."

14[†] [l] So Solomon built the house and finished it. 15He lined the walls of the house on the inside with boards of cedar. From the floor of the house to the walls of the ceiling, he covered them on the inside with wood, [m] and he covered the floor of the house with boards of cypress. 16 [n] He built twenty cubits of the rear of the house with boards of cedar from the floor to the walls, and he built this within as an inner sanctuary, as [o] the Most Holy Place. [17]The house, that is, the nave in front of the inner sanctuary, was forty cubits long. [18]The cedar within the house was carved in the form of [p] gourds and open flowers. All was cedar; no stone was seen. [19]The inner sanctuary he prepared in the innermost part of the house, to set there the ark of the covenant of the LORD. [20]The inner sanctuary [6] was twenty cubits long, twenty cubits wide, and twenty cubits high, and he overlaid it with pure gold. He also overlaid [7] an altar of cedar. [21]And Solomon overlaid the inside of the house with pure gold, and he drew chains of gold across, in front of the inner sanctuary, and overlaid it with gold. [22]And he overlaid the whole house with gold, until all the house was finished. [q] Also the whole altar that belonged to the inner sanctuary he overlaid with gold.

[23] [r] In the inner sanctuary [s] he made two cherubim of olivewood, each ten cubits high. [24]Five cubits was the length of one wing of the cherub, and five cubits the length of the other wing of the cherub; it was ten cubits from the tip of one wing to the tip of the other. [25]The other cherub also measured ten cubits; both cherubim had the same measure and the same form. [26]The height of one cherub was ten cubits, and so was that of the other cherub. [27]He put the cherubim in the innermost part of the house. [t] And the wings of the cherubim were spread out so that a wing of one touched the one wall, and a wing of the other cherub touched the other wall; their other wings touched each other in the middle of the house. [28]And he overlaid the cherubim with gold.

[29]Around all the walls of the house he carved engraved figures of cherubim and palm trees and open flowers, in the inner and outer rooms. [30]The floor of the house he overlaid with gold in the inner and outer rooms.

[31]For the entrance to the inner sanctuary he made doors of olivewood; the lintel and the doorposts were five-sided. [8] [32]He covered the two doors of olivewood with carvings of cherubim, palm trees, and open flowers. He overlaid them with gold and spread gold on the cherubim and on the palm trees.

[33]So also he made for the entrance to the nave doorposts of olivewood, in the form of a square, [34]and two doors of cypress wood. [u] The two leaves of the one door were folding, and the two leaves of the other door were folding. [35]On them he carved cherubim and palm trees and open flowers, and he overlaid them with gold evenly applied on the carved work.

[36][†] [v] He built the inner court with three courses of cut stone and one course of cedar beams.

[37] [w] In the fourth year the foundation of the house of the LORD was laid, in the month of Ziv. [38][†]And in the eleventh year, in the month of Bul, which is the eighth month, the house was finished in all its parts, and according to all its specifications. He was seven years in building it.

Solomon Builds His Palace

1 KINGS 7 Solomon was [x] building his own house thirteen years, and he finished his entire house.

[2][†]He built [y] the House of the Forest of Lebanon. Its length was a hundred cubits [1] and its breadth fifty cubits and its height thirty cubits, and it was built on four [2] rows of cedar pillars, with cedar beams on the pillars. [3]And it was covered with cedar above the chambers that were on the forty-five pillars, fifteen in each row. [4]There were window frames in three rows, and window opposite window in three tiers. [5]All the doorways and windows [3] had square frames, and window was opposite window in three tiers.

[6][†]And he made [z] the Hall of Pillars; its length was fifty cubits, and its breadth thirty cubits. There was a porch in front with pillars, and [a] a canopy in front of them.

[7]And he made the Hall of the Throne where he was to pronounce judgment, even the Hall of Judgment. [b] It was finished with cedar from floor to rafters. [4]

[8]His own house where he was to dwell, in the other court back of the hall, was of like workmanship. Solomon also made a house like this hall for Pharaoh’s daughter [c] whom he had taken in marriage.

[9]All these were made of costly stones, cut according to measure, sawed with saws, back and front, even from the foundation to the coping, and from the outside to the great court. [10]The foundation was of costly stones, huge stones, stones of eight and ten cubits. [11]And above were costly stones, cut according to measurement, and cedar. [12] [d] The great court had three courses of cut stone all around, and a course of cedar beams; so had the inner court of the house of the LORD and [e] the vestibule of the house.

The Temple Furnishings

13[†]And King Solomon sent and brought [f] Hiram from Tyre. 14He was the son of a widow of the tribe of Naphtali, and his father was a man of Tyre, a worker in bronze. And [g] he was full of wisdom, understanding, and skill for making any work in bronze. He came to King Solomon and did all his work.

15[†] [h] He cast [i] two pillars of bronze. [j] Eighteen cubits was the height of one pillar, and a line of twelve cubits measured its circumference. It was hollow, and its thickness was four fingers. The second pillar was the same. [5] 16He also made two capitals of cast bronze to set on the tops of the pillars. The height of the one capital was five cubits, and [j] the height of the other capital was five cubits. 17There were lattices of checker work with wreaths of chain work for the capitals on the tops of the pillars, a lattice [6] for the one capital and a lattice for the other capital. 18Likewise he made pomegranates [7] in two rows around the one latticework to cover the capital that was on the top of the pillar, and he did the same with the other capital. 19Now the capitals that were on the tops of the pillars in the vestibule were of lily-work, four cubits. 20The capitals were on the two pillars and also above the rounded projection which was beside the latticework. There were [k] two hundred pomegranates in two rows all around, and so with the other capital. 21 [l] He set up the pillars at the vestibule of the temple. He set up the pillar on the south and called its name Jachin, and he set up the pillar on the north and called its name Boaz. 22And on the tops of the pillars was lily-work. Thus the work of the pillars was finished.

23[†] [m] Then he made [n] the sea of cast metal. It was round, ten cubits from brim to brim, and five cubits high, and a line of thirty cubits measured its circumference. 24Under its brim were [o] gourds, for ten cubits, compassing the sea all around. The gourds were in two rows, cast with it when it was cast. 25It stood on [p] twelve oxen, three facing north, three facing west, three facing south, and three facing east. The sea was set on them, and all their rear parts were inward. 26Its thickness was a handbreadth, [8] and its brim was made like the brim of a cup, like the flower of a lily. It held two thousand baths. [9]

[27]He also made the [q] ten stands of bronze. Each stand was four cubits long, four cubits wide, and three cubits high. [28]This was the construction of the stands: they had panels, and the panels were set in the frames, [29]and on the panels that were set in the frames were lions, oxen, and cherubim. On the frames, both above and below the lions and oxen, there were wreaths of beveled work. [30]Moreover, each stand had four bronze wheels and axles of bronze, and at the four corners were supports for a basin. The supports were cast with wreaths at the side of each. [31]Its opening was within a crown that projected upward one cubit. Its opening was round, as a pedestal is made, a cubit and a half deep. At its opening there were carvings, and its panels were square, not round. [32]And the four wheels were underneath the panels. The axles of the wheels were of one piece with the stands, and the height of a wheel was a cubit and a half. [33]The wheels were made like a chariot wheel; their axles, their rims, their spokes, and their hubs were all cast. [34]There were four supports at the four corners of each stand. The supports were of one piece with the stands. [35]And on the top of the stand there was a round band half a cubit high; and on the top of the stand its stays and its panels were of one piece with it. [36]And on the surfaces of its stays and on its panels, he carved cherubim, lions, and palm trees, according to the space of each, with wreaths all around. [37]After this manner he made [q] the ten stands. All of them were cast alike, of the same measure and the same form.

[38]And he made [r] ten basins of bronze. Each basin held forty baths, each basin measured four cubits, and there was a basin for each of the ten stands. [39]And he set the stands, five on the south side of the house, and five on the north side of the house. And he set the sea at the southeast corner of the house.

[40] [s] Hiram also made [t] the pots, the shovels, and the basins. So Hiram finished all the work that he did for King Solomon on the house of the LORD: [41]the two pillars, the two bowls of the capitals that were on the tops of the pillars, and the two [u] latticeworks to cover the two bowls of the capitals that were on the tops of the pillars; [42]and the [v] four hundred pomegranates for the two latticeworks, two rows of pomegranates for each latticework, to cover the two bowls of the capitals that were on the pillars;

43the ten stands, and the ten basins on the stands; 44and [w]the one sea, and the twelve oxen underneath the sea.

48[†]So Solomon made all the vessels that were in the house of the LORD: [b]the golden altar, [c]the golden table for [d]the bread of the Presence, 49 [e]the lampstands of pure gold, five on the south side and five on the north, before the inner sanctuary; [f]the flowers, the lamps, and the tongs, of gold; 50the cups, snuffers, basins, dishes for incense, and [g]fire pans, of pure gold; and the sockets of gold, for the doors of the innermost part of the house, [h]the Most Holy Place, and for the doors of the nave of the temple.

51Thus all the work that King Solomon did on the house of the LORD was finished. And Solomon brought in [i]the things that David his father had dedicated, the silver, the gold, and the vessels, and stored them in the treasuries of the house of the LORD.

The Ark Brought into the Temple

1 KINGS 8 [†] [j] Then Solomon assembled the elders of Israel and all the heads of the tribes, [k] the leaders of the fathers' houses of the people of Israel, before King Solomon in Jerusalem, [l] to bring up the ark of the covenant of the LORD out of [m] the city of David, which is Zion. 2[†]And all the men of Israel assembled to King Solomon at [n] the feast in the month Ethanim, which is the seventh month. 3[†]And all the elders of Israel came, and [o] the priests took up the ark. 4And they brought up the ark of the LORD, [p] the tent of meeting, and all the holy vessels that were in the tent; the priests and the Levites brought them up. 5And King Solomon and all the congregation of Israel, who had assembled before him, were with him before the ark, [q] sacrificing so many sheep and oxen that they could not be counted or numbered. 6 [r] Then the priests brought the ark of the covenant of the LORD [s] to its place in [t] the inner sanctuary of the house, in the Most Holy Place, underneath the wings of the cherubim. 7For the cherubim spread out their wings over the place of the ark, so that the cherubim overshadowed the ark and its poles. 8 [u] And the poles were so long that the ends of the poles were seen from the Holy Place before [t] the inner sanctuary; but they could not be seen from outside. And they are there to this day. 9[†]There was nothing in the ark except [v] the two tablets of stone that Moses put there at Horeb, where [w] the LORD made a covenant with the people of Israel, when they came out of the land of Egypt. 10[†]And when the priests came out of the Holy Place, [x] a cloud filled the house of the LORD, 11so that the priests could not stand to minister because of the cloud, for the glory of the LORD filled the house of the LORD.

Solomon Blesses the LORD

12[†] [y] Then Solomon said, "The LORD [1] has said that he would dwell [z] in thick darkness. 13 [a] I have indeed built you an exalted house, [b] a place for you to dwell in forever." 14Then the king turned around and [c] blessed all the assembly of Israel, while all the assembly of Israel stood. 15And he said, [d] "Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, who with his hand has fulfilled

[e] what he promised with his mouth to David my father, saying, 16[f] 'Since the day that I brought my people Israel out of Egypt, I chose no city out of all the tribes of Israel in which to build a house, [g] that my name might be there. [h] But I chose David to be over my people Israel.' 17[†] [i] Now it was in the heart of David my father to build a house for the name of the LORD, the God of Israel. 18But the LORD said to David my father, 'Whereas it was in your heart to build a house for my name, you did well that it was in your heart. 19[j] Nevertheless, you shall not build the house, but your son who shall be born to you shall build the house for my name.' 20Now the LORD has fulfilled his promise that he made. For I have risen in the place of David my father, and sit on the throne of Israel, [k] as the LORD promised, and I have built the house for the name of the LORD, the God of Israel. 21And there I have provided a place for the ark, [l] in which is the covenant of the LORD that he made with our fathers, when he brought them out of the land of Egypt."

22[†]Then Solomon [m] stood before the altar of the LORD in the presence of all the assembly of Israel and [n] spread out his hands toward heaven, 23and said, "O LORD, God of Israel, [o] there is no God like you, in heaven above or on earth beneath, [p] keeping covenant and showing steadfast love to your servants who walk before you with all their heart; 24you have kept with your servant David my father what you declared to him. [e] You spoke with your mouth, and with your hand have fulfilled it this day. 25Now therefore, O LORD, God of Israel, keep for your servant David my father what you have promised him, saying, [q] 'You shall not lack a man to sit before me on the throne of Israel, if only your sons pay close attention to their way, to walk before me as you have walked before me.' 26[r] Now therefore, O God of Israel, let your word be confirmed, which you have spoken to your servant David my father.

27[†]"But will God indeed dwell on the earth? Behold, [s] heaven and the highest heaven cannot contain you; how much less this house that I have built! 28Yet have regard to the prayer of your servant and to his plea, O LORD my God, listening to the cry and to the prayer that your servant prays before you this day, [29][t]that your eyes may be open night and day toward this house, the place of which you have said, [u]‘My name shall be there,’ that you may listen to the prayer that your servant offers toward this place. [30]And listen to the plea of your servant and of your people Israel, when they pray toward this place. And listen in heaven your dwelling place, and when you hear, forgive.

[33][†][x]“When your people Israel are defeated before the enemy because they have sinned against you, and [y]if they turn again to you and acknowledge your name and pray and plead with you in this house, [34]then hear in heaven and forgive the sin of your people Israel and bring them again to the land that you gave to their fathers.

[35][z]“When heaven is shut up and there is no rain because they have sinned against you, if they pray toward this place and acknowledge your name and turn from their sin, when you afflict them, [36]then hear in heaven and forgive the sin of your servants, your people Israel, when [a]you teach them [b]the good way in which they should walk, and grant rain upon your land, which you have given to your people as an inheritance.

[37][c]“If there is famine in the land, if there is pestilence or blight or mildew or locust or caterpillar, if their enemy besieges them in the land at their gates,[2] whatever plague, whatever sickness there is, [38]whatever prayer, whatever plea is made by any man or by all your people Israel, each knowing the affliction of his own heart and stretching out his hands toward this house, [39]then hear in heaven your dwelling place and forgive and act and render to each whose heart you know, according to all his ways ([d]for you, you only, know the hearts of all the children of mankind), [40]that they may fear you [e]all the days that they live in the land that you gave to our fathers.

[41]“Likewise, when a foreigner, who is not of your people Israel, comes from a far country for your name’s sake [42](for they shall hear of your great name [f]and your mighty hand, and of your outstretched arm), when he comes and prays toward this house, [43]hear in heaven your dwelling place and do according to all for which the foreigner calls to you, in order [g] that all the peoples of the earth may know your name and [h] fear you, as do your people Israel, and that they may know that this house that I have built is called by your name.

[44]"If your people go out to battle against their enemy, by whatever way you shall send them, and they pray to the LORD [i] toward the city that you have chosen and the house that I have built for your name, [45]then hear in heaven their prayer and their plea, and maintain their cause.

[46][†]"If they sin against you—[j] for there is no one who does not sin—and you are angry with them and give them to an enemy, so that they are carried away captive [k] to the land of the enemy, far off or near, [47]yet [l] if they turn their heart in the land to which they have been carried captive, and repent and plead with you in the land of their captors, saying, [m] 'We have sinned and have acted perversely and wickedly,' [48] [n] if they repent with all their mind and with all their heart in the land of their enemies, who carried them captive, and pray to you [o] toward their land, which you gave to their fathers, the city that you have chosen, and the house that I have built for your name, [49]then hear in heaven your dwelling place their prayer and their plea, and maintain their cause [50]and forgive your people who have sinned against you, and all their transgressions that they have committed against you, and [p] grant them compassion in the sight of those who carried them captive, that they may have compassion on them [51]([q] for they are your people, and your heritage, which you brought out of Egypt, [r] from the midst of the iron furnace). [52] [s] Let your eyes be open to the plea of your servant and to the plea of your people Israel, giving ear to them whenever they call to you. [53]For you separated them from among all the peoples of the earth to be your heritage, [t] as you declared through Moses your servant, when you brought our fathers out of Egypt, O Lord GOD."

Solomon's Benediction

[54][†] [u] Now as Solomon finished offering all this prayer and plea to the LORD, he arose from before the altar of the LORD, where he had [v] knelt with hands outstretched toward heaven. [55]And he stood and [w] blessed all the assembly of Israel with a loud voice, saying, [56]"Blessed be the LORD who has given rest to his people Israel, according to all that he promised. [x] Not one word has failed of all his good promise, which he spoke by Moses his servant. [57]The LORD our God be with us, as he was with our fathers. [y] May he not leave us or forsake us, [58]that he may [z] incline our hearts to him, to walk in all his ways and to keep his commandments, his statutes, and his rules, which he commanded our fathers. [59]Let these words of mine, with which I have pleaded before the LORD, be near to the LORD our God day and night, and may he maintain the cause of his servant and the cause of his people Israel, as each day requires, [60]that [a] all the peoples of the earth may know that [b] the LORD is God; there is no other. [61] [c] Let your heart therefore be wholly true to the LORD our God, walking in his statutes and keeping his commandments, as at this day."

Solomon's Sacrifices

[62] [d] Then [e] the king, and all Israel with him, offered sacrifice before the LORD. [63]Solomon offered as peace offerings to the LORD 22,000 oxen and 120,000 sheep. So the king and all the people of Israel dedicated the house of the LORD. [64]The same day the king consecrated the middle of the court that was before the house of the LORD, for there he offered the burnt offering and the grain offering and the fat pieces of the peace offerings, because [f] the bronze altar that was before the LORD was too small to receive the burnt offering and the grain offering and the fat pieces of the peace offerings.

[65][†]So Solomon held [g] the feast at that time, and all Israel with him, a great assembly, from [h] Lebo-hamath to [i] the Brook of Egypt, before the LORD our God, seven days. [3] [66]On the eighth day he sent the people away, and they blessed the king and went to their homes joyful and glad of heart for all the goodness that the LORD had shown to David his servant and to Israel his people.

The LORD Appears to Solomon

1 KINGS 9 [j] As soon as Solomon had finished building the house of the LORD [k] and the king's house and [l] all that Solomon desired to build,

[2][†] [m] the LORD appeared to Solomon a second time, as he had appeared to him at Gibeon. [3]And the LORD said to him, “I have heard your prayer and your plea, which you have made before me. I have consecrated this house that you have built, [n] by putting my name there forever. [o] My eyes and my heart will be there for all time. [4][†]And as for you, if you will [p] walk before me, [q] as David your father walked, with integrity of heart and uprightness, doing according to all that I have commanded you, and keeping my statutes and my rules, [5] [r] then I will establish your royal throne over Israel forever, as I promised David your father, saying, ‘You shall not lack a man on the throne of Israel.’ [6][†] [s] But if you turn aside from following me, you or your children, and do not keep my commandments and my statutes that I have set before you, but go and serve other gods and worship them, [7][†] [t] then I will cut off Israel from the land that I have given them, [u] and the house that I have consecrated for my name I will cast out of my sight, [v] and Israel will become a proverb and a byword among all peoples. [8]And this house will become a heap of ruins. [1] Everyone passing by it will be astonished and will hiss, and they will say, [w] ‘Why has the LORD done thus to this land and to this house?’ [9]Then they will say, ‘Because [x] they abandoned the LORD their God who brought their fathers out of the land of Egypt and laid hold on other gods and worshiped them and served them. Therefore the LORD has brought all this disaster on them.’”

Solomon’s Other Acts

[10][†] [y] At the end of [z] twenty years, in which Solomon had built the two houses, the house of the LORD and the king’s house, [11][†]and Hiram king of Tyre had supplied Solomon with cedar and cypress timber and gold, as much as he desired, King Solomon gave to Hiram twenty cities in the land of Galilee. [12]But when Hiram came from Tyre to see the cities that Solomon had given him, they did not please him. [13][†]Therefore he said, “What kind of cities are these that you have given me, my brother?” So they are called the land of [a] Cabul to this day. [14][†]Hiram had sent to the king 120 talents [2] of gold.

[15][†]And this is the account of [b] the forced labor that King Solomon drafted to build the house of the LORD and his own house and [c] the Millo and the wall of Jerusalem and [d] Hazor and [e] Megiddo and Gezer [16](Pharaoh king of Egypt had gone up and captured Gezer and burned it with fire, and had killed [f] the Canaanites who lived in the city, and had given it as dowry to [g] his daughter, Solomon's wife; [17]so Solomon rebuilt Gezer) and [h] Lower Beth-horon [18]and Baalath and Tamar in the wilderness, in the land of Judah, [3] [19]and all the store cities that Solomon had, and [i] the cities for his chariots, and the cities for [j] his horsemen, and whatever Solomon [k] desired to build in Jerusalem, in Lebanon, and in all the land of his dominion. [20]All the people who were left of the Amorites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites, who were not of the people of Israel— [21] [l] their descendants who were left after them in the land, [m] whom the people of Israel were unable to devote to destruction [4]— [n] these Solomon drafted to be [o] slaves, and so they are to this day. [22]But [p] of the people of Israel Solomon made no slaves. They were the soldiers, they were his officials, his commanders, his captains, his chariot commanders and his horsemen.

[24]But [g] Pharaoh's daughter went up from the city of David to [s] her own house that Solomon had built for her. [t] Then he built [u] the Millo.

[25]Three times a year Solomon used to offer up burnt offerings and peace offerings on the altar that he built to the LORD, making offerings with it [5] before the LORD. So he finished the house.

[26]King Solomon built a fleet of ships at [v] Ezion-geber, which is near Eloth on the shore of the Red Sea, in the land of Edom. [27]And Hiram sent [w] with the fleet his servants, seamen who were familiar with the sea, together with the servants of Solomon. [28]And they went to [x] Ophir and brought from there gold, 420 talents, and they brought it to King Solomon.

The Queen of Sheba

1 KINGS 10 [†] [y] Now when [z] the queen of [a] Sheba heard of the fame of Solomon concerning the name of the LORD, she came [b] to test him with hard questions. [2]She came to Jerusalem with a very great retinue, with camels [c] bearing spices and very much gold and precious stones. And when she came to Solomon, she told him all that was on her mind. [3]And Solomon answered all her questions; there was nothing hidden from the king that he could not explain to her. [4]And when the queen of Sheba had seen all the wisdom of Solomon, the house that he had built, [5]the food of his table, the seating of his officials, and the attendance of his servants, their clothing, his cupbearers, and his burnt offerings that he offered at the house of the LORD, there was no more breath in her.

[6]And she said to the king, “The report was true that I heard in my own land of your words and of your wisdom, [7]but I did not believe the reports until I came and my own eyes had seen it. And behold, the half was not told me. Your wisdom and prosperity surpass the report that I heard. [8][†] [e]Happy are your men! Happy are your servants, who continually stand before you and hear your wisdom! [9][f]Blessed be the LORD your God, who has delighted in you and set you on the throne of Israel! [g]Because the LORD loved Israel forever, he has made you king, [h]that you may execute justice and righteousness.” [10][†] [i]Then she gave the king 120 talents [1] of gold, and a very great quantity of spices and precious stones. Never again came such an abundance of spices as these that the queen of Sheba gave to King Solomon.

[11]Moreover, [j]the fleet of Hiram, which brought [k]gold from Ophir, brought from Ophir a very great amount of almug wood and precious stones. [12]And the king made of the almug wood supports for the house of the LORD and for the king’s house, also lyres and harps for the singers. No such almug wood has come or been seen to this day.

[13]And King Solomon gave to the queen of Sheba all that she desired, whatever she asked besides what was given her by the bounty of King Solomon. So she turned and went back to her own land with her servants.

Solomon’s Great Wealth

[14][†] [l]Now the weight of gold that came to Solomon in one year was 666 talents of gold, [15]besides that which came from the explorers and from the business of the merchants, and from all the kings of the west and from the governors of the land. [16]King Solomon made 200 large shields of beaten gold; 600 shekels [2] of gold went into each shield. [17]And he made 300

[m] shields of beaten gold; three minas [3] of gold went into each shield. And the king put them in [n] the House of the Forest of Lebanon. [18]The king also made a great ivory throne and overlaid it with the finest gold. [19]The throne had six steps, and the throne had a round top, [4] and on each side of the seat were armrests and two lions standing beside the armrests, [20]while twelve lions stood there, one on each end of a step on the six steps. The like of it was never made in any kingdom. [21]All King Solomon's drinking vessels were of gold, and all the vessels of [n] the House of the Forest of Lebanon were of pure gold. None were of silver; silver was not considered as anything in the days of Solomon. [22]For the king had [o] a fleet of ships of Tarshish at sea with the fleet of Hiram. Once every three years the fleet of ships of Tarshish used to come bringing gold, silver, ivory, apes, and peacocks. [5]

[26][†] [q] And Solomon gathered together [r] chariots and horsemen. He had 1,400 chariots and 12,000 horsemen, whom he stationed in the [s] chariot cities and with the king in Jerusalem. [27]And the king made silver as common in Jerusalem as stone, and he made cedar as plentiful as [t] the sycamore of the Shephelah. [28]And Solomon's [u] import of horses was from Egypt and Kue, and the king's traders received them from Kue at a price. [29]A chariot could be imported from Egypt for 600 shekels of silver and a horse for 150, and so through the king's traders they were exported to all the kings of [v] the Hittites and the kings of Syria.

Solomon Turns from the LORD

1 KINGS 11 [†]Now [w] King Solomon loved many foreign women, along with the daughter of Pharaoh: Moabite, Ammonite, Edomite, Sidonian, and Hittite women, [2]from the nations concerning which the LORD had said to the people of Israel, [x] "You shall not enter into marriage with them, neither shall they with you, for surely they will turn away your heart after their gods." Solomon clung to these in love. [3]He had 700 wives, who were princesses, and 300 concubines. And his wives turned away his heart. [4]For when Solomon was old his wives turned away his heart after other gods, and [y]his heart was not wholly true to the LORD his God, [z]as was the heart of David his father. [5][†]For Solomon went after [a]Ashtoreth the goddess of the Sidonians, and after [b]Milcom the abomination of the Ammonites. [6]So Solomon did what was evil in the sight of the LORD and did not wholly follow the LORD, as David his father had done. [7][†]Then Solomon built a high place for [c]Chemosh the abomination of Moab, and for [d]Molech the abomination of the Ammonites, on the mountain east of Jerusalem. [8]And so he did for all his foreign wives, who made offerings and sacrificed to their gods.

The LORD Raises Adversaries

[9][†]And the LORD was angry with Solomon, because [e]his heart had turned away from the LORD, the God of Israel, [f]who had appeared to him twice [10]and [g]had commanded him concerning this thing, that he should not go after other gods. But he did not keep what the LORD commanded. [11]Therefore the LORD said to Solomon, "Since this has been your practice and you have not kept my covenant and my statutes that I have commanded you, [h]I will surely tear the kingdom from you and will give it to your servant. [12]Yet for the sake of David your father I will not do it in your days, but I will tear it out of the hand of your son. [13]However, [i]I will not tear away all the kingdom, but [j]I will give one tribe to your son, for the sake of David my servant and for the sake of Jerusalem [k]that I have chosen."

[14][†]And the LORD raised up an adversary against Solomon, Hadad the Edomite. He was of the royal house in Edom. [15]For [l]when David was in Edom, and Joab the commander of the army went up to bury the slain, he struck down every male in Edom [16](for Joab and all Israel remained there six months, until he had cut off every male in Edom). [17]But Hadad fled to Egypt, together with certain Edomites of his father's servants, Hadad still being a little child. [18]They set out from Midian and came to [m]Paran and took men with them from Paran and came to Egypt, to Pharaoh king of Egypt, who gave him a house and assigned him an allowance of food and gave him land. [19]And Hadad found great favor in the sight of Pharaoh, so that he gave him in marriage the sister of his own wife, the sister of Tahpenes the queen. [20]And the sister of Tahpenes bore him Genubath his son, whom Tahpenes weaned in Pharaoh’s house. And Genubath was in Pharaoh’s house among the sons of Pharaoh. [21]But when Hadad heard in Egypt [n]that David slept with his fathers and that Joab the commander of the army was dead, Hadad said to Pharaoh, “Let me depart, that I may go to my own country.” [22]But Pharaoh said to him, “What have you lacked with me that you are now seeking to go to your own country?” And he said to him, “Only let me depart.”

[23]God also raised up as an adversary to him, Rezon the son of Eliada, who had fled from his master [o]Hadadezer king of Zobah. [24]And he gathered men about him and became leader of a marauding band, [p]after the killing by David. And they went to Damascus and lived there and made him king in Damascus. [25]He was an adversary of Israel all the days of Solomon, doing harm as Hadad did. And he loathed Israel and reigned over Syria.

[26][†] [q]Jeroboam the son of Nebat, [r]an Ephraimite of Zeredah, a servant of Solomon, whose mother’s name was Zeruah, a widow, also [s]lifted up his hand against the king. [27]And this was the reason why he lifted up his hand against the king. [t]Solomon built the Millo, and closed up the breach of the city of David his father. [28]The man Jeroboam was very able, and when Solomon saw that the young man was industrious he gave him charge over all the forced labor of the house of Joseph. [29]And at that time, when Jeroboam went out of Jerusalem, the prophet [u]Ahijah the Shilonite found him on the road. Now Ahijah had dressed himself in a new garment, and the two of them were alone in the open country. [30]Then Ahijah laid hold of the new garment that was on him, [v]and tore it into twelve pieces. [31]And he said to Jeroboam, “Take for yourself ten pieces, for thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, ‘Behold, [w]I am about to tear the kingdom from the hand of Solomon and will give you ten tribes [32](but [x]he shall have one tribe, for the sake of my servant David and for the sake of Jerusalem, [y]the city that I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel), [33]because they have [1] forsaken me [z]and worshiped Ashtoreth the goddess of the Sidonians, Chemosh the god of Moab, and Milcom the god of the Ammonites, and they have not walked in my ways, doing what is right in my sight and keeping my statutes and my rules, as David his father did. [34][†]Nevertheless, I will not take the whole kingdom out of his hand, but I will make him ruler all the days of his life, for the sake of David my servant whom I chose, who kept my commandments and my statutes. [35][a]But I will take the kingdom out of his son's hand and will give it to you, ten tribes. [36]Yet to his son [x]I will give one tribe, that David my servant may always have [b]a lamp before me in Jerusalem, [y]the city where I have chosen to put my name. [37]And I will take you, and you shall reign over all that your soul desires, and you shall be king over Israel. [38]And if you will listen to all that I command you, and will walk in my ways, and do what is right in my eyes by keeping my statutes and my commandments, as David my servant did, [c]I will be with you and [d]will build you a sure house, as I built for David, and I will give Israel to you. [39]And I will afflict the offspring of David because of this, but not forever.'" [40]Solomon sought therefore to kill Jeroboam. But Jeroboam arose and fled into Egypt, to [e]Shishak king of Egypt, and was in Egypt until the death of Solomon.

[41][f]Now the rest of the acts of Solomon, and all that he did, and his wisdom, are they not written in the Book of the Acts of Solomon? [42]And the time that Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel was forty years. [43][†]And Solomon [g]slept with his fathers and was buried in the city of David his father. And [h]Rehoboam his son reigned in his place.

Rehoboam's Folly

1 KINGS 12 [†][i]Rehoboam went to [j]Shechem, for all Israel had come to Shechem to make him king. [2]And as soon as [k]Jeroboam the son of Nebat heard of it (for [l]he was still in Egypt, where he had fled from King Solomon), then Jeroboam returned from [1] Egypt. [3]And they sent and called him, and Jeroboam and all the assembly of Israel came and said to Rehoboam, [4][†][m]"Your father made our yoke heavy. Now therefore lighten the hard service of your father and his heavy yoke on us, and we will serve you." [5]He said to them, [n]"Go away for three days, then come again to me." So the people went away.

[12]So Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the king said, [o] “Come to me again the third day.” [13]And the king answered the people harshly, and forsaking the counsel that the old men had given him, [14][†]he spoke to them according to the counsel of the young men, saying, [m] “My father made your yoke heavy, but I will add to your yoke. My father disciplined you with whips, but I will discipline you with scorpions.” [15][†]So the king did not listen to the people, for [p] it was a turn of affairs brought about by the LORD that he might fulfill his word, which [q] the LORD spoke by Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam the son of Nebat.

The Kingdom Divided

[16][†]And when all Israel saw that the king did not listen to them, the people answered the king, “What portion do we have in David? We have no inheritance in the son of Jesse. [r] To your tents, O Israel! Look now to your own house, David.” So Israel went to their tents. [17]But Rehoboam reigned over [s] the people of Israel who lived in the cities of Judah. [18][†]Then King Rehoboam sent [t] Adoram, who was taskmaster over the forced labor, and all Israel stoned him to death with stones. And King Rehoboam hurried to mount his chariot to flee to Jerusalem. [19] [u] So Israel has been in rebellion against the house of David to this day. [20]And when all Israel heard that Jeroboam had returned, they sent and called him to the assembly and made him king over all Israel. There was none that followed the house of David but [v]the tribe of Judah only.

[21] [w]When Rehoboam came to Jerusalem, he assembled all the house of Judah and the tribe of Benjamin, 180,000 chosen warriors, to fight against the house of Israel, to restore the kingdom to Rehoboam the son of Solomon. [22]But the word of God came to [x]Shemaiah the man of God: [23]"Say to Rehoboam the son of Solomon, king of Judah, and to all the house of Judah and Benjamin, and to the [y]rest of the people, [24][†]'Thus says the LORD, You shall not go up or fight against your relatives the people of Israel. Every man return to his home, [z]for this thing is from me.'" So they listened to the word of the LORD and went home again, according to the word of the LORD.

Jeroboam's Golden Calves

[25][†]Then Jeroboam [a]built Shechem in the hill country of Ephraim and lived there. And he went out from there and [b]built Penuel. [26]And Jeroboam said in his heart, "Now the kingdom will turn back to the house of David. [27][†]If this people [c]go up to offer sacrifices in the temple of the LORD at Jerusalem, then the heart of this people will turn again to their lord, to Rehoboam king of Judah, and they will kill me and return to Rehoboam king of Judah." [28]So the king took counsel and [d]made two calves of gold. And he said to the people, "You have gone up to Jerusalem long enough. [e]Behold your gods, O Israel, who brought you up out of the land of Egypt." [29][†]And he set one in Bethel, and the other he put in Dan. [30]Then [f]this thing became a sin, for the people went as far as Dan to be before one. [2] [31]He also made [g]temples on high places and [h]appointed priests from among all the people, who were not of the Levites. [32]And Jeroboam appointed a feast on the fifteenth day of the eighth month like [i]the feast that was in Judah, and he offered sacrifices on the altar. So he did in Bethel, sacrificing to the calves that he made. And he placed in Bethel [j]the priests of the high places that he had made. [33]He went up to the altar that he had made in Bethel on the fifteenth day in the eighth month, in the month that he had devised from his own heart. And he instituted a feast for the people of Israel and went up to the altar [k] to make offerings.

A Man of God Confronts Jeroboam

1 KINGS 13 [†]And behold, [l] a man of God came out of Judah by the word of the LORD to Bethel. Jeroboam was standing by the altar [m] to make offerings. [2][†] [n] And the man cried against the altar by the word of the LORD and said, “O altar, altar, thus says the LORD: ‘Behold, a son shall be born to the house of David, [o] Josiah by name, and he shall sacrifice on you the priests of the high places who make offerings on you, and human bones shall be burned on you.’” [3][†]And he gave [p] a sign the same day, saying, “This is the sign that the LORD has spoken: ‘Behold, the altar shall be torn down, and the ashes that are on it shall be poured out.’” [4]And when the king heard the saying of the man of God, which he cried against the altar at Bethel, Jeroboam stretched out his hand from the altar, saying, “Seize him.” And his hand, which he stretched out against him, dried up, so that he could not draw it back to himself. [5]The altar also was torn down, and the ashes poured out from the altar, according to the sign that the man of God had given by the word of the LORD. [6]And the king said to the man of God, [q] “Entreat now the favor of the LORD your God, and pray for me, that my hand may be restored to me.” And the man of God entreated the LORD, and the king’s hand was restored to him and became as it was before. [7][†]And the king said to the man of God, “Come home with me, and refresh yourself, and [r] I will give you a reward.” [8]And the man of God said to the king, [s] “If you give me half your house, [t] I will not go in with you. And I will not eat bread or drink water in this place, [9]for so was it commanded me by the word of the LORD, saying, ‘You shall neither eat bread nor drink water nor return by the way that you came.’” [10]So he went another way and did not return by the way that he came to Bethel.

The Prophet’s Disobedience

[11]Now [u] an old prophet lived in Bethel. And his sons [1] came and told him all that the man of God had done that day in Bethel. They also told to their father the words that he had spoken to the king. [12]And their father said to them, “Which way did he go?” And his sons showed him the way that the man of God who came from Judah had gone. [13]And he said to his sons, “Saddle the donkey for me.” So they saddled the donkey for him and he mounted it. [14]And he went after the man of God and found him sitting under an oak. And he said to him, “Are you the man of God who came from Judah?” And he said, “I am.” [15]Then he said to him, “Come home with me and eat bread.” [16]And he said, [v]“I may not return with you, or go in with you, neither will I eat bread nor drink water with you in this place, [17]for it was said to me [w]by the word of the LORD, ‘You shall neither eat bread nor drink water there, nor return by the way that you came.’” [18]And he said to him, “I also am a prophet as you are, and an angel spoke to me by the word of the LORD, saying, ‘Bring him back with you into your house that he may eat bread and drink water.’” But he lied to him. [19]So he went back with him and ate bread in his house and drank water.

[20]And as they sat at the table, the word of the LORD came to the prophet who had brought him back. [21]And he cried to the man of God who came from Judah, “Thus says the LORD, ‘Because you have disobeyed the word of the LORD and have not kept the command that the LORD your God commanded you, [22]but have come back and have eaten bread and drunk water in the place of which he said to you, “Eat no bread and drink no water,” your body shall not come to the tomb of your fathers.’” [23]And after he had eaten bread and drunk, he saddled the donkey for the prophet whom he had brought back. [24]And as he went away [x]a lion met him on the road and killed him. And his body was thrown in the road, and the donkey stood beside it; the lion also stood beside the body. [25]And behold, men passed by and saw the body thrown in the road and the lion standing by the body. And they came and told it in the city where [y]the old prophet lived.

[26]And when the prophet who had brought him back from the way heard of it, he said, “It is the man of God who disobeyed the word of the LORD; therefore the LORD has given him to the lion, which has torn him and killed him, according to the word that the LORD spoke to him.” [27]And he said to his sons, “Saddle the donkey for me.” And they saddled it. [28]And he went and found his body thrown in the road, and the donkey and the lion standing beside the body. The lion had not eaten the body or torn the donkey. [29]And the prophet took up the body of the man of God and laid it on the donkey and brought it back to the city [2] to mourn and to bury him. 30 And he laid the body in his own grave. And they mourned over him, saying, [z] "Alas, my brother!" 31 And after he had buried him, he said to his sons, "When I die, bury me in the grave in which the man of God is buried; [a] lay my bones beside his bones. 32 [b] For the saying that he called out by the word of the LORD against the altar in Bethel and against [c] all the houses of the high places that are in the cities of [d] Samaria shall surely come to pass."

33 After this thing Jeroboam did not turn from his evil way, but made priests for the high places again from among all the people. Any who would, he ordained to be priests of the high places. 34 [e] And this thing became sin to the house of Jeroboam, [f] so as to cut it off and to destroy it from the face of the earth.

Prophecy Against Jeroboam

1 KINGS 14 [†]At that time Abijah the son of Jeroboam fell sick. 2 [†]And Jeroboam said to his wife, "Arise, and disguise yourself, that it not be known that you are the wife of Jeroboam, and go to [g] Shiloh. Behold, Ahijah the prophet is there, [h] who said of me that I should be king over this people. 3 [i] Take with you ten loaves, some cakes, and a jar of honey, and go to him. He will tell you what shall happen to the child."

4 Jeroboam's wife did so. She arose and went to [g] Shiloh and came to the house of [j] Ahijah. Now [j] Ahijah could not see, for his eyes were dim because of his age. 5 And the LORD said to [j] Ahijah, "Behold, the wife of Jeroboam is coming to inquire of you concerning her son, for he is sick. Thus and thus shall you say to her."

When she came, she pretended to be another woman. 6 But when [j] Ahijah heard the sound of her feet, as she came in at the door, he said, "Come in, wife of Jeroboam. Why do you pretend to be another? For I am charged with unbearable news for you. 7 Go, tell Jeroboam, 'Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: [k] "Because I exalted you from among the people and made you leader over my people Israel 8 and [l] tore the kingdom away from the house of David and gave it to you, and yet you have not been [m] like my servant David, who kept my commandments and followed me with all his heart, doing only that which was right in my eyes, 9 but you have done evil above all who were before you and have gone and [n]made for yourself other gods and [o]metal images, provoking me to anger, and [p]have cast me behind your back, [10][†]therefore behold, I will bring harm upon the house of Jeroboam and [q]will cut off from Jeroboam every male, [r]both bond and free in Israel, and [s]will burn up the house of Jeroboam, as a man burns up dung until it is all gone. [11][†] [t]Anyone belonging to Jeroboam who dies in the city the dogs shall eat, and anyone who dies in the open country the birds of the heavens shall eat, for the LORD has spoken it.'" [12]Arise therefore, go to your house. [u]When your feet enter the city, the child shall die. [13]And all Israel shall mourn for him and bury him, for he only of Jeroboam shall come to the grave, because in him [v]there is found something pleasing to the LORD, the God of Israel, in the house of Jeroboam. [14] [w]Moreover, the LORD will raise up for himself a king over Israel who shall cut off the house of Jeroboam today. And henceforth, [15][†]the LORD will strike Israel as a reed is shaken in the water, and [x]root up Israel out of [y]this good land that he gave to their fathers and scatter them [z]beyond the Euphrates, [1] because they have made their [a]Asherim, provoking the LORD to anger. [16]And he will give Israel up because of the sins of Jeroboam, which he sinned and made Israel to sin."

[17][†]Then Jeroboam's wife arose and departed and came to [b]Tirzah. And [c]as she came to the threshold of the house, the child died. [18]And all Israel buried him and mourned for him, [d]according to the word of the LORD, which he spoke by his servant Ahijah the prophet.

The Death of Jeroboam

[19][†]Now the rest of the acts of Jeroboam, [e]how he warred and how he reigned, behold, they are written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. [20]And the time that Jeroboam reigned was twenty-two years. And he slept with his fathers, and Nadab his son reigned in his place.

Rehoboam Reigns in Judah

[21][†] [f]Now Rehoboam the son of Solomon reigned in Judah. Rehoboam was forty-one years old when he began to reign, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, [g]the city that the LORD had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, to put his name there. [h]His mother’s name was Naamah the Ammonite. [22][†] [i]And Judah did what was evil in the sight of the LORD, and they [j]provoked him to jealousy with their sins that they committed, more than all that their fathers had done. [23][†]For they also built for themselves [k]high places [l]and pillars and [m]Asherim on every high hill and [n]under every green tree, [24][†]and there were also [o]male cult prostitutes in the land. They did according to all the abominations of the nations that the LORD drove out before the people of Israel.

[25][†] [p]In the fifth year of King Rehoboam, Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem. [26]He took away the treasures of the house of the LORD and the treasures of the king’s house. [q]He took away everything. He also took away all the shields of gold [r]that Solomon had made, [27]and King Rehoboam made in their place shields of bronze, and committed them to the hands of the officers of the guard, who kept the door of the king’s house. [28]And as often as the king went into the house of the LORD, the guard carried them and brought them back to the guardroom.

[29] [s]Now the rest of the acts of Rehoboam and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? [30] [t]And there was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam continually. [31]And Rehoboam slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of David. [u]His mother’s name was Naamah the Ammonite. And [v]Abijam his son reigned in his place.

Abijam Reigns in Judah

1 KINGS 15 [†] [w]Now in the eighteenth year of King Jeroboam the son of Nebat, Abijam began to reign over Judah. [2][†]He reigned for three years in Jerusalem. His mother’s name was Maacah the daughter of Abishalom. [3]And he walked in all the sins that his father did before him, and [x]his heart was not wholly true to the LORD his God, as the heart of David his father. [4][†]Nevertheless, for David’s sake the LORD his God gave him [y]a lamp in Jerusalem, setting up his son after him, and establishing Jerusalem, [5]because [z]David did what was right in the eyes of the LORD and did not turn aside from anything that he commanded him all the days of his life, [a]except in the matter of Uriah the Hittite. [6][†] [b]Now there was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam all the days of his life. [7] [c]The rest of the acts of Abijam and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? [d]And there was war between Abijam and Jeroboam. [8] [e]And Abijam slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David. And Asa his son reigned in his place.

Asa Reigns in Judah

[9]In the twentieth year of Jeroboam king of Israel, Asa began to reign over Judah, [10][†]and he reigned forty-one years in Jerusalem. His mother’s name was Maacah the daughter of Abishalom. [11] [f]And Asa did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, as David his father had done. [12][†]He put away the [g]male cult prostitutes out of the land and removed [h]all the idols that his fathers had made. [13][†] [i]He also removed Maacah his mother from being queen mother because she had made an abominable image for Asherah. And Asa cut down her image and [j]burned it at the brook Kidron. [14][†] [k]But the high places were not taken away. Nevertheless, [l]the heart of Asa was wholly true to the LORD all his days. [15]And [m]he brought into the house of the LORD the sacred gifts of his father and his own sacred gifts, silver, and gold, and vessels.

[16] [n]And there was war between Asa and Baasha king of Israel all their days. [17][†] [o]Baasha king of Israel went up against Judah and [p]built Ramah, [q] that he might permit no one to go out or come in to Asa king of Judah. 18[†]Then Asa took all the silver and the gold [r] that were left in the treasures of the house of the LORD and the treasures of the king's house and gave them into the hands of his servants. [s] And King Asa sent them to Ben-hadad the son of Tabrimmon, the son of Hezion, king of Syria, [t] who lived in Damascus, saying, 19"Let there be [u] a covenant [1] between me and you, as there was between my father and your father. Behold, I am sending to you a present of silver and gold. Go, break your covenant with Baasha king of Israel, that he may withdraw from me." 20And Ben-hadad listened to King Asa and sent the commanders of his armies against the cities of Israel and conquered [v] Ijon, [w] Dan, [x] Abel-beth-maacah, and all [y] Chinneroth, with all the land of Naphtali. 21And when Baasha heard of it, [z] he stopped building Ramah, and he lived in [a] Tirzah. 22Then King Asa made a proclamation to all Judah, none was exempt, and they carried away the stones of Ramah and its timber, with which Baasha had been building, and with them King Asa built [b] Geba of Benjamin and [c] Mizpah. 23 [d] Now the rest of all the acts of Asa, all his might, and all that he did, and the cities that he built, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? But in his old age he was diseased in his feet. 24And Asa slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father, and [e] Jehoshaphat his son reigned in his place.

Nadab Reigns in Israel

25[†] [f] Nadab the son of Jeroboam began to reign over Israel in the second year of Asa king of Judah, and he reigned over Israel two years. 26He did what was evil in the sight of the LORD [g] and walked in the way of his father, and in his sin [h] which he made Israel to sin.

27 [i] Baasha the son of Ahijah, of the house of Issachar, conspired against him. And Baasha struck him down at [j] Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistines, for Nadab and all Israel were laying siege to Gibbethon. 28So Baasha killed him in the third year of Asa king of Judah and reigned in his place. 29[†]And as soon as he was king, he killed all the house of Jeroboam. He left to the house of Jeroboam not one that breathed, until he had destroyed it, [k] according to the word of the LORD that he spoke by his servant Ahijah the Shilonite. [30]It was for the sins of Jeroboam that he sinned and [h] that he made Israel to sin, and because of the anger to which he provoked the LORD, the God of Israel.

[31]Now the rest of the acts of Nadab and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? [32] [l] And there was war between Asa and Baasha king of Israel all their days.

Baasha Reigns in Israel

[33]In the third year of Asa king of Judah, Baasha the son of Ahijah began to reign over all Israel at Tirzah, and he reigned twenty-four years. [34]He did what was evil in the sight of the LORD [m] and walked in the way of Jeroboam and in his sin which he made Israel to sin.

1 KINGS 16 [†]And the word of the LORD came to [n] Jehu the son of [o] Hanani against Baasha, saying, [2]"Since I [p] exalted you out of the dust and made you leader over my people Israel, and [q] you have walked in the way of Jeroboam and have made my people Israel to sin, provoking me to anger with their sins, [3]behold, I will utterly [r] sweep away [s] Baasha and his house, and I will make your house [t] like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat. [4] [u] Anyone belonging to Baasha who dies in the city the dogs shall eat, and anyone of his who dies in the field the birds of the heavens shall eat."

[5]Now the rest of the acts of Baasha and what he did, and his might, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? [6]And Baasha slept with his fathers and was buried at [v] Tirzah, and Elah his son reigned in his place. [7]Moreover, the word of the LORD came by the prophet [n] Jehu the son of Hanani against Baasha and his house, both because of all the evil that he did in the sight of the LORD, provoking him to anger with the work of his hands, in being like the house of Jeroboam, and also because [w] he destroyed it.

Elah Reigns in Israel

[8]In the twenty-sixth year of Asa king of Judah, Elah the son of Baasha began to reign over Israel in Tirzah, and he reigned two years. [9]But his servant [x] Zimri, commander of half his chariots, conspired against him.

When he was at Tirzah, drinking himself drunk in the house of Arza, [y] who was over the household in Tirzah, [10]Zimri came in and struck him down and killed him, in the twenty-seventh year of Asa king of Judah, and reigned in his place.

[11][†]When he began to reign, as soon as he had seated himself on his throne, he struck down [z] all the house of Baasha. He [a] did not leave him a single male of his relatives or his friends. [12]Thus Zimri destroyed all the house of Baasha, [b] according to the word of the LORD, which he spoke against Baasha by [n] Jehu the prophet, [13]for all the sins of Baasha and the sins of Elah his son, which they sinned and which they made Israel to sin, [c] provoking the LORD God of Israel to anger with their idols. [14][†]Now the rest of the acts of Elah and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

Zimri Reigns in Israel

[15]In the twenty-seventh year of Asa king of Judah, Zimri reigned seven days in Tirzah. Now the troops were encamped against [d] Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistines, [16]and the troops who were encamped heard it said, “Zimri has conspired, and he has killed the king.” Therefore all Israel made Omri, the commander of the army, king over Israel that day in the camp. [17]So Omri went up from Gibbethon, and all Israel with him, and they besieged Tirzah. [18]And when Zimri saw that the city was taken, he went into the citadel of the king’s house and burned the king’s house over him with fire and died, [19]because of his sins that he committed, doing evil in the sight of the LORD, [e] walking in the way of Jeroboam, and for his sin which he committed, making Israel to sin. [20]Now the rest of the acts of Zimri, and the conspiracy that he made, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

Omri Reigns in Israel

[21][†]Then the people of Israel were divided into two parts. Half of the people followed Tibni the son of Ginath, to make him king, and half followed Omri. [22]But the people who followed Omri overcame the people who followed Tibni the son of Ginath. So Tibni died, and Omri became king. [23]In the thirty-first year of Asa king of Judah, Omri began to reign over Israel, and he reigned for twelve years; six years he reigned in Tirzah. [24][†]He bought the hill of [f] Samaria from Shemer for two talents [1] of silver, and he fortified the hill and called the name of the city that he built [g] Samaria, after the name of Shemer, the owner of the hill.

[25] [h] Omri did what was evil in the sight of the LORD, and did more evil [i] than all who were before him. [26]For [e] he walked in all the way of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and in the sins that he made Israel to sin, [j] provoking the LORD, the God of Israel, to anger by their idols. [27]Now the rest of the acts of Omri that he did, and the might that he showed, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? [28]And Omri slept with his fathers and was buried in Samaria, and Ahab his son reigned in his place.

Ahab Reigns in Israel

[29]In the thirty-eighth year of Asa king of Judah, Ahab the son of Omri began to reign over Israel, and Ahab the son of Omri reigned over Israel in Samaria twenty-two years. [30]And Ahab the son of Omri did evil in the sight of the LORD, [k] more than all who were before him. [31][†]And as if it had been a light thing for him to walk in the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, [l] he took for his wife Jezebel the daughter of Ethbaal king of the [m] Sidonians, [n] and went and served Baal and worshiped him. [32]He erected an altar for Baal in [o] the house of Baal, which he built in Samaria. [33]And Ahab made an [p] Asherah. Ahab did more to provoke the LORD, the God of Israel, to anger [k] than all the kings of Israel who were before him. [34][†] [q] In his days Hiel of Bethel built [r] Jericho. He laid its foundation at the cost of Abiram his firstborn, and set up its gates at the cost of his youngest son Segub, according to the word of the LORD, which he spoke by Joshua the son of Nun.

Elijah Predicts a Drought

1 KINGS 17 [†]Now Elijah the Tishbite, of [s] Tishbe [1] in Gilead, said to Ahab, [t] “As the LORD, the God of Israel, lives, [u] before whom I stand, [v] there shall be neither dew nor rain these years, except by my word.” [2]And the word of the LORD came to him: [3]"Depart from here and turn eastward and hide yourself by the brook Cherith, which is east of the Jordan. [4]You shall drink from the brook, and I have commanded the ravens to feed you there." [5][†]So he went and did according to the word of the LORD. He went and lived by the brook Cherith that is east of the Jordan. [6]And the ravens brought him bread and meat in the morning, and bread and meat in the evening, and he drank from the brook. [7]And after a while the brook dried up, because there was no rain in the land.

The Widow of Zarephath

[8]Then the word of the LORD came to him, [9][†]"Arise, go to [w] Zarephath, which belongs to Sidon, and dwell there. Behold, I have commanded a widow there to feed you." [10]So he arose and went to [w] Zarephath. And when he came to the gate of the city, behold, a widow was there [x] gathering sticks. And he called to her and said, "Bring me a little water in a vessel, that I may drink." [11]And as she was going to bring it, he called to her and said, "Bring me a morsel of bread in your hand." [12]And she said, [t] "As the LORD your God lives, I have nothing baked, only a handful of flour in a jar and a little oil in a jug. And now I am gathering a couple of sticks that I may go in and prepare it for myself and my son, that we may eat it and die." [13][†]And Elijah said to her, "Do not fear; go and do as you have said. But first make me a little cake of it and bring it to me, and afterward make something for yourself and your son. [14]For thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, 'The jar of flour shall not be spent, and the jug of oil shall not be empty, until the day that the LORD sends rain upon the earth.'" [15]And she went and did as Elijah said. And she and he and her household ate for many days. [16]The jar of flour was not spent, neither did the jug of oil become empty, according to the word of the LORD that he spoke by Elijah.

Elijah Raises the Widow's Son

[17]After this the son of the woman, the mistress of the house, became ill. And his illness was so severe that there was no breath left in him. [18][†]And she said to Elijah, [y] "What have you against me, O [z] man of God? You have come to me to bring my sin to remembrance and to cause the death of my son!” [19]And he said to her, “Give me your son.” And he took him from her arms and carried him up into the upper chamber where he lodged, and laid him on his own bed. [20]And he cried to the LORD, “O LORD my God, have you brought calamity even upon the widow with whom I sojourn, by killing her son?” [21][†] [a] Then he stretched himself upon the child three times and cried to the LORD, “O LORD my God, let this child’s life [2] come into him again.” [22]And the LORD listened to the voice of Elijah. And the life of the child came into him again, and [b] he revived. [23]And Elijah took the child and brought him down from the upper chamber into the house and delivered him to his mother. And Elijah said, “See, your son lives.” [24]And the woman said to Elijah, [c] “Now I know that you are a man of God, and that the word of the LORD in your mouth is truth.”

Elijah Confronts Ahab

1 KINGS 18 [†] [d] After many days the word of the LORD came to Elijah, in the third year, saying, “Go, show yourself to Ahab, and I will send rain upon the earth.” [2]So Elijah went to show himself to Ahab. Now the famine was severe in Samaria. [3]And Ahab called Obadiah, who was [e] over the household. (Now Obadiah feared the LORD greatly, [4]and [f] when Jezebel cut off the prophets of the LORD, Obadiah took a hundred prophets and hid them by fifties in a cave and fed them with bread and water.) [5]And Ahab said to Obadiah, “Go through the land to all the springs of water and to all the valleys. Perhaps we may find grass and save the horses and mules alive, and not lose some of the animals.” [6]So they divided the land between them to pass through it. Ahab went in one direction by himself, and Obadiah went in another direction by himself.

[7]And as Obadiah was on the way, behold, Elijah met him. And Obadiah recognized him and fell on his face and said, “Is it you, my lord Elijah?” [8]And he answered him, “It is I. Go, tell your lord, ‘Behold, Elijah is here.’” [9]And he said, “How have I sinned, that you would give your servant into the hand of Ahab, to kill me? [10] [g] As the LORD your God lives, there is no nation or kingdom where my lord has not sent to seek you. And when they would say, ‘He is not here,’ he would take an oath of the kingdom or nation, that they had not found you. [11]And now you say, ‘Go, tell your lord, “Behold, Elijah is here.”’ [12]And as soon as I have gone from you, [h]the Spirit of the LORD will carry you I know not where. And so, when I come and tell Ahab and he cannot find you, he will kill me, although I your servant have feared the LORD from my youth. [13]Has it not been told my lord what I did [i]when Jezebel killed the prophets of the LORD, how I hid a hundred men of the LORD’s prophets by fifties in a cave and fed them with bread and water? [14]And now you say, ‘Go, tell your lord, “Behold, Elijah is here”’; and he will kill me.” [15]And Elijah said, [g]“As the LORD of hosts lives, before whom I stand, I will surely show myself to him today.” [16]So Obadiah went to meet Ahab, and told him. And Ahab went to meet Elijah.

[17][†]When Ahab saw Elijah, Ahab said to him, [j]“Is it you, you [k]troubler of Israel?” [18]And he answered, “I have not troubled Israel, but you have, and your father’s house, because you have [l]abandoned the commandments of the LORD and [m]followed the Baals. [19]Now therefore send and gather all Israel to me at Mount [n]Carmel, and the [o]450 prophets of Baal and [p]the 400 prophets of Asherah, [q]who eat at Jezebel’s table.”

The Prophets of Baal Defeated

[20][†]So Ahab sent to all the people of Israel and gathered the prophets together at Mount Carmel. [21][†]And Elijah came near to all the people and said, “How long [r]will you go limping between two different opinions? [s]If the LORD is God, follow him; but if Baal, then follow him.” And the people did not answer him a word. [22][†]Then Elijah said to the people, [t]“I, even I only, am left a prophet of the LORD, but Baal’s prophets are [u]450 men. [23]Let two bulls be given to us, and let them choose one bull for themselves and cut it in pieces and lay it on the wood, but put no fire to it. And I will prepare the other bull and lay it on the wood and put no fire to it. [24][†]And you call upon the name of your god, and I will call upon the name of the LORD, and the God who [v]answers by fire, he is God.” And all the people answered, “It is well spoken.” [25]Then Elijah said to the prophets of Baal, “Choose for yourselves one bull and prepare it first, for you are many, and call upon the name of your god, but put no fire to it.” [26]And they took the bull that was given them, and they prepared it and called upon the name of Baal from morning until noon, saying, “O Baal, answer us!” But there was no voice, and no one answered. And they limped around the altar that they had made. [27][†]And at noon Elijah mocked them, saying, “Cry aloud, for he is a god. Either he is musing, or he is relieving himself, or he is on a journey, or perhaps he is asleep and must be awakened.” [28][†]And they cried aloud and [w]cut themselves after their custom with swords and lances, until the blood gushed out upon them. [29]And as midday passed, they raved on until the time of [x]the offering of the oblation, but there was no voice. No one answered; no one paid attention.

[30][†]Then Elijah said to all the people, “Come near to me.” And all the people came near to him. And he repaired the altar of the LORD that had been [y]thrown down. [31]Elijah took twelve stones, according to the number of the tribes of the sons of Jacob, to whom the word of the LORD came, saying, [z]“Israel shall be your name,” [32]and with the stones he built an altar in the name of the LORD. And he made a trench about the altar, as great as would contain two seahs [1] of seed. [33][a]And he put the wood in order and cut the bull in pieces and laid it on the wood. And he said, “Fill four jars with water and [b]pour it on the burnt offering and on the wood.” [34]And he said, “Do it a second time.” And they did it a second time. And he said, “Do it a third time.” And they did it a third time. [35][†]And the water ran around the altar and filled the trench also with water.

[36][†]And at the time of [c]the offering of the oblation, Elijah the prophet came near and said, “O LORD, [d]God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, let it be known this day that [e]you are God in Israel, and that I am your servant, and that [f]I have done all these things at your word. [37]Answer me, O LORD, answer me, that this people may know that you, O LORD, are God, and that you have turned their hearts back.” [38][†][g]Then the fire of the LORD fell and consumed the burnt offering and the wood and the stones and the dust, and licked up the water that was in the trench. [39]And when all the people saw it, they fell on their faces and said, [h]“The LORD, he is God; the LORD, he is God.” [40]And Elijah said to them, “Seize the prophets of Baal; let not one of them escape.” And they seized them. And Elijah brought them down to [i]the brook Kishon and [j]slaughtered them there.

The Lord Sends Rain

[41]And Elijah said to Ahab, “Go up, eat and drink, for there is a sound of the rushing of rain.” [42][†]So Ahab went up to eat and to drink. And Elijah went up to the top of Mount Carmel. [k]And he bowed himself down on the earth and put his face between his knees. [43]And he said to his servant, “Go up now, look toward the sea.” And he went up and looked and said, “There is nothing.” And he said, “Go again,” seven times. [44]And at the seventh time he said, “Behold, [l]a little cloud like a man’s hand is rising from the sea.” And he said, “Go up, say to Ahab, ‘Prepare your chariot and go down, lest the rain stop you.’” [45][†]And in a little while the heavens grew black with clouds and wind, and there was a great rain. And Ahab rode and went to [m]Jezreel. [46][n]And the hand of the Lord was on Elijah, [o]and he gathered up his garment and ran before Ahab to the entrance of [p]Jezreel.

Elijah Flees Jezebel

1 KINGS 19 [†]Ahab told Jezebel all that Elijah had done, and how [q]he had killed all the prophets with the sword. [2]Then Jezebel sent a messenger to Elijah, saying, [r]“So may the gods do to me and more also, if I do not make your life as the life of one of them by this time tomorrow.” [3][†]Then he was afraid, and he arose and ran for his life and came to [s]Beersheba, which belongs to Judah, and left his servant there.

[4]But he himself went a day’s journey into the wilderness and came and sat down under a broom tree. [t]And he asked that he might die, saying, “It is enough; now, O Lord, take away my life, for I am no better than my fathers.” [5][†]And he lay down and slept under a broom tree. And behold, an angel touched him and said to him, “Arise and eat.” [6]And he looked, and behold, there was at his head a cake baked on hot stones and a jar of water. And he ate and drank and lay down again. [7][†]And the angel of the Lord came again a second time and touched him and said, “Arise and eat, for the journey is too great for you.” [8][†]And he arose and ate and drank, and went in the strength of that food [u]forty days and forty nights to [v]Horeb, the mount of God.

The LORD Speaks to Elijah

[9]There he came to a cave and lodged in it. And behold, [w]the word of the LORD came to him, and he said to him, “What are you doing here, Elijah?” [10][†]He said, “I have been very [x]jealous for the LORD, the God of hosts. For the people of Israel have forsaken your covenant, [y]thrown down your altars, and [z]killed your prophets with the sword, [a]and I, even I only, am left, and they seek my life, to take it away.” [11][†]And he said, “Go out and [b]stand on the mount before the LORD.” And behold, the LORD passed by, and [c]a great and strong wind tore the mountains and broke in pieces the rocks before the LORD, but the LORD was not in the wind. And after the wind [d]an earthquake, but the LORD was not in the earthquake. [12]And after the earthquake a fire, but the LORD was not in the fire. And after the fire the sound of a low whisper. [1] [13][†]And when Elijah heard it, [e]he wrapped his face in his cloak and went out and stood at the entrance of the cave. And behold, [f]there came a voice to him and said, “What are you doing here, Elijah?” [14]He said, [x]“I have been very jealous for the LORD, the God of hosts. For the people of Israel have forsaken your covenant, [y]thrown down your altars, and killed your prophets with the sword, and I, even I only, am left, and they seek my life, to take it away.” [15][†]And the LORD said to him, “Go, return on your way to the wilderness of Damascus. And when you arrive, you shall anoint Hazael to be king over Syria. [16][g]And Jehu the son of Nimshi you shall anoint to be king over Israel, and [h]Elisha the son of Shaphat of Abel-meholah you shall anoint to be prophet in your place. [17]And the one who escapes from [i]the sword of Hazael [j]shall Jehu put to death, and the one who escapes from the sword of Jehu [k]shall Elisha put to death. [18][l]Yet I will leave seven thousand in Israel, all the knees that have not bowed to Baal, and every mouth that has not [m]kissed him.”

The Call of Elisha

[19][†]So he departed from there and found Elisha the son of Shaphat, who was plowing with twelve yoke of oxen in front of him, and he was with the twelfth. Elijah passed by him and cast [n]his cloak upon him. [20][†]And he left the oxen and ran after Elijah and said, [o]“Let me kiss my father and my mother, and then I will follow you.” And he said to him, “Go back again, for what have I done to you?” [21]And he returned from following him and took the yoke of oxen and sacrificed them and boiled their flesh [p]with the yokes of the oxen and gave it to the people, and they ate. Then he arose and went after Elijah and assisted him.

Ahab’s Wars with Syria

1 KINGS 20 [†] [q]Ben-hadad the king of Syria gathered all his army together. [r]Thirty-two kings were with him, and horses and chariots. And he went up and closed in on [s]Samaria and fought against it. [2][†]And he sent messengers into the city to Ahab king of Israel and said to him, “Thus says Ben-hadad: [3]‘Your silver and your gold are mine; your best wives and children also are mine.’” [4]And the king of Israel answered, “As you say, my lord, O king, I am yours, and all that I have.” [5]The messengers came again and said, “Thus says Ben-hadad: ‘I sent to you, saying, “Deliver to me your silver and your gold, your wives and your children.” [6]Nevertheless I will send my servants to you tomorrow about this time, and they shall search your house and the houses of your servants and lay hands on whatever pleases you and take it away.’”

[7]Then the king of Israel called all the [t]elders of the land and said, [u]“Mark, now, and see how this man is seeking trouble, for he sent to me for my wives and my children, and for my silver and my gold, and I did not refuse him.” [8]And all the elders and all the people said to him, “Do not listen or consent.” [9]So he said to the messengers of Ben-hadad, “Tell my lord the king, ‘All that you first demanded of your servant I will do, but this thing I cannot do.’” And the messengers departed and brought him word again. [10]Ben-hadad sent to him and said, [v]“The gods do so to me and more also, if the dust of Samaria shall suffice for handfuls for all the people [w]who follow me.” [11][†]And the king of Israel answered, “Tell him, ‘Let not him who straps on his armor boast himself as he who takes it off.’” [12]When Ben-hadad heard this message as [x]he was drinking with the kings in the booths, he said to his men, “Take your positions.” And they took their positions against the city.

Ahab Defeats Ben-hadad

13And behold, a prophet came near to Ahab king of Israel and said, “Thus says the LORD, Have you seen all this great multitude? Behold, [y] I will give it into your hand this day, [z] and you shall know that I am the LORD.” 14[†]And Ahab said, “By whom?” He said, “Thus says the LORD, By the servants of the governors of the districts.” Then he said, “Who shall begin the battle?” He answered, “You.” 15Then he mustered the servants of the governors of the districts, and they were 232. And after them he mustered all the people of Israel, seven thousand.

16And they went out at noon, while Ben-hadad [x] was drinking himself drunk in the booths, he and the thirty-two kings who helped him. 17The servants of the governors of the districts went out first. And Ben-hadad sent out scouts, and they reported to him, “Men are coming out from Samaria.” 18He said, “If they have come out for peace, take them alive. Or if they have come out for war, take them alive.”

19So these went out of the city, the servants of the governors of the districts and the army that followed them. 20And each struck down his man. The Syrians fled, and Israel pursued them, but Ben-hadad king of Syria escaped on a horse with horsemen. 21And the king of Israel went out and struck the horses and chariots, and struck the Syrians with a great blow.

22[†]Then [a] the prophet came near to the king of Israel and said to him, “Come, strengthen yourself, and consider well what you have to do, for [b] in the spring the king of Syria will come up against you.”

23And the servants of the king of Syria said to him, “Their gods are gods of the hills, and so they were stronger than we. But let us fight against them in the plain, and surely we shall be stronger than they. 24And do this: remove the kings, each from his post, and put commanders in their places, 25and muster an army like the army that you have lost, horse for horse, and chariot for chariot. Then we will fight against them in the plain, and surely we shall be stronger than they.” And he listened to their voice and did so.

Ahab Defeats Ben-hadad Again

26[†] [b] In the spring, Ben-hadad mustered the Syrians and went up to [c] Aphek to fight against Israel. 27And the people of Israel were mustered and were provisioned and went against them. The people of Israel encamped before them like two little flocks of goats, but the Syrians filled the country. [28][†]And a [d]man of God came near and said to the king of Israel, “Thus says the LORD, ‘Because the Syrians have said, [e]“The LORD is a god of the hills but he is not a god of the valleys,” therefore [f]I will give all this great multitude into your hand, and you shall know that I am the LORD.’” [29]And they encamped opposite one another seven days. Then on the seventh day the battle was joined. And the people of Israel struck down of the Syrians 100,000 foot soldiers in one day. [30]And the rest fled into the city of [c]Aphek, and the wall fell upon 27,000 men who were left.

Ben-hadad also fled and entered [g]an inner chamber in the city. [31][†]And his servants said to him, “Behold now, we have heard that the kings of the house of Israel are merciful kings. Let us [h]put sackcloth around our waists and ropes on our heads and go out to the king of Israel. Perhaps he will spare your life.” [32]So they [h]tied sackcloth around their waists and put ropes on their heads and went to the king of Israel and said, “Your servant Ben-hadad says, ‘Please, let me live.’” And he said, “Does he still live? He is my brother.” [33]Now the men were watching for a sign, and they quickly took it up from him and said, “Yes, your brother Ben-hadad.” Then he said, “Go and bring him.” Then Ben-hadad came out to him, and he caused him to come up into the chariot. [34][†]And Ben-hadad said to him, [i]“The cities that my father took from your father I will restore, and you may establish bazaars for yourself in [j]Damascus, as my father did in Samaria.” And Ahab said, “I will let you go on these terms.” So he made a covenant with him and let him go.

A Prophet Condemns Ben-hadad’s Release

[35][†]And a certain man of [k]the sons of the prophets said to his fellow [l]at the command of the LORD, “Strike me, please.” But the man refused to strike him. [36][†]Then he said to him, “Because you have not obeyed the voice of the LORD, behold, as soon as you have gone from me, a lion shall strike you down.” And as soon as he had departed from him, [m]a lion met him and struck him down. [37]Then he found another man and said, “Strike me, please.” And the man struck him—struck him and wounded him. [38]So the prophet departed and waited for the king by the way, [n] disguising himself with a bandage over his eyes. [39][†]And as the king passed, he cried to the king and said, “Your servant went out into the midst of the battle, and behold, a soldier turned and brought a man to me and said, ‘Guard this man; if by any means he is missing, [o] your life shall be for his life, or else you shall pay a talent [1] of silver.’ [40]And as your servant was busy here and there, he was gone.” The king of Israel said to him, “So shall your judgment be; you yourself have decided it.” [41]Then he hurried to take the bandage away from his eyes, and the king of Israel recognized him as one of the prophets. [42]And he said to him, “Thus says the LORD, ‘Because you have let go out of your hand the man whom I had devoted to destruction, [2] therefore [o] your life shall be for his life, and your people for his people.’” [43]And the king of Israel [p] went to his house vexed and sullen and came to Samaria.

Naboth’s Vineyard

1 KINGS 21 [†]Now Naboth the Jezreelite had a vineyard in [q] Jezreel, beside the palace of Ahab king of Samaria. [2]And after this Ahab said to Naboth, [r] “Give me your vineyard, that I may have it for a vegetable garden, because it is near my house, and I will give you a better vineyard for it; or, if it seems good to you, I will give you its value in money.” [3][†]But Naboth said to Ahab, “The LORD forbid [s] that I should give you the inheritance of my fathers.” [4]And Ahab [t] went into his house vexed and sullen because of what Naboth the Jezreelite had said to him, for he had said, “I will not give you the inheritance of my fathers.” And he lay down on his bed and turned away his face and would eat no food.

[5]But Jezebel his wife came to him and said to him, “Why is your spirit so vexed that you eat no food?” [6]And he said to her, “Because I spoke to Naboth the Jezreelite and said to him, ‘Give me your vineyard for money, or else, if it please you, I will give you another vineyard for it.’ And he answered, ‘I will not give you my vineyard.’” [7][†]And Jezebel his wife said to him, “Do you now govern Israel? Arise and eat bread and let your heart be cheerful; I will give you the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite.”

[8][†] [u]So she wrote letters in Ahab's name and sealed them with his seal, and she sent the letters to [v]the elders and the leaders who lived with Naboth in his city. [9]And she wrote in the letters, "Proclaim a fast, and set Naboth at the head of the people. [10]And set two [w]worthless men opposite him, and let them bring a charge against him, saying, [x]'You have cursed [1] God and the king.' Then take him out and stone him to death." [11]And the men of his city, [v]the elders and the leaders who lived in his city, did as Jezebel had sent word to them. As it was written in the letters that she had sent to them, [12] [y]they proclaimed a fast and set Naboth at the head of the people. [13]And the two worthless men came in and sat opposite him. And the worthless men brought a charge against Naboth in the presence of the people, saying, "Naboth cursed God and the king." So they took him outside the city and stoned him to death with stones. [14]Then they sent to Jezebel, saying, "Naboth has been stoned; he is dead."

[15][†]As soon as Jezebel heard that Naboth had been stoned and was dead, Jezebel said to Ahab, "Arise, take possession of the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, which he refused to give you for money, for Naboth is not alive, but dead." [16]And as soon as Ahab heard that Naboth was dead, Ahab arose to go down to the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, to take possession of it.

The LORD Condemns Ahab

[17] [z]Then the word of the LORD came to Elijah the Tishbite, saying, [18]"Arise, go down to meet Ahab king of Israel, who is in [a]Samaria; behold, he is in the vineyard of Naboth, where he has gone to take possession. [19][†]And you shall say to him, 'Thus says the LORD, "Have you killed and also taken possession?"' And you shall say to him, 'Thus says the LORD: [b]"In the place where dogs licked up the blood of Naboth shall dogs lick your own blood."'"

[20]Ahab said to Elijah, [c]"Have you found me, O my enemy?" He answered, "I have found you, because [d]you have sold yourself to do what is evil in the sight of the LORD. [21]Behold, I will bring disaster upon you. I will utterly burn you up, and [e]will cut off from Ahab every male, bond or free, in Israel. [22]And I will make your house like [f]the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and like [g]the house of Baasha the son of Ahijah, for the anger to which you have provoked me, and because you [h] have made Israel to sin. [23][†]And of Jezebel the LORD also said, [i] ‘The dogs shall eat Jezebel within [j] the walls of Jezreel.’ [24] [k] Anyone belonging to Ahab who dies in the city the dogs shall eat, and anyone of his who dies in the open country the birds of the heavens shall eat.”

Ahab’s Repentance

[25]([l] There was none who sold himself to do what was evil in the sight of the LORD like Ahab, whom Jezebel his wife incited. [26]He acted very abominably in going after [m] idols, as [n] the Amorites had done, whom the LORD cast out before the people of Israel.)

[27]And when Ahab heard those words, he [o] tore his clothes and [p] put sackcloth on his flesh and [q] fasted and lay in sackcloth and went about dejectedly. [28]And the word of the LORD came to Elijah the Tishbite, saying, [29][†]“Have you seen how Ahab has humbled himself before me? Because he has humbled himself before me, I will not bring the disaster in his days; [r] but in his son’s days I will bring the disaster upon his house.”

Ahab and the False Prophets

1 KINGS 22 [†]For three years Syria and Israel continued without war. [2] [s] But in the third year [t] Jehoshaphat the king of Judah came down to the king of Israel. [3]And the king of Israel said to his servants, “Do you know that [u] Ramoth-gilead belongs to us, and we keep quiet and do not take it out of the hand of the king of Syria?” [4]And he said to Jehoshaphat, “Will you go with me to battle at Ramoth-gilead?” And Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, [v] “I am as you are, my people as your people, my horses as your horses.”

[5]And Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, “Inquire first for the word of the LORD.” [6][†]Then the king of Israel [w] gathered the prophets together, about four hundred men, and said to them, “Shall I go to battle against Ramoth-gilead, or shall I refrain?” And they said, “Go up, for the Lord will give it into the hand of the king.” [7]But [x] Jehoshaphat said, “Is there not here another prophet of the LORD of whom we may inquire?” [8][†]And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “There is yet one man by whom we may inquire of the LORD, Micaiah the son of Imlah, but I hate him, for he never prophesies good concerning me, but evil.” And Jehoshaphat said, “Let not the king say so.” [9]Then the king of Israel summoned an officer and said, “Bring quickly Micaiah the son of Imlah.” [10][†]Now the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah were sitting on their thrones, arrayed in their robes, at the threshing floor [y]at the entrance of the gate of Samaria, and all the prophets were prophesying before them. [11]And Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah made for himself [z]horns of iron and said, “Thus says the LORD, ‘With these [a]you shall push the Syrians until they are destroyed.’” [12]And all the prophets prophesied so and said, “Go up to Ramoth-gilead and triumph; the LORD will give it into the hand of the king.”

Micaiah Prophesies Against Ahab

[13]And the messenger who went to summon Micaiah said to him, “Behold, the words of the prophets with one accord are favorable to the king. Let your word be like the word of one of them, and speak favorably.” [14]But Micaiah said, [b]“As the LORD lives, [c]what the LORD says to me, that I will speak.” [15][†]And when he had come to the king, the king said to him, “Micaiah, shall we go to Ramoth-gilead to battle, or shall we refrain?” And he answered him, “Go up and triumph; the LORD will give it into the hand of the king.” [16]But the king said to him, “How many times shall I make you swear that you speak to me nothing but the truth in the name of the LORD?” [17]And he said, “I saw all Israel scattered on the mountains, [d]as sheep that have no shepherd. And the LORD said, ‘These have no master; let each return to his home in peace.’” [18]And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, [e]“Did I not tell you that he would not prophesy good concerning me, but evil?” [19]And Micaiah said, “Therefore hear the word of the LORD: [f]I saw the LORD sitting on his throne, [g]and all the host of heaven standing beside him on his right hand and on his left; [20]and the LORD said, ‘Who will entice Ahab, that he may go up and fall at Ramoth-gilead?’ And one said one thing, and another said another. [21][†]Then a spirit came forward and stood before the LORD, saying, ‘I will entice him.’ [22]And the LORD said to him, ‘By what means?’ And he said, ‘I will go out, and will be [h]a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.' And he said, 'You are to entice him, and you shall succeed; go out and do so.' [23][†]Now therefore behold, the LORD has put a lying spirit in the mouth of all these your prophets; the LORD has declared disaster for you."

[24][†]Then Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah came near [i] and struck Micaiah on the cheek and said, "How did the Spirit of the LORD go from me to speak to you?" [25][†]And Micaiah said, "Behold, you shall see on that day when you go [j] into an inner chamber to hide yourself." [26][†]And the king of Israel said, "Seize Micaiah, and take him back to Amon the governor of the city and to Joash the king's son, [27]and say, 'Thus says the king, [k] "Put this fellow in prison and feed him meager rations of bread and water, [l] until I come in peace."'" [28]And Micaiah said, "If you return in peace, [m] the LORD has not spoken by me." And he said, [n] "Hear, all you peoples!"

Ahab Killed in Battle

[29]So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah went up to Ramoth-gilead. [30][†]And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, [o] "I will disguise myself and go into battle, but you wear your robes." And the king of Israel disguised himself and went into battle. [31]Now the king of Syria had commanded [p] the thirty-two captains of his chariots, "Fight with neither small nor great, but only with the king of Israel." [32][†]And when the captains of the chariots saw Jehoshaphat, they said, "It is surely the king of Israel." So they turned to fight against him. And Jehoshaphat cried out. [33]And when the captains of the chariots saw that it was not the king of Israel, they turned back from pursuing him. [34][†]But a certain man drew his bow at random [1] and struck the king of Israel between the scale armor and the breastplate. Therefore he said to the driver of his chariot, "Turn around and carry me out of the battle, [q] for I am wounded." [35][†]And the battle continued that day, and the king was propped up in his chariot facing the Syrians, until at evening he died. And the blood of the wound flowed into the bottom of the chariot. [36]And about sunset a cry went through the army, "Every man to his city, and every man to his country!"

[37]So the king died, and was brought to Samaria. And they buried the king in Samaria. [38][†]And they washed the chariot by the pool of Samaria, and the dogs licked up his blood, and the prostitutes washed themselves in it, [r] according to the word of the LORD that he had spoken. [39][†]Now the rest of the acts of Ahab and all that he did, and [s] the ivory house that he built and all the cities that he built, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? [40]So Ahab slept with his fathers, and Ahaziah his son reigned in his place.

Jehoshaphat Reigns in Judah

[41][†] [t] Jehoshaphat the son of [u] Asa began to reign over Judah in the fourth year of Ahab king of Israel. [42]Jehoshaphat was thirty-five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned twenty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother’s name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi. [43][†] [v] He walked in all the way of Asa his father. He did not turn aside from it, doing what was right in the sight of the LORD. Yet [w] the high places were not taken away, and the people still sacrificed and made offerings on the high places. [44] [x] Jehoshaphat also made peace with the king of Israel.

[45]Now the rest of the acts of Jehoshaphat, and his might that he showed, and how he warred, are they not written [y] in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? [46]And from the land he exterminated the remnant [z] of the male cult prostitutes who remained in the days of his father Asa.

[47][†] [a] There was no king in Edom; a deputy was king. [48][†]Jehoshaphat made [b] ships of Tarshish to go to [c] Ophir for gold, but they did not go, for the ships were wrecked at [d] Ezion-geber. [49][†]Then Ahaziah the son of Ahab said to Jehoshaphat, “Let my servants go with your servants in the ships,” but Jehoshaphat was not willing. [50][†] [e] And Jehoshaphat slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father, and Jehoram his son reigned in his place.

Ahaziah Reigns in Israel

[51]Ahaziah the son of Ahab [f] began to reign over Israel in Samaria in the seventeenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, and he reigned two years over Israel. [52]He did what was evil in the sight of the LORD [g] and walked in the way of his father and in the way of his mother and in the way of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin. [53] [h] He served Baal and worshiped him and provoked the LORD, the God of Israel, to anger [i] in every way that his father had done.

Study Notes for 1 Kings

1:1–11:43 The Reign of King Solomon. First Kings 1–11 describes the reign of David’s son Solomon. Solomon was a great king when he obeyed God and depended on God for wisdom, but his reign ended tragically as he began worshiping other gods.

FACT

God promised to establish David’s kingdom forever (2 Sam. 7:1–17). Although Adonijah was David’s eldest living son, Nathan and Bathsheba’s actions ensured that Solomon’s claim to the throne was stronger (ch. 1). Solomon became king at David’s death.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 1:2–4 let her wait on the king and be in his service. . . . lie in your arms. The Hebrew words used here imply that David could have had sexual relations with Abishag. The fact that he did not do so (knew her not) probably led Adonijah to believe that the king was near death and could be easily overthrown.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 1:5–6 Adonijah was David’s oldest surviving son. David had the right, with God’s guidance, to appoint his own successor. But Adonijah exalted himself by trying to make himself king. Apparently Adonijah was used to getting his way, for David had never held him accountable for anything (never asking, “Why have you done thus and so?”). This is also how David had treated Absalom, who also rebelled (see note on 2 Sam. 13:21).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 1:7–9 The events of chs. 1–2 are related to tensions between Judah and Israel as already seen in the books of Samuel and soon to reappear in 1 Kings 12 (see 2 Sam. 20:1; 1 Kings 12:16). It was the royal officials of Judah who were invited to Adonijah’s feast, not those of Israel. Shimei was an opponent of David from the house of Saul (2 Sam. 16:5–14). The spring En-rogel was south of Jerusalem, at the juncture of the Hinnom and Kidron Valleys. It provided a water source for the city.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 1:13 Did you not . . . swear? This oath is not mentioned anywhere else, and Nathan does not mention it to David when he later confronts him (vv. 24–27). Perhaps David had privately promised Bathsheba that her son Solomon would be the next king.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 1:20–21 Bathsheba is concerned that, if David does not appoint Solomon as the next king, she and her son will be treated as rivals for the throne (counted offenders). Their lives will be at risk.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 1:31 May my lord King David live forever! Bathsheba uses the conventional language for addressing a king (compare Dan. 3:9). She is reaffirming her loyalty to David.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 1:33 my own mule. Solomon's ride on David's mule marks him as David's favored son. The mule itself may have been regarded as a symbol of kingship (see Zech. 9:9; Matt. 21:1–11).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 1:38 Cherethites and . . . Pelethites. These are probably the "servants" of v. 33, apparently David's own personal troops (see 2 Sam. 20:7, 23).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 1:39 The tent might be the tabernacle, that is, "the tent of the LORD" (2:28–30). However, the text distinguishes between David's tent in Jerusalem (the temporary location of the ark of the covenant) and the tabernacle in Gibeon.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 1:41–49 Adonijah's guests, who were in En-rogel (v. 9), were not able to directly observe Solomon's anointing (vv. 38–40). However, they were close enough that they heard people celebrating. Therefore they trembled and rose (v. 49), knowing that siding with Adonijah could mean being considered rebels.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 1:50 horns of the altar. Adonijah believes that the altar, as a holy place, will protect him from Solomon's revenge. Many ancient Near Eastern cultures allowed people to seek asylum at shrines.

FACT

Horns of the altar. Many ancient Near Eastern cultures regarded shrines and temples as places where a person could seek safety and refuge. In Hebrew culture, a person accused of a crime might grasp the horns of the altar (1:50) to indicate that he was seeking protection from the Lord.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:2–3 Be strong, and show yourself a man. David's parting words to Solomon echo God's words to Joshua when he became the leader of Israel after Moses' death (Josh. 1:6–9).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:4 his word that he spoke concerning me. The reference is apparently to 2 Sam. 7:11b–16, although that passage does not mention any conditions attached to the promise (If your sons pay close attention to their way).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:5 what Joab the son of Zeruiah did to me. Joab is to be killed to clear David's house of "the guilt for the blood" that Joab "shed without cause" (v. 31). It is interesting, however, that David himself had apparently not been concerned enough about this previously to take action against someone who had been so useful to him (e.g., 2 Sam. 11:15; 14:1–33).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:6 according to your wisdom. Solomon must find a way to ensure that Joab's death is not a peaceful and natural death in old age (do not let his gray head go down to Sheol in peace). For "Sheol," see note on 1 Sam. 2:6.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:10 David slept with his fathers. The metaphor of sleep hints at the expectation of awakening sometime in the future. "With his fathers" suggests that previous generations also join in this hope, and that David is somehow now with them.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:11 David reigned over Israel for forty years, and died in 970 B.C.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:12 his kingdom was firmly established. God has done for Solomon what he had done earlier for David (2 Sam. 5:12), keeping his promise to David (1 Kings 2:24).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:17 give me Abishag the Shunammite as my wife. Second Samuel 16:20–22 suggests that sexual relations with the king's concubines amounted to a claim to the throne. Solomon interprets Adonijah's request as a revival of his conspiracy (1 Kings 1). It was precisely the "wickedness" against which Solomon had warned Adonijah in 1:52 (compare 2:22).

FACT

Why did Adonijah ask for Abishag? Marrying David's concubine (2:17) would have given Adonijah a claim to the throne.

---

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:22 my older brother. At least some Israelites would have believed that the eldest son had a special claim to the throne.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:26 you deserve death. There is no evidence that Abiathar and Joab had anything to do with Adonijah's request regarding Abishag, but both are pronounced guilty by association.

Jerusalem in the Time of Solomon (c. 970–930 B.C.)

David commanded his son Solomon to build a new temple on Mount Moriah. This work took seven years, followed by 13 years of building a royal complex to the south of the temple (1 Kings 6:38; 7:1). As this quarter was located outside and north of the original city of David, new city walls must have been built to connect the two areas.

Solomon's temple was Israel's first permanent sanctuary. The temple was constructed on the top of Mount Moriah (2 Chron. 3:1). The royal complex was built to the immediate south of the temple. It consisted of Solomon's own palace and a smaller house for his Egyptian wife (1 Kings 7:8), an armory called the "House of the Forest of Lebanon" (vv. 2–5), a Hall of Pillars (v. 6), and a Hall of the Throne (v. 7). A special "Ascent" connected this complex with the temple.

The area between the temple complex and the city of David was called the Ophel.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:27 thus fulfilling the word of the LORD . . . concerning the house of Eli in Shiloh. Compare 1 Sam. 2:27–36. Abiathar is identified as a member of Eli's house in 1 Sam. 22:20, and the "faithful priest" of 1 Sam. 2:35 is now discovered to be Zadok (1 Kings 2:35).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:28–34 Following David's instructions (see vv. 5–6 and notes), Solomon moves to have Joab killed. horns of the altar. See note on 1:50. Benaiah . . . struck him down. Joab does not think that Solomon will be as ruthless as Joab had shown himself to be, that is, prepared even to have someone killed in the sanctuary. Though this was not strictly in compliance with Ex. 21:12–14 (which states that a murderer is to be taken away from the altar and put to death), taking refuge in the sanctuary applied only to the case of accidental death (Ex. 21:13), not intentional murder. David's view (see note on 1 Kings 2:5) was that Joab deserved death for the murder of both Abner (2 Sam. 3:27) and Amasa (2 Sam. 20:10).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:36–46 Solomon moves next to kill Shimei, who had cursed David as he fled from Absalom (see vv. 7–8; 2 Sam. 16:5–13). When Shimei ignores Solomon's order not to go from Jerusalem to any other place, Solomon orders his execution.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 3:1–28 Although Solomon has displayed a worldly kind of wisdom in his treatment of those who were a threat to him (2:6, 9), he still lacks a truly “wise and discerning mind” (3:12). The gift of wisdom that he now receives from God will allow him to govern more justly, as will be seen in vv. 16–28.

Solomon’s Tainted Glory in 1 Kings

Positives	Negatives
David’s chosen heir (ch. 1)	Gained power in bloody coup (ch. 2)
Nathan’s early support (ch. 1)	Prophetic voice disappears
Prayer for wisdom to rule righteously (chs. 3–4)	Rules with forced labor; accumulates wealth unjustly (9:15–22; 10:26–29)
Completion and dedication of temple (chs. 5–8)	Foreign wives lead him to idolatry (11:1–8)
The Lord supports Solomon (9:1–9)	The Lord rejects Solomon (11:9–12)

FACT

No witnesses. Under normal circumstances, priests and judges would have presided over the case between the two prostitutes (3:16–28). However, because there were no witnesses to the case, the law required them to go before Solomon. The king was considered to be the highest court of appeal.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 3:1 Israel was warned against a “return to Egypt” (Deut. 17:16). They were also warned not to “intermarry” with the people of other nations, because such marriages would lead to their serving other gods (Deut. 7:3–4). Now, Solomon makes a marriage alliance with Pharaoh, and it will, in fact, lead him to serve other gods (1 Kings 11:3–4).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 3:2 the high places. The continued growth of these local places of worship is one of the main concerns in 1–2 Kings (1 Kings 22:43; 2 Kings 12:3; 14:4). The ideal for God’s people was the one place of worship described in Deuteronomy 12.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 3:7–9 I am but a little child. I do not know how. Solomon feels inadequate for the great task of leading Israel.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 3:11–14 Solomon’s “wisdom” in ch. 2 was a self-serving kind. To be a good king, he will need a higher kind of wisdom. The fear of the Lord is the true beginning of wisdom (Job 28:28; Ps. 111:10; Prov. 15:33). I give you a wise and discerning mind. This wisdom is a supernatural gift from God.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 3:16 two prostitutes . . . stood before him. The Israelite king represented the highest court of appeal.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 3:27–28 Through Solomon's understanding of human nature, he identifies the true mother. Israel realizes that the wisdom of God was in him.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 4:1–20 Solomon displayed great wisdom in the early years of his kingship, and as a result, "Judah and Israel . . . were happy" (v. 20).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 4:2 Among the high officials of Solomon's kingdom is the chief priest, who is surprisingly not Zadok (2:35) but Azariah the son of Zadok. For some unknown reason, Zadok himself is now in a lesser position, along with Abiathar, who apparently has been reinstated (4:4; see 2:26–27 and notes). The new order, designed in God-given wisdom, is different from the old order, in which Zadok had replaced Abiathar who, perhaps unjustly, had been banished.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 4:3 The secretaries may have had general managerial responsibilities, or more specific tasks such as recording history or writing letters. It is unclear what the recorder did. He may have been a royal messenger or even the state prosecutor.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 4:5 Azariah was in charge of the 12 officers over all Israel mentioned in vv. 7–19. Zabud held the office of king's friend, that is, his personal adviser.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 4:7–19 The twelve officers may have been tax supervisors. Their job was to ensure that local governments paid their dues to the central government. The one governor who was over the land was most likely Azariah (v. 5), to whom the 12 district officers were accountable.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 4:21–24 Solomon had a strong influence over all the kingdoms from the Euphrates to the land of the Philistines and to the border of Egypt. It is a large area, corresponding to the area promised to Abraham in Gen. 15:18.

Solomon’s Administrative Districts

c. 950 B.C.

Solomon reorganized the Israelite territory of his kingdom into 12 districts, each of which was responsible to supply the immense provisions for the king for one month out of the year. It appears that Judah, Solomon’s tribe, was exempted from this burden. Solomon also fortified key towns throughout his kingdom and built store cities for his economic enterprises. Among his most significant building projects were the temple and his royal palace in Jerusalem, built largely with cedar supplied by King Hiram of Tyre.

FACT

How large was Israel under Solomon’s rule? During the reign of Solomon, Israel extended into the Sinai desert near Egypt in the south and to the Euphrates River in the north. It was roughly three times the size of Israel today and would have included parts of present-day Lebanon, Jordan, and Syria.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 4:25 And Judah and Israel lived in safety . . . every man under his vine and under his fig tree. The people lived under God’s blessing and had some economic independence.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 4:26 40,000 stalls of horses. Although most Hebrew manuscripts place this number at 40,000, a Greek Septuagint manuscript and one Hebrew manuscript say 4,000, which is also the number indicated in 2 Chron. 9:25. So the number here could possibly be a copying error. Compare the 1,400 chariots in 1 Kings 10:26, which would suggest fewer than 40,000 horse stalls. In either case, such a large number of stalls (even 4,000) would violate the prohibition in Deut. 17:16 that the king “must not acquire many horses for himself.”

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 4:30–31 Solomon’s wisdom exceeded that of people from places well-known for their wisdom, including all the people of the east (see Matt. 2:1–12). His wisdom was greater than that of various individuals famous for their wisdom (Ethan, Heman, etc.).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 4:33 He spoke of trees . . . beasts . . . birds . . . reptiles, and of fish. Careful observation of the natural world and how it works is one of the “normal” ways in which people gain wisdom. Solomon combined such wisdom with the special wisdom God gave him (ch. 3).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 5:3–5 God has given Solomon the rest on every side that he had promised to David (2 Sam. 7:11). This picture reflects what happens when the people of Israel have a wise ruler and they walk in obedience to God’s commandments. The time is right for the divinely ordained temple-building project: build the house for my name. See 2 Sam. 7:13.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 5:6 Sidonians is a general term for the Phoenicians, famous for their expertise in timber. Sidon, like Tyre, was on the Phoenician coast, south of what is now Beirut. my servants will join your servants . . . such wages as you set. Solomon suggests to Hiram a cooperative effort and, possibly (although the Hebrew is unclear), that Hiram should set the wages to be paid to his men.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 5:7–8 Blessed be the LORD. A Gentile recognizes God's blessing on his great people, Israel.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 5:9–12 My servants shall bring it down. Hiram responds with proposals of his own—that his own men should cut the wood and transport it down the coast to Israel, and that Solomon's men should be involved only after this has been done. Instead of wages for Hiram's laborers, payment should be in the form of supplies of food for his royal household. Solomon agrees to supply food, but he sends workers to Lebanon "in shifts" to help with the timber (v. 14). Although he is happy to negotiate with Hiram to a certain extent, Solomon is also prepared to ignore terms that do not suit him. This clearly implies that Solomon has the upper hand in the relationship.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 5:13 Solomon drafted forced labor out of all Israel. First Kings 9:15–23 makes it clear that Solomon did not force Israelites to work abroad, but only workers from the Canaanite population of Israel. Two quite distinct groups are intended in 5:13–18 and 9:15–23. The first group consists of 30,000 Canaanites and is supervised by 550 officials. The other comprises 150,000 Israelites and is supervised by 3,300 foremen.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 5:14 At home likely refers to Solomon's house or palace, the construction of which will be described in ch. 7. Even at this early stage, it seems, Solomon is spending twice as much time on his palace as on the temple (see 6:38–7:1), while giving the appearance that he is moving quickly ahead with the temple.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 5:17–18 Dressed stones probably describes "ashlar" masonry, which uses uniform, rectangular blocks that can be joined with mortar.

FACT

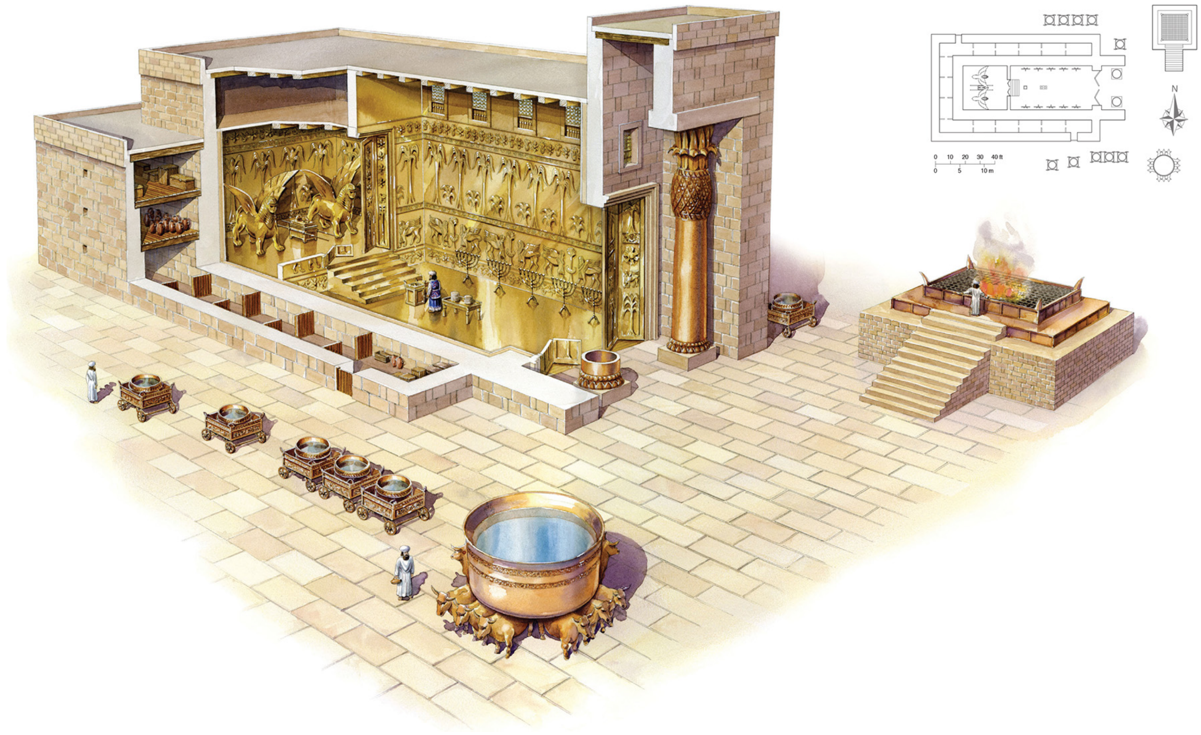
Dressed stones (5:17) are stones that have been cut and polished so that they have smooth faces and edges. This type of masonry was time-consuming and expensive, so it was used primarily for palaces and temples.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 5:18 The men of Gebal are workers from Byblos, a coastal city north of Tyre.

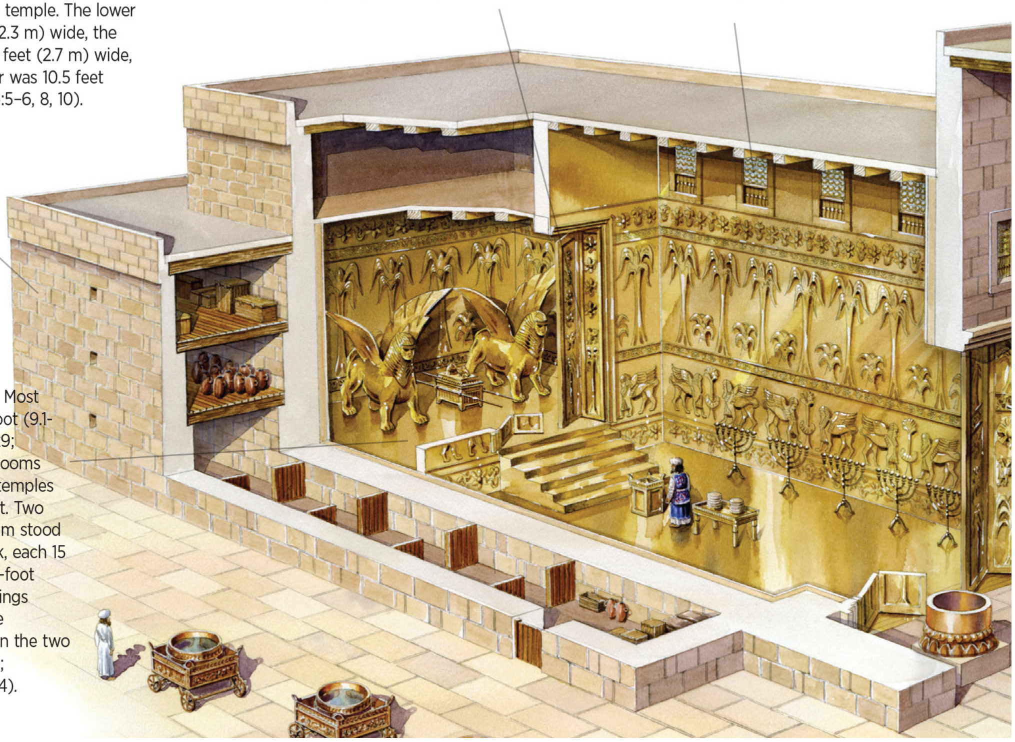
1 KINGS—NOTE ON 6:1–7:51 With preparation for the temple complete, the text describes the building and its furnishings. This is interrupted in 7:1–12 by a description of the building of Solomon's palace. The writer seems to suggest that Solomon's concern for his own house delayed the completion of the temple.

Solomon's Temple

Solomon began to build "the house of the LORD" in Jerusalem on Mount Moriah in the spring of 967 or 966 B.C. (1 Kings 6:1; 2 Chron. 3:1–2) and completed it seven years later, in the fall of 960 or 959 (1 Kings 6:38). The temple itself, not including the surrounding chambers on three sides, was 90 feet (27 m) long, 30 feet (9 m) wide, and 45 feet (14 m) high. It stood in the middle of a court with boundary walls.



• •



Two ornate wooden doors, overlaid with gold, separated the inner sanctuary from the nave (1 Kings 6:31–32).

A structure with three levels was built around the walls of the temple. The lower chamber was 7.5 feet (2.3 m) wide, the middle chamber was 9 feet (2.7 m) wide, and the upper chamber was 10.5 feet (3.2 m) wide (1 Kings 6:5–6, 8, 10).

The inner sanctuary (or Most Holy Place) was a 30-foot (9.1-m) cube (1 Kings 6:15–29; 2 Chron. 3:8–14). Such rooms were often elevated in temples of the ancient Near East. Two massive golden cherubim stood on either side of the ark, each 15 feet (4.6 m) tall with 15-foot (4.6-m) wingspans (1 Kings 6:23–28). The ark of the covenant stood between the two cherubim (1 Kings 8:1–11; compare 2 Chron. 5:2–14).

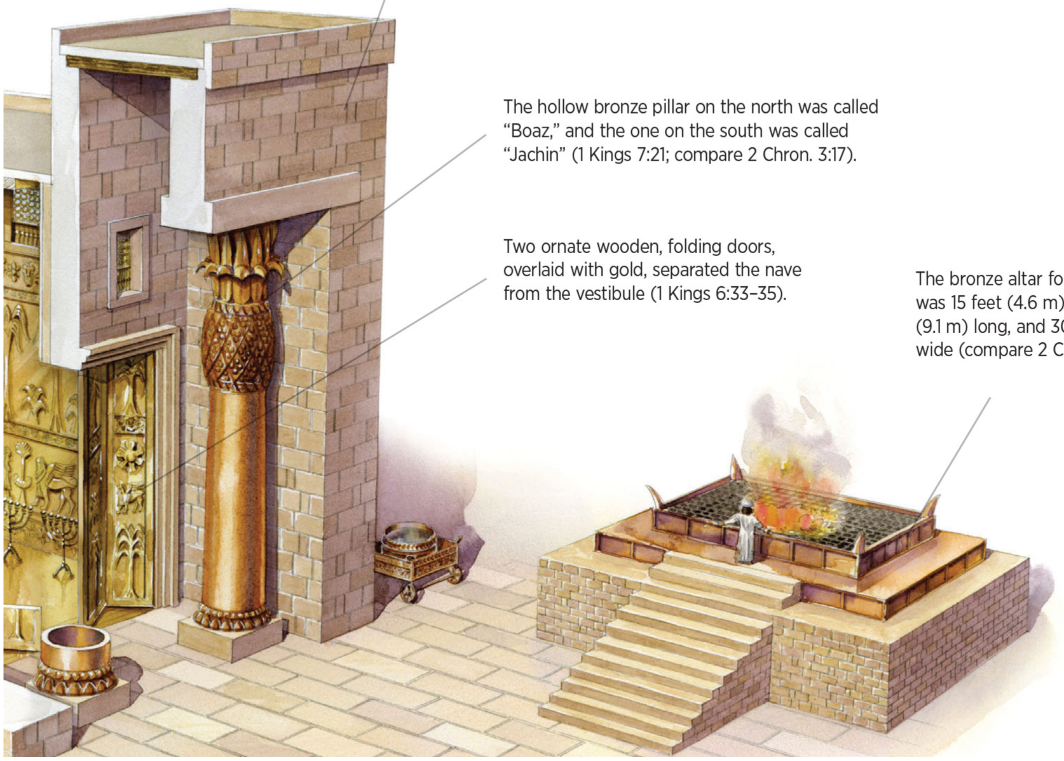
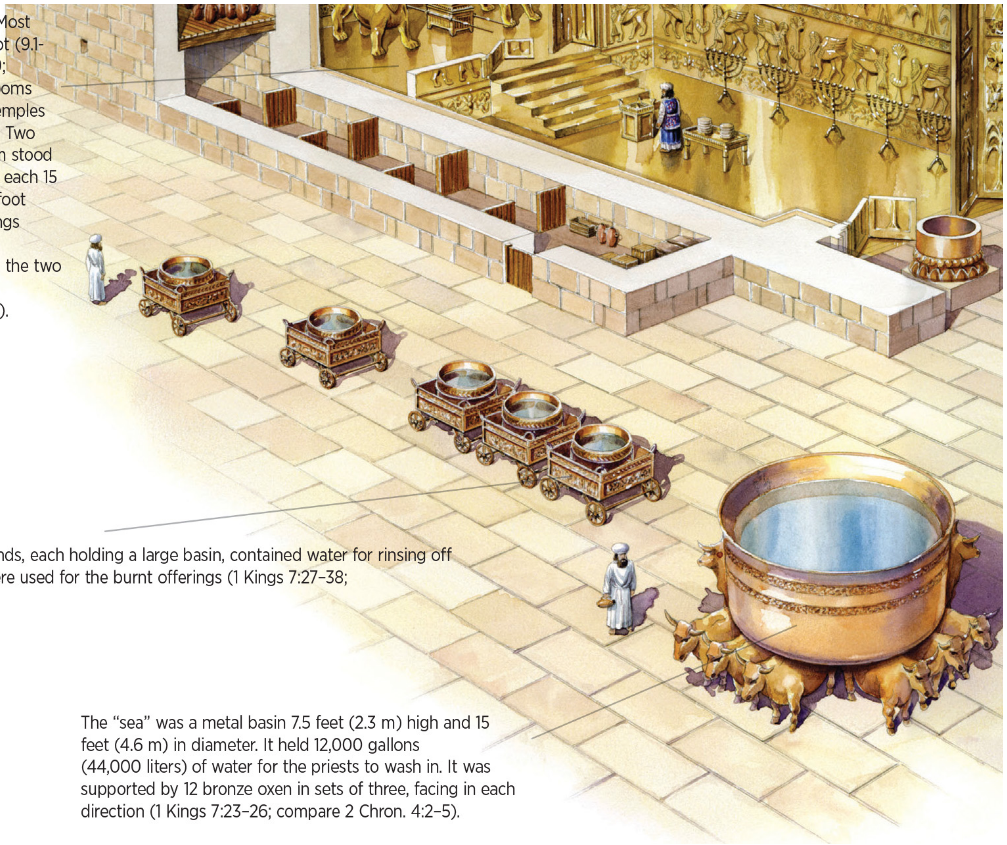
The vestibule was 30 feet (9.1 m) wide and 15 feet (4.6 m) deep (1 Kings 6:3; compare 2 Chron. 3:4).



The hollow bronze pillar on the north was called "Boaz," and the one on the south was called "Jachin" (1 Kings 7:21; compare 2 Chron. 3:17).

Two ornate wooden, folding doors, overlaid with gold, separated the nave from the vestibule (1 Kings 6:33–35).

The bronze altar for burnt offerings was 15 feet (4.6 m) high, 30 feet (9.1 m) long, and 30 feet (9.1 m) wide (compare 2 Chron. 4:1).



The inner sanctuary (or Most Holy Place) was a 30-foot (9.1-m) cube (1 Kings 6:15–29; 2 Chron. 3:8–14). Such rooms were often elevated in temples of the ancient Near East. Two massive golden cherubim stood on either side of the ark, each 15 feet (4.6 m) tall with 15-foot (4.6-m) wingspans (1 Kings 6:23–28). The ark of the covenant stood between the two cherubim (1 Kings 8:1–11; compare 2 Chron. 5:2–14).

Ten bronze wheeled stands, each holding a large basin, contained water for rinsing off the animal parts that were used for the burnt offerings (1 Kings 7:27–38; compare 2 Chron. 4:6).

The "sea" was a metal basin 7.5 feet (2.3 m) high and 15 feet (4.6 m) in diameter. It held 12,000 gallons (44,000 liters) of water for the priests to wash in. It was supported by 12 bronze oxen in sets of three, facing in each direction (1 Kings 7:23–26; compare 2 Chron. 4:2–5).

The nave (or Holy Place) was 60 feet (18 m) long and 30 feet (9.1 m) wide (1 Kings 6:15, 17–18; compare 2 Chron. 3:5–7). It contained the golden altar of incense; the golden table for the bread of the Presence; and 10 golden lampstands, five on the north and five on the south (1 Kings 7:48–49; compare 2 Chron. 4:7).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 6:1–10 The authors(s) describe the temple's overall proportions and its basic form (vv. 2–3); its windows (v. 4); and the structure around it with its side chambers (vv. 5–6, 8, 10). The work was carried out with reverence, avoiding the use of iron tools at the temple site: neither hammer nor axe nor any tool of iron (see Ex. 20:25 and Deut. 27:5–6 for the restrictions that appear to be in mind here). The temple was 90 feet (27 m) long, 30 feet (9 m) wide, and 45 feet (14 m) high (see illustration).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 6:1 The four hundred and eightieth year after Israel's release from slavery and the fourth year of Solomon's reign over Israel was around the year 966 B.C. This verse is important for calculating the date of Israel's exodus from Egypt. The figure of 480 years would seem to support the traditional "early" date for the exodus, c. 1446 B.C. On the other hand, some scholars believe the 480 might be symbolic, i.e., that it could stand for 12 generations of 40 years each. This would match a "late" date for the exodus, about 1260 B.C. See Introduction to Exodus.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 6:12–13 God will certainly dwell among his people once the temple is built, but the people must still obey his law (see Lev. 26:11–12). This was something the Israelites were always forgetting (see Jeremiah 7).

FACT

No tools of iron? The Lord had forbidden the use of iron tools in the construction of altars (Ex. 20:25). As they built the temple, the Israelites used iron tools on the stones only at the quarry, never at the construction site. They probably did this as an expression of reverence for the temple.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 6:14–35 Solomon built the house and finished it. The repetition of v. 9a in v. 14 marks a return to the main story line of vv. 1–10 after the detour of vv. 11–13. Now the inside of the temple is described. Most attention is paid to the inner sanctuary (vv. 16, 19–32), the Most Holy Place where the ark of the covenant was to be placed (v. 19). It was within the inner sanctuary that the Lord sat. He was enthroned on the cherubim (v. 23; see 1 Sam. 4:4; Ps. 99:1).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 6:36 This verse moves back outside the temple, to the inner court.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 6:38–7:1 the house was finished. Solomon spent much more time building his own palace than he did building God's house. This is an early sign that he was not fully committed to the Lord. The author probably intended the following emphasis in 7:1: "But his own house Solomon spent thirteen years building."

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 7:2–5 The House of the Forest of Lebanon, just the first of several buildings in the palace complex, was much bigger than the temple (see 6:2). This building had so much cedar (7:2–3, 7, 11, 12) that it was named after the forest from which the cedar came. It was apparently designed as a treasury or armory (see 10:17, 21; Isa. 22:8). This shows that Solomon was much more concerned about his palace than about the temple.

FACT

The House of the Forest of Lebanon was part of Solomon's palace. It was much larger than the temple and designed to be a treasury or an armory. It got its name from the large amounts of cedar timber used to build it.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 7:6–12 The Hall of Pillars was almost as large as the temple. There was a throne hall, also called the Hall of Judgment. Two palaces were built, one for Solomon and one for his Egyptian wife.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 7:13–14 Hiram from Tyre, who makes the temple furnishings, is not the king of ch. 5. His mother was an Israelite widow of the tribe of Naphtali.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 7:15–21 two pillars of bronze. Two massive pillars, called Jachin and Boaz, were positioned at the temple entrance. Along with their capitals, the pillars stood 27 cubits (40 feet/12 m), almost as high as the temple itself. They may have been freestanding, though some temples from the ancient world had pillars supporting the roof of the porch.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 7:23–47 See note on 2 Chron. 4:2–6. The sea of cast metal was a large metal basin containing water. It would remind the people of how the Lord created the world out of water (Gen. 1:1–2:3; Ps. 74:12–17). Associated with the sea were ten stands of bronze (1 Kings 7:27). The basins of v. 40 are not those of vv. 38–39, but different utensils used in cleaning out the altar (see Ex. 27:3), as were the pots and shovels.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 7:23 ten cubits from brim to brim . . . thirty cubits (in) circumference. These figures are given in whole numbers. The authors were not trying to give a precise equivalent for pi (which for the ten-cubit diameter would yield a circumference of 31.46 cubits).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 7:48–51 Solomon made all the vessels. Hiram takes responsibility only for the work in bronze, while Solomon is in charge of the work in gold.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:1–21 The ark of the covenant of God was the great symbol of the Lord’s presence with his people and the place where the tablets of the law were kept (Ex. 25:10–22; Deut. 10:1–5; Joshua 3–6). It had remained for some time in a tent sanctuary somewhere in the old city of David (2 Sam. 6:16–17; 7:2; 1 Kings 3:15). The temple was now ready to receive it.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:2 The feast in . . . the seventh month is the Feast of Booths (see vv. 65–66; Lev. 23:33–43), during which the Israelites were to live in temporary shelters as a reminder of the exodus. It was observed in September/October.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:3–4 the priests took up the ark. The ark had remained in a tent sanctuary somewhere in the old city of David (2 Sam. 6:16–17; 7:2; 1 Kings 3:15). Only priests could have taken it right into the inner sanctuary of the temple. Moving the ark, along with the tent of meeting (that is, the tabernacle), symbolized moving the “name” of the Lord to a more permanent dwelling (see 2 Sam. 7:6).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:9 Though the ark had once contained the jar of manna and Aaron’s rod (Heb. 9:4; see Ex. 16:32–34; Num. 17:10–11), there was now nothing in the ark except the two tablets of stone on which were written the Ten Commandments.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:10 A cloud was often associated with God’s appearing in the OT (e.g., Ex. 13:21–22; 16:10; 19:9). A cloud also covered the tabernacle upon its completion in Ex. 40:34–38.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:12–13 thick darkness. Compare Ex. 20:21; Deut. 4:11.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:17 a house for the name of the LORD. The word “name” is used in vv. 16–20 and in vv. 22–53 to avoid saying that God himself actually dwells in the temple (see also 3:2; 5:3, 5). God’s presence in the temple was real, for God’s “name” represents all that he is (see note on Acts 10:48). But he was not to be thought of as actually “living” in the temple, as other nations imagined concerning their false gods.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:22–53 The ark of the covenant has arrived in the temple (vv. 1–13), and Solomon has addressed the people about the meaning of the event (vv. 14–21). He now prays to the Lord, reflecting on how God “dwells” in the temple. Each of the seven sections of the prayer includes a plea that God would “hear” his people “from heaven” (vv. 32, 34, 36, 39, 43, 45, 49).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:27–30 will God indeed dwell on the earth? The temple is a special place where God’s name is, a place toward which his eyes are open (see Isa. 66:1–3). Though God will dwell in the temple (1 Kings 8:10, 13; see note on 1 Sam. 4:3–4), it is not to be thought of as the only place where God is. God hears prayers in heaven (1 Kings 8:30), which is his dwelling place. Even then, however, God cannot be limited to any one place. He does not, strictly speaking, dwell in even the highest heaven (v. 27). God cannot be confined by space.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:31–32 If a man sins against his neighbor. This is the first of seven specific petitions in Solomon's prayer. It concerns a legal case that is impossible to resolve in any normal way because of difficulty with evidence or witnesses (see 3:16–28). A priestly ritual is involved here (compare Num. 5:11–31). Solomon calls upon God himself as judge to condemn the guilty and clear the righteous individual.

FACT

Praying toward Jerusalem (8:29) was a practice started by Solomon that many Jews around the world still follow today. It comes from Solomon's prayer of dedication, where he stated that God is too great to dwell in a temple. However, the Lord stated himself that his name would dwell in the temple forever (9:3), thus providing a symbolic place to which people could direct their prayers.

FACT

The building and dedication of the temple was perhaps the most significant event of King Solomon's reign. The temple replaced the Tent of Meeting and became the place of worship for Israel. It was a grand monument to God's glory for all to see.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:33–40 When your people Israel are defeated. The second, third, and fourth petitions concern defeat in battle, followed by exile from the land (vv. 33–34), drought (vv. 35–36), and other difficulties. In each case the cause of the problem is sin. The people need to seek God's forgiveness and his instruction (vv. 35–36).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:46–51 carried away captive. The seventh petition returns to defeat and exile, the major concern of the prayer. In exile, if the people should repent and pray toward land, city, and temple (v. 48; see Dan. 6:10 for the practice), then God is asked to take them back once more as his people and maintain their cause (1 Kings 8:49; see v. 45).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:54–9:9 These verses tell of Solomon's second address to the people (8:54–61), of the conclusion of the temple's dedication (8:62–66), and of God’s second appearance to Solomon. The Lord responds to Solomon’s prayer with some solemn words about dynasty and temple, people and land (9:1–9).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:54–61 rest to his people Israel. Solomon recalls the promises given through Moses. “Rest” refers to the establishment of Israel within the land of Canaan. The ultimate purpose of Israel’s walking in God’s ways is that all the peoples of the earth may know that the LORD is God; there is no other (see Deut. 4:35). Israel’s calling is to be a light for the Gentiles (Isa. 49:6), bringing God’s salvation to the ends of the earth.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:65–66 from Lebo-hamath to the Brook of Egypt. This phrase designates the whole Solomonic empire. It is similar to phrases in 4:21, 24.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:2 a second time. The first occasion was in 3:4–15.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:4–5 You shall not lack a man on the throne of Israel. See note on 2 Chron. 7:17–18.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:6 if you turn aside from following me, you or your children. The future of the temple and the dynasty depends on the obedience of Solomon and of future generations of Israelites. The particular focus here is idolatry. The people must not go and serve other gods and worship them.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:7–8 Disobedience will lead to loss of the Promised Land (see Deut. 29:22–28). The magnificent temple will become a heap of ruins to be scoffed at by those passing by. Israel will be transformed from a nation known for its wisdom (1 Kings 4:21–34) into a nation that is itself a proverb and a byword (see Deut. 28:37).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:10–10:29 Solomon’s rule over the surrounding kingdoms, combined with his status in the world in general (4:21–34), put him in a position to build and dedicate the temple (5:1–8:66). This passage now considers the glory of Solomon’s empire in the light of 8:22–53 and 9:1–9.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:10 At the end of twenty years would be c. 946 B.C.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:11 Hiram king of Tyre. The gold mentioned in v. 11 was not part of the agreement struck between the two kings in 5:1–18, but Hiram supplied Solomon with as much as he desired. Solomon in turn “rewards” him with twenty cities that may not have been worth much.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:13 The name Cabul probably comes from the noun “fetters” that is found in Ps. 149:8, a psalm that celebrates the supremacy of Israel over the nations. Hiram calls the land “fettered” to describe his relationship with Solomon.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:14 Solomon accumulates huge amounts of gold. Biblical texts associate the accumulation of kingly wealth with spiritual unfaithfulness (e.g., Deut. 17:17). As will be seen, Solomon’s riches lead him astray.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:15–25 the account of the forced labor. The author clarifies that Solomon used his task force of 30,000 Canaanite laborers (5:1–18) for the temple and his other building projects. Israelite workers did other tasks. Pharaoh’s daughter (9:24) was introduced in 3:1, using language similar to Moses’ warnings about intermarriage with foreigners (Deut. 7:1–6). Such marriages could lead to spiritual unfaithfulness. Mentioning the Canaanites (Amorites, Hittites, etc.) in connection with Pharaoh’s daughter serves to prepare the reader for Solomon’s worship of other gods (1 Kings 11:3–4).

FACT

The city of Megiddo was located on one of the most important trade routes of the ancient Near East. In fact, it was so important that when Egypt’s Pharaoh Thutmose III conquered the city in 1482 B.C. he said that capturing it was like capturing a thousand cities. It was so strategic that Israel’s King Ahab (869-850 B.C.) dug a 120-foot (37-m) deep shaft and a 215-foot-long tunnel to provide water for the city in case it came under siege.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:15 the Millo. See note on 2 Sam. 5:9.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 10:1–3 The queen of Sheba (see note on 2 Chron. 9:1–9, 12) arrives from Arabia (“Ophir” in 1 Kings 9:28) to test Solomon. there was nothing hidden. Solomon’s wisdom, given by God, was unprecedented. This foreign queen is amazed (10:4).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 10:8 Happy are your men! Happy are your servants. Chapter 10 as a whole focuses on the benefit that wisdom brings to the royal court, and particularly to Solomon himself.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 10:10–13 The queen's gift of 120 talents of gold (9,000 pounds/4,080 kg) is a remarkably large amount, yet Solomon was already receiving much more gold than this (notice that her gift is exactly the same size as Hiram's first installment in 9:14). Solomon was a much wealthier person than the queen. What she gives him is tiny compared to what he gives her.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 10:14–25 weight of gold. The accumulation of gold continues. It is mentioned no fewer than 11 times in vv. 14, 16–18, 21–22, 25. It arrives in Israel by various means, including ships of Tarshish (v. 22), that is, ships capable of a journey to such a distant western port (see Isa. 66:19; Ezek. 27:12–15; Jonah 1:3). These ships are said to have sailed to lands so distant that it took three years to return with their extraordinary cargo.

FACT

666 talents of gold (10:14) was a lot of gold—nearly 25 tons! Solomon accumulated lots of gold and other valuable resources through his extensive trading with nations all over the known world.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 10:26–29 chariots and horsemen . . . silver. The accumulation of silver and horses, as well as gold, is forbidden by Deut. 17:16–17. Solomon has violated all but one of the instructions in that passage. His violation of that one remaining instruction will be the subject of 1 Kings 11:1–6.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 11:1–43 Throughout chs. 1–10 there have been hints that all is not well with Solomon's heart. Now comes the inevitable conclusion: Solomon's sins have led him to apostasy.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 11:1–4 Solomon loved many foreign women . . . clung to these in love. Solomon loved the Lord (3:3). But he also loved the daughter of Pharaoh and many other women. Solomon's heart was divided.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 11:5 Ashtoreth is the biblical name for Astarte. At ancient Ugarit in Syria, the planet Venus was worshiped as Astarte. Milcom was a god of the underworld.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 11:7–8 The worship of other gods at high places is a key concern in 1–2 Kings (e.g., 1 Kings 12:25–33; 14:23; 16:31–33). Chemosh was the chief god of the Moabites. Molech may be the same as Milcom in 11:5. The Bible associates Molech with child sacrifice (e.g., Lev. 18:21; 2 Kings 16:3; Jer. 32:35).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 11:9–13 the LORD was angry with Solomon. . . . I will surely tear the kingdom from you. This is what 2:4; 8:25; and 9:4–5 have led the reader to expect. Yet, while punishing Solomon and his kingdom, the Lord will show mercy: I will not do it in your days (11:12). . . . I will not tear away all the kingdom. And, one tribe will remain for the sake of David my servant and for the sake of Jerusalem that I have chosen (v. 13).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 11:14–25 Two men are raised up by God to oppose Solomon: Rezon from the north and Hadad from the south. Where the king once had peace on all sides (5:4), he now finds enemies.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 11:26–33 Solomon's most significant enemy was Jeroboam the son of Nebat. He was the former superintendent of the forced labor of the house of Joseph, those who had been helping with the construction work in Jerusalem (vv. 27–28). He was met outside the city by the prophet Ahijah (v. 29) with a prophecy concerning the kingship. The garment here is divided into 12 pieces, of which ten, symbolizing 10 northern tribes, are given to Jeroboam (vv. 30–31). One tribe is to remain for the sake of David and Jerusalem (that is, Judah). The tribe Benjamin is not included (see 12:21), perhaps because it was regarded as part of Judah's territory.

FACT

From ancient times, Damascus has been a strategic location. It was a primary stopping point along the main caravan route that ran from Africa to Mesopotamia. When it became the capital of the Aramean kingdom (modern Syria), it served as a military outpost to prevent Israel from expanding northward.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 11:34–39 a lamp before me in Jerusalem. Solomon will lose no tribes during his lifetime. His son is to have one tribe, to preserve the line of Davidic kings.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 11:43 slept with his fathers. See note on 2:10. Almost all Israelite burials were in multichambered, rock-hewn tombs carved into hillsides. They were probably used as family tombs, so that even in death family ties were emphasized.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 12:1–14:31 The Kingdom Is Divided. Two kingdoms emerge. Judah is made up of two tribes (Judah and Benjamin) in the south and is ruled by Rehoboam. Israel is made up of the ten northern tribes and is ruled by Jeroboam.

The Kingdom Divides

When Solomon's son Rehoboam arrived at Shechem for his coronation after his father's death, he refused to lighten his father's heavy tax burden on the people, and the 10 northern tribes revolted and set up Jeroboam as their king. The northern kingdom would now be known as Israel and the southern kingdom as Judah. Five years later, Shishak (also called Sheshonq) king of Egypt invaded Judah and Israel and captured a number of towns. Rehoboam avoided Jerusalem's destruction by paying off Shishak with many of the treasures Solomon had placed in the temple.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 12:1–33 As Moses led the people out of slavery under the Egyptian pharaoh, Jeroboam now leads Israel out of "slavery" under the house of David. But rather than being a second Moses, Jeroboam soon begins to look like Aaron, as he fashions golden calves for Israel to worship. Such idolatrous worship will eventually result in disaster for Israel.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 12:1 Shechem was where the Israelites renewed their covenant with God (Josh. 24:1–27). It was also the site of Abimelech's attempt to make himself king (Judges 9).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 12:4 Your father made our yoke heavy. Solomon placed great financial burdens on the people. They are no longer living in freedom in the Promised Land. They are again a people under hard service, as they were in Egypt (Ex. 1:14; 2:23). They toil as oxen would under a heavy yoke.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 12:10–11 My little finger is thicker than my father's thighs. Rehoboam is saying that he will be much harsher than his father was. Scorpions probably refers to a particularly vicious form of whip.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 12:14 I will add to your yoke. Rehoboam is behaving exactly as Pharaoh had behaved before him (compare Ex. 5:1–21).

FACT

How long did the United Kingdom of Israel last? All 12 tribes of Israel were together as one nation for a total of 120 years: 40 years under Saul, 40 years under David, and 40 years under Solomon (c. 1050-930 B.C.).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 12:15 a turn of affairs brought about by the LORD. God is in control of all events. His word is being carried out, as was the case with the hardening of Pharaoh's heart (Ex. 4:21; 7:3–4, 13).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 12:16 What portion do we have in David? The people do not support Rehoboam, so they leave for their tents.

*This chart follows the dating method found in both Kings and Chronicles: For Judah, accession to the throne is marked by a year within the reign of a king of Israel. Parentheses—e.g., 39 (40)—indicate non-accession year dating (year of accession is counted in the totals of both the predecessor and the new king). The actual number of years in a reign can be determined by subtracting 1 from the number given (40 – 1 = 39 actual years).

The verses cited in 1–2 Kings do not include the initial mention of a ruler, which occurs in reference to the death of his father (e.g., Abijam in 1 Kings 14:31).

* This chart follows the dating method found in both Kings and Chronicles: For Israel, accession to the throne is marked by a year within the reign of a king of Judah. Parentheses—e.g., 21 (22)—indicate non-accession year dating (year of accession is counted in the totals of both the predecessor and the new king). The actual number of years in a reign can be determined by subtracting 1 from the number given (22 – 1 = 21 actual years).

The verses cited in 1–2 Kings do not include the initial mention of a ruler when it occurs in reference to the death of his father (e.g., Nadab in 1 Kings 14:20).

See note on 2 Kings 15:27–31.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 12:18 It is not clear whether Adoram is the person mentioned in 4:6 and 5:14. He comes to impose forced labor on Israel.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 12:24 they listened to the word of the LORD and went home. War is avoided, at least for now. But the peace does not last long.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 12:25 Jeroboam built Shechem . . . Penuel. The first task for Jeroboam was the obvious one of defense. He built up two major cities.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 12:27–28 two calves of gold. Jeroboam fears that the presence of the temple of the LORD at Jerusalem will lead the people of northern Israel to return to Rehoboam. To prevent this, Jeroboam sets up his own system for worship. His words to the people about the calves—Behold your gods, O Israel—are almost exactly the words with which the people greeted Aaron's golden calf (Ex. 32:4). These bull idols were unacceptable for the worship of the Lord because they failed to show the difference between the Creator and his creation.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 12:29–33 Jeroboam builds centers of worship within his own territory to rival Jerusalem, one in the far north (Dan) and one in the far south (Bethel). He appoints priests who had not been set apart by God for such service. He invents a central feast in the eighth month, a version of the Feast of Booths (or Tabernacles) (compare 8:2; Lev. 23:33–43).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 13:1–34 Just as Solomon had stood at his altar in Jerusalem (8:22), Jeroboam now stands at the altar of his new temple in Bethel, ready to dedicate it to his gods. However, since this temple does not have God's blessing, Jeroboam will not even get a chance to speak.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 13:2 The prophetic words about the future king Josiah point forward to a time when all the northern Israelite dynasties will have come to an end. Only the house of David will remain to take action against Bethel (2 Kings 22:1–23:30).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 13:3–5 Since Josiah's reign is still a long way off, a sign is also described and then acted out. This indicates that the prophecy is true.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 13:7–32 Jeroboam's invitation to the man of God to dine and receive a reward is an attempt to buy his loyalty, perhaps hoping for the curse on the altar to be reversed. The invitation (v. 15) from the old prophet living in Bethel is an attempt to prevent the destruction of Bethel. Disobedience leads the man of God to an unfortunate end. Even prophets cannot escape if they are disobedient. Samaria is used here for the territory of which the city of Samaria became the capital under Omri, the father of Ahab (16:24).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 14:1–20 Jeroboam had been promised a dynasty ("house") just like David's (11:38). His desire to have a temple ("house") just like David's, however, led him into disobedience. These verses describe the results of Jeroboam's desire to have more than he was promised.

FACT

Lions (13:24) were once plentiful in the ancient Near East. The last recorded sighting of a lion in this area was in the thirteenth century A.D.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 14:2 disguise yourself. In spite of the events of ch. 13, Jeroboam apparently believes that he can fool the old prophet Ahijah into giving him a positive message about his son.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 14:10 Since Jeroboam has failed to be like David (v. 8) and has worshiped other gods as Solomon did (v. 9), his dynasty will come to an end for lack of male descendants.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 14:11 Jeroboam's dynasty will come to a dishonorable end, since the bodies mentioned will not be buried but will be eaten by dogs and birds. (See 1 Sam. 31:8–13 for the importance Israelites placed on having a proper burial.) Only Jeroboam's son Abijah will escape this fate (1 Kings 14:13).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 14:15 In the absence of a strong dynasty to rule Israel, the nation is destined to know only the instability of a reed . . . shaken (or "swaying") in the water. Eventually the Israelites will be exiled to a land beyond the Euphrates River, Assyria (2 Kings 17:1–6, 21–23). Their idolatry includes making Asherim, or Asherah poles, connected with the worship of the goddess Asherah.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 14:17 Jeroboam has apparently moved his royal court to Tirzah.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 14:19 the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. The author(s) of Kings specifically claim to have had access to written sources about the monarchic period, both for Israel and for Judah (e.g., v. 29; 22:45; 2 Kings 12:19; 20:20; 23:28). The reference here is to the Israelite royal record, preserved in palace archives and temple libraries along with foreign annals and inscriptions of various kinds. No copy of any of these chronicles remains today; they are not found in the Bible, and they are different from the books of 1–2 Chronicles. By the end of the second millennium B.C., literacy was widespread in and around Palestine, and writing was being employed in legal, business, literary, and religious texts.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 14:21–31 The text now returns to Rehoboam's reign and what has been happening in Judah.

Evaluating Kings of Israel and Judah in 1–2 Kings

Good Bad Mixture of good and bad

Kings of Israel	Kings of Judah
Jeroboam (1 Kings 12:25–33)	Rehoboam (1 Kings 14:21–31)
Nadab (1 Kings 15:25–31)	Abijam (1 Kings 15:1–8)
Baasha (1 Kings 15:33–16:7)	Asa (1 Kings 15:9–24)
Elah (1 Kings 16:8–14)	Jehoshaphat (1 Kings 22:41–50)

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 14:22–24 Judah did what was evil. The whole nation has become involved in idolatrous worship.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 14:23 High places and Asherim (see notes on 3:2; 14:15) are aspects of Judah's idolatrous worship. Pillars are among the Canaanite cult objects which Deut. 12:3 says the people must destroy upon entering the land.

These pillars were upright stones of various sizes. They were dedicated to particular deities.

FACT

What were high places? High places (14:23) were worship sites for local pagan gods. Before the temple was built in Jerusalem, Israelites often offered sacrifices in such places. After the temple was built, however, people were required to sacrifice there instead of at the high places.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 14:24 male cult prostitutes. Worship under Rehoboam included prostitution. The people may have seen it as a way to persuade the gods and goddesses to deliver fertility to the land and the people.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 14:25–26 Shishak king of Egypt has often been identified with the pharaoh Sheshonq I (945–924 B.C.), founder of the Twenty-second Dynasty in Egypt. His army apparently passed through Judah on its way to fight in northern Israel.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 15:1–24 Abijam and Asa. The history of the kings of Judah continues. Abijam (vv. 1–8) is a bad Judean king. He follows the idolatry of the older Solomon and of Rehoboam. Asa (vv. 9–24) is a good Judean king, behaving more like David and the younger Solomon. All the Judean kings who follow are either faithful like Asa or disobedient like Abijam. The authors judge the kings in terms of whether or not they have been “like David.” After the history of these two kings, the text will return to the kings of Israel.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 15:2–3 If Abishalom is the same as David’s son Absalom, one should remember that the Hebrew terms daughter and father (as well as “mother,” v. 10) do not necessarily refer to a first-generation relationship; they can mean “granddaughter,” etc.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 15:4 a lamp in Jerusalem. See note on 11:34–39.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 15:6–7 there was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam . . . between Abijam and Jeroboam. The feud that began in ch. 12 between the houses of Rehoboam and Jeroboam continues.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 15:10–11 Asa reigned forty-one years, from 910 to 869 B.C. On the generations depicted by mother, daughter, and father, see note on vv.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 15:12 He put away the male cult prostitutes. See note on 14:24.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 15:13 The queen mother served as an adviser of the king and as teacher of the royal children. abominable image for Asherah. This is another object associated with the worship of the goddess Asherah like the Asherim mentioned in 14:15, 23. On the brook Kidron, see note on 2 Chron. 15:16.

FACT

The role of the queen mother was an important one in the royal court. She might serve as an adviser to the king and also as a teacher for his children.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 15:14–15 Even though the high places were not taken away, Asa was commended for his religious policy. He was faithful enough to bring into the house of the LORD the sacred gifts of his father and his own sacred gifts. When 2 Chron. 14:3 says that Asa removed the high places, this should be taken as meaning he removed some but not all of them (compare 2 Chron. 15:17).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 15:17 Baasha king of Israel finds Asa’s military position so weak that he is able to push into Benjamin and build up Ramah, only a few miles north of Jerusalem.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 15:18–19 Asa took all the silver and the gold. Asa was forced to send a large bribe to Damascus to try to establish a new treaty like the one between his father Abijah and the previous Syrian king Tabrimmon (see note on 2 Chron. 16:2–5).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 15:25–16:34 From Nadab to Ahab. The fulfillment of the prophecy against the house of Jeroboam (14:10–11) has been delayed until God makes it clear how differently he treats the house of David. “Because for David’s sake the LORD his God gave him a lamp in Jerusalem” (15:4), Judah’s wicked kings do not bring its downfall. Now, however, everything turns out for Israel just as Ahijah had prophesied in ch. 14.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 15:29 He left to the house of Jeroboam not one that breathed. Baasha fulfills the prophecy of 14:10–11.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 16:1–7 God’s judgment would come upon Baasha and his house (v. 3; see v. 11) both because of his being like the house of Jeroboam and because he destroyed Jeroboam’s house (v. 7; see 15:29). The fact that God had decided that Jeroboam’s house should be destroyed did not release Baasha from moral responsibility for his actions.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 16:11 he struck down all the house of Baasha. Zimri in turn fulfills the word of the prophet Jehu (v. 7), although he then reigns for only seven days (v. 15).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 16:14 Chronicles of the Kings (also vv. 20, 27). See note on 14:19.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 16:21–24 Omri emerges from the civil war as king.

FACT

Though the story of King Omri is told in just eight verses (16:21–28), politically speaking he was one of Israel’s most important kings. He built the capital city of Samaria in a place that gave Israel a strategic advantage over its enemies. After his time, the Assyrians referred to Israel as “the land of Omri.”

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 16:24 The only recorded events of Omri’s reign are the purchase of the hill of Samaria and the building of a new northern capital on it. However, Omri’s descendants would hold the throne for more than a hundred years. The northern kingdom became so identified with this dynasty that Assyrian records referred to Israel as “the land of Omri.”

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 16:31–33 went and served Baal and worshiped him . . . made an Asherah. The Israelite king Ahab, son of Omri, added to the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat by marrying a foreign woman, Jezebel. She inevitably led him into the worship of Baal. Baal is a title (meaning “lord”) for the ancient Semitic god Hadad. Hadad was considered to be a storm god. The fertility of the land depended on his sending rain.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 16:34 Hiel . . . built Jericho. . . . at the cost of Abiram his firstborn, and . . . his youngest son Segub. Joshua had pronounced a curse on anyone who might rebuild Jericho (Josh. 6:26). The author(s) of 1–2 Kings understand this curse as the prophetic word of the LORD. Although the text does not say specifically how the two sons of Hiel died, it is possible he offered them in sacrifice, or that they died as a special judgment from God, in fulfillment of Joshua's curse.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 17:1–22:40 Elijah and Ahab. Other prophets had addressed earlier kings (see 14:7–13; 16:1–4). Until now no one had addressed the house of Omri. But now Elijah is introduced. His first task is to tackle the problem of the Baal worship that Ahab has introduced into Israel (16:31–32). He demonstrates beyond all doubt that Baal is no more a god than are Jeroboam's bull calves. His announcement of doom on the house of Omri will be delayed, however, until 21:21–24.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 17:1–24 Chapter 17 provides the context—a divinely ordained drought—in which the climactic demonstration of the truth about God and the "gods" will take place (18:16–40).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 17:1 neither dew nor rain these years, except by my word. According to Canaanite religion, Baal had authority over rain and fertility. The absence of rain meant that Baal was submitting to the god of death; he would revive later and, once again, water the earth. The true God of Israel, by contrast, is a God who lives and can either provide or deny the rain.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 17:5 Elijah hides in a harsh area east of the Jordan, where there is no normal food supply. God is nevertheless able to provide for him.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 17:9 Zarephath, which belongs to Sidon. The heartland of Baal worship is in Sidon, a region over which some thought Israel's God had no authority. Yet the Lord is God of all lands. He even commanded a widow of the region to feed Elijah. ("Command" here might mean "ordained.")

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 17:13 first make me a little cake. Against all parental instinct, the woman is asked to give Elijah something to eat, even before feeding herself and her son. This would be a great step of faith for her.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 17:18–20 The widow appears convinced of the truth of Elijah's religion by seeing God's power in vv. 8–16. When death comes, she knows it must be the Lord's doing. She blames God's prophet for reminding God of her sin. Elijah agrees with her about who is the ultimate cause (have you brought calamity . . . by killing her son?), but in his prayer he makes no comment on whether the widow's sin was the human cause.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 17:21 he stretched himself upon the child three times. The purpose of this action is not made clear. Biblical prophets often "act out" their messages (e.g., Ezekiel 4), and Elijah's actions here appear to be part of his prayer. When faced with the "god of death," the Lord, unlike Baal, does not need to submit to him (see note on 1 Kings 17:1).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:1–46 In ch. 17 Elijah has lived privately, first in the Transjordanian wilderness and then in Zarephath. Now he reappears in public. The drought will end, but not before all Israel sees that it is the Lord who makes that happen.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:1–16 Even though Elijah has been living only a few miles from Jezebel's hometown of Sidon, he has remained hidden from Ahab. Obadiah, like the widow of Zarephath (17:18), mistakenly connects the prophet's presence with the coming of punishment for his own sin.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:17–18 you troubler of Israel. Ahab sees Elijah, the prophet who has pronounced God's judgment, as the cause of the nation's trouble. But Elijah rightly answers that Ahab, who has turned to other gods, is Israel's true problem.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:20 All Israel is now gathered on Mount Carmel. It is a hill near modern Haifa.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:21 limping between . . . opinions. Compare v. 26, where the prophets of Baal "limped around the altar." The worship of the people is no better than the worship of these prophets, as they refuse to choose between the Lord and Baal.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:22 I, even I only, am left. Although there were other prophets of the Lord in Israel at this time (see vv. 4, 13; 20:35–43; 22:1–28), Elijah feels that he is the only one willing to take a public stand against the prophets of Baal.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:24 the God who answers by fire, he is God. The Lord is often associated with fire in the OT (e.g., Lev. 9:24; 10:2; Num. 16:35). Other ancient sources suggest that Baal was thought to control fire and lightning. The question here is, who really controls the fire?

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:27 musing . . . relieving himself . . . on a journey . . . asleep and must be awakened. Elijah taunts the prophets of Baal with some disrespectful suggestions as to why he does not answer them. A real god would not be limited in such ways.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:28–29 cut themselves. The desperate attempt to manipulate Baal into action involves self-mutilation.

FACT

Why did the prophets of Baal cut themselves? According to one ancient Canaanite myth, the father of Baal slashes his chest, arms, and back upon learning of his son’s death. In the myth, Baal returns to life when the rains come. The prophets may have hoped that their actions would bring rain and end the drought.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:30 he repaired the altar of the LORD. Sacrifices to the Lord were to take place only in Jerusalem, but the authors do not criticize Elijah for repairing this unauthorized altar. The Lord himself removes the altar after it has served its purpose (v. 38).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:35 the water ran around the altar. The whole area is soaked with water so there is no possibility of natural combustion. If fire consumes this offering, it must be the Lord’s doing.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:36–37 Answer me, O LORD, answer me. Elijah’s public prayer gives evidence of great faith and confidence that God will answer.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:38–39 fire of the LORD. This cannot be the result of any natural phenomenon, since even lightning would not consume the stones. As all the people realize, this fire can only be a special work of God.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:42 Elijah bowed himself down on the earth and put his face between his knees. The significance of this prophetic action, like that in 17:21, is unclear. He could be praying for rain, or he might simply be exhausted.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:45–46 As the rains began, Ahab . . . went to Jezreel, where he had a palace (21:1) and where Jezebel was staying (19:1–2). That Elijah also went to Jezreel suggests he mistakenly thought his war with Baal worship was over.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 19:1–21 Elijah has won a mighty battle on the mountain, but a stronger opponent than Ahab awaits him: Queen Jezebel.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 19:1–2 Jezebel sent a messenger. Jezebel has already killed several prophets (see 18:4, 13). She is to be taken seriously when she threatens to take Elijah's life.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 19:3 he was afraid, and he arose and ran for his life. The shock of Jezebel's resistance after Mount Carmel has led Elijah to forget to trust God. He flees to Beersheba in the far south of the Promised Land—as far away from Jezebel as he can get. The distance was about 120 miles (193 km), which would have taken an ordinary single traveler around six days.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 19:5 The broom tree is a bush with many branches and twigs, small leaves, and clusters of flowers. an angel touched him. Elijah has been responding so far only to Jezebel's "messenger" (v. 2). Now God sends an "angel" or messenger of his own, leading Elijah back onto the path of faith.

FACT

Broom trees (19:5) are a type of desert shrub common in Palestine, Arabia, and Egypt. Its long branches form a bush that grows to about 12 feet (3.7 m) high. Wood from broom trees makes excellent charcoal.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 19:7 the journey is too great. Elijah thought his journey was over; he has had "enough" (v. 4). But now he is to fortify himself for a further journey, which will otherwise be "too great" (same Hebrew word as "enough").

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 19:8 he arose . . . and went . . . to Horeb, the mount of God. Horeb is another name for Mount Sinai, where God first spoke the Ten Commandments to the people of Israel (Exodus 19–20). The forty days and forty nights of Elijah's travels represented a journey of about 250 miles (400 km). The last part of the journey would have taken much longer because of rugged terrain.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 19:10 I, even I only, am left. The resistance of one person (Jezebel) has turned massive victory into overwhelming defeat in Elijah's mind. He is certainly not the only one left, but that is how he feels.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 19:11–12 not in the wind . . . not in the earthquake . . . not in the fire. The emphasis on Mount Carmel had been on God's spectacular ways, particularly his use of fire. The emphasis here is on God's quiet ways, being found in a low whisper.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 19:13–14 What are you doing here, Elijah? The point of the demonstration on the mountain was presumably that Elijah would answer this question differently the second time (compare v. 9). His answer is, however, exactly the same as before (I have been very jealous for the LORD). There is a suggestion in the text that he does not particularly want to understand what God is saying through these events. He has always claimed to "stand before the Lord" (see 17:1; 18:15), but here on Mount Horeb, in spite of the command of 19:11 ("Go out and stand . . . before the LORD"), he apparently stays in the cave until the storm is over and he hears the "whisper" (v. 12). When he does go out, it is with his cloak over his face, which makes it difficult for him to "see."

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 19:15–18 Go, return on your way to the wilderness of Damascus. Elijah must now return to northern Syria-Palestine and anoint Hazael, Jehu, and Elisha. This new political and religious order will bring about the final victory over Baal worship. Elijah is to prepare the way.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 19:19 he departed from there and found Elisha. Has Elijah regained his faith as a result of his trip to Mount Horeb? The closing verses of ch. 19 suggest not. There is no mention here or later of Elijah's ever even trying to meet Hazael and Jehu (see vv. 15–16). One never reads of Elijah anointing Hazael. Later, Elisha will arrange the anointing of Jehu (2 Kings 9:1–13). There is no mention of Elijah anointing Elisha as his prophetic successor; he merely enlists him as his assistant (1 Kings 19:21). Yet the very names of the two prophets indicate the way God's plan is unfolding. "Elijah" means "the LORD, he is God,” and Elijah has demonstrated that truth (18:39). “Elisha” means “God saves.”

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 19:20–21 Let me kiss my father and my mother. Elisha immediately leaves his normal employment to follow his new mentor, pausing only briefly to cut his ties with his old life. He kisses his parents goodbye and destroys his old means of financial support (the 12 yoke of oxen and . . . the yokes of the oxen that control them), symbolizing that he has abandoned home and income for the Lord.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 20:1–43 After Elijah’s recruitment of Elisha, one expects to read of his anointing of Hazael as king over Syria and of Jehu as king over Israel (compare 19:15–18). Instead, one finds a different prophet appearing (20:13) and a different king of Syria (Ben-hadad) losing a war with Ahab. The message of ch. 19 is thus illustrated: Elijah is not the only remaining servant of God (see 19:10, 14); and, the Lord will bring about in his own good time the events spoken of in 19:17.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 20:2–9 Your silver and your gold are mine (v. 3). The king of Syria (Ben-hadad) tries to force Israel to serve him. Ahab accepts these terms at first (v. 4). Later he changes his mind (vv. 5–9) when a revision (v. 6) apparently makes the terms more extensive (whatever pleases you), intrusive (search your house), and immediate (tomorrow).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 20:11 Let not him who straps on his armor boast himself as he who takes it off. It is unwise to boast about one’s exploits before the battle has even begun; there is time enough for boasting when the battle is won.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 20:14–18 Israel is to fight according to a divine battle plan that does not make much human sense (as in the case of Gideon in Judges 7). The servants, young men unschooled in military matters, are to initiate the battle. The plan benefits from Ben-hadad’s being drunk as the Israelites approach (1 Kings 20:16). He is seemingly incapable of giving instructions (v. 18).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 20:22–25 strengthen yourself. Both sides prepare for a continuation of warfare in the following spring, a common time for kings to go to war (compare 2 Sam. 11:1). The Syrians plan next time to fight the Israelites in the plain (1 Kings 20:23), where horse and chariot will give them an advantage that they wouldn't have in the hills. But they fail to realize that the Lord is the only real God, and he can give victory to his people anywhere he chooses (ch. 17).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 20:26 Aphek. The second battle is considerably farther north than the first (see Josh. 19:30), which took place near Samaria (1 Kings 20:1).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 20:28 god of the hills . . . not a god of the valleys. God will prove that the Syrians' notions about him are false.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 20:31 Sackcloth signifies repentance (compare 21:27), and ropes signify submissiveness (prisoners may be led by them).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 20:34 cities . . . bazaars. The Israelite cities previously taken by the Syrians are returned. Ahab is given trading privileges in Damascus.

FACT

The word bazaar (20:34) meant "place of prices" in Persian. Bazaars were permanent places designated for merchants and traders to buy and sell goods. Either a part of one street or a whole district of a city would be used as a bazaar.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 20:35 sons of the prophets. Prophets who lived in communities together (see note on 2 Kings 2:3).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 20:36 a lion shall strike you down. Even prophets must obey God's word. See ch. 13, where the same point is made and the same punishment is pronounced. If disobedient prophets cannot escape God's judgment, then disobedient kings certainly will not.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 20:39–42 Your servant went out into the midst of the battle. In circumstances similar to 2 Sam. 12:1–4, the prophet tricks the king into pronouncing judgment on himself. Disguising himself as a soldier, the prophet tells a story implying that, because he failed in his guard duties, he is liable to pay a fine of a talent of silver (an impossible amount for an ordinary soldier to raise) or suffer death. Ahab agrees that the death sentence is just. Thus he provides the prophet with the opportunity to condemn Ahab because the king has released an enemy king whom God had devoted to destruction (compare 1 Sam. 15:17–24). For “devoted to destruction,” see note on Deut. 20:16–18.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 21:1–29 An apparently reinvigorated Elijah appears again in Jezreel to denounce another sin of Ahab and to foretell the destruction of Ahab’s family for all its sins.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 21:3 the inheritance of my fathers. The land of Israel did not belong to the families who technically “owned” it. Instead it belonged to God. He had brought the Israelites into the land in fulfillment of the Abrahamic promise and had, through Joshua, divided it among the tribes as their inheritance (e.g., Gen. 17:8; Lev. 25:23; Josh. 13:1–7). A complex set of laws kept land in the family. This prevented it from being owned by only the rich (e.g., Deut. 25:5–10). Ahab’s offer shows his disregard for Israelite law.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 21:7 Do you now govern Israel? Jezebel is the most powerful person in Israel (see 19:1–2), not her passive husband Ahab. She despises Ahab when he is unwilling to use his power for personal gain.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 21:8–10 Proclaim a fast. Jezebel’s plan to have Naboth executed on false charges requires the cooperation of elders and leaders who don’t care about justice for the poor (see Deut. 19:11–13; 21:1–9). It also requires the cooperation of two worthless men, who will be the two witnesses required by OT law (see Deut. 19:15–21).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 21:15 take possession of the vineyard. This assumes that the king is entitled to confiscate the property of an executed criminal. This custom is recorded in the history of other ancient nations, but there was no such provision in Israelite law. Ahab and Jezebel were ignoring Israelite law and introducing foreign ideas.

FACT

Confiscation of land. Israelite law did not allow the king to confiscate the land of an executed criminal. This was, however, a common practice outside of Israel. Perhaps Jezebel, who came from Tyre, based her plan to seize Naboth’s vineyard on this practice.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 21:19 In the place where dogs licked up the blood of Naboth shall dogs lick your own blood. Ahab died in battle and was buried in Samaria (22:34–37), not outside Jezreel “in the place” where Naboth was stoned (21:19; see v. 13). Yet, when dogs in Samaria lick up the blood washed from Ahab’s chariot, the text declares that it was a fulfillment of this prophecy (22:38). The prophecy was probably fulfilled in stages, first by Ahab’s death and then by the death of his son Joram, whose body was in fact thrown into Naboth’s vineyard (2 Kings 9:25–26).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 21:23–24 The dogs shall eat . . . the birds of the heavens shall eat. Israelites considered it a terrible thing not to be given a proper burial (Deut. 28:25–26).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 21:29 Because he has humbled himself. Ahab was the worst of kings (vv. 25–26). He added to Jeroboam’s sin the worship of Baal (16:30–33). But Ahab repents, and so avoids God’s judgment on his house in his lifetime.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:1–40 Although the house of Ahab is under a prophetic curse, the complete fulfillment of the prophecy will be delayed until the reign of Ahab’s son (see 21:27–29). However, Ahab’s own death has been foretold by two different prophets (20:41–42; 21:19). Now, after a third prophet confirms the word from the Lord, Ahab will die.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:1–5 The peace that followed the battle of Aphek (20:26–34) lasted three years. Even after such a crushing defeat, the king of Syria was able to hold on to Ramoth-gilead, located on a major trade route from the Red Sea to Damascus. Jehoshaphat is apparently at peace with Ahab (see 22:44) after the long war described in 14:30; 15:6–7, 16–22. Jehoshaphat, who is a devout man (see 22:43, 46), is willing to go with Ahab to battle at Ramoth-gilead. But first he wishes to inquire . . . for the word of the LORD.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:6–7 gathered the prophets together. These prophets are not truly prophets of the Lord, as events will prove. They say whatever the king wants to hear. This is further implied in Jehoshaphat’s response to their advice: Is there not here another prophet of the LORD? (See also note on 2 Chron. 18:4–14.)

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:8 Let not the king say so. Ahab should not ignore a prophet of the Lord simply because he never prophesies good concerning me.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:10–12 The harvesting of cereal crops in Israel was followed by a threshing and winnowing process. Threshed material was thrown into the air with a fork or a shovel to allow the breeze to separate the grain, the straw, and the chaff. The grain would then be cleaned and stored in jars, grain pits, or storage houses. The location of this activity was the threshing floor, which in this case was at the city gate. Here all the prophets were prophesying before the kings, and Zedekiah acted out his message.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:15–16 Go up and triumph. Ahab sees that Micaiah's words are merely a mocking imitation of the court prophets, who tell him only what he wants to hear.

FACT

Ahab's ivory palace. Archaeologists have discovered remains of Ahab's palace (22:39) in Samaria. Beautifully carved ivory fragments with Egyptian and Phoenician designs were found where its main floors and courtyard would have been.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:21 a spirit came forward. The imagery is that of a council of war, with the heavenly king sitting on his throne surrounded by his army, making plans to defeat Ahab in battle.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:23 put a lying spirit in the mouth of all these . . . prophets. Though God himself does not do evil, he sometimes uses evil agents to accomplish his purposes (see note on 1 Sam. 16:14).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:24 How did the Spirit of the Lord go from me to speak to you? Zedekiah says that he has been influenced by "the Spirit of the Lord," who cannot give contradictory advice to him and Micaiah.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:25 All will become clear, Micaiah claims, when the disaster that he is predicting comes and Zedekiah is forced to hide inside someone's home.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:26 Amon is evidently one of Ahab's high officials, entrusted with control of city affairs in Samaria. Joash the king's son is responsible for prisoners.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:30 the king of Israel disguised himself. Ahab's disguise is evidence of unclear thinking. If Micaiah has been lying, there is no danger. If he has been telling the truth, Ahab will die, whatever he does.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:32–33 Jehoshaphat cried out. And when the captains . . . saw that it was not the king of Israel. Although only Jehoshaphat wears royal robes, he is saved from death because his shout (either its language or its accent) reveals that he is not the man Ben-hadad wants to kill (v. 31).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:34 between the scale armor and the breastplate. The arrow shot at random flies to one of the few undefended spots on Ahab's body. Micaiah is proven to be a true prophet.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:35 propped up in his chariot. The king stays on the battlefield all day, presumably to encourage his troops. At sunset he dies.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:38 according to the word of the LORD. See 21:19, although that verse does not mention prostitutes, but only dogs. There is already a close association between the two, however, in Deut. 23:17–18. There Moses commands Israel not to become a cult prostitute or to bring into the temple the earnings of a female prostitute or a male prostitute (literally, "dog"; see ESV footnote on Deut. 23:18).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:39 Chronicles of the Kings (also v. 45). See note on 14:19. Archaeologists have uncovered a palace reminiscent of Ahab's ivory house at Samaria.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:41–53 Jehoshaphat and Ahaziah. Both Jehoshaphat and Ahaziah have already appeared in 1 Kings as characters in Ahab's story. They are, respectively, his comrade-in-arms and his successor (vv. 2–4, 40).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:43–46 Jehoshaphat was a good king. He had nothing to do with cult prostitutes (15:12). Under his rule, however, the high places where ungodly worship occurred were not taken away (15:14).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:47 There was no king in Edom; a deputy was king. The Hebrew word for "deputy" is also used to describe Solomon's various officials (4:5, 27; 5:16; 9:23). Jehoshaphat controlled Edom so completely that its king had no more power than one of Solomon's deputies.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:48 the ships were wrecked at Ezion-geber. Because Jehoshaphat rules Edom, like Solomon he is able to build ships at Ezion-geber (see 9:26–28).

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:49 Jehoshaphat was not willing. The current peace between Israel and Judah (v. 44) is not strong. Whereas Solomon took Sidonians on board his ships (9:27), Jehoshaphat refuses even to have Israelites sail with his men. According to 2 Chron. 20:35–37, at first Jehoshaphat was willing to cooperate with Ahaziah. But after Eliezer prophesied against Jehoshaphat's alliance with Ahaziah, Jehoshaphat changed his mind.

1 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:50 slept with his fathers. See note on 2:10.

The Global Message of 2 Kings

The Ongoing Story of Global Redemption

The book of 2 Kings continues the story of 1 Kings, telling how God's people gradually lose their distinct identity in the world due to the faithless kings who lead them.

Solomon had once dedicated the temple in Jerusalem by declaring that the God of Israel is completely unique: "There is no God like you, in heaven above or on earth beneath" (1 Kings 8:23). Solomon's prayer anticipates a time when foreign peoples will journey to the temple in Jerusalem because the God of Israel is famous for answering the prayers of all people (1 Kings 8:41–43). Yet the final chapter of 2 Kings describes a foreign nation coming to Jerusalem, not to worship there but to destroy the temple and take the people of God into exile (2 Kings 25:8–21). The tragic history that unfolds between the dedication and destruction of the temple shows how God's people and God's kings fail in their commission to reflect his character among the nations (Deut. 4:6–8; 26:16–19; Isa. 2:6–19).

Nevertheless, the theme of global redemption persists through 2 Kings—God remains at work in bringing the nations to himself despite the disobedience of his people.

Naaman the Leper

The convergence of these themes revolving around Israel's failed global mission is particularly evident in Israel's dealings with the kingdom of Syria (also known as Aram). In 2 Kings 5, Naaman, the military commander of Syria, is recognized as a great man since "by him the LORD had given victory to Syria" (2 Kings 5:1). God had permitted Syria to triumph over his own people. Among the Syrians was an Israelite girl who served in Naaman's house after being captured in battle (5:2). But more than being a trophy of war, this girl's presence among the Syrians sets the stage for Naaman's confession of faith in the God of Israel. The servant girl declares that the prophet Elisha can cure Naaman of his leprosy (5:3), prompting the Syrian king to send Naaman to Israel with sumptuous gifts and an official letter for the king of Israel (5:4–5).

This request shocks the Israelite king. He not only tears his clothes in a response of mourning but also asks a question that speaks better than he knows: “Am I God, to kill and to make alive, that this man sends word to me to cure a man of his leprosy?” (2 Kings 5:7). Earlier in 2 Kings, another Israelite king had foolishly sought a foreign god for healing from sickness because he was convinced that the Lord was no longer present and at work in Israel (1:2–3). But now, the Lord is willing to heal a foreigner on Israel’s own soil. Naaman complies with Elisha’s directions to wash himself in the Jordan and is cleansed from his leprosy (5:14). Various Israelite kings may doubt that the Lord is present and active in Israel, but Naaman recognizes that “there is no God in all the earth but in Israel” (5:15). A healed Syrian leper knows the incomparable power of Israel’s God better than the Israelite kings!

The themes of the chastising of Israel and the salvation of the nations have crossed in 2 Kings 5 in an ironic way. Solomon’s vision of foreigners coming to Israel on pilgrimage to worship the Lord has been fulfilled, though not because of Israel’s faithful witness to the Lord. Through a servant girl rather than a king, God’s mission to enfold the nations of the earth into his family takes a step forward.

Faith and Culture

The conversion of Naaman also sheds light on the perplexing relationship between faith and culture. Naaman was offended at first by Elisha’s instructions to wash in the Jordan, since the rivers of Syria seemed better to him (2 Kings 5:11–12). But he relents after his servants urge him to listen to Elisha (5:13; compare 5:3). After washing himself, receiving healing, and confessing his faith in the God of Israel (5:14–15), Naaman expresses his faith in the Lord according to the cultural norms that are most familiar to him—by offering gifts to the prophet Elisha (5:15) and taking two loads of Israelite soil back to Syria so that he may construct an earthen altar to the Lord (5:17; compare Ex. 20:25). Elisha refuses the first request (2 Kings 5:16) because accepting these gifts would affirm Naaman’s misconception that Israelite prophets work for profit. Here is an instance in which faith cannot give any ground to culture.

But the second request is more ambiguous—Naaman is requesting permission to erect an altar to the Lord as an alternative to worshiping Rimmon, the national god of the Syrians. Unauthorized altars to the Lord had already been the source of much sin in Israel (e.g., 1 Kings 3:4; 12:32–33; 14:23). But Naaman's conflict between his newfound faith and his home culture is different. As a steward of the Syrian king, Naaman must accompany his master to Rimmon's temple. Thus Naaman requests a concession from Elisha: "In this matter may the Lord pardon your servant: when my master goes into the house of Rimmon to worship there, leaning on my arm, and I bow myself in the house of Rimmon, the Lord pardon your servant in this matter" (2 Kings 5:18). Elisha grants Naaman's request as an affirmation of his sincere faith (5:19). In this instance, what is forbidden for Israelites is allowed for Naaman.

Outsiders and Insiders

Though the relationship between faith and culture can be difficult to understand, this story is unambiguous in its welcoming of foreigners on the one hand and its judgment upon Israel on the other. When Gehazi, the servant of Elisha, goes after Naaman to secure some of Syria's best things for himself, Elisha exposes this sin and condemns Gehazi: "Therefore the leprosy of Naaman shall cling to you and to your descendants forever" (2 Kings 5:27). The unmistakable contrast between Naaman the faithful foreigner and Gehazi the unfaithful Israelite reflects a common theme in the Old Testament historical books, and indeed throughout the Bible.

The idea that God frequently finds "outsiders" more receptive to his kingdom has never been easy for "insiders" to accept. Several centuries later, another prophet angered his hometown when he said that they were no different than the Israelites of Elisha's time when Naaman was healed (Luke 4:23–27). Jesus Christ had initially been welcomed in the synagogue of Nazareth (Luke 4:18–22) but soon found the audience to be unresponsive and even hostile. The reaction from the crowd upon hearing Jesus' condemnation of their sin is both predictable and tragic: "all in the synagogue were filled with wrath" (Luke 4:28).

The Gospel: Exclusive and Inclusive

The God who accepted the faith of Naaman is the same God who lives as "a friend of tax collectors and sinners" (Luke 7:34). This is the God who sent his only Son to suffer and die so that the only prerequisite to becoming a part of God’s family is to know and confess our need. Repentance before Jesus, with trusting faith in him, is all that is required (Luke 23:42–43).

The great message of the church for the world today is that all people of any background or ethnicity or class or any other socially distinguishing marker are freely invited to Jesus. The gospel is radically exclusive, because the gospel declares that Jesus is the only way to God (John 14:6; Acts 4:12). But the gospel is just as radically inclusive, for it says that anyone can come to Jesus and find welcome. “Come to me, all who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest” (Matt. 11:28).

Elijah Denounces Ahaziah

2 KINGS 1 [†] [a] After the death of Ahab, Moab [b] rebelled against Israel.

[2][†]Now Ahaziah fell through the lattice in his upper chamber in Samaria, and lay sick; so he sent messengers, telling them, “Go, inquire of [c] Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron, [d] whether I shall recover from this sickness.” [3][†]But the angel of the LORD said to Elijah [e] the Tishbite, “Arise, go up to meet the messengers of the king of Samaria, and say to them, ‘Is it because there is no God in Israel that you are going to inquire of [c] Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron? [4]Now therefore thus says the LORD, [f] You shall not come down from the bed to which you have gone up, but you shall surely die.’” So Elijah went.

[5]The messengers returned to the king, and he said to them, “Why have you returned?” [6]And they said to him, “There came a man to meet us, and said to us, ‘Go back to the king who sent you, and say to him, Thus says the LORD, Is it because there is no God in Israel that you are sending to inquire of [c] Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron? Therefore you shall not come down from the bed to which you have gone up, but you shall surely die.’” [7]He said to them, “What kind of man was he who came to meet you and told you these things?” [8][†]They answered him, [g] “He wore a garment of hair, with a belt of leather about his waist.” And he said, “It is Elijah the Tishbite.”

[9][†]Then the king sent to him a captain of fifty men with his fifty. He went up to Elijah, who was sitting on the top of a hill, and said to him, [h] “O man of God, the king says, ‘Come down.’” [10]But Elijah answered the captain of fifty, “If I am a man of God, [i] let fire come down from heaven and consume you and your fifty.” Then fire came down from heaven and consumed him and his fifty.

[11]Again the king sent to him another captain of fifty men with his fifty. And he answered and said to him, “O man of God, this is the king’s order, ‘Come down quickly!’” [12]But Elijah answered them, “If I am a man of God, [j] let fire come down from heaven and consume you and your fifty.” Then the fire of God came down from heaven and consumed him and his fifty.

[13][†]Again the king sent the captain of a third fifty with his fifty. And the third captain of fifty went up and came and fell on his knees before Elijah and entreated him, “O man of God, please let my life, and the life of these fifty servants of yours, [k]be precious in your sight. [14]Behold, fire came down from heaven and consumed the two former captains of fifty men with their fifties, but now let my life be precious in your sight.” [15]Then the angel of the LORD said to Elijah, “Go down with him; do not be afraid of him.” So he arose and went down with him to the king [16]and said to him, “Thus says the LORD, ‘Because you have sent messengers to inquire of [c]Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron—is it because there is no God in Israel to inquire of his word?—therefore you shall not come down from the bed to which you have gone up, but you shall surely die.’”

[17]So he died according to the word of the LORD that Elijah had spoken. Jehoram became king in his place [l]in the second year of Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, because Ahaziah had no son. [18]Now the rest of the acts of Ahaziah that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

Elijah Taken to Heaven

2 KINGS 2 [†]Now when the LORD was about to [m]take Elijah up to heaven by a whirlwind, Elijah and [n]Elisha were on their way from [o]Gilgal. [2][†]And Elijah said to Elisha, [p]“Please stay here, for the LORD has sent me as far as Bethel.” But Elisha said, [q]“As the LORD lives, and as you yourself live, I will not leave you.” So they went down to Bethel. [3][†]And [r]the sons of the prophets who were in Bethel came out to Elisha and said to him, “Do you know that today the LORD will take away your master from over you?” And he said, “Yes, I know it; keep quiet.”

[4][†]Elijah said to him, “Elisha, [p]please stay here, for the LORD has sent me to [t]Jericho.” But he said, [q]“As the LORD lives, and as you yourself live, I will not leave you.” So they came to Jericho. [5][r]The sons of the prophets who were at Jericho drew near to Elisha and said to him, “Do you know that today the LORD will take away your master from over you?” And he answered, “Yes, I know it; keep quiet.”

[6][†]Then Elijah said to him, [p]“Please stay here, for the LORD has sent me to the Jordan.” But he said, “As the LORD lives, and as you yourself live, I will not leave you.” So the two of them went on. [7]Fifty men of [r]the sons of the prophets also went and stood at some distance from them, as they both were standing by the Jordan. [8]Then Elijah [u]took his cloak and rolled it up and struck the water, [v]and the water was parted to the one side and to the other, till the two of them could go over on dry ground.

[9][†]When they had crossed, Elijah said to Elisha, “Ask what I shall do for you, before I am taken from you.” And Elisha said, “Please let there be a double portion of your spirit on me.” [10][†]And he said, “You have asked a hard thing; yet, if you see me as I am being taken from you, it shall be so for you, but if you do not see me, it shall not be so.” [11][†]And as they still went on and talked, behold, [w]chariots of fire and horses of fire separated the two of them. And Elijah went up by a whirlwind into heaven. [12]And Elisha saw it and he cried, “My father, my father! [x]The chariots of Israel and its horsemen!” And he saw him no more.

Then he took hold of his own clothes [y]and tore them in two pieces. [13]And he took up the cloak of Elijah that had fallen from him and went back and stood on the bank of the Jordan. [14][†]Then he took the cloak of Elijah that had fallen from him and struck the water, saying, “Where is the LORD, the God of Elijah?” And when he had struck the water, [v]the water was parted to the one side and to the other, and Elisha went over.

Elisha Succeeds Elijah

[15]Now when [r]the sons of the prophets who were at Jericho saw him opposite them, they said, “The spirit of Elijah rests on Elisha.” And they came to meet him and bowed to the ground before him. [16][†]And they said to him, “Behold now, there are with your servants fifty strong men. Please let them go and seek your master. It may be that [z]the Spirit of the LORD has caught him up and cast him upon some mountain or into some valley.” And he said, “You shall not send.” [17]But when they urged him [a]till he was ashamed, he said, “Send.” They sent therefore fifty men. And for three days they sought him but did not find him. [18]And they came back to him while he was staying at Jericho, and he said to them, “Did I not say to you, ‘Do not go’?”

[19][†]Now the men of the city said to Elisha, “Behold, the situation of this city is pleasant, as my lord sees, but the water is bad, and the land is unfruitful.” [20]He said, “Bring me a new bowl, and put salt in it.” So they brought it to him. [21]Then he went to the spring of water and [b] threw salt in it and said, “Thus says the Lord, I have healed this water; from now on neither death nor miscarriage shall come from it.” [22]So the water has been healed to this day, according to the word that Elisha spoke.

[23][†]He went up from there to Bethel, and while he was going up on the way, some small boys came out of the city and jeered at him, saying, “Go up, you baldhead! Go up, you baldhead!” [24]And he turned around, and when he saw them, [c] he cursed them in the name of the Lord. And two she-bears came out of the woods and tore forty-two of the boys. [25]From there he went on to [d] Mount Carmel, and from there he returned [e] to Samaria.

Moab Rebels Against Israel

2 KINGS 3 [†][f]In the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, Jehoram the son of Ahab became king over Israel in Samaria, and he reigned twelve years. [2][†]He did what was evil in the sight of the Lord, though not like his father and mother, for he put away the [g] pillar of Baal [h] that his father had made. [3]Nevertheless, he clung to [i] the sin of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, [j] which he made Israel to sin; he did not depart from it.

[4][†]Now Mesha king of Moab was a sheep breeder, [k] and he had to deliver to the king of Israel 100,000 lambs and the wool of 100,000 rams. [5]But [l] when Ahab died, the king of Moab rebelled against the king of Israel. [6]So King Jehoram marched out of Samaria at that time and mustered all Israel. [7][†]And he went and sent word to Jehoshaphat king of Judah, “The king of Moab has rebelled against me. Will you go with me to battle against Moab?” And he said, “I will go. [m] I am as you are, my people as your people, my horses as your horses.” [8]Then he said, “By which way shall we march?” Jehoram answered, “By the way of the wilderness of Edom.”

[9]So the king of Israel went with the king of Judah and [n] the king of Edom. And when they had made a circuitous march of seven days, there was no water for the army or for the animals that followed them. [10]Then the king of Israel said, “Alas! [o]The LORD has called these three kings to give them into the hand of Moab.” [11][†][p]And Jehoshaphat said, “Is there no prophet of the LORD here, through whom we may inquire of the LORD?” Then one of the king of Israel’s servants answered, [q]“Elisha the son of Shaphat is here, [r]who poured water on the hands of Elijah.” [12]And Jehoshaphat said, “The word of the LORD is with him.” So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat and the king of Edom went down to him.

[13]And Elisha said to the king of Israel, [s]“What have I to do with you? Go to [t]the prophets of your father and to [u]the prophets of your mother.” But the king of Israel said to him, “No; it is [o]the LORD who has called these three kings to give them into the hand of Moab.” [14]And Elisha said, [v]“As the LORD of hosts lives, before whom I stand, were it not that I have regard for Jehoshaphat the king of Judah, I would neither look at you nor see you. [15][†]But now [w]bring me a musician.” And when the musician played, [x]the hand of the LORD came upon him. [16]And he said, “Thus says the LORD, ‘I will make this dry streambed full of pools.’ [17]For thus says the LORD, ‘You shall not see wind or rain, but that streambed shall be filled with water, so that you shall drink, you, your livestock, and your animals.’ [18]This is a light thing in the sight of the LORD. He will also give the Moabites into your hand, [19]and you shall attack every fortified city and every choice city, and shall fell every good tree and stop up all springs of water [y]and ruin every good piece of land with stones.” [20][†]The next morning, about the time of [z]offering the sacrifice, behold, water came from the direction of Edom, till the country was filled with water.

[21]When all the Moabites heard that the kings had come up to fight against them, all who were able to put on armor, from the youngest to the oldest, were called out and were drawn up at the border. [22]And when they rose early in the morning and the sun shone on the water, the Moabites saw the water opposite them as red as blood. [23]And they said, “This is blood; the kings have surely fought together and struck one another down. Now then, Moab, to the spoil!” [24]But when they came to the camp of Israel, the Israelites rose and struck the Moabites, till they fled before them. And they went forward, striking the Moabites as they went. [1] [25]And they overthrew the cities, and [a]on every good piece of land every man threw a stone until it was covered. They stopped every spring of water and felled all the good trees, till only its stones were left in [b]Kir-hareseth, and the slingers surrounded and attacked it. [26]When the king of Moab saw that the battle was going against him, he took with him 700 [c]swordsmen to break through, opposite the king of Edom, but they could not. [27][†]Then he took his oldest son who was to reign in his place [d]and offered him for a burnt offering on the wall. And there came great wrath against Israel. And they withdrew from him and returned to their own land.

Elisha and the Widow’s Oil

2 KINGS 4 [†]Now the wife of one of the [e]sons of the prophets cried to Elisha, “Your servant my husband is dead, and you know that your servant feared the LORD, [f]but the creditor has come to take my two children to be his slaves.” [2]And Elisha said to her, “What shall I do for you? Tell me; what have you in the house?” And she said, “Your servant has nothing in the house except a jar of oil.” [3]Then he said, “Go outside, borrow vessels from all your neighbors, empty vessels and not too few. [4]Then go in and shut the door behind yourself and your sons and pour into all these vessels. And when one is full, set it aside.” [5]So she went from him and shut the door behind herself and her sons. And as she poured they brought the vessels to her. [6]When the vessels were full, she said to her son, “Bring me another vessel.” And he said to her, “There is not another.” Then the oil stopped flowing. [7]She came and told the [g]man of God, and he said, “Go, sell the oil and pay your debts, and you and your sons can live on the rest.”

Elisha and the Shunammite Woman

[8]One day Elisha went on to [h]Shunem, where a [i]wealthy woman lived, who urged him to eat some food. So whenever he passed that way, he would turn in there to eat food. [9]And she said to her husband, “Behold now, I know that this is a holy [g]man of God who is continually passing our way. [10][†]Let us make a small room on the roof with walls and put there for him a bed, a table, a chair, and a lamp, so that whenever he comes to us, he can go in there.”

[11]One day he came there, and he turned into the chamber and rested there. [12]And he said to [j]Gehazi his servant, “Call this Shunammite.” When he had called her, she stood before him. [13][†]And he said to him, “Say now to her, ‘See, you have taken all this trouble for us; what is to be done for you? Would you have a word spoken on your behalf to the king or to [k]the commander of the army?’” She answered, “I dwell among my own people.” [14]And he said, “What then is to be done for her?” Gehazi answered, “Well, she has no son, and her husband is old.” [15]He said, “Call her.” And when he had called her, she stood in the doorway. [16]And he said, “At this season, [l]about this time next year, you shall embrace a son.” And she said, “No, my lord, [g]O man of God; [m]do not lie to your servant.” [17]But the woman conceived, and she bore a son about that time [l]the following spring, as Elisha had said to her.

[18]When the child had grown, he went out one day to his father among the reapers. [19]And he said to his father, “Oh, [n]my head, my head!” The father said to his servant, “Carry him to his mother.” [20]And when he had lifted him and brought him to his mother, the child sat on her lap till noon, and then he died. [21]And she went up [o]and laid him on the bed of the [g]man of God and shut the door behind him and went out. [22]Then she called to her husband and said, “Send me one of the servants and one of the donkeys, that I may quickly go to [g]the man of God and come back again.” [23][†]And he said, “Why will you go to him today? It is neither [p]new moon nor Sabbath.” She said, “All is well.” [24]Then she saddled the donkey, and she said to her servant, “Urge the animal on; do not slacken the pace for me unless I tell you.” [25]So she set out and came to the man of God [q]at Mount Carmel.

When the man of God saw her coming, he said to Gehazi his servant, “Look, there is the Shunammite. [26]Run at once to meet her and say to her, ‘Is all well with you? Is all well with your husband? Is all well with the child?’” And she answered, “All is well.” [27][†]And when she came [r]to the mountain to the man of God, she caught hold of his feet. And Gehazi came to push her away. But the man of God said, “Leave her alone, for she is in bitter distress, and the LORD has hidden it from me and has not told me.” [28]Then she said, “Did I ask my lord for a son? [s]Did I not say, ‘Do not deceive me?’” [29][†]He said to Gehazi, [t]“Tie up your garment and [u]take my staff in your hand and go. If you meet anyone, [v]do not greet him, and if anyone greets you, do not reply. And [u]lay my staff on the face of the child.” [30][†]Then the mother of the child said, [w]“As the LORD lives and as you yourself live, I will not leave you.” So he arose and followed her. [31]Gehazi went on ahead and laid the staff on the face of the child, but there was no sound or sign of life. Therefore he returned to meet him and told him, “The child [x]has not awakened.”

[32]When Elisha came into the house, he saw the child lying dead on his bed. [33]So he went in and [y]shut the door behind the two of them [z]and prayed to the LORD. [34][†]Then he went up and lay on the child, putting his mouth on his mouth, his eyes on his eyes, and his hands on his hands. And as [a]he stretched himself upon him, the flesh of the child became warm. [35]Then he got up again and walked once back and forth in the house, and went up [a]and stretched himself upon him. The child sneezed seven times, and the child opened his eyes. [36]Then he summoned Gehazi and said, “Call this Shunammite.” So he called her. And when she came to him, he said, “Pick up your son.” [37]She came and fell at his feet, bowing to the ground. [b]Then she picked up her son and went out.

Elisha Purifies the Deadly Stew

[38][†]And Elisha came again to [c]Gilgal when [d]there was a famine in the land. And as [e]the sons of the prophets [f]were sitting before him, he said to his servant, [g]“Set on the large pot, and boil stew for the sons of the prophets.” [39]One of them went out into the field to gather herbs, and found a wild vine and gathered from it his lap full of wild gourds, and came and cut them up into the pot of stew, not knowing what they were. [40][†]And they poured out some for the men to eat. But while they were eating of the stew, they cried out, “O man of God, there is death in the pot!” And they could not eat it. [41]He said, “Then bring flour.” [h]And he threw it into the pot and said, “Pour some out for the men, that they may eat.” And there was no harm in the pot.

[42][†]A man came from [i]Baal-shalishah, [j]bringing the man of God bread of the firstfruits, twenty loaves of barley and fresh ears of grain in his sack. And Elisha said, [k]“Give to the men, that they may eat.” [43]But his servant said, “How can I set this before a hundred men?” So he repeated, “Give them to the men, that they may eat, for thus says the LORD, ‘They shall eat and have some left.’” [44]So he set it before them. And they ate and had some left, according to the word of the LORD.

Naaman Healed of Leprosy

2 KINGS 5 [†] [l]Naaman, [m]commander of the army of the king of Syria, was a great man with his master and in high favor, because by him the LORD had given victory to Syria. He was a mighty man of valor, but he was a leper. [1] [2]Now the Syrians on [n]one of their raids had carried off a little girl from the land of Israel, and she worked in the service of Naaman’s wife. [3]She said to her mistress, “Would that my lord were with the prophet who is in Samaria! He would cure him of his leprosy.” [4]So Naaman went in and told his lord, “Thus and so spoke the girl from the land of Israel.” [5][†]And the king of Syria said, “Go now, and I will send a letter to the king of Israel.”

So he went, [o]taking with him ten talents of silver, six thousand shekels [2] of gold, and ten [p]changes of clothing. [6]And he brought the letter to the king of Israel, which read, “When this letter reaches you, know that I have sent to you Naaman my servant, that you may cure him of his leprosy.” [7]And when the king of Israel read the letter, [q]he tore his clothes and said, [r]“Am I God, to kill and to make alive, that this man sends word to me to cure a man of his leprosy? Only [s]consider, and see how he is seeking a quarrel with me.”

[8]But when Elisha the [t]man of God heard that the king of Israel had torn his clothes, he sent to the king, saying, “Why have you torn your clothes? Let him come now to me, that he may know that there is a prophet in Israel.” [9][†]So Naaman came with his horses and chariots and stood at the door of Elisha’s house. [10]And Elisha sent a messenger to him, saying, [u]“Go and wash in the Jordan seven times, and your flesh shall be restored, and you shall be clean.” [11]But Naaman was angry and went away, saying, “Behold, I thought that he would surely come out to me and stand and call upon the name of the LORD his God, and wave his hand over the place and cure the leper. 12Are not Abana [3] and Pharpar, the rivers of [v] Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel? Could I not wash in them and be clean?" So he turned and went away in a rage. 13[†]But his servants came near and said to him, [w] "My father, it is a great word the prophet has spoken to you; will you not do it? Has he actually said to you, 'Wash, and be clean'?" 14[†]So he went down and dipped himself seven times in the Jordan, according to the word of the man of God, [x] and his flesh was restored like the flesh of a little child, [y] and he was clean.

15Then he returned to the man of God, he and all his company, and he came and stood before him. And he said, "Behold, I know that [z] there is no God in all the earth but in Israel; so [a] accept now a present from your servant." 16[†]But he said, [b] "As the LORD lives, before whom I stand, [c] I will receive none." And he urged him to take it, but he refused. 17[†]Then Naaman said, "If not, please let there be given to your servant two mule loads of earth, for from now on your servant will not offer burnt offering or sacrifice to any god but the LORD. 18[†]In this matter may the LORD pardon your servant: when my master goes into the house of [d] Rimmon to worship there, [e] leaning on my arm, and I bow myself in the house of Rimmon, when I bow myself in the house of Rimmon, the LORD pardon your servant in this matter." 19He said to him, [f] "Go in peace."

But when Naaman had gone from him a short distance, 20[†] [g] Gehazi, the servant of Elisha the man of God, said, "See, my master has spared this Naaman the Syrian, in not accepting from his hand what he brought. [h] As the LORD lives, I will run after him and get something from him." 21So Gehazi followed Naaman. And when Naaman saw someone running after him, he got down from the chariot to meet him and said, [i] "Is all well?" 22And he said, "All is well. My master has sent me to say, 'There have just now come to me from [j] the hill country of Ephraim two young men of the sons of the prophets. Please give them a talent of silver and [k] two changes of clothing.'" 23And Naaman said, [l] "Be pleased to accept two talents." And he urged him and tied up two talents of silver in two bags, with two changes of clothing, and laid them on two of his servants. And they carried them before Gehazi. [24]And when he came to the hill, he took them from their hand and put them in the house, and he sent the men away, and they departed. [25]He went in and stood before his master, and Elisha said to him, “Where have you been, Gehazi?” And he said, “Your servant went nowhere.” [26][†]But he said to him, “Did not my heart go when the man turned from his chariot to meet you? Was it a time to accept money and garments, olive orchards and vineyards, sheep and oxen, male servants and female servants? [27]Therefore the leprosy of Naaman shall cling to you and to your descendants forever.” So he went out from his presence [m] a leper, like snow.

The Axe Head Recovered

2 KINGS 6 [†]Now [n] the sons of the prophets said to Elisha, “See, the place where we dwell under your charge is too small for us. [2]Let us go to the Jordan and each of us get there a log, and let us make a place for us to dwell there.” And he answered, “Go.” [3]Then one of them said, “Be pleased to go with your servants.” And he answered, “I will go.” [4]So he went with them. And when they came to the Jordan, they cut down trees. [5]But as one was felling a log, his axe head fell into the water, and he cried out, “Alas, my master! It was borrowed.” [6]Then the man of God said, “Where did it fall?” When he showed him the place, [o] he cut off a stick and threw it in there and made the iron float. [7]And he said, “Take it up.” So he reached out his hand and took it.

Horses and Chariots of Fire

[8][†]Once when the king of Syria was warring against Israel, he took counsel with his servants, saying, “At such and such a place shall be my camp.” [9][†]But the man of God sent word to the king of Israel, “Beware that you do not pass this place, for the Syrians are going down there.” [10]And the king of Israel sent to the place about which the man of God told him. Thus he used to warn him, so that he saved himself there more than once or twice.

[11]And the mind of the king of Syria was greatly troubled because of this thing, and he called his servants and said to them, “Will you not show me who of us is for the king of Israel?” [12]And one of his servants said, “None, my lord, O king; but Elisha, the prophet who is in Israel, tells the king of Israel the words that you speak in your bedroom.” [13][†]And he said, “Go and see where he is, that I may send and seize him.” It was told him, “Behold, he is in [p]Dothan.” [14]So he sent there horses and chariots and a great army, and they came by night and surrounded the city.

[15]When the servant of the man of God rose early in the morning and went out, behold, an army with horses and chariots was all around the city. And the servant said, “Alas, my master! What shall we do?” [16][†]He said, “Do not be afraid, [q]for those who are with us are more than those who are with them.” [17][†]Then Elisha prayed and said, “O LORD, please [r]open his eyes that he may see.” So the LORD opened the eyes of the young man, and he saw, and behold, the mountain was full of [s]horses and chariots of fire all around Elisha. [18][†]And when the Syrians came down against him, Elisha prayed to the LORD and said, “Please strike this people with blindness.” [t]So he struck them with blindness in accordance with the prayer of Elisha. [19][†]And Elisha said to them, “This is not the way, and this is not the city. Follow me, and I will bring you to the man whom you seek.” And he led them to Samaria.

[20]As soon as they entered Samaria, Elisha said, “O LORD, [r]open the eyes of these men, that they may see.” So the LORD opened their eyes and they saw, and behold, they were in the midst of Samaria. [21]As soon as the king of Israel saw them, he said to Elisha, [u]“My father, shall I strike them down? Shall I strike them down?” [22][†]He answered, “You shall not strike them down. Would you strike down those whom you have taken captive [v]with your sword and with your bow? [w]Set bread and water before them, that they may eat and drink and go to their master.” [23]So he prepared for them a great feast, and when they had eaten and drunk, he sent them away, and they went to their master. And the Syrians did not come again [x]on raids into the land of Israel.

Ben-hadad’s Siege of Samaria

[24][†]Afterward [y]Ben-hadad king of Syria mustered his entire army and went up and besieged Samaria. [25][†]And there was a great famine in

Samaria, as they besieged it, until a donkey’s head was sold for eighty shekels of silver, and the fourth part of a kab [1] of dove’s dung for five shekels of silver. [26][†]Now as the king of Israel was passing by on the wall, a woman cried out to him, saying, “Help, my lord, O king!” [27]And he said, “If the Lord will not help you, how shall I help you? From the threshing floor, or from the winepress?” [28][†]And the king asked her, “What is your trouble?” She answered, “This woman said to me, ‘Give your son, that we may eat him today, and we will eat my son tomorrow.’ [29] [z] So we boiled my son and ate him. And on the next day I said to her, ‘Give your son, that we may eat him.’ But she has hidden her son.” [30][†]When the king heard the words of the woman, [a] he tore his clothes—now he was passing by on the wall—and the people looked, and behold, [a] he had sackcloth beneath on his body— [31]and he said, [b] “May God do so to me and more also, if the head of Elisha the son of Shaphat remains on his shoulders today.”

[32][†]Elisha was sitting in his house, [c] and the elders were sitting with him. Now the king had dispatched a man from his presence, but before the messenger arrived Elisha said to the elders, “Do you see how this [d] murderer has sent to take off my head? Look, when the messenger comes, shut the door and hold the door fast against him. Is not the sound of his master’s feet behind him?” [33]And while he was still speaking with them, the messenger came down to him and said, “This trouble is from the Lord! [e] Why should I wait for the Lord any longer?”

Elisha Promises Food

2 KINGS 7 [†]But Elisha said, “Hear the word of the Lord: thus says the Lord, [f] Tomorrow about this time a seah [1] of fine flour shall be sold for a shekel, [2] and two seahs of barley for a shekel, at the gate of Samaria.” [2][†]Then [g] the captain on whose hand the king leaned said to the man of God, [h] “If the Lord himself should make windows in heaven, could this thing be?” But he said, “You shall see it with your own eyes, but you shall not eat of it.”

The Syrians Flee

[3][†]Now there were four men who were lepers [3] [i] at the entrance to the gate. And they said to one another, “Why are we sitting here until we die? [4]If we say, ‘Let us enter the city,’ the famine is in the city, and we shall die there. And if we sit here, we die also. So now come, let us go over to the camp of the Syrians. If they spare our lives we shall live, and if they kill us we shall but die.” [5]So they arose at twilight to go to the camp of the Syrians. But when they came to the edge of the camp of the Syrians, behold, there was no one there. [6]For the Lord had made the army of the Syrians [j] hear the sound of chariots and of horses, the sound of a great army, so that they said to one another, “Behold, the king of Israel has hired against us [k] the kings of the Hittites and the kings of Egypt to come against us.” [7] [l] So they fled away in the twilight and abandoned their tents, their horses, and their donkeys, leaving the camp as it was, and fled for their lives. [8]And when these lepers came to the edge of the camp, they went into a tent and ate and drank, and they carried off silver and gold and clothing and went and hid them. Then they came back and entered another tent and carried off things from it and went and hid them.

[9]Then they said to one another, “We are not doing right. This day is a day of good news. If we are silent and wait until the morning light, punishment will overtake us. Now therefore come; let us go and tell the king’s household.” [10]So they came and called to the gatekeepers of the city and told them, “We came to the camp of the Syrians, and behold, there was no one to be seen or heard there, nothing but the horses tied and the donkeys tied and the tents as they were.” [11]Then the gatekeepers called out, and it was told within the king’s household. [12]And the king rose in the night and said to his servants, “I will tell you what the Syrians have done to us. They know that we are hungry. Therefore they have gone out of the camp to hide themselves in the open country, thinking, ‘When they come out of the city, we shall take them alive and get into the city.’” [13]And one of his servants said, “Let some men take five of the remaining horses, seeing that those who are left here will fare like the whole multitude of Israel who have already perished. Let us send and see.” [14]So they took two horsemen, and the king sent them after the army of the Syrians, saying, “Go and see.” [15]So they went after them as far as the Jordan, and behold, all the way was littered with garments and equipment that the Syrians had thrown away in their haste. And the messengers returned and told the king.

[16]Then the people went out and plundered the camp of the Syrians. So a seah of fine flour was sold for a shekel, and two seahs of barley for a shekel, [m]according to the word of the LORD. [17]Now the king had appointed [n]the captain on whose hand he leaned to have charge of the gate. And the people trampled him in the gate, so that he died, as the man of God had said [o]when the king came down to him. [18]For when the man of God had said to the king, “Two seahs of barley shall be sold for a shekel, and a seah of fine flour for a shekel, about this time tomorrow in the gate of Samaria,” [19][n]the captain had answered the man of God, “If the LORD himself should make windows in heaven, could such a thing be?” And he had said, [p]“You shall see it with your own eyes, but you shall not eat of it.” [20][†]And so it happened to him, for the people trampled him in the gate and he died.

The Shunammite’s Land Restored

2 KINGS 8 [†]Now Elisha had said to the woman [q]whose son he had restored to life, “Arise, and depart with your household, and sojourn wherever you can, for the LORD [r]has called for a famine, and it will come upon the land for [s]seven years.” [2][†]So the woman arose and did according to the word of the man of God. She went with her household and sojourned in the land of the Philistines seven years. [3][†]And at the end of the seven years, when the woman returned from the land of the Philistines, she went to appeal to the king for her house and her land. [4]Now the king was talking with [t]Gehazi the servant of the man of God, saying, “Tell me all the great things that Elisha has done.” [5]And while he was telling the king how [q]Elisha had restored the dead to life, behold, the woman whose son he had restored to life appealed to the king for her house and her land. And Gehazi said, “My lord, O king, here is the woman, and here is her son whom Elisha restored to life.” [6][†]And when the king asked the woman, she told him. So the king appointed an official for her, saying, “Restore all that was hers, together with all the produce of the fields from the day that she left the land until now.”

Hazael Murders Ben-hadad

[7][†]Now Elisha came to [u]Damascus. [v]Ben-hadad the king of Syria was sick. And when it was told him, “The man of God has come here,” [8][†]the king said to [w]Hazael, [x]“Take a present with you and go to meet the man of God, [y]and inquire of the LORD through him, saying, ‘Shall I recover from this sickness?’” [9]So Hazael went to meet him, and took a present with him, all kinds of goods of Damascus, forty camels’ loads. When he came and stood before him, he said, [z]“Your son Ben-hadad king of Syria has sent me to you, saying, ‘Shall I recover from this sickness?’” [10][†]And Elisha said to him, [a]“Go, say to him, ‘You shall certainly recover,’ but [1] the LORD has shown me that [b]he shall certainly die.” [11][†]And he fixed his gaze and stared at him, [c]until he was embarrassed. And the man of God wept. [12]And Hazael said, “Why does my lord weep?” He answered, “Because I know [d]the evil that you will do to the people of Israel. You will set on fire their fortresses, and you will kill their young men with the sword [e]and dash in pieces their little ones and rip open their pregnant women.” [13]And Hazael said, “What is your servant, [f]who is but a dog, that he should do this great thing?” Elisha answered, [g]“The LORD has shown me that you are to be king over Syria.” [14]Then he departed from Elisha and came to his master, who said to him, “What did Elisha say to you?” And he answered, “He told me [h]that you would certainly recover.” [15][†]But the next day he took the bed cloth [2] and dipped it in water and spread it over his face, till he died. And Hazael became king in his place.

Jehoram Reigns in Judah

[16][†]In the fifth year of [i]Joram the son of Ahab, king of Israel, when Jehoshaphat was king of Judah, [3] Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, began to reign. [17]He was [j]thirty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem. [18][†]And he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, as the house of Ahab had done, for [k]the daughter of Ahab was his wife. And he did what was evil in the sight of the LORD.
[19][†]Yet the LORD was not willing to destroy Judah, for the sake of David his servant, [l] since he promised to give [m] a lamp to him and to his sons forever.

[20][†]In his days Edom revolted from the rule of Judah and set up [n] a king of their own. [21]Then Joram [4] passed over to Zair with all his chariots and rose by night, and he and his chariot commanders struck the Edomites who had surrounded him, but his army [o] fled home. [22] [p] So Edom revolted from the rule of Judah to this day. Then [q] Libnah revolted at the same time. [23][†]Now the rest of the acts of Joram, and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? [24]So Joram slept with his fathers and was buried [r] with his fathers in the city of David, and [s] Ahaziah his son reigned in his place.

Ahaziah Reigns in Judah

[25] [t] In the [u] twelfth year of Joram the son of Ahab, king of Israel, Ahaziah the son of Jehoram, king of Judah, began to reign. [26]Ahaziah was [v] twenty-two years old when he began to reign, and he reigned one year in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Athaliah; she was [w] a granddaughter of Omri king of Israel. [27]He also walked in the way of the house of Ahab and did what was evil in the sight of the Lord, as the house of Ahab had done, for he was son-in-law to the house of Ahab.

[28][†]He went with Joram the son of Ahab to make war against [x] Hazael king of Syria at [y] Ramoth-gilead, and the Syrians wounded Joram. [29] [z] And King Joram returned to be healed in Jezreel of the wounds that the Syrians had given him at [a] Ramah, when he fought against Hazael king of Syria. And [b] Ahaziah the son of Jehoram king of Judah went down to see Joram the son of Ahab in Jezreel, because he was sick.

Jehu Anointed King of Israel

2 KINGS 9 [†]Then Elisha the prophet called one of [c] the sons of the prophets and said to him, [d] "Tie up your garments, and take this [e] flask of oil in your hand, and go to [f] Ramoth-gilead. [2][†]And when you arrive, look there for Jehu [g] the son of Jehoshaphat, son of Nimshi. And go in and have him rise from among [h] his fellows, and lead him to an inner chamber.

[4]So the young man, the servant of the prophet, went to Ramoth-gilead. [5]And when he came, behold, the commanders of the army were in council. And he said, “I have a word for you, O commander.” And Jehu said, “To which of us all?” And he said, “To you, O commander.” [6]So he arose and went into the house. And the young man poured the oil on his head, saying to him, “Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, [i]I anoint you king over the people of the LORD, over Israel. [7][†]And you shall strike down the house of Ahab your master, so that I may avenge [j]on Jezebel the blood of my servants the prophets, and the blood of all the servants of the LORD. [8]For the whole house of Ahab shall perish, [k]and I will cut off from Ahab [l]every male, [m]bond or free, in Israel. [9]And I will make the house of Ahab like [n]the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and like [o]the house of Baasha the son of Ahijah. [10][†][p]And the dogs shall eat Jezebel in the territory of Jezreel, and none shall bury her.” Then he opened the door and fled.

[11]When Jehu came out to the servants of his master, they said to him, [q]“Is all well? Why did [r]this mad fellow come to you?” And he said to them, “You know the fellow and his talk.” [12]And they said, “That is not true; tell us now.” And he said, “Thus and so he spoke to me, saying, ‘Thus says the LORD, I anoint you king over Israel.’” [13][†]Then in haste [s]every man of them took his garment and put it under him on the bare [1] steps, and they blew the trumpet and proclaimed, [t]“Jehu is king.”

Jehu Assassinates Joram and Ahaziah

[14]Thus Jehu the son of Jehoshaphat the son of Nimshi conspired against Joram. ([u]Now Joram with all Israel had been on guard at Ramoth-gilead against [v]Hazael king of Syria, [15][w]but King Joram had returned to be healed in Jezreel of the wounds that the Syrians had given him, when he fought with Hazael king of Syria.) So Jehu said, “If this is your decision, then let no one slip out of the city to go and tell the news in Jezreel.” [16]Then Jehu mounted his chariot and went to Jezreel, for Joram lay there. And Ahaziah king of Judah had come down to visit Joram.

17[†]Now the watchman was standing on the tower in Jezreel, and he saw the company of Jehu as he came and said, “I see a company.” And Joram said, “Take a horseman and send to meet them, and let him say, ‘Is it peace?’” 18So a man on horseback went to meet him and said, “Thus says the king, ‘Is it peace?’” And Jehu said, “What do you have to do with peace? Turn around and ride behind me.” And the watchman reported, saying, “The messenger reached them, but he is not coming back.” 19Then he sent out a second horseman, who came to them and said, “Thus the king has said, ‘Is it peace?’” And Jehu answered, “What do you have to do with peace? Turn around and ride behind me.” 20Again the watchman reported, “He reached them, but he is not coming back. And the driving [x] is like the driving of Jehu [y] the son of Nimshi, for he drives furiously.”

21Joram said, [z] “Make ready.” And they made ready his chariot. [a] Then Joram king of Israel and Ahaziah king of Judah set out, each in his chariot, and went to meet Jehu, and met him [b] at the property of Naboth the Jezreelite. 22[†]And when Joram saw Jehu, he said, “Is it peace, Jehu?” He answered, “What peace can there be, so long as [c] the whorings and the sorceries of your mother Jezebel are so many?” 23Then Joram reined about and fled, saying to Ahaziah, “Treachery, O Ahaziah!” 24And Jehu drew his bow with his full strength, and shot Joram between the shoulders, so that the arrow pierced his heart, and he sank in his chariot. 25[†]Jehu said to Bidkar [d] his aide, “Take him up and throw him [b] on the plot of ground belonging to Naboth the Jezreelite. For remember, when you and I rode side by side behind Ahab his father, how [e] the Lord made this [f] pronouncement against him: 26‘As surely as I saw yesterday the blood of Naboth and the blood of his sons—declares the Lord—I will repay you on this plot of ground.’ Now therefore take him up and throw him on the plot of ground, in accordance with the word of the Lord.”

27[†] [g] When Ahaziah the king of Judah saw this, he fled in the direction of Beth-haggan. And Jehu pursued him and said, “Shoot him also.” And they shot him [2] in the chariot at the ascent of Gur, which is by [h] Ibleam. And he fled to [h] Megiddo and died there. 28 [i] His servants carried him in a chariot to Jerusalem, and buried him in his tomb with his fathers in the city of David.

[29]In the [j] eleventh year of Joram the son of Ahab, Ahaziah began to reign over Judah.

Jehu Executes Jezebel

[30][†]When Jehu came to Jezreel, Jezebel heard of it. And [k] she painted her eyes and adorned her head and looked out of the window. [31][†]And as Jehu entered the gate, she said, [l] “Is it peace, you Zimri, murderer of your master?” [32][†]And he lifted up his face to the window and said, “Who is on my side? Who?” Two or three eunuchs looked out at him. [33]He said, “Throw her down.” So they threw her down. And some of her blood spattered on the wall and on the horses, and they trampled on her. [34]Then he went in and ate and drank. And he said, “See now to this cursed woman and bury her, [m] for she is a king’s daughter.” [35]But when they went to bury her, they found no more of her than the skull and the feet and the palms of her hands. [36][†]When they came back and told him, he said, “This is the word of the LORD, which he spoke by his servant Elijah the Tishbite: [n] ‘In the territory of Jezreel the dogs shall eat the flesh of Jezebel, [37]and the corpse of Jezebel shall be [o] as dung on the face of the field in the territory of Jezreel, so that no one can say, This is Jezebel.’”

Jehu Slaughters Ahab’s Descendants

2 KINGS 10 [†]Now Ahab had seventy sons in [p] Samaria. So Jehu wrote letters and sent them to Samaria, to the rulers of the city, [1] to the elders, and to [q] the guardians of the sons [2] of Ahab, saying, [2]“Now then, as soon as this letter comes to you, seeing your master’s sons are with you, and there are with you chariots and horses, fortified cities also, and weapons, [3][†]select the best and fittest of your master’s sons and set him on his father’s throne and fight for your master’s house.” [4]But they were exceedingly afraid and said, “Behold, the two kings could not stand before him. How then can we stand?” [5][†]So he who was over the palace, and he who was over the city, together with the elders and the guardians, sent to Jehu, saying, [r] “We are your servants, and we will do all that you tell us. We will not make anyone king. Do whatever is good in your eyes.” [6]Then he wrote to them a second letter, saying, “If you are on my side, and if you are ready to obey me, take the heads of your master’s sons and come to me at Jezreel tomorrow at this time.” Now the king’s sons, seventy persons, were with the great men of the city, [q] who were bringing them up. [7][†]And as soon as the letter came to them, they took the king’s sons [s] and slaughtered them, seventy persons, and put their heads in baskets and sent them to him at Jezreel. [8][†]When the messenger came and told him, “They have brought the heads of the king’s sons,” he said, “Lay them in two heaps at the entrance of the gate until the morning.” [9]Then in the morning, when he went out, he stood and said to all the people, “You are innocent. [t] It was I who conspired against my master and killed him, but who struck down all these? [10]Know then that there shall [u] fall to the earth nothing of the word of the LORD, which the LORD spoke concerning the house of Ahab, for the LORD has done [v] what he said by his servant Elijah.” [11]So Jehu struck down all who remained of the house of Ahab in Jezreel, all his great men and his close friends and his priests, until he left him none remaining.

[12][†]Then he set out and went to Samaria. On the way, when he was at Beth-eked of the Shepherds, [13]Jehu met [w] the relatives of Ahaziah king of Judah, and he said, “Who are you?” And they answered, “We are the relatives of Ahaziah, and we came down to visit the royal princes and the sons of the queen mother.” [14]He said, “Take them alive.” And they took them alive and slaughtered them at the pit of Beth-eked, forty-two persons, and he spared none of them.

[15][†]And when he departed from there, he met [x]Jehonadab the son of [y]Rechab coming to meet him. And he greeted him and said to him, “Is your heart true to my heart as mine is to yours?” And Jehonadab answered, “It is.” Jehu said, [3] “If it is, [z]give me your hand.” So he gave him his hand. And Jehu took him up with him into the chariot. [16]And he said, “Come with me, and see [a]my zeal for the LORD.” So he [4] had him ride in his chariot. [17]And when he came to Samaria, [b]he struck down all who remained to Ahab in Samaria, till he had wiped them out, according to the word of the LORD [v]that he spoke to Elijah.

Jehu Strikes Down the Prophets of Baal

[18][†]Then Jehu assembled all the people and said to them, [c]“Ahab served Baal a little, but Jehu will serve him much. [19]Now therefore call to me all the [d]prophets of Baal, all his worshipers and all his priests. Let none be missing, for I have a great sacrifice to offer to Baal. Whoever is missing shall not live.” But Jehu did it with cunning in order to destroy the worshipers of Baal. [20][†]And Jehu ordered, [e]“Sanctify [f]a solemn assembly for Baal.” So [g]they proclaimed it. [21]And Jehu sent throughout all Israel, and all the worshipers of Baal came, so that there was not a man left who did not come. And they entered [h]the house of Baal, and the house of Baal was filled from one end to the other. [22]He said to him who was in charge of the wardrobe, “Bring out the vestments for all the worshipers of Baal.” So he brought out the vestments for them. [23]Then Jehu went into the house of Baal with Jehonadab the son of Rechab, and he said to the worshipers of Baal, “Search, and see that there is no servant of the LORD here among you, but only the worshipers of Baal.” [24]Then they [5] went in to offer sacrifices and burnt offerings.

Now Jehu had stationed eighty men outside and said, “The man who allows any of those whom I give into your hands to escape [i]shall forfeit his life.” [25]So as soon as he had made an end of offering the burnt offering, Jehu said to the guard and to the officers, [j]“Go in and strike them down; let not a man escape.” So when they put them to the sword, the guard and the officers cast them out and went into the inner room of the house of Baal, [26]and they brought out the [k] pillar that was in [h] the house of Baal and burned it. [27][†]And they demolished the [k] pillar of Baal, and demolished the house of Baal, and made it [l] a latrine to this day.

Jehu Reigns in Israel

[28]Thus Jehu wiped out Baal from Israel. [29][†]But Jehu did not turn aside from [m] the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, [n] which he made Israel to sin—that is, the golden calves that were in Bethel and in Dan. [30][†]And the LORD said to Jehu, “Because you have done well in carrying out what is right in my eyes, and have done to the house of Ahab according to all that was in my heart, [o] your sons of the fourth generation shall sit on the throne of Israel.” [31]But Jehu was not careful to walk in the law of the LORD, the God of Israel, with all his heart. [p] He did not turn from the sins of Jeroboam, which he made Israel to sin.

[32][†]In those days the LORD [q] began to cut off parts of Israel. [r] Hazael defeated them throughout the territory of Israel: [33]from the Jordan eastward, all the land of Gilead, the Gadites, and the Reubenites, and the Manassites, from [s] Aroer, which is by the Valley of the Arnon, that is, [t] Gilead and Bashan. [34]Now the rest of the acts of Jehu and all that he did, and all his might, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? [35]So Jehu slept with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria. And Jehoahaz his son reigned in his place. [36]The time that Jehu reigned over Israel in Samaria was twenty-eight years.

Athaliah Reigns in Judah

2 KINGS 11 [†] [u] Now when [v] Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her son was dead, she arose and destroyed all the royal family. [2]But Jehosheba, the daughter of King Joram, sister of Ahaziah, took [w] Joash the son of Ahaziah and stole him away from among the king’s sons who were being put to death, and she put [1] him and his nurse in a bedroom. Thus they [2] hid him from Athaliah, so that he was not put to death. [3]And he remained with her six years, hidden in the house of the LORD, while Athaliah reigned over the land.

Joash Anointed King in Judah

4 [x] But in the seventh year [y] Jehoiada sent and brought the captains of [z] the Carites and of the guards, and had them come to him in the house of the LORD. And he made a covenant with them and put them under oath in the house of the LORD, and he showed them the king's son. 5[†]And he commanded them, "This is the thing that you shall do: one third of you, [a] those who come off duty on the Sabbath and guard the king's house 6([b] another third being at the gate Sur and a third at the gate behind the guards) shall guard the palace. [3] 7And the two divisions of you, which come on duty in force on the Sabbath and guard the house of the LORD on behalf of the king, 8shall surround the king, each with his weapons in his hand. And whoever approaches the ranks is to be put to death. Be with the king [c] when he goes out and when he comes in."

13When Athaliah heard the noise of the guard and of the people, she went into the house of the LORD to the people. 14[†]And when she looked, there was the king standing [h] by the pillar, according to the custom, and the captains and the trumpeters beside the king, and all the people of the land rejoicing and [i] blowing trumpets. And Athaliah [j] tore her clothes and cried, "Treason! Treason!" 15Then Jehoiada the priest commanded the captains who were set over the army, "Bring her out between the ranks, and put to death with the sword anyone who follows her." For the priest said, "Let her not be put to death in the house of the LORD." [16]So they laid hands on her; and she went through the horses' entrance to the king's house, and there she was put to death.

[17][†]And Jehoiada [k]made a covenant between the LORD and the king and people, that they should be the LORD's people, and also [l]between the king and the people. [18]Then all the people of the land went to [m]the house of Baal and tore it down; [n]his altars and his images they broke in pieces, and they killed Mattan the priest of Baal before the altars. And the priest posted watchmen over the house of the LORD. [19]And he took the captains, [o]the Carites, the guards, and all the people of the land, and they brought the king down from the house of the LORD, marching through [p]the gate of the guards to the king's house. And he took his seat on the throne of the kings. [20]So all the people of the land rejoiced, and the city was quiet after Athaliah had been put to death with the sword at the king's house.

Jehoash Reigns in Judah

[21][†] [4] [q]Jehoash [5] was seven years old when he began to reign.

2 KINGS 12 In the seventh year of Jehu, Jehoash [1] began to reign, and he reigned forty years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Zibiah of Beersheba. [2][†]And Jehoash did what was right in the eyes of the LORD all his days, because Jehoiada the priest instructed him. [3]Nevertheless, [r]the high places were not taken away; the people continued to sacrifice and make offerings on the high places.

Jehoash Repairs the Temple

[4][†]Jehoash said to the priests, "All the money of the holy things [s]that is brought into the house of the LORD, the money for which each man is assessed—the money from the assessment of persons—and [t]the money that a man's heart prompts him to bring into the house of the LORD, [5]let the priests take, each from his donor, and let them repair the house wherever any need of repairs is discovered." [6]But by the twenty-third year of King Jehoash, the priests had made no repairs on the house. [7][†]Therefore King Jehoash summoned Jehoiada the priest and the other priests and said to them, “Why are you not repairing the house? Now therefore take no more money from your donors, but hand it over for the repair of the house.” [8]So the priests agreed that they should take no more money from the people, and that they should not repair the house.

[9]Then Jehoiada the priest took [u] a chest and bored a hole in the lid of it and set it beside the altar on the right side as one entered the house of the LORD. And the priests who guarded the threshold put in it all the money that was brought into the house of the LORD. [10]And whenever they saw that there was much money in the chest, the king’s secretary and the high priest came up and they bagged and counted [v] the money that was found in the house of the LORD. [11]Then they would give the money that was weighed out into the hands of the workmen who had the oversight of the house of the LORD. And they paid it out to the carpenters and the builders who worked on the house of the LORD, [12]and [w] to the masons and the stonecutters, as well as to buy timber and quarried stone for making repairs on the house of the LORD, and for any outlay for the repairs of the house. [13][†] [x] But there were not made for the house of the LORD [y] basins of silver, snuffers, bowls, trumpets, or any vessels of gold, or of silver, from the money that was brought into the house of the LORD, [14]for that was given to the workmen who were repairing the house of the LORD with it. [15]And [z] they did not ask for an accounting from the men into whose hand they delivered the money to pay out to the workmen, for they dealt honestly. [16]The money from [a] the guilt offerings and the money from the [b] sin offerings was not brought into the house of the LORD; [c] it belonged to the priests.

[17][†]At that time [d] Hazael king of Syria went up and fought against Gath and took it. But when Hazael set his face [e] to go up against Jerusalem, [18]Jehoash king of Judah [f] took all the sacred gifts that Jehoshaphat and Jehoram and Ahaziah his fathers, the kings of Judah, had dedicated, [g] and his own sacred gifts, and all the gold that was found in the treasuries of the house of the LORD and of the king’s house, and sent these to Hazael king of Syria. Then Hazael went away from Jerusalem.

The Death of Joash

[19][†]Now the rest of the acts of Joash and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? [20][†] [h] His servants arose and made a conspiracy [i] and struck down Joash in the house of [j] Millo, on the way that goes down to Silla. [21]It was [k] Jozacar the son of Shimeath and Jehozabad the son of [k] Shomer, his servants, who struck him down, so that he died. And they buried him with his fathers in the city of David, [l] and Amaziah his son reigned in his place.

Jehoahaz Reigns in Israel

2 KINGS 13 [†]In the twenty-third year of Joash the son of Ahaziah, king of Judah, Jehoahaz the son of Jehu began to reign over Israel in Samaria, and he reigned seventeen years. [2]He did what was evil in the sight of the LORD and followed the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, [m] which he made Israel to sin; he did not depart from them. [3] [n] And the anger of the LORD was kindled against Israel, and he gave them continually into the hand of [o] Hazael king of Syria and into the hand of [p] Ben-hadad the son of Hazael. [4][†]Then Jehoahaz [q] sought the favor of the LORD, and the LORD listened to him, [r] for he saw the oppression of Israel, how the king of Syria oppressed them. [5](Therefore the LORD gave Israel [s] a savior, so that they escaped from the hand of the Syrians, and the people of Israel lived in [t] their homes as formerly. [6][†]Nevertheless, they did not depart from the sins of the house of Jeroboam, [m] which he made Israel to sin, but walked [1] in them; and [u] the Asherah also remained in Samaria.) [7][†]For there was not left to Jehoahaz an army of more than fifty horsemen and ten chariots and ten thousand footmen, for the king of Syria had destroyed them and made them like the dust [v] at threshing. [8]Now the rest of the acts of Jehoahaz and all that he did, and his might, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? [9][†]So Jehoahaz slept with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria, and Joash his son reigned in his place.

Jehoash Reigns in Israel

[10]In the thirty-seventh year of Joash king of Judah, Jehoash [2] the son of Jehoahaz began to reign over Israel in Samaria, and he reigned sixteen years. [11]He also did what was evil in the sight of the LORD. He did not depart from all the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, [m] which he made Israel to sin, but he walked in them. [12] [w] Now the rest of the acts of Joash [x] and all that he did, [y] and the might with which he fought against Amaziah king of Judah, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? [13]So Joash slept with his fathers, and Jeroboam sat on his throne. And Joash was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel.

The Death of Elisha

[14][†]Now when Elisha had fallen sick with the illness of which he was to die, Joash king of Israel went down to him and wept before him, crying, [z] "My father, my father! The chariots of Israel and its horsemen!" [15]And Elisha said to him, "Take a bow and arrows." So he took a bow and arrows. [16]Then he said to the king of Israel, "Draw the bow," and he drew it. And Elisha laid his hands on the king's hands. [17]And he said, "Open the window eastward," and he opened it. Then Elisha said, "Shoot," and he shot. And he said, "The LORD's arrow of victory, the arrow of victory over Syria! For you shall fight the Syrians in [a] Aphek until you have made an end of them." [18]And he said, "Take the arrows," and he took them. And he said to the king of Israel, "Strike the ground with them." And he struck three times and stopped. [19]Then [b] the man of God was angry with him and said, "You should have struck five or six times; then you would have struck down Syria until you had made an end of it, but now you will strike down Syria only [c] three times."

[20][†]So Elisha died, and they buried him. Now bands of [d] Moabites used to invade the land in the spring of the year. [21]And as a man was being buried, behold, a marauding band was seen and the man was thrown into the grave of Elisha, and as soon as the man touched the bones of Elisha, he revived and stood on his feet.

[22] [e] Now Hazael king of Syria oppressed Israel all the days of Jehoahaz. [23][†] [f] But the LORD was gracious to them and had compassion on them, [g] and he turned toward them, [h] because of his covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and would not destroy them, nor has he cast them from his presence until now.

[24]When Hazael king of Syria died, Ben-hadad his son became king in his place. [25][†]Then Jehoash the son of Jehoahaz took again from Ben-hadad the son of Hazael the cities [i] that he had taken from Jehoahaz his father in war. [j] Three times Joash defeated him and recovered the cities of Israel.

Amaziah Reigns in Judah

2 KINGS 14 [†] [k] In the [l] second year of Joash the son of Joahaz, king of Israel, [m] Amaziah the son of Joash, king of Judah, began to reign. [2]He was twenty-five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother’s name was Jehoaddin of Jerusalem. [3]And he did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, yet not like David his father. He did in all things as Joash his father had done. [4] [n] But the high places were not removed; [o] the people still sacrificed and made offerings on the high places. [5]And as soon as the royal power was [p] firmly in his hand, he struck down his servants [q] who had struck down the king his father. [6]But he did not put to death the children of the murderers, according to what is written in the Book of the Law of Moses, where the LORD commanded, [r] “Fathers shall not be put to death because of their children, nor shall children be put to death because of their fathers. But each one shall die for his own sin.”

[7][†] [s] He struck down ten thousand Edomites in [t] the Valley of Salt and took [u] Sela by storm, and called it [v] Joktheel, which is its name to this day.

[8] [w] Then Amaziah sent messengers to Jehoash [1] the son of Jehoahaz, son of Jehu, king of Israel, saying, “Come, [x] let us look one another in the face.” [9][†]And Jehoash king of Israel sent word to Amaziah king of Judah, [y] “A thistle on Lebanon sent to a cedar on Lebanon, saying, ‘Give your daughter to my son for a wife,’ and a wild beast of Lebanon passed by and trampled down the thistle. [10]You have indeed [z] struck down Edom, [a] and your heart has lifted you up. Be content with your glory, and stay at home, for why should you provoke trouble so that you fall, you and Judah with you?”

[11][†]But Amaziah would not listen. So Jehoash king of Israel went up, and he and Amaziah king of Judah [x]faced one another in battle at [b]Beth-shemesh, which belongs to Judah. [12]And Judah was defeated by Israel, [c]and every man fled to his home. [13]And Jehoash king of Israel captured Amaziah king of Judah, the son of Jehoash, son of Ahaziah, at Beth-shemesh, and came to Jerusalem and broke down the wall of Jerusalem for four hundred cubits, [2] from [d]the Ephraim Gate to [e]the Corner Gate. [14]And he seized [f]all the gold and silver, and all the vessels that were found in the house of the LORD and in the treasuries of the king's house, also hostages, and he returned to Samaria.

[15][†] [g]Now the rest of the acts of Jehoash that he did, and his might, and how he fought with Amaziah king of Judah, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? [16]And Jehoash slept with his fathers and was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel, and Jeroboam his son reigned in his place.

[17] [h] Amaziah the son of Joash, king of Judah, lived fifteen years after the death of Jehoash son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel. [18]Now the rest of the deeds of Amaziah, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? [19][†]And they made a conspiracy against him in Jerusalem, and he fled to [i]Lachish. But they sent after him to Lachish and put him to death there. [20]And they brought him on horses; and he was buried in Jerusalem with his fathers in the city of David. [21]And all the people of Judah took Azariah, who was sixteen years old, and made him king instead of his father Amaziah. [22][†]He built [j]Elath and restored it to Judah, after the king slept with his fathers.

Jeroboam II Reigns in Israel

[23]In the fifteenth year of Amaziah the son of Joash, king of Judah, Jeroboam the son of Joash, king of Israel, began to reign in Samaria, and he reigned forty-one years. [24]And he did what was evil in the sight of the LORD. He did not depart from all the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, [k]which he made Israel to sin. [25][†] [l]He restored the border of Israel [m]from Lebo-hamath as far as the Sea of [n]the Arabah, according to the word of the LORD, the God of Israel, which he spoke by his servant [o]Jonah the son of Amittai, the prophet, who was from [p] Gath-hepher. [26]For the Lord [q] saw that the affliction of Israel was very bitter, [r] for there was none left, bond or free, and there was none to help Israel. [27][†] [s] But the Lord had not said that he would blot out the name of Israel from under heaven, so he saved them by the hand of Jeroboam the son of Joash.

[28][†]Now the rest of the acts of Jeroboam and all that he did, and his might, how he fought, and how he restored [t] Damascus and [u] Hamath to Judah in Israel, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? [29]And Jeroboam slept with his fathers, the kings of Israel, and Zechariah his son reigned in his place.

Azariah Reigns in Judah

2 KINGS 15 [v] In the twenty-seventh year of Jeroboam king of Israel, [w] Azariah the son of Amaziah, king of Judah, began to reign. [2]He was [x] sixteen years old when he began to reign, and he reigned fifty-two years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jecoliah of Jerusalem. [3][†]And he did what was right in the eyes of the Lord, according to all that his father Amaziah had done. [4] [y] Nevertheless, the high places were not taken away. The people still sacrificed and made offerings on the high places. [5][†] [z] And the Lord touched the king, so that he was a leper [1] to the day of his death, [a] and he lived in a separate house. [2] And Jotham the king's son was over the household, governing the people of the land. [6][†]Now the rest of the acts of Azariah, and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? [7]And Azariah slept with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers [b] in the city of David, and Jotham his son reigned in his place.

Zechariah Reigns in Israel

[8][†]In the thirty-eighth year of Azariah king of Judah, Zechariah the son of Jeroboam reigned over Israel in Samaria six months. [9]And he did what was evil in the sight of the Lord, as his fathers had done. He did not depart from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, [c] which he made Israel to sin. [10]Shallum the son of Jabesh conspired against him and [d] struck him down at Ibleam and put him to death and reigned in his place. 11Now the rest of the deeds of Zechariah, behold, they are written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. 12(This was [e] the promise of the LORD that he gave to Jehu, “Your sons shall sit on the throne of Israel to the fourth generation.” And so it came to pass.)

Shallum Reigns in Israel

13Shallum the son of Jabesh began to reign in the thirty-ninth year of [f] Uzziah [3] king of Judah, and he reigned one month in [g] Samaria. 14Then Menahem the son of Gadi came up from [h] Tirzah and came to Samaria, and he struck down Shallum the son of Jabesh in Samaria and put him to death and reigned in his place. 15Now the rest of the deeds of Shallum, and the conspiracy that he made, behold, they are written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. 16[†]At that time Menahem sacked Tiphsah and all who were in it and its territory from Tirzah on, because they did not open it to him. Therefore he sacked it, [i] and he ripped open all the women in it who were pregnant.

Menahem Reigns in Israel

17In the thirty-ninth year of Azariah king of Judah, Menahem the son of Gadi began to reign over Israel, and he reigned ten years in Samaria. 18And he did what was evil in the sight of the LORD. He did not depart all his days from all the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, which he made Israel to sin. 19[j] Pul [4] the king of Assyria came against the land, and Menahem gave [j] Pul a thousand talents [5] of silver, that he might help him [k] to confirm his hold on the royal power. 20Menahem exacted the money from Israel, that is, from all the wealthy men, fifty shekels [6] of silver from every man, to give to the king of Assyria. So the king of Assyria turned back and did not stay there in the land. 21Now the rest of the deeds of Menahem and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? 22And Menahem slept with his fathers, and Pekahiah his son reigned in his place.

Pekahiah Reigns in Israel

[23]In the fiftieth year of Azariah king of Judah, Pekahiah the son of Menahem began to reign over Israel in Samaria, and he reigned two years.
[24]And he did what was evil in the sight of the LORD. He did not turn away from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, [c]which he made Israel to sin.
[25]And Pekah the son of Remaliah, his captain, conspired against him with fifty men of the people of Gilead, and struck him down in Samaria, in the citadel of the king’s house with Argob and Arieh; he put him to death and reigned in his place. [26]Now the rest of the deeds of Pekahiah and all that he did, behold, they are written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel.

Pekah Reigns in Israel

[27][†]In the fifty-second year of Azariah king of Judah, Pekah the son of Remaliah began to reign over Israel in Samaria, and he reigned twenty years. [28]And he did what was evil in the sight of the LORD. He did not depart from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, [l]which he made Israel to sin.

[29]In the days of Pekah king of Israel, [m]Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria came and captured [n]Ijon, [o]Abel-beth-maacah, Janoah, [p]Kedesh, [q]Hazor, Gilead, and [r]Galilee, all the land of Naphtali, and he carried the people captive to Assyria. [30]Then Hoshea the son of Elah made a conspiracy against Pekah the son of Remaliah and struck him down and put him to death and reigned in his place, [s]in the twentieth year of Jotham the son of Uzziah. [31]Now the rest of the acts of Pekah and all that he did, behold, they are written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel.

Jotham Reigns in Judah

[32][†]In the second year of Pekah the son of Remaliah, king of Israel, Jotham the son of Uzziah, king of Judah, began to reign. [33]He was [t]twenty-five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. His mother’s name was Jerusha the daughter of Zadok. [34][†]And he did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, [u]according to all that his father Uzziah had done. 35 [v] Nevertheless, the high places were not removed. The people still sacrificed and made offerings on the high places. He built [w] the upper gate of the house of the LORD. 36 Now the rest of the acts of Jotham and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? 37 [†] In those days the LORD began to send [x] Rezin the king of Syria and [x] Pekah the son of Remaliah against Judah. 38 Jotham slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father, and Ahaz his son reigned in his place.

Ahaz Reigns in Judah

2 KINGS 16 [†] In the seventeenth year of Pekah the son of Remaliah, Ahaz the son of Jotham, king of Judah, began to reign. 2 Ahaz was [y] twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. And he did not do what was right in the eyes of the LORD his God, as his father David had done, 3 but he walked in the way of the kings of Israel. [z] He even burned his son as an offering, [1] [a] according to the despicable practices of the nations whom the LORD drove out before the people of Israel. 4 [b] And he sacrificed and made offerings [c] on the high places and on the hills and under every green tree.

5 [d] Then Rezin king of Syria and [d] Pekah the son of Remaliah, king of Israel, came up to wage war on Jerusalem, and they besieged Ahaz [e] but could not conquer him. 6 [†] At that time Rezin the king of Syria recovered [f] Elath for Syria and drove the men of Judah from [f] Elath, and the Edomites came to Elath, where they dwell to this day. 7 [†] [g] So Ahaz sent messengers to [h] Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria, saying, “I am your servant and your son. Come up and rescue me from the hand of the king of Syria and from the hand of the king of Israel, who are attacking me.” 8 Ahaz also [i] took the silver and gold that was found in the house of the LORD and in the treasures of the king’s house and sent a present to the king of Assyria. 9 [j] And the king of Assyria listened to him. The king of Assyria marched up against Damascus [k] and took it, carrying its people captive to [l] Kir, and he killed Rezin.

10 [†] When King Ahaz went to Damascus to meet [m] Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria, he saw the altar that was at Damascus. And King Ahaz sent to [n]Uriah the priest a model of the altar, and its pattern, exact in all its details. [11]And Uriah the priest built the altar; in accordance with all that King Ahaz had sent from Damascus, so Uriah the priest made it, before King Ahaz arrived from Damascus. [12]And when the king came from Damascus, the king viewed the altar. [o]Then the king drew near to the altar and went up on it [13]and burned his burnt offering and his grain offering and poured his drink offering and threw the blood of his peace offerings on the altar. [14]And [p]the bronze altar that was before the LORD he removed [q]from the front of the house, from the place between [r]his altar and the house of the LORD, and put it on the north side of [r]his altar. [15]And King Ahaz commanded Uriah the priest, saying, “On the great altar burn [s]the morning burnt offering and the evening grain offering and the king’s burnt offering and his grain offering, with the burnt offering of all the people of the land, and their grain offering and their drink offering. And throw on it all the blood of the burnt offering and all the blood of the sacrifice, but [t]the bronze altar shall be for me to inquire by.” [16]Uriah the priest did all this, as King Ahaz commanded.

[17][†]And King Ahaz cut off the frames of the stands and removed the basin from them, and he took down [u]the sea [2] from off the bronze oxen that were under it and put it on a stone pedestal. [18]And the covered way for the Sabbath that had been built inside the house and the outer entrance for the king he caused to go around the house of the LORD, because of the king of Assyria. [19][†]Now the rest of the acts of Ahaz that he did, are they not written [v]in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? [20]And Ahaz slept with his fathers and [w]was buried with his fathers in the city of David, and Hezekiah his son reigned in his place.

Hoshea Reigns in Israel

2 KINGS 17 [†]In the twelfth year of Ahaz king of Judah, [x]Hoshea the son of Elah began to reign in Samaria over Israel, and he reigned nine years. [2]And he did what was evil in the sight of the LORD, yet not as the kings of Israel who were before him. [3][†][y]Against him came up [z]Shalmaneser king of Assyria. And Hoshea became his vassal and paid him tribute. [4]But the king of Assyria found treachery in Hoshea, for he had sent messengers to So, king of Egypt, and offered no tribute to the king of Assyria, as he had done year by year. Therefore the king of Assyria shut him up and bound him in prison. [5]Then the king of Assyria invaded all the land and came to Samaria, and for three years he besieged it.

The Fall of Israel

[6][†]In the ninth year of Hoshea, the king of Assyria [a]captured Samaria, [b]and he carried the Israelites away to Assyria [c]and placed them in Halah, and on the Habor, the river of [d]Gozan, and in the cities of [e]the Medes.

Exile Because of Idolatry

[7][†]And this occurred because the people of Israel had sinned against the LORD their God, [f]who had brought them up out of the land of Egypt from under the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt, and had feared other gods [8][g]and walked in the customs of the nations whom the LORD drove out before the people of Israel, [h]and in the customs that the kings of Israel had practiced. [9]And the people of Israel did secretly against the LORD their God things that were not right. They built for themselves high places in all their towns, [i]from watchtower to fortified city. [10]They set up for themselves [j]pillars and Asherim on every high hill and under every green tree, [11]and there they made offerings on all the high places, as the nations did whom the LORD carried away before them. And they did wicked things, provoking the LORD to anger, [12]and they served idols, [k]of which the LORD had said to them, "You shall not do this." [13]Yet the LORD [l]warned Israel and Judah [m]by every prophet [n]and every seer, saying, [o]"Turn from your evil ways and keep my commandments and my statutes, in accordance with all the Law that I commanded your fathers, and that I sent to you by my servants the prophets."

[14]But they would not listen, [p]but were stubborn, as their fathers had been, who did not believe in the LORD their God. [15]They despised his statutes [q]and his covenant that he made with their fathers and the warnings that he gave them. They went after [r]false idols [s]and became false, and they followed the nations that were around them, concerning whom the [t]LORD had commanded them that they should not do like them. [16]And they abandoned all the commandments of the LORD their God, and made for themselves metal images of [u] two calves; and they [v] made an Asherah and [w] worshiped all the host of heaven and served [x] Baal. 17 [y] And they burned their sons and their daughters as offerings [1] and used [z] divination and [a] omens and [b] sold themselves to do evil in the sight of the LORD, provoking him to anger. 18 Therefore the LORD was very angry with Israel and removed them out of his sight. None was left but [c] the tribe of Judah only.

19 [d] Judah also did not keep the commandments of the LORD their God, but walked in the customs that Israel had introduced. 20 And the LORD rejected all the descendants of Israel and afflicted them [e] and gave them into the hand of plunderers, until he had cast them out of his sight.

21 [f] When he had torn Israel from the house of David, [g] they made Jeroboam the son of Nebat king. And Jeroboam drove Israel from following the LORD [h] and made them commit great sin. 22 The people of Israel walked in all the sins that Jeroboam did. They did not depart from them, 23 until the LORD removed Israel out of his sight, [i] as he had spoken by all his servants the prophets. [j] So Israel was exiled from their own land to Assyria until this day.

Assyria Resettles Samaria

24 [†] [k] And the king of Assyria brought people from [l] Babylon, Cuthah, [m] Avva, [n] Hamath, and [o] Sepharvaim, and placed them in the cities of Samaria instead of the people of Israel. And they took possession of Samaria and lived in its cities. 25 And at the beginning of their dwelling there, they did not fear the LORD. Therefore the LORD sent lions among them, which killed some of them. 26 So the king of Assyria was told, “The nations that you have carried away and placed in the cities of Samaria do not know the law of the god of the land. Therefore he has sent lions among them, and behold, they are killing them, because they do not know the law of the god of the land.” 27 Then the king of Assyria commanded, “Send there one of the priests whom you carried away from there, and let him [2] go and dwell there and teach them the law of the god of the land.” 28 So one of the priests whom they had carried away from Samaria came and lived in [p] Bethel and taught them how they should fear the LORD.

[29]But every nation still made gods of its own and put them [q] in the shrines of the high places that the Samaritans had made, every nation in the cities in which they lived. [30]The men of [r] Babylon made Succoth-benoth, the men of Cuth made Nergal, the men of Hamath made Ashima, [31]and the Avvites made Nibhaz and Tartak; and the Sepharvites [s] burned their children in the fire to [t] Adrammelech and Anammelech, the gods of [u] Sepharvaim. [32] [v] They also feared the LORD [w] and appointed from among themselves all sorts of people as priests of the high places, who sacrificed for them in the shrines of [x] the high places. [33]So they feared the LORD but also served their own gods, after the manner of the nations from among whom they had been carried away.

[34]To this day they do according to the former manner. They do not fear the LORD, and they do not follow the statutes or the rules or the law or the commandment that the LORD commanded the children of Jacob, [y] whom he named Israel. [35]The LORD made a covenant with them and commanded them, [z] “You shall not fear other gods [a] or bow yourselves to them or serve them or sacrifice to them, [36]but [b] you shall fear the LORD, [c] who brought you out of the land of Egypt with great power and [d] with an outstretched arm. You shall bow yourselves to him, and to him you shall sacrifice. [37]And the statutes and the rules and the law and the commandment that he wrote for you, [e] you shall always be careful to do. [z] You shall not fear other gods, [38]and [f] you shall not forget the covenant that I have made with you. [z] You shall not fear other gods, [39]but [b] you shall fear the LORD your God, and he will deliver you out of the hand of all your enemies.” [40]However, they would not listen, but they did according to their former manner.

[41] [g] So these nations feared the LORD and also served their carved images. Their children did likewise, and their children’s children—as their fathers did, so they do to this day.

Hezekiah Reigns in Judah

2 KINGS 18 [†] [h] In the third year of Hoshea son of Elah, king of Israel, [i] Hezekiah the son of Ahaz, king of Judah, began to reign. [2]He was [j] twenty-five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was [k] Abi the daughter of Zechariah. [3] [l] And he did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, according to all that David his father had done. [4][†] [m] He removed the high places and broke the [n] pillars and cut down [o] the Asherah. And he broke in pieces [p] the bronze serpent that Moses had made, for until those days the people of Israel had made offerings to it (it was called Nehushtan). [1] [5][†] [q] He trusted in the LORD, the God of Israel, [r] so that there was none like him among all the kings of Judah after him, nor among those who were before him. [6] [s] For he held fast to the LORD. He did not depart from following him, but kept the commandments that the LORD commanded Moses. [7][†] [t] And the LORD was with him; wherever he went out, [u] he prospered. He rebelled against the king of Assyria and would not serve him. [8] [v] He struck down the Philistines as far as Gaza and its territory, [w] from watchtower to fortified city.

[9][†]In the fourth year of King Hezekiah, which was the seventh year of Hoshea son of Elah, king of Israel, [x] Shalmaneser king of Assyria came up against Samaria and besieged it, [10]and at the end of three years he took it. In the sixth year of Hezekiah, which was the ninth year of Hoshea king of Israel, Samaria was taken. [11]The king of Assyria carried the Israelites away to Assyria and put them in [y] Halah, and on the [y] Habor, [y] the river of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes, [12]because they did not obey the voice of the LORD their God but transgressed his covenant, even all that Moses the servant of the LORD commanded. They neither listened nor obeyed.

Sennacherib Attacks Judah

[13][†] [z] In the fourteenth year of King Hezekiah, Sennacherib king of Assyria came up against all the fortified cities of Judah and took them. [14][†]And Hezekiah king of Judah sent to the king of Assyria at Lachish, saying, "I have done wrong; withdraw from me. Whatever you impose on me I will bear." [a] And the king of Assyria required of Hezekiah king of Judah three hundred talents [2] of silver and thirty talents of gold. [15]And Hezekiah [b] gave him all the silver that was found in the house of the LORD and in the treasuries of the king's house. [16]At that time Hezekiah stripped the gold from the doors of the temple of the LORD and from the doorposts that Hezekiah king of Judah had overlaid and gave it to the king of Assyria. [17][†]And the king of Assyria sent the [c] Tartan, the Rab-saris, and the Rabshakeh with a great army from Lachish to King Hezekiah at Jerusalem. And they went up and came to Jerusalem. When they arrived, they came and stood by [d] the conduit of the upper pool, which is on the highway to the Washer's Field. [18][†]And when they called for the king, there came out to them [e] Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, who was over the household, and [f] Shebnah the secretary, and Joah the son of Asaph, the recorder.

[19][†]And the Rabshakeh said to them, "Say to Hezekiah, 'Thus says the great king, the king of Assyria: On what do you rest this trust of yours? [20]Do you think that mere words are strategy and power for war? In whom do you now trust, that you have rebelled against me? [21]Behold, you are trusting now in Egypt, that broken reed of [g] a staff, which will pierce the hand of any man who leans on it. Such is Pharaoh king of Egypt to all who trust in him. [22]But if you say to me, "We trust in the LORD our God," is it not he [h] whose high places and altars Hezekiah has removed, saying to Judah and to Jerusalem, "You shall worship before this altar in Jerusalem"? [23]Come now, make a wager with my master the king of Assyria: I will give you two thousand horses, if you are able on your part to set riders on them. [24]How then can you repulse a single captain among the least of my master's servants, when you trust in Egypt for chariots and for horsemen? [25]Moreover, is it without the LORD that I have come up against this place to destroy it? The LORD said to me, Go up against this land, and destroy it.'"

[26][†]Then [e] Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, and [f] Shebnah, and Joah, said to the Rabshakeh, "Please speak to your servants in [i] Aramaic, for we understand it. Do not speak to us in the language of Judah within the hearing of the people who are on the wall." [27]But the Rabshakeh said to them, "Has my master sent me to speak these words to your master and to you, and not to the men sitting on the wall, who are doomed with you to eat their own dung and to drink their own urine?"

[28]Then the Rabshakeh stood and called out in a loud voice in the language of Judah: "Hear the word of the great king, the king of Assyria! [29][†]Thus says the king: 'Do not let Hezekiah deceive you, for he will not be able to deliver you out of my [3] hand. [30]Do not let Hezekiah make you trust in the LORD by saying, The LORD will surely deliver us, and this city will not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria.' [31][†]Do not listen to Hezekiah, for thus says the king of Assyria: 'Make your peace with me [4] and come out to me. Then [j] each one of you will eat of his own vine, and each one of his own fig tree, and each one of you will drink the water of his own cistern, [32]until I come and take you away to a land like your own land, [k] a land of grain and wine, a land of bread and vineyards, a land of olive trees and [l] honey, that you may live, and not die. And do not listen to Hezekiah when he misleads you by saying, "The LORD will deliver us." [33] [m] Has any of the gods of the nations ever delivered his land out of the hand of the king of Assyria? [34] [n] Where are the gods of [o] Hamath and [p] Arpad? Where are the gods of Sepharvaim, Hena, and [q] Ivvah? Have they delivered Samaria out of my hand? [35]Who among all the gods of the lands have delivered their lands out of my hand, [r] that the LORD should deliver Jerusalem out of my hand?'"

[36]But the people were silent and answered him not a word, for the king's command was, "Do not answer him." [37]Then [s] Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, who was over the household, and Shebna the secretary, and Joah the son of Asaph, the recorder, came to Hezekiah [t] with their clothes torn and told him the words of the Rabshakeh.

Isaiah Reassures Hezekiah

2 KINGS 19 [†] [u] As soon as King Hezekiah heard it, [t] he tore his clothes and [v] covered himself with sackcloth and went into the house of the LORD. [2]And he sent Eliakim, who was over the household, and Shebna the secretary, and the senior priests, [v] covered with sackcloth, to the prophet Isaiah the son of Amoz. [3][†]They said to him, "Thus says Hezekiah, This day is a day of distress, of rebuke, and of disgrace; children have come to the point of birth, and there is no strength to bring them forth. [4] [w] It may be that the LORD your God heard all the words of the Rabshakeh, whom his master the king of Assyria has sent [x] to mock the living God, and will rebuke the words that the LORD your God has heard; therefore lift up your prayer for [y] the remnant that is left." [5] When the servants of King Hezekiah came to Isaiah, [6] Isaiah said to them, "Say to your master, 'Thus says the LORD: Do not be afraid because of the words that you have heard, with which [z] the servants of the king of Assyria have [a] reviled me. [7] [†] Behold, I will put a spirit in him, so that [b] he shall hear a rumor and return to his own land, and I will make him [c] fall by the sword in his own land.'"

Sennacherib Defies the LORD

[8] The Rabshakeh returned, and found the king of Assyria fighting against [d] Libnah, for he heard that the king had left [e] Lachish. [9] [f] Now the king heard concerning Tirhakah king of Cush, "Behold, he has set out to fight against you." So he sent messengers again to Hezekiah, saying, [10] [†] "Thus shall you speak to Hezekiah king of Judah: 'Do not let your God [g] in whom you trust deceive you by promising that [h] Jerusalem will not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria. [11] Behold, you have heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all lands, devoting them to destruction. And shall you be delivered? [12] [i] Have the gods of the nations delivered them, the nations that my fathers destroyed, [j] Gozan, [k] Haran, Rezeph, and the people of [l] Eden who were in Telassar? [13] [m] Where is the king of Hamath, the king of Arpad, the king of the city of Sepharvaim, the king of Hena, or the king of Ivvah?'"

Hezekiah's Prayer

[14] Hezekiah received [n] the letter from the hand of the messengers and read it; and Hezekiah went up to the house of the LORD and spread it before the LORD. [15] And Hezekiah prayed before the LORD and said: "O LORD, the God of Israel, [o] enthroned above the cherubim, [p] you are the God, you alone, of all the kingdoms of the earth; you have made heaven and earth. [16] [q] Incline your ear, O LORD, and hear; [r] open your eyes, O LORD, and see; and hear the words of Sennacherib, which he has sent [s] to mock the living God. [17] Truly, O LORD, the kings of Assyria have laid waste the nations and their lands [18]and have cast their gods into the fire, for they were not gods, [t]but the work of men’s hands, wood and stone. Therefore they were destroyed. [19]So now, O LORD our God, save us, please, from his hand, [u]that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that [p]you, O LORD, are God alone.”

Isaiah Prophesies Sennacherib’s Fall

[20][†]Then Isaiah the son of Amoz sent to Hezekiah, saying, “Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: Your prayer to me about Sennacherib king of Assyria [v]I have heard. [21][†]This is the word that the LORD has spoken concerning him:

“She despises you, she scorns you—
[w]the virgin daughter of Zion;
she [x]wags her head behind you—
the daughter of Jerusalem.

[22] “Whom have you [y]mocked and [z]reviled?
Against whom have you raised your voice and lifted your eyes to the heights?
Against [a]the Holy One of Israel!
[23] [b]By your messengers you have mocked the Lord, and you have said, [c]‘With my many chariots
I have gone up the heights of the mountains, to the far recesses of [d]Lebanon;
I felled its tallest cedars,
its choicest cypresses;
I entered its farthest lodging place,
its most [e]fruitful forest.
[24] I dug wells
and drank foreign waters, and I dried up with the sole of my foot
all the streams [f]of Egypt.’

[25] “Have you not heard that [g]I determined it long ago?

I planned from days of old what [h]now I bring to pass, that you should turn fortified cities into heaps of ruins, [26] while their inhabitants, shorn of strength, are dismayed and confounded,
and have become [i]like plants of the field and like tender grass,
like grass on the housetops, blighted before it is grown.

[27] “But I know your sitting down [j]and your going out and coming in,
and your raging against me.
[28] Because you have raged against me
and your complacency has come into my ears,
I will [k]put my hook in your nose
and my bit in your mouth, and [l]I will turn you back on the way
by which you came.

[29][†]“And this shall be [m]the sign for you: this year eat what grows of itself, and in the second year what springs of the same. Then in the third year sow and reap and plant vineyards, and eat their fruit. [30] [n]And the surviving remnant of the house of Judah shall again take root downward and bear fruit upward. [31]For out of Jerusalem shall go a remnant, and out of Mount Zion [o]a band of survivors. [p]The zeal of the Lord will do this.

[32][†]“Therefore thus says the Lord concerning the king of Assyria: He shall not come into this city or shoot an arrow there, or come before it with a shield or [q]cast up a siege mound against it. [33] [r]By the way that he came, by the same he shall return, and he shall not come into this city, declares the Lord. [34] [s]For I will defend this city to save it, for my own sake [t]and for the sake of my servant David.”

[35][†]And that night [u]the angel of the Lord went out and struck down 185,000 in the camp of the Assyrians. And when people arose early in the morning, behold, these were all dead bodies. [36]Then Sennacherib king of Assyria departed and went home and lived at [v]Nineveh. [37][†]And as he was worshiping in the house of Nisroch his god, [w]Adrammelech and Sharezer, his sons, struck him down with the sword and escaped into the land of Ararat. And Esarhaddon his son reigned in his place.

Hezekiah’s Illness and Recovery

2 KINGS 20 [†] [x]In those days [y]Hezekiah became sick and was at the point of death. And Isaiah the prophet the son of Amoz came to him and said to him, “Thus says the LORD, [z]‘Set your house in order, for you shall die; you shall not recover.’” [2][†]Then Hezekiah turned his face to the wall and prayed to the LORD, saying, [3][†]“Now, O LORD, [a]please remember how I have walked before you in faithfulness and [b]with a whole heart, [c]and have done what is good in your sight.” [d]And Hezekiah wept bitterly. [4][†]And before Isaiah had gone out of the middle court, the word of the LORD came to him: [5][†]“Turn back, and say to Hezekiah [e]the leader of my people, Thus says the LORD, the God of David your father: [f]I have heard your prayer; [g]I have seen your tears. Behold, I will heal you. On the third day you shall go up to the house of the LORD, [6]and I will add fifteen years to your life. I will deliver you and this city out of the hand of the king of Assyria, [h]and I will defend this city for my own sake and for my servant David’s sake.” [7][†]And Isaiah said, “Bring a cake of figs. And let them take and lay it on the boil, that he may recover.”

[8][†]And Hezekiah said to Isaiah, “What shall be the sign that the LORD will heal me, and that I shall go up to the house of the LORD on the third day?” [9]And Isaiah said, “This shall be [i]the sign to you from the LORD, that the LORD will do the thing that he has promised: shall the shadow go forward ten steps, or go back ten steps?” [10]And Hezekiah answered, “It is an easy thing for the shadow [j]to lengthen ten steps. Rather let the shadow go back ten steps.” [11]And Isaiah the prophet called to the LORD, [k]and he brought the shadow back ten steps, by which it had gone down on the steps of Ahaz.

Hezekiah and the Babylonian Envoys

12 [l] At that time [m] Merodach-baladan the son of Baladan, king of Babylon, [n] sent envoys with letters and a present to Hezekiah, for he heard that Hezekiah had been sick. 13 [†]And Hezekiah welcomed them, and he showed them [o] all his treasure house, the silver, the gold, the spices, the precious oil, his armory, all that was found in his storehouses. There was nothing in his house or in all his realm that Hezekiah did not show them. 14 Then Isaiah the prophet came to King Hezekiah, and said to him, "What did these men say? And from where did they come to you?" And Hezekiah said, "They have come from a far country, from Babylon." 15 He said, "What have they seen in your house?" And Hezekiah answered, "They have seen all that is in my house; there is nothing in my storehouses that I did not show them."

16 Then Isaiah said to Hezekiah, "Hear the word of the LORD: 17 Behold, the days are coming, when [p] all that is in your house, and that which your fathers have stored up till this day, shall be carried to Babylon. Nothing shall be left, says the LORD. 18 [q] And some of your own sons, who shall be born to you, shall be taken away, [r] and they shall be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon." 19 [†]Then Hezekiah said to Isaiah, [s] "The word of the LORD that you have spoken is good." For he thought, "Why not, if there will be peace and security in my days?"

20 [†] [t] The rest of the deeds of Hezekiah and all his might and how he made [u] the pool and the conduit [v] and brought water into the city, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? 21 [w] And Hezekiah slept with his fathers, and Manasseh his son reigned in his place.

Manasseh Reigns in Judah

2 KINGS 21 [†] [x] Manasseh was twelve years old when he began to reign, and he reigned fifty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Hephzibah. 2 And he did what was evil in the sight of the LORD, [y] according to the despicable practices of the nations whom the LORD drove out before the people of Israel. 3 For he rebuilt the high places [z] that Hezekiah his father had destroyed, and he erected altars for Baal and made [a] an Asherah, [b] as Ahab king of Israel had done, [c] and worshiped all the host of heaven and served them. 4 [d] And he built altars in the house of the LORD, of which the LORD had said, [e] "In Jerusalem will I put my name." 5And he built altars [c] for all the host of heaven in [f] the two courts of the house of the LORD. 6 [g] And he burned his son as an offering [1] and [h] used fortune-telling and [i] omens and dealt [j] with mediums and with necromancers. He did much evil in the sight of the LORD, provoking him to anger. 7And the carved image of [a] Asherah that he had made he set in the house of which the LORD said to David and to Solomon his son, "In this house, [e] and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, I will put my name forever. 8[†] [k] And I will not cause the feet of Israel to wander anymore out of the land that I gave to their fathers, if only they will be careful to do according to all that I have commanded them, and according to all the Law that my servant Moses commanded them." 9But they did not listen, and Manasseh led them astray to do more evil than the nations had done whom the LORD destroyed before the people of Israel.

Manasseh's Idolatry Denounced

10And the LORD said by his servants the prophets, 11 [l] "Because Manasseh king of Judah has committed these abominations and has done things [m] more evil than all that the Amorites did, who were before him, [n] and has made Judah also to sin [o] with his idols, 12[†]therefore thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: Behold, I am bringing upon Jerusalem and Judah such disaster [2] that the ears of everyone who hears of it [p] will tingle. 13[†] [q] And I will stretch over Jerusalem the measuring line of Samaria, and the plumb line of the house of Ahab, and I will wipe Jerusalem as one wipes a dish, wiping it and turning it upside down. 14And I will forsake the remnant of my heritage and give them into the hand of their enemies, and they shall become a prey and a spoil to all their enemies, 15because they have done what is evil in my sight and have provoked me to anger, since the day their fathers came out of Egypt, even to this day."

16 [r] Moreover, Manasseh shed very much innocent blood, till he had filled Jerusalem from one end to another, besides the sin [s] that he made Judah to sin so that they did what was evil in the sight of the LORD.

[17][†] [t]Now the rest of the acts of Manasseh and all that he did, and the sin that he committed, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? [18] [u]And Manasseh slept with his fathers and was buried in the garden of his house, [v]in the garden of Uzza, and Amon his son reigned in his place.

Amon Reigns in Judah

[19][†]Amon was twenty-two years old when he began to reign, and he reigned two years in Jerusalem. His mother’s name was Meshullemeth the daughter of Haruz of Jotbah. [20]And he did what was evil in the sight of the LORD, [w]as Manasseh his father had done. [21]He walked in all the way in which his father walked and served [x]the idols that his father served and worshiped them. [22] [y]He abandoned the LORD, the God of his fathers, and did not walk in the way of the LORD. [23]And the servants of Amon conspired against him and put the king to death in his house. [24]But the people of the land struck down all those who had conspired against King Amon, and the people of the land made Josiah his son king in his place. [25]Now the rest of the acts of Amon that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? [26]And he was buried in his tomb [z]in the garden of Uzza, and Josiah his son reigned in his place.

Josiah Reigns in Judah

2 KINGS 22 [†] [a]Josiah was eight years old when he began to reign, and he reigned thirty-one years in Jerusalem. His mother’s name was Jedidah the daughter of Adaiah of [b]Bozkath. [2][†]And he did what was right in the eyes of the LORD and walked in all the way of David his father, [c]and he did not turn aside to the right or to the left.

Josiah Repairs the Temple

[3][†]In the eighteenth year of King Josiah, the king sent Shaphan the son of Azaliah, son of Meshullam, the secretary, to the house of the LORD, saying, [4]“Go up to [d]Hilkiah the high priest, that he may count the money [e]that has been brought into the house of the LORD, which [f]the keepers of the threshold have collected from the people. [5] [g] And let it be given into the hand of the workmen who have the oversight of the house of the LORD, and let them give it to the workmen who are at the house of the LORD, repairing the house [6](that is, to the carpenters, and to the builders, and to the masons), and let them use it for buying timber and quarried stone to repair the house. [7]But [h] no accounting shall be asked from them for the money that is delivered into their hand, for they deal honestly."

Hilkiah Finds the Book of the Law

[8][†]And Hilkiah the high priest said to Shaphan the secretary, "I have found [i] the Book of the Law in the house of the LORD." And Hilkiah gave the book to Shaphan, and he read it. [9]And Shaphan the secretary came to the king, and reported to the king, "Your servants have emptied out the money that was found in the house and have delivered it into the hand of the workmen who have the oversight of the house of the LORD." [10]Then Shaphan the secretary told the king, "Hilkiah the priest has given me a book." And Shaphan read it before the king.

[11][†]When the king heard the words of the Book of the Law, [j] he tore his clothes. [12]And the king commanded Hilkiah the priest, and [k] Ahikam the son of Shaphan, and [l] Achbor the son of [l] Micaiah, and Shaphan the secretary, and Asaiah the king's servant, saying, [13]"Go, inquire of the LORD for me, and for the people, and for all Judah, concerning the words of this book that has been found. For great is [m] the wrath of the LORD that is kindled against us, because our fathers have not obeyed the words of this book, to do according to all that is written concerning us."

[14][†]So Hilkiah the priest, and Ahikam, and Achbor, and Shaphan, and Asaiah went to Huldah the prophetess, the wife of Shallum the son of [n] Tikvah, son of [n] Harhas, keeper of the wardrobe (now she lived in Jerusalem in [o] the Second Quarter), and they talked with her. [15]And she said to them, "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: 'Tell the man who sent you to me, [16]Thus says the LORD, Behold, I will bring disaster upon this place and upon its inhabitants, all the words of the book that the king of Judah has read. [17] [p] Because they have forsaken me and have made offerings to other gods, that they might provoke me to anger with all the work of their hands, therefore [m] my wrath will be kindled against this place, and it will not be quenched. [18]But to the king of Judah, who sent you to inquire of the LORD, thus shall you say to him, Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: Regarding the words that you have heard, [19] [q] because your heart was penitent, and you [r] humbled yourself before the LORD, when you heard how I spoke against this place and against its inhabitants, that they should become [s] a desolation and [t] a curse, and you [u] have torn your clothes and wept before me, I also have heard you, declares the LORD. [20][†]Therefore, behold, I will gather you to your fathers, and [v] you shall be gathered to your grave in peace, and your eyes shall not see all the disaster that I will bring upon this place.'" And they brought back word to the king.

Josiah's Reforms

2 KINGS 23 [w] Then the king sent, and all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem were gathered to him. [2][†]And the king went up to the house of the LORD, and with him all the men of Judah and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem and the priests and the prophets, all the people, both small and great. And [x] he read in their hearing all the words of the Book of the Covenant [y] that had been found in the house of the LORD. [3]And the king stood [z] by the pillar and [a] made a covenant before the LORD, [b] to walk after the LORD and to keep his commandments and his testimonies and his statutes with all his heart and all his soul, to perform the words of this covenant that were written in this book. And all the people joined in the covenant.

[4][†]And the king commanded Hilkiah the high priest and the priests [c] of the second order and the keepers of the threshold to bring out of the temple of the LORD all the vessels made for [d] Baal, for [e] Asherah, and for all the host of heaven. [f] He burned them outside Jerusalem in the fields of the Kidron and carried their ashes to Bethel. [5]And he deposed the priests whom the kings of Judah had ordained to make offerings in the high places at the cities of Judah and around Jerusalem; those also who burned incense to Baal, to the sun and the moon and the constellations [g] and all the host of the heavens. [6]And he brought out [h] the Asherah from the house of the LORD, outside Jerusalem, to the brook Kidron, [i] and burned it at the brook Kidron [j] and beat it to dust and cast the dust of it upon the graves [k] of the common people. [7]And he broke down the houses of [l]the male cult prostitutes who were in the house of the LORD, [m]where the women wove hangings for [h]the Asherah. [8][†]And he brought all the priests out of the cities of Judah, and defiled the high places where the priests had made offerings, from [n]Geba to Beersheba. And he broke down the high places of the gates that were at the entrance of the gate of Joshua the governor of the city, which were on one's left at the gate of the city. [9][o]However, the priests of the high places did not come up to the altar of the LORD in Jerusalem, but they ate unleavened bread among their brothers. [10][†]And he defiled [p]Topheth, which is [q]in the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, [r]that no one might burn his son or his daughter as an offering to [s]Molech. [1] [11][†]And he removed the horses that the kings of Judah had dedicated to the sun, at the entrance to the house of the LORD, by the chamber of Nathan-melech the chamberlain, which was in the precincts. [2] And he burned the chariots of the sun with fire. [12][†]And the altars [t]on the roof of the upper chamber of Ahaz, which the kings of Judah had made, and the altars [u]that Manasseh had made in the two courts of the house of the LORD, he pulled down and broke in pieces [3] and cast the dust of them [v]into the brook Kidron. [13][†]And the king defiled the high places that were east of Jerusalem, to the south of [w]the mount of corruption, which Solomon the king of Israel had built for [x]Ashtoreth the abomination of the Sidonians, and for [y]Chemosh the abomination of Moab, and for [z]Milcom the abomination of the Ammonites. [14][†]And he broke in pieces the [a]pillars and cut down the Asherim and filled their places with the bones of men.

[15][†]Moreover, the altar at Bethel, the high place erected [b]by Jeroboam the son of Nebat, [c]who made Israel to sin, [d]that altar with the high place he pulled down and burned, [4] reducing it to dust. He also burned the Asherah. [16]And as Josiah turned, he saw the tombs there on the mount. And he sent and took the bones out of the tombs and burned them on the altar and defiled it, [e]according to the word of the LORD that the man of God proclaimed, who had predicted these things. [17]Then he said, "What is that monument that I see?" And the men of the city told him, [f]"It is the tomb of the man of God who came from Judah and predicted [5] these things that you have done against the altar at Bethel." [18]And he said, "Let him be; let no man move his bones." So they let his bones alone, with the bones [g]of the prophet who came out of Samaria. [19]And Josiah removed all the shrines also of the high places that were [h]in the cities of Samaria, which kings of Israel had made, provoking the LORD to anger. He did to them according to all that he had done at Bethel. [20]And [i]he sacrificed all the priests of the high places who were there, on the altars, [j]and burned human bones on them. Then he returned to Jerusalem.

Josiah Restores the Passover

[21]And the king commanded all the people, [k]"Keep the Passover to the LORD your God, [l]as it is written in this Book of the Covenant." [22][†] [m]For no such Passover had been kept since the days of the judges who judged Israel, or during all the days of the kings of Israel or of the kings of Judah. [23]But in the eighteenth year of King Josiah this Passover was kept to the LORD in Jerusalem.

[24][†]Moreover, Josiah put away [n]the mediums and the necromancers and [o]the household gods and [p]the idols and all the abominations that were seen in the land of Judah and in Jerusalem, that he might establish [q]the words of the law that were written in the book [r]that Hilkiah the priest found in the house of the LORD. [25][†] [s]Before him there was no king like him, who turned to the LORD with all his heart and with all his soul and with all his might, according to all the Law of Moses, nor did any like him arise after him.

[26][†]Still the LORD did not turn from the burning of his great wrath, by which his anger was kindled against Judah, [t]because of all the provocations with which Manasseh had provoked him. [27]And the LORD said, "I will remove Judah also out of my sight, [u]as I have removed Israel, and I will cast off this city that I have chosen, Jerusalem, [v]and the house of which I said, My name shall be there."

Josiah's Death in Battle

[28][†]Now the rest of the acts of Josiah and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? [29] [w]In his days

[x] Pharaoh Neco king of Egypt went up to the king of Assyria to the river Euphrates. King Josiah went to meet him, and Pharaoh Neco killed him at [y] Megiddo, as soon as he saw him. [30] [z] And his servants carried him dead in a chariot from [y] Megiddo and brought him to Jerusalem and buried him in his own tomb. [a] And the people of the land took Jehoahaz the son of Josiah, and anointed him, and made him king in his father's place.

Jehoahaz's Reign and Captivity

[31][†] [b] Jehoahaz was twenty-three years old when he began to reign, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem. His mother's name was [c] Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah. [32]And he did what was evil in the sight of the LORD, [d] according to all that his fathers had done. [33]And [x] Pharaoh Neco put him in bonds at [e] Riblah in the land of [f] Hamath, that he might not reign in Jerusalem, and laid on the land a tribute of a hundred talents [6] of silver and a talent of gold. [34]And [x] Pharaoh Neco made Eliakim the son of Josiah king in the place of Josiah his father, and [g] changed his name to Jehoiakim. But he took Jehoahaz away, [h] and he came to Egypt and died there. [35]And Jehoiakim [i] gave the silver and the gold to Pharaoh, but he taxed the land to give the money according to the command of Pharaoh. He exacted the silver and the gold of the people of the land, from everyone according to his assessment, to give it to Pharaoh Neco.

Jehoiakim Reigns in Judah

[36][†] [j] Jehoiakim was twenty-five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Zebidah the daughter of Pedaiah of Rumah. [37]And he did what was evil in the sight of the LORD, [d] according to all that his fathers had done.

2 KINGS 24 [k] In his days, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came up, and Jehoiakim became his servant for three years. Then he turned and rebelled against him. [2][†]And the LORD sent against him bands of the [l] Chaldeans and [m] bands of the Syrians and bands of the Moabites and bands of the Ammonites, and sent them against Judah to destroy it, [n] according to the word of the LORD that he spoke by his servants the prophets. [3]Surely this came upon Judah at the command of the LORD, to remove them out of his sight, [o] for the sins of Manasseh, according to all that he had done, [4]and also [p] for the innocent blood that he had shed. For he filled Jerusalem with innocent blood, and the LORD would not pardon. [5][†] [q] Now the rest of the deeds of Jehoiakim and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? [6]So Jehoiakim [r] slept with his fathers, and Jehoiachin his son reigned in his place. [7] [s] And the king of Egypt did not come again out of his land, [t] for the king of Babylon had taken all that belonged to the king of Egypt [u] from the Brook of Egypt to the river Euphrates.

Jehoiachin Reigns in Judah

[8][†] [v] Jehoiachin was [w] eighteen years old when he became king, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Nehushta the daughter of Elnathan of Jerusalem. [9]And he did what was evil in the sight of the LORD, [x] according to all that his father had done.

Jerusalem Captured

[10]At that time the servants of [y] Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came up to Jerusalem, and the city was besieged. [11]And [y] Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came to the city while his servants were besieging it, [12] [z] and Jehoiachin the king of Judah gave himself up to the king of Babylon, himself and his mother and his servants and his officials and his palace officials. [a] The king of Babylon took him prisoner [b] in the eighth year of his reign [13]and carried off all the treasures of the house of the LORD [c] and the treasures of the king's house, [d] and cut in pieces all the vessels of gold in the temple of the LORD, [e] which Solomon king of Israel had made, [f] as the LORD had foretold. [14] [g] He carried away all Jerusalem and all the officials and all the mighty men of valor, [h] 10,000 captives, [i] and all the craftsmen and the smiths. None remained, [j] except the poorest people of the land. [15] [k] And he carried away Jehoiachin to Babylon. The king's mother, the king's wives, his officials, and the chief men of the land he took into captivity from Jerusalem to Babylon. [16]And the king of Babylon brought captive to Babylon all the men of valor, [l] 7,000, and the craftsmen and the metal workers, 1,000, all of them strong and fit for war. [17] [m] And the king of Babylon [n] made Mattaniah, [o] Jehoiachin's uncle, king in his place, [p] and changed his name to Zedekiah.

Zedekiah Reigns in Judah

[18][†] [q] Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was [r] Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah. [19]And he did what was evil in the sight of the LORD, [s] according to all that Jehoiakim had done. [20]For because of the anger of the LORD it came to the point in Jerusalem and Judah that he cast them out from his presence.

Fall and Captivity of Judah

2 KINGS 25 [u] And in the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, on the tenth day of the month, [v] Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came with all his army against Jerusalem and laid siege to it. [w] And they built siegeworks all around it. [2]So the city was besieged till the eleventh year of King Zedekiah. [3]On the ninth day of the fourth month [x] the famine was so severe in the city that there was no food for the people of the land. [4]Then a breach was made in the city, and all the men of war fled by night by the way of the gate between the two walls, by [y] the king's garden, and [z] the Chaldeans were around the city. And they went in the direction of the [a] Arabah. [5]But the army of the Chaldeans pursued the king and overtook him in the plains of Jericho, and all his army was scattered from him. [6]Then they captured the king [b] and brought him up to the king of Babylon at [c] Riblah, and they passed sentence on him. [7]They slaughtered the sons of Zedekiah before his eyes, [d] and put out the eyes of Zedekiah and bound him in chains and took him to Babylon.

[8][†] [e] In the fifth month, on [f] the seventh day of the month—that was the nineteenth year of King Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon—Nebuzaradan, the captain of the bodyguard, a servant of the king of Babylon, came to

Jerusalem. [9][g] And he burned the house of the LORD [h] and the king’s house and all the houses of Jerusalem; every great house he burned down. [10]And all the army of the Chaldeans, who were with the captain of the guard, [i] broke down the walls around Jerusalem. [11][j] And the rest of the people who were left in the city and the deserters who had deserted to the king of Babylon, together with the rest of the multitude, Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard carried into exile. [12]But the captain of the guard left [k] some of the poorest of the land to be vinedressers and plowmen.

[13][†] [l] And the pillars [m] of bronze that were in the house of the LORD, and [n] the stands and [o] the bronze sea that were in the house of the LORD, the Chaldeans broke in pieces and carried the bronze to Babylon. [14][p] And they took away the pots and the shovels and the snuffers and the dishes for incense and all the vessels of bronze used in the temple service, [15]the fire pans also and the bowls. What was of gold the captain of the guard took away as gold, and what was of silver, as silver. [16]As for the two pillars, the one sea, and the stands that Solomon had made for the house of the LORD, [q] the bronze of all these vessels was beyond weight. [17][r] The height of the one pillar was eighteen cubits, [1] and on it was a capital of bronze. The height of the capital was three cubits. A latticework and pomegranates, all of bronze, were all around the capital. And the second pillar had the same, with the latticework.

[18][s] And the captain of the guard took [t] Seraiah the chief priest and [u] Zephaniah the second priest and the three keepers of the threshold; [19]and from the city he took an officer who had been in command of the men of war, and [v] five men of the king’s council who were found in the city; and the secretary of the commander of the army, who mustered the people of the land; and sixty men of the people of the land, who were found in the city.
[20]And Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard took them and brought them to the king of Babylon at [w] Riblah. [21][†]And the king of Babylon struck them down and put them to death at [w] Riblah in the land of Hamath. [x] So Judah was taken into exile out of its land.

Gedaliah Made Governor of Judah

22[†]And over the people who remained in the land of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had left, he appointed [y]Gedaliah the son of [z]Ahikam, son of Shaphan, governor. 23 [a]Now when all the captains and their men heard that the king of Babylon had appointed Gedaliah governor, they came with their men to Gedaliah at [b]Mizpah, namely, Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and Johanan the son of Kareah, and Seraiah the son of Tanhumeth the Netophathite, and Jaazaniah the son of the Maacathite. 24And Gedaliah swore to them and their men, saying, "Do not be afraid because of the Chaldean officials. Live in the land and serve the king of Babylon, and it shall be well with you." 25 [c]But in the seventh month, [d]Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, son of Elishama, of the royal family, came with ten men and struck down Gedaliah and put him to death along with the Jews and the Chaldeans who were with him at Mizpah. 26 [e]Then all the people, both small and great, and the captains of the forces arose and went to Egypt, for they were afraid of the Chaldeans.

Jehoiachin Released from Prison

27[†][f]And in the thirty-seventh year of [g]the exile of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the twelfth month, on the twenty-seventh day of the month, Evil-merodach king of Babylon, in the year that he began to reign, graciously [h]freed [2] Jehoiachin king of Judah from prison. 28And he spoke kindly to him and gave him a seat above the seats of the kings who were with him in Babylon. 29So Jehoiachin put off his prison garments. And every day of his life [i]he dined regularly at the king's table, 30and for his allowance, a regular allowance was given him by the king, according to his daily needs, as long as he lived.

Study Notes for 2 Kings

1:1–18 The Death of Ahaziah. King Ahaziah, Ahab’s son, has been injured. He wants to know whether he will live. Elijah obeys God and delivers a message to the king.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 1:2 Samaria was the capital of the northern kingdom of Israel from the time of Omri (1 Kings 16:24) until the fall of the northern kingdom (2 Kings 17). Ekron was an important Philistine city about 25 miles (40 km) west of Jerusalem. Baal-zebub means “lord of the flies.” It is probably a deliberate misspelling of “Baal-zebul,” which means “Baal the exalted” or “Baal, master of the dwelling” (see note on Matt. 10:25). This change expresses the authors’ disrespect for this false god.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 1:3–4 In a scene similar to the opening verses of 1 Kings 19, when Ahaziah sends messengers (2 Kings 1:2), the Lord responds by sending an angel.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 1:8 He wore a garment of hair. Since the Hebrew word for “hair” could refer to either animal or human hair, some translators have thought it was describing Elijah as being long-haired or bearded.

FACT

Israel and Judah’s sins continue. Picking up where 1 Kings left off, Israel and Judah continued to decline through false worship and disobedience. They were led into sin by their kings, most of whom failed to follow the Lord.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 1:9–12 a captain of fifty men with his fifty. . . . another . . . with his fifty. A hundred soldiers die as a result of Ahaziah’s choice to turn from God. The sins of leaders often lead to tragic consequences for those whom they lead (see note on 2 Sam. 24:17).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 1:13–18 third captain. This man shows Elijah respect as a prophet of the Lord. Ahaziah has his desired meeting with Elijah, but it changes nothing: the king dies. His brother Jehoram succeeds him (v. 17; see 3:1). On the Chronicles of the Kings, see note on 1 Kings 14:19.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:1–10:36 Elisha and Israel. Elijah's ministry has been coming to a close since 1 Kings 19:15–18, where Elijah was told to anoint Elisha as his successor. The war with Baal worship will not end until Elisha has succeeded Elijah and Hazael and Jehu have appeared. Chapters 2–10 of 2 Kings tell of these events.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:1–25 In these verses, the prophetic responsibility passes from Elijah to Elisha.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:1–4 It is not clear why the Lord sends Elijah from Gilgal to Bethel, and then on to Jericho, but there are prophetic communities at all three cities (vv. 3, 5; 4:38), and Elijah is probably their leader. (Later, Elisha will be their leader.)

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:1 The idea of going up to heaven at the end of one's earthly life does not appear often in the OT (compare Gen. 5:24). More common is the idea of "going down" to Sheol, the world of the dead (e.g., Job 7:9; see note on 1 Sam. 2:6). Other passages speak of the dead being "gathered to their people" (e.g., Gen. 25:7–8; 1 Kings 2:10). This does not mean, however, that OT believers had no hope for eternal life. Various passages describe a hope for continuing fellowship with God after death (2 Kings 2:11; Ps. 16:10–11; 17:15; 23:6; 115:17–18; Eccles. 12:7). In the NT, Jesus implied that Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob were alive and in God's presence (Matt. 22:32); Moses and Elijah appeared talking with Jesus (Matt. 17:3); and the parable of the rich man and Lazarus described Lazarus as being in Abraham's presence immediately after death (Luke 16:22–25).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:2 Bethel is identified with Jeroboam's spiritual unfaithfulness in 1 Kings 12–13. Please stay here. It is never made clear why Elijah keeps trying to get Elisha to remain behind on the day when he is to inherit Elijah's prophetic ministry. It is probably a testing of Elisha's worthiness for the task.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:3–4 keep quiet. It is disrespectful for the prophets to speak of Elijah's death while he is still with them.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:3 The sons of the prophets are not their physical descendants but groups of prophets usually affiliated with a more prominent prophet (see 1 Sam. 19:20; 2 Kings 4:38; 6:1). They must have received special revelations from God (see Deut. 18:18, 20; Jer. 14:14), though none of their prophecies are recorded in Scripture.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:4–5 Jericho was in the Jordan Valley about 10 miles (16 km) northwest of the Dead Sea. It was the first city conquered by the Israelites in Canaan.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:6–8 The Jordan River runs along a short stretch of a geological fault that starts in the north in Syria and extends southward into Africa. This miraculous crossing of the Jordan recalls Moses leading Israel across the Red Sea (Ex. 14:15–31).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:9 Elisha asks Elijah to give him what an eldest son in Israel would expect from his father: a double portion of the inheritance (see Deut. 21:15–17). In this case, however, the inheritance is not land but spiritual power.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:10 You have asked a hard thing. It is unclear how Elisha’s request can be hard, since Elisha has been chosen by God to succeed Elijah.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:11–13 chariots of fire and horses of fire. The divine army, last seen waging war on Ahab (1 Kings 22:1–38), has come for Elijah. Elisha took hold of his own clothes and tore them in two pieces. This is perhaps part of a mourning ritual (compare Gen. 37:34; 2 Sam. 13:30–31), but it also suggests leaving his old life behind, as he picks up the cloak of Elijah. Compare 1 Kings 19:19–21, where Elijah threw his cloak upon Elisha to symbolize his being called to be a prophet.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:14 the water was parted . . . and Elisha went over. Elisha is Elijah’s true successor. Empowered by the Spirit, he is able to repeat Elijah’s parting of the waters (v. 8).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:16 Please let them go and seek your master. The sons of the prophets do not fully understand what has happened. They wonder whether the Spirit of the LORD has simply caught Elijah up and cast him upon some mountain or into some valley. They want to retrieve his body for burial.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:19–22 the water is bad, and the land is unfruitful. Jericho was ideal for settlement because of a permanent spring which watered the land around it. Now, however, the water supply had become contaminated. (The city had been rebuilt under the shadow of Joshua's curse; see Josh. 6:26; 1 Kings 16:34). The use of salt here is symbolic; the water was healed by supernatural means: Thus says the LORD, I have healed this water.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 2:23–24 The city of Bethel played a key role in Israel's rebellion against God (see 1 Kings 12:25–13:34). It is no surprise, therefore, to find young people from this city disrespecting a prophet of the Lord (jeered at him). baldhead. Elisha might have been naturally bald, or perhaps some prophets shaved their heads. he cursed them. . . . And two she-bears . . . tore forty-two of the boys. Though this judgment may at first seem harsh, the group probably posed a physical threat to Elisha.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 3:1–27 Like Elijah before him, Elisha becomes involved in politics. Here, he is consulted about a military campaign (compare 1 Kings 22:1–28).

FACT

Though bears no longer live in the region of Palestine, the bear God used to punish the disrespectful boys (2:24) was probably of a type that could grow up to 7 feet (2 m) tall and reach 500 pounds (227 kg).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 3:2 Although Jehoram allowed his people to worship Baal (see v. 13; 9:22; 10:18–28), he himself did not worship Baal as did his father and mother (that is, Ahab and Jezebel). Instead, he removed Baal's pillar from the temple (see 1 Kings 14:23).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 3:4–5 Mesha was a ninth-century B.C. king of Moab. He began his reign under the authority of Israel and was required to give Israel a percentage of his agricultural produce (lambs and wool). After Ahab's death, Mesha rebelled.

FACT

The Moabite Stone is a small monument inscribed with details about the conflict between the Israelites and the Moabites (3:4–27). Written by the Moabites, it emphasizes their victories over Israel. More importantly, it features the earliest known reference to the Lord’s personal name (YHWH; see note on Gen. 2:4) outside of the Bible.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 3:7–9 Confronted with the Moabite rebellion, Jehoram, like his father Ahab before him, seeks help from Jehoshaphat, king of Judah. Jehoshaphat responds to Jehoram just as he did to Ahab: I am as you are, my people as your people, my horses as your horses (compare 1 Kings 22:4). However, unlike on that earlier occasion, this time Jehoshaphat fails to seek the Lord’s will (contrast 1 Kings 22:5). They plan to attack Moab from the south, through the wilderness of Edom, rather than from the north. This is possible because Edom is under Judean rule (1 Kings 22:47) and her king is Jehoshaphat’s deputy rather than an independent monarch. The combined armies get lost, however, caught in a circuitous march. Not surprisingly, a military venture undertaken without prophetic advice faces disaster.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 3:11–14 Is there no prophet of the LORD here? Faced with disaster, Jehoshaphat finally seeks divine guidance (compare 1 Kings 22:7). They find Elisha, the one who poured water on the hands of Elijah (probably a reference to Elisha’s having been Elijah’s servant).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 3:15–19 bring me a musician. Music plays a part in Elisha receiving his message from God (compare 1 Sam. 10:5–11). The immediate crisis (no water, 2 Kings 3:9) is to be dealt with by a miracle, as the nearby streambed shall be filled with water from a mysterious source (neither wind nor rain). God will give the alliance a complete victory over Moab. They will attack every fortified city and every choice city, devastating the land as they move through it. Deuteronomy 20:19–20 prohibits this kind of destruction in normal cases, but here the Moabites as a nation are to be destroyed (see note on Deut. 20:16–18), rather than simply conquered.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 3:20–24 Water mysteriously flows from the direction of Edom. This fools the Moabites into thinking Israel and Judah have slaughtered each other, because in the morning sunlight the water appears red as blood.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 3:27 Just as Israel seemed to have defeated him, Mesha offered his son as burnt offering on the wall. As a consequence, there came great wrath against Israel. This does not refer to divine anger. Instead, it seems, Mesha's troops respond to his desperate act with an anger against Israel that carries them to victory against all the odds.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 4:1–44 Several more miracles by Elisha remind the reader of the miracles performed by his predecessor, Elijah.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 4:1–7 the creditor has come to take my two children to be his slaves (v. 1). In ancient Israel, indebtedness could lead to loss of property and even the loss of one's freedom (see Neh. 5:4–5). Persons and property ending up in the hands of creditors could often be bought back by a "kinsman-redeemer" (see Lev. 25:35–55; Ruth 4:1–12; Jer. 32:6–15). Apparently the widow in this story lacks such a redeemer, so Elisha takes on that role for her.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 4:10 a small room on the roof. Roofs in ancient Israel were typically flat and served as important areas in the life of the family (see Josh. 2:6–8; 2 Sam. 11:2; 2 Kings 23:12). Occasionally, they provided accommodations for guests (see 1 Sam. 9:26; 2 Sam. 16:22). The structure here, however, is more permanent (it has walls).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 4:13 a word spoken on your behalf. Elisha offers to help the Shunammite woman secure benefits from government officials. She has no need of their help, however, because she is wealthy (v. 8) and has the support and protection of her own people.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 4:23 Her husband's response implies that it was customary in Israel to consult prophets only on particular days—the new moon and the Sabbath (see 1 Sam. 20:5–34; Amos 8:5). This woman's business, however, will not wait. All is not really well, but she does not want either her husband or Gehazi (2 Kings 4:26) getting in her way as she seeks Elisha's help.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 4:27 the LORD has hidden it from me. Elisha did not know this would happen. Prophets are not all-knowing. They depend always on God's revelation.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 4:29 Tie up your garment. As the woman had arrived at Carmel in great haste (v. 24), Elisha sends Gehazi back to Shunem in similar haste, his garment tied up so he can run (compare 1 Kings 18:46).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 4:30–31 I will not leave you. The woman does not accept Elisha's plan to resurrect the boy from a distance, by his staff. She wants his personal attention, which in the end does prove crucial.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 4:34 Elisha's actions vividly picture God restoring breath to the child (putting his mouth on his mouth), as well as sight (his eyes) and strength (his hands).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 4:38 A general state of famine does not imply a complete absence of food (see, e.g., vv. 42–44).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 4:40–41 death in the pot. As with the salt thrown into the water at Jericho (2:21), the flour is a visible sign of the Lord's power working through Elisha.

FACT

The wild gourds gathered by the prophet (4:38–41) were poisonous. The prophet, of course, did not realize this. He added the gourds to the stew, "not knowing what they were" (4:39).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 4:42–44 bread of the firstfruits. The second miracle of the chapter also concerns provision for people who depend on Elisha. A limited amount of food is multiplied (compare vv. 1–7). The God of Elisha heals, provides, and brings life from death.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 5:1–27 The account of Elisha's miracles continues with a story that again recalls the ministry of Elijah: the Lord is God not only of Israelites but also of foreigners (compare 1 Kings 17:17–24); he is, in fact, the only true God (compare 1 Kings 18:20–40).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 5:1 the LORD had given victory to Syria. Israel's God is responsible for victory or defeat in battles, no matter which gods may be worshiped by the victorious or defeated peoples (see Dan. 1:1–2). Naaman, by whom God had given the Syrians victory on this occasion, was a leper. He suffered from some skin disorder, though not necessarily what is known today as "leprosy" (see note on Luke 5:12).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 5:5–7 a letter to the king of Israel. There is an uneasy truce between Syria and Israel. There is sufficient tension, however, for Israel's king to be concerned that Syria’s king is seeking a quarrel by asking him to perform a task (cure him of his leprosy) that only God can accomplish. The tearing of clothes can indicate frustration, sorrow, or spiritual conviction (see 22:11–13). Ten talents of silver represents about 750 pounds (341 kg), compared with 150 pounds (68 kg; six thousand shekels) of gold. He could give a greater quantity of silver because of its lesser value, compared to gold.

FACT

Who was Rimmon? Rimmon was another name for the Syrian god Baal-hadad. Known as the storm god, he was depicted as a bearded deity holding a club and thunderbolt. He was considered the most powerful god in the Syrian religion.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 5:9–12 stood at the door. Naaman clearly expects personal, immediate attention from Elisha. However, Elisha addresses him only through a messenger and sends him to wash in the Jordan. Moreover, Naaman was looking for a cure, and Elisha apparently offers only ritual cleansing (wash . . . be clean). He could have done this at home by bathing in the rivers of Damascus.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 5:13 Has he actually said . . . ? Naaman’s servants have been listening more carefully, for Elisha did not speak only of ritual cleansing but of healing (“your flesh shall be restored,” v. 10).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 5:14–15 a little child. The “great man” (v. 1) had a problem, to which the “little girl” (v. 2) had the solution. The solution involved Naaman’s becoming, like her, “a little child.” He had to submit to the authority of the prophet and acknowledge his new faith (I know that there is no God in all the earth but in Israel).

ELISHA

Elisha was Elijah’s disciple and assistant and, eventually, his successor. He served as a prophet for 55 years and became famous for the many miracles he performed. Among these miracles was the healing of Naaman, the commander of the Syrian army. Naaman was a leper and came to Israel seeking to be healed. Elisha told him to wash in the Jordan River seven times. At first, Naaman felt insulted by these simple instructions, but when he finally obeyed, he was healed instantly. Elisha’s God-given power did not end at his death. When a fallen soldier was thrown into Elisha’s grave, the soldier came back to life as soon as his body came into contact with the prophet’s bones (13:20–21). (2 Kings 5:8–14)

---

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 5:16 I will receive none. For Elisha to accept a gift would have suggested that he had performed the miracle by his own power.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 5:17 two mule loads of earth. The earth is to be used to construct a mud-brick altar (see Ex. 20:24–25) for Naaman’s worship of the Lord.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 5:18 may the LORD pardon. Naaman’s dilemma is that he will still be required by his official duties to attend the temple of Rimmon.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 5:20–22 I will run . . . and get something from him. Gehazi tries to profit from the miracle (compare Joshua 7; Acts 8:18–24).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 5:26 Was it a time to accept . . . ? Just as kings can misuse their power, so can the servants of prophets.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 6:1–23 With the healing of Naaman, Elisha has involved himself with Syria for the first time. That involvement now occupies most of the next two chapters, as the authors prepare the reader for the bloody events of chs. 8–10.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 6:1–7 A member of the prophetic community loses a borrowed axe head. Elisha, by the Lord’s power (2:14), miraculously makes the iron float, so that it is found.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 6:8 the king of Syria was warring against Israel. Relations between Syria and Israel have worsened since ch. 5.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 6:9 the man of God sent word. Elisha intervenes to help Jehoram. Nothing has changed in Jehoram's behavior (compare 3:2–3, 13), but the time has not yet arrived for final judgment on this royal dynasty (see chs. 9–10).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 6:13 Dothan is only 10 miles (16 km) north of the capital city of Samaria. The Syrians have been able to advance a long way into Israel. But the Syrian king is deluded in thinking he can send and seize Elisha.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 6:16 those who are with us. Elisha knows that the Lord has sent an army of angels to protect him.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 6:17 the mountain was full. Syrian troops may surround the city (v. 15), but Elisha himself is supported all around by the army of the Lord.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 6:18 blindness. Probably a dazed mental condition in which the Syrians are open to suggestion and manipulation but still able to follow the prophet to Samaria.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 6:19 I will bring you to the man whom you seek. The statement is somewhat puzzling, but rather than leaving the Syrians, Elisha did in fact bring them face to face with the man they were looking for.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 6:22 You shall not strike them down. Jehoram would not kill men taken captive with your sword and with your bow, and these are not even men like that. They are to be treated as guests.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 6:24–7:20 The uneasy peace of ch. 5 gave way in 6:8–23 to occasional Syrian raids into Israelite territory. These were beginning to decrease (6:23), but now there is a full-blown invasion.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 6:25 donkey's head . . . dove's dung. The siege was so severe that Samaria's inhabitants were reduced to eating valuable animals. They also were eating parts of the animals they normally would not eat, and they were purchasing them for high prices.

FACT

What is a siege? In ancient times, a “siege” occurred when an enemy army surrounded a city and demanded that it surrender. If the city refused, the invaders cut off food and water supplies and attempted to tear down the city’s defensive walls. Cities usually surrendered when they ran out of water. Those who fought to the end faced terrible consequences when their enemies finally overwhelmed them (6:24–7:20; 17:5; 25:1–2).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 6:26–27 Help, my lord, O king. The plea is directed to the king as the ultimate court of human justice, as in 1 Kings 3:16–28. Israel has strayed a long way from that glorious era when a wise king could ensure justice. The normal food supply is exhausted, and nothing comes from the threshing floor (see note on 1 Kings 22:10–12) or winepress.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 6:28–29 Give your son. The Bible reports other cases of cannibalism because of a long siege (e.g., Lam. 4:10; Ezek. 5:10).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 6:30–31 he tore his clothes. See notes on 2:11–13; 5:5–7. Likewise, sackcloth symbolizes mourning and distress. Jehoram appears to believe that removing Elisha will remove the problems he is facing.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 6:32 the elders were sitting with him. The elders of Samaria are gathered together in Elisha’s house (compare the similar situation in Ezek. 8:1; 20:1).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 7:1 a seah of fine flour . . . two seahs of barley. A seah is about 7 quarts (7.7 liters). Rescue is coming, and normal business at the gate of Samaria will be resumed on the following day (the prices are much lower here than in 6:25).

FACT

A seah is a dry measurement equal to about 7 quarts or 7.7 liters.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 7:2 windows in heaven. This officer cannot imagine how such an economic recovery could happen overnight. Will God hand out material blessings (see Mal. 3:10)? To mock the prophetic word is to mock the Lord himself, however, so he shall see it . . . but . . . not eat.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 7:3–4 four men who were lepers. Faced with certain death if they enter the city or sit where they are, they instead choose possible death in the camp of the Syrians.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 7:20 the people trampled him. The skeptical officer of v. 2 is trampled in the scramble to take the Syrians' supplies, fulfilling Elisha's prophecy.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:1–6 After the long narrative about the siege of Samaria (6:24–7:20), the Shunammite woman of 4:8–37 reappears. In 4:13, the woman declined Elisha's offer of help, saying that she could get help from her own people. In 8:1–6, however, she is no longer with her own people, for she has followed Elisha's advice and avoided famine by going to live in Philistia.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:1 Elisha had said. The prophecy had been delivered around the same time that Elisha restored the Shunammite woman's son to life (4:8–37), and the famine had followed soon after (see 4:38). This event is different from the more severe famine in Samaria described in 6:24–7:20.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:2 The land of the Philistines was a natural place to seek refuge during a famine in Israel (compare Gen. 26:1). It was also close to Egypt, the breadbasket of the ancient world (e.g., Gen. 12:10; 47:4).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:3 her house and her land. Someone has taken the woman's property in her absence—perhaps Jehoram himself, showing the same land-grabbing tendencies as his parents (see 1 Kings 21). In Israel the end of the seventh year was a time for restoration of property and cancellation of debt (Ex. 21:2–3; Deut. 15:1).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:6 all the produce. The king also provides her with all the income from her land that she would have received had she stayed.

FACT

Was it Joram or Jehoram? At about the same time, Israel had a king named Joram who was sometimes called Jehoram, while Judah had a king named Jehoram who was sometimes called Joram. King Joram of Israel was a son of Ahab while King Jehoram of Judah married a daughter of Ahab.

FACT

Kings, priests, and prophets were sometimes anointed with oil as a sign that God had set them apart for a special purpose (see 1 Sam. 15:1; Lev. 8:30). More commonly, oil was used in cooking and to clean and moisturize the body (see Deut. 28:40; 2 Sam. 14:2).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:7–15 The house of Omri has now held the throne of Israel since 1 Kings 16:23, and in spite of Elijah's prophecy about its end (1 Kings 21:21–24), one now reads of Ahab's second apostate son holding on to his kingdom with the help of Elisha. Did Elijah sabotage God's plan by failing to anoint Hazael and Jehu (1 Kings 19:15–18)? The answer is no. Hazael is now introduced, to be followed shortly by Jehu.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:8–9 meet the man of God. It appears to have been customary when consulting prophets to offer some payment, in this case an extravagant gift of forty camels' loads of goods (see 1 Sam. 9:1–9; 1 Kings 14:1–4; 2 Kings 5:1–6). The messenger Hazael enters the narrative without details of his background or role.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:10 say to him, "You shall certainly recover." Verses 11–12 indicate that Elisha knows that whatever Hazael says, he intends to kill the king.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:11 he fixed his gaze. The text does not identify "he" and "him" in this verse. Most interpreters understand the first "he" to be Elisha, who "fixed his gaze" on Hazael, staring at him but also seeing with prophetic vision what Hazael would do in the future. Hazael does not know how to respond and is embarrassed, and then Elisha weeps.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:15 Hazael became king. Hazael came to power in Syria sometime between 845 B.C., when it is known that Ben-hadad was still on the throne, and 841. He reigned for about 40 years and was one of Israel's most bitter enemies.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:16–29 Judah was last mentioned in ch. 3, when Jehoshaphat was king of Judah. Another Judean king has come and gone in the meantime, however, and the reader must be told about him and be introduced to his successor in order to understand chs. 9–10.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:16 Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat. First introduced briefly in 1 Kings 22:50, this king is mentioned again in 2 Kings 1:17. In 8:21, 23–24, his name appears as "Joram," which is also the name of Israel's king in this period (v. 16). This Israelite king is himself called "Jehoram" in 1:17 and 3:1. At precisely the point when the southern monarchy has come to resemble the northern monarchy most closely in its worship (see note on 8:18), their kings are called by the same name. One must work hard to distinguish their actions in the text.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:18 Jehoram walked in the way of the kings of Israel. His father, Jehoshaphat, had made peace with the king of Israel (1 Kings 22:44). From Jehoshaphat's reign onward, the fortunes of the house of Omri and the house of David were closely interconnected. Jehoram had married the daughter of Ahab, and the two kingdoms followed a similar religious policy (as the house of Ahab had done).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:19 he promised to give a lamp to him. See 1 Kings 11:36; 15:4. Sins in David's family are to be punished with the "rod of men" (2 Sam. 7:14–16), not with the destruction of his dynasty.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:20–22 In his days Edom revolted. The punishment of David's house in this case (see note on v. 19) comes in Jehoram's failure to subdue a rebellion by Edom, a country ruled by a king appointed by Judah (1 Kings 22:47; see note on 2 Kings 3:7–9). A city within Judah was also rebelling. Libnah was located southwest of Jerusalem (see also 2 Chron. 21:16–17).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:23 Chronicles of the Kings. See note on 1 Kings 14:19.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 8:28–29 war against Hazael king of Syria. Another joint battle against the Syrians at Ramoth-gilead (see 1 Kings 22:1–4) is followed by withdrawal to the stronghold of Jezreel, so that the Israelite king can recover from his wounds. Ramoth-gilead is apparently back in Israelite hands (2 Kings 9:14), perhaps abandoned in the general Syrian retreat in 7:3–7.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:1–10:17 First Kings 19:15–18 tells of three men whom God would use to bring about the end of Baal worship in Israel. Two of those men—Elisha and Hazael—have already appeared on the scene. This next section tells the story of Jehu.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:1 Tie up your garments. See 1 Kings 18:46 and 2 Kings 4:29. Speed will be important for this messenger from among the sons of the prophets (see note on 2:3). The army is still at Ramoth-gilead, even though the king has withdrawn to Jezreel (8:29).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:2 Jehu the son of Jehoshaphat, son of Nimshi. Jehu was described in 1 Kings 19:16 only as "son of Nimshi" (see also 2 Kings 9:20). Nimshi is actually his grandfather rather than his father (who is not the Judean king Jehoshaphat). It is unusual for the grandfather to be referred to in citations of this kind. Perhaps Nimshi was a particularly well-known person.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:3 flask of oil. Elijah had been commanded to anoint Jehu king over Israel (1 Kings 19:16), but had failed to do so. The reasons for Elisha's advice to the messenger to open the door and flee are not given. The reference to Jehu's reckless chariot driving (2 Kings 9:20) perhaps suggests that he has a reputation for reckless behavior and could be dangerous to the messenger.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:7 you shall strike down the house of Ahab. The pronouncement the messenger delivered is much longer than the one Elisha gave in v. 3 and the one Jehu later gave to his fellow officers (v. 12). The authors probably shortened the other versions of the message to avoid repetition.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:10 none shall bury her. It was considered a terrible thing in Israel not to be given a proper burial (see Deut. 28:25–26; Jer. 16:4).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:13 they blew the trumpet and proclaimed, "Jehu is king." The people's eagerness to do this suggests that there was instability in the army because of Jehoram's lack of military success.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:17–20 I see a company. As Jehu approaches with his army, the people in the city are not sure what is happening.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:22 Is it peace, Jehu? It seems unlikely that Jehoram and Ahaziah would have left the safety of Jezreel to meet Jehu if they had doubted Jehu's peaceable intentions. The Hebrew phrase probably could be translated, "Is all well?" What peace can there be? Jehu's response is to ask how things can be well in a kingdom dominated by the Baal religion and the whorings of Joram's mother Jezebel.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:25–26 plot of ground belonging to Naboth the Jezreelite. See note on 1 Kings 21:19.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:27–28 he fled to Megiddo and died there. Linked with Ahab in marriage and practicing the same idol worship, Ahaziah also shares in his fate. He is shot . . . in the chariot, later to be transported dead to his capital city for burial.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:30 she painted her eyes and adorned her head. Jezebel met her end proudly, dressed up as a queen should be.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:31 Jezebel sarcastically compares Jehu to a previous king, Zimri, whose reign lasted only seven days (1 Kings 16:8–20). She implies that Jehu will not survive his own revolution.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:32 Kings in ancient times often hired eunuchs (castrated males) to guard their harems. This assured the king that the males close to his women were not capable of sexual relations with them. Eunuchs also served as cooks, scribes, ambassadors, and in administrative roles.

FACT

Eunuchs had many roles in the ancient world. They served in the royal court as cooks, scribes, guards of the harem, and ambassadors. The Hebrew word for "eunuch" usually refers to a castrated man, though it does not always do so (see Gen. 39:1).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 9:36 the word of the LORD, which he spoke by his servant Elijah. Elijah earlier prophesied the gruesome death of Jezebel (1 Kings 21:23). dogs shall eat. Leaving Jezebel's corpse to devouring dogs meant disgrace, since burial was now impossible.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 10:1 Now Ahab had seventy sons in Samaria. Jehu now prepares to fulfill Elijah's prophecy of "cutting off" all the males of Ahab's house (1 Kings 21:21–22).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 10:3 fight for your master's house. By writing letters to the leading citizens and challenging them to place one of Ahab's potential heirs on his father's throne, Jehu forces them to choose sides.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 10:5 he who was over the palace . . . he who was over the city. These are the “rulers of the city” mentioned in v. 1. The joint reply of these two officials along with the elders and the other former Ahab loyalists (the “guardians”) reveals that they are now Jehu’s servants.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 10:7 they took the king’s sons and slaughtered them. This fulfills the word of the Lord in 9:7–9 and is similar to other situations in which entire groups of people are put to death (see note on 2 Sam. 21:3–6). Such drastic action against a royal household was not uncommon in the ancient world. The number seventy in such contexts may be a round number, or purely figurative, rather than an exact number.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 10:8–10 two heaps at the entrance of the gate. Jehu’s aim is to convince the people to make him king. He knows the people struck down all these, but he also tells them the LORD was carrying out his judgment on Ahab’s house through them.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 10:12–14 His work in Jezreel complete, Jehu leaves for Samaria. On the way, he encounters some relatives of Ahaziah king of Judah. The Judean royal family keeps being drawn into Jehu’s destruction of the house of Ahab, with whom they have been allied (see 9:27 for the death of Ahaziah). they took them alive and slaughtered them. Jehu is thorough in exterminating all traces of the past.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 10:15 Is your heart true to my heart as mine is to yours? The chapter’s theme is “who is on the Lord’s side; who is in the right?” Jehonadab, who is on the right side, reappears in Jeremiah 35 (“Jonadab”) as the founder of a purist religious group committed to Israel’s older ways.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 10:18–27 Jehu assembled all the people. Jehu now gives his attention to Samaria, which had been the focal point for the Baal cult (see 1 Kings 16:32–33). He assembled all the prophets and worshipers of Baal by pretending that he himself wanted to worship their false god. Once every single worshiper had come together, Jehu killed them all.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 10:20 Sanctify a solemn assembly. This phrase is probably a Canaanite religious term.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 10:27 demolished the pillar of Baal . . . the house of Baal. See 1 Kings 16:32–33; 2 Kings 3:2. Baal worship in Israel is officially at an end.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 10:29 did not turn aside from the sins of Jeroboam. Jehu has dealt with Baal worship, but he does nothing at all about the golden calves . . . in Bethel and in Dan that Jeroboam installed after leading Israel in revolt against the house of David (1 Kings 12:25–30).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 10:30 Since Jehu does not destroy the golden calves in Bethel and Dan (v. 29; see v. 31), it is surprising to find him described as someone who has carried out what is right in the eyes of the Lord. He also receives the promise of a dynasty, though it will not be an eternal dynasty like David's (it will last only till the fourth generation). Evidently what Jehu has done right (stopping Baal worship) far outweighs what he continues to do wrong.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 10:32–33 the LORD began to cut off parts of Israel. First Kings 19:15–18 pointed to a time when God's judgment would fall on Israel because of Baal worship. These verses focus on the part that the Syrian king Hazael played in this judgment. Hazael conquered the area east of the Jordan as far south as the Valley of the Arnon, which was the southern limit of Israelite Transjordanian territory (see Josh. 12:2). This military success occurred during a time when Syria was itself free from any threats by its own northern neighbor, Assyria.

JEHU

Jehu was an army commander who became king of Israel. He was famous for his reckless driving (9:20) but also for his great zeal for the Lord. He set out to destroy every trace of Baal worship in Israel. He killed the kings of both Israel and Judah, and then the entire household of Ahab. He killed the wicked queen Jezebel and then all Ahab's sons, royal officials, and priests. Jehu then brought together all the followers of Baal by pretending that he himself wanted to worship their false god. Once all the Baal worshipers had assembled, Jehu killed them all. He destroyed the temple of Baal, turning it into a latrine. Sadly, though God used Jehu to completely eradicate Baal worship in Israel, he continued to worship the golden calves that Jeroboam had set up. (2 Kings 10:28–31)

Syria Captures Gilead

c. 825–798 B.C.

The Syrians under Hazael continued to plague Israel during Jehu's reign, eventually capturing all of Gilead from Aroer on the Arnon River to Bashan in the north. Later during the reign of Jehoash (also called Joash), Hazael attacked Gath on the western border of Judah, and Jehoash sent Hazael treasures from the temple of the Lord to persuade him to withdraw from attacking Jerusalem.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 11:1–12:21 Joash. The destruction of the house of Ahab has greatly affected the house of David: Ahaziah (of Judah) has been killed, just like Jehoram (of Israel), and a number of Ahaziah's relatives have suffered the same fate as Ahab's relatives (10:12–14). Have the two houses become so identified in intermarriage (8:18, 27) that there is no longer any difference between them? Chapters 11–12 show that in fact the difference remains, for David's house survives even the assault of the wicked Queen Athaliah, a Judean "Jezebel."

FACT

Jehu pays tribute. Archaeologists have found a stone carving that shows King Jehu of Israel paying tribute to Shalmaneser III, king of Assyria. Known as the Black Obelisk, it depicts Jehu bowing to the ground in front of Shalmaneser.

FACT

Joash (or Jehoash) became King of Judah at the age of seven. Joash listened to the godly instruction of Jehoiada the priest and obeyed the Lord. But after Jehoiada died, Joash took advice from idolaters and forgot the Lord.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 11:1–3 Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah may have been a daughter of Jezebel (8:26); she is certainly as evil. The nurse's willingness to endanger herself by saving the child Joash contrasts sharply with the cowardly leading men of Samaria in 10:1–7. See note on 2 Chron. 22:10–12.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 11:5–8 This is the thing that you shall do. The palace guards are reassigned to provide security so that Joash can be crowned without interference by Athaliah.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 11:10 spears and shields that had been King David's. The commanders are making it clear that they have allied themselves with David's cause. At the same time, the armor they are receiving can be passed on to the new king as symbols of his royal power.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 11:12 the testimony. Joash is presented with a list of divinely ordained laws. For kings ruling under divine law, see Deut. 17:18–20; 1 Kings 2:3; 2 Kings 23:3.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 11:14 The emphasis on custom is important, as the authors try to show that Joash is the rightful heir to the throne. The coronation takes place according to law and custom, and in full view of the people of the land.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 11:17 Jehoiada. See notes on 2 Chron. 23:1–24:27; 23:3. The king and people once more identify themselves as the LORD's people (compare Josh. 24:1–27; 2 Kings 23:1–3). At the same time, a covenant is made between the king and the people (compare 2 Sam. 5:1–3). After several years of bad leadership, they are redefining kingship in distinctively Israelite terms.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 11:21 Joash, introduced by that name in v. 2, will be called Jehoash throughout most of ch. 12. He will be called Joash again only in 12:19, where his death is reported. See also note on 13:9.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 12:2–3 Jehoash (that is, Joash; see note on 11:21) did what was right. He was a relatively good king who rejected idolatrous worship, but the high places were not taken away (see note on 1 Kings 3:2; see also 1 Kings 15:14; 22:43).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 12:4–5 repair the house. There were three sources of income for the repairs. Two of these were from regular temple income: payments from the census of male Israelites (money for which each man is assessed; Ex. 30:11–16), and monetary equivalents for things dedicated to God (money from the assessment of persons; Lev. 27:1–25). The third source of income, money that a man's heart prompts him to bring, refers to a special fund-raising campaign.

JOASH

Joash (also spelled Jehoash) was just an infant when his father, King Ahaziah of Judah, was murdered. Following the king’s death, Joash’s wicked grandmother Athaliah tried to kill everyone in the royal family so that she could claim the throne. Joash was spared when his aunt, Jehosheba, hid him in the temple. When Joash was seven years old, Jehoiada, the chief priest, revealed that the young boy was alive. Joash was proclaimed king, and Athaliah was put to death. Joash was a good king as long as Jehoiada was there to guide him. Probably his greatest achievement was making some much-needed repairs to the temple. After Jehoiada died, however, Joash listened to ungodly advice and disobeyed the Lord. His life ended tragically as he was murdered by his own men. (2 Kings 12:1–3)

FACT

Hazael (12:17) was king of Syria from 843–796 B.C. He threatened Israel during the reigns of Jehu (1 Kings 19:17), Joram (8:28), and Jehoahaz (13:22).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 12:7–12 Joash’s initial plan is to leave the fundraising to the priests (vv. 4–5). But apparently the priests are not eager to spend good money on buildings. Therefore Joash takes control of the project, ensuring that the income goes directly to the workmen appointed to supervise the work.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 12:13 But there were not made . . . any vessels of gold, or of silver. After all his efforts, Joash was able to achieve only a very humble restoration of the temple.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 12:17–18 Judah, like Israel (10:32–33), is oppressed by Hazael king of Syria. In fact, Joash had to empty the treasuries of the house of the LORD and of the king’s house. Long past are the days when the king of Israel had “rest on every side” (1 Kings 5:4). Much later, Hag. 2:7–8 foretold that one day the nations would bring their wealth to the temple.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 12:19 Chronicles of the Kings. See note on 1 Kings 14:19.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 12:20 Silla was probably a neighborhood of Jerusalem below “the Millo” (see note on 2 Sam. 5:9). The house of Millo was perhaps a prominent building in the Millo.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 13:1–25 Jehoahaz and Jehoash. The story goes back to the northern kingdom, Israel, and focuses on the two northern kings who ruled during Joash of Judah's lifetime.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 13:1–5 Jehoahaz the son of Jehu. . . . did what was evil, and therefore the anger of the LORD was kindled against Israel. However, because of God's promise to Jehu (10:30), his anger is expressed only as oppression of Israel by Syria.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 13:4–5 Jehoahaz sought the favor of the LORD. The language throughout vv. 3–5 recalls the book of Judges. When Israel cried out under foreign oppression, God sent a savior (v. 5; compare Judg. 3:9, 15). Likely the "savior" here is Assyria, which began military actions against Syria and Palestine in the closing years of the ninth century B.C. Since Syria needed to defend itself against Assyria, it left Israel alone.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 13:6 the Asherah . . . remained in Samaria. On Asherim, see note on 1 Kings 14:15. The English translation here implies that this is the same Asherah that Ahab made earlier (1 Kings 16:33). It seems to have survived Jehu's reformation.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 13:7–8 dust at threshing. See note on 1 Kings 22:10–12. The army of Jehoahaz is reduced to a small number, as insubstantial as chaff in the breeze. On the Chronicles of the Kings, see note on 1 Kings 14:19.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 13:9 The next king of Israel, introduced here as Joash, is referred to as both Joash (e.g., v. 14) and Jehoash (v. 25) throughout the rest of this chapter and in ch. 14 (e.g., 14:8–9). He is not to be confused with Joash of Judah; see note on 11:21.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 13:14–19 Joash (Jehoash of Israel) weeps because he thinks he is on the verge of defeat, lacking chariots and horsemen (v. 7). Elisha promises the king a series of victories (three times, v. 19). The victories would have been greater in number had the king been more enthusiastically obedient ("You should have struck five or six times") to the prophet's words. Aphek lay eastward of the main Israelite territory in Transjordan. This is the direction in which Jehoash shoots the arrow and from which the Syrian threat to Israel typically came.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 13:20–21 grave of Elisha. Tombs in ancient Israel were often dug out of soft rock or located in caves (e.g., Genesis 23). They were not difficult to access. Israel needs to know that Elisha's powers to resurrect live on (compare 2 Kings 4:8–37), because just as this man was thrown into the grave of Elisha, so God will soon "throw" Israel into exile in Assyria (17:20). The Israelites need to maintain contact with the great prophets of the past through obedience to their teachings, so that their "death" in exile can be followed by resurrection (see Ezek. 37:1–14).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 13:23–25 Israel is surviving because of God's promise to Jehu (10:30), and also because of his covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. That is why he kept the Syrians at bay during the reign of Jehoahaz, in spite of Israel's sin; and that is why the equally sinful Jehoash was later able to lead Israel to something of a recovery. Even until now (that is, after the exile, when the authors are writing), Israel remains in God's presence.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 13:25 Three times Joash (that is, Jehoash; see note on v. 9) defeated him, fulfilling Elisha's prophecy (v. 19).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 14:1–15:7 Amaziah, Jeroboam II, and Azariah. The recovery that began under Jehoash (see note on 13:23–25) continues into ch. 14. The house of Jehu brings Israel relief from Syria to the north and also from a hostile Judah to the south.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 14:1–6 Amaziah was a relatively good king of Judah (he did what was right in the eyes of the LORD). Like others before him, he failed to remove the high places (see note on 1 Kings 3:2), but he basically kept the Law of Moses. Yet the Judean kings from Joash to Jotham are regarded as not like David (contrast 1 Kings 3:3; 22:43 with 2 Kings 14:3; 15:3). There is some doubt in the authors' minds about the wholeheartedness of these kings' commitment to the Lord.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 14:7 struck down ten thousand Edomites. Edom had revolted against Judean rule during Jehoram's reign (8:20–22). Amaziah does not reestablish Judean control over Edom, but this important victory does improve Judah's ability to trade (see note on 14:22).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 14:9–10 A thistle . . . sent to a cedar. Emboldened by the success of his Edomite campaign (v. 7), Amaziah of Judah has decided to confront the more powerful Jehoash of Israel. Jehoash responds with this insult as a warning.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 14:11–14 Beth-shemesh. This town on the northwest border of Judah, about 20 miles (32 km) by road from Jerusalem, guarded an important pass from the Philistine plain. Judah's defeat here led inevitably to an assault on Jerusalem itself and the destruction of about 600 feet (183 m) of the city wall on the northern side.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 14:15–17 the rest of the acts of Jehoash. The information about Jehoash's death is repeated from 13:12–13 (where he is called Joash). This may have been to contrast his death with that of Amaziah (see 14:19). It is also possible that Jehoash is highlighted here because he, as king of Israel, was essentially also the ruler of Judah in this period, as was his son Jeroboam after him. Amaziah is not said to have "ruled" in Judah after Jehoash's death but merely to have lived fifteen years there. On the Chronicles of the Kings, see note on 1 Kings 14:19.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 14:19 they made a conspiracy against him. Amaziah was bound to be unpopular since Jerusalem was invaded during his failed military action (vv. 11–14). Lachish was the most important fortified city in Judah besides Jerusalem. It defended one of the east-west valleys that gave access to the Judean Plateau and Jerusalem from the coastal plains.

Resurgence during the Time of Azariah and Jeroboam II

c. 767–753 B.C.

A power vacuum created by Assyria's attack and withdrawal from Syria allowed Jeroboam II of Israel and Azariah (also called Uzziah) of Judah to recover land that had once belonged to their kingdoms. Jeroboam recovered much of Gilead, and Azariah recovered Elath on the Red Sea. Jeroboam also subdued much of Syria's territory for a time, and Azariah captured some Philistine towns and fought against the Arabians at Gurbaal and the Meunites.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 14:22 Azariah, the next king of Judah, strengthened Amaziah’s gains in Edom by claiming the port of Elath at the north end of the Gulf of Aqaba (the Red Sea). (But see 16:6 and note.) This town was closely associated with Ezion-geber and the worldwide trade of Solomon’s day (1 Kings 9:26). It stood at the southern end of the great King’s Highway that ran all the way north to Damascus.

FACT

Elath (14:22) was a strategic seaport on the northernmost tip of the Red Sea. It was located at the southern end of the King’s Highway, which ran north all the way to Damascus.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 14:25 The Assyrian assault on the area north of Israel had seriously weakened the kingdoms of that region, including Syria. This had allowed Jehoash to recapture some Israelite towns from the Syrians (13:25). In the next few years, the Assyrian kings only occasionally ventured out on military campaigns to their west. This allowed Jeroboam II of Israel, son of Jehoash, to continue the Israelite recovery begun by his father. In fact, he restored the border of northern Israel to the size it had been during Solomon’s reign (1 Kings 8:65). Jonah the son of Amittai, whose story is told in the book of Jonah, had prophesied that Jeroboam would accomplish this.

Prophets of Israel and Judah

c. 875–430 B.C.

Prophets had been a part of Israelite society since the days of Moses, but the complex political, religious, and social situations of the divided monarchy made their role of communicating God's clear message even more pronounced. Unlike priests, prophets did not inherit their role by birth and often were not part of the religious establishment. They arose from various parts of Israel and Judah, with some having direct access to the king (e.g., Elijah and Elisha) and others communicating their messages directly to the people (e.g., Amos and Nahum).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 14:27 To blot out the name of Israel from under heaven would be to destroy Israel completely (see Deut. 9:14–19), making forgiveness and restoration impossible (see Deut. 29:20).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 14:28 Judah in Israel. This phrase reflects the unusual situation during the reigns of Jehoash and Jeroboam II, when the kings of Israel apparently controlled Judah as well (see note on vv. 15–17). During this time territory is being restored (see v. 22) to both the north and the south. Jeroboam II ruled Israel 40 years, from 786 to 746 B.C.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 15:3–4 he did what was right [but] the high places were not taken away. See 14:3–4 for a similar description of Azariah's father, Amaziah. Azariah is also called Uzziah in various places (see 15:13, 30, 32, 34). It was during Azariah's (Uzziah's) reign that Isaiah began his prophetic ministry (Isa. 1:1; 6:1).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 15:5 a leper to the day of his death. Sometime during his reign, Azariah became a leper and was unable to govern. He occupied a separate house, which is a symbolic way of saying that he was relieved of his responsibilities. He was regarded as essentially dead. See note on 2 Chron. 26:21–23. Azariah's son Jotham governed Judah in his place.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 15:6 On the Chronicles of the Kings, see note on 1 Kings 14:19.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 15:8–31 Israel's Last Days. The Lord had promised Jehu that his descendants would reign after him to the "fourth generation" (10:30). With the death of Jeroboam II and the coming of Zechariah to the throne, that fourth generation has arrived. Israel will now return to the unstable government of the days before the dynasties of Omri and Jehu (see 1 Kings 14–16). King will now follow king in quick succession.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 15:16–22 Menahem sacked Tiphsah. This attack on an important city on the Euphrates River is the last, brutal action of an Israelite king claiming control of a Solomon-like empire (compare 1 Kings 4:24). Such a campaign would probably have taken place early in Menahem's reign. It probably happened either before the campaigns of Pul the king of Assyria in 743–740 B.C. began, or during these years as part of the anti-Assyrian struggle in the region. “Pul” is a short name for Tiglath-pileser III. Pul’s goal was apparently to establish an Assyrian trading center on the border with Egypt, and he needed to control the area north of Egypt in order to achieve that goal. Menahem’s tributary payment of a thousand talents of silver makes him Assyria’s friend for the time being.

The Resurgence of Assyrian Influence

c. 740 B.C.

Looming over most of the latter history of the divided monarchy is the growing power and influence of Assyria. The resurgence of this ancient empire dominated much of the politics of the ancient Near East from the time of Jeroboam and Azariah until the empire’s demise at the end of the seventh century B.C. Israel bore the brunt of Assyria’s forays into Palestine, though Judah experienced its share of attacks as well. Assyria would eventually engulf nearly the entire Near East from Ur to Ararat to Egypt.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 15:27–31 Pekah is the last of the Israelite kings to rule during the long reign of Azariah in Judah. Toward the end of Pekah’s reign, in 733–732 B.C., Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria takes much of Israel’s northern and eastern territory. He deports much of Israel’s population in order to increase the Assyrian labor force and reduce opposition among conquered peoples. See note on 16:7–9.

FACT

Menahem’s tax receipts? Archaeologists working at the site of Samaria have discovered 63 shards of pottery, dating to about the time of King Menahem, on which tax payments are noted. These may be a record of the additional tax payments Menahem imposed on Israel to pay off the Assyrian king (15:19–20).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 15:32–16:20 Jotham and Ahaz. The house of David has seen three of its last four kings assassinated, and the fourth relinquish his power because of his leprosy. Things are not about to improve, as Jotham and his unbelieving son Ahaz are introduced.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 15:34–35 the high places were not removed. See note on 1 Kings 3:2. Jotham was a relatively good king. Nevertheless, he is described as being like his father Uzziah rather than like David (see note on 2 Kings 14:1–6). He failed to encourage the people to worship in Jerusalem. Rather, he allowed them to continue worshiping at the high places. Micah’s prophetic ministry began during Jotham’s reign (Mic. 1:1).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 15:37 the LORD began to send Rezin the king of Syria and Pekah . . . against Judah. This is the beginning of the “Syro-Ephraimite War” described in Isaiah 7–9. As Syria and Israel (Ephraim) threaten Judah, Judah will look to Assyria for help.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 16:1–4 he did not do what was right. Under Jotham’s son Ahaz, Judah returns to officially sanctioned idolatry. The high places become centers of Canaanite religion (see 1 Kings 14:23–24), which includes child sacrifice (see 1 Kings 16:34).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 16:6 Rezin . . . recovered Elath for Syria. This town had only recently been won back for Judah by Azariah (14:22). Rezin briefly reestablishes Syrian control and then surrenders Elath to the Edomites. It appears the Edomites are allies with the Philistines in the assault on Judah (2 Chron. 28:17–18).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 16:7–9 I am your servant. Rather than turning to the Lord for help, Ahaz agrees to be ruled by Assyria. Ahaz asks for Assyria's help, which arrives in the form of the Assyrian campaigns of 733–732 B.C. in Syria-Palestine. (See 15:27–31 and note.) Kir was the original home of the people of Syria (Amos 9:7), somewhere in Mesopotamia.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 16:10–16 Ahaz travels to Damascus to meet his new Assyrian overlord (see note on vv. 7–9). Ahaz is so impressed by a pagan altar he sees in Damascus that he has a copy of it set up in Jerusalem. Ahaz's religion is a full-fledged mixing of the Israelite true religion with the pagan religions of the other nations, including divination (the interpretation of omens). The practice is forbidden in Deut. 18:10.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 16:17–18 cut off the frames . . . took down the sea. See 1 Kings 7:23–36. Ahaz desecrates the furnishings of the temple in order not to offend his new master, Tiglath-pileser (because of the king of Assyria). Obedience to the Lord is gone, and therefore the Lord's blessing and protection are gone.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 16:19 Chronicles of the Kings. See note on 1 Kings 14:19.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 17:1–41 The End of Israel. The authors describe the uprooting and scattering of Israel, which was prophesied long before (1 Kings 14:15) but was delayed because of God's promises and his graciousness (2 Kings 10:30; 13:1–25; 14:23–29).

The Fall of Samaria and Deportation of Israelites

722 B.C.

During the reign of Hoshea of Israel, Shalmaneser of Assyria attacked Israel and made it a vassal kingdom. Later, however, Hoshea conspired against Assyria, refusing to pay the tribute and appealing to Egypt for help, so the Assyrians came and besieged Samaria until it fell. Many Israelites were exiled far from Israel to the area near Gozan and the cities of the Medes, and foreign peoples from other parts of the empire were relocated to Israel in an effort to prevent revolt. This signaled the end of the northern kingdom of Israel.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 17:1–2 Hoshea was the last king over what remained of northern Israel after the Assyrian assault of 732 B.C. (15:27–31). He was evil . . . , yet not as the kings of Israel who were before him.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 17:3–4 he had sent messengers to So, king of Egypt. Hoshea was a vassal to Shalmaneser V (727–722 B.C.), Tiglath-pileser's successor as king of Assyria. When Hoshea later tried to establish a relationship with Egypt instead, the Assyrian king became angry.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 17:6 the king of Assyria captured Samaria. Samaria fell after a three-year siege. Shalmaneser is identified as the conqueror, c. 722 B.C. (see also 18:9–10). This agrees with the Babylonian Chronicle, but Shalmaneser's successor Sargon II (722–705 B.C.) claims this honor for himself in his inscriptions. The places of exile mentioned in this verse are scattered widely over the Assyrian Empire.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 17:7–23 this occurred because the people of Israel had sinned (v. 7). The authors of 1–2 Kings give only this simple explanation for the end of the northern kingdom. The remainder of these verses give the details. Interestingly, some of the sins listed are those of Judah.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 17:24–41 the king of Assyria brought people . . . and placed them in the cities of Samaria. Having sent the Israelites into exile, the Assyrians bring people from other nations to resettle the land. These new inhabitants of Israel thought they could worship the God of Israel while also serving their own gods (vv. 33, 40–41). But because he is the only God who truly exists, the Lord will not allow the worship of any false god (vv. 34–39).

Why were the Israelites deported? The Babylonians had learned that destroying an enemy's land but allowing them to remain in it was a bad idea. It ruined potential crop resources and gave an opportunity for the conquered people to regroup and rebel. Instead, they deported the conquered people to other lands, and brought in people from other places to live in the conquered territory. This mixing of ethnic groups made any organized rebellion less likely.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:1–20:21 Hezekiah. In 715 B.C., seven years after the fall of the northern kingdom of Israel, Hezekiah comes to the throne in Judah. He resembles David more closely than any other king so far. He will succeed in reforming Judean worship. Hezekiah's trust in God will be vindicated when, in 701, the Assyrians fail to conquer Jerusalem.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:4 He removed the high places. This is significant because even the most faithful of Judean kings prior to Hezekiah had failed to do this (e.g., 1 Kings 3:2; 15:14; 22:43). Hezekiah takes further action against the bronze serpent named Nehushtan, which Moses had made in the wilderness (Num. 21:4–9). It had recently become an object of worship.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:5–6 He trusted in the Lord. Hezekiah’s trust was unparalleled in Judean history (there was none like him). This could be seen in the way he held fast to God throughout his life (see Deut. 13:4; 30:20).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:7–8 Because of Hezekiah’s faithfulness, the Lord was with him in his military exploits (compare 1 Sam. 16:18; 18:12, 14; 2 Sam. 5:10).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:9–12 Shalmaneser king of Assyria came up against Samaria. The verses repeat the story of how the northern kingdom fell (see 17:1–6). This reminds readers of the context of religious apostasy in which Hezekiah pursued his bold policy of rebellion against Assyria.

HEZEKIAH

Hezekiah was king of the southern kingdom, Judah, at the time when the Assyrians defeated the northern kingdom of Israel. Hezekiah was a good king who followed God throughout his life. He began his reign by completely reforming Judean worship. He removed the high places and all the idols that previous kings had allowed. At one point Hezekiah became very sick and was at the point of death, so he prayed that the Lord would heal him. God honored his prayer, promising to give him another 15 years of life. He also delivered Hezekiah and Jerusalem from the Assyrians. Hezekiah resembled King David more closely than any other Davidic king thus far. He is listed in the genealogy of Jesus (Matt. 1:9–10). (2 Kings 18:3–8)

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:13 Sennacherib king of Assyria came up against all the fortified cities of Judah. After Sargon II’s death, the new Assyrian king Sennacherib (704–681 B.C.) first fought in southern Mesopotamia (703–702) against the king of Babylon (see 20:12). He then turned his attention to Syria-Palestine in 701. The rebellion there quickly collapsed. Hezekiah did not have effective allies or fortresses.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:14–16 I have done wrong. Hezekiah’s first response to the crisis is to bargain with Sennacherib. He went on to give him all the silver from the temple, and stripped the gold from its doors (compare note on 12:17–18).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:17 While attacking Lachish, Sennacherib decides not to accept Hezekiah's attempt to persuade him to withdraw (vv. 14–16). Instead, Sennacherib sends an army to Jerusalem to pressure Hezekiah to surrender. The Tartan and Rab-saris were military officers. The Rabshakeh, or "chief cupbearer," would have accompanied the emperor as a personal attendant. His presence in this group is due to his linguistic abilities (vv. 19, 26). The conduit of the upper pool was just outside the city wall. It is the place where Isaiah had earlier encouraged Ahaz to have faith (Isa. 7:1–9).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:18 over the household . . . the secretary . . . the recorder. Three of the most important Judean officials go out to negotiate with the three Assyrian officials.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:19–25 Sennacherib's men claim that Egypt will not help Hezekiah. They also claim that trust in the LORD is useless, because the Lord is angry with Hezekiah for removing the high places and altars! Furthermore, they say, it is the Lord himself who has sent Assyria to destroy Judah because of this! The speech is obviously propaganda, and is not at all true.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:26–28 Please speak to your servants in Aramaic. Aramaic was the language of the Assyrian Empire west of the Euphrates. The educated Judean royal officials would have understood it, but the ordinary people on the city wall would not. However, the Assyrians were trying to appeal to the listening people, so they ignored the request and continued to speak in Hebrew (the language of Judah).

FACT

"Please speak in Aramaic." As Assyria tried to conquer Judah, they sent a delegation to Jerusalem to engage in "psychological warfare" (18:17–37). They made public proclamations intended to turn the Judeans against their king. The Judean officials begged the Assyrians to speak only in Aramaic (v. 26), which these officials would have understood but which the ordinary bystanders did not understand. But the Assyrians went on speaking in Hebrew, seeking to demoralize all those who were listening.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:29–30 The Rabshakeh says that trust in the Lord will not save the people of Judah. The reader is prepared to see God justify that trust.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 18:31–35 eat of his own vine . . . his own fig tree . . . drink the water of his own cistern. The Assyrian king is presented as a powerful god able to provide for his worshipers, in contrast to the supposedly weak God of Israel, who is unable to deliver. The language of the false promise recalls Deut. 8:7–9.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 19:1–2 he tore his clothes. A sign of deep emotion (see note on 5:5–7).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 19:3–4 there is no strength. It is a day of great humiliation and powerlessness. The only hope for this remnant is that the Lord, who is truly the living God and not simply one false god among many, will act to defend his name (see vv. 30–31).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 19:7–9 I will put a spirit in him. According to the prophet Isaiah (see vv. 2, 5–6), the Lord will influence Sennacherib's thinking so that several events will occur. However, the timing of these events is not clear.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 19:10–13 Do not let your God in whom you trust deceive you. In 18:19–35 the Rabshakeh claimed that Hezekiah was deceiving the people about what would happen if they trusted the Lord (18:29–30); here he claims that Hezekiah is the one deceived by the God in whom he trusts.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 19:20–28 A second prophecy from Isaiah (compare vv. 6–7), in three parts, brings God's response to Hezekiah's prayer. This king has been wrong to think that his military victories have resulted from his own strength. In reality, it was the Lord who determined it long ago. Assyria is merely the instrument of God's anger (see Isa. 10:5–11).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 19:21 The terms daughter of Zion and daughter of Jerusalem are frequently used in the OT to describe the city of Jerusalem and its inhabitants. Jerusalem is as defenseless as a virgin daughter, but because of the Lord's protection she will not be violated by mighty Sennacherib. In fact, she wags her head at him, scoffing at his pride.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 19:29–31 this shall be the sign for you. The second part of Isaiah's prophecy reveals the sign that Judah will recover from the Assyrian assault: the survivors will be provided for. Initially they will survive only because of the crops that spring up from what is already in the ground, but in the third year they will be able to bear fruit from their agricultural work.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 19:32–34 concerning the king of Assyria. The third part of Isaiah's prophecy makes clear the circumstances in which Sennacherib will return home (vv. 28, 33).

FACT

Siege mounds were mounds or ramps built out of dirt, rubble, and timbers. They were designed so that soldiers could batter down a city's walls and fortifications. The Assyrians were the first to use wheeled towers with these mounds. Protected inside the tower as it was moved up the ramp to the wall, the soldiers could then exit the tower and invade the city. A siege mound can still be found today at Masada.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 19:35–36 Sennacherib king of Assyria departed and went home. Sennacherib returned to Nineveh when he heard that 185,000 of his army had been struck down in one night by the angel of the Lord. Here is God's remarkable answer to Hezekiah's prayer (v. 19), and the fulfillment of God's promise in vv. 32–34.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 19:37 Though he was worshiping in the house of Nisroch his god, this false god could not protect the king. Sennacherib's assassins flee to Ararat, known to the Assyrians as Urartu, a kingdom of eastern Asia Minor that flourished from the ninth to the sixth centuries B.C. Esarhaddon ruled Assyria from 681 to 669 B.C.

SENNACHERIB

Sennacherib became king of the powerful Assyrian Empire following the death of his father, Sargon II. After defeating Babylon, Sennacherib began attacking the area of Syria and Palestine. His official records claim that he captured 46 strong-walled cities in Israel. Following a major victory at Lachish, he laid siege to Jerusalem. Sennacherib forced Hezekiah to pay a huge tribute. He mocked God, urging Hezekiah to turn his back on the Lord. Instead, Hezekiah prayed for God's deliverance. God answered the king's prayer, and the siege of Jerusalem was broken when the angel of the Lord killed 185,000 Assyrians in a single night. Sennacherib withdrew and returned to Nineveh, only to be killed by his own sons as he worshiped in the temple of the false god Nisroch. (2 Kings 19:35–37)

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 20:1 In those days. Verses 1–19 are a "flashback" to the time around 713–712 B.C., some 12 years before Sennacherib's invasion and some 15 years before Hezekiah's death (see v. 6).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 20:2 Hezekiah turned his face to the wall. Hezekiah is in distress and wants to be left alone.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 20:3 please remember. The prayer is somewhat more self-centered than the one in 19:15–19, stressing the king's own righteousness.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 20:4 The middle court was the area between the temple and the palace. Isaiah is on his way back to the temple.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 20:5 On the third day. This is a detail not included in Isaiah's parallel account (Isa. 38:5). you shall go up. God's response to Hezekiah's prayer (2 Kings 20:3) shows that many prophecies, though stated in unconditional terms (v. 1), have implied conditions.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 20:7 A cake of figs, serving as a medicated bandage, is applied to what may have been an inflamed area. There was a belief that figs had medicinal qualities. The healing of such a serious illness (v. 1) probably included a supernatural work of God as well.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 20:8–11 A sign of the promised healing is provided in the unnatural movement of a shadow on some steps associated with Ahaz (it moves back, even though the sun has already caused it to go down the steps).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 20:13–18 he showed them all his treasure house. Hezekiah is evidently proud of his wealth. After the kingdom falls, though, nothing shall be left, and even some of the king's sons (descendants) will be taken away into exile in Babylon. On eunuchs, see note on 9:32. Here the term may be intended symbolically rather than literally (the "sons" will be powerless servants of the king of Babylon).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 20:19 Why not? Hezekiah is surprisingly unmoved by Isaiah's prophecy. All he cares about is peace and security in his days. Even this "king like David" has his dark side.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 20:20 the pool and the conduit. The Gihon Spring in the Kidron Valley was Jerusalem's water source. A quarter-mile-long conduit brought water from there to a reservoir at the southern end of the city of David. Since this water supply lay outside the city's walls, it could be cut off in time of siege. A tunnel leading from the conduit allowed residents to access its water from inside the city walls. In preparation for the Assyrian attack, Hezekiah had an additional tunnel cut that diverted water from the Gihon Spring directly underground to the Pool of Siloam, within the city walls. On the Chronicles of the Kings, see note on 1 Kings 14:19.

FACT

Hezekiah's tunnel. As Assyria prepared to attack Jerusalem, the city faced a crisis, since its water supply was outside the city walls. King Hezekiah responded by ordering the construction of a tunnel from the water source to the Pool of Siloam, within the city walls (20:20).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 21:1–26 Manasseh and Amon. Even through the bad times, the Lord has been faithful to Judah because of his promise to David. Throughout chs. 16–20 it is suggested that Judah will eventually go into exile, just like Israel. As the wicked Manasseh begins his reign, these hints of disaster become prophetic announcements of judgment.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 21:1–9 Manasseh is the very worst of the Judean kings. He participates in everything that has been corrupted in the religion of Israel and adds to it despicable practices of the nations.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 21:8 For the feet of Israel to wander . . . out of the land would be for the people to go into exile. The authors make it clear that Judah will go into exile because of its own unfaithfulness rather than because of any weakness on God's part.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 21:12 ears . . . will tingle. People will react when they hear of the disaster that happens to Jerusalem and Judah (compare Deut. 2:25; Isa. 32:11).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 21:13 the measuring line . . . the plumb line. The city will be assessed by the divine architect (compare the use of the measuring line in Isa. 34:11; Lam. 2:8) and will be condemned.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 21:17–18 Manasseh's burial site was outside the part of Jerusalem where previous kings were buried. The garden of Uzza was perhaps an enclosure on the Temple Mount dedicated to the Arabian goddess al-Uzza, identified with Venus. It could also have been an enclosure at the southern end of the Kidron Valley, just outside the city walls, where there was a “king’s garden” (25:4; Neh. 3:15). On the Chronicles of the Kings, see note on 1 Kings 14:19.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 21:19–26 Amon. See note on 2 Chron. 33:21–25.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:1–23:30 Josiah. Josiah is a long-awaited good king (see 1 Kings 13:2). He does many significant deeds, but it comes too late to change Judah’s fate.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:2 Josiah is the ideal king who does not turn from the Mosaic law to the right or to the left (Deut. 17:20). His faithfulness to God is even greater than that of David and Hezekiah (2 Kings 23:21–25).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:3–7 the king sent Shaphan. Like Joash in 12:1–16, Josiah’s initial concern is simply to repair the temple, not to reform its worship. In fact, the reforms introduced by Joash some 200 years previously are still in place. The doorkeepers still collect the money for temple repairs, and the secretary and the high priest still count and distribute the money to the men in charge of the work.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:8 I have found the Book of the Law. The phrase “Book of the Law” may refer to all or part of the Pentateuch. Most scholars think a portion of Deuteronomy was discovered, which was read to the king and provided the basis for his actions. This written Law had been available to the kings of Israel and Judah in previous years (see 1 Kings 2:3; 2 Kings 10:31; 14:6; 18:6), but it was evidently lost or concealed during the long and wicked reign of Manasseh.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:11–13 Brought up in a royal court that had disobeyed God for 57 years, Josiah did not know the Lord’s demands. As soon as he became aware, he tore his clothes in grief and despair (compare 5:7–8; 6:30) and sent officials to inquire of the LORD.

FACT

Why did Josiah tear his clothes when the Law was read? As the Book of the Law was read in public for the first time in nearly 60 years, King Josiah tore his clothes as a sign of his grief. He grieved when he realized that he, as the nation’s leader, had not been fulfilling the commandments of the Lord.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:14–16 The officials (v. 11) consulted an otherwise unknown prophetess named Huldah. Her words confirm what is already known from the unnamed prophets of 21:10–15: the Lord is going to bring disaster on Jerusalem and its people.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 22:20 Because Josiah has humbled himself before the Lord, he will die before the terrible events prophesied in 21:12–14 and 22:15–17 occur.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 23:2–3 the king went up to the house of the LORD. Since Josiah is a faithful king, Huldah’s message of doom does not keep him from pursuing religious reform in light of the Book of the Covenant. His first move is to organize a covenant-renewal ceremony.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 23:4–9 The eastern slopes of the Kidron Valley had been associated with idolatry since the time of Solomon (1 Kings 11:7). It was a convenient place to destroy cult objects, thereby desecrating the valley itself as a religious site. On male cult prostitutes (2 Kings 23:7), see note on 1 Kings 14:24. The hangings for the Asherah (2 Kings 23:7) are probably ritual garments used in the worship of this goddess (compare 10:22).

FACT

The host of heaven refers in 23:4 to false gods, represented by celestial bodies such as the sun, moon, and planets. King Josiah ordered the destruction of all these symbols of pagan worship.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 23:8 defiled the high places where the priests had made offerings. These were local places of worship in various cities (see note on 1 Kings 3:2).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 23:10 The Valley of the Son of Hinnom ran along the western and southern sides of ancient Jerusalem until it met the Kidron Valley running from north to south. It is associated with the worship of Molech (see note on 1 Kings 11:7–8) at the site named Topheth. “Hinnom Valley” is the short form of the name, transliterated into Greek as “Gehenna.”

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 23:11 horses that the kings of Judah had dedicated to the sun. The practice of dedicating horses to the sun appears to have been an Assyrian custom.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 23:12 altars on the roof. The roof is a natural location for worship of the stars (see 16:1–4).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 23:13 Because idolatrous altars were there, the Mount of Olives is here called the mount of corruption. Ashtoreth is the biblical name for Astarte or Venus. On Chemosh and Milcom, see notes on 1 Kings 11:5; 11:7–8.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 23:14 he broke in pieces the pillars. Josiah destroys all the buildings associated with idol worship.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 23:15–20 altar at Bethel. Josiah not only destroys but also defiles (vv. 8, 10, 13) the altar by placing pagan religious objects close to graves and human bones (vv. 6, 14). This fulfills the prophecy of 1 Kings 13:2. See also 1 Kings 13:11–32 for the background to 2 Kings 23:17–18.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 23:22 A Passover like this had not been observed since the days of the judges (see Josh. 5:10–12 for the last mention of Passover and Deut. 16:1–8, especially v. 6, for instructions for Passover).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 23:24 Mediums and necromancers try to get information by inquiring of the dead. The household gods were images of deities that were either life-size (1 Sam. 19:13–16) or figurine-size (Gen. 31:19–35). They were usually made of wood and covered with metal and precious stones.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 23:25 Despite several generations of idolatry and rebellion against the Lord, somehow Josiah was a righteous king who turned to the LORD with all his heart.

JOSIAH

Josiah was only eight years old when he became king of Judah. He had been ruling Judah for 18 years when Hilkiah, the high priest, found the Book of the Law. As soon as Josiah heard the commands of God, he tore his clothes in grief and despair. He launched a massive effort to abolish pagan worship throughout Judah and Israel. After organizing a covenant-renewal ceremony, he destroyed all the buildings associated with idol worship. Among his most significant deeds was restoring the celebration of the Passover, which had not been observed since the days of the judges. Josiah was more faithful to the Lord than even David and Hezekiah. He was like the ideal king described in Deut. 17:19–20. (2 Kings 23:25)

---

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 23:26 Though Josiah was righteous, this did not turn away God's wrath from the nation. God will use exile to purify his people of deeply rooted unfaithfulness.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 23:28–30 Pharaoh Neco killed him at Megiddo. This battle took place in 609 B.C. Pharaoh Neco II marched north for what was apparently the last joint Assyrian-Egyptian military effort against the Babylonians and their allies, the Medes. Megiddo controlled the main international highway running from Egypt to Damascus as it entered the Jezreel Valley. Josiah wanted to prevent Egypt's strengthening of Assyria. On the Chronicles of the Kings, see note on 1 Kings 14:19.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 23:31–25:30 The End of Judah. The story of 1–2 Kings now ends as Babylon becomes the great world power. The Babylonians destroy Jerusalem and carry its treasures and its people to Babylon. The survival of Josiah's grandson Jehoiachin offers what little hope exists for the future of the "lamp" of David (1 Kings 11:36).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 23:31–35 Jehoahaz. The new king of Judah is summoned to Neco's temporary headquarters at Riblah, as the Egyptians return from their unsuccessful siege of Haran (609 B.C.). Neco removes Jehoahaz from power (see note on 2 Chron. 36:1–4.)

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 23:36–24:7 The Egyptians replace Jehoahaz with his brother Jehoiakim. He faces the armies of Babylon that have just defeated Assyria and are now invading Palestine on their way to Egypt. Babylon's king Nebuchadnezzar was never able to defeat Egypt completely but he made certain that the king of Egypt did not come again out of his land. Jehoiakim first switched his allegiance from Egypt to Babylon (604 B.C.). Then in 601, after Nebuchadnezzar failed to invade Egypt (that is, after three years), Jehoiakim rebelled against Babylon and looked once again to Egypt for help (see Jer. 46:14–28).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 24:2 And the LORD sent against him bands. See 23:26–27.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 24:5 Chronicles of the Kings. See note on 1 Kings 14:19.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 24:8–17 Jehoiachin. Babylon's withdrawal from Palestine in 601 B.C. turned out to be temporary. Jehoiakim's rebellion brought the Babylonian army to the gates of Jerusalem at the end of 598. The city surrendered in March 597 B.C. By this time Jehoiachin was king. Significant deportations followed (on deportation as an imperial tactic, see note on 15:27–31). Although 1–2 Kings does not mention this, the prophet Ezekiel was among the exiles. His prophetic ministry began a few years later in Babylon (Ezek. 1:2–3).

It appears that three separate deportations of Judeans to Babylon took place under the rule of Nebuchadnezzar (see also Jer. 52:28–30). The first came during the reign of Jehoiachin, when Nebuchadnezzar besieged Jerusalem and carried away many of the treasures of the temple and the royal palace. The second occurred after the fall of Jerusalem in 586 B.C., when the walls of the city were leveled and the temple was completely destroyed. The third appears to have occurred around 582 B.C. while King Nebuchadnezzar was reasserting his control over the general region of Palestine (see note on Jer. 52:28–30).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 24:18–25:7 Jehoiachin’s uncle Mattaniah ruled next, under the name of Zedekiah. He was under Babylonian control. Jeremiah 27:1 and 28:1 suggest that from early in his reign he was plotting a revolt, and eventually he rebelled. A two-year siege of Jerusalem followed. The city eventually fell in 587 or 586 B.C. Zedekiah fled, but was captured (see also note on 2 Chron. 36:11–16).

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 25:8–12 A few weeks after the fall of Jerusalem, the full vengeance of the Babylonian king came upon the city.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 25:13–14 Pillars of bronze that were in the house of the LORD begins a detailed list of temple furnishings (vv. 13–17) carried off by the Babylonians for the value of their metal.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 25:21 Almost all hope is gone in the summary statement, So Judah was taken into exile out of its land. But the land is still “its land,” holding out the promise of a future return.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 25:22–26 Gedaliah, the new governor of the territory that once was Judah, was the grandson of King Josiah’s secretary Shaphan. His assassination caused a general flight to Egypt.

2 KINGS—NOTE ON 25:27–30 Evil-merodach was Nebuchadnezzar’s son and successor. His release of the Judean king from prison in 561 B.C. gives the reader some hope that there is still a future for the Davidic line.

FACT

What happened to the ark of the covenant? After the fall of Jerusalem, the ark completely disappeared from historical records. It is unlikely that the Babylonians took it because there is no mention of it in Babylonian records.

Introduction to 1–2 Chronicles

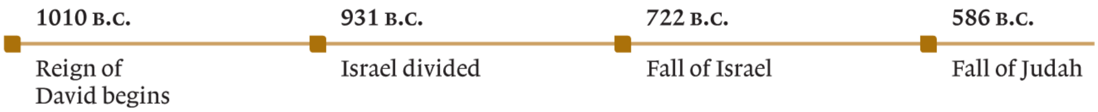
Timeline



Author and Date

The text nowhere directly identifies its author, but traditionally he has been called "the Chronicler." He was either a priest or Levite who was employed in the service of the temple during the Persian period (539–332 B.C.). He had scribal training and access to the temple records.

Theme

The central theme of Chronicles is God's covenant with David as the basis of Israel's life and hope. The Davidic covenant is expressed in two institutions: the monarchy and the temple. These institutions are related (1 Chron. 17:10b–14), and together they represent God's kingdom in Israel (2 Chron. 13:5, 8). The Davidic covenant does not replace the Mosaic covenant but builds on it for the new age of the monarchy and the temple.

Purpose, Occasion, and Background

Judah and Benjamin, the only surviving tribes of Israel, had returned to the land after the Babylonian exile. They had rebuilt the temple in Jerusalem. But in many ways it seemed like they were still in exile (see Ezra 9:6–15; Neh. 9:32–36). There were questions about Israel's place in God's purposes and the meaning of his ancient promises to David. With such questions in mind, the Chronicler wrote his books to promote spiritual and social renewal. He presented an interpretation of Israel's past, drawing mainly on the books of Samuel and Kings. He showed how the nation's unfaithfulness to God had led to disaster but also how its faithful kings and people had experienced God's blessing.

Key Themes

1. The Davidic covenant. God's covenant with David preserved the nation and enabled Solomon to build the temple. God is committed to preserving the line of David's descendants even through spiritual unfaithfulness (2 Chron. 21:13) and exile (1 Chron. 3:17–24). Being heirs of God's covenant with David also involves living according to God's earlier covenant with Moses.
2. The temple. The temple is an expression of the Davidic covenant. David provided for the construction of the temple and organized its personnel. His faithful successors should ensure that the worship is maintained, and that the building is kept in repair and is purified after defilement. The temple personnel should come to the aid of the Davidic dynasty in times of crisis. The Levites played an essential role in maintaining the whole system of worship, and in many ways they are the forerunners of the Christian ministry.
3. The people of Israel. The Chronicler sought to address some urgent questions of his day concerning the identity of Israel. He wanted to instill fresh confidence in the people. The genealogies of Israel that begin the work (1 Chronicles 1–9) start by tracing the people's ancestry back to Adam, a striking reminder that Israel was at the center of God's purpose from the very beginning of creation.

Second, the genealogies makes it clear that all 12 tribes were descended from Jacob's sons (1 Chron. 2:1). The Chronicler's history of the divided kingdom (2 Chronicles 10–36) focuses mainly on Judah and Benjamin. But he tries to show that the northern tribes are still a part of Israel, even though they rebelled against the rightful Davidic king (2 Chron. 13:5).

While the Chronicler does focus on the nation's kings and its priesthood, he also includes many stories that highlight the participation of ordinary people in the life of the nation.

The Extent of David’s Kingdom

1010–971 B.C.

David’s many battles eventually established Israel as the dominant power in Syria and Palestine. David expanded Israel’s borders until, by the end of his reign, he controlled all of Israel, Edom, Moab, Ammon, Syria, and Zobah. Other kingdoms, such as Tyre and Hamath, made treaties with him.

Solomon’s reign marked the high point of Israel’s power and wealth in biblical times. His father David had given him a kingdom that included Edom, Moab, Ammon, Syria, and Zobah. Solomon would later bring the kingdom of Hamath-zobah under his dominion as well, and his marriage to Pharaoh’s daughter sealed an alliance with Egypt. His expansive kingdom controlled important trade routes between several major world powers, including Egypt, Arabia, Mesopotamia, and Anatolia (Asia Minor).

The Global Message of 1 Chronicles

First Chronicles in Redemptive History

Written soon after Israel's devastating exile from the Promised Land, 1 Chronicles emphasizes that God still has a plan for his people and his king in Jerusalem. The exile to Babylon had shattered Israel's faith in God's covenantal promises. How could the deported descendants of Abraham ever bless the nations (Gen. 12:1–3) as a special people (Ex. 19:5–6)? What happened to God's assurance to King David that his throne over Israel would be established forever (2 Sam. 7:16)? Though many of the Jews had already returned from exile, they remained slaves in their own land without a king to call their own (Neh. 9:32–37).

First Chronicles reviews the past glories of King David in order to pave the way for another Davidic king who will rule with God over the nations (see 1 Sam. 2:10; Psalm 72).

God's Global Reign through a Davidic King

The theme of universal redemption might seem subdued in 1 Chronicles, a book which sandwiches various stories about Israel's King David (1 Chronicles 10–21) in between genealogies (chs. 1–9) and various lists regarding Israel's army and temple furnishings (chs. 22–29). It is undoubtedly true that 1 Chronicles mainly concerns David and the city of Jerusalem. But this book also highlights three ways in which God's history with Israel occurs on a bigger stage and for a broader purpose. For King David has been placed in a position of authority in order to embody the reign of God over his entire creation.

The blessing of God for the nations. First, the genealogies of 1 Chronicles 1–9 stress the special place of David in God's global plan of salvation. First Chronicles begins with Adam just as Genesis does (Gen. 5:1; 1 Chron. 1:1), yet 1 Chronicles passes over many generations in focusing attention on the clan of David (2:15; 3:1–24). It is worth noting that the pivotal figure standing between the genealogies of Adam and David is Abraham the patriarch (1:28). The rebellious descendants of Adam had once sought to "make a name for ourselves, lest we be dispersed over the face of the whole earth" (Gen. 11:4). In response, God promised Abraham to "bless you and make your name great, . . . and in you all the families of the earth shall be blessed" (Gen. 12:2–3). The descendants of Abraham would one day become a blessing to all nations (Gen. 12:3; compare 1 Chron. 17:27). The continuity in God's covenants with Abraham and David is one of the main themes of 1 Chronicles (e.g., 16:16; 29:18).

The worship of God by the nations. Second, David calls on the nations to worship God just as Israel does. When the ark is brought to Jerusalem, David appoints the family of Asaph to declare the power of the God of Israel to the whole world: "Make known his deeds among the peoples! . . . Sing to the LORD, all the earth! Tell of his salvation from day to day. Declare his glory among the nations, his marvelous works among all the peoples! . . . Tremble before him, all the earth" (1 Chron. 16:8, 23–24, 30). The dedication of the ark must not be a private religious affair for Israelites only. All nations are invited to celebrate the abundant blessings of God upon his chosen people. Such a worldwide audience for Israel's worship is also envisioned in psalms about Zion and, later, its temple (e.g., Psalms 46–48; 67; 84).

The supremacy of God among the nations. Third and finally, the God who fulfills his promises to David has no equal among the gods. David had desired to build God a physical "house" (i.e., a temple; 1 Chron. 17:1) as other ancient peoples did for their deities. But the God of Israel does not need such a house (17:4–6; compare 2 Chron. 2:6; 6:18); instead, he says that he will build David a "house" in the form of an everlasting dynasty (1 Chron. 17:10–14). This remarkable promise leads David to proclaim the greatness of the God of Israel: "There is none like you, O LORD, and there is no God besides you, according to all that we have heard with our ears" (17:20). The God of the Bible cannot be limited to the puny categories and limitations of pagan deities.

First Chronicles and the New Testament

The final Davidic king. The theme of God's faithfulness to the Davidic covenant in spite of the exile provides a significant bridge between the Old and New Testaments. As does 1 Chronicles, the Gospel of Matthew begins with a genealogy, an abbreviated one this time, which features Abraham and David: "The book of the genealogy of Jesus Christ, the son of David, the son of Abraham" (Matt. 1:1). Matthew then highlights the arrival of Jesus in the world by calling attention to equal intervals from Abraham to David, from David to the exile, and from the exile to the coming of Christ (Matt. 1:17). This equality is achieved by omitting three kings in the second group and several generations unknown to us in the third, where thirteen generations cover some 600 years. Such selective genealogies were common in ancient literature. Matthew's point is that Jesus is the rightful heir to the covenant promises made to David about having a son who would reign forever (2 Sam. 7:12–16).

To all nations. Because he is the long-awaited son of Abraham and David, the arrival of Jesus in the world ushers in a new phase of God's plan of salvation. God now entrusts to Christians the privileges and responsibilities of being righteous citizens of Zion: "You are the light of the world. A city set on a hill cannot be hidden. . . . Let your light shine before others, so that they may see your good works and give glory to your Father who is in heaven" (Matt. 5:14, 16; compare Ps. 48:1–2; Isa. 60:1–3). Jesus is the last and greatest Davidic king, who commissions Christians to instruct the peoples of the world with the truth about God: "Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all that I have commanded you" (Matt. 28:19–20).

First Chronicles and the Global Church Today

God's purpose throughout history to restore the world to the way he intended it in Eden reaches a high point in the throne of David. For through David we discover that despite the sinfulness that continues down through David's line, God "will establish the throne of his kingdom forever" and God's "steadfast love will not depart from him" (2 Sam. 7:13, 15). These promises are the reason for the writing of 1 and 2 Chronicles.

In a day of political corruption of every kind at every level, God's people around the world can take heart in the invincible purpose of God to restore a kingdom in which justice and righteousness will one day be established. In the coming of Jesus, this kingdom has already dawned (Mark 1:14–15). Whatever the frustrations over governmental corruption or anxiety over political instability, in Christ anyone can be welcomed into a kingdom that will include much suffering (Acts 14:22) but finally perfect glory and joy (1 Thess. 2:12). Every Christian can say, with Paul, "The Lord will rescue me from every evil deed and bring me safely into his heavenly kingdom. To him be the glory forever and ever. Amen” (2 Tim. 4:18).

The sons of Dishon: Hemdan, [12] Eshban, Ithran, and Cheran. [42]The sons of Ezer: Bilhan, Zaavan, and Akan. [13] The sons of Dishan: Uz and Aran.

[43] [q]These are the kings who reigned in the land of Edom before any king reigned over the people of Israel: Bela the son of Beor, the name of his city being Dinhabah. [44]Bela died, and Jobab the son of Zerah of [r]Bozrah reigned in his place. [45]Jobab died, and Husham of the land of the [s]Temanites reigned in his place. [46]Husham died, and Hadad the son of Bedad, who defeated Midian in the country of Moab, reigned in his place, the name of his city being Avith. [47]Hadad died, and Samlah of Masrekah reigned in his place. [48]Samlah died, and Shaul of Rehoboth on the Euphrates [14] reigned in his place. [49]Shaul died, and Baal-hanan, the son of Achbor, reigned in his place. [50]Baal-hanan died, and Hadad reigned in his place, the name of his city being Pai; and his wife's name was Mehetabel, the daughter of Matred, the daughter of Mezahab. [51]And Hadad died.

The chiefs of Edom were: chiefs Timna, Alvah, Jetheth, [52]Oholibamah, Elah, Pinon, [53]Kenaz, Teman, Mibzar, [54]Magdiel, and Iram; these are the chiefs of Edom.

A Genealogy of David

1 CHRONICLES 2 [†]These are the sons of [t]Israel: [u]Reuben, Simeon, Levi, Judah, [v]Issachar, Zebulun, [2] [w]Dan, [x]Joseph, [y]Benjamin, [z]Naphtali, [a]Gad, and Asher. [3][†] [b]The sons of Judah: [c]Er, Onan and Shelah; these three Bath-shua the Canaanite bore to him. Now Er, Judah's firstborn, was evil in the sight of the LORD, and he put him to death. [4]His daughter-in-law [d]Tamar also bore him Perez and Zerah. Judah had five sons in all.

[5]The [e]sons of Perez: Hezron and Hamul. [6]The sons of Zerah: Zimri, Ethan, Heman, Calcol, and Dara, five in all. [7]The son [1] of Carmi: Achan, the troubler of Israel, who [f]broke faith in the matter of the devoted thing;
[8]and Ethan's son was Azariah.

[9][†]The sons of Hezron that were born to him: Jerahmeel, [g]Ram, and [h]Chelubai. [10][g]Ram fathered Amminadab, and [i]Amminadab fathered
[j]Nahshon, prince of the sons of Judah. [11]Nahshon fathered [k]Salmon, [2]
Salmon fathered [l]Boaz, [12]Boaz fathered Obed, [l]Obed fathered Jesse.
[13][m]Jesse fathered Eliab his firstborn, Abinadab the second, [n]Shimea the third, [14]Nethanel the fourth, Raddai the fifth, [15]Ozem the sixth, [o]David the seventh. [16]And their sisters were Zeruiah and Abigail. [p]The sons of Zeruiah: Abishai, Joab, and Asahel, three. [17][q]Abigail bore Amasa, and the father of Amasa was [q]Jether the Ishmaelite.

[18][†][r]Caleb the son of Hezron fathered children by his wife Azubah, and by Jerioth; and these were her sons: Jesher, Shobab, and Ardon. [19]When Azubah died, [r]Caleb married [s]Ephrath, who bore him [t]Hur. [20]Hur fathered Uri, and Uri fathered [u]Bezalel.

[21]Afterward Hezron went in to the daughter of [v]Machir the father of Gilead, whom he married when he was sixty years old, and she bore him Segub. [22]And Segub fathered Jair, who had twenty-three cities in the land of Gilead. [23][w]But Geshur and Aram took from them Havvoth-jair, Kenath, and its villages, sixty towns. All these were descendants of Machir, the father of Gilead. [24]After the death of Hezron, [x]Caleb went in to Ephrathah, [3] the wife of Hezron his father, and she bore him [y]Ashhur, the father of Tekoa.

[25][†]The sons of [z]Jerahmeel, the firstborn of Hezron: Ram, his firstborn, Bunah, Oren, Ozem, and Ahijah. [26]Jerahmeel also had another wife, whose name was Atarah; she was the mother of Onam. [27]The sons of Ram, the firstborn of Jerahmeel: Maaz, Jamin, and Eker. [28]The sons of Onam: Shammai and Jada. The sons of Shammai: Nadab and Abishur. [29]The name of Abishur's wife was Abihail, and she bore him Ahban and Molid. [30]The sons of Nadab: Seled and Appaim; and Seled died childless. 31The son [4] of Appaim: Ishi. [a]The son of Ishi: Sheshan. The son of Sheshan: Ahlai. 32The sons of Jada, Shammai’s brother: Jether and Jonathan; and Jether died childless. 33The sons of Jonathan: Peleth and Zaza. These were the descendants of Jerahmeel. 34Now Sheshan had no sons, only daughters, but Sheshan had an Egyptian slave whose name was Jarha. 35So Sheshan gave his daughter in marriage to Jarha his slave, and she bore him Attai. 36Attai fathered Nathan, and Nathan fathered [b]Zabad. 37 [b]Zabad fathered Ephlal, and Ephlal fathered [c]Obed. 38Obed fathered Jehu, and Jehu fathered Azariah. 39Azariah fathered Helez, and Helez fathered Eleasah. 40Eleasah fathered Sismai, and Sismai fathered Shallum. 41Shallum fathered Jekamiah, and Jekamiah fathered [d]Elishama.

42[†]The sons of [e]Caleb the brother of Jerahmeel: Mareshah [5] his firstborn, who fathered Ziph. The son [6] of Mareshah: [f]Hebron. [7] 43The sons of Hebron: Korah, Tappuah, Rekem and Shema. 44Shema fathered Raham, the father of Jorkeam; and Rekem fathered Shammai. 45The son of Shammai: Maon; and Maon fathered Beth-zur. 46Ephah also, Caleb’s concubine, bore Haran, Moza, and Gazez; and Haran fathered Gazez. 47The sons of Jahdai: Regem, Jotham, Geshan, Pelet, Ephah, and Shaaph. 48Maacah, Caleb’s concubine, bore Sheber and Tirhanah. 49She also bore Shaaph the father of Madmannah, Sheva the father of Machbenah and the father of Gibea; and the [g]daughter of Caleb was Achsah. 50These were the descendants of Caleb.

The sons [8] of Hur the firstborn of [h]Ephrathah: Shobal the father of Kiriath-jearim, 51 [i]Salma, the father of Bethlehem, and Hareph the father of Beth-gader. 52Shobal the father of Kiriath-jearim had other sons: [j]Haroeh, half of the Menuhoth. 53And the clans of Kiriath-jearim: the Ithrites, the Puthites, the Shumathites, and the Mishraites; from these came the [k]Zorathites and the Eshtaolites. 54The sons of Salma: Bethlehem, the Netophathites, Atroth-beth-joab and half of the Manahathites, the Zorites. 55The clans also of the scribes who lived at Jabez: the Tirathites, the Shimeathites and the Sucathites. These are the [l]Kenites who came from Hammath, the father of [m]the house of Rechab.

1 CHRONICLES 3 [†] [n]These are the sons of David who were born to him in Hebron: the firstborn, Amnon, by Ahinoam the Jezreelite; the second, [o]Daniel, by Abigail the Carmelite, [2]the third, Absalom, whose mother was Maacah, the daughter of Talmai, king of Geshur; the fourth, Adonijah, whose mother was Haggith; [3]the fifth, Shephatiah, by Abital; the sixth, Ithream, by his wife Eglah; [4]six were born to him in Hebron, [p]where he reigned for seven years and six months. [q]And he reigned thirty-three years in Jerusalem. [5] [r]These were born to him in Jerusalem: [s]Shimea, Shobab, Nathan and [t]Solomon, four by [u]Bath-shua, the daughter of [u]Ammiel; [6]then Ibhar, [v]Elishama, Eliphelet, [7]Nogah, Nepheg, Japhia, [8]Elishama, [w]Eliada, and Eliphelet, nine. [9]All these were David’s sons, besides the sons of the concubines, [x]and Tamar was their sister.

[10][†]The son of Solomon was [y]Rehoboam, [z]Abijah his son, [a]Asa his son, [b]Jehoshaphat his son, [11] [c]Joram his son, [d]Ahaziah his son, [e]Joash his son, [12] [f]Amaziah his son, [g]Azariah his son, [h]Jotham his son, [13] [i]Ahaz his son, [j]Hezekiah his son, [k]Manasseh his son, [14] [l]Amon his son, [m]Josiah his son. [15]The sons of Josiah: [n]Johanan the firstborn, the second [o]Jehoiakim, the third [p]Zedekiah, the fourth Shallum. [16]The descendants of [q]Jehoiakim: [r]Jeconiah his son, [s]Zedekiah his son; [17][†]and the sons of Jeconiah, the [t]captive: [u]Shealtiel his son, [18]Malchiram, Pedaiah, Shenazzar, Jekamiah, Hoshama and Nedabiah; [19][†]and the sons of Pedaiah: [v]Zerubbabel and Shimei; and the sons of [v]Zerubbabel: Meshullam and Hananiah, and Shelomith was their sister; [20]and Hashubah, Ohel, Berechiah, Hasadiah, and Jushab-hesed, five. [21]The sons of Hananiah: Pelatiah and Jeshaiah, his son [1] Rephaiah, his son Arnan, his son Obadiah, his son Shecaniah. [22]The son [2] of Shecaniah: [w]Shemaiah. And the sons of Shemaiah: [x]Hattush, Igal, Bariah, Neariah, and Shaphat, six. [23]The sons of Neariah: Elioenai, Hizkiah, and Azrikam, three. [24]The sons of Elioenai: Hodaviah, Eliashib, Pelaiah, Akkub, Johanan, Delaiah, and Anani, seven.

Descendants of Judah

1 CHRONICLES 4 [†] [y] The sons of Judah: [z] Perez, Hezron, [a] Carmi, Hur, and Shobal. 2 [b] Reaiah the son of Shobal fathered Jahath, and Jahath fathered Ahumai and Lahad. These were the clans of the [c] Zorathites. 3 These were the sons [1] of Etam: Jezreel, Ishma, and Idbash; and the name of their sister was Hazzelelponi, 4 and [d] Penuel fathered [e] Gedor, and Ezer fathered Hushah. These were the sons of Hur, the firstborn of [f] Ephrathah, the father of Bethlehem. 5 [g] Ashhur, the father of Tekoa, had two wives, Helah and Naarah; 6 Naarah bore him Ahuzzam, Hepher, Temeni, and Haahashtari. These were the sons of Naarah. 7 The sons of Helah: Zereth, Izhar, and Ethnan. 8 Koz fathered Anub, Zobebah, and the clans of Aharhel, the son of Harum. 9 [†] Jabez was [h] more honorable than his brothers; and his mother called his name Jabez, saying, “Because I bore him in pain.” [2] 10 Jabez called upon the God of Israel, saying, “Oh that you would bless me and enlarge my border, and that your hand might be with me, and that you would keep me from harm [3] so that it might not bring me pain!” And God granted what he asked. 11 Chelub, the brother of Shuhah, fathered Mehir, who fathered Eshton. 12 Eshton fathered Beth-rapha, Paseah, and Tehinnah, the father of Ir-nahash. These are the men of Recah. 13 [†] The sons of [i] Kenaz: [j] Othniel and Seraiah; and the sons of Othniel: Hathath and Meonothai. [4] 14 Meonothai fathered Ophrah; and Seraiah fathered Joab, the father of Ge-harashim, [5] so-called because they were craftsmen. 15 The sons of [k] Caleb the son of Jephunneh: Iru, Elah, and Naam; and the son [6] of Elah: Kenaz. 16 The sons of Jehallelel: Ziph, Ziphah, Tiria, and Asarel. 17 The sons of Ezrah: Jether, Mered, Epher, and Jalon. These are the sons of Bithiah, the daughter of Pharaoh, whom Mered married; [7] and she conceived and bore [8] Miriam, Shammai, and Ishbah, the father of Eshtemoa. 18 And his Judahite wife bore [l] Jered the father of Gedor, Heber the father of Soco, and Jekuthiel the father of Zanoah. 19 The sons of the wife of Hodiah, the sister of Naham, were the fathers of Keilah the Garmite and Eshtemoa the Maacathite. 20 The sons of Shimon: Amnon, Rinnah, Ben-hanan, and Tilon. The sons of Ishi: Zoheth and Ben-zoheth. 21 [†] The sons of [m] Shelah the son of Judah: Er the father of Lecah, Laadah the father of Mareshah, and the clans of the house of linen workers at Beth-ashbea; 22and Jokim, and the men of Cozeba, and Joash, and Saraph, who ruled in Moab and returned to Lehem [9] (now the records [10] are ancient). 23These were the potters who were inhabitants of Netaim and Gederah. They lived there in the king’s service.

Descendants of Simeon

24[†] [n] The sons of Simeon: Nemuel, Jamin, Jarib, Zerah, Shaul; 25Shallum was his son, Mibsam his son, Mishma his son. 26The sons of Mishma: Hammuel his son, Zaccur his son, Shimei his son. 27Shimei had sixteen sons and six daughters; but his brothers did not have many children, [o] nor did all their clan multiply [p] like the men of Judah. 28 [q] They lived in Beersheba, Moladah, Hazar-shual, 29 [r] Bilhah, Ezem, [s] Tolad, 30 [s] Bethuel, Hormah, Ziklag, 31Beth-marcaboth, [t] Hazar-susim, [t] Beth-biri, and [t] Shaaraim. These were their cities until David reigned. 32And their villages were Etam, Ain, Rimmon, Tochen, and Ashan, five cities, 33along with all their villages that were around these cities as far as [u] Baal. These were their settlements, and they kept a genealogical record.

34Meshobab, Jamlech, Joshah the son of Amaziah, 35Joel, Jehu the son of Joshibiah, son of Seraiah, son of Asiel, 36Elioenai, Jaakobah, Jeshohaiah, Asaiah, Adiel, Jesimiel, Benaiah, 37Ziza the son of Shiphi, son of Allon, son of Jedaiah, son of Shimri, son of Shemaiah— 38these mentioned by name were princes in their clans, [v] and their fathers’ houses increased greatly. 39They journeyed to the entrance of [w] Gedor, to the east side of the valley, to seek pasture for their flocks, 40where they found rich, good pasture, and the land was very broad, [x] quiet, and peaceful, for the former inhabitants there belonged to Ham. 41 [y] These, registered by name, came in the days of Hezekiah, king of Judah, and destroyed their tents and the Meunites who were found there, and marked them for destruction to this day, [z] and settled in their place, because there was pasture there for their flocks. 42And some of them, five hundred men of the Simeonites, went to [a] Mount Seir, having as their leaders Pelatiah, Neariah, Rephaiah, and Uzziel, the sons of Ishi. 43And they defeated [b] the remnant of the Amalekites who had escaped, and they have lived there to this day.

Descendants of Reuben

1 CHRONICLES 5 [†]The sons of Reuben the firstborn of Israel ([c] for he was the firstborn, but because [d] he defiled his father’s couch, [e] his birthright was given to the sons of Joseph the son of Israel, so that he could not be enrolled as the oldest son; [2][f] though Judah became strong among his brothers and a [g] chief came from him, yet the birthright belonged to Joseph), [3][†]the [h] sons of Reuben, the firstborn of Israel: Hanoch, Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi. [4]The sons of Joel: Shemaiah his son, Gog his son, Shimei his son, [5]Micah his son, Reaiah his son, Baal his son, [6]Beerah his son, whom [i] Tiglath-pileser [1] king of Assyria carried away into exile; he was a chief of the Reubenites. [7]And his kinsmen by their clans, [j] when the genealogy of their generations was recorded: the chief, Jeiel, and Zechariah, [8]and Bela the son of Azaz, son of [k] Shema, son of Joel, who lived in [l] Aroer, as far as [m] Nebo and [n] Baal-meon. [9]He also lived to the east as far as the entrance of the desert this side of the Euphrates, because their livestock had multiplied [o] in the land of Gilead. [10]And in the days of Saul they waged war against the [p] Hagrites, who fell into their hand. And they lived in their tents throughout all the region east of Gilead.

Descendants of Gad

[11][†]The sons of Gad lived over against them in the land of Bashan as far as [q] Salecah: [12]Joel the chief, Shapham the second, Janai, and Shaphat in Bashan. [13]And their kinsmen according to their fathers’ houses: Michael, Meshullam, Sheba, Jorai, Jacan, Zia and Eber, seven. [14]These were the sons of Abihail the son of Huri, son of Jaroah, son of Gilead, son of Michael, son of Jeshishai, son of Jahdo, son of Buz. [15]Ahi the son of Abdiel, son of Guni, was chief in their fathers’ houses, [16]and they lived in Gilead, in Bashan and in its towns, and in all the pasturelands of [r] Sharon to their limits. [17]All of these were recorded in genealogies in the days of [s] Jotham king of Judah, and in the days of [t] Jeroboam king of Israel.

[18][†]The Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh had valiant men who carried shield and sword, and drew the bow, [u] expert in war, 44,760, able to go to war. [19]They waged war against the [v] Hagrites, [w] Jetur, Naphish, and Nodab. [20]And when they prevailed [2] over them, the Hagrites and all who were with them were given into their hands, [x] for they cried out to God in the battle, and he granted their urgent plea [y] because they trusted in him. [21]They carried off their livestock: 50,000 of their camels, 250,000 sheep, 2,000 donkeys, and 100,000 men alive. [22]For many fell, because the war was of God. And they lived [z] in their place until [a] the exile.

The Half-Tribe of Manasseh

[23][†]The members of the half-tribe of Manasseh lived in the land. They were very numerous from Bashan to Baal-hermon, [b] Senir, and Mount Hermon. [24]These were the heads of their fathers' houses: Epher, [3] Ishi, Eliel, Azriel, Jeremiah, Hodaviah, and Jahdiel, mighty warriors, famous men, heads of their fathers' houses. [25][†]But they broke faith with the God of their fathers, and [c] whored [d] after the gods of the peoples of the land, whom God had destroyed before them. [26]So the God of Israel stirred up the spirit of [e] Pul king of Assyria, the spirit of [f] Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria, and he took them into exile, namely, the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, and brought them [g] to Halah, [g] Habor, Hara, and [g] the river Gozan, to this day.

Descendants of Levi

1 CHRONICLES 6 [†] [1] [h] The sons of Levi: Gershon, Kohath, and Merari. [2] [i] The sons of Kohath: Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel. [3] [j] The children of Amram: Aaron, Moses, and Miriam. [11] [l] Azariah fathered [t] Amariah, Amariah fathered Ahitub, [12]Ahitub fathered Zadok, Zadok fathered [u] Shallum,

[13]Shallum fathered [v]Hilkiah, Hilkiah fathered Azariah, [14]Azariah fathered
[w]Seraiah, Seraiah fathered Jehozadak; [15]and [x]Jehozadak went into exile when the LORD sent Judah and Jerusalem into exile [y]by the hand of Nebuchadnezzar.

[16][†] [2] The [z]sons of Levi: Gershom, Kohath, and Merari. [17]And these are the names of the sons of Gershom: [a]Libni and Shimei. [18][b]The sons of Kohath: Amram, Izhar, Hebron and Uzziel. [19][c]The sons of Merari: Mahli and Mushi. These are the clans of the Levites according to their fathers.
[20][d]Of Gershom: Libni his son, [e]Jahath his son, Zimmah his son, [21]Joah his son, Iddo his son, Zerah his son, Jeatherai his son. [22][†][f]The sons of Kohath: Amminadab his son, Korah his son, Assir his son, [23]Elkanah his son, Ebiasaph his son, Assir his son, [24]Tahath his son, Uriel his son, Uzziah his son, and Shaul his son. [25]The sons of Elkanah: Amasai and Ahimoth, [26]Elkanah his son, Zophai his son, Nahath his son, [27]Eliab his son, Jeroham his son, Elkanah his son. [28][†]The sons of Samuel: Joel [3] his firstborn, the second Abijah. [4] [29][g]The sons of Merari: Mahli, Libni his son, Shimei his son, Uzzah his son, [30]Shimea his son, Haggiah his son, and Asaiah his son.

[31][†]These are the men [h]whom David put in charge of the service of song in the house of the LORD [i]after the ark rested there. [32]They ministered with song before the tabernacle of the tent of meeting until Solomon built the house of the LORD in Jerusalem, and they performed their service according to their order. [33]These are the men who served and their sons. Of the sons of the Kohathites: Heman the singer the son of Joel, son of [j]Samuel, [34]son of Elkanah, son of Jeroham, son of Eliel, son of Toah, [35]son of Zuph, son of Elkanah, son of Mahath, son of Amasai, [36]son of Elkanah, son of Ebiasaph, son of Korah, [38]son of Izhar, son of Kohath, son of Levi, son of Israel; [39]and his brother [k]Asaph, who stood on his right hand, namely, Asaph the son of Berechiah, son of Shimea, [40]son of Michael, son of Baaseiah, son of Malchijah, [41]son of Ethni, son of Zerah, son of Adaiah, [42]son of Ethan, son of Zimmah, son of Shimei, [43]son of Jahath, son of Gershom, son of Levi. [44]On the left hand were their brothers, the sons of Merari: Ethan the son of Kishi, son of Abdi, son of Malluch, [45]son of Hashabiah, son of Amaziah, son of Hilkiah, [46]son of Amzi, son of Bani, son of Shemer, [47]son of Mahli, son of Mushi, son of Merari, son of Levi. [48]And their brothers the Levites were appointed for all the service of the tabernacle of the house of God.

[49][†]But Aaron and his sons made offerings [l] on the altar of burnt offering and on [m] the altar of incense for all the work of the Most Holy Place, and [n] to make atonement for Israel, according to all that Moses the servant of God had commanded. [50] [o] These are the sons of Aaron: Eleazar his son, Phinehas his son, Abishua his son, [51]Bukki his son, Uzzi his son, Zerahiah his son, [52]Meraioth his son, Amariah his son, Ahitub his son, [53]Zadok his son, Ahimaaz his son.

[54][†]These are their dwelling places according to their [p] settlements within their borders: to the sons of Aaron of the [q] clans of Kohathites, for theirs was the first lot, [55]to them they gave Hebron in the land of Judah and its surrounding pasturelands, [56] [r] but the fields of the city and its villages they gave to Caleb the son of Jephunneh. [57] [s] To the sons of Aaron they gave the cities of refuge: Hebron, Libnah with its pasturelands, Jattir, Eshtemoa with its pasturelands, [58]Hilen with its pasturelands, Debir with its pasturelands, [59]Ashan with its pasturelands, and Beth-shemesh with its pasturelands; [60]and from the tribe of Benjamin, Gibeon, [5] Geba with its pasturelands, Alemeth with its pasturelands, and Anathoth with its pasturelands. All their cities throughout their clans were thirteen.

[61] [t] To the rest of the Kohathites were given by lot out of the clan of the tribe, out of the half-tribe, the half of Manasseh, ten cities. [62]To the Gershomites according to their clans were allotted thirteen cities out of the tribes of Issachar, Asher, Naphtali and Manasseh in Bashan. [63] [u] To the Merarites according to their clans were allotted twelve cities out of the tribes of Reuben, Gad, and Zebulun. [64] [v] So the people of Israel gave the Levites the cities with their pasturelands. [65]They gave by lot out of the tribes of Judah, Simeon, and Benjamin [w] these cities that are mentioned by name.

[66] [x] And some of the clans of the sons of Kohath had cities of their territory out of the tribe of Ephraim. [67]They were given the cities of refuge: Shechem with its pasturelands in the hill country of Ephraim, Gezer with its pasturelands, [68] [y] Jokmeam with its pasturelands, Beth-horon with its pasturelands, [69]Aijalon with its pasturelands, Gath-rimmon with its pasturelands, [70]and out of the half-tribe of Manasseh, Aner with its pasturelands, and Bileam with its pasturelands, for the rest of the clans of the Kohathites.

[71] [z] To the Gershomites were given out of the clan of the half-tribe of Manasseh: Golan in Bashan with its pasturelands and [a] Ashtaroth with its pasturelands; [72]and out of the tribe of Issachar: Kedesh with its pasturelands, Daberath with its pasturelands, [73]Ramoth with its pasturelands, and Anem with its pasturelands; [74]out of the tribe of Asher: Mashal with its pasturelands, Abdon with its pasturelands, [75]Hukok with its pasturelands, and Rehob with its pasturelands; [76]and out of the tribe of Naphtali: Kedesh in Galilee with its pasturelands, Hammon with its pasturelands, and Kiriathaim with its pasturelands. [77] [b] To the rest of the Merarites were allotted out of the tribe of Zebulun: [c] Rimmono with its pasturelands, [c] Tabor with its pasturelands, [78]and [d] beyond the Jordan at Jericho, on the east side of the Jordan, out of the tribe of Reuben: Bezer in the wilderness with its pasturelands, Jahzah with its pasturelands, [79]Kedemoth with its pasturelands, and Mephaath with its pasturelands; [80]and out of the tribe of Gad: [e] Ramoth in Gilead with its pasturelands, [f] Mahanaim with its pasturelands, [81] [g] Heshbon with its pasturelands, and [h] Jazer with its pasturelands.

Descendants of Issachar

1 CHRONICLES 7 [†]The sons [1] of Issachar: Tola, [i] Puah, [j] Jashub, and Shimron, four. [2]The sons of Tola: Uzzi, Rephaiah, Jeriel, Jahmai, Ibsam, and Shemuel, heads of their fathers’ houses, namely of Tola, mighty warriors of their generations, their number [k] in the days of David being 22,600. [3]The son [2] of Uzzi: Izrahiah. And the sons of Izrahiah: Michael, Obadiah, Joel, and Isshiah, all five of them were chief men. [4]And along with them, by their generations, according to their fathers’ houses, were units of the army for war, 36,000, for they had many wives and sons. [5]Their kinsmen belonging to all the clans of Issachar were in all 87,000 mighty warriors, enrolled by genealogy.

Descendants of Benjamin

[6][†] [l] The sons of Benjamin: Bela, Becher, and Jediael, three. [7]The sons of Bela: Ezbon, Uzzi, Uzziel, Jerimoth, and Iri, five, heads of fathers' houses, mighty warriors. And their enrollment by genealogies was 22,034. [8]The sons of Becher: Zemirah, Joash, Eliezer, Elioenai, Omri, Jeremoth, Abijah, [m] Anathoth, and Alemeth. All these were the sons of Becher. [9]And their enrollment by genealogies, according to their generations, as heads of their fathers' houses, mighty warriors, was 20,200. [10]The son of Jediael: Bilhan. And the sons of Bilhan: Jeush, Benjamin, Ehud, Chenaanah, Zethan, Tarshish, and Ahishahar. [11]All these were the sons of Jediael according to the heads of their fathers' houses, mighty warriors, 17,200, able to go to war. [12]And Shuppim and Huppim were the sons of Ir, Hushim the son of [n] Aher.

Descendants of Naphtali

[13][†] [o] The sons of Naphtali: [p] Jahziel, Guni, Jezer and [q] Shallum, the descendants of Bilhah.

Descendants of Manasseh

[14][†] [r] The sons of Manasseh: Asriel, whom his Aramean concubine bore; she bore [s] Machir the father of Gilead. [15][†]And Machir took a wife for Huppim and for Shuppim. The name of his sister was Maacah. And the name of the second was Zelophehad, and [t] Zelophehad had daughters. [16]And Maacah the wife of Machir bore a son, and she called his name Peresh; and the name of his brother was Sheresh; and his sons were Ulam and Rakem. [17]The son of Ulam: [u] Bedan. These were the sons of Gilead the son of Machir, son of Manasseh. [18]And his sister Hammolecheth bore Ishhod, Abiezer and Mahlah. [19]The sons of Shemida were Ahian, Shechem, Likhi, and Aniam.

Descendants of Ephraim

[20][†]The [v] sons of Ephraim: Shuthelah, and Bered his son, Tahath his son, Eleadah his son, Tahath his son, [21]Zabad his son, Shuthelah his son, and Ezer and Elead, whom the men of Gath who were born in the land killed, because they came down to raid their livestock. 22And Ephraim their father mourned many days, and his brothers came to comfort him. 23And Ephraim went in to his wife, and she conceived and bore a son. And he called his name Beriah, because disaster had befallen his house. [3] 24His daughter was Sheerah, who built both Lower and Upper [w] Beth-horon, and Uzzen-sheerah. 25Rephah was his son, Resheph his son, Telah his son, Tahan his son, 26Ladan his son, Ammihud his son, [x] Elishama his son, 27Nun [4] his son, [y] Joshua his son. 28 [z] Their possessions and settlements were Bethel and its towns, and to the east Naaran, and to the west [a] Gezer and its towns, Shechem and its towns, and Ayyah and its towns; 29 [b] also in possession of the Manassites, [c] Beth-shean and its towns, Taanach and its towns, Megiddo and its towns, Dor and its towns. In these lived the sons of Joseph the son of Israel.

Descendants of Asher

30[†] [d] The sons of Asher: Imnah, Ishvah, Ishvi, Beriah, and their sister Serah. 31The sons of Beriah: Heber, and Malchiel, who fathered Birzaith. 32Heber fathered Japhlet, Shomer, Hotham, and their sister Shua. 33The sons of Japhlet: Pasach, Bimhal, and Ashvath. These are the sons of Japhlet. 34The sons of Shemer his brother: Rohgah, Jehubbah, and Aram. 35The sons of Helem his brother: Zophah, Imna, Shelesh, and Amal. 36The sons of Zophah: Suah, Harnepher, Shual, Beri, Imrah. 37Bezer, Hod, Shamma, Shilshah, Ithran, and Beera. 38The sons of Jether: Jephunneh, Pispa, and Ara. 39The sons of Ulla: Arah, Hanniel, and Rizia. 40All of these were men of Asher, heads of fathers' houses, approved, mighty warriors, chiefs of the princes. Their number enrolled by genealogies, for service in war, was 26,000 men.

A Genealogy of Saul

1 CHRONICLES 8 [†] [e] Benjamin fathered Bela his firstborn, Ashbel the second, [f] Aharah the third, 2Nohah the fourth, and Rapha the fifth. 3And Bela had sons: Addar, Gera, Abihud, 4Abishua, [g] Naaman, Ahoah, 5Gera, [h] Shephuphan, and Huram. [6]These are the sons of Ehud (they were heads of fathers' houses of the inhabitants of Geba, and they were carried into exile to [i] Manahath): [7]Naaman, [1] Ahijah, and Gera, that is, Heglam, [2] who fathered Uzza and Ahihud. [8][†]And Shaharaim fathered sons in the country of Moab after he had sent away Hushim and Baara his wives. [9]He fathered sons by Hodesh his wife: Jobab, Zibia, Mesha, Malcam, [10]Jeuz, Sachia, and Mirmah. These were his sons, heads of fathers' houses. [11]He also fathered sons by Hushim: Abitub and Elpaal. [12]The sons of Elpaal: Eber, Misham, and Shemed, who built [j] Ono and [k] Lod with its towns, [13]and Beriah and [l] Shema (they were heads of fathers' houses of the inhabitants of [m] Aijalon, who caused the inhabitants of Gath to flee); [14]and Ahio, Shashak, and Jeremoth. [15]Zebadiah, Arad, Eder, [16]Michael, Ishpah, and Joha were sons of Beriah. [17]Zebadiah, Meshullam, Hizki, Heber, [18]Ishmerai, Izliah, and Jobab were the sons of Elpaal. [19]Jakim, Zichri, Zabdi, [20]Elienai, Zillethai, Eliel, [21]Adaiah, Beraiah, and Shimrath were the sons of Shimei. [22]Ishpan, Eber, Eliel, [23]Abdon, Zichri, Hanan, [24]Hananiah, Elam, Anthothijah, [25]Iphdeiah, and Penuel were the sons of Shashak. [26]Shamsherai, Shehariah, Athaliah, [27]Jaareshiah, Elijah, and Zichri were the sons of Jeroham. [28]These were the heads of fathers' houses, according to their generations, chief men. These lived in Jerusalem.

[29][†] [n] [o] Jeiel [3] the father of Gibeon lived in Gibeon, and the name of his wife was Maacah. [30]His firstborn son: Abdon, then Zur, Kish, Baal, Nadab, [31]Gedor, Ahio, Zecher, [32]and Mikloth (he fathered Shimeah). Now these also lived opposite their kinsmen in Jerusalem, with their kinsmen. [33] [p] Ner was the father of Kish, Kish of Saul, Saul of [q] Jonathan, Malchi-shua, Abinadab and Eshbaal; [34]and the son of Jonathan was Merib-baal; and Merib-baal was the father of [r] Micah. [35]The sons of Micah: Pithon, Melech, Tarea, and Ahaz. [36]Ahaz fathered Jehoaddah, and Jehoaddah fathered Alemeth, Azmaveth, and Zimri. Zimri fathered Moza. [37]Moza fathered Binea; Raphah was his son, Eleasah his son, Azel his son. [38]Azel had six sons, and these are their names: Azrikam, Bocheru, Ishmael, Sheariah, Obadiah, and Hanan. All these were the sons of Azel. [39]The sons of Eshek his brother: Ulam his firstborn, Jeush the second, and Eliphelet the third.

[40]The sons of Ulam were men who were mighty warriors, bowmen, having many sons and grandsons, 150. All these were Benjaminites.

A Genealogy of the Returned Exiles

1 CHRONICLES 9 [†]So all Israel was recorded in genealogies, and these are written in the Book of the Kings of Israel. And [s]Judah was taken into exile in Babylon because of their breach of faith. [2][t]Now the first to [u]dwell again in their possessions in their cities were Israel, the priests, the Levites, and the [v]temple servants. [3][†]And some of the people of Judah, Benjamin, Ephraim, and Manasseh lived in Jerusalem: [4]Uthai the son of Ammihud, son of Omri, son of Imri, son of Bani, from the sons of [w]Perez the son of Judah. [5]And of the Shilonites: Asaiah the firstborn, and his sons. [6]Of the sons of Zerah: Jeuel and their kinsmen, 690. [7]Of the Benjaminites: Sallu the son of Meshullam, son of Hodaviah, son of Hassenuah, [8]Ibneiah the son of Jeroham, Elah the son of Uzzi, son of Michri, and Meshullam the son of Shephatiah, son of Reuel, son of Ibnijah; [9]and their kinsmen according to their generations, [x]956. All these were heads of fathers’ houses according [y]to their fathers’ houses.

[10][†][z]Of the priests: Jedaiah, Jehoiarib, Jachin, [11]and Azariah the son of Hilkiah, son of Meshullam, son of Zadok, son of Meraioth, son of Ahitub, the [a]chief officer of the house of God; [12]and Adaiah the son of Jeroham, son of Pashhur, son of Malchijah, and Maasai the son of Adiel, son of Jahzerah, son of Meshullam, son of Meshillemith, son of Immer; [13]besides their kinsmen, heads of their fathers’ houses, 1,760, mighty men for the work of the service of the house of God.

[14][†][b]Of the Levites: Shemaiah the son of Hasshub, son of Azrikam, son of Hashabiah, of the sons of Merari; [15]and Bakbakkar, Heresh, Galal and Mattaniah the son of Mica, son of Zichri, son of Asaph; [16]and Obadiah the son of Shemaiah, son of Galal, son of Jeduthun, and Berechiah the son of Asa, son of Elkanah, who lived in the villages of the Netophathites.

[17][†]The gatekeepers were Shallum, Akkub, Talmon, Ahiman, and their kinsmen (Shallum was the chief); [18]until then they were [c]in the king’s gate on the east side as the gatekeepers of the camps of the Levites. [19]Shallum the son of Kore, son of [d]Ebiasaph, son of Korah, and his kinsmen of his fathers' house, the [e] Korahites, were in charge of the work of the service, keepers of the thresholds of the tent, as their fathers had been in charge of the camp of the LORD, keepers of the entrance. [20]And [f] Phinehas the son of Eleazar was the chief officer over them in time past; the LORD was with him. [21] [g] Zechariah the son of Meshelemiah was gatekeeper at the entrance of the tent of meeting. [22]All these, who were chosen as gatekeepers at the thresholds, were 212. They were enrolled by genealogies in their villages. [h] David and Samuel [i] the seer established them in their office of trust. [23]So they and their sons were in charge of the gates of the house of the LORD, that is, the house of the tent, as guards. [24]The gatekeepers were on the four sides, east, west, north, and south. [25]And their kinsmen who were [j] in their villages were obligated to come [k] in every seven days, in turn, to be with these, [26]for the four chief gatekeepers, who were Levites, were entrusted to be over [l] the chambers and the treasures of the house of God. [27]And they lodged around the house of God, for on them lay the duty of watching, and [m] they had charge of opening it every morning.

[28]Some of them had charge of the utensils of service, for they were required to count them when they were brought in and taken out. [29]Others of them were appointed over the furniture and over all the holy utensils, also over the [n] fine flour, the wine, the oil, the incense, and the spices. [30]Others, of the sons of the priests, [o] prepared the mixing of the spices, [31][†]and Mattithiah, one of the Levites, the firstborn of [p] Shallum the [e] Korahite, was entrusted with [q] making the flat cakes. [32]Also some of their kinsmen of the Kohathites had [r] charge of the showbread, to prepare it every Sabbath.

[33]Now these, the [s] singers, the heads of fathers' houses of the Levites, were in the chambers of the temple free from other service, for they were on duty day and night. [34]These were heads of fathers' houses of the Levites, according to their generations, leaders. These lived in Jerusalem.

Saul's Genealogy Repeated

[35][†] [t] In Gibeon lived the father of Gibeon, Jeiel, and the name of his wife was Maacah, [36]and his firstborn son Abdon, then Zur, Kish, Baal, Ner, Nadab, [37]Gedor, Ahio, Zechariah, and Mikloth; [38]and Mikloth was the father of Shimeam; and these also lived opposite their kinsmen in Jerusalem, with their kinsmen. 39 [u] Ner fathered Kish, Kish fathered Saul, Saul fathered Jonathan, Malchi-shua, Abinadab, and Eshbaal. 40[†]And the son of Jonathan was [v] Merib-baal, and Merib-baal fathered Micah. 41The sons of Micah: Pithon, Melech, Tahrea, and [w] Ahaz. [1] 42And Ahaz fathered [x] Jarah, and Jarah fathered Alemeth, Azmaveth, and Zimri. And Zimri fathered Moza. 43Moza fathered Binea, and [y] Rephaiah was his son, Eleasah his son, Azel his son. 44Azel had six sons and these are their names: Azrikam, Bocheru, Ishmael, Sheariah, Obadiah, and Hanan; these were the sons of Azel.

The Death of Saul and His Sons

1 CHRONICLES 10 [†] [z] Now the Philistines fought against Israel, and the men of Israel fled before the Philistines and fell slain on Mount Gilboa. [2]And the Philistines overtook Saul and his sons, and the Philistines struck down Jonathan and Abinadab and Malchi-shua, the sons of Saul. [3]The battle pressed hard against Saul, and the archers found him, and he was wounded by the archers. [4][†]Then Saul said to his armor-bearer, “Draw your sword and thrust me through with it, lest these uncircumcised come and mistreat me.” But his armor-bearer would not, for he feared greatly. Therefore Saul took his own sword and fell upon it. [5]And when his armor-bearer saw that Saul was dead, he also fell upon his sword and died. [6]Thus Saul died; he and his three sons and all his house died together. [7]And when all the men of Israel who were in the valley saw that the army [1] had fled and that Saul and his sons were dead, they abandoned their cities and fled, and the Philistines came and lived in them.

[8]The next day, when the Philistines came to strip the slain, they found Saul and his sons fallen on Mount Gilboa. [9]And they stripped him and took his head and his armor, and sent messengers throughout the land of the Philistines to carry the good news to their idols and to the people. [10]And they put his armor in the temple of their gods and fastened his head in the temple of Dagon. [11][†]But when all Jabesh-gilead heard all that the Philistines had done to Saul, [12]all the valiant men arose and took away the body of Saul and the bodies of his sons, and brought them to Jabesh. And they buried their bones under the oak in Jabesh and fasted seven days.

[13][†]So Saul died [a] for his breach of faith. He broke faith with the LORD in that he did not keep the command of the LORD, and also [b] consulted a medium, seeking guidance. [14]He [c] did not seek guidance from the LORD. Therefore the LORD put him to death and [d] turned the kingdom over to David the son of Jesse.

David Anointed King

1 CHRONICLES 11 [†] [e]Then all Israel gathered together to David at Hebron and said, “Behold, we are your bone and flesh. [2]In times past, even when Saul was king, it was you who led out and brought in Israel. And the LORD your God said to you, [f]‘You shall be shepherd of my people Israel, and you shall be prince over my people Israel.’” [3]So all the elders of Israel came to the king at Hebron, and David made a covenant with them at Hebron before the LORD. And they anointed David king over Israel, [g]according to the word of the LORD by Samuel.

David Takes Jerusalem

[4][†]And David and all Israel went to Jerusalem, [h]that is, Jebus, where the Jebusites were, [i]the inhabitants of the land. [5]The inhabitants of Jebus said to David, “You will not come in here.” Nevertheless, David took the stronghold of Zion, that is, the city of David. [6]David said, “Whoever strikes the Jebusites first [j]shall be chief and commander.” And Joab the son of Zeruiah went up first, so he became chief. [7]And David lived in the stronghold; therefore it was called the city of David. [8][†]And he built the city all around from the Millo in complete circuit, and Joab repaired the rest of the city. [9]And David [k]became greater and greater, for the LORD of hosts was with him.

David’s Mighty Men

[10][†] [l]Now these are the chiefs of David’s mighty men, who gave him strong support in his kingdom, together with all Israel, to make him king, [m]according to the word of the LORD concerning Israel. [11]This is an account of David’s mighty men: [n]Jashobeam, a [n]Hachmonite, was [o]chief of the three. [1] He wielded his spear against 300 whom he killed at one time.

[12][†]And next to him among the three mighty men was Eleazar the son of [p]Dodo, the Ahohite. [13]He was with David at Pas-dammim [q]when the Philistines were gathered there for battle. There was a plot of ground full of barley, and the men fled from the Philistines. [14]But he took his [2] stand in the midst of the plot and defended it and killed the Philistines. And the LORD saved them by a great victory.

[15][†]Three of the thirty chief men went down to the rock to David at the cave of Adullam, when the army of Philistines was encamped in the [r] Valley of Rephaim. [16]David was then in the stronghold, and the [s] garrison of the Philistines was then at Bethlehem. [17]And David said longingly, “Oh that someone would give me water to drink from the well of Bethlehem that is by the gate!” [18][†]Then the three mighty men broke through the camp of the Philistines and drew water out of the well of Bethlehem that was by the gate and took it and brought it to David. But David would not drink it. He poured it out to the LORD [19]and said, “Far be it from me before my God that I should do this. Shall I drink the lifeblood of these men? For at the risk of their lives they brought it.” Therefore he would not drink it. These things did the three mighty men.

[20]Now Abishai, the brother of Joab, was chief of the thirty. [3] And he wielded his spear against 300 men and killed them and won a name beside the three. [21]He was the most renowned [4] of the thirty [5] and became their commander, but he did not attain to the three.

[22]And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was a valiant man [6] of Kabzeel, a doer of great deeds. He struck down two heroes of Moab. He also went down and struck down a lion in a pit on a day when snow had fallen. [23]And he struck down an Egyptian, a man of great stature, five cubits [7] tall. The Egyptian had in his hand a spear [t] like a weaver’s beam, but Benaiah went down to him with a staff and snatched the spear out of the Egyptian’s hand and killed him with his own spear. [24]These things did Benaiah the son of Jehoiada and won a name beside the three mighty men. [25][†]He was renowned among the thirty, but he did not attain to the three. And David set him over his bodyguard.

[26]The mighty men were [u] Asahel the brother of Joab, Elhanan the son of Dodo of Bethlehem, [27]Shammoth of Harod, [8] Helez the Pelonite, [28]Ira the son of Ikkesh of Tekoa, Abiezer of Anathoth, [29]Sibbecai the Hushathite, Ilai the Ahohite, [30]Maharai of Netophah, Heled the son of Baanah of Netophah, [31]Ithai the son of Ribai of Gibeah of the people of Benjamin, Benaiah of Pirathon, [32]Hurai of the brooks of Gaash, Abiel the Arbathite, [33]Azmaveth of Baharum, Eliahba the Shaalbonite, [34]Hashem [9] the Gizonite, Jonathan the son of Shagee the Hararite, [35]Ahiam the son of Sachar the Hararite, Eliphal the son of Ur, [36]Hepher the Mecherathite, Ahijah the Pelonite, [37]Hezro of Carmel, Naarai the son of Ezbai, [38]Joel the brother of Nathan, Mibhar the son of [v] Hagri, [39]Zelek the Ammonite, Naharai of Beeroth, the armor-bearer of Joab the son of Zeruiah, [40]Ira the Ithrite, Gareb the Ithrite, [41]Uriah the Hittite, [w] Zabad the son of Ahlai, [42]Adina the son of Shiza the Reubenite, a leader of the Reubenites, and thirty with him, [43]Hanan the son of Maacah, and Joshaphat the Mithnite, [44]Uzzia the Ashterathite, Shama and Jeiel the sons of Hotham the Aroerite, [45]Jediael the son of Shimri, and Joha his brother, the Tizite, [46]Eliel the Mahavite, and Jeribai, and Joshaviah, the sons of Elnaam, and Ithmah the Moabite, [47]Eliel, and Obed, and Jaasiel the Mezobaite.

The Mighty Men Join David

1 CHRONICLES 12 [†] [x] Now these are the men who came to David at Ziklag, while he could not move about freely because of Saul the son of Kish. And they were among the mighty men who helped him in war. [2]They [y] were bowmen and could shoot arrows and sling stones with either the right or the [z] left hand; they were Benjaminites, [a] Saul's kinsmen. [3]The chief was Ahiezer, then Joash, both sons of Shemaah of [b] Gibeah; also Jeziel and Pelet, the sons of Azmaveth; Beracah, Jehu of [c] Anathoth, [4]Ishmaiah of [d] Gibeon, a mighty man among the thirty and a leader over the thirty; Jeremiah, [1] Jahaziel, Johanan, Jozabad of Gederah, [5]Eluzai, [2] Jerimoth, Bealiah, Shemariah, Shephatiah the Haruphite; [6]Elkanah, Isshiah, Azarel, Joezer, and Jashobeam, the [e] Korahites; [7]And Joelah and Zebadiah, the sons of Jeroham of Gedor.

[8][†]From the Gadites there went over to David at the stronghold in the wilderness mighty and experienced warriors, expert with shield and spear, whose faces were like the faces of lions and who were [f] swift as gazelles upon the mountains: [9]Ezer the chief, Obadiah second, Eliab third, [10]Mishmannah fourth, Jeremiah fifth, [11]Attai sixth, Eliel seventh, [12]Johanan eighth, Elzabad ninth, [13]Jeremiah tenth, Machbannai eleventh. [14]These Gadites were officers of the army; the least was a [g] match for a hundred men and the greatest for a thousand. [15]These are the men who crossed the Jordan in the first month, when it was [h] overflowing all its banks, and put to flight all those in the valleys, to the east and to the west.

[16][†]And some of the men of Benjamin and Judah came to the stronghold to David. [17]David went out to meet them and said to them, “If you have come to me in friendship to help me, my heart will be joined to you; but if to betray me to my adversaries, although there is no wrong in my hands, then may the God of our fathers see and rebuke you.” [18]Then [i] the Spirit clothed [j] Amasai, chief of the thirty, and he said,

“We are yours, O David, and with you, O son of Jesse!
[k] Peace, peace to you,
  and peace to your helpers!
  For your God helps you.”

Then David received them and made them officers of his troops.

[19][†]Some of the men of Manasseh deserted to David [l] when he came with the Philistines for the battle against Saul. (Yet he did not help them, for the rulers of the Philistines took counsel and sent him away, saying, [m] “At peril to our heads he will desert to his master Saul.”) [20]As he went to Ziklag, these men of Manasseh deserted to him: Adnah, Jozabad, Jediael, Michael, Jozabad, Elihu, and Zillethai, chiefs of thousands in Manasseh. [21]They helped David against [n] the band of raiders, for they were all mighty men of valor and were commanders in the army. [22][†]For from day to day men came to David to help him, until there was a great army, like an army of God.

[23][†]These are the numbers of the divisions of the armed troops [o] who came to David in Hebron [p] to turn the kingdom of Saul over to him, [q] according to the word of the LORD. [24]The men of Judah bearing shield and spear were 6,800 armed troops. [25]Of the Simeonites, mighty men of valor for war, 7,100. [26]Of the Levites 4,600. [27]The prince Jehoiada, of the house of Aaron, and with him 3,700. [28] [r] Zadok, a young man mighty in valor, and twenty-two commanders from his own fathers’ house. [29]Of the Benjaminites, [s] the kinsmen of Saul, 3,000, of whom the [t] majority had to that point kept their allegiance to the house of Saul. 30Of the Ephraimites 20,800, mighty men of valor, famous men in their fathers' houses. 31Of the half-tribe of Manasseh 18,000, who were [u] expressly named to come and make David king. 32Of Issachar, men who [v] had understanding of the times, to know what Israel ought to do, 200 chiefs, and all their kinsmen under their command. 33Of Zebulun 50,000 seasoned troops, [w] equipped for battle with all the weapons of war, to help David [3] with [x] singleness of purpose. 34Of Naphtali 1,000 commanders with whom were 37,000 men armed with shield and spear. 35Of the Danites 28,600 men equipped for battle. 36Of [y] Asher 40,000 [z] seasoned troops [z] ready for battle. 37Of the Reubenites and Gadites and the half-tribe of Manasseh from beyond the Jordan, 120,000 men armed with all the weapons of war.

38All these, men of war, arrayed in battle order, came to Hebron with [a] a whole heart to make David king over all Israel. Likewise, all the rest of Israel were of a [b] single mind to make David king. 39And they were there with David for three days, eating and drinking, for their brothers had made preparation for them. 40And also their relatives, from as far as Issachar and Zebulun and Naphtali, came bringing food on donkeys and on camels and on mules and on oxen, abundant provisions of flour, [c] cakes of figs, clusters of raisins, and wine and oil, oxen and sheep, for there was joy in Israel.

The Ark Brought from Kiriath-Jearim

1 CHRONICLES 13 [†]David consulted with the commanders of thousands and of hundreds, with every leader. 2And David said to all the assembly of Israel, "If it seems good to you and from the LORD our God, let us send abroad to our brothers [d] who remain in all the lands of Israel, as well as to the priests and Levites in the cities that have pasturelands, that they may be gathered to us. 3Then let us bring again the ark of our God to us, [e] for we did not seek it [1] in the days of Saul." 4All the assembly agreed to do so, for the thing was right in the eyes of all the people.

Uzzah and the Ark

5[†][f]So David assembled all Israel [g]from the [h]Nile[2] of Egypt to Lebo-hamath, to bring the ark of God [i]from Kiriath-jearim. 6[j]And David and all Israel went up to [k]Baalah, that is, to Kiriath-jearim that belongs to Judah, to bring up from there the ark of God, which is called by the name of the LORD who [l]sits enthroned above the cherubim. 7[†]And they carried the ark of God on a new cart, from the house of [m]Abinadab, and Uzzah and Ahio[3] were driving the cart. 8[†]And David and all Israel were celebrating before God with all their might, with song and [n]lyres and harps and tambourines and cymbals and trumpets.

9And when they came to the threshing floor of [o]Chidon, Uzzah put out his hand to take hold of the ark, for the oxen stumbled. 10And the anger of the LORD was kindled against Uzzah, and he struck him down [p]because he put out his hand to the ark, and [q]he died there before God. 11And David was angry because the LORD had broken out against Uzzah. And that place is called Perez-uzza[4] to this day. 12And David was afraid of God that day, and he said, “How can I bring the ark of God home to me?” 13[†]So David did not take the ark home into the city of David, but took it aside to the house [r]of Obed-edom the Gittite. 14And the ark of God remained with the household of Obed-edom in his house three months. [s]And the LORD blessed the household of Obed-edom and all that he had.

David’s Wives and Children

1 CHRONICLES 14 [†][t]And Hiram king of Tyre sent messengers to David, and cedar trees, also masons and carpenters to build a house for him. 2And David knew that the LORD had established him as king over Israel, and that his kingdom was highly exalted for the sake of his people Israel.

3[†]And David took more wives in Jerusalem, and David fathered more sons and daughters. 4[u]These are the names of the children born to him in Jerusalem: [v]Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, Solomon, 5Ibhar, Elishua, Elpelet, 6Nogah, Nepheg, Japhia, 7Elishama, [w]Beeliada and [x]Eliphelet.

Philistines Defeated

8[†]When the Philistines heard that David had been anointed king over all Israel, all the Philistines went up to search for David. But David heard of it and went out against them. 9Now the Philistines had come and [y]made a raid in the [z]Valley of Rephaim. 10And David inquired of God, “Shall I go up against the Philistines? Will you give them into my hand?” And the LORD said to him, “Go up, and I will give them into your hand.” 11And he went up to Baal-perazim, and David struck them down there. And David said, “God has broken through [1] my enemies by my hand, like a bursting flood.” Therefore the name of that place is called Baal-perazim. 12And they left their gods there, and David gave command, and they were burned.

13And the Philistines yet again [a]made a raid in the valley. 14And when David again inquired of God, [b]God said to him, “You shall not go up after them; go around and come against them opposite the balsam trees. 15[†]And when you hear the sound of marching in the tops of the balsam trees, then go out to battle, for God has gone out before you to strike down the army of the Philistines.” 16And David did as God commanded him, and they struck down the Philistine army from Gibeon to Gezer. 17[†]And the fame of David went out into all lands, and the LORD brought the [c]fear of him upon all nations.

1 CHRONICLES 15 [†]David [1] built houses for himself in the city of David. And he prepared a place for the ark of God and [d]pitched a tent for it. 2Then David said that no one but the Levites may carry [e]the ark of God, for the LORD had chosen them to carry the ark of the LORD and to minister to him forever. 3[f]And David assembled all Israel at Jerusalem to bring up the ark of the LORD [g]to its place, which he had prepared for it. 4[†]And David gathered together the sons of Aaron and [h]the Levites: 5of the sons of Kohath, Uriel the chief, with 120 of his brothers; 6of the sons of Merari, Asaiah the chief, with 220 of his brothers; 7of the sons of Gershom, Joel the chief, with 130 of his brothers; 8of the sons of Elizaphan, Shemaiah the chief, with 200 of his brothers; 9of the sons of Hebron, Eliel the chief, with 80 of his brothers; 10of the sons of Uzziel, Amminadab the chief, with 112 of his brothers. [11][†]Then David summoned the priests [i]Zadok and [j]Abiathar, and the Levites Uriel, Asaiah, Joel, Shemaiah, Eliel, and Amminadab, [12]and said to them, “You are the heads of the fathers’ houses of the Levites. [k]Consecrate yourselves, you and your brothers, so that you may bring up the ark of the LORD, the God of Israel, [l]to the place that I have prepared for it. [13][m]Because you did not carry it the first time, the LORD our God broke out against us, because we did not seek him according to the rule.” [14]So the priests and the Levites consecrated themselves to bring up the ark of the LORD, the God of Israel. [15]And the Levites carried the ark of God on their shoulders [n]with the poles, [o]as Moses had commanded according to the word of the LORD.

[16][†]David also commanded the chiefs of the Levites to appoint their brothers as the singers who should play loudly on [p]musical instruments, on harps and lyres and cymbals, to raise sounds of joy. [17][†]So the Levites appointed [q]Heman the son of Joel; and of his brothers [r]Asaph the son of Berechiah; and of the sons of Merari, their brothers, [s]Ethan the son of Kushaiah; [18]and with them their brothers of the second order, Zechariah, Jaaziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattithiah, Eliphelehu, and Mikneiah, and the gatekeepers Obed-edom and Jeiel. [19]The singers, Heman, Asaph, and Ethan, were to sound bronze cymbals; [20]Zechariah, [t]Aziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Maaseiah, and Benaiah were to play harps according to [u]Alamoth; [21]but Mattithiah, Eliphelehu, Mikneiah, [v]Obed-edom, Jeiel, and Azaziah were to lead with lyres according to [w]the Sheminith. [22]Chenaniah, leader of the Levites in music, should direct the music, for he understood it. [23]Berechiah and Elkanah were to be gatekeepers for the ark. [24]Shebaniah, Joshaphat, Nethanel, Amasai, Zechariah, Benaiah, and Eliezer, the priests, should [x]blow the trumpets before the ark of God. [v]Obed-edom and Jehiah were to be gatekeepers for the ark.

[25][†][y]So David and the elders of Israel and the commanders of thousands went to bring up the ark of the covenant of the LORD from the house of [v]Obed-edom with rejoicing. [26]And because God helped the Levites who were carrying the ark of the covenant of the LORD, they sacrificed [z]seven bulls and seven rams. [27]David was clothed with a robe of fine linen, as also were all the Levites who were carrying the ark, and the singers and Chenaniah the leader of the music of the singers. And David wore a linen ephod. [28]So all Israel brought up the ark of the covenant of the LORD with shouting, to the sound of the horn, [a] trumpets, and cymbals, and made loud music on [b] harps and lyres.

[29]And as the ark of the covenant of the LORD came to the city of David, Michal the daughter of Saul looked out of the window and saw King David dancing and celebrating, and she despised him in her heart.

The Ark Placed in a Tent

1 CHRONICLES 16 [†]And they brought in the ark of God and set it inside [c] the tent that David had pitched for it, and they offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before God. [2]And when David had finished offering the burnt offerings and the peace offerings, he blessed the people in the name of the LORD [3]and distributed to all Israel, both men and women, to each a loaf of bread, a portion of meat, [1] and a cake of raisins.

[4][†]Then he appointed some of the Levites as ministers before the ark of the LORD, to invoke, to thank, and to praise the LORD, the God of Israel. [5] [d] Asaph was the chief, and second to him were Zechariah, Jeiel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Mattithiah, Eliab, Benaiah, Obed-edom, and Jeiel, who were to play harps and lyres; Asaph was to sound the cymbals, [6]and Benaiah and Jahaziel the priests were to blow trumpets regularly before the ark of the covenant of God. [7]Then on that day [e] David first appointed that thanksgiving be sung to the LORD by Asaph and his brothers.

David’s Song of Thanks

[8][†] [f] Oh give thanks to the LORD; [g] call upon his name;
[h] make known his deeds among the peoples!
[9] Sing to him, sing praises to him;
tell of all his wondrous works!
[10] Glory in his holy name;
let the hearts of those who seek the LORD rejoice!
[11] [i] Seek the LORD and his strength;
seek his presence continually!

12 [j] Remember the wondrous works that he has done,
[k] his miracles and the judgments he uttered,
13 O offspring of Israel his servant,
children of Jacob, his chosen ones!

14 He is the LORD our God;
[l] his judgments are in all the earth.
15 Remember his covenant forever,
the word that he commanded, for a thousand generations, 16 the covenant [m] that he made with Abraham,
his sworn promise to Isaac, 17 which [n] he confirmed to Jacob as a statute,
to Israel as an everlasting covenant,
18 saying, [o] "To you I will give the land of Canaan, as your portion for an inheritance."

19 When you were [p] few in number,
of little account, and [q] sojourners in it, 20 wandering from nation to nation,
from one kingdom to another people, 21 he allowed no one to oppress them;
he [r] rebuked kings on their account, 22 saying, "Touch not my anointed ones,
do my [s] prophets no harm!"

23 [t] Sing to the LORD, all the earth!
Tell of his salvation from day to day.
24 Declare his glory among the nations,
his marvelous works among all the peoples!
25 For [u] great is the LORD, and greatly to be praised,
and he is to be feared [v] above all gods.
26 For all the gods of the peoples are worthless idols,
[w] but the LORD made the heavens.
27 Splendor and majesty are before him;
strength and joy are in his place.

28 Ascribe to the LORD, O families of the peoples, [x] ascribe to the LORD glory and strength!
29 Ascribe to the LORD the glory due his name;
bring an offering and come before him!
[y] Worship the LORD in the splendor of holiness; [2]
30 tremble before him, all the earth;
yes, the world is established; it shall never be moved.
31 [z] Let the heavens be glad, and let the earth rejoice, and let them say among the nations, [a] "The LORD reigns!" 32 [b] Let the sea roar, and all that fills it;
let the field exult, and everything in it!
33 Then shall the trees of the forest sing for joy before the LORD, for he comes to judge the earth.
34 Oh give thanks to the LORD, for he is good;
for his steadfast love endures forever!

35 [†] [c] Say also:

"Save us, O God of our salvation,
and gather and deliver us from among the nations,
that we may give thanks to your holy name
and glory in your praise.
36 [d] Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel,
from everlasting to everlasting!"

[e] Then all the people said, "Amen!" and praised the LORD.

Worship Before the Ark

37 [†] So David left Asaph and his brothers there [f] before the ark of the covenant of the LORD to minister regularly before the ark [g] as each day required, 38 and also [h] Obed-edom and his [3] sixty-eight brothers, while [h] Obed-edom, the son of Jeduthun, and [i] Hosah were to be gatekeepers. 39 And he left [j] Zadok the priest and his brothers the priests before the tabernacle of the LORD [k] in the high place that was at Gibeon 40 to offer burnt offerings to the LORD [l] on the altar of burnt offering [m] regularly morning and evening, to do all that is written in the Law of the LORD that he commanded Israel. [41]With them were [n] Heman and Jeduthun [o] and the rest of those chosen and [p] expressly named to give thanks to the LORD, [q] for his steadfast love endures forever. [42]Heman and Jeduthun had trumpets and cymbals for the music and instruments [r] for sacred song. The sons of Jeduthun were appointed to the gate.

[43] [s] Then all the people departed each to his house, and David went home to bless his household.

The LORD's Covenant with David

1 CHRONICLES 17 [†] [t] Now when David lived in his house, David said to Nathan the prophet, "Behold, I dwell in a house of cedar, but the ark of the covenant of the LORD is under a tent." [2]And Nathan said to David, "Do all that is in your heart, for God is with you."

[3]But that same night the word of the LORD came to Nathan, [4]"Go and tell my servant David, 'Thus says the LORD: [u] It is not you who will build me a house to dwell in. [5]For I have not lived in a house since the day I brought up Israel to this day, [v] but I have gone from tent to tent and from dwelling to dwelling. [6]In all places where I have moved with all Israel, did I speak a word with any of the judges of Israel, whom I commanded to shepherd my people, saying, "Why have you not built me a house of cedar?"' [7]Now, therefore, thus shall you say to my servant David, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, I took you from the pasture, from following the sheep, to be prince over my people Israel, [8]and I have been with you wherever you have gone and have cut off all your enemies from before you. And I will make for you a name, like the name of the great ones of the earth. [9]And I will appoint a place for my people Israel and will plant them, that they may dwell in their own place and be disturbed no more. And violent men shall waste them no more, as formerly, [10][†]from the time that I appointed judges over my people Israel. And I [w] will subdue all your enemies. Moreover, I declare to you that the LORD will build you a house. [11]When your days are fulfilled to walk with your fathers, I will raise up your offspring after you, one of your own sons, and I will establish his kingdom. [12]He shall build a house for me, and I will establish his throne forever. [13] [x] I will be to him a father, and he shall be to me a son. I will not take my steadfast love from him, [y] as I took it from him who was before you, 14 but I will confirm him in my house and in my kingdom forever, and his throne shall be established forever.'" 15 In accordance with all these words, and in accordance with all this vision, Nathan spoke to David.

David's Prayer

16 Then King David went in and sat before the LORD and said, "Who am I, O LORD God, and what is my house, that you have brought me thus far? 17 And this was a small thing in your eyes, O God. You have also spoken of your servant's house for a great while to come, and have shown me future generations, [1] O LORD God! 18 And what more can David say to you for honoring your servant? For you know your servant. 19 [z] For your servant's sake, O LORD, and according to your own heart, you have done all this greatness, in making known all these great things. 20 There is none like you, O LORD, and there is no God besides you, according to all that we have heard with our ears. 21 And who is like your people Israel, the one [2] nation on earth whom God went to redeem to be his people, making for yourself a name for great and awesome things, in driving out nations before your people whom you redeemed from Egypt? 22 And you made your people Israel to be your people forever, and you, O LORD, became their God. 23 And now, O LORD, let the word that you have spoken concerning your servant and concerning his house be established forever, and do as you have spoken, 24 and your name will be established and magnified forever, saying, 'The LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, is Israel's God,' and the house of your servant David will be established before you. 25 For you, my God, have revealed to your servant that you will build a house for him. Therefore your servant has found courage to pray before you. 26 And now, O LORD, you are God, and you have promised this good thing to your servant. 27 Now you have been pleased to bless the house of your servant, that it may continue forever before you, for it is you, O LORD, who have blessed, and it is blessed forever."

David Defeats His Enemies

1 CHRONICLES 18 [†] [a] After this David defeated the Philistines and subdued them, and he took Gath and its villages out of the hand of the Philistines.

2And he defeated Moab, and the Moabites became servants to David and brought tribute.

9When [h] Tou king of Hamath heard that David had defeated the whole army of Hadadezer, king [e] of Zobah, 10he sent his son [i] Hadoram to King David, to ask about his health and to bless him because he had fought against [b] Hadadezer and defeated him; for [b] Hadadezer had often been at war with Tou. And he sent all sorts of articles of gold, of silver, and of bronze. 11These also King David dedicated to the LORD, together with the silver and gold that he had carried off from all the nations, from [j] Edom, Moab, the Ammonites, the Philistines, and Amalek.

12[†]And [k] Abishai, the son of Zeruiah, killed 18,000 Edomites in the Valley of Salt. 13Then he put garrisons in Edom, and all the Edomites became David's servants. And the LORD gave victory to David wherever he went.

David's Administration

14[†]So David reigned over all Israel, and he administered justice and equity to all his people. 15[†]And [l] Joab the son of Zeruiah was over the army; and Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was recorder; 16 [m] and Zadok the son of Ahitub and [n] Ahimelech the son of Abiathar were priests; and [o] Shavsha was secretary; 17 and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over the Cherethites and the Pelethites; and David's sons were the [p] chief officials in the service of the king.

The Ammonites Disgrace David's Men

1 CHRONICLES 19 [†] [q] Now after this Nahash the king of the Ammonites died, and his son reigned in his place. 2 [†]And David said, "I will deal kindly with Hanun the son of Nahash, for his father dealt kindly with me." So David sent messengers to console him concerning his father. And David's servants came to the land of the Ammonites to Hanun to console him. 3 But the princes of the Ammonites said to Hanun, "Do you think, because David has sent comforters to you, that he is honoring your father? Have not his servants come to you to search and to overthrow and to spy out the land?" 4 So Hanun took David's servants and shaved them and cut off their garments in the middle, at their hips, and sent them away; 5 and they departed. When David was told concerning the men, he sent messengers to meet them, for the men were greatly ashamed. And the king said, "Remain at Jericho until your beards have grown and then return."

6 [†]When the Ammonites saw that they had become a stench to David, Hanun and the Ammonites sent 1,000 talents [1] of silver to hire chariots and horsemen [r] from Mesopotamia, from Aram-maacah, and from [s] Zobah. 7 They hired 32,000 chariots and the king of Maacah with his army, who came and encamped before [t] Medeba. And the Ammonites were mustered from their cities and came to battle. 8 When David heard of it, he sent Joab and all the army of the mighty men. 9 And the Ammonites came out and drew up in battle array at the entrance of the city, and the kings who had come were by themselves in the open country.

Ammonites and Syrians Defeated

and they were arrayed against the Ammonites. [12]And he said, “If the Syrians are too strong for me, then you shall help me, but if the Ammonites are too strong for you, then I will help you. [13]Be strong, and let us use our strength for our people and for the cities of our God, and may the LORD do what seems good to him.” [14]So Joab and the people who were with him drew near before the Syrians for battle, and they fled before him. [15]And when the Ammonites saw that the Syrians fled, they likewise fled before [u] Abishai, Joab’s brother, and entered the city. Then Joab came to Jerusalem.

[16]But when the Syrians saw that they had been defeated by Israel, they sent messengers and brought out the Syrians who were beyond the Euphrates, [2] with [v] Shophach the commander of the army of [w] Hadadezer at their head. [17]And when it was told to David, he gathered all Israel together and crossed the Jordan and came to them and drew up his forces against them. And when David set the battle in array against the Syrians, they fought with him. [18][†]And the Syrians fled before Israel, and David killed of the Syrians the men of [x] 7,000 chariots and 40,000 [x] foot soldiers, and put to death also [v] Shophach the commander of their army. [19]And when the servants of [w] Hadadezer saw that they had been defeated by Israel, they made peace with David and became subject to him. So the Syrians were not willing to save the Ammonites anymore.

The Capture of Rabbah

1 CHRONICLES 20 [†] [y] In the spring of the year, the time when kings go out to battle, Joab led out the army and ravaged the country of the Ammonites and came and besieged Rabbah. But David remained at Jerusalem. And [z] Joab struck down Rabbah and overthrew it. [2] [a] And David took the crown of their king from his head. He found that it weighed a talent [1] of gold, and in it was a precious stone. And it was placed on David’s head. And he brought out the spoil of the city, a very great amount. [3]And he brought out the people who were in it and set them to labor [2] [b] with saws and iron picks and axes. [3] And thus David did to all the cities of the Ammonites. Then David and all the people returned to Jerusalem.

Philistine Giants Killed

[4][†] [c] And after this there arose war with the Philistines at Gezer. Then Sibbecai the Hushathite struck down Sippai, who was one of the descendants of the giants, and the Philistines were subdued. [5][†]And there was again war with the Philistines, and Elhanan the son of [d] Jair struck down Lahmi [d] the brother of Goliath the Gittite, the shaft of whose spear was like a weaver’s beam. [6]And there was again war at Gath, where there was a man of great stature, who had six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot, twenty-four in number, and he also was descended from the giants. [7][†]And when he taunted Israel, Jonathan the son of [e] Shimea, David’s brother, struck him down. [8]These were descended from the giants in Gath, and they fell by the hand of David and by the hand of his servants.

David’s Census Brings Pestilence

1 CHRONICLES 21 [†][f]Then [g]Satan stood against Israel and incited David to number Israel. [2]So David said to Joab and the commanders of the army, “Go, number Israel, from Beersheba to Dan, and bring me a report, that I may know their number.” [3][†]But Joab said, “May the Lord add to his people a hundred times as many as they are! Are they not, my lord the king, all of them my lord’s servants? Why then should my lord require this? Why should it be a cause of guilt for Israel?” [4]But the king’s word prevailed against Joab. So Joab departed and went throughout all Israel and came back to Jerusalem. [5][†]And Joab gave the sum of the numbering of the people to David. In all Israel there were [h]1,100,000 men who drew the sword, and in Judah [h]470,000 who drew the sword. [6][i]But he did not include Levi and Benjamin in the numbering, for the king’s command was abhorrent to Joab.

[7][†]But God was displeased with this thing, and he struck Israel. [8]And David said to God, “I have sinned greatly in that I have done this thing. But now, please [j]take away the iniquity of your servant, for I have acted very foolishly.” [9]And the Lord spoke to Gad, David’s [k]seer, saying, [10]“Go and say to David, ‘Thus says the Lord, Three things I offer you; choose one of them, that I may do it to you.’” [11]So Gad came to David and said to him, “Thus says the Lord, ‘Choose what you will: [12][†]either [l]three years of famine, or three months of devastation by your foes while the sword of your enemies overtakes you, or else three days of the sword of the Lord, pestilence on the land, with the angel of the Lord destroying throughout all the territory of Israel.’ Now decide what answer I shall return to him who sent me.” [13]Then David said to Gad, “I am in great distress. Let me fall into the hand of the Lord, for his mercy is very great, but do not let me fall into the hand of man.”

[14][†]So the Lord sent a pestilence on Israel, and 70,000 men of Israel fell. [15]And God sent the angel to Jerusalem to destroy it, but as he was about to destroy it, the Lord saw, and he [m]relented from the calamity. And he said to the angel who was working destruction, “It is enough; now stay your hand.” And the angel of the Lord was standing by the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite. [16]And David lifted his eyes and saw the angel of the LORD standing between earth and heaven, and in his hand a drawn sword stretched out over Jerusalem. Then David and the elders, [n] clothed in sackcloth, fell upon their faces. [17][†]And David said to God, “Was it not I who gave command to number the people? It is I who have sinned and done great evil. But these sheep, what have they done? Please let your hand, O LORD my God, be against me and against my father’s house. But do not let the plague be on your people.”

David Builds an Altar

[18][†]Now [o] the angel of the LORD had commanded Gad to say to David that David should go up and raise an altar to the LORD on the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite. [19]So David went up at Gad’s word, which he had spoken in the name of the LORD. [20]Now Ornan was threshing wheat. He turned and saw the angel, and his four sons who were with him hid themselves. [21]As David came to Ornan, Ornan looked and saw David and went out from the threshing floor and paid homage to David with his face to the ground. [22]And David said to Ornan, “Give me the site of the threshing floor that I may build on it an altar to the LORD—give it to me at its full price—that the plague may be averted from the people.” [23]Then Ornan said to David, “Take it, and let my lord the king do what seems good to him. See, I give the oxen for burnt offerings and the threshing sledges for the wood and the wheat for a grain offering; I give it all.” [24]But King David said to Ornan, “No, but I will buy them for the full price. I will not take for the LORD what is yours, nor offer burnt offerings that cost me nothing.” [25]So David paid Ornan [p] 600 shekels [1] of gold by weight for the site. [26][†]And David built there an altar to the LORD and presented burnt offerings and peace offerings and called on the LORD, and the LORD [2] [q] answered him with fire from heaven upon the altar of burnt offering. [27]Then the LORD commanded the angel, and he put his sword back into its sheath.

[28][†]At that time, when David saw that the LORD had answered him at the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite, he sacrificed there. [29]For the tabernacle of the LORD, which Moses had made in the wilderness, and the altar of burnt offering [r]were at that time in the high place at Gibeon, [30]but David could not go before it to inquire of God, for he was afraid of the sword of the angel of the LORD.

1 CHRONICLES 22 Then David said, [s]"Here shall be the house of the LORD God and here the altar of burnt offering for Israel."

David Prepares for Temple Building

[2][†]David commanded to gather together the [t]resident aliens who were in the land of Israel, and he [u]set stonecutters to prepare dressed stones for building the house of God. [3]David also provided great quantities of iron for nails for the doors of the gates and for clamps, [v]as well as bronze in quantities beyond weighing, [4]and cedar timbers without number, [w]for the Sidonians and Tyrians brought great quantities of cedar to David. [5]For David said, [x]"Solomon my son is young and inexperienced, and the house that is to be built for the LORD must be exceedingly magnificent, of fame and glory throughout all lands. I will therefore make preparation for it." So David provided materials in great quantity before his death.

Solomon Charged to Build the Temple

[6][†]Then he called for Solomon his son and charged him to build a house for the LORD, the God of Israel. [7]David said to Solomon, "My son, [y]I had it in my heart to build a house to the name of the LORD my God. [8]But the word of the LORD came to me, saying, [z]'You have shed much blood and have waged great wars. You shall not build a house to my name, because you have shed so much blood before me on the earth. [9]Behold, a son shall be born to you who shall be a man of rest. [a]I will give him rest from all his surrounding enemies. [b]For his name shall be Solomon, and I will give peace and quiet to Israel in his days. [10] [c]He shall build a house for my name. [d]He shall be my son, and I will be his father, and I will establish his royal throne in Israel forever.'

[11][†]"Now, my son, [e]the LORD be with you, so that you may succeed in building the house of the LORD your God, as he has spoken concerning you. [12] [f]Only, may the LORD grant you discretion and understanding, that when he gives you charge over Israel you may keep the law of the LORD your God. 13 [g] Then you will prosper if you are careful to observe the statutes and the rules that the LORD commanded Moses for Israel. [h] Be strong and courageous. Fear not; do not be dismayed. 14[†]With great pains I have provided for the house of the LORD [i] 100,000 talents [1] of gold, a million talents of silver, and [j] bronze and iron beyond weighing, for there is so much of it; timber and stone, too, I have provided. To these you must add. 15You have an abundance of workmen: stonecutters, masons, carpenters, and all kinds of craftsmen without number, skilled in working 16gold, silver, bronze, and iron. Arise and work! [k] The LORD be with you!"

17David also commanded [l] all the leaders of Israel to help Solomon his son, saying, 18"Is not the LORD your God with you? And [m] has he not given you peace on every side? For he has delivered the inhabitants of the land into my hand, and the land is subdued before the LORD and his people. 19Now [n] set your mind and heart to seek the LORD your God. Arise and build the sanctuary of the LORD God, [o] so that the ark of the covenant of the LORD and the holy vessels of God may be brought into a house built [p] for the name of the LORD."

David Organizes the Levites

1 CHRONICLES 23 [†] [q] When David was old and full of days, [r] he made Solomon his son king over Israel.

2David [1] assembled all the leaders of Israel and the priests and the Levites. 3[†]The Levites, [s] thirty years old and upward, were numbered, and [t] the total was [u] 38,000 men. 4"Twenty-four thousand of these," David said, [2] [v] "shall have charge of the work in the house of the LORD, 6,000 shall be [w] officers and judges, 54,000 gatekeepers, and 4,000 shall offer praises to the LORD with the instruments [x] that I have made for praise." 6[†] [y] And David organized them in divisions [z] corresponding to the sons of Levi: Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.

7 [a] The sons of Gershon [3] were Ladan and Shimei. 8The sons of Ladan: [b] Jehiel the chief, and Zetham, and Joel, three. 9The sons of Shimei: Shelomoth, Haziel, and Haran, three. These were the heads of the fathers' houses of Ladan. 10And the sons of Shimei: Jahath, Zina, and Jeush and Beriah. These four were the sons of Shimei. [11]Jahath was the chief, and Zizah the second; but Jeush and Beriah did not have many sons, therefore they became counted as a single father's house.

[12] [c]The sons of Kohath: Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel, four. [13] [d]The sons of Amram: Aaron and Moses. [e]Aaron was set apart to dedicate the most holy things, that he and his sons forever should [f]make offerings before the LORD and [g]minister to him and [h]pronounce blessings in his name forever. [14]But the sons of Moses the [i]man of God were named among the [j]tribe of Levi. [15]The [k]sons of Moses: Gershom and Eliezer. [16]The sons of Gershom: [l]Shebuel the chief. [17]The sons of Eliezer: Rehabiah the chief. Eliezer had no other sons, but the sons of Rehabiah were very many. [18]The sons of Izhar: Shelomith the chief. [19]The [m]sons of Hebron: Jeriah the chief, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, and Jekameam the fourth. [20] [n]The sons of Uzziel: Micah the chief and Isshiah the second.

[24][†] [t]These were the sons of Levi by their fathers' houses, the heads of fathers' houses [u]as they were listed according to the number of the names of the individuals from [v]twenty years old and upward who were to do the work for the service of the house of the LORD. [25]For David said, "The LORD, the God of Israel, [w]has given rest to his people, and he dwells in Jerusalem forever. [26]And so the Levites no longer need [x]to carry the tabernacle or any of the things for its service." [27]For by the last words of David the sons of Levi were numbered from [v]twenty years old and upward. [28]For their duty was to assist the sons of Aaron for the service of the house of the LORD, having the care of the courts and the chambers, the cleansing of all that is holy, and any work for the service of the house of God. [29]Their duty was also to assist with the [y]showbread, the [z]flour for the grain offering, the wafers of unleavened bread, the [a]baked offering, the [b]offering mixed with oil, and all [c]measures of quantity or size. [30]And they were to stand every morning, thanking and praising the LORD, and likewise at evening, [31]and whenever burnt offerings were offered to the LORD [d]on Sabbaths, [e] new moons, and feast days, [f] according to the number required of them, regularly before the LORD. [32]Thus [g] they were to keep charge of the tent of meeting and the sanctuary, and to attend the sons of Aaron, their brothers, for the [h] service of the house of the LORD.

David Organizes the Priests

1 CHRONICLES 24 [†]The divisions of the sons of Aaron were these. The sons of [i] Aaron: Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar. [2][†][j] But Nadab and Abihu died before their father and had no children, so Eleazar and Ithamar became the priests. [3][†]With the help of [k] Zadok of the sons of Eleazar, and Ahimelech of the sons of Ithamar, David organized them according to the appointed duties in their service. [4]Since more chief men were found among the sons of Eleazar than among the sons of Ithamar, they organized them under sixteen heads of fathers' houses of the sons of Eleazar, and eight of the sons of Ithamar. [5][†]They divided them [l] by lot, all alike, for there were sacred officers and officers of God among both the sons of Eleazar and the sons of Ithamar. [6]And the scribe Shemaiah, the son of Nethanel, a Levite, recorded them in the presence of the king and the princes and Zadok the priest and [m] Ahimelech the son of Abiathar and the heads of the fathers' houses of the priests and of the Levites, one father's house being chosen for Eleazar and one chosen for Ithamar.

[7]The first lot fell to Jehoiarib, the second to Jedaiah, [8]the third to Harim, the fourth to Seorim, [9]the fifth to Malchijah, the sixth to Mijamin, [10][†]the seventh to Hakkoz, the eighth to [n] Abijah, [11]the ninth to Jeshua, the tenth to Shecaniah, [12]the eleventh to Eliashib, the twelfth to Jakim, [13]the thirteenth to Huppah, the fourteenth to Jeshebeab, [14]the fifteenth to Bilgah, the sixteenth to Immer, [15]the seventeenth to Hezir, the eighteenth to Happizzez, [16]the nineteenth to Pethahiah, the twentieth to Jehezkel, [17]the twenty-first to Jachin, the twenty-second to Gamul, [18]the twenty-third to Delaiah, the twenty-fourth to Maaziah. [19]These had as their appointed duty in their service [o] to come into the house of the LORD according to the procedure established for them by Aaron their father, as the LORD God of Israel had commanded him.

[20][†]And of the rest of the sons of Levi: [p] of the sons of Amram, Shubael; of the sons of Shubael, Jehdeiah. [21] [q] Of Rehabiah: of the sons of Rehabiah, Isshiah the chief. [22]Of the Izharites, Shelomoth; of the sons of Shelomoth, Jahath. [23] [r] The sons of Hebron: [1] Jeriah the chief, [2] Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, Jekameam the fourth. [24] [s] The sons of Uzziel, Micah; of the sons of Micah, Shamir. [25]The brother of Micah, Isshiah; of the sons of Isshiah, Zechariah. [26] [t] The sons of Merari: Mahli and Mushi. The sons of Jaaziah: Beno. [3] [27]The sons of Merari: of Jaaziah, Beno, Shoham, Zaccur, and Ibri. [28]Of Mahli: Eleazar, [u] who had no sons. [29]Of Kish, the sons of Kish: Jerahmeel. [30] [v] The sons of Mushi: Mahli, Eder, and Jerimoth. These were the sons of the Levites according to their fathers' houses. [31]These also, the head of each father's house and his younger brother alike, [w] cast lots, just as their brothers the sons of Aaron, in the presence of King David, [x] Zadok, Ahimelech, and the heads of fathers' houses of the priests and of the Levites.

David Organizes the Musicians

1 CHRONICLES 25 [†]David and the chiefs of the service also set apart for the service the sons of [y] Asaph, and of [z] Heman, and of [a] Jeduthun, who [b] prophesied with lyres, with [c] harps, and with cymbals. The list of those who did the work and of their duties was: [2]Of the sons of Asaph: Zaccur, Joseph, Nethaniah, and Asharelah, sons of Asaph, under the direction of Asaph, who [b] prophesied under the direction of the king. [3]Of Jeduthun, the sons of Jeduthun: Gedaliah, Zeri, Jeshaiah, Shimei, [1] Hashabiah, and Mattithiah, six, under the direction of their father Jeduthun, [b] who prophesied with the lyre in thanksgiving and praise to the LORD. [4]Of Heman, the sons of Heman: Bukkiah, Mattaniah, Uzziel, Shebuel and Jerimoth, Hananiah, Hanani, Eliathah, Giddalti, and Romamti-ezer, Joshbekashah, Mallothi, Hothir, Mahazioth. [5]All these were the sons of Heman [d] the king's seer, according to the promise of God to exalt him, for God had given Heman fourteen sons and three daughters. [6]They were all under the direction of their father in the music in the house of the LORD with cymbals, [c] harps, and lyres for the service of the house of God. Asaph, Jeduthun, and Heman were under the order of the king. [7]The number of them along with their brothers, who were trained in singing to the Lord, all who were skillful, was [e]288. [8]And they cast lots for their duties, [f]small and great, teacher and pupil alike.

[9]The first lot fell for Asaph to Joseph; the second to Gedaliah, to him and his brothers and his sons, twelve; [10]the third to Zaccur, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [11]the fourth to Izri, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [12]the fifth to Nethaniah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [13]the sixth to Bukkiah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [14]the seventh to Jesharelah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [15]the eighth to Jeshaiah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [16]the ninth to Mattaniah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [17]the tenth to Shimei, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [18]the eleventh to Azarel, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [19]the twelfth to Hashabiah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [20]to the thirteenth, Shubael, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [21]to the fourteenth, Mattithiah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [22]to the fifteenth, to Jeremoth, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [23]to the sixteenth, to Hananiah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [24]to the seventeenth, to Joshbekashah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [25]to the eighteenth, to Hanani, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [26]to the nineteenth, to Mallothi, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [27]to the twentieth, to Eliathah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [28]to the twenty-first, to Hothir, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [29]to the twenty-second, to Giddalti, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [30]to the twenty-third, to Mahazioth, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [31]to the twenty-fourth, to Romamti-ezer, his sons and his brothers, twelve.

1 CHRONICLES 26 [†]As for the divisions of the gatekeepers: of the Korahites, Meshelemiah the son of Kore, of the sons of Asaph. [2]And Meshelemiah had sons: [g]Zechariah the firstborn, Jediael the second, Zebadiah the third, Jathniel the fourth, [3]Elam the fifth, Jehohanan the sixth, Eliehoenai the seventh. [4]And [h]Obed-edom had sons: Shemaiah the firstborn, Jehozabad the second, Joah the third, Sachar the fourth, Nethanel the fifth, 5 Ammiel the sixth, Issachar the seventh, Peullethai the eighth, [i] for God blessed him. 6 Also to his son Shemaiah were sons born who were rulers in their fathers' houses, for they were men of great ability. 7 The sons of Shemaiah: Othni, Rephael, Obed and Elzabad, whose brothers were able men, Elihu and Semachiah. 8 All these were of the sons of Obed-edom with their sons and brothers, able men qualified for the service; sixty-two of Obed-edom. 9 And Meshelemiah had sons and brothers, able men, eighteen. 10 And [j] Hosah, of the sons of Merari, had sons: Shimri the chief (for though he was not the firstborn, his father made him chief), 11 Hilkiah the second, Tebaliah the third, Zechariah the fourth: all the sons and brothers of Hosah were thirteen.

12 [†]These divisions of the gatekeepers, corresponding to their chief men, had duties, just as their brothers did, ministering in the house of the Lord. 13 And they cast lots by fathers' houses, [k] small and great alike, for their gates. 14 The lot for the east fell to Shelemiah. They cast lots also for his son Zechariah, a shrewd counselor, and his lot came out for the north. 15 Obed-edom's came out for the south, and to his sons was allotted [l] the gatehouse. 16 For Shuppim and [j] Hosah it came out for the west, at the gate of Shallecheth on the road that goes up. Watch corresponded to watch. 17 On the east there were six each day, [1] on the north four each day, on the south four each day, as well as two and two at the gatehouse. 18 And for the [n] colonnade [2] on the west there were four at the road and two at the colonnade. 19 These were the divisions of the gatekeepers among the Korahites and the sons of Merari.

Treasurers and Other Officials

20 [†]And of the Levites, Ahijah had charge of [o] the treasuries of the house of God and the treasuries of the dedicated gifts. 21 The sons of Ladan, the sons of the Gershonites belonging to Ladan, the heads of the fathers' houses belonging to Ladan the Gershonite: [p] Jehieli. [3]

22 [q] The sons of Jehieli, Zetham, and Joel his brother, were in charge of the treasuries of the house of the Lord. 23 [r] Of the Amramites, the Izharites, the Hebronites, and the Uzzielites— 24 and [s] Shebuel the son of Gershom, son of Moses, was chief officer in charge of the treasuries. 25 His brothers:

from [t] Eliezer were his son Rehabiah, and his son [u] Jeshaiah, and his son Joram, and his son Zichri, and his son [v] Shelomoth. [26]This Shelomoth and his brothers were in charge of all the treasuries of the dedicated gifts that David the king and the heads of the fathers' houses and the officers of the thousands and the hundreds and the commanders of the army [w] had dedicated. [27]From spoil won in battles they dedicated gifts for the maintenance of the house of the LORD. [28]Also all that [x] Samuel the seer and Saul the son of Kish and Abner the son of Ner and Joab the son of Zeruiah had dedicated—all dedicated gifts were in the care of [v] Shelomoth [4] and his brothers.

[29][†]Of the Izharites, Chenaniah and his sons were appointed to [y] external duties for Israel, [z] as officers and judges. [30]Of the Hebronites, [a] Hashabiah and his brothers, 1,700 men of ability, had the oversight of Israel westward of the Jordan for all the work of the LORD and for the service of the king. [31]Of the Hebronites, [b] Jerijah was chief of the Hebronites of whatever genealogy or fathers' houses. (In the fortieth year of David's reign search was made and men of great ability among them were found at [c] Jazer in Gilead.) [32]King David appointed him and his brothers, 2,700 men of ability, heads of fathers' houses, to have the oversight of the Reubenites, the Gadites and the half-tribe of the Manassites for everything pertaining to God and for [d] the affairs of the king.

Military Divisions

1 CHRONICLES 27 [†]This is the number of the people of Israel, the heads of fathers' houses, the commanders of thousands and hundreds, and their officers who served the king in all matters concerning the divisions that came and went, month after month throughout the year, each division numbering 24,000:

[2] [e] Jashobeam the son of Zabdiel was in charge of the first division in the first month; in his division were 24,000. [3]He was a [f] descendant of Perez and was chief of all the commanders. He served for the first month. [4] [g] Dodai the Ahohite [1] was in charge of the division of the second month; in his division were 24,000. [5]The third commander, for the third month, was [h] Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada the chief priest; in his division were 24,000.

6This is the Benaiah [i]who was a mighty man of the thirty and in command of the thirty; Ammizabad his son was in charge of his division. [2] 7[j]Asahel the brother of Joab was fourth, for the fourth month, and his son Zebadiah after him; in his division were 24,000. 8The fifth commander, for the fifth month, was [k]Shamhuth the Izrahite; in his division were 24,000. 9Sixth, for the sixth month, was [l]Ira, the son of Ikkesh the Tekoite; in his division were 24,000. 10Seventh, for the seventh month, was [m]Helez the Pelonite, of the sons of Ephraim; in his division were 24,000. 11Eighth, for the eighth month, was [n]Sibbecai the Hushathite, of the Zerahites; in his division were 24,000. 12Ninth, for the ninth month, was [o]Abiezer of Anathoth, a Benjaminite; in his division were 24,000. 13Tenth, for the tenth month, was [p]Maharai of Netophah, of the Zerahites; in his division were 24,000. 14Eleventh, for the eleventh month, was [q]Benaiah of Pirathon, of the sons of Ephraim; in his division were 24,000. 15Twelfth, for the twelfth month, was [r]Heldai the Netophathite, of [s]Othniel; in his division were 24,000.

Leaders of Tribes

16[†]Over the tribes of Israel, for the Reubenites, Eliezer the son of Zichri was chief officer; for the Simeonites, Shephatiah the son of Maacah; 17for Levi, [t]Hashabiah the son of Kemuel; for Aaron, [u]Zadok; 18for Judah, Elihu, one of David’s brothers; for Issachar, Omri the son of Michael; 19for Zebulun, Ishmaiah the son of Obadiah; for Naphtali, Jeremoth the son of Azriel; 20for the Ephraimites, Hoshea the son of Azaziah; for the half-tribe of Manasseh, Joel the son of Pedaiah; 21for the half-tribe of Manasseh in Gilead, Iddo the son of Zechariah; for Benjamin, Jaasiel the son of Abner; 22for Dan, Azarel the son of Jeroham. These were the [v]leaders of the tribes of Israel. 23[†]David did not count those below twenty years of age, for the [w]Lord had promised to make Israel as many as the stars of heaven. 24Joab the son of Zeruiah began to count, but [x]did not finish. Yet [y]wrath came upon Israel for this, and the number was not entered in the chronicles of King David.

25[†]Over the king’s treasuries was [z]Azmaveth the son of Adiel; and over the treasuries in the country, in the cities, in the villages, and in the towers, was Jonathan the son of Uzziah; [26]and over those who did the work of the field for tilling the soil was Ezri the son of Chelub; [27]and over the vineyards was Shimei the Ramathite; and over the produce of the vineyards for the wine cellars was Zabdi the Shiphmite. [28]Over the olive and [a]sycamore trees in the Shephelah was Baal-hanan the Gederite; and over the stores of oil was Joash. [29]Over the herds that pastured in [b]Sharon was Shitrai the Sharonite; over the herds in the valleys was Shaphat the son of Adlai. [30]Over the camels was Obil the Ishmaelite; and over the donkeys was Jehdeiah the Meronothite. Over the flocks was Jaziz the [c]Hagrite. [31]All these were stewards of King David's property.

[32][†]Jonathan, David's uncle, was a counselor, being a man of understanding and a scribe. He and Jehiel the son of Hachmoni attended the king's sons. [33][d]Ahithophel was the [e]king's counselor, and Hushai the Archite was the king's friend. [34]Ahithophel was succeeded by Jehoiada the son of [f]Benaiah, and [g]Abiathar. Joab was [h]commander of the king's army.

David's Charge to Israel

1 CHRONICLES 28 [†] [i]David assembled at Jerusalem all the officials of Israel, the [j]officials of the tribes, the officers of the divisions that served the king, the [k]commanders of thousands, the commanders of hundreds, the [l]stewards of all the property and livestock of the king and his sons, together with the palace officials, the [m]mighty men and all the seasoned warriors. [2]Then King David rose to his feet and said: "Hear me, my brothers and my people. [n]I had it in my heart to build a house of rest for the ark of the covenant of the LORD and for the [o]footstool of our God, and I made preparations for building. [3]But God said to me, [p]'You may not build a house for my name, for you are a man of war and have shed blood.' [4][†]Yet the LORD God of Israel [q]chose me from all my father's house to be king over Israel [r]forever. [s]For he chose Judah as leader, and in the house of Judah my father's [t]house, and among my father's sons he took pleasure in me to make me king over all Israel. [5]And of [u]all my sons (for the LORD has given me many sons) he [v]has chosen Solomon my son to sit on the throne of the kingdom of the LORD over Israel. [6][†]He said to me, 'It is [w]Solomon your son who shall build my house and my courts, for I have chosen him to be my son, and I will be his father. [7][†]I will establish his kingdom [r]forever [x]if he continues strong in keeping my commandments and my rules, as he is today.’ [8]Now therefore in the sight of all Israel, the assembly of the LORD, and in the hearing of our God, observe and seek out all the commandments of the LORD your God, that you may possess this good land and leave it for an inheritance to your children after you forever.

David’s Charge to Solomon

[9]“And you, Solomon my son, know the God of your father and serve him with a [y]whole heart and with a willing mind, [z]for the LORD searches all hearts and understands every plan and thought. [a]If you seek him, he will be found by you, but if you forsake him, he will cast you off forever. [10]Be careful now, for the LORD has chosen you to build a house for the sanctuary; [b]be strong and do it.”

[11][†]Then David gave Solomon his son the [c]plan of the [d]vestibule of the temple, [1] and of its houses, its treasuries, its upper rooms, and its inner chambers, and of the room for the [e]mercy seat; [12]and the plan of all that he had in mind for the courts of the house of the LORD, all the surrounding chambers, [f]the treasuries of the house of God, and the treasuries for dedicated gifts; [13]for the [g]divisions of the priests and of the [h]Levites, and all the work of the service in the house of the LORD; for all the vessels for the service in the house of the LORD, [14]the weight of gold for all golden vessels for each service, the weight of silver vessels for each service, [15]the weight of the golden [i]lampstands and their lamps, the weight of gold for each lampstand and its lamps, the weight of silver for a lampstand and its lamps, according to the use of each lampstand in the service, [16]the weight of gold for each table for the showbread, the silver for the silver tables, [17]and pure gold for the forks, the basins and the cups; for the golden bowls and the weight of each; for the silver bowls and the weight of each; [18]for the [j]altar of incense made of refined gold, and its weight; also his plan for the golden chariot of the [k]cherubim that spread their wings and covered the ark of the covenant of the LORD. [19][†]“All this he made clear to me in writing from the hand of the Lord, [l] all the work to be done according to the plan.”

[20][†]Then David said to Solomon his son, [m] “Be strong and courageous and do it. Do not be afraid and do not be dismayed, for the Lord God, even my God, is with you. He will not leave you or forsake you, until all the work for the service of the house of the Lord is finished. [21]And behold the [n] divisions of the priests and the Levites for all the service of the house of God; and with you in all the work will be [o] every willing man who has skill for any kind of service; also the officers and all the people will be wholly at your command.”

Offerings for the Temple

1 CHRONICLES 29 [†]And David the king said to all the assembly, “Solomon my son, whom alone God has chosen, is [p] young and inexperienced, and the work is great, for [q] the palace will not be for man but for the Lord God. [2]So I have provided for the house of my God, so far as I was able, the gold for the things of gold, the silver for the things of silver, and the bronze for the things of bronze, the iron for the things of iron, and wood for the things of wood, besides great quantities of [r] onyx and stones for setting, antimony, colored stones, all sorts of precious stones and marble. [3]Moreover, in addition to all that I have provided for the holy house, I have a treasure of my own of gold and silver, and because of my devotion to the house of my God I give it to the house of my God: [4] [s] 3,000 talents [1] of gold, of the gold of [t] Ophir, and 7,000 talents of refined silver, for overlaying the walls of the house, [2] [5]and for all the work to be done by craftsmen, gold for the things of gold and silver for the things of silver. Who then will offer willingly, consecrating himself [3] today to the Lord?”

[6]Then [u] the leaders of fathers’ houses made their freewill offerings, as did also the leaders of the tribes, the commanders of thousands and of hundreds, and [v] the officers over the king’s work. [7][†]They gave for the service of the house of God 5,000 talents and 10,000 [w] darics [4] of gold, 10,000 talents of silver, 18,000 talents of bronze and 100,000 talents of iron. [8]And whoever had precious stones gave them to the treasury of the house of the Lord, in the care of [x] Jehiel the Gershonite. [9]Then the people rejoiced because they had given willingly, for with a [y] whole heart they had offered freely to the LORD. David the king also rejoiced greatly.

David Prays in the Assembly

10[†]Therefore David blessed the LORD in the presence of all the assembly. And David said: [z] "Blessed are you, O LORD, the God of Israel our father, forever and ever. 11 [a] Yours, O LORD, is the greatness and the power and the glory and the victory and the majesty, for all that is in the heavens and in the earth is yours. Yours is the kingdom, O LORD, and you are exalted as head above all. 12 [b] Both riches and honor come from you, and you rule over all. [c] In your hand are power and might, and in your hand it is to make great and to give strength to all. 13And now we thank you, our God, and praise your glorious name.

14"But who am I, and what is my people, that we should be able thus to offer willingly? For all things come from you, and of your own have we given you. 15 [d] For we are strangers before you and sojourners, as all our fathers were. Our days on the earth are [e] like a shadow, and there is no abiding.[5] 16O LORD our God, all this abundance that we have provided for building you a house for your holy name comes from your hand and is all your own. 17I know, my God, [f] that you test the heart and [g] have pleasure in uprightness. In the uprightness of my heart I have freely offered all these things, and now I have seen your people, who are present here, offering freely and joyously to you. 18O LORD, the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, our fathers, keep forever such purposes and thoughts in the hearts of your people, and direct their hearts toward you. 19 [h] Grant to Solomon my son a whole heart that he may keep your commandments, your testimonies, and your statutes, performing all, and that he may [i] build the palace [j] for which I have made provision."

20Then David said to all the assembly, [k] "Bless the LORD your God." And all the assembly blessed the LORD, the God of their fathers, [l] and bowed their heads and paid homage to the LORD and to the king. 21And they offered sacrifices to the LORD, and on the next day offered burnt offerings to the LORD, 1,000 bulls, 1,000 rams, and 1,000 lambs, with their [m] drink offerings, and sacrifices in abundance for all Israel. [22][†]And they ate and drank before the Lord on that day with great gladness.

Solomon Anointed King

And they made Solomon the son of David king [n]the second time, and they [o]anointed him as prince for the Lord, and [p]Zadok as priest.

[23][†] [q]Then Solomon sat on the [r]throne of the Lord as king in place of David his father. And he prospered, and all Israel obeyed him. [24]All the leaders and the mighty men, and also all the sons of King David, pledged their allegiance to King Solomon. [25]And the Lord made Solomon very [s]great in the sight of all Israel and [t]bestowed on him such royal majesty as had not been on any king before him in Israel.

The Death of David

[26][†]Thus David the son of Jesse reigned over all Israel. [27]The [u]time that he reigned over Israel was forty years. He reigned seven years in Hebron and thirty-three years in Jerusalem. [28]Then he died [v]at a good age, [w]full of days, riches, and honor. And Solomon his son reigned in his place. [29]Now the acts of King David, from first to last, are written in the Chronicles [x]of Samuel the seer, and in the Chronicles of [y]Nathan the prophet, and in the Chronicles of [z]Gad the seer, [30]with accounts of all his rule and his might and of the circumstances [a]that came upon him and upon Israel and upon all the kingdoms of the countries.

Study Notes for 1 Chronicles

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 1:1–9:44 A Genealogical Presentation of the Tribes of Israel. The genealogies of chs. 1–9 are intended to show the Chronicler's generation, now existing as the small province of Yehud (Judah) in the Persian Empire, that they are still God's people Israel and retain their central place in God's purposes. They are traced from Adam (1:1), through the tribes of Israel (chs. 2–8), to the community of Judean exiles restored from captivity in Babylon (9:2–34). The genealogies have been structured to show how the Chronicler conceived of Israel:

Judah (2:3–4:23)
Simeon (4:24–43)
The Transjordanian tribes (5:1–26)
Levi (6:1–81)
The northern tribes (7:1–40)
Benjamin (8:1–40)

The royal tribe of Judah leads the nation in partnership with its neighbor Benjamin. Levi is at the center to remind the people of their spiritual vocation. This section also announces some of the book's key themes: Israel's history of unfaithfulness, leading to exile (5:25–26; 9:1); the endurance of the Davidic line after the exile because of God's promise to his people (3:17–24); and the central role of the priests and Levites in offering worship and making atonement for Israel (6:1–81).

The opening chapter, drawn almost wholly from Genesis, traces the family of Israel (as Jacob is consistently known in this book) from Adam and shows that his descendants have spread among the nations. This lineage runs from Adam through 10 generations to Noah, then through Shem in 10 generations to Abraham, and on to Israel.

FACT

Why begin with Adam? By beginning with Adam, the Chronicler shows that God planned to make Israel his chosen people, out of all the nations of the world, since the very beginning of human history.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 1 Chron. 10:1–2 Chron. 9:31 The United Kingdom of David and Solomon. The second major section of 1–2 Chronicles concerns the reigns of David and Solomon over Israel. Their rule is presented as a unity; David makes the essential preparations for what Solomon completes.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 1:1–4 From Genesis 5. Israel's direct ancestral link with Adam means Israel is the focus of God's purpose from creation.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 1:5–27 From Gen. 10:1–29; 11:10–32. Israel is located within the nations, which are also God's creation and part of his purpose for Israel. The line continues through Abraham, who received covenantal promises (1 Chron. 16:16; 2 Chron. 20:7).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 1:28–34 From Gen. 25:1–4, 12–16. The concubine (1 Chron. 1:32) could have the status of a wife.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 1:35–54 From Gen. 36:10–14, 20–28, 31–43. The descendants of Esau and the sons of Seir (the Edomites) are grouped together because both inhabited Edom. The latter would often be in conflict with Judah (2 Chron. 20:10; 21:8; 25:5–13; 28:17).

2:1–2 The Sons of Israel. The sons of Israel are the subject of the following genealogies. Here the author lists the biological sons of Jacob (see Gen. 35:22–26). When he lists the tribes later in the book he traces how the land was divided (see Joshua 13–21). Thus, he includes the half-tribes of Manasseh in Transjordan (1 Chron. 5:23–26) and west of the Jordan (7:14–19) and omits Zebulun and Dan.

FACT

Why so many genealogies? The first readers of 1 Chronicles were Israelites living after the Babylonian exile. The genealogies showed them that they were still God's people. For Christians, the genealogies also show how God preserved the line of David's descendants that eventually led to Jesus the Messiah.

2:3–4:23 The Tribe of Judah. The first and most extensive place in the genealogy is given to Judah. The author has arranged it as follows:

2:3	Shelah, the oldest surviving son of Judah
2:4–8	Perez and Zerah, Judah’s sons by Tamar
2:9–3:24	Hezron, ancestor of David and his line
4:1–20	Perez’s other descendants
4:21–23	Shelah’s descendants

As is common in such literary arrangements, the central unit (2:9–3:24) is the focus of chief interest because it leads to David, the central human character in Chronicles.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 2:3–8 Judah is the central focus of the genealogy because God chose Judah to lead Israel (Gen. 49:8–12). God also chose David and his line to bless Israel and rule forever (2 Sam. 7:1–17; 1 Chron. 17:1–15). Judah’s five sons demonstrate both Yahweh’s judgment on disobedience (Er, Onan, Shelah) and his grace in continuing the lines of Perez and Zerah, the twins born from Judah’s unlawful union with Tamar (Genesis 38). Achan means “trouble” in the Hebrew text, a wordplay on the troubler of Israel (see Josh. 7:24–26). broke faith. This is the first instance of this key term in the book that describes Israel’s failure to obey the Lord (see Lev. 26:40).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 2:9–17 Verses 10–12 are drawn mainly from Ruth 4:19–22. Here, only the line of David (1 Chron. 2:15) came from Ram, and the rest of Judah from Hezron’s other sons, Jerahmeel and Caleb (Chelubai is a variant of “Caleb”). Although 1 Sam. 16:10–13 indicates that David was the eighth son of Jesse, the Chronicler presents him as the seventh, perhaps to indicate his favored place in God’s purpose.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 2:18–24 Caleb the son of Hezron is not the later contemporary of Joshua (see 4:15). He was an ancestor of Bezalel (2:20), the principal craftsman for the tabernacle (Ex. 31:2; 2 Chron. 1:5).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 2:25–41 Two lists (vv. 25–33 and 34–41) have been joined here, probably from material preserved by this clan, descendants of Jerahmeel, the firstborn of Hezron. They lived in the Negeb, on Judah's southern frontier, in David's day (1 Sam. 27:10). If this record of 23 generations is complete, Elishama may have been a contemporary of David, and the Chronicler would be drawing on ancient records from the early monarchy.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 2:42–55 An addition to vv. 18–24, made up of early lists of the descendants of Caleb (vv. 42–50a) and his son Hur (vv. 50b–55). Personal and place names are together in this section (Hebron, Beth-zur, Kiriath-jearim, Bethlehem), so "father" here sometimes means the "founder" or "leader" of a city.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 3:1–24 The genealogy of Ram (2:10–17) is resumed in this list of David's descendants. There are three distinct sections: David's children (3:1–9); Solomon and the kings of Judah (vv. 10–16); and the postexilic generations (vv. 17–24).

FACT

Do the books of Chronicles have a main theme? The central theme of 1–2 Chronicles is how God's covenant with David provided an enduring hope for Israel, even in its darkest hours.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 3:1–9 Drawn mainly from 2 Sam. 3:2–5 (see note) and 5:14–16, with a few textual variations (Daniel for "Chileab," and the addition of Eliphelet, 1 Chron. 3:6, and Nogah, v. 7). The narrative omits the troubles of David's family (2 Samuel 13–19; 1 Kings 1), but mentioning Amnon, Absalom, Adonijah, and Tamar implies readers are familiar with these accounts.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 3:10–16 The complete Davidic line down to the exile follows the spelling in Kings (Azariah is a variant of "Uzziah," 2 Chronicles 26). The pattern is altered here because Josiah was succeeded by three of his sons, but not according to their birth order: Shallum (throne name: Jehoahaz), replaced by Jehoiakim (who was succeeded by his own son, Jeconiah [a variant of "Jehoiachin"]), then Zedekiah, the last king of Judah.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 3:17–24 The line of David's descendants continued even after the exile, fulfilling God's promise of an enduring "house" for him, through which God's kingdom would be eternally established (17:10b, 14). Zerubbabel played a central role in restoring the temple (Ezra 5:2; Hag. 1:12–15). Possibly Ezra 3:2, which calls Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, implies an adoption or levirate marriage (see note on Matt. 22:24).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 3:19 sons of Zerubbabel. Matthew 1:13 and Luke 3:27 both trace Jesus' descent from David through sons of Zerubbabel other than those mentioned here, apparently using other historical records.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 4:1–23 Information about other clans rounds off the genealogy of Judah. Verses 1–20 supply additional details of the descendants of Perez (2:4–8), while 4:21–23 fill out the lineage of Judah's third son, Shelah (2:3).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 4:9–10 Jabez prays that his name, which is similar to the Hebrew word for "pain," will not be a bad omen. He desires to live under God's blessing and protection. On the gift of territorial expansion and divine protection in response to prayer, see 5:20–22 and 2 Chron. 20:6–12.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 4:13–15 The Kenizzites appear to have been a southern tribe absorbed into Judah. Othniel was the first major judge of Israel (Judg. 3:7–11) and a nephew of Caleb (Josh. 15:17).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 4:21–23 linen workers . . . potters. These records from before the exile to Babylon (vv. 22–23) indicate that certain Israelite clans specialized in trades or crafts such as linen work or pottery; see 2:55 on scribes. Lehem may be Bethlehem.

4:24–43 The Tribe of Simeon. This tribe's allotted territory lay within Judah and was taken from that tribe (vv. 28–33; see Josh. 19:1–9). By David's time (1 Chron. 4:31) Simeon had been largely absorbed back into Judah. Nevertheless, some Simeonite clans maintained their tribal identity through genealogical records (vv. 34–38). These records would have included the historical notes of two military expansions undertaken to relieve overpopulation (v. 38): one westward into Philistine territory in the days of Hezekiah in the eighth century B.C. (vv. 39–41), and another into the southern Negeb (vv. 42–43). The westward campaign to Gedor (probably "Gerar") is depicted in the language of the conquest under Joshua: marked . . . for destruction (see note on 1 Sam. 15:3).

5:1–26 The Transjordanian Tribes. By the Chronicler's time, Reuben (vv. 1–10), Gad (vv. 11–17), and the half-tribe of Manasseh (vv. 23–26) had largely lost their identities after Assyrian invasions in the eighth century B.C. Nonetheless, the Chronicler included within "all Israel" whatever remnants of the northern tribes still existed (see 2 Chron. 30:10–20).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 5:1–2 Because of his grave sin, Reuben forfeited his birthright as Israel's firstborn to Joseph's sons Ephraim and Manasseh (see Gen. 35:22; 49:3–4). The Chronicler expresses a receptive openness to the non-Judahite Israelites by stressing that the birthright belonged to Joseph, whose descendants would form the core of the northern kingdom. Leadership of the nation, however, passed from Reuben to Judah, from whose tribe David (a chief) arose.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 5:3–10 This is a partial genealogy of Reuben's line, extending to their exile by the Assyrian king Tiglath-pileser III, in his conquest of Gilead (Transjordanian Israel) in 733 B.C. See also 2 Chron. 28:19–21. These verses recount an earlier expansion of the Reubenites into Gilead, which was recaptured by the Moabites (in the 9th century B.C.). The Hagrites were linked with the Moabites (Ps. 83:6) and were descendants of Hagar (Genesis 16).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 5:11–17 The information about Gad in Bashan (northeast of the Sea of Galilee) is from records (possibly a military census; see v. 18) dating from the eighth-century B.C. reigns of Jotham king of Judah and Jeroboam king of Israel (v. 17).

FACT

Bashan, northeast of the Sea of Galilee, was known for its rich pastureland and healthy livestock (5:11–16). The OT sometimes uses the riches of Bashan as a symbol of overindulgence and arrogance. For example, Amos 4:1 refers to the proud, wealthy women of Samaria as "cows of Bashan."

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 5:18–22 for they cried out to God. God answers his people and grants them victory when they cry out to him (compare 2 Chron. 14:9–15; 20:5–12). They prevailed over them may be, "they were helped to prevail over them" (see ESV footnote, and 2 Chron. 25:8; 32:8). because the war was of God. See also 2 Chron. 20:15 and 32:8 for the idea that God fights for his people.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 5:23–24 The half-tribe of Manasseh lived east of the Jordan between Gad's territory (Bashan) and Mount Hermon in Lebanon. Their large numbers and extensive lands indicate divine blessing.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 5:25–26 The half-tribe of Manasseh was defeated and exiled, along with the Reubenites and Gadites, into Assyrian lands by Tiglath-pileser (see note on 2 Kings 15:16–22). The Chronicler attributes this to God's initiative in human affairs: the God of Israel stirred up the spirit of Pul (see also 2 Chron. 21:16; 36:22). The writer's brief account is based on 2 Kings 17:7–23, along with details from 2 Kings 15:29; 17:6; 18:11. These idolatrous Israelites broke faith. Judah will be exiled for the same reasons (1 Chron. 9:1; 2 Chron. 36:14–20).

6:1–81 The Tribe of Levi. Levi is placed at the center of the Chronicler's ideal conception of Israel (see diagram in note on 1:1–9:44). The Davidic monarchy and the Jerusalem temple together form the institutional foundation of Israel's existence.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 6:1–15 Drawing from Ex. 6:16–25 for 1 Chron. 6:1–4a, this genealogy focuses on the line of Eleazar descended through Kohath from Levi. This traces the origin of the high-priestly line down to the exiled Jehozadak. The list of high priests is incomplete, omitting several mentioned in this book (Jehoiada, 2 Chron. 22:11; two other Azariahs, 2 Chron. 26:20; 31:10) and elsewhere in the OT (Eli and his descendants, 1 Sam. 14:3; Uriah, 2 Kings 16:10). Jehozadak's line was preserved into the postexilic period (see Ezra 5:2, where he is called Jozadak), just as David's line was (1 Chron. 3:17–24).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 6:10 Azariah. See note on 1 Kings 4:2.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 6:16–30 This section details the three main Levite clans. Seven generations are given for descendants of Gershom and Merari. This probably takes them to the time of David, who reorganized the Levites' duties.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 6:22–27 The Kohathite line is a little more difficult to follow. Amminadab may be an alternative name for Izhar (see v. 38) or Amram (v. 18). These verses present the descent from Kohath through Assir to Shaul. Elkanah and Ebiasaph, v. 23, are Assir's brothers.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 6:28 The prophet Samuel is a Kohathite. First Samuel 1:1 states that his father Elkanah was from an "Ephraimite" family, but this may indicate the locality in which they lived (see Josh. 21:20–21) rather than their tribal identity. A clear genealogical link with the Kohathite singer Heman is established in 1 Chron. 6:33–38.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 6:31–48 For the Levites whom David put in charge of the service of song (v. 31), their leaders were appointed from each clan: Heman, from the Kohathites (vv. 33–38); Asaph, from the Gershomites (vv. 39–43); and Ethan, from the Merarites (vv. 44–47). Each line is traced back to Levi.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 6:49–53 It is a recurring theme that the Aaronic priests make atonement for Israel in order to maintain a relationship with God (see 2 Chron. 13:10–11; 29:21). Verses 50–53 of 1 Chronicles 6 repeat vv. 4–8. The effect is to tie all the Aaronic priests to Zadok and Ahimaaz, who lived in Solomon's time. Aaron's first two sons, Nadab and Abihu, who died for their disobedience, are not mentioned here (see v. 3; 24:1–2; also Ex. 6:23; Lev. 10:1–7).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 6:54–81 Summarized from Joshua 21 with some small omissions and variations of order. The Levites possessed no tribal territory, so they are distributed throughout the cities of Israel.

7:1–40 Other Northern Tribes. This chapter contains briefer details of those tribes, including part of Benjamin that belonged to the old northern kingdom of Israel. Their lands were no longer under Israelite control at the time of the Chronicler's writing.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 7:1–5 The list of the descendants of Issachar is composed from Gen. 46:13, Num. 26:23–25, and a military census from David's reign (1 Chron. 7:2–5; see ch. 21).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 7:6–12 These details of Benjamin differ from other lists (Gen. 46:21; Num. 26:38–39; 1 Chron. 8:1–3) and come mainly from military registers (7:7, 9, 11).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 7:13 Drawn from Gen. 46:24 and Num. 26:48–49. Details for Dan and Zebulun are missing, probably because of incomplete records.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 7:14–19 This section concerns the half of Manasseh that lived west of the Jordan. Details are from Num. 26:29–33 and Josh. 17:1–3. This genealogy places a particular emphasis on women. Maacah is called the sister of Machir in 1 Chron. 7:15, then his wife in v. 16; but "sister/brother" can often mean "relative" in the OT.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 7:15 and Zelophehad had daughters. See Num. 26:33; 27:1–11.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 7:20–29 The list of ancestors for Joshua, the most famous Ephraimite, is given in vv. 20–27 (from Num. 26:35). A historical note (1 Chron. 7:21b–24) probably refers to the postconquest period: the building of Lower and Upper Beth-horon fits better with the time of tribal settlement. In this case, Ephraim (v. 22) would refer not to the patriarch but to a later descendant. Gath may be Gittaim, on the Ephraimite border. Verses 28–29 draw on Joshua 16–17 for details of the settlements of Ephraim and Manasseh, since both tribes descended from Joseph.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 7:30–40 Genesis 46:17, Num. 26:44–46, and details from a military register (1 Chron. 7:40) provide the information for Asher. The total of fighting men for Asher (26,000, v. 40) is significantly less than that in Moses' day (Num. 26:47).

FACT

Why is the genealogy for Naphtali so short? The Chronicler was writing more than a thousand years after the beginning of Israel's tribes. During that time, all the tribes had gone into exile. This made it difficult to find genealogies for all the tribes.

8:1–40 The Tribe of Benjamin. A second, more detailed genealogy of this tribe has little in common with the earlier list (7:6–12) and serves a different function. Judah and Benjamin formed the core of the community in Jerusalem and Judah after the exile (see Ezra 1:5; Neh. 11:4–9). Most details in this section are probably from preexilic sources.

FACT

How many genealogies are there in the Bible? There are about 25 genealogical lists in the Bible. These genealogies show how God protected his covenant people through the centuries.

---

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 8:1–7 These are the descendants of the famous judge Ehud (Judg. 3:15), who settled in the Benjaminite city of Geba (see 1 Kings 15:22) before their removal to Manahath (probably in Judah).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 8:8–27 These are the descendants of Elpaal, who led a westward expansion into the coastal plain (vv. 12–13) and settled in Jerusalem (v. 28).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 8:29–40 This is the genealogy of the most famous Benjaminite family, Saul and his descendants, through 15 generations. (Ner, in 1 Sam. 14:50, has the same name as Saul's ancestor.) The first section of the list is probably of early preexilic origin, since it contains names that would have been unacceptable in later times because of possible pagan connections (Baal, 1 Chron. 8:30; Eshbaal, v. 33, is known elsewhere as Ishbosheth, 2 Sam. 2:8; and Merib-baal, 1 Chron. 8:34, is known as Mephibosheth, 2 Sam. 4:4; see note on 2 Sam. 4:4).

9:1–34 The Resettlement of Jerusalem. The Chronicler focuses on the worship personnel who return to Jerusalem from exile.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 9:1 The summarizing conclusion to the tribal genealogies of all Israel in chs. 2–8. Judah's exile to Babylon for breach of faith (see 2 Chron. 36:14–20) parallels the fate of the northern tribes ("they broke faith"; see 1 Chron. 5:25–26). the Book of the Kings of Israel. See note on 1 Kings 14:19.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 9:3–9 Repopulated Jerusalem includes people from Ephraim and Manasseh, as well as Judah and Benjamin. The Judahites are listed as descendants of the patriarch's sons.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 9:10–13 The priests in postexilic Jerusalem are praised for their temple ministry. Their numbers (1,760) have grown significantly (compare 1,192 in Neh. 11:12–14).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 9:14–16 Levitical singers and musicians include descendants of Asaph and Jeduthun, choir leaders in David's day (6:39; 25:1).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 9:17–32 The Levitical gatekeepers' authority is traced to their service under Phinehas (v. 20; see Num. 25:6–11) and their appointment by David (1 Chron. 9:22; 26:1–32). Along with their primary duty of safeguarding the temple, the gatekeepers were also responsible for the utensils and supplies used in the daily sacrifices (9:28–32).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 9:31 making the flat cakes. God notices and remembers those who faithfully perform routine tasks in service to him.

9:35–44 The Genealogy of Saul. This is repeated from 8:29–38 to introduce the Chronicler's account of Saul's reign (ch. 10). While Saul's dynasty ended with his death (10:6), his family line continued for many generations (9:40–44).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 9:40 Merib-baal. See note on 8:29–40.

10:1–12:40 David's Rise to Power over Israel. The Chronicler focuses on Israel's unity under David, passing over most of the conflict with Saul and Ishbosheth that 2 Samuel describes.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 10:1–12 Taken mainly from 1 Sam. 31:1–13. Saul's reign ends in disaster for Israel at the hands of the Philistines (1 Chron. 10:7). His death, along with the deaths of three of his sons, marks the end of his royal house (v. 6). temple of Dagon (v. 10). Saul's humiliation after his death contrasts with the triumph of the ark over Dagon in 1 Sam. 5:1–4.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 10:4 Saul took his own sword and fell upon it. See note on 2 Sam. 1:6–10 for the claim that Saul did not commit suicide but rather was killed by an Amalekite.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 10:11–12 Saul had saved Jabesh-gilead earlier (1 Samuel 11). This explains why the city gave a proper burial to Saul and his sons. David later reburied their bones (2 Sam. 21:14).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 10:13–14 his breach of faith (compare 2:7; 5:25; 9:1). Saul failed to keep the command of the LORD (see 1 Sam. 13:13). He consulted the medium of En-dor (1 Samuel 28) but did not seek the Lord. His sin caused his death. turned the kingdom over to David. This is the main point of the chapter.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 11:1–3 From 2 Sam. 5:1–3, omitting the war with Ishbosheth and David's seven-year reign in Hebron as king (2 Sam. 2:1–4:12; 5:4–5; contrast 1 Chron. 3:4; 29:27). according to the word of the LORD by Samuel. See 1 Sam. 13:14; 15:28.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 11:1 your bone and flesh. Despite a distinct division between Judah and the rest of Israel, they still recognized each other as family (compare "brothers"; 2 Sam. 2:26–27).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 11:4–9 From 2 Sam. 5:6–10. The conquest of Jerusalem by David and all Israel (see 2 Sam. 5:6, "the king and his men”) gave the tribes a focus for their national unity. Thinking of his fellow Israelites living after the exile, the Chronicler presents Jerusalem as the possession not just of Judah but of “all Israel.”

FACT

How did David conquer Jerusalem? The Chronicler tells of David’s conquest of Jerusalem in 11:4–10. Second Samuel 5:8 provides an additional interesting detail: David and his men were able to enter the city through an underground water shaft.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 11:8 the Millo. See note on 2 Sam. 5:9.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 11:10–47 From 2 Sam. 23:8–39, with additional material (1 Chron. 11:41b–47). These details of David’s mighty men illustrate the support David received from the people around him and from God (v. 10).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 11:12–13 The Chronicler may have intentionally skipped over material about Shammah from 2 Sam. 23:9–11. In that case the plurals “they . . . their” in 1 Chron. 11:14 (see ESV footnote) indicate that others (possibly including David) were with Eleazar in this battle at Pas-dammim. This location was not mentioned in 2 Samuel.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 11:15–19 The identity of these three mighty men is not known.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 11:18 He poured it out to the LORD. See note on 2 Sam. 23:16–17.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 11:25–47 The original list of the thirty (vv. 26–40b = 2 Sam. 23:24–39) has been supplemented with material from a different source (1 Chron. 11:41b–47; see note on 2 Sam. 23:8–39).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 12:1–22 Before his reign in Hebron, David took refuge from Saul in various strongholds in the Judean desert. He also stayed in Ziklag for 16 months under the protection of the Philistine king Achish (1 Sam. 27:6). This section provides a “flashback” to those days and places.

Like the rest of 1 Chron. 11:1–12:40, they show the growing support for David from every tribe of Israel.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 12:1–7 David gained support from Saul's own tribe of Benjamin while in Ziklag.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 12:8–15 David received support from the Gadites of Transjordan earlier, possibly at Adullam (1 Sam. 22:1) or Engedi (1 Sam. 23:29).

FACT

Bows and arrows were widely used in Bible times (12:2). Bows were made with single pieces of wood or by gluing layers of wood, horn, and sinew together. They were between 3 and 6 feet (0.9 and 1.8 m) long. Arrows were made of wood shafts or reeds that were tipped with metal heads. Bird feathers were added to guide the arrows.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 12:8 mighty . . . warriors, expert. A frequent theme here (see vv. 2, 14, 21–22) is that Israel's most skillful, heroic warriors are siding with David, confirming that he is the Lord's anointed.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 12:16–18 When David's life is threatened by Saul, Amasai encourages loyalty to David, declaring that he has God's support. The Spirit clothed is the Chronicler's characteristic phrase for prophetic inspiration (2 Chron. 15:1; 24:20; see Judg. 6:34).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 12:19–21 On the Philistines' relations with David, see 1 Samuel 29.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 12:22 from day to day men came to David to help him. This comment summarizes the chapter. A great army was gathered to David. like an army of God. God was strengthening David by sending warriors to him.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 12:23–37 To turn the kingdom of Saul over to him refers back to 10:14 and summarizes the overall theme of chs. 10–12.

according to the word of the LORD. The tribes, like their elders (11:3), act in obedience to the prophetic word declaring David to be king.

13:1–16:43 David's Transfer of the Ark of the Covenant to Jerusalem. The ark signified the Mosaic covenant. It also symbolized God's presence on earth. It had been neglected throughout Saul's reign, being kept in the village of Kiriath-jearim (13:3, 5). The Chronicler departs from his source's order (2 Samuel 5–6) to present David's first attempt to retrieve the ark (1 Chron. 13:5–14 = 2 Sam. 6:1–11); he places this event before David's establishment of his home and family in Jerusalem and his defeat of the Philistines (1 Chron. 14:1–17 = 2 Sam. 5:11–25). He changes the order of these events to show that David's true priority is his commitment to God.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 13:1–4 David's consultation shows a concern with national unity and a desire to involve the people in national issues. we did not seek it. See "seek my face," 2 Chron. 7:14. To "seek" the ark would mean caring for it rightly as the focus of worship. "Seeking God" will emerge as a major theme in Chronicles. During David's reign there will be an improvement in the people's commitment to God, compared to their level of commitment during the days of Saul.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 13:5–6 People from all over Israel participated in retrieving the ark: from the Nile of Egypt to Lebo-hamath in the far northeast. Compare the boundaries of the Promised Land, Gen. 15:18. On who sits enthroned above the cherubim, see note on 1 Sam. 4:3–4.

FACT

Why couldn't the ark be carried on an oxcart? The Lord had commanded that the ark should be carried with long poles (Ex. 25:12–15). Transporting the ark on an oxcart instead demonstrated a lack of reverence for this representation of God's presence. When the oxen stumbled, Uzzah touched the ark to steady it, and the Lord struck him dead. Even those whose job it was to carry the ark were forbidden to touch it (Num. 4:15).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 13:7–12 The Levites were to carry the ark on poles (Ex. 25:12–15; see note on 2 Sam. 6:3–4). Transporting the ark by cart (1 Chron. 13:7), as the Philistines had done (1 Samuel 6), demonstrated a lack of reverence for the sacred object of God's presence and for the Law of Moses. Uzzah intended well, but he disobeyed the Lord by touching the ark (see Num. 4:15; also note on 2 Sam. 6:6–11).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 13:8 On David . . . celebrating before God with various instruments, see note on 2 Sam. 6:5.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 13:13–14 Obed-edom was probably a foreigner, particularly if Gittite (a resident of Gath) means that he was a Philistine.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 14:1–17 Some events described here actually preceded the first mission to collect the ark (see 2 Sam. 5:11–25). These events (especially 1 Chron. 14:1, 3–5) were repositioned here to show that God blessed David because he gave priority to seeking God (see 13:3).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 14:1–2 Hiram king of Tyre. See note on 2 Sam. 5:11. Hiram's assistance in building David's house (palace) signifies a Gentile ruler's recognition of David's kingship over Israel. Hiram will later help Solomon build the temple (2 Chron. 2:11–16).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 14:3–7 See 3:5–8. Nathan (14:4) was an ancestor of Jesus (Luke 3:31; see note on Luke 3:23–38). Beeliada was also known as Eliada (2 Sam. 5:16; 1 Chron. 3:8).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 14:8–16 The first battle between David and the Philistines (vv. 8–12) may be a flashback to before David had conquered Jerusalem (2 Sam. 5:17, the source of 1 Chron. 14:8, refers to "the stronghold," possibly in Adullam, 1 Sam. 22:4). The time of the second battle is uncertain. David's success against the Philistines cleared the way for the ark's progress to Jerusalem.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 14:15 sound of marching. See note on 2 Sam. 5:22–25.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 14:17 the LORD brought the fear of him upon all nations. Such fear will keep them from attacking Israel. See also 2 Chron.

17:10; 20:29 for other examples of a fear sent by God on neighboring peoples.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 15:1–29 The relatively brief account of the second mission to bring the ark to Jerusalem (see 2 Sam. 6:12–19) has been expanded here. David appoints the Levites as the leaders of music and worship.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 15:1–3 The tent is not the Mosaic “tent of meeting,” which was in Gibeon at the time (16:39). Instead it was a temporary lodging for the ark (see 17:1). Levites. See Deut. 10:8; 18:5.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 15:4–10 The three main divisions of the Levites (Kohath, Merari, Gershom) are named. The Kohathites were responsible for carrying the ark (see Num. 7:9). The final three groups mentioned (1 Chron. 15:8–10) are also Kohathite families (see 6:18).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 15:11–15 “Seeking” God according to the rule is not legalism. It shows great regard for the word of the LORD and offers a safeguard against the kind of disaster that occurred in Perez-uzza (v. 13; see 13:5–11).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 15:16 The Levites begin, under David, a new ministry of music and praise in the presence of the ark. On the significance of their ministry for Israel, see 16:4–7 and note.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 15:17–24 Obed-edom (vv. 18, 24) may have been included among the Levitical gatekeepers because of his care for the ark, despite his probable Philistine origin (see note on 13:13–14). The postexilic Israelites had a much stricter policy concerning genealogical descent (see Ezra 2:61–63).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 15:25–29 This section supplements 2 Sam. 6:12–16 (which focuses on David) to emphasize the participation of all Israel. Details about the Levites and God’s help for them are added (1 Chron. 15:26–28). On David’s wife Michal, see note on 2 Sam. 6:16–19.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 16:1–43 The brief account in 2 Sam. 6:17–20 of the ark's arrival in Jerusalem and the festivities is greatly expanded here.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 16:4–7 David establishes a daily worship ministry by the Levites before the ark (vv. 6, 37), held at that time in Gibeon (vv. 39–42). Their task is to invoke, to thank, and to praise the LORD. It is a description of worship through prayer and songs, like those collected in Psalms.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 16:8–36 This psalm of praise is drawn from Ps. 105:1–15; 96:1–13; and 106:1, 47–48. The Chronicler has carefully woven them together and changed them slightly.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 16:8–22 The charge to seek the LORD . . . continually (v. 11) is a common theme for the writer (see 22:19a). The repeated instruction to Israel to remember God's miracles, and his promises of the land and protection to Abraham and Israel (16:18–22), would encourage the small, vulnerable postexilic community (see Nehemiah 4; 6).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 16:35–36 This request for deliverance and salvation from among the nations is the high point of the psalm (vv. 8–36). Here, it speaks more to the Chronicler's generation than to David's. It expresses a longing for the restoration and consolidation of a scattered people.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 16:37–43 Besides ministering before the ark, the Levites are also appointed to assist at the tabernacle at Gibeon by offering praise at the times of sacrifice. Solomon will move the tabernacle into the temple at the time of its dedication (2 Chron. 5:5).

17:1–27 The Dynastic Promise to David. See 2 Sam. 7:1–29 and note. God's promise to David is central to Chronicles. Israel's identity as God's people will be expressed through the Davidic dynasty and Solomon's temple. The promise to David is fulfilled in Jesus as the descendant of David (Rom. 1:3).

FACT

King David is the main character in 1 Chronicles. The writer presents a very positive picture of him, leaving out many of the tragic details of his life that the writer of 2 Samuel describes.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 17:10b–14 Rather than David building Yahweh a house, God will build . . . a house for David, in the form of a lasting dynasty. Your offspring after you refers to Solomon. The declaration he shall build a house for me, and I will establish his throne forever suggests that Solomon's building the temple is the act of obedience that will secure the promise. God's steadfast love will never be withdrawn from him as it was from Saul. David's successor will not be without sin, but God's love for David's house and his commitment to it will surpass its failings. Hebrews 1:5 applies the words I will be to him a father, and he shall be to me a son to Christ, because as Messiah he inherits David's role of representing God's people (his "son," Ex. 4:22–23; see Ps. 89:26–27).

18:1–20:8 David's Wars. The Chronicler draws from 2 Samuel 8–21 to show how God's promises to David (especially 1 Chron. 17:8–10b) are being fulfilled. As elsewhere in Chronicles, the materials do not always follow a strict chronology.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 18:1–13 From 2 Sam. 8:1–14. David's victories brought security to Israel (see 1 Chron. 17:9) and extended its boundaries, or at least its zones of influence, to their farthest point in history (see note on 2 Sam. 8:3–12). The victories are ascribed to Yahweh (1 Chron. 18:6, 13). David dedicated the gifts he received and the items taken in war to Yahweh for the temple (see 26:27; 2 Chron. 5:1).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 18:6 This Hebrew verb meaning "save" can also be translated gave victory (see ESV footnote; compare 11:14; 18:13).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 18:12 On the Valley of Salt, see note on 2 Sam. 8:13.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 18:14–17 From 2 Sam. 8:15–18 (see note there). As David's empire expanded, he organized his government according to the major areas of national life: defense, the legal system, and official worship.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 18:15–17 On Jehoshaphat, Ahilud, Zadok, Ahitub, Ahimelech, Abiathar, and Benaiah, see notes on 2 Sam. 8:17; 8:18.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 19:1–20:3 From 2 Sam. 10:1–19; 11:1; 12:26, 30–31. The main difference between these sources and the Chronicler's account is that he said nothing about David's sin with Bathsheba. This was not done to hide David's sin, since it was well known, but probably to focus on his military victories. The battles in 1 Chron. 19:1–15 seem to have preceded the decisive military effort in 18:5–8. David receives the crown of Ammon for his own house (20:2). Since David's line will produce One who will rule the Gentiles, it seems fitting that David himself is the first to do so.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 19:2 On Hanun the son of Nahash, see note on 2 Sam. 10:1–5.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 19:6–7 On Zobah and Maacah, see note on 2 Sam. 10:6–8.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 19:18 For the number 7,000 here, 2 Sam. 10:18 has "700." The difference is probably due to a scribal error.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 20:1–3 The Chronicler omits 2 Sam. 12:27–29, Joab's summons to David to come to Rabbah.

FACT

Why did ancient kings go to war in the spring? In Palestine, crops such as barley and wheat were harvested in the spring. An invading army could live off harvested grains.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 20:1 the time when kings go out to battle. . . . But David remained at Jerusalem. See note on 2 Sam. 11:1; the Chronicler omits any mention of David's sin with Bathsheba (see note on 1 Chron. 19:1–20:3). Joab struck down Rabbah and overthrew it. See note on 2 Sam. 12:26–31.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 20:4–8 From 2 Sam. 21:18–22. Three incidents from David's war against the Philistines in Gezer and Gath bring this unit back to where it began (1 Chron. 18:1). The giants were the Rephaim (see Gen. 14:5). the Philistines were subdued. Compare 1 Chron. 17:10.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 20:5 Lahmi the brother of Goliath. See note on 2 Sam. 21:19.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 20:7 On Jonathan and Shimea, see note on 2 Sam. 21:21.

21:1–29:30 David's Census and Preparation for the Temple. David paves the way for Solomon to build the temple. Even his census (21:1–22:1), though done out of wrong motives, yields a plot of land for the building site.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 21:1–22:1 From 2 Sam. 24:1–25, with significant changes and additions. The account of David's census and the resulting plague is an important turning point in Chronicles, between David's wars (1 Chronicles 18–20) and his temple preparations (chs. 22–29). Beyond describing the purchase of the site for the temple, the author shows the meaning of the temple itself as the place of mercy and forgiveness. It is David, the model of "seeking God," who shows the need for forgiveness (see 2 Chron. 6:36) and by his actions provides a model of true repentance (see note on 1 Chron. 21:17).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 21:1 On God using Satan, see note on 2 Sam. 24:1. This census was sinful probably because it arose from David's military ambitions (see 1 Chron. 21:5) and pride, and not from Yahweh's command. In addition, David did not collect the poll tax for a census as required by Ex. 30:12.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 21:3 The Chronicler's mention of guilt in relation to David's census is a significant addition to the account of this incident in 2 Sam. 24:3. For other mentions of "guilt" in Chronicles, see 2 Chron. 24:18; 28:13; 33:23.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 21:5–6 The Chronicler adds that Joab found David’s census abhorrent (again emphasizing David’s sinfulness). Because of this, Joab did not include the priestly tribe of Levi in the count (perhaps remembering Num. 1:47–49). He also left out Benjamin, whose territory included Jerusalem (the site of the ark) and Gibeon (the site of the tabernacle).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 21:7–13 David’s confession of guilt regarding the census leads him to appeal to God’s mercy, which is very great.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 21:12 three years of famine. See note on 2 Sam. 24:13.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 21:14–16 On relented (v. 15), see 1 Sam. 15:11–29 and notes; Jonah 3:10. The Chronicler does not tell readers what the LORD saw; probably it is the approaching calamity.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 21:17 Compared to 2 Sam. 24:17 (see note there), David here makes a fuller confession and asks for the plague to be removed.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 21:18–27 raise an altar. This was done to mark the special nature of the place and situation (compare Gen. 22:9–19). This will become the site of the temple (see 1 Chron. 22:1).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 21:26 David built there an altar. See note on 2 Sam. 24:25. The LORD answered him with fire from heaven, signifying God’s approval of the temple site (see Lev. 9:24; 2 Chron. 7:1).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 21:28–22:1 This material is not found in 2 Samuel 24. It explains why David did not go to Gibeon to offer sacrifice and why he concluded that God had authorized moving the sanctuary to Jerusalem (see 2 Chron. 1:3–6; 5:5).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 22:2–5 To prepare for building the temple, David recruited resident aliens as forced laborers (see 2 Sam. 20:24; see notes on 2 Chron. 2:2; 8:7–10). Items taken in war provided some of the material (see 1 Chron. 18:8). These events happened in the last years of David’s life, when Solomon was still young and inexperienced (22:5).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 22:6–16 Through private instruction, David prepares Solomon for his demanding duty as king. David refers back to the dynastic promise (17:7–14). Solomon’s reign will be the promised time of peace and quiet for Israel (see also Deut. 12:10–11).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 22:11–13 David emphasizes Solomon’s need to keep the Law of Moses in ruling his kingdom. Be strong and courageous. Fear not. See Deut. 31:7–8 and Josh. 1:9.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 22:14 In addition to gathering other materials for the temple, David gives 3,000 talents of gold and 7,000 talents of silver from his own treasure (29:3–4).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 23:1–27:34 In chs. 23–27 David continues to prepare for Solomon’s rule by providing religious, military, and political leadership.

FACT

New job descriptions for the Levites. For nearly 500 years a specific group of Levites had taken care of the portable tabernacle and its furniture, including the ark. Whenever the tabernacle was moved, each Levite had a specific job to do. Now that there would be a permanent temple, David gave new instructions to these faithful workers.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 23:3 A legitimate census of the Levites, as in Num. 4:1–3 (see 1 Chron. 21:1–17 and notes). The age of beginning service (thirty . . . and upward) was later lowered to 20 (23:24, 27). 38,000. The Hebrew word here for “thousand” may denote “groups” or “units” of unknown size.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 23:6–23 David organizes the Levites according to their traditional clans: the Gershonites (vv. 7–11), the Kohathites (vv. 12–20), and the Merarites (vv. 21–23).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 23:24–32 David appears as the successor to Moses (see Numbers 4) as he defines the Levites’ duties in relation to the temple.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 24:1–19 David organizes the priests into 24 divisions by lot. Each division was to serve for two weeks of the year, based on a lunar calendar of 48 weeks.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 24:2 Nadab and Abihu died. See Lev. 10:1–3. The priesthood was hereditary. It descended through the lines of Eleazar and Ithamar.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 24:3 Zadok. See 1 Kings 1:8; 2:35. Ahimelech. The son of Abiathar (2 Sam. 8:17), with whom Zadok is usually paired (2 Sam. 15:35; 1 Kings 4:4).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 24:5–6 Specific duties were assigned by drawing lots between the families of Eleazar and of Ithamar.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 24:10 Hakkoz. See Ezra 2:61–63. Abijah. An ancestor of John the Baptist (Luke 1:5).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 24:20–31 The list of Levites in 23:6–23 is updated to include another generation in six of the Levitical families.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 25:1–8 David and the Levite leaders divided the musicians into the three family groups (see 6:31–47), who prophesied with musical instruments. That is, they wrote songs, as guided by the Spirit of God. In some cases, their songs seem to have become part of OT Scripture. Asaph is named in the titles of Psalms 50 and 73–83, and Jeduthun in the titles of Psalms 39; 62; and 77. Heman here may be the same person as Heman the Ezrahite named in the title of Psalm 88 (see also 1 Chron. 6:33).

FACT

What is a lyre? The lyre (25:3) is a triangular stringed musical instrument, with anywhere from 3 to 12 strings. It is held like a guitar and strummed with either the fingers or a pick.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 26:1–32 See 9:17–27 and 23:4a. The Levitical gatekeepers were to safeguard the sanctuary from trespassers and from idolatrous practices (see 2 Chron. 29:3–7). They were also responsible for the temple treasuries and for maintaining the building and its equipment (see 1 Chron. 9:22–32).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 26:1–11 Obed-edom is probably the Philistine who had acted as caretaker for the ark (13:14). This suggests the early kings were not very strict about who might count as a "Levite."

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 26:12–19 The assignment of duties by lot. The east gate (v. 14) was the position of greatest responsibility, requiring six gatekeepers because it led directly to the temple entrance. It was known as "the king's gate" in postexilic times (9:18).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 26:20–28 The two treasuries were near the gates (see 9:26). One was for the house of God, presumably to store regular tithes and offerings. The other was for the dedicated gifts, that is, items taken in war (see 18:11) and other special gifts.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 26:29–32 See 23:4b. Two other groups of Levites, the Izharites and the Hebronites, were assigned to serve outside Jerusalem as officers and judges among Israelite tribes both west and east of the Jordan. Hebronites were appointed for all the work of the LORD and for the service of the king, possibly religious and civil taxation and administration, in the last year of David's rule (c. 970 B.C.; 26:31; see 29:27).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 27:1–15 The 12 military commanders are listed among David's "mighty men" (11:11–47) and among the leaders of Israel directly involved in the temple preparations (28:1). The army depicted here is not David's more permanent force (see 2 Sam. 15:18; 23:8–39). Instead it is a citizen militia of 12 divisions, each doing a month's duty on rotation. 24,000. Probably either an ideal number or "24 units."

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 27:16–22 These leaders of the tribes are probably David's appointees. Their actual role is unknown. The order of the tribes differs here from ch. 2. Aaron is counted as a tribe and Gad and Asher are omitted.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 27:23–24 Joab did not complete the unauthorized census (21:6) because he recognized that David's order was against God's promise to Abraham of countless descendants (see Gen. 15:5).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 27:25–31 A list of 12 administrators of the royal property (v. 31b). The incomes from these sources would have met some of the expenses of David's government.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 27:32–34 An additional list of royal counselors (see 18:14–17). This Jonathan, David's uncle, is not otherwise known. Ahithophel is mentioned frequently in 2 Sam. 15:12–17:23.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 28:1–21 This section resumes in a public setting David's private exhortation to Solomon in ch. 22. The audience (28:1) consists of the leaders listed in ch. 27, along with David's leading soldiers (see 11:10–12:40).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 28:4–5 Solomon is the only OT king after David said to have been chosen by God.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 28:6 Solomon . . . shall build my house. See 17:11–14; 22:9–10.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 28:7, 9 The establishment of Solomon's kingdom depends on his obedience to Yahweh. He will be obedient in building the temple, but will fail to serve God with a whole heart (see 1 Kings 11:4).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 28:11–19 The gold and silver temple vessels (vv. 14–17) were later removed by the Babylonians (2 Chron. 36:18) but were then returned by the Persians, after the exile (Ezra 1:7–11). Their presence in the postexilic temple, in the days when the Chronicler was writing, were a sign of God's covenant faithfulness to his people.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 28:19 in writing from the hand of the LORD. David may be claiming prophetic inspiration for his temple plans (compare

2 Chron. 29:25). Or, he may be making a stronger claim: that God actually gave him the temple plans in writing (compare Ex. 24:12; 31:18).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 28:20–21 David charges Solomon in public, just as he had previously done in private (22:11–13).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 29:1–9 The temple is referred to as a palace (v. 1), for it is God's kingly residence among his people. David calls for freewill offerings from the people, to show that they are consecrating themselves to Yahweh (see v. 5, ESV footnote; it is the same expression used to describe the ordination of priests, Ex. 28:41).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 29:7 darics. The daric was a Persian coin first minted under Darius I (522–486 B.C.). The Chronicler uses this word, which his own generation would have understood, to encourage them in giving.

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 29:10–19 David's great prayer of praise and his humble request marks the high point of his reign. David says that God examines the human heart for uprightness, that is, integrity (v. 17).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 29:22 they made Solomon the son of David king the second time. Solomon had been quickly anointed and installed as king in response to Adonijah's attempted coup (1 Kings 1:28–40, not mentioned in Chronicles). This second ceremony occurred when his kingship was secure and widely acknowledged (1 Chron. 29:24).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 29:23 The Lord has done for Solomon what he had earlier done for David (14:2). This is one way God kept his promise to David (1 Kings 2:24).

1 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 29:26–30 See 1 Kings 2:10–11. The various Chronicles mentioned in 1 Chron. 29:29 probably contained much of the material in the books of Samuel and Kings. They may have included additional records too (see note on 1 Kings 14:19). Samuel, Nathan, and Gad all played roles in David's life (see 1 Chron. 9:22; 17:1–15; 21:9–13). The kingdoms of the countries most likely refers to the surrounding nations that David had conquered.

The Global Message of 2 Chronicles

Second Chronicles, Redemptive History, and the Nations

The book of 2 Chronicles picks up the story of kingship where 1 Chronicles leaves off (see the “Global Message of 1 Chronicles”). While 1 Chronicles focuses on David, 2 Chronicles covers the much longer period from David’s son Solomon until the last kings in the Davidic line. But a description of these kings for history’s sake is not the aim of 2 Chronicles. Instead the narrator draws our attention to episodes which show God’s desire for his kings to rule differently from those of the nations.

Since the nations recognized that the God of Israel was incomparable among the gods (e.g., Ex. 8:10; Josh. 2:10), Israel’s leaders also needed to embody this unique justice and righteousness among the nations. Thus 2 Chronicles offers a thematic history of Israel which addresses two questions: How would the nations be drawn to God when they saw the splendor that he bestowed on Israel’s kings? And could God show himself sovereign even when his people lost what Christopher J. H. Wright has called their “missional magnetism,” becoming no different from the world around them?

God’s Reputation and Israel’s Faithfulness

Second Chronicles describes how God gives splendor to his kings in order for the nations to recognize his greatness. This is evident in the conversations between King Solomon and two foreign rulers: Hiram king of Tyre (2 Chronicles 3–4), and the Queen of Sheba (ch. 9).

Hiram of Tyre. As Solomon prepares to build his palace and the temple in Jerusalem, he tells Hiram of his desire to exalt the God of Israel above all other gods: “The house that I am to build will be great, for our God is greater than all gods” (2 Chron. 2:5). Hiram affirms the connection between God’s greatness and Solomon’s splendor: “Because the Lord loves his people, he has made you king over them. . . . Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, who made heaven and earth, who has given King David a wise son, who has discretion and understanding" (2:11–12). Hiram's acknowledgment of the true God is not unusual in the broader context of 2 Chronicles. Solomon later dedicates the temple as a welcoming place for any foreigner who hears of the Lord's greatness and "comes from a far country for the sake of your great name and your mighty hand and your outstretched arm" (6:32). God is asked to answer the foreigner's prayer "in order that all the peoples of the earth may know your name and fear you, as do your people Israel" (6:33).

The Queen of Sheba. In a similar way, the Queen of Sheba recognizes that the kingdom of Solomon is an earthly expression of the kingdom of God: "Blessed be the LORD your God, who has delighted in you and set you on his throne as king for the LORD your God! Because your God loved Israel and would establish them forever, he has made you king over them, that you may execute justice and righteousness" (2 Chron. 9:8). Elsewhere Solomon prays that his kingdom would glorify God by reflecting God's own justice and righteousness (Ps. 72:1–4).

These and many other Old Testament passages demonstrate that God delights in placing godly leaders in authority over his people when their conduct brings honor to him. These leaders attract nonbelievers to seek after the God who inspires such honorable leadership.

God's Reputation and Israel's Unfaithfulness

When God's leaders dishonor him through their lives, however, God directs the nations of the world to assume a quite different role in restoring honor to his reputation. Second Chronicles repeatedly describes how the kings of Israel stopped reflecting the ways of their God by following the pagan ways of the nations (e.g., 2 Chron. 25:14–16; 33:2–9; 36:11–14). These sins lead to a major shift in how the nations relate to Israel. Rather than being co-worshipers of God with Israel, they are now commissioned as his agents to punish Israel's disobedience. God sends Shishak king of Egypt to defeat Rehoboam king of Judah (12:1–5). The Philistines and Arabians come to oppose King Jehoram for the same reason (21:16–17). The Edomites, Philistines, Assyrians, and Syrians each humiliate King Ahaz in various ways (28:19–25). Even Hezekiah and Josiah, two of the most godly rulers of God's people (chs. 29–32; 34–35), are punished by the hand of foreign nations for succumbing to pride later in life (32:25–31; 35:20–24).

Since the best of Israel's kings are unable to stay faithful, what hope remains for God's promise of an eternal throne for David (1 Chron. 17:10–14)? How will God accomplish his desire for "missional magnetism" to flow from Israel to the nations and back again (e.g., Isa. 2:1–4)?

Hope of Restoration

Second Chronicles offers only a preliminary answer to these questions. The story of global redemption does not end here but continues in the books of Ezra and Nehemiah and on into the New Testament.

The last chapter of 2 Chronicles, however, hints that the nations will again assume a pivotal role in fulfilling God's promises to Israel. Jeremiah the prophet predicts that after a foreign nation (Babylon) takes Israel into exile (2 Chron. 36:21), another foreign nation (Persia) will be moved by God's mighty hand to reverse this exile (36:22). The book then concludes with an imperial Persian decree for the Jews to go home and worship the only true God: "Thus says Cyrus king of Persia, 'The LORD, the God of heaven, has given me all the kingdoms of the earth, and he has charged me to build him a house at Jerusalem, which is in Judah. Whoever is among you of all his people, may the LORD his God be with him. Let him go up" (36:23). Much like Hiram and the Queen of Sheba before him, King Cyrus declares that the God of Israel is unique among the gods and worthy of honor. It is a great irony that 2 Chronicles ends with a Persian king's acknowledgment of the true God of Israel, since Israel herself usually forgot these truths!

God's Sovereign Global Work Unhindered

The God described in 2 Chronicles shows himself sovereign in the relationship between his people and the nations. The rulers of this world may be ignorant of or even opposed to him. Cyrus was only dimly aware of his place in God's plans (Isa. 45:4–5), and the leaders who executed Jesus did not grasp the significance of their actions (Luke 23:34; 1 Cor. 2:8). But the God who uses the nations in mysterious ways to deal with the disobedience of his people is still at work today—God has creatively bound together the fate of his people and the nations for the sake of his redemptive purposes in Christ (Rom. 15:8–12).

Solomon Worships at Gibeon

2 CHRONICLES 1 [†] [a] Solomon the son of David established himself in his kingdom, [b] and the LORD his God was with him and made him exceedingly great.

[2]Solomon spoke to all Israel, to the [c] commanders of thousands and of hundreds, to the judges, and to all the leaders in all Israel, the heads of fathers' houses. [3]And Solomon, and all the assembly with him, went to [d] the high place that was at Gibeon, [e] for [f] the tent of meeting of God, which Moses the servant of the LORD had made in the wilderness, was there. [4] [g] (But David had brought up the ark of God from Kiriath-jearim to the place that David had prepared for it, for he had pitched a tent for it in Jerusalem.) [5]Moreover, [h] the bronze altar that [i] Bezalel the son of Uri, son of Hur, had made, was there before the tabernacle of the LORD. And Solomon and the assembly [j] sought it [1] out. [6]And Solomon went up there to the bronze altar before the LORD, which was at the tent of meeting, [k] and offered a thousand burnt offerings on it.

Solomon Prays for Wisdom

[7][†] [l] In that night God appeared to Solomon, and said to him, "Ask what I shall give you." [8]And Solomon said to God, "You have shown great and steadfast love to David my father, [m] and have made me king in his place. [9]O LORD God, [n] let your word to David my father be now fulfilled, for you have made me king over a people as numerous [o] as the dust of the earth. [10]Give me now wisdom and knowledge to [p] go out and come in before this people, for who can govern this people of yours, which is so great?" [11]God answered Solomon, "Because this was in your heart, and you have not asked for [q] possessions, wealth, honor, or the life of those who hate you, and have not even asked for long life, but have asked for wisdom and knowledge for yourself that you may govern my people over whom I have made you king, [12]wisdom and knowledge are granted to you. I will also give you [q] riches, possessions, and honor, [r] such as none of the kings had who were before you, and none after you shall have the like." [13]So Solomon came from [2] the [s]high place at Gibeon, from before [t]the tent of meeting, to Jerusalem. And he reigned over Israel.

Solomon Given Wealth

[14][†] [u]Solomon gathered together chariots and horsemen. [v]He had 1,400 chariots and 12,000 horsemen, whom he stationed [w]in the chariot cities and with the king in Jerusalem. [15]And the king made silver and gold as common in Jerusalem as stone, and he made cedar as plentiful as the sycamore of the Shephelah. [16]And Solomon's import of horses was from Egypt and Kue, and the king's traders would buy them from Kue for a price. [17]They imported a chariot from Egypt for 600 shekels [3] of silver, and a horse for 150. Likewise through them these were exported to all the kings of the Hittites and the kings of Syria.

Preparing to Build the Temple

2 CHRONICLES 2 [†] [1] [x]Now Solomon purposed to build a temple for the name of the LORD, and a royal palace for himself. [2][†] [2] [y]And Solomon assigned 70,000 men to bear burdens and 80,000 to quarry in the hill country, and [z]3,600 to oversee them. [3][†] [a]And Solomon sent word to Hiram the king of Tyre: [b]"As you dealt with David my father and sent him cedar to build himself a house to dwell in, so deal with me. [4]Behold, I am about to build a house for the name of the LORD my God and dedicate it to him for the burning of [c]incense of sweet spices before him, and for [d]the regular arrangement of the showbread, and for [e]burnt offerings morning and evening, [f]on the Sabbaths and the new moons and the appointed feasts of the LORD our God, as ordained forever for Israel. [5]The house that I am to build will be great, [g]for our God is greater than all gods. [6][†] [h]But who is able to build him a house, since [h]heaven, even highest heaven, cannot contain him? Who am I to build a house for him, except as a place to make offerings before him? [7]So now [i]send me a man skilled to work in gold, silver, bronze, and iron, and in purple, crimson, and blue fabrics, trained also in engraving, to be with the skilled workers who are with me in Judah and Jerusalem, [j]whom David my father provided. [8]Send me also cedar, cypress, and algum timber from Lebanon, for I know that [k] your servants know how to cut timber in Lebanon. And my servants will be with your servants, [9]to prepare timber for me in abundance, for the house I am to build will be great and wonderful. [10] [l] I will give for your servants, the woodsmen who cut timber, 20,000 cors [3] of crushed wheat, 20,000 cors of barley, 20,000 baths [4] of wine, and 20,000 baths of oil."

[11][†]Then Hiram the king of Tyre answered in a letter that he sent to Solomon, [m] "Because the LORD loves his people, he has made you king over them." [12]Hiram also said, "Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, [n] who made heaven and earth, who has given King David a wise son, who has discretion and understanding, [o] who will build a temple for the LORD and a royal palace for himself.

[13]"Now I have sent a skilled man, who has understanding, Huram-abi, [14] [p] the son of a woman of the daughters of Dan, and his father was a man of Tyre. He is [q] trained to work in gold, silver, bronze, iron, stone, and wood, and in purple, blue, and crimson fabrics and fine linen, and to do all sorts of engraving and execute any design that may be assigned him, with your craftsmen, the craftsmen of my lord, David your father. [15]Now therefore the wheat and barley, oil and wine, [r] of which my lord has spoken, let him send to his servants. [16] [s] And we will cut whatever timber you need from Lebanon and bring it to you in rafts by sea to [t] Joppa, so that you may take it up to Jerusalem."

[17]Then Solomon counted all the resident aliens who were in the land of Israel, [u] after the census of them that David his father had taken, and there were found 153,600. [18] [v] Seventy thousand of them he assigned to bear burdens, 80,000 to quarry in the hill country, and 3,600 as overseers to make the people work.

Solomon Builds the Temple

2 CHRONICLES 3 [†] [w] Then Solomon began to build the house of the LORD in Jerusalem [x] on Mount Moriah, where the LORD [1] had appeared to David his father, at the place that David had appointed, [y] on the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite. [2][†]He began to build in the second month of the fourth year of his reign. [3]These are Solomon's [z] measurements [2] for building the house of God: [a]the length, in cubits [3] of the old standard, was sixty cubits, and the breadth twenty cubits. 4[†]The vestibule in front of the nave of the house was twenty cubits long, equal to the width of the house, [4] and its height was 120 cubits. He overlaid it on the inside with pure gold. 5 [b]The nave he lined with cypress and covered it with fine gold [c]and made palms and chains on it. 6[†]He adorned the house with settings of precious stones. The gold was gold of Parvaim. 7So he lined the house with gold—its beams, its thresholds, its walls, and its doors—[c]and he carved cherubim on the walls.

8[†] [d]And he made the Most Holy Place. Its length, corresponding to the breadth of the house, was twenty cubits, and its breadth was twenty cubits. He overlaid it with 600 talents [5] of fine gold. 9The weight of gold for the nails was fifty shekels. [6] And he overlaid [e]the upper chambers with gold.

10[f]In the Most Holy Place he made two cherubim of wood [7] and overlaid [8] them with gold. 11The wings of the cherubim together extended twenty cubits: one wing of the one, of five cubits, touched the wall of the house, and its other wing, of five cubits, touched the wing of the other cherub; 12and of this cherub, one wing, of five cubits, touched the wall of the house, and the other wing, also of five cubits, was joined to the wing of the first cherub. 13The wings of these cherubim extended twenty cubits. The cherubim [9] stood on their feet, [g]facing the nave. 14[†] [h]And he made the veil of blue and purple and crimson fabrics and fine linen, and he worked cherubim on it.

15[†] [i]In front of the house he made two pillars thirty-five cubits high, with a capital of five cubits on the top of each. 16He made chains like a necklace [10] and put them on the tops of the pillars, and he made a hundred pomegranates and put them on the chains. 17[j]He set up the pillars in front of the temple, one on the south, the other on the north; that on the south he called Jachin, and that on the north Boaz.

The Temple’s Furnishings

2 CHRONICLES 4 [†]He made [k]an altar of bronze, twenty cubits [1] long and twenty cubits wide and ten cubits high. 2[†] [l]Then he made the sea of cast metal. It was round, ten cubits from brim to brim, and five cubits high, and a line of thirty cubits measured its circumference. [3]Under it were figures of gourds, [2] for ten cubits, compassing the sea all around. The gourds were in two rows, cast with it when it was cast. [4]It stood on twelve oxen, three facing north, three facing west, three facing south, and three facing east. The sea was set on them, and all their rear parts were inward. [5]Its thickness was a handbreadth. [3] And its brim was made like the brim of a cup, like the flower of a lily. [m] It held 3,000 baths. [4] [6] [n] He also made ten basins in which to wash, and set five on the south side, and five on the north side. In these they were to rinse off what was used for the burnt offering, and the sea was for the priests to wash in.

[7]And he made ten golden lampstands [o] as prescribed, and set them in the temple, five on the south side and five on the north. [8] [p] He also made ten tables and placed them in the temple, five on the south side and five on the north. And he made a hundred basins of gold. [9][†]He made [q] the court of the priests [r] and the great court and doors for the court and overlaid their doors with bronze. [10] [s] And he set the sea at the southeast corner of the house.

[11][†] [t] [u] Hiram also made the pots, the shovels, and the basins. [u] So Hiram finished the work that he did for King Solomon on the house of God: [12]the two pillars, [v] the bowls, and the two capitals on the top of the pillars; and the two latticeworks to cover the two bowls of the capitals that were on the top of the pillars; [13] [w] and the 400 pomegranates for the two latticeworks, two rows of pomegranates for each latticework, to cover the two bowls of the capitals that were on the pillars. [14] [n] He made the stands also, and the basins on the stands, [15]and the one sea, and the twelve oxen underneath it. [16]The pots, the shovels, [x] the forks, and all the equipment for these [t] [y] Huram-abi made of burnished bronze for King Solomon for the house of the LORD. [17]In the plain of the Jordan the king cast them, in the clay ground between Succoth and Zeredah. [5] [18] [z] Solomon made all these things in great quantities, for the weight of the bronze was not sought.

[19][†]So Solomon made all the vessels that were in the house of God: the golden altar, [a] the tables for the bread of the Presence, [20]the lampstands and their lamps of pure gold [b] to burn before the inner sanctuary, as prescribed; [21]the flowers, the lamps, and the tongs, of purest gold; [22]the snuffers, basins, dishes for incense, and fire pans, of pure gold, and the sockets [6] of the temple, for the inner doors to the Most Holy Place and for the doors of the nave of the temple were of gold.

2 CHRONICLES 5 [c]Thus all the work that Solomon did for the house of the LORD was finished. And Solomon brought in the things that David his father had dedicated, and stored the silver, the gold, and all the vessels in the treasuries of the house of God.

The Ark Brought to the Temple

[2][†]Then Solomon assembled the elders of Israel and all the heads of the tribes, the leaders of the fathers' houses of the people of Israel, in Jerusalem, to bring up the ark of the covenant of the LORD out of [d]the city of David, which is Zion. [3]And all the men of Israel assembled before the king at the feast that is in the seventh month. [4]And all the elders of Israel came, [e]and the Levites took up the ark. [5][†]And they brought up the ark, the tent of meeting, and all the holy vessels that were in the tent; [f]the Levitical priests brought them up. [6]And King Solomon and all the congregation of Israel, who had assembled before him, were before the ark, sacrificing so many sheep and oxen that they could not be counted or numbered. [7][†]Then the priests brought the ark of the covenant of the LORD to its place, in the inner sanctuary of the house, in the Most Holy Place, underneath the wings of the cherubim. [8]The cherubim spread out their wings over the place of the ark, so that the cherubim made a covering above the ark and its poles. [9]And the poles were so long that the ends of the poles were seen [g]from the Holy Place before the inner sanctuary, but they could not be seen from outside. And they are [1] there to this day. [10][†]There was nothing in the ark except the two tablets [h]that Moses put there at Horeb, where the LORD made a covenant with the people of Israel, when they came out of Egypt. [11][†]And when the priests came out of the Holy Place (for all the priests who were present had consecrated themselves, without regard to [i]their divisions, [12]and all the Levitical [j]singers, [k]Asaph, [l]Heman, and Jeduthun, their sons and kinsmen, arrayed in fine linen, with [m]cymbals, harps, and lyres, stood east of the altar with 120 [n]priests who were trumpeters; [13]and it was the duty of the trumpeters and singers to make themselves heard in unison in praise and thanksgiving to the Lord), and when the song was raised, [o] with trumpets and cymbals and other musical instruments, in praise to the Lord, [p] “For he is good,

for his steadfast love endures forever,”

the house, the house of the Lord, was filled with a cloud, [14]so that the priests could not stand to minister because of the cloud, [q] for the glory of the Lord filled the house of God.

Solomon Blesses the People

2 CHRONICLES 6 [†] [r] Then Solomon said, “The Lord has said that he would dwell in thick darkness. [2]But I have built you [s] an exalted house, a place for you to dwell in forever.” [3][†]Then the king turned around and blessed all the assembly of Israel, while all the assembly of Israel stood. [4]And he said, “Blessed be the Lord, the God of Israel, who with his hand has fulfilled what he promised with his mouth to David my father, saying, [5]‘Since the day that I brought my people out of the land of Egypt, I chose no city out of all the tribes of Israel in which to build a house, that my name might be there, and I chose no man as prince over my people Israel; [6] [t] but I have chosen Jerusalem that my name may be there, [u] and I have chosen David to be over my people Israel.’ [7][†] [v] Now it was in the heart of David my father to build a house for the name of the Lord, the God of Israel. [8]But the Lord said to David my father, ‘Whereas [v] it was in your heart to build a house for my name, you did well that it was in your heart. [9]Nevertheless, it is not you who shall build the house, but your son who shall be born to you shall build the house for my name.’ [10]Now the Lord has fulfilled his promise that he made. For I have risen in the place of David my father and sit on the throne of Israel, as the Lord promised, and I have built the house for the name of the Lord, the God of Israel. [11]And there I have set the ark, [w] in which is the covenant of the Lord that he made with the people of Israel.”

12Then Solomon stood before the altar of the LORD in the presence of all the assembly of Israel and spread out his hands. 13 [x] Solomon had made a bronze platform five cubits [1] long, five cubits wide, and three cubits high, and had set it in the court, and he stood on it. [y] Then he knelt on his knees in the presence of all the assembly of Israel, and spread out his hands toward heaven, 14and said, “O LORD, God of Israel, [z] there is no God like you, in heaven or on earth, [a] keeping covenant and showing steadfast love to your servants who walk before you with all their heart, 15[†] [b] who have kept with your servant David my father what you declared to him. You spoke with your mouth, and with your hand have fulfilled it this day. 16Now therefore, O LORD, God of Israel, keep for your servant David my father what you have promised him, saying, [c] ‘You shall not lack a man to sit before me on the throne of Israel, [d] if only your sons pay close attention to their way, to walk in my law as you have walked before me.’ 17Now therefore, O LORD, God of Israel, let your word be confirmed, which you have spoken to your servant David.

18[†]“But will God indeed dwell with man on the earth? Behold, [e] heaven and the highest heaven cannot contain you, how much less this house that I have built! 19Yet have regard to the prayer of your servant and to his plea, O LORD my God, listening to the cry and to the prayer that your servant prays before you, 20 [f] that your eyes may be open day and night toward this house, the place where you have promised to set your name, that you may listen to the prayer that your servant offers toward this place. 21And listen to the pleas of your servant and of your people Israel, when they pray toward this place. And listen from heaven your dwelling place, [g] and when you hear, forgive.

22[†]“If a man sins against his neighbor and is made to take an oath and comes and swears his oath before your altar in this house, 23then hear from heaven and act and judge your servants, repaying the guilty by bringing his conduct on his own head, and vindicating the righteous by rewarding him according to his righteousness.

24[†]“If your people Israel are defeated before the enemy because they have sinned against you, and they turn again and acknowledge your name and pray and plead with you in this house, 25 [g] then hear from heaven and forgive the sin of your people Israel and bring them again to the land that you gave to them and to their fathers.

26[†] [h] "When heaven is shut up and there is no rain because they have sinned against you, if they pray toward this place and acknowledge your name and turn from their sin, when you afflict [2] them, 27 [g] then hear in heaven and forgive the sin of your servants, your people Israel, when you teach them the good way [3] in which they should walk, and grant rain upon your land, which you have given to your people as an inheritance.

28 [i] "If there is famine in the land, if there is pestilence or blight or mildew or locust or caterpillar, if their enemies besiege them in the land at their gates, whatever plague, whatever sickness there is, 29 whatever prayer, whatever plea is made by any man or by all your people Israel, each knowing his own affliction and his own sorrow and stretching out his hands toward this house, 30 [g] then hear from heaven your dwelling place and forgive and render to each whose heart you know, according to all his ways, [j] for you, you only, know the hearts of the children of mankind, 31 that they may fear you and walk in your ways all the days that they live in the land that you gave to our fathers.

32[†] "Likewise, when a foreigner, who is not of your people Israel, comes from a far country for the sake of your great name and your mighty hand and your outstretched arm, when he comes and prays toward this house, 33 hear from heaven your dwelling place and do according to all for which the foreigner calls to you, in order that all the peoples of the earth may know your name and fear you, as do your people Israel, and that they may know that this house [k] that I have built is called by your name.

34 "If your people go out to battle against their enemies, by whatever way you shall send them, and they pray to you toward this city that you have chosen and the house that I have built for your name, 35 then hear from heaven their prayer and their plea, and maintain their cause.

36[†] "If they sin against you— [l] for there is no one who does not sin—and you are angry with them and give them to an enemy, so that they are carried away captive to a land far or near, 37 yet if they turn their heart in the land to which they have been carried captive, and repent and plead with you in the land of their captivity, saying, 'We have sinned and have acted perversely and wickedly,' 38 if they repent with all their mind and with all their heart in the land of their captivity to which they were carried captive, and pray toward their land, which you gave to their fathers, the city that you have chosen and the house that I have built for your name, [39]then hear from heaven your dwelling place their prayer and their pleas, and maintain their cause and forgive your people who have sinned against you. [40]Now, O my God, [m] let your eyes be open [n] and your ears attentive to the prayer of this place.

[41][†] "And now arise, O LORD God, and go to your [o] resting place, you and the ark of your might.
Let your priests, O LORD God, be [p] clothed with salvation, and let your saints [q] rejoice in your goodness.
[42] O LORD God, [r] do not turn away the face of your anointed one!
[s] Remember your steadfast love for David your servant."

Fire from Heaven

2 CHRONICLES 7 [†] [t] As soon as Solomon finished his prayer, [u] fire came down from heaven and consumed the burnt offering and the sacrifices, [v] and the glory of the LORD filled the temple. [2]And the priests could not enter the house of the LORD, because the glory of the LORD filled the LORD's house. [3]When all the people of Israel saw the fire come down and the glory of the LORD on the temple, they bowed down with their faces to the ground on the pavement and worshiped and gave thanks to the LORD, saying, "For he is good, [w] for his steadfast love endures forever."

The Dedication of the Temple

[4] [x] Then the king and all the people offered sacrifice before the LORD. [5]King Solomon offered as a sacrifice 22,000 oxen and 120,000 sheep. So the king and all the people dedicated the house of God. [6]The priests stood at their posts; [y] the Levites also, with the instruments for music to the LORD that King David had made for giving thanks to the LORD—[w] for his steadfast love endures forever—whenever David offered praises by their ministry; [1] [z] opposite them the priests sounded trumpets, and all Israel stood.

[7] [a] And Solomon consecrated the middle of the court that was before the house of the LORD, for there he offered the burnt offering and the fat of the peace offerings, because the bronze altar Solomon had made could not hold the burnt offering and the grain offering and the fat.

[8][†]At that time Solomon held the feast for seven days, and all Israel with him, a very great assembly, from [b] Lebo-hamath to the [c] Brook of Egypt. [9]And on the eighth day they held a solemn assembly, for they had kept the dedication of the altar seven days and the feast seven days. [10]On the twenty-third day of the seventh month he sent the people away to their homes, joyful and glad of heart for the prosperity that the LORD had granted to David and to Solomon and to Israel his people.

If My People Pray

[11][†] [d] Thus Solomon finished the house of the LORD and the king's house. All that Solomon had planned to do in the house of the LORD and in his own house he successfully accomplished. [12][†]Then the LORD appeared to Solomon in the night and said to him: "I have heard your prayer [e] and have chosen this place for myself as a house of sacrifice. [13] [f] When I shut up the heavens so that there is no rain, or command the locust to devour the land, or send pestilence among my people, [14][†]if my people who are called by my name [g] humble themselves, and pray and seek my face and turn from their wicked ways, then I will hear from heaven and will forgive their sin and heal their land. [15] [h] Now my eyes will be open and my ears attentive to the prayer that is made in this place. [16] [e] For now I have chosen and consecrated this house that my name may be there forever. My eyes and my heart will be there for all time. [17][†]And as for you, if you will walk before me as David your father walked, doing according to all that I have commanded you and keeping my statutes and my rules, [18]then I will establish your royal throne, as I covenanted with David your father, saying, [i] 'You shall not lack a man to rule Israel.'

[19][†] [j] "But if you [2] turn aside and forsake my statutes and my commandments that I have set before you, and go and serve other gods and worship them, [20] [k] then I will pluck you [3] up from my land that I have given you, and this house that I have consecrated for my name, I will cast out of my sight, and I will make it [l] a proverb and a byword among all peoples. [21]And at this house, which was exalted, everyone passing by will be astonished and say, [m] 'Why has the LORD done thus to this land and to this house?' [22]Then they will say, 'Because they abandoned the LORD, the God of their fathers who brought them out of the land of Egypt, and laid hold on other gods and worshiped them and served them. Therefore he has brought all this disaster on them.'"

Solomon's Accomplishments

2 CHRONICLES 8 [†] [n] At the end of twenty years, in which Solomon had built the house of the LORD and his own house, [2][†]Solomon rebuilt the cities that Hiram had given to him, and settled the people of Israel in them.

[3][†]And Solomon went to Hamath-zobah and took it. [4]He built Tadmor in the wilderness and all the store cities that he built in Hamath. [5][†]He also built [o] Upper Beth-horon and Lower Beth-horon, [p] fortified cities [p] with walls, gates, and bars, [6]and Baalath, and all the store cities that Solomon had and all the cities for his chariots and the cities for his horsemen, and whatever Solomon desired to build in Jerusalem, in Lebanon, and in all the land of his dominion. [7][†] [q] All the people who were left of the Hittites, the Amorites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites, who were not of Israel, [8]from their descendants who were left after them in the land, whom the people of Israel had not destroyed—these Solomon drafted [r] as forced labor, and so they are to this day. [9]But of the people of Israel Solomon made no slaves for his work; they were soldiers, and his officers, the commanders of his chariots, and his horsemen. [10]And these were the chief officers of King Solomon, 250, who exercised authority over the people.

[11][†] [s] Solomon brought Pharaoh's daughter up from the city of David to the house that he had built for her, for he said, "My wife shall not live in the house of David king of Israel, for the places to which the ark of the LORD has come are holy."

[12]Then Solomon offered up burnt offerings to the LORD on the altar of the LORD [t] that he had built before the vestibule, [13] [u] as the duty of each day required, offering [v] according to the commandment of Moses for the Sabbaths, the new moons, and the [w] three annual feasts—the Feast of Unleavened Bread, the Feast of Weeks, and the Feast of Booths. [14]According to the ruling of David his father, he appointed [x] the divisions of the priests for their service, [y] and the Levites for their offices of praise and [z] ministry before the priests [u] as the duty of each day required, and [a] the gatekeepers in their divisions at each gate, for so David [b] the man of God had commanded. [15]And they did not turn aside from what the king had commanded the priests and Levites concerning any matter and concerning the treasuries.

[16]Thus was accomplished all the work of Solomon from [1] the day the foundation of the house of the LORD was laid until it was finished. So the house of the LORD was completed.

[17][†]Then Solomon went to [c] Ezion-geber and [d] Eloth on the shore of the sea, in the land of Edom. [18]And Hiram sent to him by the hand of his servants ships and servants familiar with the sea, and they went to Ophir together with the servants of Solomon and brought from there [e] 450 talents [2] of gold and brought it to King Solomon.

The Queen of Sheba

2 CHRONICLES 9 [†][f]Now when [g] the queen of Sheba heard of the fame of Solomon, she came to Jerusalem to test him with hard questions, having a very great retinue and camels bearing spices and very much gold and precious stones. And when she came to Solomon, she told him all that was on her mind. [2]And Solomon answered all her questions. There was nothing hidden from Solomon that he could not explain to her. [3]And when [g] the queen of Sheba had seen the wisdom of Solomon, the house that he had built, [4]the food of his table, the seating of his officials, and the attendance of his servants, and their clothing, his cupbearers, and their clothing, and his burnt offerings that he offered at the house of the LORD, there was no more breath in her.

[5]And she said to the king, “The report was true that I heard in my own land of your words and of your wisdom, [6]but I did not believe the [1] reports until I came and my own eyes had seen it. And behold, half the greatness of your wisdom was not told me; you surpass the report that I heard. [7][†]Happy are your wives! [2] Happy are these your servants, who continually stand before you and hear your wisdom! [8]Blessed be the LORD your God, who has delighted in you [h] and set you on his throne as king for the LORD your God! [i] Because your God loved Israel and would establish them forever, he has made you king over them, that you may execute justice and righteousness.” [9][†]Then she gave the king 120 talents [3] of gold, and a very great quantity of spices, and precious stones. There were no spices such as those that the queen of Sheba gave to King Solomon.

[10]Moreover, the servants of Hiram and the servants of Solomon, [j] who brought gold from Ophir, brought algum wood and precious stones. [11]And the king made from the algum wood [k] supports for the house of the LORD and for the king’s house, lyres also and harps for the singers. There never was seen the like of them before in the land of Judah.

[12]And King Solomon gave to the queen of Sheba all that she desired, whatever she asked [l] besides what she had brought to the king. So she turned and went back to her own land with her servants.

Solomon’s Wealth

[13][†] [m] Now the weight of gold that came to Solomon in one year was 666 talents of gold, [14]besides that which the explorers and merchants brought. [n] And all the kings of Arabia and the governors of the land brought gold and silver to Solomon. [15][†]King Solomon made 200 large shields of beaten gold; 600 shekels [4] of beaten gold went into each shield. [16]And he made 300 shields of beaten gold; [o] 300 shekels of gold went into each shield; and the king put them in the House of the Forest of Lebanon. [17]The king also made a great ivory throne and overlaid it with pure gold. [18]The throne had six steps and a footstool of gold, which were attached to the throne, and on each side of the seat were armrests and two lions standing beside the armrests, [19]while twelve lions stood there, one on each end of a step on the six steps. Nothing like it was ever made for any kingdom. [20]All King Solomon’s drinking vessels were of gold, and all the vessels of the House of the Forest of Lebanon were of pure gold. Silver was not considered as anything in the days of Solomon. [21][†]For the king’s ships went to [p] Tarshish with the servants of Hiram. Once every three years the ships of Tarshish used to come bringing gold, silver, ivory, apes, and peacocks. [5]

[22]Thus King Solomon [q] excelled all the kings of the earth in riches and in wisdom. [23]And all the kings of the earth sought the presence of Solomon to hear his wisdom, which God had put into his mind. [24]Every one of them brought his present, articles of silver and of gold, garments, myrrh, spices, horses, and mules, so much year by year. [25]And Solomon had [r] 4,000 stalls for horses and chariots, and 12,000 horsemen, whom he stationed in the chariot cities and with the king in Jerusalem. [26] [s] And he ruled over all the kings [t] from the Euphrates [6] to the land of the Philistines and to the border of Egypt. [27] [u] And the king made silver as common in Jerusalem as stone, and he made cedar as plentiful as the sycamore of the Shephelah. [28] [v] And horses were imported for Solomon from Egypt and from all lands.

Solomon’s Death

[29][†] [w] Now the rest of the acts of Solomon, from [x] first to last, are they not written in the history of [y] Nathan the prophet, and in the prophecy of [z] Ahijah the Shilonite, and in the visions of [a] Iddo [b] the seer concerning Jeroboam the son of Nebat? [30]Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel forty years. [31]And Solomon slept with his fathers and was buried in [c] the city of David his father, and Rehoboam his son reigned in his place.

The Revolt Against Rehoboam

2 CHRONICLES 10 [†] [d] Rehoboam went to Shechem, for all Israel had come to Shechem to make him king. [2][†]And as soon as Jeroboam the son of Nebat heard of it (for he was in Egypt, [e] where he had fled from King Solomon), then Jeroboam returned from Egypt. [3]And they sent and called him. And Jeroboam and all Israel came and said to Rehoboam, [4][†] [f] “Your father made our yoke heavy. Now therefore lighten the hard service of your father and his heavy yoke on us, and we will serve you.” [5]He said to them, “Come to me again in three days.” So the people went away.

they will be your servants forever.” [8]But he abandoned the counsel that the old men gave him, and took counsel with the young men who had grown up with him and stood before him. [9]And he said to them, “What do you advise that we answer this people who have said to me, ‘Lighten the yoke that your father put on us’?” [10][†]And the young men who had grown up with him said to him, “Thus shall you speak to the people who said to you, ‘Your father made our yoke heavy, but you lighten it for us’; thus shall you say to them, ‘My little finger is thicker than my father’s thighs. [11]And now, whereas my father laid on you a heavy yoke, I will add to your yoke. My father disciplined you with whips, but I will discipline you with scorpions.’”

[12]So Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the king said, “Come to me again the third day.” [13]And the king answered them harshly; and forsaking the counsel of the old men, [14]King Rehoboam spoke to them according to the counsel of the young men, saying, “My father made your yoke heavy, but I will add to it. My father disciplined you with whips, but I will discipline you with scorpions.” [15]So the king did not listen to the people, for it was a turn of affairs brought about by God that the LORD might fulfill his word, [h]which he spoke by Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam the son of Nebat.

[16][†]And when all Israel saw that the king did not listen to them, the people answered the king, “What portion have we in David? We have no inheritance in the son of Jesse. [i]Each of you to your tents, O Israel! Look now to your own house, David.” So all Israel went to their tents. [17]But Rehoboam reigned over the people of Israel who lived in the cities of Judah. [18][†]Then King Rehoboam sent [j]Hadoram, [2] who was taskmaster over the forced labor, and the people of Israel stoned him to death with stones. And King Rehoboam quickly mounted his chariot to flee to Jerusalem. [19]So Israel has been in rebellion against the house of David to this day.

Rehoboam Secures His Kingdom

2 CHRONICLES 11 [†] [k]When Rehoboam came to Jerusalem, he assembled the house of Judah and Benjamin, 180,000 chosen warriors, to fight against Israel, to restore the kingdom to Rehoboam. [2]But the word of the LORD came to [l] Shemaiah the man of God: [3]“Say to Rehoboam the son of Solomon, king of Judah, and to all Israel in Judah and Benjamin, [4][†]‘Thus says the LORD, You shall not go up or fight against [m] your relatives. Return every man to his home, for this thing is from me.’” So they listened to the word of the LORD and returned and did not go against Jeroboam.

[5][†]Rehoboam lived in Jerusalem, and he built [n] cities for defense in Judah. [6]He built Bethlehem, Etam, Tekoa, [7]Beth-zur, Soco, Adullam, [8]Gath, [o] Mareshah, Ziph, [9]Adoraim, Lachish, Azekah, [10]Zorah, Aijalon, and Hebron, fortified cities that are in Judah and in Benjamin. [11]He made the fortresses strong, and put commanders in them, and stores of food, oil, and wine. [12]And he put shields and spears in all the cities and made them very strong. So he held Judah and Benjamin.

Priests and Levites Come to Jerusalem

[13][†]And the priests and the Levites who were in all Israel presented themselves to him from all places where they lived. [14]For the Levites left [p] their common lands and their holdings and came to Judah and Jerusalem, [q] because Jeroboam and his sons cast them out from serving as priests of the LORD, [15]and he appointed his own [r] priests for the high places and for the goat idols and for [s] the calves that he had made. [16] [t] And those who had set their hearts to seek the LORD God of Israel came after them from all the tribes of Israel to Jerusalem to sacrifice to the LORD, the God of their fathers. [17][†] [u] They strengthened the kingdom of Judah, and for three years they made Rehoboam the son of Solomon secure, for they walked for three years in the way of David and Solomon.

Rehoboam’s Family

[18][†]Rehoboam took as wife Mahalath the daughter of Jerimoth the son of David, and of Abihail the daughter of [v] Eliab the son of Jesse, [19]and she bore him sons, Jeush, Shemariah, and Zaham. [20]After her he took [w] Maacah the daughter of Absalom, who bore him [x] Abijah, Attai, Ziza, and Shelomith. [21]Rehoboam loved Maacah the daughter of Absalom above all his wives and concubines (he took eighteen wives and sixty concubines, and fathered twenty-eight sons and sixty daughters). 22 [y] And Rehoboam appointed [x] Abijah the son of Maacah as chief prince among his brothers, for he intended to make him king. 23 And he dealt wisely and distributed some of his sons through all the districts of Judah and Benjamin, in all the fortified cities, and he gave them abundant provisions and procured wives for them. [1]

Egypt Plunders Jerusalem

2 CHRONICLES 12 [†] [z] When the rule of Rehoboam was established [a] and he was strong, [b] he abandoned the law of the LORD, and all Israel with him. 2 [†] [c] In the fifth year of King Rehoboam, because they had been unfaithful to the LORD, [d] Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem 3 with 1,200 chariots and 60,000 horsemen. And the people were without number who came with him from Egypt—[e] Libyans, Sukkiim, and Ethiopians. 4 And he took [f] the fortified cities of Judah and came as far as Jerusalem. 5 [†] Then [g] Shemaiah the prophet came to Rehoboam and to the princes of Judah, who had gathered at Jerusalem because of Shishak, and said to them, “Thus says the LORD, [h] ‘You abandoned me, so I have abandoned you to the hand of Shishak.’” 6 [†] Then the princes of [i] Israel and the king humbled themselves and said, [j] “The LORD is righteous.” 7 When the LORD saw that they humbled themselves, the word of the LORD came to Shemaiah: [k] “They have humbled themselves. I will not destroy them, but I will grant them some deliverance, [l] and my wrath shall not be poured out on Jerusalem by the hand of Shishak. 8 Nevertheless, they shall be servants to him, [m] that they may know my service and the service of the kingdoms of the countries.”

9 [†] [n] So Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem. He took away the treasures of the house of the LORD and the treasures of the king’s house. He took away everything. He also took away [o] the shields of gold that Solomon had made, 10 and King Rehoboam made in their place shields of bronze and committed them to the hands of the officers of the guard, who kept the door of the king’s house. 11 And as often as the king went into the house of the LORD, the guard came and carried them and brought them back to the guardroom. 12 [†] And when [p] he humbled himself the wrath of the LORD turned from him, so as not to make a complete destruction. Moreover, [q] conditions were good [1] in Judah.

13 [r] So King Rehoboam grew strong in Jerusalem and reigned. Rehoboam was forty-one years old when he began to reign, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city that the LORD had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel to put his name there. His mother's name was Naamah the Ammonite. 14[†]And he did evil, [s] for he did not set his heart to seek the LORD.

15[†] [t] Now the acts of Rehoboam, [u] from first to last, are they not written in the chronicles of [v] Shemaiah the prophet and of [w] Iddo [x] the seer? [2] There were continual wars between Rehoboam and Jeroboam. 16And Rehoboam slept with his fathers and was buried in the city of David, and [y] Abijah [3] his son reigned in his place.

Abijah Reigns in Judah

2 CHRONICLES 13 [†] [z]In the eighteenth year of King Jeroboam, [y]Abijah began to reign over Judah. 2[†]He reigned for three years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was [a]Micaiah [1] the daughter of Uriel of Gibeah.

8[†]"And now you think to withstand the kingdom of the LORD in the hand of the sons of David, because you are a great multitude and have with you [k]the golden calves that Jeroboam made you for gods. 9 [l]Have you not driven out the priests of the LORD, the sons of Aaron, and the Levites, and made priests for yourselves like the peoples of other lands? Whoever comes [m]for ordination [3] with a young bull or seven rams becomes a priest of what are [n]no gods. 10But as for us, the LORD is our God, and we have not forsaken him. We have priests ministering to the LORD who are sons of Aaron, and Levites for their service. 11They offer to the LORD [o]every morning and every evening burnt offerings and incense of sweet spices, set out [p]the showbread on the table of pure gold, [q]and care for the golden lampstand that its lamps may [r]burn every evening. For we [s]keep the charge of the LORD our God, but you have forsaken him. 12Behold, God is with us at our head, and his priests [t]with their battle trumpets to sound the call to battle against you. O sons of Israel, [u]do not fight against the LORD, the God of your fathers, for you cannot succeed."

13[†]Jeroboam had sent [v]an ambush around to come upon them from behind. Thus his troops [4] were in front of Judah, and the ambush was behind them. [14]And when Judah looked, behold, the battle was in front of and behind them. [w]And they cried to the LORD, and the priests [t]blew the trumpets. [15]Then the men of Judah raised the battle shout. And when the men of Judah shouted, [x]God defeated Jeroboam and all Israel before Abijah and Judah. [16]The men of Israel fled before Judah, [y]and God gave them into their hand. [17]Abijah and his people struck them with great force, so there fell slain of Israel 500,000 chosen men. [18]Thus the men of Israel were subdued at that time, and the men of Judah prevailed, [z]because they relied on the LORD, the God of their fathers. [19]And Abijah pursued Jeroboam [a]and took cities from him, Bethel with its villages and Jeshanah with its villages and [b]Ephron [5] with its villages. [20]Jeroboam did not recover his power in the days of Abijah. [c]And the LORD struck him down, [d]and he died. [21][†]But Abijah grew mighty. And he took fourteen wives and had twenty-two sons and sixteen daughters. [22][†]The rest of the acts of Abijah, his ways and his sayings, are written in the [e]story of the prophet [f]Iddo.

2 CHRONICLES 14 [1] [g]Abijah slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David. And Asa his son reigned in his place. In his days the land had rest for ten years. [2][†] [2] And Asa did what was good and right in the eyes of the LORD his God. [3]He took away the foreign altars [h]and the high places and broke down [i]the pillars and cut down the [j]Asherim [4]and commanded Judah to seek the LORD, the God of their fathers, and to keep the law and the commandment. [5]He also took out of all the cities of Judah [h]the high places and the [k]incense altars. And the kingdom had rest under him. [6]He built [l]fortified cities in Judah, for the land had rest. He had no war in those years, [m]for the LORD gave him peace. [7]And he said to Judah, “Let us build these cities and surround them with [n]walls and towers, gates and bars. The land is still ours, because we have sought the LORD our God. We have sought him, [m]and he has given us peace on every side.” So they built and prospered. [8]And Asa had an army of [o]300,000 from Judah, armed with large shields and spears, and 280,000 men from Benjamin that carried shields and drew bows. All these were mighty men of valor.

[9][†]Zerah [p]the Ethiopian came out against them with an army of a million men and 300 chariots, and came as far as [q]Mareshah. [10]And Asa went out to meet him, and [r]they drew up their lines of battle in the Valley of Zephathah at [q]Mareshah. [11]And Asa [s]cried to the LORD his God, “O LORD, there is none like you to help, between the mighty and the weak. Help us, O LORD our God, [t]for we rely on you, [u]and in your name we have come against this multitude. O LORD, you are our God; let not man prevail against you.” [12][v]So the LORD defeated the Ethiopians before Asa and before Judah, and the Ethiopians fled. [13]Asa and the people who were with him pursued them as far as [w]Gerar, and the Ethiopians fell until none remained alive, for they were broken before the LORD and his army. The men of Judah [3] carried away very much spoil. [14]And they attacked all the cities around [w]Gerar, [x]for the fear of the LORD was upon them. They plundered all the cities, for there was much plunder in them. [15]And they struck down the tents of those who had livestock and carried away sheep in abundance and camels. Then they returned to Jerusalem.

Asa’s Religious Reforms

2 CHRONICLES 15 [†] [y]The Spirit of God came upon Azariah the son of Oded, [2]and he went out to meet Asa and said to him, “Hear me, Asa, and all Judah and Benjamin: [z]The LORD is with you while you are with him. [a]If you seek him, he will be found by you, [b]but if you forsake him, he will forsake you. [3][c]For a long time Israel was without the true God, and without a teaching priest and without law, [4][d]but when in their distress they turned to the LORD, the God of Israel, and sought him, he was found by them. [5]In those times there was no peace [e]to him who went out or to him who came in, for great disturbances afflicted all the inhabitants of the lands. [6]They were broken in pieces. Nation was crushed by nation and city by city, for God troubled them with every sort of distress. [7][f]But you, take courage! Do not let your hands be weak, [g]for your work shall be rewarded.”

[8][†]As soon as Asa heard these words, [h]the prophecy of Azariah the son of Oded, he took courage and put away the detestable idols from all the land of Judah and Benjamin and from [i]the cities that he had taken in [j]the hill country of Ephraim, and he repaired the altar of the LORD [k]that was in front of the vestibule of the house of the LORD. [1] [9]And he gathered all Judah and Benjamin, [l]and those from Ephraim, Manasseh, and Simeon who were residing with them, for great numbers had deserted to him from Israel when they saw that the LORD his God was with him. [10][†]They were gathered at Jerusalem in the third month of the fifteenth year of the reign of Asa.

[11]They sacrificed to the LORD on that day [m]from the spoil that they had brought 700 oxen and 7,000 sheep. [12][†] [n]And they entered into a covenant to seek the LORD, the God of their fathers, with all their heart and with all their soul, [13][†]but that whoever would not seek the LORD, the God of Israel, [o]should be put to death, whether young or old, man or woman.
[14]They swore an oath to the LORD with a loud voice and with shouting and with trumpets and with horns. [15]And all Judah rejoiced over the oath, for they had sworn with all their heart and had sought him with their whole desire, and he was found by them, [p]and the LORD gave them rest all around.

[16][†] [q]Even Maacah, [r]his mother, King Asa removed from being queen mother because she had made a detestable image [s]for Asherah. Asa cut down her image, [t]crushed it, and burned it at the brook Kidron. [17][†] [u]But the high places were not taken out of Israel. Nevertheless, the heart of Asa was wholly true all his days. [18]And he brought into the house of God the sacred gifts of his father and his own sacred gifts, silver, and gold, and vessels. [19]And there was no more war until the thirty-fifth year of the reign of Asa.

Asa’s Last Years

2 CHRONICLES 16 [†] [v]In the [w]thirty-sixth year of the reign of Asa, Baasha king of Israel went up against Judah and built Ramah, [x]that he might permit no one to go out or come in to Asa king of Judah. [2][†]Then Asa took silver and gold from the treasures of the house of the LORD and the king’s house and sent them to Ben-hadad king of Syria, who lived in Damascus, saying, [3]“There is a covenant [1] between me and you, as there was between my father and your father. Behold, I am sending to you silver and gold. Go, break your covenant with Baasha king of Israel, that he may withdraw from me.” [4]And Ben-hadad listened to King Asa and sent the commanders of his armies against the cities of Israel, and they conquered Ijon, Dan, Abel-maim, and all the [y] store cities of Naphtali. [5]And when Baasha heard of it, he stopped building Ramah and let his work cease. [6]Then King Asa took all Judah, and they carried away the stones of Ramah and its timber, with which Baasha had been building, and with them he built Geba and Mizpah.

[7][†]At that time [z] Hanani [a] the seer came to Asa king of Judah and said to him, [b] “Because you relied on the king of Syria, and did not rely on the LORD your God, the army of the king of Syria has escaped you. [8]Were not [c] the Ethiopians and [d] the Libyans a huge army with very many chariots and horsemen? Yet [e] because you relied on the LORD, he gave them into your hand. [9][f] For the eyes of the LORD run to and fro throughout the whole earth, to give strong support to those [g] whose heart is blameless [2] toward him. [h] You have done foolishly in this, for from now on [i] you will have wars.” [10][†]Then Asa was angry with the seer and put him [j] in the stocks in prison, for he was in a rage with him because of this. And Asa inflicted cruelties upon some of the people at the same time.

[11][†] [k] The acts of Asa, from first to last, are written in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel. [12]In the thirty-ninth year of his reign Asa was diseased in his feet, and his disease became severe. Yet even in his disease he did not seek the LORD, but sought help from physicians. [13][†]And Asa slept with his fathers, dying in the forty-first year of his reign. [14]They buried him in the tomb that he had cut for himself in the city of David. They laid him on a bier [l] that had been filled with various kinds of spices prepared by the perfumer’s art, [m] and they made a very great fire in his honor.

Jehoshaphat Reigns in Judah

2 CHRONICLES 17 [†]Jehoshaphat his son reigned in his place and strengthened himself against Israel. [2]He placed forces in all the [n] fortified cities of Judah and set garrisons in the land of Judah, and in the cities of Ephraim [o] that Asa his father had captured. [3]The LORD was with Jehoshaphat, because he walked in the earlier ways of his father David. He did not seek the Baals, [4]but sought the God of his father and walked in his commandments, [p] and not according to the practices of Israel. [5]Therefore the LORD established the kingdom in his hand. And all Judah [q] brought tribute to Jehoshaphat, [r] and he had great riches and honor. [6]His heart was courageous in the ways of the LORD. And furthermore, [s] he took the high places and the Asherim out of Judah.

[7][†]In the third year of his reign he sent his officials, Ben-hail, Obadiah, Zechariah, Nethanel, and Micaiah, [t] to teach in the cities of Judah; [8] [u] and with them the Levites, Shemaiah, Nethaniah, Zebadiah, Asahel, Shemiramoth, Jehonathan, Adonijah, Tobijah, and Tobadonijah; and with these Levites, the priests Elishama and Jehoram. [9]And [t] they taught in Judah, having the Book of the Law of the LORD with them. They went about through all the cities of Judah and taught among the people.

[10][†] [v] And the fear of the LORD fell upon all the kingdoms of the lands that were around Judah, and they made no war against Jehoshaphat. [11]Some of the Philistines [w] brought Jehoshaphat presents and silver for tribute, and the Arabians also brought him 7,700 rams and 7,700 goats. [12][†]And Jehoshaphat grew steadily greater. He built in Judah fortresses and store cities, [13]and he had large supplies in the cities of Judah. He had soldiers, mighty men of valor, in Jerusalem. [14]This was the muster of them by fathers’ houses: Of Judah, the commanders of thousands: Adnah the commander, with 300,000 mighty men of valor; [15]and next to him Jehohanan the commander, with 280,000; [16]and next to him Amasiah the son of Zichri, [x] a volunteer for the service of the LORD, with 200,000 mighty men of valor. [17]Of Benjamin: Eliada, a mighty man of valor, with 200,000 men [y] armed with bow and shield; [18]and next to him Jehozabad with 180,000 armed for war. [19]These were in the service of the king, besides [z] those whom the king had placed in the fortified cities throughout all Judah.

Jehoshaphat Allies with Ahab

2 CHRONICLES 18 [†]Now Jehoshaphat [a] had great riches and honor, [b] and he made a marriage alliance with Ahab. [2] [c] After some years he went down to Ahab in Samaria. And Ahab killed an abundance of sheep and oxen for him and for the people who were with him, and induced him to go up against Ramoth-gilead. [3][†]Ahab king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat king of Judah, “Will you go with me to Ramoth-gilead?” He answered him, “I am as you are, my people as your people. We will be with you in the war.”

[4][†]And Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, “Inquire first for the word of the LORD.” [5]Then the king of Israel gathered the prophets together, four hundred men, and said to them, “Shall we go to battle against Ramoth-gilead, or shall I refrain?” And they said, “Go up, for God will give it into the hand of the king.” [6]But Jehoshaphat said, “Is there not here another prophet of the LORD of whom we may inquire?” [7]And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “There is yet one man by whom we may inquire of the LORD, Micaiah the son of Imlah; but I hate him, for he never prophesies good concerning me, but always evil.” And Jehoshaphat said, “Let not the king say so.” [8]Then the king of Israel summoned an officer and said, “Bring quickly Micaiah the son of Imlah.” [9][†]Now the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah were sitting on their thrones, arrayed in their robes. And they were sitting at the threshing floor [d]at the entrance of the gate of Samaria, and all the prophets were prophesying before them. [10]And Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah made for himself horns of iron and said, “Thus says the LORD, ‘With these you shall push the Syrians until they are destroyed.’” [11]And all the prophets prophesied so and said, “Go up to Ramoth-gilead and triumph. The LORD will give it into the hand of the king.”

[12]And the messenger who went to summon Micaiah said to him, “Behold, the words of the prophets with one accord are favorable to the king. Let your word be like the word of one of them, and speak favorably.” [13]But Micaiah said, [e]“As the LORD lives, [f]what my God says, that I will speak.” [14][†]And when he had come to the king, the king said to him, “Micaiah, shall we go to Ramoth-gilead to battle, or shall I refrain?” And he answered, “Go up and triumph; they will be given into your hand.” [15][†]But the king said to him, “How many times shall I make you swear that you speak to me nothing but the truth in the name of the LORD?” [16]And he said, “I saw all Israel scattered on the mountains, [g]as sheep that have no shepherd. And the LORD said, ‘These have no master; let each return to his home in peace.’” [17]And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “Did I not tell you that he would not prophesy good concerning me, but evil?” [18]And

Micaiah said, “Therefore hear the word of the LORD: [h] I saw the LORD sitting on his throne, and all the host of heaven standing on his right hand and on his left. [19]And the LORD said, ‘Who will entice Ahab the king of Israel, that he may go up and fall at Ramoth-gilead?’ And one said one thing, and another said another. [20]Then a spirit came forward and stood before the LORD, saying, ‘I will entice him.’ And the LORD said to him, ‘By what means?’ [21]And he said, ‘I will go out, and will be [i] a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.’ And he said, ‘You are to entice him, and you shall succeed; go out and do so.’ [22]Now therefore behold, the LORD has put a lying spirit in the mouth of these your prophets. The LORD has declared disaster concerning you.”

[23][†]Then Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah came near [j] and struck Micaiah on the cheek and said, “Which way did the Spirit of the LORD go from me to speak to you?” [24][†]And Micaiah said, “Behold, you shall see on that day when you go into an inner chamber to hide yourself.” [25][†]And the king of Israel said, “Seize Micaiah and take him back to Amon [k] the governor of the city and to Joash the king’s son, [26]and say, ‘Thus says the king, [l] Put this fellow in prison and feed him with meager rations of bread and water until I return in peace.’” [27]And Micaiah said, “If you return in peace, the LORD has not spoken by me.” And he said, [m] “Hear, all you peoples!”

The Defeat and Death of Ahab

[28][†]So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah went up to Ramoth-gilead. [29]And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “I will disguise myself and go into battle, but you wear your robes.” And the king of Israel disguised himself, and they went into battle. [30]Now the king of Syria had commanded the captains of his chariots, “Fight with neither small nor great, but only with the king of Israel.” [31]As soon as the captains of the chariots saw Jehoshaphat, they said, “It is the king of Israel.” So they turned to fight against him. And Jehoshaphat cried out, and the LORD helped him; God drew them away from him. [32]For as soon as the captains of the chariots saw that it was not the king of Israel, they turned back from pursuing him. [33]But a certain man drew his bow at random [1] and struck the king of Israel between the scale armor and the breastplate. Therefore he said to the driver of his chariot, “Turn around and carry me out of the battle, for I am wounded.” [34]And the battle continued that day, and the king of Israel was propped up in his chariot facing the Syrians until evening. Then at sunset he died.

Jehoshaphat’s Reforms

2 CHRONICLES 19 [†]Jehoshaphat the king of Judah returned in safety to his house in Jerusalem. [2]But [n] Jehu the son of [o] Hanani [p] the seer went out to meet him and said to King Jehoshaphat, “Should you [q] help the wicked and love those who hate the LORD? Because of this, [r] wrath has gone out against you from the LORD. [3]Nevertheless, [s] some good is found in you, for [t] you destroyed the Asheroth out of the land, and have [u] set your heart to seek God.”

[4][†]Jehoshaphat lived at Jerusalem. And he went out again among the people, from Beersheba to [v] the hill country of Ephraim, and brought them back to the LORD, the God of their fathers. [5][†]He appointed [w] judges in the land in all [x] the fortified cities of Judah, city by city, [6]and said to the judges, “Consider what you do, [y] for you judge not for man but for the LORD. He is with you in giving judgment. [7]Now then, let the fear of the LORD be upon you. Be careful what you do, for [z] there is no injustice with the LORD our God, [a] or partiality or taking bribes.”

[8][†]Moreover, in Jerusalem Jehoshaphat [b] appointed certain Levites and priests and heads of families of Israel, [y] to give judgment for the LORD and to decide disputed cases. They had their seat at Jerusalem. [9]And he charged them: [c] “Thus you shall do in the fear of the LORD, in faithfulness, [d] and with your whole heart: [10] [e] whenever a case comes to you from your brothers who live in their cities, concerning bloodshed, law or commandment, statutes or rules, then you shall warn them, that they may not incur guilt before the LORD and [f] wrath may not come upon you and your brothers. Thus you shall do, and you will not incur guilt. [11]And behold, Amariah the chief priest is over you [g] in all matters of the LORD; and Zebadiah the son of Ishmael, the governor of the house of Judah, in all the king's matters, and the Levites will serve you as officers. [h] Deal courageously, and may the LORD be with the upright!" [1]

Jehoshaphat's Prayer

2 CHRONICLES 20 [†]After this [i] the Moabites and Ammonites, and with them some of the Meunites, [1] came against Jehoshaphat for battle. 2Some men came and told Jehoshaphat, "A great multitude is coming against you from Edom, [2] from beyond the sea; and, behold, they are in [j] Hazazon-tamar" (that is, [k] Engedi). 3[†]Then Jehoshaphat was afraid and set his face [l] to seek the LORD, and [m] proclaimed a fast throughout all Judah. 4And Judah assembled to seek help from the LORD; from all the cities of Judah they came to seek the LORD.

5And Jehoshaphat stood in the assembly of Judah and Jerusalem, in the house of the LORD, before the new court, 6and said, "O LORD, God of our fathers, are you not [n] God in heaven? You [o] rule over all the kingdoms of the nations. [p] In your hand are power and might, so that none is able to withstand you. 7Did you not, our God, [q] drive out the inhabitants of this land before your people Israel, and give it forever to the descendants of [r] Abraham your friend? 8And they have lived in it and have built for you in it a sanctuary for your name, saying, 9 [s] 'If disaster comes upon us, the sword, judgment, [3] or pestilence, or famine, [t] we will stand before this house and before you—[u] for your name is in this house—and cry out to you in our affliction, and you will hear and save.' 10And now behold, the men of [v] Ammon and Moab and [w] Mount Seir, whom [x] you would not let Israel invade when they came from the land of Egypt, [y] and whom they avoided and did not destroy— 11behold, they reward us [z] by coming to drive us out of your possession, which you have given us to inherit. 12O our God, will you not [a] execute judgment on them? For we are powerless against this great horde that is coming against us. We do not know what to do, but [b] our eyes are on you."

13Meanwhile all Judah stood before the LORD, with their little ones, their wives, and their children. 14[†]And [c] the Spirit of the LORD came upon Jahaziel the son of Zechariah, son of Benaiah, son of Jeiel, son of Mattaniah, a Levite of the sons of Asaph, in the midst of the assembly.

[15]And he said, “Listen, all Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem and King Jehoshaphat: Thus says the LORD to you, [d]‘Do not be afraid and do not be dismayed at this great horde, [e]for the battle is not yours but God’s.
[16]Tomorrow go down against them. Behold, they will come up by the ascent of Ziz. You will find them at the end of [f]the valley, east of the wilderness of Jeruel. [17][g]You will not need to fight in this battle. Stand firm, hold your position, and see the salvation of the LORD on your behalf, O Judah and Jerusalem.’ [d]Do not be afraid and do not be dismayed. Tomorrow go out against them, [h]and the LORD will be with you.”

[18]Then Jehoshaphat [i]bowed his head with his face to the ground, and all Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem fell down before the LORD, worshiping the LORD. [19]And the Levites, of the [j]Kohathites and the [k]Korahites, stood up to praise the LORD, the God of Israel, with a very loud voice.

[20][†]And they rose early in the morning and went out into [l]the wilderness of Tekoa. And when they went out, Jehoshaphat stood and said, “Hear me, Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem! [m]Believe in the LORD your God, and you will be established; believe his prophets, and you will succeed.” [21]And when he had taken counsel with the people, he appointed those who were to sing to the LORD and praise him [n]in holy attire, as they went before the army, and say,

[o]“Give thanks to the LORD,
for his steadfast love endures forever.”

[22]And when they began to sing and praise, the LORD set [p]an ambush against the men of [q]Ammon, Moab, and Mount Seir, who had come against Judah, so that they were routed. [23]For the men of Ammon and Moab rose against the inhabitants of Mount Seir, devoting them to destruction, and when they had made an end of the inhabitants of Seir, [r]they all helped to destroy one another.

The Lord Delivers Judah

24[†]When Judah came to the watchtower of the wilderness, they looked toward the horde, and behold, there [4] were dead bodies lying on the ground; none had escaped. 25When Jehoshaphat and his people came to take their spoil, they found among them, in great numbers, goods, clothing, and precious things, which they took for themselves until they could carry no more. They were three days in taking the spoil, it was so much. 26On the fourth day they assembled in the Valley of Beracah, [5] for there they blessed the Lord. Therefore the name of that place has been called the Valley of Beracah to this day. 27Then they returned, every man of Judah and Jerusalem, and Jehoshaphat at their head, returning to Jerusalem with joy, [s] for the Lord had made them rejoice over their enemies. 28They came to Jerusalem with harps and lyres and trumpets, to the house of the Lord. 29 [t] And the fear of God came on all the kingdoms of the countries when they heard that the Lord had fought against the enemies of Israel. 30So the realm of Jehoshaphat was quiet, [u] for his God gave him rest all around.

31[†] [v] Thus Jehoshaphat reigned over Judah. He was thirty-five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned twenty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi. 32He walked in the way of Asa his father and did not turn aside from it, doing what was right in the sight of the Lord. 33 [w] The high places, however, were not taken away; [x] the people had not yet set their hearts upon the God of their fathers.

34Now the rest of the acts of Jehoshaphat, from first to last, are written in the chronicles of [y] Jehu the son of Hanani, [z] which are recorded in the Book of the Kings of Israel.

The End of Jehoshaphat's Reign

35[†] [a] After this Jehoshaphat king of Judah joined with Ahaziah king of Israel, who acted wickedly. 36He joined him in building ships to go to [b] Tarshish, and they built the ships in Ezion-geber. 37Then Eliezer the son of Dodavahu of Mareshah prophesied against Jehoshaphat, saying, [c] "Because you have joined with Ahaziah, the Lord will destroy what you have made." And the ships were wrecked and were not able to go to Tarshish.

Jehoram Reigns in Judah

2 CHRONICLES 21 [†] [d]Jehoshaphat slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of David, and Jehoram his son reigned in his place. [2][†]He had brothers, the sons of Jehoshaphat: Azariah, Jehiel, Zechariah, Azariah, Michael, and Shephatiah; all these were the sons of Jehoshaphat king of [e]Israel. [1] [3]Their father gave them great gifts of silver, gold, and valuable possessions, together with [f]fortified cities in Judah, but he gave the kingdom to Jehoram, because he was the firstborn. [4]When Jehoram had ascended the throne of his father and was established, he killed all his brothers with the sword, and also some of the princes of [e]Israel. [5][g]Jehoram was [h]thirty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem. [6][†][i]And he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, as the house of Ahab had done, for [j]the daughter of Ahab was his wife. And he did what was evil in the sight of the LORD. [7][†]Yet the LORD was not willing to destroy the house of David, because of the covenant that he had made with David, and since he had promised to give [k]a lamp to him and to his sons forever.

[8][†]In his days Edom revolted from the [l]rule of Judah and set up a king of their own. [9]Then Jehoram passed over with his commanders and all his chariots, and he rose by night and struck the Edomites who had surrounded him and his chariot commanders. [10]So Edom revolted from [m]the rule of Judah to this day. At that time Libnah also revolted from his rule, because he had forsaken the LORD, the God of his fathers.

[11][†]Moreover, he made high places in the hill country of Judah and led the inhabitants of Jerusalem [n]into whoredom and made Judah go astray. [12]And a letter came to him from Elijah the prophet, saying, “Thus says the LORD, the God of David your father, [o]‘Because you have not walked in the ways of Jehoshaphat your father, or [p]in the ways of Asa king of Judah, [13][i]but have walked in the way of the kings of Israel and have enticed Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem [n]into whoredom, [q]as the house of Ahab led Israel into whoredom, and also you [r]have killed your brothers, of your father’s house, who were better than you, [14]behold, the LORD will bring a great plague on your people, your children, your wives, and all your possessions, [15]and you yourself will have a severe sickness [s]with a disease of your bowels, until your bowels come out because of the disease, day by day.'"

16 [t] And the LORD stirred up against Jehoram the anger [2] of the Philistines and of [u] the Arabians who are near the Ethiopians. 17 And they came up against Judah and invaded it and carried away all the possessions they found that belonged to the king's house, and also his sons and his wives, so that no son was left to him except [v] Jehoahaz, his youngest son.

18 And after all this the LORD struck him [w] in his bowels with an incurable disease. 19 In the course of time, at the end of two years, his bowels came out because of the disease, and he died in great agony. His people made no fire in his honor, [x] like the fires made for his fathers. 20 [y] He was thirty-two years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem. And he departed [z] with no one's regret. [a] They buried him in the city of David, but not in the tombs of the kings.

Ahaziah Reigns in Judah

2 CHRONICLES 22 [†] [b] And the inhabitants of Jerusalem made Ahaziah, his youngest son, king in his place, for the band of men that came with [c] the Arabians to the camp had killed all the older sons. So Ahaziah the son of Jehoram king of Judah reigned. 2 Ahaziah was twenty-two [1] years old when he began to reign, and he reigned one year in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Athaliah, [d] the granddaughter of Omri. 3 He also walked in the ways of the house of Ahab, for his mother was his counselor in doing wickedly. 4 He did what was evil in the sight of the LORD, as the house of Ahab had done. For after the death of his father they were his counselors, to his undoing. 5 [†] He even followed their counsel and went with Jehoram the son of Ahab king of Israel to make war against Hazael king of Syria at Ramoth-gilead. And the Syrians wounded Joram, 6 and he returned to be healed in Jezreel of the wounds that he had received at Ramah, when he fought against Hazael king of Syria. And Ahaziah the son of Jehoram king of Judah went down to see Joram the son of Ahab in Jezreel, because he was wounded.

7 But it was ordained by God that the downfall of Ahaziah should come about through his going to visit Joram. For when he came there, [e] he went out with Jehoram to meet Jehu the son of Nimshi, [f] whom the LORD had anointed to destroy the house of Ahab. 8 [g] And when Jehu was [h] executing judgment on the house of Ahab, he met the princes of Judah and the sons of Ahaziah's brothers, who attended Ahaziah, and he killed them. 9 [i] He searched for Ahaziah, and he was captured while hiding in Samaria, and he was brought to Jehu and put to death. [j] They buried him, for they said, "He is the grandson of Jehoshaphat, [k] who sought the LORD with all his heart." And the house of Ahaziah had no one able to rule the kingdom.

Athaliah Reigns in Judah

10[†] [l] Now when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her son was dead, she arose and destroyed all the royal family of the house of Judah. 11But Jehoshabeath, [2] the daughter of the king, took Joash the son of Ahaziah and stole him away from among the king's sons who were about to be put to death, and she put him and his nurse in a bedroom. Thus Jehoshabeath, the daughter of King Jehoram and wife of Jehoiada the priest, because she was a sister of Ahaziah, hid him [3] from Athaliah, so that she did not put him to death. 12And he remained with them six years, hidden in the house of God, while Athaliah reigned over the land.

Joash Made King

2 CHRONICLES 23 [†] [m] But in the seventh year Jehoiada took courage and entered into a covenant with the commanders of hundreds, Azariah the son of Jeroham, Ishmael the son of Jehohanan, Azariah the son of Obed, Maaseiah the son of Adaiah, and Elishaphat the son of Zichri. 2And they went about through [n] Judah and gathered the Levites from all the cities of Judah, and the heads of fathers' houses of Israel, and they came to Jerusalem. 3[†]And all the assembly made a covenant with the king in the house of God. And Jehoiada [1] said to them, "Behold, the king's son! Let him reign, [o] as the LORD spoke concerning the sons of David. 4[†]This is the thing that you shall do: [p] of you priests and Levites who come off duty on the Sabbath, one third shall be gatekeepers, 5[†]and one third shall be at the king's house and one third at the Gate of the Foundation. And all the people shall be in the courts of the house of the LORD. 6Let no one enter the house of the LORD except the priests [q] and ministering Levites. They may enter, for they are holy, but all the people shall keep the charge of the LORD. [7]The Levites shall surround the king, each with his weapons in his hand. And whoever enters the house shall be put to death. Be with the king when he comes in and when he goes out.”

[8][†]The Levites and all Judah did according to all that Jehoiada the priest commanded, and they each brought his men, who were to go off duty on the Sabbath, with those who were to come on duty on the Sabbath, for Jehoiada the priest did not dismiss [r]the divisions. [9]And Jehoiada the priest gave to the captains the spears and the large and small shields that had been King David’s, which were in the house of God. [10]And he set all the people as a guard for the king, every man with his weapon in his hand, from the south side of the house to the north side of the house, around the altar and the house. [11][†]Then they brought out the king’s son and put the crown on him and gave him [s]the testimony. And they proclaimed him king, and Jehoiada and his sons anointed him, and they said, [t]“Long live the king.”

Athaliah Executed

[12]When Athaliah heard the noise of the people running and praising the king, she went into the house of the LORD to the people. [13][†]And when she looked, there was the king standing by his pillar at the entrance, and the captains and the trumpeters beside the king, and all the people of the land rejoicing and blowing trumpets, and the singers with their musical instruments leading in the celebration. And Athaliah tore her clothes and cried, “Treason! Treason!” [14]Then Jehoiada the priest brought out the captains who were set over the army, saying to them, “Bring her out between the ranks, and anyone who follows her is to be put to death with the sword.” For the priest said, “Do not put her to death in the house of the LORD.” [15]So they laid hands on her, [2] and she went into the entrance of [u]the horse gate of the king’s house, and they put her to death there.

Jehoiada’s Reforms

[16]And Jehoiada made a covenant between himself and all the people and the king that they should be the LORD’s people. [17]Then all the people went to the house of Baal and tore it down; his altars and his images they broke in pieces, [v] and they killed Mattan the priest of Baal before the altars. 18And Jehoiada posted watchmen for the house of the LORD under the direction of [w] the Levitical priests and the Levites [x] whom David had organized to be in charge of the house of the LORD, to offer burnt offerings to the LORD, [y] as it is written in the Law of Moses, with rejoicing and with singing, [z] according to the order of David. 19He stationed [a] the gatekeepers at the gates of the house of the LORD so that no one should enter who was in any way unclean. 20And he took the captains, the nobles, the governors of the people, and all the people of the land, and they brought the king down from the house of the LORD, marching [b] through the upper gate to the king's house. And they set the king on the royal throne. 21So all the people of the land rejoiced, and the city was quiet after Athaliah had been put to death with the sword.

Joash Repairs the Temple

2 CHRONICLES 24 [†] [c] Joash [1] was seven years old when he began to reign, and he reigned forty years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Zibiah of Beersheba. 2[†] [d] And Joash did what was right in the eyes of the LORD all the days of Jehoiada the priest. 3[†]Jehoiada got for him two wives, and he had sons and daughters.

4[†]After this Joash [e] decided to [f] restore the house of the LORD. 5[†]And he gathered the priests and the Levites and said to them, "Go out to the cities of [g] Judah and gather from all Israel money to repair the house of your God from year to year, and see that you act quickly." But the Levites did not act quickly. 6So the king summoned Jehoiada the chief and said to him, "Why have you not required the Levites to bring in from Judah and Jerusalem [h] the tax levied by Moses, the servant of the LORD, and the congregation of Israel for [i] the tent of testimony?" 7For [j] the sons of Athaliah, that wicked woman, had broken into the house of God, and had also used all [k] the dedicated things of the house of the LORD for the Baals.

8[†]So the king commanded, and they made a chest and set it outside the gate of the house of the LORD. 9And [l] proclamation was made throughout Judah and Jerusalem to bring in for the LORD [h] the tax that Moses the servant of God laid on Israel in the wilderness. 10And all the princes and all the people rejoiced and brought their tax and dropped it into the chest until they had finished. [2] [11]And whenever the chest was brought to the king's officers by the Levites, when they saw that there was much money in it, the king's secretary and the officer of the chief priest would come and empty the chest and take it and return it to its place. Thus they did day after day, and collected money in abundance. [12]And the king and Jehoiada gave it to those who had charge of the work of the house of the LORD, and they hired masons and carpenters to restore the house of the LORD, and also workers in iron and bronze to repair the house of the LORD. [13]So those who were engaged in the work labored, and the repairing went forward in their hands, and they restored the house of God to its proper condition and strengthened it. [14][†]And when they had finished, they brought the rest of the money before the king and Jehoiada, and with it [m]were made utensils for the house of the LORD, both for the service and for the burnt offerings, and dishes for incense and vessels of gold and silver. And they offered burnt offerings in the house of the LORD regularly all the days of Jehoiada.

[15][†]But Jehoiada grew old and full of days, and died. He was 130 years old at his death. [16]And they buried him in the city of David among the kings, because he had done good in Israel, and toward God and his house.

[17]Now after the death of Jehoiada the princes of Judah came and paid homage to the king. Then the king listened to them. [18]And they abandoned the house of the LORD, the God of their fathers, and served [o]the Asherim and the idols. And [p]wrath came upon Judah and Jerusalem for this guilt of theirs. [19][q]Yet he sent prophets among them to bring them back to the LORD. [r]These testified against them, but they would not pay attention.

Joash's Treachery

[20][s]Then the Spirit of God clothed Zechariah [t]the son of Jehoiada the priest, and he stood above the people, and said to them, "Thus says God, [u]'Why do you break the commandments of the LORD, so that you cannot prosper? [v]Because you have forsaken the LORD, he has forsaken you.'" [21]But [w]they conspired against him, [x]and by command of the king they stoned him with stones in the court of the house of the LORD. [22]Thus Joash the king did not remember the kindness that Jehoiada, Zechariah's father, had shown him, but killed his son. And when he was dying, he said, “May the LORD see [y] and avenge!” [3]

Joash Assassinated

[23][†]At the end of the year [z] the army of the Syrians came up against Joash. They came to Judah and Jerusalem and destroyed all the princes of the people from among the people and sent all their spoil to the king of Damascus. [24]Though the army of the Syrians had come with few men, [a] the LORD delivered into their hand a very great army, [y] because Judah [4] had forsaken the LORD, the God of their fathers. Thus they [b] executed judgment on Joash.

[25]When they had departed from him, leaving him [c] severely wounded, [d] his servants conspired against him because of the blood of [e] the son [5] of Jehoiada the priest, and killed him on his bed. So he died, and they buried him in the city of David, [f] but they did not bury him in the tombs of the kings. [26]Those who conspired against him were Zabad the son of Shimeath the Ammonite, and Jehozabad the son of Shimrith the Moabite. [27]Accounts of his sons and of the many oracles against him and of [g] the rebuilding [6] of the house of God are written in the [h] Story of the Book of the Kings. And Amaziah his son reigned in his place.

Amaziah Reigns in Judah

2 CHRONICLES 25 [†] [i] Amaziah was twenty-five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother’s name was Jehoaddan of Jerusalem. [2][†]And he did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, [j] yet not with a whole heart. [3]And as soon as the royal power was firmly his, he killed his servants who had struck down the king his father. [4]But he did not put their children to death, according to what is written in the Law, in the Book of Moses, where the LORD commanded, [k] “Fathers shall not die because of their children, nor children die because of their fathers, but each one shall die for his own sin.”

Amaziah's Victories

5[†]Then Amaziah assembled the men of Judah and set them by fathers' houses under commanders of thousands and of hundreds for all Judah and Benjamin. He mustered those [l]twenty years old and upward, and found that they were [m]300,000 choice men, fit for war, [n]able to handle spear and shield. 6He hired also 100,000 mighty men of valor from Israel for 100 talents [1] of silver. 7But [o]a man of God came to him and said, "O king, do not let the army of Israel go with you, for the LORD is not with Israel, with all these Ephraimites. 8But go, act, be strong for the battle. Why should you suppose that God will cast you down before the enemy? [p]For God has power to help or to cast down." 9And Amaziah said to the man of God, "But what shall we do about the hundred talents that I have given to the army of Israel?" The man of God answered, "The LORD is able to give you much more than this." 10Then Amaziah discharged the army that had come to him from Ephraim to go home again. And they became very angry with Judah and returned home in fierce anger. 11But Amaziah took courage and led out his people and went to the [q]Valley of Salt and struck down [r]10,000 men of Seir. 12The men of Judah captured another 10,000 alive and took them to the top of a rock and threw them down from the top of the rock, and they were all dashed to pieces. 13But the men of the army whom Amaziah sent back, not letting them go with him to battle, raided the cities of Judah, [s]from Samaria to Beth-horon, and struck down 3,000 people in them and took much spoil.

Amaziah's Idolatry

14After Amaziah came from striking down the Edomites, [t]he brought the gods [r]of the men of Seir and set them up as his gods and worshiped them, making offerings to them. 15Therefore the LORD was angry with Amaziah and sent to him a prophet, who said to him, "Why have you sought the gods of a people [u]who did not deliver their own people from your hand?" 16But as he was speaking, the king said to him, "Have we made you a royal counselor? Stop! Why should you be struck down?" So the prophet stopped, but said, "I know that [v]God has determined to destroy you, because you have done this and have not listened to my counsel."

Israel Defeats Amaziah

17[†] [w] Then Amaziah king of Judah took counsel and sent to Joash the son of Jehoahaz, son of Jehu, king of Israel, saying, “Come, let us look one another in the face.” 18And Joash the king of Israel sent word to Amaziah king of Judah, [x] “A thistle on Lebanon sent to a cedar on Lebanon, saying, ‘Give your daughter to my son for a wife,’ and a wild beast of Lebanon passed by and trampled down the thistle. 19You say, ‘See, I [2] have struck down Edom,’ and [y] your heart has lifted you up in boastfulness. But now stay at home. Why should you provoke trouble so that you fall, you and Judah with you?”

20But Amaziah would not listen, for it was of God, in order that he might give them into the hand of their enemies, [z] because they had sought the gods of Edom. 21So Joash king of Israel went up, and he and Amaziah king of Judah faced one another in battle at Beth-shemesh, which belongs to Judah. 22And Judah was defeated by Israel, and every man fled to his home. 23And Joash king of Israel captured Amaziah king of Judah, the son of Joash, son of [a] Ahaziah, at Beth-shemesh, and brought him to Jerusalem and broke down the wall of Jerusalem for 400 cubits, [3] from [b] the Ephraim Gate to the Corner Gate. 24And he seized all the gold and silver, and all the vessels that were found in the house of God, in the care of [c] Obed-edom. He seized also the treasuries of the king’s house, also hostages, and he returned to Samaria.

25[†] [d] Amaziah the son of Joash, king of Judah, lived fifteen years after the death of Joash the son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel. 26Now the rest of the deeds of Amaziah, from first to last, are they not written in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel? 27From the time when he turned away from the LORD they made a conspiracy against him in Jerusalem, and he fled to Lachish. But they sent after him to Lachish and put him to death there. 28And they brought him upon horses, and he was buried with his fathers in the city of David. [4]

Uzziah Reigns in Judah

2 CHRONICLES 26 [†]And all the people of Judah took Uzziah, who was sixteen years old, and made him king instead of his father Amaziah. [2][†]He built Eloth and restored it to Judah, after the king slept with his fathers. [3][†]Uzziah was [e] sixteen years old when he began to reign, and he reigned fifty-two years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jecoliah of Jerusalem. [4]And he did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, according to all that his father Amaziah had done. [5][†]He set himself to seek God [f] in the days of Zechariah, [g] who instructed him in the fear of God, and as long as he sought the LORD, God made him prosper.

[6][†]He went out and [h] made war against the Philistines and broke through the wall of Gath and the wall of Jabneh and the wall of Ashdod, and he built cities in the territory of Ashdod and elsewhere among the Philistines. [7]God helped him [i] against the Philistines and against the Arabians who lived in Gurbaal and against the [j] Meunites. [8]The Ammonites [k] paid tribute to Uzziah, and his fame spread even to the border of Egypt, for he became very strong. [9][†]Moreover, Uzziah built towers in Jerusalem at [l] the Corner Gate and at [m] the Valley Gate and at [n] the Angle, and fortified them. [10]And he built towers in the wilderness and [o] cut out many cisterns, for he had large herds, both in the Shephelah and in the plain, and he had farmers and vinedressers in the hills and in the fertile lands, for he loved the soil. [11]Moreover, Uzziah had an army of soldiers, fit for war, in divisions according to the numbers in the muster made by Jeiel the secretary and Maaseiah the officer, under the direction of Hananiah, one of the king's commanders. [12]The whole number of the heads of fathers' houses of mighty men of valor was 2,600. [13]Under their command was an army of [p] 307,500, who could make war with mighty power, to help the king against the enemy. [14]And Uzziah prepared for all the army shields, spears, helmets, [q] coats of mail, bows, and stones for slinging. [15]In Jerusalem he made machines, invented by skillful men, to be on the towers and the corners, to shoot arrows and great stones. And his fame spread far, for he was marvelously helped, till he was strong.

Uzziah's Pride and Punishment

[16][†]But when [r] he was strong, [s] he grew proud, to his destruction. For he was unfaithful to the LORD his God and entered the temple of the LORD to burn incense on the altar of incense. [17]But [t] Azariah the priest went in after him, with eighty priests of the LORD who were men of valor, [18]and they withstood King Uzziah and said to him, [u] "It is not for you, Uzziah, to burn incense to the LORD, [v] but for the priests, the sons of Aaron, who are consecrated to burn incense. Go out of the sanctuary, for you have done wrong, and it will bring you no honor from the LORD God." [19]Then Uzziah was angry. Now he had a censer in his hand to burn incense, and when he became angry with the priests, [w] leprosy [1] broke out on his forehead in the presence of the priests in the house of the LORD, by the altar of incense. [20]And Azariah the chief priest and all the priests looked at him, and behold, he was leprous in his forehead! And they rushed him out quickly, and he himself hurried to go out, because the LORD had struck him. [21][†] [x] And King Uzziah was a leper to the day of his death, and being a leper lived [y] in a separate house, for he was excluded from the house of the LORD. And Jotham his son was over the king's household, governing the people of the land.

[22][†]Now the rest of the acts of Uzziah, from first to last, [z] Isaiah the prophet the son of Amoz wrote. [23]And Uzziah slept with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the burial field that belonged to the kings, for they said, "He is a leper." And Jotham his son reigned in his place.

Jotham Reigns in Judah

2 CHRONICLES 27 [†] [a] Jotham was twenty-five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jerushah the daughter of Zadok. [2][†]And he did what was right in the eyes of the LORD according to all that his father Uzziah had done, [b] except he did not enter the temple of the LORD. But the people still followed corrupt practices. [3][†]He built the upper gate of the house of the LORD and did much building on the wall of [c] Ophel. [4]Moreover, he built cities in the hill country of Judah, and forts and towers on the wooded hills. [5]He fought with the king of the Ammonites and prevailed against them. And the Ammonites gave him that year 100 talents [1] of silver, and 10,000 cors [2] of wheat and 10,000 of barley. The Ammonites paid him the same amount in the second and the third years. 6So Jotham became mighty, because he ordered his ways before the LORD his God. 7[†] [d]Now the rest of the acts of Jotham, and all his wars and his ways, behold, they are written in the Book of the Kings of Israel and Judah. 8He was [e]twenty-five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. 9And Jotham slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David, and Ahaz his son reigned in his place.

Ahaz Reigns in Judah

2 CHRONICLES 28 [†] [f]Ahaz was twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. And he did not do what was right in the eyes of the LORD, as his father David had done, 2[†]but he walked in the ways of the kings of Israel. He even made [g]metal images for [h]the Baals, 3[†]and [i]he made offerings in the [j]Valley of the Son of Hinnom and [k]burned his sons as an offering, [1] according to [l]the abominations of the nations whom the LORD drove out before the people of Israel. 4And he sacrificed and [i]made offerings on the high places and on the hills and under every green tree.

Judah Defeated

5[†] [m]Therefore the LORD his God gave him into the hand of the king of Syria, who defeated him and took captive a great number of his people and brought them to Damascus. He was also given into the hand of the king of Israel, who struck him with great force. 6For [n]Pekah the son of Remaliah killed 120,000 from Judah in one day, all of them men of valor, because they had forsaken the LORD, the God of their fathers. 7And Zichri, a mighty man of Ephraim, killed Maaseiah the king's son and Azrikam the commander of the palace and Elkanah the next in authority to the king.

8[†]The men of Israel took captive 200,000 [o]of their relatives, women, sons, and daughters. They also took much spoil from them and brought the spoil to Samaria. 9But a prophet of the LORD was there, whose name was Oded, and he went out to meet the army that came to Samaria and said to them, “Behold, because the LORD, the God of your fathers, [p] was angry with Judah, he gave them into your hand, but you have killed them in a rage [q] that has reached up to heaven. [10]And now you intend to subjugate the people of Judah and Jerusalem, male and female, as your slaves. Have you not sins of your own against the LORD your God? [11]Now hear me, and send back the captives [o] from your relatives whom you have taken, for the fierce wrath of the LORD is upon you.”

[12]Certain chiefs also of the men of Ephraim, Azariah the son of Johanan, Berechiah the son of Meshillemoth, Jehizkiah the son of Shallum, and Amasa the son of Hadlai, stood up against those who were coming from the war [13]and said to them, “You shall not bring the captives in here, for you propose to bring upon us guilt against the LORD in addition to our present sins and guilt. For our guilt is already great, and there is fierce wrath against Israel.” [14]So the armed men left the captives and the spoil before the princes and all the assembly. [15]And [r] the men who have been mentioned by name rose and took the captives, and with the spoil they clothed all who were naked among them. They clothed them, gave them sandals, [s] provided them with food and drink, and anointed them, and carrying all the feeble among them on donkeys, they brought them to their kinsfolk at Jericho, [t] the city of palm trees. Then they returned to Samaria.

[16][†] [u] At that time King Ahaz sent to the king [2] of Assyria for help. [17]For the Edomites had again invaded and defeated Judah and carried away captives. [18] [v] And the Philistines had made raids on [w] the cities in the Shephelah and the Negeb of Judah, and had taken Beth-shemesh, Aijalon, Gederoth, Soco [x] with its villages, Timnah with its villages, and Gimzo with its villages. And they settled there. [19]For the LORD humbled Judah because of Ahaz king of Israel, for he had made [y] Judah act sinfully [3] and had been very unfaithful to the LORD. [20]So [z] Tiglath-pileser [4] king of Assyria came against him and afflicted him instead of strengthening him. [21] [a] For Ahaz took a portion from the house of the LORD and the house of the king and of the princes, and gave tribute to the king of Assyria, but it did not help him.

Ahaz’s Idolatry

[22][†]In the time of his distress he became yet more faithless to the LORD—this same King Ahaz. [23]For [b]he sacrificed to the gods of Damascus that had defeated him and said, [c]“Because the gods of the kings of Syria helped them, I will sacrifice to them that they may help me.” But they were the ruin of him and of all Israel. [24]And Ahaz gathered together the vessels of the house of God and [d]cut in pieces the vessels of the house of God, and he shut up the doors of the house of the LORD, and he made himself [e]altars in every corner of Jerusalem. [25]In every city of Judah he made high places to [f]make offerings to other gods, provoking to anger the LORD, the God of his fathers. [26][†][g]Now the rest of his acts and all his ways, from first to last, behold, they are written in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel. [27]And Ahaz slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city, in Jerusalem, for [h]they did not bring him into the tombs of the kings of Israel. And Hezekiah his son reigned in his place.

Hezekiah Reigns in Judah

2 CHRONICLES 29 [†][j]Hezekiah began to reign when he was twenty-five years old, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother’s name was Abijah [1] the daughter of [k]Zechariah. [2]And he did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, according to all that David his father had done.

Hezekiah Cleanses the Temple

[3][†]In the first year of his reign, in the first month, he [l]opened the doors of the house of the LORD and repaired them. [4][†]He brought in the priests and the Levites and assembled them in the square on the east [5]and said to them, “Hear me, Levites! Now [m]consecrate yourselves, and consecrate the house of the LORD, the God of your fathers, and carry out the filth from the Holy Place. [6][†]For our fathers have been unfaithful and have done what was evil in the sight of the LORD our God. They have forsaken him and [n]have turned away their faces from the habitation of the LORD and turned their backs. [7]They also [o]shut the doors of the vestibule and put out the lamps and have not burned incense or offered burnt offerings in the Holy Place to the God of Israel. [8][†]Therefore [p] the wrath of the LORD came on Judah and Jerusalem, and he has made them [q] an object of horror, of astonishment, [r] and of hissing, as you see with your own eyes. [9]For behold, [s] our fathers have fallen by the sword, and our sons and our daughters and our wives are in captivity for this. [10]Now [t] it is in my heart [u] to make a covenant with the LORD, the God of Israel, in order that his fierce anger may turn away from us. [11]My sons, do not now be negligent, [v] for the LORD has chosen you to stand in his presence, to minister to him and to be his ministers and make offerings to him."

[12]Then the Levites arose, [w] Mahath the son of Amasai, and Joel the son of Azariah, of the sons of [x] the Kohathites; and of the sons of [x] Merari, Kish the son of Abdi, and Azariah the son of Jehallelel; and of the [x] Gershonites, Joah the son of Zimmah, and Eden the son of Joah; [13]and of the sons of [y] Elizaphan, Shimri and Jeuel; and of the sons of [z] Asaph, Zechariah and Mattaniah; [14]and of the sons of [a] Heman, Jehuel and Shimei; and of the sons of [b] Jeduthun, Shemaiah and Uzziel. [15]They gathered their brothers and [c] consecrated themselves and went in as the king had commanded, [d] by the words of the LORD, [e] to cleanse the house of the LORD. [16][†]The priests went into the inner part of the house of the LORD to cleanse it, and they brought out all the uncleanness that they found in the temple of the LORD into the court of the house of the LORD. And the Levites took it and carried it out to [f] the brook Kidron. [17]They began to consecrate [g] on the first day of the first month, and on the eighth day of the month they came to the vestibule of the LORD. Then for eight days they consecrated the house of the LORD, and on the sixteenth day of the first month they finished. [18][†]Then they went in to Hezekiah the king and said, "We have cleansed all the house of the LORD, the altar of burnt offering and all its utensils, and the table for the showbread and all its utensils. [19]All the utensils [h] that King Ahaz discarded in his reign when he was faithless, we have made ready and consecrated, and behold, they are before the altar of the LORD."

Hezekiah Restores Temple Worship

20[†]Then Hezekiah the king rose early and gathered the officials of the city and went up to the house of the LORD. 21And they brought seven bulls, seven rams, seven lambs, and seven male goats [i] for a sin offering for the kingdom and for the sanctuary and for Judah. And he commanded the priests, the sons of Aaron, to offer them on the altar of the LORD. 22So they slaughtered the bulls, and the priests received the blood [j] and threw it against the altar. And they slaughtered the rams, and their blood was thrown against the altar. And they slaughtered the lambs, and their blood was thrown against the altar. 23[†]Then the goats for the sin offering were brought to the king and the assembly, [k] and they laid their hands on them, 24and the priests slaughtered them and made a sin offering with their blood on the altar, [l] to make atonement for all Israel. For the king commanded that the burnt offering and the sin offering should be made for all Israel.

25[†] [m] And he stationed the Levites in the house of the LORD with cymbals, harps, and lyres, [n] according to the commandment of David and of Gad [o] the king's seer and of [p] Nathan the prophet, for the commandment was from the LORD through his prophets. 26The Levites stood with [q] the instruments of David, [r] and the priests with the trumpets. 27Then Hezekiah commanded that the burnt offering be offered on the altar. And when the burnt offering began, [s] the song to the LORD began also, and the trumpets, accompanied by the instruments of David king of Israel. 28The whole assembly worshiped, and the singers sang, and the trumpeters sounded. All this continued until the burnt offering was finished. 29When the offering was finished, [t] the king and all who were present with him bowed themselves and worshiped. 30And Hezekiah the king and the officials commanded the Levites to sing praises to the LORD with the words of David and of Asaph the seer. And they sang praises with gladness, and they bowed down and worshiped.

31[†]Then Hezekiah said, [u] "You have now consecrated yourselves to [2] the LORD. Come near; bring sacrifices and thank offerings to the house of the LORD." And the assembly brought sacrifices and thank offerings, and all who were [v] of a willing heart brought burnt offerings. 32The number of the burnt offerings that the assembly brought was 70 bulls, 100 rams, and 200 lambs; all these were for a burnt offering to the LORD. [33]And the consecrated offerings were 600 bulls and 3,000 sheep. [34]But the priests were too few and could not flay all the burnt offerings, so until other priests had consecrated themselves, [w]their brothers the Levites helped them, until the work was finished—[x]for the Levites were more upright in heart than the priests in consecrating themselves. [35]Besides the great number of burnt offerings, there was [y]the fat of the peace offerings, and there were [z]the drink offerings for the burnt offerings. Thus the service of the house of the LORD was restored. [36]And Hezekiah and all the people rejoiced because God had provided for the people, for the thing came about suddenly.

Passover Celebrated

2 CHRONICLES 30 [†]Hezekiah sent to all Israel and Judah, and wrote letters also to Ephraim and Manasseh, that they should come to the house of the LORD at Jerusalem to keep the Passover to the LORD, the God of Israel. [2][†]For the king and his princes and all the assembly in Jerusalem had taken counsel to keep the Passover [a]in the second month— [3]for they could not keep it [b]at that time [c]because the priests had not consecrated themselves in sufficient number, nor had the people assembled in Jerusalem— [4]and the plan seemed right to the king and all the assembly. [5]So they decreed to make a proclamation throughout all Israel, [d]from Beersheba to Dan, that the people should come and keep the Passover to the LORD, the God of Israel, at Jerusalem, for they had not kept it as often as prescribed. [6][†][e]So couriers went throughout all Israel and Judah with letters from the king and his princes, as the king had commanded, saying, “O people of Israel, [f]return to the LORD, the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, that he may turn again to the remnant of you who have escaped from the hand of [g]the kings of Assyria. [7][h]Do not be like your fathers and your brothers, who were faithless to the LORD God of their fathers, so that he made them a desolation, as you see. [8][i]Do not now be stiff-necked as your fathers were, but yield yourselves to the LORD and come to his sanctuary, which he has consecrated forever, and serve the LORD your God, [j]that his fierce anger may turn away from you. [9]For [f]if you return to the LORD, your brothers and your children [k]will find compassion with their captors and return to this land. For [l] the LORD your God is gracious and merciful and will not turn away his face from you, [m] if you return to him.”

[10] [e] So the couriers went from city to city through the country of [n] Ephraim and Manasseh, and as far as Zebulun, but [o] they laughed them to scorn and mocked them. [11][†]However, [p] some men of Asher, of Manasseh, and of Zebulun humbled themselves and came to Jerusalem. [12]The hand of God was also on Judah to give them one heart to do what the king and the princes commanded [q] by the word of the LORD.

[13]And many people came together in Jerusalem to keep the Feast of Unleavened Bread [r] in the second month, a very great assembly. [14]They set to work and removed [s] the altars that were in Jerusalem, and all the altars for burning incense they took away [t] and threw into the brook Kidron. [15] [u] And they slaughtered the Passover lamb on the fourteenth day of the second month. [v] And the priests and the Levites were ashamed, [w] so that they consecrated themselves and brought burnt offerings into the house of the LORD. [16] [x] They took their accustomed posts according to the Law of Moses [y] the man of God. The priests threw the blood that they received from the hand of the Levites. [17][†]For there were many in the assembly who had not consecrated themselves. Therefore the Levites had to slaughter the Passover lamb for everyone who was not clean, to consecrate it to the LORD. [18][†]For a majority of the people, [z] many of them from Ephraim, Manasseh, Issachar, and Zebulun, had not cleansed themselves, yet they ate the Passover otherwise [a] than as prescribed. For Hezekiah had prayed for them, saying, “May the good LORD pardon everyone [19] [b] who sets his heart to seek God, the LORD, the God of his fathers, even though not according to the sanctuary’s rules of cleanness.” [1] [20]And the LORD heard Hezekiah and healed the people. [21]And the people of Israel who were present at Jerusalem kept [c] the Feast of Unleavened Bread seven days with great gladness, and the Levites and the priests praised the LORD day by day, singing with all their might [2] to the LORD. [22]And Hezekiah spoke [d] encouragingly to all the Levites who showed good skill in the service of the LORD. So they ate the food of the festival for seven days, sacrificing [e] peace offerings and giving thanks to the LORD, the God of their fathers.

[23][†]Then the whole assembly agreed together to keep the feast [f]for another seven days. So they kept it for another seven days with gladness. [24]For Hezekiah king of Judah [g]gave the assembly 1,000 bulls and 7,000 sheep for offerings, and the princes gave the assembly 1,000 bulls and 10,000 sheep. And the priests [h]consecrated themselves in great numbers. [25]The whole assembly of Judah, and the priests and the Levites, [i]and the whole assembly that came out of Israel, and the sojourners who came out of the land of Israel, and the sojourners who lived in Judah, rejoiced. [26]So there was great joy in Jerusalem, for [j]since the time of Solomon the son of David king of Israel there had been nothing like this in Jerusalem. [27]Then [k]the priests and the Levites arose and [l]blessed the people, and their voice was heard, and their prayer came to [m]his holy habitation in heaven.

Hezekiah Organizes the Priests

2 CHRONICLES 31 [†]Now when all this was finished, all Israel who were present went out to the cities of Judah and [n]broke in pieces the [o]pillars and cut down [p]the Asherim and broke down the high places and the altars throughout all Judah and Benjamin, and in Ephraim and Manasseh, until they had destroyed them all. Then all the people of Israel returned to their cities, every man to his possession.

[2][†]And Hezekiah appointed [q]the divisions of the priests and of the Levites, division by division, each according to his service, the priests and the Levites, [r]for burnt offerings and peace offerings, to minister in the gates of the camp of the LORD and to give thanks and praise. [3][†] [s]The contribution of the king from his own possessions was for the burnt offerings: the burnt offerings of morning and evening, and the burnt offerings for the Sabbaths, the new moons, and the appointed feasts, [t]as it is written in the Law of the LORD. [4]And he commanded the people who lived in Jerusalem to give [u]the portion due to the priests and the Levites, that they might give themselves to the Law of the LORD. [5][†]As soon as the command was spread abroad, the people of Israel gave in abundance the firstfruits of grain, wine, oil, honey, and of all the produce of the field. And they brought in abundantly [v]the tithe of everything. [6]And the people of Israel and Judah who lived in the cities of Judah also brought in the tithe of cattle and sheep, and [w]the tithe of the dedicated things that had been dedicated to the LORD their God, and laid them in heaps. [7][†]In the third month they began to pile up the heaps, and finished them in the seventh month. [8]When Hezekiah and the princes came and saw the heaps, they blessed the LORD and his people Israel. [9]And Hezekiah questioned the priests and the Levites about the heaps. [10]Azariah the chief priest, who was [x]of the house of Zadok, answered him, "Since they began to bring the contributions into the house of the LORD, we have eaten and had enough and have plenty left, [y]for the LORD has blessed his people, so that we have this large amount left."

[11]Then Hezekiah commanded them to prepare [z]chambers in the house of the LORD, and they prepared them. [12]And they faithfully brought in the contributions, the tithes, and the dedicated things. The chief officer [a]in charge of them was Conaniah the Levite, with [b]Shimei his brother as second, [13][b]while Jehiel, Azaziah, Nahath, Asahel, Jerimoth, Jozabad, Eliel, Ismachiah, [b]Mahath, and Benaiah were overseers assisting Conaniah and Shimei his brother, by the appointment of Hezekiah the king and [x]Azariah the chief officer of the house of God. [14]And Kore the son of Imnah the Levite, keeper of the east gate, was over the freewill offerings to God, to apportion the contribution reserved for the LORD and the most holy offerings. [15][b]Eden, Miniamin, Jeshua, Shemaiah, Amariah, and Shecaniah were faithfully assisting him in [d]the cities of the priests, to distribute the portions to their brothers, old and young alike, by divisions, [16][†]except those enrolled by genealogy, males from three years old and upward—all who entered the house of the LORD [e]as the duty of each day required—for their service according to their offices, by their divisions. [17]The enrollment of the priests was according to their fathers' houses; that of the Levites [f]from twenty years old and upward was according to their offices, by their divisions. [18]They were enrolled with all their little children, their wives, their sons, and their daughters, the whole assembly, for they were faithful in keeping themselves holy. [19]And for the sons of Aaron, the priests, who were in the fields of common land belonging to their cities, there were men in the several cities who were [g]designated by name to distribute portions to every male among the priests and to everyone among the Levites who was enrolled.

[20]Thus Hezekiah did throughout all Judah, [h] and he did what was good and right and faithful before the LORD his God. [21]And every work that he undertook in the service of the house of God and in accordance with the law and the commandments, seeking his God, he did with all his heart, and prospered.

Sennacherib Invades Judah

2 CHRONICLES 32 [†] [i] After these things and these acts of faithfulness, Sennacherib king of Assyria came and invaded Judah and encamped against the fortified cities, thinking to win them for himself. [2]And when Hezekiah saw that Sennacherib had come and intended to fight against Jerusalem, [3]he planned with his officers and his mighty men to stop the water of the springs that were outside the city; and they helped him. [4]A great many people were gathered, and they stopped all the springs and [j] the brook that flowed through the land, saying, “Why should the kings of Assyria come and find much water?” [5][†]He set to work resolutely and built up [k] all the wall that was broken down and raised towers upon it, [1] and outside it he built another wall, and he strengthened the [l] Millo in the city of David. He also made weapons and shields in abundance. [6]And he set combat commanders over the people and gathered them together to him in the square at the gate of the city and spoke [m] encouragingly to them, saying, [7] [n] “Be strong and courageous. [o] Do not be afraid or dismayed before the king of Assyria and all the horde that is with him, [p] for there are more with us than with him. [8]With him is [q] an arm of flesh, [r] but with us is the LORD our God, to help us and to fight our battles.” And the people took confidence from the words of Hezekiah king of Judah.

Sennacherib Blasphemes

[9][†]After this, Sennacherib king of Assyria, who was besieging Lachish with all his forces, sent his servants to Jerusalem to Hezekiah king of Judah and to all the people of Judah who were in Jerusalem, saying, [10]“Thus says Sennacherib king of Assyria, ‘On what are you trusting, that you endure the siege in Jerusalem? [11]Is not Hezekiah misleading you, that he may give you over to die by famine and by thirst, when he tells you, “The LORD our God will deliver us from the hand of the king of Assyria”? [12] [s] Has not this same Hezekiah taken away his high places and his altars and commanded Judah and Jerusalem, “Before one altar you shall worship, and on it you shall burn your sacrifices”? [13]Do you not know what I and my fathers have done to all the peoples of other lands? Were the gods of the nations of those lands at all able to deliver their lands out of my hand? [14]Who among all the gods of those nations that my fathers devoted to destruction was able to deliver his people from my hand, that your God should be able to deliver you from my hand? [15]Now, therefore, do not let Hezekiah deceive you or mislead you in this fashion, and do not believe him, for no god of any nation or kingdom has been able to deliver his people from my hand or from the hand of my fathers. How much less will your God deliver you out of my hand!’”

[16]And his servants said still more against the LORD God and against his servant Hezekiah. [17]And he wrote letters to cast contempt on the LORD, the God of Israel, and to speak against him, saying, “Like the gods of the nations of the lands who have not delivered their people from my hands, so the God of Hezekiah will not deliver his people from my hand.” [18][†]And they shouted it with a loud voice in the language of Judah to the people of Jerusalem who were on the wall, to frighten and terrify them, in order that they might take the city. [19]And they spoke of the God of Jerusalem as they spoke of the gods of the peoples of the earth, which are the work of men’s hands.

The LORD Delivers Jerusalem

[20][†]Then Hezekiah the king and Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz, prayed because of this and cried to heaven. [21][†]And the LORD sent an angel, who cut off all the mighty warriors and commanders and officers in the camp of the king of Assyria. So he returned with [t] shame of face to his own land. And when he came into the house of his god, some of his own sons struck him down there with the sword. [22]So the LORD saved Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem from the hand of Sennacherib king of Assyria and from the hand of all his enemies, and he provided for them on every side. [23]And many [u] brought gifts to the LORD to Jerusalem and precious things to Hezekiah king of Judah, so that he was exalted in the sight of all nations from that time onward.

Hezekiah’s Pride and Achievements

[24][†] [v]In those days Hezekiah became sick and was at the point of death, and he prayed to the LORD, and he answered him and gave him a sign. [25]But Hezekiah [w]did not make return according to the benefit done to him, for [x]his heart was proud. Therefore [y]wrath came upon him and Judah and Jerusalem. [26]But Hezekiah [z]humbled himself for the pride of his heart, both he and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so that the wrath of the LORD did not come upon them in the days of Hezekiah.

[27][†]And Hezekiah had very great riches and honor, and he made for himself treasuries for silver, for gold, for precious stones, for spices, for shields, and for all kinds of [a]costly vessels; [28]storehouses also for the yield of grain, wine, and oil; and stalls for all kinds of cattle, and sheepfolds. [29]He likewise provided cities for himself, and flocks and herds in abundance, for God had given him very great possessions. [30]This same Hezekiah [b]closed the upper outlet of the waters of [c]Gihon and directed them down to the west side of the city of David. And Hezekiah prospered in all his works. [31]And so in the matter of the envoys of the princes of Babylon, [d]who had been sent to him to inquire about [e]the sign that had been done in the land, God left him to himself, [f]in order to test him and to know all that was in his heart.

[32][†]Now the rest of the acts of Hezekiah and his good deeds, behold, they are written [g]in the vision of Isaiah the prophet the son of Amoz, [h]in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel. [33]And Hezekiah slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the [i]upper part of the tombs of the sons of David, and all Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem did him honor at his death. And Manasseh his son reigned in his place.

Manasseh Reigns in Judah

2 CHRONICLES 33 [†][j]Manasseh was twelve years old when he began to reign, and he reigned fifty-five years in Jerusalem. [2][†]And he did what was evil in the sight of the LORD, according to [k]the abominations of the nations whom the LORD drove out before the people of Israel. [3]For he rebuilt the high places [l]that his father Hezekiah had broken down, and he erected altars to the Baals, and made [m]Asheroth, and worshiped all the host of heaven and served them. [4]And he built altars in the house of the LORD, of which the LORD had said, [n]"In Jerusalem shall my name be forever." [5]And he built altars for all the host of heaven in [o]the two courts of the house of the LORD. [6][p]And he burned his sons as an offering [q]in the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, and [r]used fortune-telling and omens and sorcery, and dealt with [s]mediums and with necromancers. He did much evil in the sight of the LORD, provoking him to anger. [7]And [t]the carved image of the idol that he had made he set in the house of God, of which God said to David and to Solomon his son, "In this house, and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, [n]I will put my name forever, [8]and I will no more remove the foot of Israel from the land [u]that I appointed for your fathers, if only they will be careful to do all that I have commanded them, all the law, the statutes, and the rules given through Moses." [9]Manasseh led Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem astray, to do more evil than the nations whom the LORD destroyed before the people of Israel.

Manasseh's Repentance

[10][†]The LORD spoke to Manasseh and to his people, but they paid no attention. [11] [v]Therefore the LORD brought upon them the commanders of the army of the king of Assyria, who captured Manasseh with hooks and [w]bound him with chains of bronze and brought him to Babylon. [12][†]And when he was in distress, he entreated the favor of the LORD his God [x]and humbled himself greatly before the God of his fathers. [13]He prayed to him, and [y]God was moved by his entreaty and heard his plea and brought him again to Jerusalem into his kingdom. [z]Then Manasseh knew that the LORD was God.

[14]Afterward he built an outer wall for the city of David west of [a]Gihon, in the valley, and for the entrance into [b]the Fish Gate, and carried it around [c]Ophel, and raised it to a very great height. He also put commanders of the army in all the fortified cities in Judah. [15][†]And [d]he took away the foreign gods and the idol from the house of the LORD, and all the altars that he had built on the mountain of the house of the LORD and in Jerusalem, and he threw them outside of the city. [16]He also restored the altar of the LORD and offered on it sacrifices of peace offerings and of thanksgiving, and he commanded Judah to serve the LORD, the God of Israel. [17] [e]Nevertheless, the people still sacrificed at the high places, but only to the LORD their God.

[18]Now the rest of the acts of Manasseh, and [f]his prayer to his God, and the words of [g]the seers who spoke to him in the name of the LORD, the God of Israel, behold, they are in the [h]Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. [19][†]And his prayer, and how [y]God was moved by his entreaty, and all his sin and his faithlessness, and the sites [i]on which he built high places and set up the [i]Asherim and the images, before [x]he humbled himself, behold, they are written in the Chronicles of the Seers. [1] [20]So Manasseh slept with his fathers, and they buried him in his house, and Amon his son reigned in his place.

Amon’s Reign and Death

[21][†][j]Amon was twenty-two years old when he began to reign, and he reigned two years in Jerusalem. [22]And he did what was evil in the sight of the LORD, as Manasseh his father had done. Amon sacrificed to all the images [k]that Manasseh his father had made, and served them. [23]And he did not humble himself before the LORD, [l]as Manasseh his father had humbled himself, but this Amon incurred guilt more and more. [24]And his servants conspired against him and put him to death in his house. [25]But the people of the land struck down all those who had conspired against King Amon. And the people of the land made Josiah his son king in his place.

Josiah Reigns in Judah

2 CHRONICLES 34 [†] [m]Josiah was eight years old when he began to reign, and he reigned thirty-one years in Jerusalem. [2][†]And he did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, and walked in the ways of David his father; and he did not turn aside to the right hand or to the left. [3][†]For in the eighth year of his reign, while he was yet a boy, he began to seek the God of David his father, and in the twelfth year he began to purge Judah and Jerusalem of the high places, the [n] Asherim, and the carved and the metal images. [4]And they chopped down the altars of the Baals in his presence, and he cut down the [o] incense altars that stood above them. And he broke in pieces the [n] Asherim and the carved and the metal images, and he made dust of them and [o] scattered it over the graves of those who had sacrificed to them. [5][p] He also burned the bones of the priests on their altars and cleansed Judah and Jerusalem. [6]And in the [q] cities of Manasseh, Ephraim, and Simeon, and as far as Naphtali, in their ruins [1] all around, [7]he broke down the altars and beat the [n] Asherim and the images [r] into powder and cut down all the incense altars throughout all the land of Israel. Then he returned to Jerusalem.

The Book of the Law Found

[8][†] [s] Now in the eighteenth year of his reign, when he had cleansed the land and the house, he sent Shaphan the son of Azaliah, and Maaseiah the [t] governor of the city, and Joah the son of Joahaz, [u] the recorder, to repair the house of the LORD his God. [9]They came to [v] Hilkiah the high priest and gave him the money that had been brought into the house of God, which the Levites, the keepers of the threshold, had collected from [q] Manasseh and Ephraim and from all the remnant of Israel and from all Judah and Benjamin and from the inhabitants of Jerusalem. [10]And they gave it to the workmen who were working in the house of the LORD. And the workmen who were working in the house of the LORD gave it for repairing and restoring the house. [11]They gave it to the carpenters and the builders to buy quarried stone, and timber for binders and [w] beams for the buildings that the kings of Judah had let go to ruin. [12]And the men did the work faithfully. Over them were set Jahath and Obadiah the Levites, of the sons of Merari, and Zechariah and Meshullam, of the sons of the Kohathites, to have oversight. [x] The Levites, all who were skillful with instruments of music, [13]were over [y] the burden-bearers and directed all who did work in every kind of service, and some of the Levites were scribes and officials and gatekeepers.

[14][†]While they were bringing out the money that had been brought into the house of the LORD, [v] Hilkiah the priest found the Book of the Law of the

LORD given through Moses. [15]Then Hilkiah answered and said to Shaphan the secretary, “I have found the Book of the Law in the house of the LORD.”
And Hilkiah gave the book to Shaphan. [16]Shaphan brought the book to the king, and further reported to the king, “All that was committed to your servants they are doing. [17]They have emptied out the money that was found in the house of the LORD and have given it into the hand of the overseers and the workmen.” [18]Then Shaphan the secretary told the king, “Hilkiah the priest has given me a book.” And Shaphan read from it before the king.

[19][†]And when the king heard the words of the Law, [z]he tore his clothes.
[20]And the king commanded Hilkiah, Ahikam the son of Shaphan, Abdon the son of Micah, Shaphan the secretary, and Asaiah the king’s servant, saying, [21]“Go, inquire of the LORD for me and for those who are left in Israel and in Judah, concerning the words of the book that has been found.
For great is [a]the wrath of the LORD that is poured out on us, because our fathers have not kept the word of the LORD, to do according to all that is written in this book.”

Huldah Prophesies Disaster

[22][†]So Hilkiah and those whom the king had sent [2] went to Huldah the prophetess, the wife of Shallum the son of Tokhath, son of Hasrah, keeper of the wardrobe (now she lived in Jerusalem in the Second Quarter) and spoke to her to that effect. [23]And she said to them, “Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: ‘Tell the man who sent you to me, [24]Thus says the LORD, Behold, I will bring disaster upon this place and upon its inhabitants, all the curses that are written in the book that was read before the king of Judah.
[25]Because they have forsaken me and [b]have made offerings to other gods, that they might provoke me to anger with all the works of their hands, therefore [a]my wrath will be poured out on this place and will not be quenched. [26]But to the king of Judah, who sent you to inquire of the LORD, thus shall you say to him, Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: Regarding the words that you have heard, [27][†]because your heart was tender and you humbled yourself before God when you heard his words against this place and its inhabitants, and you have humbled yourself before me and have torn your clothes and wept before me, I also have heard you, declares the LORD.
[28][†]Behold, I will gather you to your fathers, and you shall be gathered to your grave in peace, and your eyes shall not see all the disaster that I will bring upon this place and its inhabitants.'" And they brought back word to the king.

29 [c] Then the king sent and gathered together all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem. 30[†]And the king went up to the house of the LORD, with all the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem and the priests and the Levites, all the people both great and small. And he read in their hearing all the words of the Book of the Covenant that had been found in the house of the LORD. 31And the king [d] stood in his place [e] and made a covenant before the LORD, to walk after the LORD and to keep his commandments and his testimonies and his statutes, with all his heart and all his soul, to perform the words of the covenant that were written in this book. 32[†]Then he made all who were present in Jerusalem and in Benjamin join in it. And the inhabitants of Jerusalem did according to the covenant of God, the God of their fathers. 33And Josiah took away [f] all the abominations from all the territory that belonged to the people of Israel and made all who were present in Israel serve the LORD their God. All his days they did not turn away from following the LORD, the God of their fathers.

Josiah Keeps the Passover

2 CHRONICLES 35 [†] [g] Josiah kept a Passover to the LORD in Jerusalem. And they slaughtered the Passover lamb [h] on the fourteenth day of the first month. 2He appointed the priests to their offices [i] and encouraged them in the service of the house of the LORD. 3[†]And he said to the Levites [j] who taught all Israel and who were holy to the LORD, "Put the holy ark in the house that Solomon the son of David, king of Israel, built. You need not carry it on your shoulders. Now serve the LORD your God and his people Israel. 4Prepare yourselves [k] according to your fathers' houses by your divisions, [l] as prescribed in the writing of David king of Israel [m] and the document of Solomon his son. 5And [n] stand in the Holy Place [o] according to the groupings of the fathers' houses of your brothers the lay people, and according to the division of the Levites by fathers' household. 6And slaughter the Passover lamb, and [p] consecrate yourselves, and prepare for your brothers, to do according to the word of the LORD by Moses."

[7][†]Then Josiah contributed to the lay people, as Passover offerings for all who were present, lambs and young goats from the flock to the number of 30,000, and 3,000 bulls; [q]these were from the king's possessions. [8]And his officials contributed willingly to the people, to the priests, and to the Levites. [r]Hilkiah, Zechariah, and Jehiel, the chief officers of the house of God, gave to the priests for the Passover offerings 2,600 Passover lambs and 300 bulls. [9]Conaniah also, and Shemaiah and Nethanel his brothers, and Hashabiah and Jeiel and Jozabad, the chiefs of the Levites, gave to the Levites for the Passover offerings 5,000 lambs and young goats and 500 bulls.

[10]When the service had been prepared for, the priests [s]stood in their place, [t]and the Levites in their divisions according to the king's command. [11] [u]And they slaughtered the Passover lamb, and the priests [v]threw the blood that they received from them [w]while the Levites flayed the sacrifices. [12]And they set aside the burnt offerings that they might distribute them according to the groupings of the fathers' houses of the lay people, to offer to the LORD, as it is written in the Book of Moses. And so they did with the bulls. [13] [x]And they roasted the Passover lamb with fire according to the rule; and they [y]boiled the holy offerings in pots, in cauldrons, and in pans, and carried them quickly to all the lay people. [14]And afterward they prepared for themselves and for the priests, because the priests, the sons of Aaron, were offering the burnt offerings and the fat parts until night; so the Levites prepared for themselves and for the priests, the sons of Aaron. [15]The singers, the sons of Asaph, were in their place [z]according to the command of David, and Asaph, and Heman, and Jeduthun the king's [a]seer; [b]and the gatekeepers were at each gate. They did not need to depart from their service, for their brothers the Levites prepared for them.

[16]So all the service of the LORD was prepared that day, to keep the Passover and to offer burnt offerings on the altar of the LORD, according to the command of King Josiah. [17]And the people of Israel who were present kept the Passover at that time, [c]and the Feast of Unleavened Bread seven days. [18][†] [d]No Passover like it had been kept in Israel since the days of Samuel the prophet. None of the kings of Israel had kept such a Passover as was kept by Josiah, and the priests and the Levites, and all Judah and Israel who were present, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. [19]In the eighteenth year of the reign of Josiah this Passover was kept.

Josiah Killed in Battle

[20][†] [e] After all this, when Josiah had prepared the temple, Neco king of Egypt went up to fight at [f] Carchemish on the Euphrates, and Josiah went out to meet him. [21]But he sent envoys to him, saying, “What have we to do with each other, king of Judah? I am not coming against you this day, but against the house with which I am at war. And God has commanded me to hurry. Cease opposing God, who is with me, lest he destroy you.” [22]Nevertheless, Josiah did not turn away from him, but [g] disguised himself in order to fight with him. He did not listen to the words of Neco from the mouth of God, but came to fight in the plain of [h] Megiddo. [23]And the archers shot King Josiah. And the king said to his servants, [i] “Take me away, for I am badly wounded.” [24]So his servants took him out of the chariot and carried him in his second chariot and brought him to Jerusalem. And he died and was buried in the tombs of his fathers. [j] All Judah and Jerusalem mourned for Josiah. [25] [k] Jeremiah also uttered a lament for Josiah; and all [l] the singing men and singing women have spoken of Josiah in their laments to this day. They made these a rule in Israel; behold, they are written in the Laments. [26]Now the rest of the acts of Josiah, and his good deeds according to what is written in the Law of the LORD, [27]and his acts, first and last, behold, they are written in the Book of the Kings of Israel and Judah.

Judah’s Decline

2 CHRONICLES 36 [†] [m] The people of the land took Jehoahaz the son of Josiah and made him king in his father’s place in Jerusalem. [2]Jehoahaz was twenty-three years old when he began to reign, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem. [3]Then the king of Egypt deposed him in Jerusalem and [n] laid on the land a tribute of a hundred talents of silver and a talent [1] of gold. [4]And the king of Egypt made Eliakim his brother king over Judah and Jerusalem, and changed his name to Jehoiakim. But Neco took Jehoahaz his brother and carried him to Egypt.

5[†] [o] Jehoiakim was twenty-five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. He did what was evil in the sight of the LORD his God. 6 [p] Against him came up Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon [q] and bound him in chains [r] to take him to Babylon. 7 [s] Nebuchadnezzar also carried part of the vessels of the house of the LORD to Babylon and put them in his palace in Babylon. 8 [t] Now the rest of the acts of Jehoiakim, and the abominations that he did, and what was found against him, behold, they are written in the Book of the Kings of Israel and Judah. And Jehoiachin his son reigned in his place.

9[†] [u] Jehoiachin was eighteen [2] years old when he became king, and he reigned three months and ten days in Jerusalem. He did what was evil in the sight of the LORD. 10In [v] the spring of the year King Nebuchadnezzar sent and brought him to Babylon, [w] with the precious vessels of the house of the LORD, and made his brother [x] Zedekiah king over Judah and Jerusalem.

11[†] [y] Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. 12He did what was evil in the sight of the LORD his God. He did not humble himself before [z] Jeremiah the prophet, who spoke from the mouth of the LORD. 13 [a] He also rebelled against King Nebuchadnezzar, who had made him swear by God. [b] He stiffened his neck and hardened his heart against turning to the LORD, the God of Israel. 14All the officers of the priests and the people likewise were exceedingly unfaithful, following all the abominations of the nations. And they polluted the house of the LORD that he had made holy in Jerusalem.

15The LORD, the God of their fathers, [c] sent persistently to them by his messengers, because he had compassion on his people and on his dwelling place. 16 [d] But they kept mocking the messengers of God, [e] despising his words and scoffing at his prophets, [f] until the wrath of the LORD rose against his people, until there was no remedy.

Jerusalem Captured and Burned

17 [g] Therefore he brought up against them the king of the Chaldeans, who killed their young men with the sword in the house of their sanctuary and had no compassion on young man or virgin, old man or aged. He gave them all into his hand. 18 [h] And all the vessels of the house of God, great and small, and the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the king and of his princes, all these he brought to Babylon. [19][†] [i] And they burned the house of God and broke down the wall of Jerusalem and burned all its palaces with fire and destroyed all its precious vessels. [20]He [j] took into exile in Babylon those who had escaped from the sword, [k] and they became servants to him and to his sons until the establishment of the kingdom of Persia, [21]to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremiah, until the land had [l] enjoyed its Sabbaths. All the days that it lay desolate [m] it kept Sabbath, to fulfill seventy years.

The Proclamation of Cyrus

[22][†] [n] Now in the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, [o] that the word of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremiah might be fulfilled, [p] the Lord stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, so that he made a proclamation throughout all his kingdom and also put it in writing: [23]“Thus says Cyrus king of Persia, ‘The Lord, the God of heaven, has given me all the kingdoms of the earth, and he has charged me to build him a house at Jerusalem, which is in Judah. Whoever is among you of all his people, may the Lord his God be with him. Let him go up.’”

Study Notes for 2 Chronicles

1:1–2:18 Solomon's Temple Preparations. Second Chronicles 1:1–9:31 completes the second of the three main sections of 1–2 Chronicles. In 1 Chron. 10:1–29:30, David makes the essential preparations for building the temple. In 2 Chron. 1:1–9:31, Solomon completes the task. In this first section, 1:1–2:18, God provides Solomon with the wealth, material, and workers to build the temple.

FACT

David reigned for 40 years. He ruled over Judah for 7 years in Hebron, and then over all twelve tribes for 33 years in Jerusalem (29:27).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 1:1–6 Solomon's journey to the tabernacle and altar at Gibeon involves all Israel, like David's mission to retrieve the ark (1 Chron. 13:1–16:43). The Mosaic covenant provided the foundation of Solomon's reign, as it did for David. Bezalel is the master craftsman of the tabernacle. He is assisted by Oholiab (see Ex. 31:1–11).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 1:7–13 During the night (in a dream, according to 1 Kings 3:5), God invites Solomon to ask in prayer for whatever he desires (compare John 15:7). Solomon's request that God will fulfill his promise to David (see 1 Chron. 17:23) looks forward to the completion of the temple (2 Chron. 6:17). numerous as the dust of the earth. God's covenant promise to Abraham (Gen. 13:16) was being fulfilled in Solomon's day.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 1:14–17 From 1 Kings 10:27–29, and repeated with some changes at 2 Chron. 9:25–28. This section demonstrates the fulfillment of God's promise of wealth for Solomon (1:12; see note on 1 Kings 10:26–29).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 2:1 a temple for the name of the LORD. See Deut. 12:5. God's "name" in association with a place signifies that he chooses to be present there among his people. Yet God is not just present in the temple. He is present everywhere (2 Chron. 2:6). royal palace. Linked here with the temple, perhaps to indicate the close connection between the two "houses" of the Davidic covenant (see 1 Chron. 17:14).

FACT

Kue (1:16) was a province located in what is today the nation of Turkey. It was a landlocked area, accessible only through two mountain passes. In NT times it was known as Cilicia and its chief city was Tarsus. Both the apostle Paul and the Roman orator Cicero were from this province.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 2:2 Solomon used the forced labor of Canaanites (see vv. 17–18; see notes on 8:7–10; 1 Chron. 22:2–5) for building the temple.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 2:3–10 Solomon's letter to Hiram, king of Tyre (who had earlier assisted David; 1 Chron. 14:1), is considerably expanded from 1 Kings 5:3–6. This letter describes the purpose of the temple for worship according to the Law of Moses, it expresses the supremacy of Israel's God (2 Chron. 2:5–6), and it requests a skilled craftsman (v. 7) and different kinds of timber (v. 8).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 2:6 heaven, even highest heaven, cannot contain him. See note on 1 Kings 8:27–30.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 2:11–16 In his reply to Solomon, Hiram, though a Gentile, acknowledges Yahweh as Creator.

3:1–5:1 Solomon's Building of the Temple. The temple is to be a fit place for God to dwell among his people.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 3:1–17 The Chronicler's actual account of the construction of the temple is much briefer than the account in 1 Kings 6. The temple did not function as a place of congregational worship. Only priests would have been admitted to the temple itself. Only on the Day of Atonement could the high priest enter the Most Holy Place.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 3:1 Mount Zion is identified here with Mount Moriah, where Abraham was commanded to offer Isaac (Gen. 22:2).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 3:2 Compare 1 Kings 6:1. Depending on which chronology is followed, this may have been in either 966 or 959 B.C.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 3:4 120 cubits. The Septuagint and other ancient versions of the OT suggest that the vestibule was actually 20 cubits (30 feet/9.1 m) high. The Hebrew text lacks the word "cubits," so the precise height is uncertain.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 3:6 Parvaim. Possibly a place in northeastern Arabia.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 3:8–13 The Most Holy Place was the secret, cube-shaped room in which the ark of the covenant would be finally deposited (5:7). The cherubim were angelic beings that combined human and animal features (see Ezek. 10:14; 41:18–19). On the temple construction, see note on 1 Kings 6:14–35.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 3:14 The inclusion of the veil connected the temple with the Mosaic tabernacle (Ex. 26:31–35).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 3:15–17 thirty-five cubits high. Probably the combined heights of the pillars (see note on 1 Kings 7:15–21; see 1 Kings 7:15; 2 Kings 25:17). Jachin ("he establishes"); Boaz ("in him is strength").

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 4:1 Solomon's altar stood outside the temple, perhaps in front of the temple entrance, just as Moses' altar had stood before the entrance of the tabernacle (Ex. 40:6).

FACT

Why did the pillars of the temple have names? Jachin means "he establishes," while Boaz means "in him is strength" (3:17). The names may have been a way of reminding worshipers that the Lord establishes his covenant through the temple.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 4:2–6 On various details of the temple, see notes on 1 Kings 7:23–47. The sea was a large, circular water tank, outside the southeast corner of the temple (2 Chron. 4:10). The priests used it for their ceremonial cleansing before they entered the temple (v. 6). It corresponded to the bronze basin that had stood between the entrance to the tabernacle and the Mosaic altar (Ex. 30:18–21). 3,000 baths. First Kings 7:26 reads "two thousand baths." The difference may be due to a copyist's error. The twelve oxen, three facing each of four directions, probably signified the tribes of Israel. They would be a reminder of how the tribes encamped, three on each side, around the four sides of the tabernacle in the wilderness (see Num. 2:1–31).

FACT

What was the "sea" in the temple court? The sea (4:2) was a bronze water tank outside the southeast corner of the temple. The priests used it for ceremonial washing before entering the temple and to clean the area where sacrifices were made. It held at least 12,000 gallons (55,000 liters) of water.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 4:2 ten cubits . . . thirty cubits. See note on 1 Kings 7:23.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 4:9 the court of the priests. A feature that also corresponds to the tabernacle; see Ex. 27:9–19.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 4:11b–22 The bronze vessels and furnishings were in the temple entrance and court, while those inside (the place of greater holiness) were of gold. The golden altar was for burning incense (see Ex. 30:1–10; 1 Chron. 28:18). The Most Holy Place was separated from the Holy Place by inner doors . . . of gold as well as the veil (2 Chron. 3:14).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 4:19 Solomon made all the vessels. See note on 1 Kings 7:48–51.

5:2–7:22 The Dedication of the Temple. The Chronicler's account of the dedication of the temple is much longer than his description of its construction (77 verses compared to 40), since he is more concerned with the meaning of the temple than with its physical structure. He describes two appearances of the Lord (5:14; 7:1–3), Solomon's great prayer of dedication (6:14–42), and God's message to Solomon (7:12–22).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 5:2–3 the feast that is in the seventh month. The Feast of Booths (see Lev. 23:33–43). The temple was completed in the eighth month of Solomon's eleventh year (959 or 952 B.C.; see 1 Kings 6:38).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 5:5 Moses' tent of meeting and its holy vessels were brought up from Gibeon (1:3) to join the ark. Similarly, the Levitical priests Asaph, Heman, and Jeduthun (5:12; see 1 Chron. 16:37, 42) were united for this ceremony. From now on all of Israel's worship would be focused on the Jerusalem temple.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 5:7–9 The priests completed the transfer of the ark, since only they could enter the Most Holy Place. When the Chronicler said that the ark was there to this day, he was probably quoting from one of his historical sources. The ark was apparently destroyed along with the first temple and never replaced.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 5:10 The ark had once contained the jar of manna and Aaron's rod (Heb. 9:4; see Ex. 16:32–34; Num. 17:10–11), but now it held only the two tablets inscribed with the Ten Commandments.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 5:11–14 The appearance of the cloud and the inability of the priests even to stand to minister in God's presence signified that God was taking up residence in his temple (see also 7:3). This recalls the appearance of the glory cloud in the tabernacle and over the tent of meeting (Ex. 40:34–35).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 6:1–42 The account of Solomon's prayer of dedication is very similar to the parallel account in 1 Kings 8:12–50a, except that the Chronicler focuses on the Davidic covenant (2 Chron. 6:41–42, from Ps. 132:8–10).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 6:1–2 God was present in the thick darkness of the cloud on Mount Sinai (see Ex. 20:21). He has now graciously come to dwell in the Most Holy Place of the temple.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 6:3–11 God has fulfilled his promise to David (see 1 Chron. 17:23–24).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 6:7 On the name of the LORD, see notes on 1 Kings 8:17 and Acts 10:48.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 6:15 On God's promises to David, see 1 Chron. 17:11–14 and 22:9–10.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 6:18–21 Prayers offered in or toward the temple will come before God in his heavenly dwelling place because his name is on the temple (vv. 20, 34, 38). This signifies both God's spiritual presence in the temple and his ownership of it. (See note on 2:1.) The NT equivalent is prayer offered in Jesus' name (see John 14:13–14).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 6:22–23 Compare Ex. 22:10–12. If a person was accused of a crime but there were no witnesses, the law provided for oaths to be taken to determine guilt or innocence.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 6:24–25 Compare Lev. 26:17; Deut. 28:25; and note on 1 Kings 8:33–40. National defeat is included among the curses for covenant breaking. Exile is one possible punishment.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 6:26–27 heaven is shut up . . . no rain. See Deut. 28:23–24; 2 Chron. 7:13; and note on 1 Kings 8:33–40.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 6:32–33 Solomon's petition turns from Israelites to the foreigner who has heard of the Lord's great name, mighty hand, and outstretched arm (Deut. 4:34; 5:15) and prays toward the temple. Solomon desires that the prayers of this person, too, would be answered, and that all the peoples of the earth should know God's name and fear him (compare Isa. 2:1–5; 56:6–8; Luke 7:1–10). "Your mighty hand and your outstretched arm" recalls God's deliverance of Israel in the exodus (Ex. 3:19–20).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 6:36–39 See note on 1 Kings 8:46–51. The worst punishment Israel could receive for sin would be exile from the Promised Land (see 2 Chron. 36:15–20). there is no one who does not sin. See Eccles. 7:20; Rom. 3:23. pray toward their land. The position of one's body was a part of prayer, especially for exiles like Daniel, who consciously prayed in the direction of Jerusalem (Dan. 6:10).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 6:41–42 steadfast love for David. For the Chronicler, God's enduring covenant with David is the basis of the relationship between God and his people.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 7:1–22 These verses record God's twofold answer to Solomon's prayer, through the appearance of the glory of the Lord (vv. 1–3) and the words of the Lord (vv. 12–22). The emphasis is on repentance and restoration.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 7:1b–3 Just as a divine fire consumed the burnt offering in the Mosaic tabernacle, and "the glory of the LORD" was visible to the people (Lev. 9:23–24), the fire . . . from heaven that consumed the sacrifice signaled acceptance of the temple and the priests' ministry, while the glory of the LORD appeared on the temple, and the people worshiped. For he is good, for his steadfast love endures forever. Variations on this refrain from Psalm 136 occur several times in Chronicles (see 1 Chron. 16:34; 2 Chron. 5:13; 7:6; 20:21).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 7:8 Lebo-hamath to the Brook of Egypt designates the whole of Solomon's empire (see note on 1 Kings 8:65–66).

FACT

Trumpets were important instruments in Israel (7:6). They were constructed from metals such as bronze, copper, silver, or gold. They were used for a variety of purposes, for instance, to gather the congregation and to announce festivals.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 7:11–22 God's reply to Solomon's prayer is presented immediately after the account of the dedication, although in fact 13 years had passed, in which time the palace was also completed (v. 11; see 1 Kings 7:1; 9:10).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 7:12b The temple is for sacrifice as well as prayer.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 7:14 if my people. God's greatest desire is to forgive his repentant people and heal their land. Various words in this verse (humble themselves, pray, seek, turn) describe true repentance; these words will recur throughout chs. 10–36. "Heal their land" includes deliverance from drought and disease as well as the return of exiles to their rightful home (6:38). See Jer. 25:5; 26:3.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 7:17–18 a man to rule Israel. See Mic. 5:2. Israelites living after the return from exile, when Chronicles was being written, still looked forward to the coming of a Messiah through David's descendants, even though the last Davidic king had lost his kingdom many years before, in 586 B.C.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 7:19–22 The statement if you turn aside and forsake my statutes is addressed to the people ("you" in v. 19 is plural; see notes on 1 Kings 9:6; 9:7–8).

8:1–16 Solomon's Other Accomplishments. Solomon's further conquests and building projects are described, as well as his attention to matters of worship. The success of Solomon's various building projects are seen as blessings because of his obedience in building the temple.

FACT

Which took longer to build: Solomon's palace, or the temple? Although Solomon spent seven years building the temple, he spent 13 years building his own palace (8:1; 1 Kings 6:38; 7:1). This may have been an early sign that he was more devoted to his own causes than to the Lord.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 8:2 According to 1 Kings 9:11–14, Solomon had actually given these cities to Hiram, perhaps as collateral for a loan. In that case, the Chronicler is describing their return to Israelite control.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 8:3–4 Hamath-zobah was about 120 miles (193 km) north of Damascus (see 1 Chron. 18:3). Tadmor was about 125 miles (201 km) to the northeast. These commercial cities represented the farthest extent of Solomon's power.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 8:5 Upper Beth-horon and Lower Beth-horon were on a ridge above the Valley of Aijalon northwest of Jerusalem. They were crucial to the security of the city and provided access to the international coastal highway.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 8:7–10 Following ancient practices for controlling enemies, Solomon drafted the descendants of the Canaanites into forced labor for his construction projects. According to 1 Kings 5:13–18, he imposed less rigorous demands on the Israelites.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 8:11 Solomon's Egyptian wife, Pharaoh's daughter, was kept in a separate house and away from the ark, probably on account of her paganism (see 1 Kings 11:7–8).

8:17–9:31 Solomon's International Relations and Renown. Solomon's reputation and influence extend beyond the borders of Israel.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 8:17–18; 9:10–11 The location of Ezion-geber has not been accurately identified. Israel forms the land bridge connecting the Mediterranean world with the kingdoms on the Red Sea and beyond, into Asia. Solomon profited from his control of these trade routes, and from his seafaring partnership with King Hiram of Tyre. The Tyreans were renowned for their seamanship. Ophir was probably in southwest Arabia or the Horn of Africa.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 9:1–9, 12 Sheba, or Saba, covers about the same area as modern Yemen. Sheba traded in luxury goods from East Africa and India. The queen may have come to Israel to discuss trade (vv. 1, 9), but her visit was primarily a quest for wisdom (vv. 1, 6). This Gentile queen recognizes that Solomon sits on God's throne as his chosen king. She also recognizes that God himself is the true King of Israel (v. 8; compare 2:12). This would have been a great encouragement to the first readers of Chronicles, living after the exile, since no descendant of David was currently on the throne.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 9:7 Happy are these your servants. See note on 1 Kings 10:8.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 9:9–12 On the queen's gift of 120 talents of gold, see note on 1 Kings 10:10–13.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 9:13–14 Solomon's annual revenues in gold (equal to about 22 tons) would have come from gifts and trade (see note on 1 Kings 10:14–25).

Solomon's International Ventures

c. 950 B.C.

Solomon's firm control of important trade routes linking Egypt, Arabia, Mesopotamia, and Anatolia (Asia Minor) provided him with incalculable wealth. Partnering with King Hiram of Tyre, Solomon also launched his own trading expeditions to Ophir to acquire valuable and exotic goods. The queen of Sheba's visit to Solomon attests to his great fame throughout the ancient world. Solomon further augmented his wealth by buying horses from Kue and chariots from Egypt and selling them to the kings of Syria and the Hittites.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 9:15–16 The House of the Forest of Lebanon was Solomon's palace, which was made from great quantities of cedar (see 1 Kings 7:2).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 9:21 Tarshish is usually identified with Tartessus in Spain, but here it seems to be a way of describing "the ends of the earth."

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 9:29–31 Ahijah the Shilonite . . . Iddo the seer. Although the Chronicler says nothing about Solomon's spiritual unfaithfulness and the rebellions he faced in his declining years (1 Kings 11), the mention of these prophets directs the reader to these accounts in Kings. Solomon slept with his fathers. See notes on 1 Kings 2:10 and 11:43.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 10:1–36:23 The Kingdom of Judah down to the Exile. After the death of Solomon, and following the division of the nation into north and south, Chronicles deals almost exclusively with the southern kingdom of Judah. In contrast to 1–2 Kings, the history of the northern kingdom is considered by the Chronicler only as it affects that of Judah. The Chronicler understood that the northern tribes still belonged to Israel, but he focused on the southern kingdom, since it was ruled by the descendants of David, the king specially chosen by the Lord.

FACT

Second Chronicles covers a span of more than 400 years and the reigns of 20 different kings.

10:1–12:16 Rehoboam. The reign of Rehoboam (931–915 B.C.) is dominated by the division of the kingdom and the consequences thereof. While Rehoboam fails as a leader, he is also an example of repentance and obedience, leading to the restoration of blessing.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 10:1–19 From 1 Kings 12:1–19. Various people were to blame for the division of Israel into the northern and southern kingdoms. Solomon (2 Chron. 10:4, 10, 11) and Jeroboam (13:6–7) both contributed to the difficulties through their disobedience. Here the focus is on Rehoboam's foolishness in alienating the northern tribes. At the same time, the author notes that this was a turn of affairs brought about by God (10:15).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 10:1 Shechem. See note on 1 Kings 12:1.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 10:2 Jeroboam. See 1 Kings 11:26–40.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 10:4 Your father made our yoke heavy. See note on 1 Kings 12:4.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 10:7 Speak good words appears to mean "make an agreement" (see 2 Kings 25:28–29).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 10:10 My little finger. See note on 1 Kings 12:10–11.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 10:16 This rejection of the house of David is in sharp contrast to the declaration of loyalty in 1 Chron. 12:18.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 10:18 Hadoram, Solomon's taskmaster, was also called "Adoram" (see note on 1 Kings 12:18) or "Adoniram" (1 Kings 4:6; 5:14).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 11:1–12:16 Rehoboam's reign shows the themes of judgment and restoration (7:13–14) being acted out in the life of the kingdom.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 11:4 your relatives. Despite their rebellion, the northern tribes did not cease to be part of "all Israel." they listened to the word of the LORD. See note on 1 Kings 12:24.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 11:5–23 This information comes from a source other than 1–2 Kings. It illustrates the blessings that come to the southern kingdom (Judah) as they obey the word of the Lord (2 Chron. 11:4). Meanwhile, Jeroboam leads the northerners (Israel) into spiritual unfaithfulness.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 11:5–12 The fortified cities covered the eastern, southern, and western approaches to Judah. They were probably intended as a defense against Egypt, which was Jeroboam's ally. They did not prove effective against Shishak (12:4).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 11:13–17 Jeroboam created a new religion in Bethel and Dan. This cult mixed what God revealed to Moses with other practices. Jeroboam hoped to keep his people from going to sacrifice in Jerusalem. He feared they would support Judah’s king if they went there to worship (1 Kings 12:26–33).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 11:17 Rehoboam’s and Judah’s commitment to faithful worship and obedience to God’s law lasted only three years (see 12:1).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 11:18–23 The growth of Rehoboam’s family is a sign of God’s blessing on him. These details must refer to the whole of his 17-year reign, and not just the three-year period of faithfulness to God’s law.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 12:1 That Rehoboam and his people abandoned the law of the LORD is the same as abandoning God himself (v. 5). Likewise, Jesus said that the person who truly loved him would obey his commandments (John 14:21).

FACT

The title of chief prince (11:22–23) was most likely an administrative position. Members of the royal family were sometimes appointed to such positions to help them learn how to lead a kingdom.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 12:2 Unfaithful is an important term in Chronicles (see note on 1 Chron. 2:3–8). The Egyptian invasion is described as being God’s punishment for sin. Shishak is Sheshonq I, who ruled 945–924 B.C. The fifth year of King Rehoboam would be 925 B.C. (see note on 1 Kings 14:25–26).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 12:5 You abandoned me, so I have abandoned you. See 1 Chron. 28:9; 2 Chron. 15:2.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 12:6–8 humbled themselves. See 7:14. The partial deliverance was intended to bring the people of Judah closer to the Lord. This would have reminded the first readers of Chronicles of their own circumstances: they were subject to the Persian kings, yet free to worship the Lord (see Ezra 9:8–9).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 12:9–11 The treasures of the temple and palace were surrendered as tribute to Shishak king of Egypt, so that he would not attack the city.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 12:12 when he humbled himself the wrath of the LORD turned from him. For the Chronicler, this is the key point to remember about Rehoboam's reign.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 12:14 Whereas 1 Kings 14:22 blames the people for "doing evil," the Chronicler makes this charge against Rehoboam and adds that he did not set his heart to seek the LORD (compare 2 Chron. 11:16).

REHOBOAM

Following the death of King Solomon, the people of Israel gathered at Shechem to make Solomon's son, Rehoboam, their king. The people made one request: that Rehoboam lighten the heavy tax burden that his father had forced upon them. Rather than honor their request, however, Rehoboam vowed to make life even harder for the people of Israel. Disregarding the wise advice of his older counselors, Rehoboam followed the younger men's counsel and warned the people: "My father disciplined you with whips, but I will discipline you with scorpions" (10:14). His plan for more oppressive control backfired, however, when the 10 northern tribes revolted and set up Jeroboam as their king. The northern kingdom would now be known as Israel and the southern kingdom would be called Judah. (2 Chronicles 12:13–14)

---

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 12:15–16 These verses generally follow 1 Kings 14:29–31 but specify that historical records from Shemaiah and Iddo contributed to the Chronicler's sources (see note on 1 Kings 14:19).

13:1–14:1 Abijah. The Chronicler's account of Abijah's reign is much longer than in 1 Kings 15:1–8 (where he is called Abijam). This account focuses on the "war between Abijam and Jeroboam" (1 Kings 15:7).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 13:2 three years. 915–912 B.C. Micaiah. Also spelled Maacah. See 11:20.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 13:3 Abijah seems to imply (v. 8) that Jeroboam started this war. He was trying to reunite the kingdom by force, as Rehoboam had tried to do earlier (11:1–4). Judah is outnumbered two to one by Israel.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 13:4 Mount Zemaraim was probably on the northern border of Benjamin, between the two kingdoms (see Josh. 18:22).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 13:5–8a Abijah condemns Jeroboam and the Israelites for rejecting God's decision to give permanent kingship over Israel to David and his sons. The term covenant of salt implies a permanent provision (see Num. 18:19). Jeroboam's kingship is dismissed as rebellion against his master, Solomon, while the Davidic kingdom is nothing less than the kingdom of the Lord (see 2 Chron. 9:8).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 13:8b–12 Abijah condemns the northerners for their religious unfaithfulness (compare Hos. 8:6). Judah, by contrast, has the legitimate priesthood and temple worship, so Israel should not fight against the Lord.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 13:13–19 Judah's reliance on God (vv. 14, 18) is the key factor in its success in this battle. Bethel was one of the locations of Jeroboam's calf cult (see v. 8 and 1 Kings 12:28–29).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 13:21 Large families are a sign of God's blessing (see 1 Chron. 28:5; 2 Chron. 11:18–21).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 13:22 the story of the prophet Iddo. See notes on 12:15–16 and 1 Kings 14:19.

14:2–16:14 Asa. The Chronicler's account of Asa's reign (910–869 B.C.) is much longer and more complex than that given in the earlier history (1 Kings 15:9–24). Asa's reign begins well but ends badly, as trust in God and obedience to the prophetic word give way to dependence on human alliances and rejection of God's prophet.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 14:2–8 Asa begins his reign by rooting out idolatry and commanding Judah to seek the Lord. The high places were local sites usually associated with pagan worship (see Deut. 12:2–3). Asherim. Poles representing the fertility goddess Asherah. Building projects, a large army, and peace are typical blessings for faithfulness in Chronicles (compare 2 Chron. 11:5–12; 13:3; 17:10).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 14:9 Zerah the Ethiopian. Literally "the Cushite," from modern Sudan (see 12:3; 16:8). Possibly a general in the service of Pharaoh Osorkon I, son of Shoshenq I (12:2). A million men is literally "a thousand thousands." An alternative translation is "a thousand units." This is more than double the size of Asa's army (14:8). Mareshah. One of Rehoboam's fortified cities on the southwestern border (11:8).

FACT

An unreported defeat? Scholars believe that Zerah the Ethiopian (14:9), who suffered a humiliating defeat by King Asa, may have been fighting on behalf of Egypt. There is no record of the battle in Egyptian history, but that does not mean the defeat did not occur, since the Pharaohs did not always record their defeats.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 15:1–7 Azariah is not otherwise known. His speech is intended to encourage Asa to continue his reforms and lead the people into covenant renewal. If you seek him. See 1 Chron. 28:9. The theme of "seeking the LORD" appears throughout 2 Chronicles 15 (vv. 4, 12, 13, 15). Verses 3–6 call to mind the unstable time of the judges.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 15:8 Cities that he had taken in . . . Ephraim implies that there had been conflict between Judah and Israel prior to the thirty-sixth year of Asa's reign (see note on 16:1).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 15:10 the third month of the fifteenth year. Probably May/June 895 B.C.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 15:12 This was essentially a renewal of the Sinai covenant (Exodus 19–20; 24). It gave the people an opportunity to affirm their total commitment to Yahweh.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 15:13 whoever would not seek the LORD . . . should be put to death. See Deut. 13:6–10 and 17:2–7.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 15:16 The queen mother served as an adviser to the king and a teacher of the royal children. The brook Kidron, or the "Kidron Valley," is just outside Jerusalem. See 29:16; 30:14.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 15:17 The high places were not taken out of Israel probably refers to those cities that previously belonged to the northern kingdom and were then under Asa's control. In Judah, Asa's reforms had been much more successful (14:3, 5). the heart of Asa was wholly true all his days

(see 1 Kings 15:14). This is the overall assessment, despite the decline of his last years.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 16:1 In the thirty-sixth year of the reign of Asa (c. 876 or 875 B.C.), Baasha king of Israel went up against Judah. The text raises a problem, since Baasha had already been dead 10 years (see 1 Kings 15:33; 16:8; and note on 1 Kings 15:17).). It is possible that the text reflects a copying error, and should have read the "sixteenth" year of Asa's reign. (See also note on 2 Chron. 15:8.) Ramah lay about 5 miles (8 km) north of Jerusalem. From Ramah, Baasha could control the main road to and from the city.

ASA

Asa became king following the death of his father, Abijah. As a result of his faithful leadership, Judah lived at peace during the first 10 years of his reign. The prophet Azariah prophesied concerning Asa, "The LORD is with you while you are with him. If you seek him, he will be found by you, but if you forsake him, he will forsake you" (15:2). Asa took the prophet's words to heart and immediately set about making religious reforms, including repair of the altar in the temple. He gathered the people together to make a covenant, commanding that anyone who would not seek the Lord would be put to death. Sadly, the last five years of Asa's reign were marked by spiritual and physical decline, as the king began to trust human alliances and ability rather than God. (2 Chronicles 15:8–19)

---

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 16:2–5 silver and gold. See note on 1 Kings 15:18–19. There is (or "Let there be") a covenant. Asa entered into an alliance with Ben-hadad, at the cost of the temple and his palace. This helped Asa withstand the threat from Baasha, but Asa's action reflected a lack of faith in the Lord, who already had delivered him from a greater threat (2 Chron. 16:8). Such foreign alliances are condemned in 20:35–37; 22:5.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 16:7–9 The rebuke by the prophet Hanani contrasts with Azariah's encouraging message (15:2–7). Hanani implies that Asa could have defeated Syria as well as Israel (16:7), had he trusted in God. the eyes of the LORD run to and fro throughout the whole earth. God continuously watches and evaluates everyone's inner thoughts, attitudes, and convictions (heart). Compare Zech. 4:10.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 16:10 Asa was angry with the seer and put him . . . in prison. This is the OT example of a king persecuting a prophet (compare 18:26; 24:21; 25:16; 36:16).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 16:11–12 the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel. See 12:15; 13:22; and note on 1 Kings 14:19. diseased in his feet. The Chronicler does not say whether Asa's foot disease is divine punishment for his lack of faith and his abuse of Hanani, though this may be implied. (A connection between sickness and divine punishment is made, however, in two other cases: 2 Chron. 21:16–20; 26:16–23.) Asa is not criticized so much for seeking help from physicians but for doing so apart from the LORD and his promises of "healing" (7:14; compare 30:20; and "the LORD, your healer," Ex. 15:26).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 16:13–14 forty-first year. Asa ruled 912–871 B.C. a very great fire. See 21:19; Jer. 34:5.

17:1–21:1 Jehoshaphat. The Chronicler's account of Jehoshaphat's reign is much longer than the one in Kings, where Jehoshaphat plays a subordinate role to the northern kings Ahab and Jehoram. The Chronicler focuses on Jehoshaphat as one who strengthens his kingdom spiritually and militarily (2 Chron. 17:1–19), organizes its system of courts (19:1–11), and demonstrates great faith and leadership in the face of a terrible military threat (20:1–29). At the same time, Jehoshaphat is criticized for his alliances with the evil northern kings (19:1–3; 20:37). Like his predecessors, Jehoshaphat is a mixture of good and bad qualities, but he is seen as mostly good.

FACT

Co-regency was the common practice of two kings ruling a country at the same time. The first king in the Bible to do this was David when he anointed his son Solomon to rule. Asa and Jehoshaphat reigned together for three years (chs. 16–17). Co-regency allowed the son to learn from the father as he ruled. It also protected the throne from being claimed by another heir.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 17:7–9 In the third year of his reign. Probably the first year of his reign alone (870 B.C.), following a three-year co-regency with his father (see 16:12; 20:31). Besides administering sacrifices, it was the priests' duty to instruct the people in the law (see Lev. 10:11; Neh. 8:7–9).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 17:10–11 The blessings of peace with the neighboring nations and of receiving tribute from them are seen as being a result of the people's faithfulness to the law (compare 1 Chron. 14:17; 2 Chron. 14:14). Arabians probably refers to tribes living to the south and southwest of Judah, close to the Philistines (see 21:16–17; 26:6–7).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 17:12–19 Large armies are a sign of God's blessing, but they cannot guarantee victory if the people's priorities are wrong or their faith is misplaced (compare Ps. 33:16–19).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 18:1–27 Like his father Asa (see 16:3), Jehoshaphat seeks an alliance with the northern kingdom based not on righteous grounds but on political expediency. In his account of Hezekiah's reign (chs. 29–30), the Chronicler will show how a true and beneficial unity among the tribes of Israel can be achieved.

FACT

Ramoth-gilead was a commercial center and an important border town between Israel and Syria. This made it a prime target for capture. It had already changed hands several times between the two nations before the events described in ch. 18.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 18:1–2 The Chronicler mentions the marriage of Jehoshaphat's son Jehoram to Ahab's daughter Athaliah (see 21:6). The statement that Jehoshaphat had great riches and honor indicates divine blessing on his reign and makes his alliance with Ahab even more unacceptable. The marriage was intended to guarantee peace between the kingdoms after 50 years of hostilities. Such an alliance, however, would require Jehoshaphat to "help the wicked and love those who hate the LORD" (19:2).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 18:3 Ramoth-gilead was southeast of the Sea of Galilee. The Syrians captured it during the reign of Ben-hadad (c. 860–843 B.C.).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 18:4–14 Jehoshaphat, in contrast to Ahab, at least wanted to seek the word of the LORD about the mission to recapture Ramoth-gilead (vv. 4, 6, 7). Ahab's four hundred men were called prophets (see note on 1 Kings 22:6–7), but they were also government officials, probably connected with the Baal worship that Jezebel had introduced into the northern kingdom (see 1 Kings 18:19). Jehoshaphat knew they were not Yahweh's prophets, so he persisted in his request (2 Chron. 18:6). Micaiah the son of Imlah was one of the authentic prophets of Yahweh (in a kingdom where they had recently been persecuted; see 1 Kings 18:4). His initial words to Ahab (2 Chron. 18:14) were apparently spoken ironically, as Ahab's reaction (v. 15) suggests.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 18:9–11 sitting at the threshing floor. See note on 1 Kings 22:10–12.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 18:14 Go up and triumph. See note on 1 Kings 22:15–16.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 18:15–22 Ahab's insistence on hearing what Micaiah has really received from Yahweh is answered with a report of two visions. The first concerns the outcome of the battle (v. 16), while the second makes the remarkable claim that God had put a lying spirit in the mouth of Ahab's prophets (vv. 18–22); see notes on 1 Sam. 16:14 and 1 Kings 22:24. As a follower of false gods (see 1 Kings 16:30–33), Ahab has been fittingly deceived by their spokesmen, his prophets. The irony of the situation is that Ahab is told the truth (2 Chron. 18:16, 18–22) but does not recognize it as such, even though he had insisted that Micaiah tell him the truth (v. 15). His repudiation of Micaiah's message and his treatment of the prophet (v. 26) indicate his contempt for unwelcome truth.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 18:23–27 Zedekiah . . . struck Micaiah on the cheek. Zedekiah claimed to speak in the name of Yahweh (v. 10), but he shows by his violent conduct that he has little concern for Yahweh's truth.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 18:24 you shall see . . . inner chamber. See note on 1 Kings 22:25.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 18:25 Amon . . . Joash. See note on 1 Kings 22:26.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 18:28–34 Ahab is enticed into battle, as the lying spirit promised (v. 20). Ahab decides to disguise himself (see note on 1 Kings 22:30) and directs Jehoshaphat to wear his royal robes. This indicates Ahab's dominant role in the alliance and perhaps also represents an attempt to avoid Micaiah’s word of doom. But Jehoshaphat is saved as a consequence of his desperate prayer (2 Chron. 18:31b), while Ahab dies from an apparently random arrow (v. 33). This is clear evidence of God’s sovereign direction of events.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 19:1–3 This is the Chronicler’s own addition to 1 Kings 22. Jehu the son of Hanani ministered in the days of Baasha, king of Israel (1 Kings 16:1–3). His criticism of Jehoshaphat for his alliance with the ungodly Ahab echoes his criticism of the wicked Baasha (1 Kings 16:7). Love here refers to the commitment to support a treaty. God’s wrath may be avoided or lessened by repentance (see 2 Chron. 12:7; 32:25–26).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 19:4 he went out again. A continuation of the religious teaching mission described in 17:7–9, this time involving the king himself. From Beersheba to the hill country of Ephraim describes the limits of Judah from south to north.

JEHOSHAPHAT

Like his father, Asa, King Jehoshaphat was faithful to the Lord and received God’s blessings. He strengthened his kingdom both spiritually and militarily, and appointed teachers to go throughout Judah and teach the people concerning the Book of the Law. Large armies served Jehoshaphat, and he built up fortresses and store cities in Judah. He had great riches and honor. Jehoshaphat is criticized, however, for his association with the ungodly northern kingdom, including a marriage alliance with King Ahab. Such alliances caused the king to “help the wicked and love those who hate the LORD” (19:2). Despite his shortcomings, Jehoshaphat is remembered primarily for his great faith and leadership and as one who did “what was right in the sight of the LORD” (20:32). (2 Chronicles 19:4)

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 19:5–7 The instructions in Deut. 16:18–17:13 guide Jehoshaphat’s action in appointing judges in the fortified cities of Judah and his words to them. Israel’s judges must act out of a sense of sacred duty (you judge not for man but for the LORD) and must reflect Yahweh’s concern for justice and impartiality. Jehoshaphat’s own name means “Yahweh judges.”

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 19:8–11 The Jerusalem court would have supplemented the local courts. It probably dealt with the more difficult disputed cases. The presiding justices Amariah the chief priest and Zebadiah . . . the governor are responsible for the interests of the temple and the crown, respectively. The judicial system has a vital role in ensuring that the nation's life is righteous and just, so that the people do not incur guilt and wrath.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 20:1–30 These verses describe a victory over Judah's enemies in which God acts for his people. Faith in God and obedience to his prophets (v. 20) was the nation's surest defense against their hostile neighbors (compare Ezra 4; Nehemiah 4).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 20:1–2 After this. The invasion followed Jehoshaphat's religious and judicial reforms (ch. 19), and so it was not a case of divine punishment (see 12:2). Instead it was an opportunity to exercise faith (compare note on 32:1–8). great multitude. Judah was apparently outnumbered by the coalition.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 20:3–4 The fast expressed the special intensity of the people's prayer (see Judg. 20:26; Ezra 8:21–23).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 20:14–19 The people must go down against the enemy, but as prayerful observers, not as combatants. Verse 17 is based very closely on Ex. 14:13–14.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 20:20–23 The wilderness of Tekoa is about 12 miles (19 km) south of Jerusalem. Jehoshaphat's call to faith is based on Isa. 7:9. Believe here means the active and obedient trust that God rewards (see Heb. 11:6), acting on the revealed word of his prophets, including Jahaziel. Ambush may mean either angelic agents (see 2 Chron. 32:21) or men (see Judg. 9:25), in which case suspicions among the coalition forces lead to panic and their own destruction (2 Chron. 20:23; see 1 Sam. 14:20).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 20:24–30 Beracah means "blessing." The return to Jerusalem takes the form of a triumphal procession, which ends appropriately in the temple, where the people first sought God's deliverance (v. 5).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 20:31–34 The high places, however, were not taken away. Some have claimed that this contradicts 17:6, which says that Jehoshaphat "took the high places . . . out of Judah." Both statements can be true if 17:6 refers to Jehoshaphat's official actions and 20:33 indicates that the people were not committed to Jehoshaphat's reforms (see 1 Kings 22:43).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 20:35–37 Jehoshaphat repeats his error of making an alliance (this time, a business agreement) with the Israelite king, Ahab's son Ahaziah.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 21:1 Jehoshaphat slept with his fathers. See notes on 1 Kings 2:10 and 11:43; see 1 Kings 22:50.

FACT

Tarshish (20:36) was a city at the western end of the Mediterranean Sea, possibly in Spain. It was famous for building ships to carry gold and silver to the Near East. Jonah tried to flee to Tarshish to avoid his responsibilities as a prophet.

21:2–22:12 Jehoram and Ahaziah. God is faithful to his promise to preserve David's lineage, even when specific Davidic kings behave like the wicked King Ahab.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 21:2–20 The Chronicler expands the account of Jehoram's reign in 2 Kings 8:16–24. Here, and in his accounts of Ahaziah (2 Chron. 22:1–9) and Athaliah (22:10–23:21), he highlights the disastrous influence of Ahab's house on the Davidic dynasty and Judah.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 21:2–6 Jehoram reigned c. 849–842 B.C., including a co-regency with his father from 853. His marriage to Athaliah, the daughter of Ahab, influenced him in the evil ways of that kingdom. He killed all of his brothers and other possible rivals (a policy that Athaliah would later repeat; see 22:10). Alliance with the ungodly would bring the dynasty to the brink of destruction.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 21:6 he walked in the way of the kings of Israel. See note on 2 Kings 8:18.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 21:7 because of the covenant that he had made with David. See 1 Chron. 17:14. a lamp to him and to his sons forever. Symbolic language for persistence and permanence in the darkest times, perhaps suggested by the constantly burning temple lamps (2 Chron. 13:11).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 21:8–10 Edom and Libnah revolted against Jehoram, and the Chronicler says it was because Jehoram had forsaken the LORD, the God of his fathers. Libnah was a Judean city on the border with Philistia.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 21:11–20 In contrast to his father Jehoshaphat, who removed the high places (17:6), Jehoram actually promotes their construction. He was probably influenced in this by his marriage to Athaliah, daughter of the northern king Ahab. The prophets often described idolatry as whoredom (see Ezek. 16:16; Hos. 4:17–18). letter . . . from Elijah the prophet. As always in Chronicles, the rebellious king is rebuked by a prophet. The last years of Elijah's ministry overlapped with the beginning of Jehoram's reign (2 Kings 1:17). On disease as divine punishment, see 2 Chron. 16:12; 26:19–21; and note on John 9:2.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 22:1–9 The Chronicler's account of Ahaziah's brief reign (842–841 B.C.) is adapted from 2 Kings 8:24–29; 9:21, 28; 10:13–14. The Chronicler emphasizes the damaging influence of the house of Ahab on the young and ineffectual king; they were his counselors, to his undoing (2 Chron. 22:4b).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 22:5–9 The coup led by Jehu is described in detail in 2 Kings 9:1–28. The Chronicler assumes his readers are familiar with the story. He focuses instead on Ahaziah's fate, which was ordained by God (compare 2 Chron. 10:15; 24:20).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 22:10–12 With Ahaziah dead, his mother, Athaliah, daughter of Ahab, sets out to kill all of her own grandchildren, that is, all the potential successors to the throne (compare the similar massacre led by her husband, Jehoram; 21:4). However, Jehoshabeath, sister of Ahaziah, manages to save the infant Joash, who will eventually become king. Jehoshabeath is the wife of Jehoiada the high priest, which helps explain how Joash could remain hidden in the temple buildings throughout Athaliah's rule.

FACT

Athaliah was the only woman to rule over Judah. She was the granddaughter of Omri and the daughter of Ahab. After seizing the throne and murdering the rest of the royal family, she reigned for six years before being overthrown. The young child Joash was hidden during her reign and became king after her death.

23:1–24:27 Joash. Joash's rule marks the restoration of the throne from the usurper, Queen Athaliah, to the rightful Davidic king. It also marks Judah's return to its covenant commitment to the Lord (23:16). Spiritual reforms take place in large part through the influence of the high priest Jehoiada, who is Joash's uncle and becomes his counselor. Things begin going badly, however, after Jehoiada's death. Joash is the first of three kings (followed by Amaziah and Uzziah) whose reigns begin on a positive note but end in failure or disgrace because they reject godly advice.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 23:1–21 Mainly from 2 Kings 11:4–20. Numerous differences reflect the Chronicler's particular concerns.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 23:1b–2 The Chronicler emphasizes the role of the Levites (see also vv. 5–8) and the heads of fathers' houses, as well as military figures, in the uprising.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 23:3 The assembly was a representative body of the nation's leaders. Wise kings sought its advice and support (see 1 Chron. 13:2; 29:1; 2 Chron. 30:2). The covenant with the king probably included the arrangement for Jehoiada to supervise Joash until he reached adulthood (see 24:4). Let him reign, as the LORD spoke. The coup was in keeping with God's promise to preserve David's line (see 1 Chron. 17:14; 2 Chron. 6:10).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 23:4 This is the thing that you shall do. See note on 2 Kings 11:5–8.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 23:5–6 All the people participated in the coup, but they remained in the courts and did not enter the temple.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 23:8–9 The coup was timed to take place during the changing of the guards on the Sabbath, to bring the maximum number of armed men into the temple precincts without arousing suspicion. the spears and . . . shields. See note on 2 Kings 11:10.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 23:11 the testimony. See note on 2 Kings 11:12.

FACT

Why did the guards carry King David's spears? Even though King David's spears (23:9) were around 150 years old, they served an important purpose. Having the guards hold the spears at the coronation of Joash, who was only seven years old, symbolized his right to David's throne.

---

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 23:13–15 The pillar is probably either Boaz or Jachin, the pillars at the temple entrance (3:17; see note on 2 Kings 11:14).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 24:1–27 Loosely adapted from 2 Kings 11:21–12:21, supplemented with the Chronicler's own material (see 2 Chron. 24:27).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 24:2 Joash did what was right. See note on 2 Kings 12:2–3.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 24:3 got for him two wives. Jehoiada acts to ensure that the Davidic line will continue after being nearly destroyed by Athaliah.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 24:4 restore. Athaliah and her family had defiled and damaged the temple (v. 7).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 24:5–6, 9 repair the house of your God. See note on 2 Kings 12:4–5.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 24:8–11 all the people rejoiced and brought their tax. See 1 Chron. 29:6–9. The Chronicler wants his readers to see God's service at the temple not as a burden but as a joyful duty (see Ex. 36:2–7).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 24:14 The revival of temple worship lasted all the days of Jehoiada. After Jehoiada dies and is no longer there to guide him, Joash becomes spiritually unfaithful.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 24:15–22 Jehoiada's burial among the kings is unique for a high priest. the king listened to them. Without Jehoiada's influence, Joash follows evil advice.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 24:23–27 Judah's defeat by the smaller Syrian army is a sign of divine judgment.

25:1–28 Amaziah. Throughout his reign, Amaziah is halfhearted in his loyalty to God. His final failure comes after a steady degeneration.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 25:2 yet not with a whole heart. Second Kings 14:4 mentions that Amaziah failed to remove the high places.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 25:5–16 These verses describe the background and aftermath of the war against Edom (see 2 Kings 14:7).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 25:17–24 wild beast . . . trampled down the thistle. See note on 2 Kings 14:9–10. The Israelite king Joash interprets Amaziah's invitation as a challenge to battle. Amaziah's refusal to listen to Joash's blunt advice was of God, that is, subject to his sovereign control (compare 2 Chron. 10:15; 22:7). Obed-edom. See 1 Chron. 13:14; 26:15.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 25:25–28 The conspiracy against Amaziah (see note on 2 Kings 14:19) began when he turned away from the LORD, perhaps referring to 2 Chron. 25:14, 20.

FACT

Thistles (25:18) are flowering plants known for their sharp outer edges. This discourages animals from feeding on the plant. In the Bible, thistles often represent God's curse on the land.

26:1–23 Uzziah. Compare 2 Kings 15:2–7. The Chronicler emphasizes God's blessing on Uzziah's long reign (792–740 B.C.) but also the cause of his eventual downfall.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 26:1 Elsewhere, Uzziah is called "Azariah" (2 Kings 15:1, 6–7; 1 Chron. 3:12). The Chronicler may have called him Uzziah here to avoid confusion with the chief priest Azariah (2 Chron. 26:17–20).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 26:2 the king slept with his fathers. See note on 1 Kings 2:10.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 26:3 The long reign of Uzziah included co-regencies with his father Amaziah (796–767 B.C.) and his son Jotham (750–733). Isaiah's prophetic ministry began during Uzziah's reign (Isa. 1:1; 6:1).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 26:5 Zechariah was a religious adviser to Uzziah, as Jehoiada was for Joash (24:2). Nothing else is known about Zechariah.

UZZIAH

Uzziah was 16 years old when he became king, following the assassination of his father, Amaziah. Like many kings before him, Uzziah's reign began with a period of faithfulness and blessing: "as long as he sought the LORD, God made him prosper" (26:5). But this was followed by a period of sin, leading to punishment from the Lord. Uzziah successfully battled the Philistines and demanded tribute from the Ammonites. His fame spread far and wide. Sadly, Uzziah's success led to pride, and he began to desire spiritual as well as political authority over the people. Ignoring God's law, he entered the temple to burn incense and was confronted by the priests. Rather than repent of his actions, Uzziah grew angry. The Lord immediately struck him with leprosy, forcing him to withdraw from his royal duties. (2 Chronicles 26:3–5)

---

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 26:6–8 Uzziah won victories over the Philistines in the west and southwest. He then built settlements in the conquered territories. The Arabians and Meunites (see 20:1) were nomadic groups in the south.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 26:9–10 Corner Gate. See 25:23. Uzziah promoted farming throughout the wilderness of Judah and the Negeb, the foothills of the Shephelah (west of Jerusalem), and the coastal plain.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 26:16–20 Unfaithful means offending God's holiness or failing to worship him appropriately (see "broke faith" in note on 1 Chron. 2:3–8). Uzziah violated God's holiness by trespassing in the temple, which was for the priests and Levites only. He also tried to offer incense, which only the priests were allowed to do (see Ex. 30:1–10; Num. 16:40).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 26:21–23 Because he was a leper to the day of his death (see note on 2 Kings 15:5), King Uzziah was not buried in the royal tombs of Jerusalem but in a field.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 26:21 Because of his leprosy, Uzziah had to withdraw from his royal duties (see Lev. 13:46; Num. 5:1–4), and Jotham became co-regent.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 26:22 Isaiah the prophet . . . wrote. This does not refer to the canonical book bearing his name, but to another work by this prophet. No copy of this work exists. See note on 32:32–33.

27:1–9 Jotham. The account of Jotham's reign (750–735 B.C., including 10 years as co-regent with Uzziah) shows that his military success and power were due to his faithfulness to God (v. 6).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 27:2 Corrupt practices probably refers to worship at the high places (see note on 2 Kings 15:34–35).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 27:3b–6 Ophel. The higher part of the area between the Temple Mount and the city of David (33:14; Neh. 3:26). Ammonites. See 2 Chron. 26:8.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 27:7 His wars may include the beginning of the "Syro-Ephraimite War" (see 2 Kings 15:37 and note).

28:1–27 Ahaz. The account of Ahaz's reign (735–715 B.C.) shows how his spiritual unfaithfulness brought Judah to ruin. Yet the dark picture of Judah's decline is lessened somewhat by its northern kinsmen, who respond to the prophetic word (vv. 8–15). Although the Chronicler does not mention it here, the northern kingdom fell to Assyria in 722 B.C., during the reign of Ahaz in the south (see 2 Kings 17:6).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 28:1 he did not do what was right. See note on 2 Kings 16:1–4.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 28:2 metal images for the Baals. Baal worship was especially associated with Ahab's dynasty (1 Kings 16:31).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 28:3 Valley of the Son of Hinnom. See 33:6 and Jer. 7:31. The Canaanite practice of child sacrifice is strongly condemned in Lev. 20:1–5.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 28:5–7 See 2 Kings 16:5–7 and Isa. 7:1–6. The attacks by Syria and Israel were acts of divine judgment. The captives taken to Damascus were a sign of the coming exile (2 Chron. 36:20).

Syria and Israel Attack Judah

c. 740–732 B.C.

As the Assyrian Empire expanded westward, Syria and Israel sought to compel Judah and the other nearby states to form an anti-Assyrian alliance. Judah refused, leading Syria and Israel to attack Jerusalem. Syria also wrested Elath from Judah and gave it to the Edomites. The Edomites may have also raided Judah and taken captives at this time (see 28:17). The Philistines, who may have been part of the anti-Assyrian alliance, attacked Judah as well, capturing several cities in the Shephelah and the Negeb (see 28:18).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 28:8–15 Just as Syria has done (v. 5), Israel takes captives with the intention of enslaving them. The intervention by Oded indicates that the northern tribes still belong to "the Israel of God," even though they are "in rebellion against the house of David" (10:19). The northern and southern tribes are relatives, and both have caused God's anger by their unfaithfulness (28:9, 11). Both sides need to repent, which the leaders of Ephraim demonstrate.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 28:16–21 Ahaz appeals to Tiglath-pileser III of Assyria, rather than God, for help against the Edomites and Philistines, who were invading Judah's southern borders (see 2 Kings 16:6–7a). This decision misfired. Although Judah received relief from its enemies (including the Syro-Ephraimite coalition, 2 Kings 16:9), it would be controlled by Assyria for 30 years (see Isa. 7:17; 8:7–8).

FACT

Ten Hebrew kings are mentioned among the records of the Assyrian Empire, which helps to show the reliability of biblical history. King Ahaz asked the Assyrians for help (28:16) but ended up becoming their servant (28:20–21).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 28:22–27 Compare 2 Kings 16:10–18. Judah reaches its lowest point before the exile when Ahaz desecrates the temple and discourages faithful worship (2 Chron. 28:24; see 29:7, 18–19). Although this will be reversed somewhat by the reforming kings Hezekiah (chs. 29–32) and Josiah (chs. 34–35), Judah is headed for destruction and exile (see 28:5).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 28:26 On the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel, see note on 1 Kings 14:19.

Judah after the Fall of Israel

c. 722 B.C.

During the reign of King Ahaz of Judah, both Israel and Judah had become vassals (semi-independent subjects) of Assyria. Later, however, King Hoshea of Israel rebelled, causing the Assyrians to completely annex Israel as a province of the empire. Philistia was annexed into the empire as well, leaving Judah, Ammon, Moab, and Edom as the remaining vassals in the region.

29:1–32:33 Hezekiah. The Chronicler devotes more attention to Hezekiah's reign (715–687 B.C.) than to that of any other king since David and Solomon. Second Kings 18–20 concentrates mainly on Hezekiah's role in the Assyrian crisis of 701 B.C. The Chronicler's account primarily presents Hezekiah as a restorer and reformer of Judah's worship.

AHAZ

Ahaz was a wicked king whose apostasy led Judah astray and brought the nation to ruin. Rather than worship the God of Israel, Ahaz made images of Baal. He even sacrificed his own children to the false god, a practice strongly condemned by the Lord. Because of his wickedness, God allowed both Syria and Israel to successfully attack Judah. Ahaz did not repent and turn to the Lord for help in his time of distress, but rather sought help from the king of Assyria. The plan backfired, however, when the Assyrians "came against him and afflicted him instead of strengthening him" (28:20). Even then, Ahaz still turned away from the Lord. Not only did he close the doors of the temple, but also "in every city of Judah he made high places to make offerings to other gods" (28:25). (2 Chronicles 28:22–27)

Jerusalem in the Time of Hezekiah (c. 725–686 B.C.)

During the reign of King Hezekiah, the city of Jerusalem expanded more than ever before. Many refugees from the Assyrian invasion settled on the Western Hill, as the ancient city built by King Solomon on the Eastern Hill was not able to absorb them. New city walls encircled both hills, and thus Jerusalem became a city that was "bound firmly together" (Ps. 122:3).

The Western Hill was, for the first time in Jerusalem's history, protected by a city wall.

The northern part of the new city wall was called the Broad Wall due to its extraordinary width of 21 feet (6.4 m). Hezekiah had many houses dismantled and their stones used in the construction of this wall (cf. Isa. 22:10). This wall was later mentioned in Neh. 3:8; 12:38. A long stretch of the wall (210 feet/64 m) was discovered in the Jewish Quarter Excavations in the Old City of Jerusalem.

The temple itself was completely reconstructed by Hezekiah and was likely higher than King Solomon's temple.

The Eastern Hill of Jerusalem was where the original city of Melchizedek was located.

The Temple Mount was enlarged by King Hezekiah to a massive square platform with sides of 500 cubits (861 feet/262 m) in order to accommodate the increased number of worshipers. The twin towers of Hananel and the Hundred, together with the Corner Tower, protected the Temple Mount on the north side.

The Spring Tower was built over the Gihon Spring. King Hezekiah diverted the waters from the Gihon Spring to the newly built Siloam Pool by means of a rock-hewn underground tunnel (cf. Isa. 22:9b).

An outer wall was built to protect a new settlement area to the east of the City of David.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 29:3 Hezekiah opened the doors of the house of the LORD, reversing his father's action (28:24).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 29:4–5 The filth refers to pagan worship objects in the sanctuary, which were to be removed and burned in the Kidron Valley (v. 16).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 29:6 Unfaithful and forsaken are key terms in Chronicles (see "broke faith" in note on 1 Chron. 2:3–8).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 29:8 an object of horror, of astonishment, and of hissing. See Jer. 29:18.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 29:16–17 The work of cleansing the temple took two weeks, until the sixteenth day of the first month, two days past the proper date of Passover (see Num. 9:1–11 and note on 2 Chron. 30:2–4).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 29:18–19 All the utensils that King Ahaz discarded in his reign . . . we have made ready and consecrated. See note on 1 Chron. 28:11–19.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 29:20–22 sin offering. See Lev. 4:1–5:13.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 29:23 Laid their hands on them recalls the scapegoat ritual of the Day of Atonement (Lev. 16:20–22).

FACT

What is a scapegoat? Laying hands on a sacrificial animal (29:23–24) was a symbolic act. It meant that human sin was being placed on the animal and taken away. On the Day of Atonement the people sacrificed a goat in this manner (see Lev. 16:20–22). Thus, today, when a person takes the blame for someone else, he or she may be referred to as a "scapegoat."

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 29:25–30 The burnt offering signifies the people consecrating themselves to Yahweh (v. 31). the song to the LORD. See 1 Chron. 16:7.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 29:31–36 The sacrifices and thank offerings that the people bring to the temple are individual expressions of worship and thanksgiving.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 30:1–27 Hezekiah demonstrates his commitment to the Law of Moses by holding the Passover celebration immediately after the reconsecration of the temple. The ceremony differs from the usual standards, however, in its date (see note on vv. 2–4) and in its allowing those who are ceremonially unclean to participate (vv. 18–20). The Passover results in a unity between people from the north and south in true worship at the temple (v. 1; 31:1). Earlier kings had tried to achieve unity through military means (see 11:1–4; 13:8) or ungodly alliances (see 18:1; 19:2; 20:35).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 30:1 all Israel and Judah. Hezekiah includes the tribes defeated by Assyria in 725–722 B.C. in his invitation. Thus he tries to unite all Israel in worship of the Lord.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 30:2–4 The Passover was delayed until the second month. The law allowed this kind of delay for those who were ceremonially unclean or absent on a journey (Num. 9:9–13). This is an example of the Law of Moses being interpreted to cover new situations. Hezekiah consulted the assembly, as did David (1 Chron. 13:1–5) and Solomon (2 Chron. 1:2–5) before him.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 30:6–9 The letters of invitation are really a call to repentance (return to the LORD). Hezekiah hopes that the people will repent and that God will turn away from his anger and return the Assyrian captives (v. 9).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 30:11 humbled themselves. See 7:14.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 30:17 the Levites had to slaughter the Passover lamb for everyone. A new, permanent change in their duties (see 35:5–6). It had previously been the responsibility of the elders (Ex. 12:21).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 30:18–20 The people from the northern tribes who came to the Passover were ceremonially unclean and thus, according to the law, they were unable to eat the meal. However, their genuine repentance and Hezekiah's intercession were enough to make their participation acceptable. "Healing" here is probably symbolic language for forgiveness and spiritual cleansing (compare 7:14; Ps. 41:4; Jer. 30:17).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 30:23–27 The feast was extended for another week, just as the temple dedication had been. The great joy of this occasion recalls the time of Solomon (7:9–10).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 31:1 all Israel. The festival united Judah and Israel and led to a popular movement to end pagan worship.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 31:2–21 The final stage in Hezekiah's reforms is the restoration of the temple services, which evidently ceased when Ahaz closed the temple (28:24). This requires reorganization of the priests and Levites (31:2). It also requires that the people resume their tithes and offerings (vv. 4–19). Because of Hezekiah's faithful leadership in these reforms, the Lord blesses the nation (vv. 10, 21).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 31:3 Hezekiah leads with the example of his own generosity, as David did before (1 Chron. 29:2–5).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 31:5–6 The firstfruits were for the priests (Num. 18:12–13) and the tithes were for the Levites (Num. 18:21, 24).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 31:7 The gathering of food lasts from the grain harvest in the third month (May–June, the Feast of Weeks or Pentecost) until the fruit and vine harvest in the seventh month (September–October, the Feast of Ingathering or Tabernacles). On these occasions and at Passover, all Israelite men were to come to the temple (Ex. 23:16–17).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 31:16–18 Distribution of food was made to priests and their families, including provision for males from three years old, the age by which they had been weaned.

FACT

Generous givers. When Hezekiah asked the people to contribute financially to his temple restoration project, they gave generously (31:5). Their response recalls the time of the tabernacle's construction. The people gave so freely that Moses actually asked them to stop giving (Ex. 36:3–7).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 32:1–4, 30 Hezekiah built a new water system for Jerusalem. A tunnel brought water directly from the Gihon Spring to the Pool of Siloam.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 32:1–23 This account of Sennacherib's invasion (701 B.C.) condenses and simplifies the account in 2 Kings 18–19 (see note on 2 Kings 18:13). It highlights the uniqueness and supremacy of Israel's God, and his ability to deliver his people from their enemies.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 32:1–8 After these things. Hezekiah's faithful acts are followed by a military invasion, which tests his faith and resourcefulness. He encourages the people not to fear the strength of men (arm of flesh; see Jer. 17:5) but to have confidence in God's help (see 2 Chron. 14:11). Earlier, King Jehoshaphat endured a similar test after having led the nation in revival (see note on 20:1–2).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 32:5 Hezekiah built another wall, probably to protect the city against the invading Assyrians. The city wall was also extended to make room for the refugees arriving from the north. the Millo. See note on 2 Sam. 5:9.

FACT

Hezekiah's wall (32:5) was one of his many efforts to defend Jerusalem from the invading Assyrians. Archaeologists have uncovered a 650-foot (200-m)portion of this wall.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 32:9–16 Sennacherib . . . was besieging Lachish. See note on 2 Kings 18:17. See 2 Kings 18:19–35; 19:9–13 and notes. The speech of Sennacherib's servants follows the familiar pattern of propaganda. They are trying to separate the people from their leader and to intimidate them into submission.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 32:18 The language of Judah was Hebrew. Aramaic was the international language of Judah and the nations surrounding it (see 2 Kings 18:26–35).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 32:20 Hezekiah the king and Isaiah the prophet. The Chronicler omits details of Hezekiah's prayer and Isaiah's prophecy (see 2 Kings 19:15–34). He stresses that God has promised to hear his people's prayer in times of distress (see 2 Chron. 6:24–25). cried to heaven. See 2 Kings 19:1–2 and note.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 32:21 Shame of face was the result when the arrogant Assyrian king tried to destroy God's people (compare Ps. 34:4–7; 35:4–5). some of his own sons struck him down. This did not happen until 20 years later, in 681 B.C. (see notes on 2 Kings 19:35–36; 19:37).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 32:24–26, 31 Compare 2 Kings 20:1–19. These events preceded Sennacherib's invasion by a few years. The sign was the miraculous backward movement of the shadow. Related to this incident was the king's proud display of his wealth before the Babylonian envoys, which brought God's wrath.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 32:27–30a Riches and honor are regular signs of divine blessing on faithful rulers (see 1 Chron. 29:28; 2 Chron. 1:11; 17:5). Hezekiah's tunnel was part of the engineering work referred to in 32:30a (see vv. 3–4).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 32:32–33 the vision of Isaiah the prophet . . . in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel. Not the canonical book of Isaiah but a historical work now lost (see notes on 1 Kings 14:19; 2 Chron. 26:22).

33:1–20 Manasseh. Compare 2 Kings 21:1–10, 17–18. Kings presents Manasseh as the worst of Judah's kings, whose sins make the exile inevitable. Chronicles presents him as an example of forgiveness and restoration.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 33:1 fifty-five years. 697–642 B.C., probably including a co-regency of 10 years with Hezekiah.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 33:2–9 These verses largely reproduce 2 Kings 21:2–9 (see notes).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 33:10 The LORD spoke to Manasseh and to his people. Compare 2 Kings 21:10–15. But they paid no attention. Manasseh and his people are like Judah's final generation (2 Chron. 36:15–16).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 33:12–13 Compare 7:14.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 33:15–17 Manasseh's reform involved removing the pagan religious symbols that he himself had put in place (vv. 3, 7). The reform centered on the temple, and little if any of it extended beyond Jerusalem. Meanwhile, the people continued to worship at the high places, rather than at the temple. Manasseh removed the idols (v. 15), but it is not stated that he destroyed them. Amon would later put the idols back to use. Later still, the good king Josiah would destroy them (34:4–7).

MANASSEH

Manasseh, son of Hezekiah, ruled over Judah for 55 years. He was the longest reigning king in the nation's history. Unlike his father, who honored the Lord, Manasseh was perhaps the worst of Judah's kings. He actively pursued practices forbidden by God, and even built altars to false gods inside the temple. Manasseh burned his sons as child sacrifices, and practiced fortune-telling and sorcery. Unlike other evil kings, however, when Manasseh faced the judgment of the Lord for his actions, he repented. When he was taken as a captive to Babylon, he "entreated the favor of the LORD his God and humbled himself greatly before the God of his fathers" (33:12). God heard Manasseh's prayer, and restored him to his kingdom. (2 Chronicles 33:9–14)

---

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 33:19 faithlessness. See note on 1 Chron. 2:3–8.

33:21–25 Amon. Compare 2 Kings 21:19–24. During his brief reign (642–640 B.C.), Amon did not humble himself. Instead he incurred guilt more and more.

34:1–35:27 Josiah. Compare 2 Kings 22:1–23:30a. The Chronicler devotes two entire chapters to Josiah's reign (640–609 B.C.). Josiah would have provided an example of faithfulness and godly leadership for the returned exiles who were the Chronicler's first readers (see Neh. 8:1–8).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 34:2 did not turn aside. See note on 2 Kings 22:2.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 34:3–7 Josiah moved decisively against pagan worship as soon as he reached adulthood at age 20 (see Num. 1:3). His reforms included both Judah and the former northern kingdom. The decline of Assyria after the death of Ashurbanipal (627 B.C.) allowed Josiah to pursue his reforms.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 34:8–13 The repair of the temple in 622 B.C. was part of Josiah's continuing reform. he sent Shaphan. See note on 2 Kings 22:3–7. Contributions came from various tribes, as they united to repair the temple.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 34:14 The Book of the Law was probably a scroll of Deuteronomy or a portion of it. Its discovery during the temple repair leads to further reform (vv. 29–33; see note on 2 Kings 22:8).

FACT

The Book of the Law of the Lord. The high priest discovered this forgotten book while the temple was being repaired (34:14). After reading the Law, King Josiah called the nation to further measures of repentance and reform. The book may have included part or all of Deuteronomy.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 34:19–21 those who are left in Israel and in Judah. The Chronicler mentions both the northern and southern kingdoms, to emphasize their unity (compare v. 9). great is the wrath of the LORD . . . because our fathers have not kept the word of the LORD. See note on 2 Kings 22:11–13.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 34:22–24 Huldah. See note on 2 Kings 22:14–16. All the curses refers to the covenant curses in Deuteronomy 27–29 (compare 2 Kings 22:16, “all the words”).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 34:27 humbled yourself before me. Compare 7:14. This emphasizes Josiah’s exemplary spiritual character (see 34:1–3).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 34:28 Josiah will be gathered to his grave in peace, even though he will die in battle. The destruction of Judah and the exile will not occur during Josiah’s lifetime (see note on 2 Kings 22:20).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 34:30–31 the king went up to the house of the LORD. See note on 2 Kings 23:2–3.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 34:32–33 Josiah imposes on the people a pledge of obedience to the Mosaic covenant, which they maintain in all the territory . . . of Israel (both north and south). But they keep their pledge only while Josiah lives (all his days they did not turn away). When Josiah dies, the people’s faithfulness dies as well (see notes on ch. 36).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 35:1–19 Compare 2 Kings 23:21–23.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 35:1 the first month. The regular month for celebration (Num. 28:16), in contrast to Hezekiah's delayed observance (2 Chron. 30:2).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 35:3–6 Put the holy ark in the house that Solomon . . . built (v. 3). The ark may have been removed during the reigns of Manasseh and Amon, or in the course of Josiah's renovation. Josiah directs the Levites in their new duties regarding the Passover lambs (see v. 11).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 35:7–9 Josiah and his officials imitate David (1 Chron. 29:2–5) and Solomon (2 Chron. 7:5) in their generosity.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 35:18 No Passover like it. Josiah's Passover exceeded all other such celebrations (compare 30:2–4, 18–20) in its commitment to faithful worship and in its inclusion of all Judah and Israel (see note on 2 Kings 23:22).

FACT

Passover is a feast remembering Israel's exodus from Egypt. It recalls their final meal in Egypt before deliverance. The most important element is the lamb (Ex. 12:5). It reminds participants of the blood smeared on the doorposts to protect them from the plague of the firstborn. Bitter herbs are eaten with the lamb, symbolizing the bitterness of Egyptian captivity.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 35:20–27 Josiah died while confronting Pharaoh Neco II at Megiddo in 609 B.C. The Egyptian king was bringing his army north to help the Assyrians fight against Babylon. Apparently Josiah decided to seek favor with Babylon by opposing the Egyptians (see note on 2 Kings 23:28–30). This suggests that he was no longer trusting in the Lord. Josiah had sought to follow God's words from the rediscovered Book of the Law and from Huldah the prophetess (2 Chron. 34:19, 26–27), but now he failed to listen to the words of Neco from the mouth of God (35:22). (God was speaking even through this Egyptian king, warning Josiah against meddling in a war between Babylon and Egypt.) Nevertheless, Josiah's reign is judged very positively. the Laments (v. 25). Not the biblical book of Lamentations.

36:1–21 The Last Four Kings. Compare 2 Kings 23:31–25:21. The Chronicler summarizes the reigns of Judah's last four kings. Because they abandon the covenant after Josiah's death, all four will go into exile, as will the people. Yet the exile will be a positive time of purification; the book concludes with a new act of God's grace, declared through a pagan king (2 Chron. 36:22–23).

FACT

Exile to Babylon. The people of Judah were deported to Babylon in four stages. In 605 B.C., Nebuchadnezzar defeated Jerusalem, carrying away treasures and some of the people. Daniel was taken to Babylon at this time. In 597, Babylon responded to rebellion in Jerusalem by defeating the city again. Ezekiel was taken into exile at this time. In 587, Babylon conquered Jerusalem for yet another rebellion. This time the Babylonians tore down the city's defensive walls and destroyed the temple. Jeremiah experienced this defeat. Finally, in 582, while reasserting its control over Palestine, Babylon took more Israelites into captivity.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 36:1–4 Pharaoh Neco II asserted control over Judah after Josiah's death. The "people of the land" who made Jehoahaz king probably hoped he would continue Josiah's opposition to Egypt. Neco removed Jehoahaz in favor of Eliakim, whom he renamed Jehoiakim as a mark of his authority over him. The tribute that Neco imposed on the land was a tax charged to those who had supported Jehoahaz (2 Kings 23:35).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 36:5–8 Jehoiakim's reign (609–598 B.C.) was marked by a return to idolatry (Jer. 25:1–7) and the king's persecution of the prophets (Jer. 26:20–24; 36:20–31). Following his victory over Pharaoh Neco at Carchemish (605 B.C.), Nebuchadnezzar besieged Jerusalem (2 Kings 24:1) and carried off some of its citizens and some of the temple vessels to Babylon (2 Chron. 36:7; Dan. 1:1–2). This may have been the occasion when Nebuchadnezzar bound him in chains to take him to Babylon, taking control over Jehoiakim. Jehoiakim later rebelled against the Babylonians, and in 598 B.C. Nebuchadnezzar again attacked Jerusalem, just after Jehoiakim's death.

597, 586, 582 B.C.

It appears that there were three separate deportations of Judeans to Babylon under the rule of Nebuchadnezzar (see also Jer. 52:28–30). The first came in 597 B.C. during the reign of Jehoiachin, when Nebuchadnezzar besieged Jerusalem and carried away many of the treasures of the temple and the royal palace. The second occurred after the fall of Jerusalem in 586 B.C., when the walls of the city were leveled and the temple was completely destroyed. The third appears to have occurred around 582 B.C. while King Nebuchadnezzar was reasserting his control over the general region of Palestine (see note on Jer. 52:28–30).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 36:9–10 The reign of Jehoiachin lasted only for the duration of the siege. Then he was exiled to Babylon. Brother here means “relative”; Zedekiah was Jehoiachin’s uncle.

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 36:11–16 The reign of Zedekiah (597–586 B.C.) ended in rebellion, a siege of almost two years, the destruction of Jerusalem and the temple, and the deportation of its leading citizens (see Jer. 52:28–30 and note for additional information about Jerusalem's final days). Zedekiah's reign represented the height of disobedience to God, with the king leading the way and the people becoming exceedingly unfaithful (see note on 1 Chron. 2:3–8). Their mocking rejection of the prophets (see Jer. 25:4) meant they refused to repent. Now there was no remedy (literally, "no healing"; see 2 Chron. 7:14) against God's wrath (see 34:25 and note on 2 Kings 24:18–25:7).

2 CHRONICLES—NOTE ON 36:19–21 they burned the house of God. Compare 2 Kings 25:8–12. The land lying desolate while the exiles pay for their sins is a covenant curse (Lev. 26:34–35, 43). It is also an opportunity for the land to recuperate and prepare to receive a purified people (see Lev. 26:44–45). seventy years. See Jer. 25:11; 29:10.

36:22–23 Restoration. From Ezra 1:1–3a. Israel's history has resumed through God's gracious initiative. to build him a house. The words of Cyrus recall David's charge to Solomon about the temple (1 Chron. 22:6, 18–19) and God's dynastic promise to David (1 Chron. 17:12; 22:10; 2 Chron. 6:9–10). Let him go up is an invitation to a restored people with a restored temple (1 Chron. 9:2–34) to respond to the Davidic covenant with obedient faith and worship.

Author and Date

The book of Ezra never declares its author, and the book’s contents make it difficult to determine when it was written. Ezra 1–6 recounts events that occurred long before Ezra’s time. Ezra 7:27–9:15 clearly comes from Ezra’s own hand, since it is written in the first person. Ezra 7:1–26 and 10:1–44 describe events in Ezra’s time, but are written in the third person. It is possible Ezra may have combined the other materials with his autobiographical writings to form the book. Or, a later historian may have collected all the portions to describe Israelite history from c. 538–433 B.C. Many scholars believe that the same author wrote Ezra, Nehemiah, and 1–2 Chronicles. In ancient times, Ezra and Nehemiah were counted as one book. The events narrated in Ezra–Nehemiah occur over a century: Ezra 1–6 covers 538–515 B.C.; Ezra 7–Nehemiah 13 covers 458–433 B.C.

Theme

The theme of Ezra is faithfulness to the Lord, both in keeping the Mosaic law (7:6) and in worship. Because of his concern about worship, Ezra stresses the importance of rebuilding the temple.

Purpose, Occasion, and Background

As the people return from exile in Babylon to the Promised Land, they are under threat from the non-Jews living there. Having been driven from the land previously because of their sin, they also need to learn once again how to live in covenant with God. The land must be restored through the physical presence of God’s people, and the people must revive a spiritual commitment to serve God alone. As the temple is rebuilt and more exiles come back to the land, the people start to reestablish the nation that God had promised Abraham. As the priests return and begin to teach the people how to love God and live according to his ways, the people recommit themselves to the Lord.

The book of Ezra encourages the postexilic community toward pure worship and holy behavior. Ezra calls the people back to covenant loyalty and obedience to the Mosaic law. The book rejoices in God’s provision in returning them to the land, rebuilding the temple, and calling his people back to himself. The book also warns against falling away again through sin and against serving other gods. The remnant of Israel should persevere in hope, repent in humility, and live in obedience.

Key Themes

1. The Lord is faithful to his promises, and his mercy is greater than his anger (9:13).
2. The Lord works providentially by all means, especially through powerful rulers, to bring about his greater purposes (e.g., 6:22).
3. The exiles are the remnant of Israel, the “holy race” (9:2, 8). They are bound by covenant to guard their identity and character as the people of the Lord by obeying his law.
4. People belong to the Lord by willingly accepting his covenant. Membership in the covenant community is open to the people of any nation who meet this requirement (6:21).
5. Faithfulness to the Lord is demonstrated by proper attention to worship. In Ezra, this is shown especially in the rebuilding of the temple and in the proper ordering of its services. The priests, Levites, gatekeepers, musicians, and other temple servants once again perform their duties (2:36–58; 3:10–11).
6. The heart of worship is joy (6:22).

Outline

I. Cyrus’s Decree and the Return of Exiles from Babylon (1:1–2:70)
    A. The decree (1:1–4)
    B. The exiles respond to the decree (1:5–11)
    C. The exiles live again in their ancestral homes (2:1–70)

- II. The Returned Exiles Rebuild the Temple on Its Original Site (3:1–6:22)
  - A. The foundations of the temple are laid (3:1–13)
  - B. Enemies stall the project by conspiring against it (4:1–24)
  - C. The work is resumed, and local officials seek confirmation of Cyrus's decree (5:1–17)
  - D. King Darius discovers and reaffirms Cyrus's decree, and the work is completed (6:1–22)
- III. Ezra the Priest Comes to Jerusalem to Establish the Law of Moses (7:1–8:36)
  - A. King Artaxerxes gives Ezra authority to establish the Mosaic law (7:1–28)
  - B. Ezra journeys to Jerusalem with a new wave of returnees, bearing royal gifts for the temple (8:1–36)
- IV. Ezra Discovers and Confronts the Problem of Intermarriage (9:1–10:44)
  - A. Ezra discovers the problem of marriage to idolaters, and prays (9:1–15)
  - B. The people agree to dissolve the marriages (10:1–17)
  - C. List of those who were implicated (10:18–44)

The Persian Empire at the Time of Ezra

c. 458 B.C.

During the time of Ezra the Persian Empire had reached its greatest extent, engulfing nearly the entire Near East. In 539 B.C. the Persians under Cyrus the Great defeated the Babylonians and absorbed their territory into the empire, including the lands of Israel and Judah (known as Beyond the River). The next year Cyrus allowed the people of Judah to return home under the leadership of Zerubbabel and rebuild the temple of the Lord. Later, around 458 B.C., another group of Judean exiles returned under Ezra's leadership.

The Global Message of Ezra

The Big Picture of Ezra

The central message of the book of Ezra is found in Ezra the scribe's moving confession on behalf of his people (Ezra 9:6–15). God had justly sent Israel into exile for its sins (9:6–7), but, in his perfect timing, the Jews who later returned to Jerusalem have received God's grace to revive them (9:8). God's mighty hand has stirred the Persians to send the Jews home with supplies to rebuild the temple in Jerusalem (9:9).

The completion of this task is in jeopardy, however, not from the Persian kings or external enemies but from within the community of faith itself—God's unholy people who dwell in God's holy city (9:10–12). Exile threatens to repeat itself unless the Jews repent from intermarrying with the peoples of the land (9:13–15).

Though Ezra's confession occurs in the second half of the book, its themes are found throughout this book. The two parts of the book of Ezra (chs. 1–6 and chs. 7–10) narrate historical events separated by about seventy years (compare 1:1; 7:1). Yet Ezra 1–6 and Ezra 7–10 share an important feature: both sections record the struggles of the Jewish remnant to stay faithful to the God who has graciously brought them home from exile.

The Global Message of Ezra

How does a book about Jews returning to Jerusalem contain global good news?

Blessing the nations. The international scope of the Lord's plan becomes evident from the first verse. The book of Ezra begins in Hebrew with the word "and" (Ezra 1:1), indicating that exile to Babylon will not be the end of the story. Israel's defeat hardly proved that Babylon's gods were stronger than the God of Israel—quite the opposite! Exile was just a forerunner to a new stage of history in which God would show his sovereignty over all nations. As God promised through the prophet Jeremiah (2 Chron. 36:22; Ezra 1:1), the exile of his people to Babylon (2 Chron. 36:17–21) would be followed seventy years later by a return to the land (Jer. 25:11; 29:10). The sojourn in Babylon would be God's special way of preparing Israel to be a global blessing once again (Jer. 29:11–14). The nation would fulfill its original commission to bless the other nations of the world (Jer. 31:7; 33:9).

God's surprising deliverance. The promise of such a glorious restoration seems to fly in the face of reality. Much like Egypt in Exodus, Babylon was an arrogant superpower that would never liberate Israel willingly. But in the just providence of God, Babylon collapses under the weight of its own pride (see Daniel 5) and falls to Medo-Persia, a gentler empire with a rather different foreign policy. The book of Ezra tells us that "the LORD stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia" (Ezra 1:1) to send Israel back to its homeland. Cyrus provides Israel with supplies to rebuild the temple in Jerusalem (1:2–4). Much as God once granted Israel favor with the Egyptians (Ex. 3:22; 12:36), Israel receives favor from the Persians, who give them precious metals (Ezra 1:4) and return the temple's instruments of worship (1:6–11).

God also directs later Persian kings such as Darius and Artaxerxes to ensure that the Jews receive all that they need to revive their worship in Jerusalem (Ezra 6:6–12; 7:11–26). Each Persian king mentioned in the book of Ezra pays his respects to the "God of heaven" (1:2; 6:9, 10; 7:12, 21, 23). Ezra rightly praises God for touching the hearts of these kings (7:27–28).

A universal language. It is not only the story line of Ezra that emphasizes God's lordship over the nations; even the language of the book underscores this, for it sometimes shifts to Aramaic (Ezra 4:8–6:18; 7:12–26). This is significant because Aramaic was the international language of diplomacy in the Near East, whereas Hebrew was the specific language of the Jews. The God of Israel possesses authority over all peoples.

Intermarriage. Given these universal purposes of God, why is the book of Ezra so harsh in condemning intermarriage with other peoples, even to the point of describing how the Jews banished their foreign wives and children (Ezra 9–10)? The issue at stake here, however, is spiritual compromise rather than ethnic bias. As Ezra's confession indicates (9:10–15), intermarriage with the peoples was a return to the same sins that led Israel into exile in the first place. The spiritual condition of Israel was grave—even the priests of Ezra's time were guilty of intermarriage (10:5, 18). Since their leaders had led the way in rebelling against God, it was necessary for the Jews to take drastic measures in separating from the pagan influences brought by intermarriage. Otherwise God's judgment in the form of exile could easily have been repeated.

The Global Message of Ezra for Today

Though the book of Ezra narrates the activities of a tiny Jewish community, their story of repentance and redemption has three major implications for the global church today.

God's redemption and the world powers. First, God reigns supreme over all human powers, both cruel (Babylon) and gentler (Persia) ones. God may allow proud empires to have their day in the sun, but he also reserves the right to replace them when it suits his global purposes. So the political loyalties of Christians must belong, first and foremost, to the only King whose rule is eternal: "his dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall not pass away, and his kingdom one that shall not be destroyed" (Dan. 7:14). Our allegiances must align with God's indestructible kingdom rather than with the fate of a particular country or political cause.

God's redemption and his people's suffering. Second, the children of God should differ from the world in how they view suffering. Unlike other ancient and modern peoples, they can have confidence that God is equally at work in victory and defeat. The book of Ezra shows us that the sovereignty of God extends even to the suffering of his oppressed people. The numerous miracles that God accomplished for the Jews in restoring them to the land did not spare them from suffering—instead, the eyes of God watched over his people even as he allowed their enemies to oppose them (Ezra 5:5). This truth finds its ultimate expression in how the crucifixion of Jesus Christ, an apparent defeat from a human perspective, actually proved to be God's greatest victory over the powers of this world (Col. 2:14–15).

God's redemption and his people's sin. Third and finally, the description of the Jews in Ezra shows that the greatest threat to God's global purposes is his own people who will not—or cannot—stay faithful to him. The Old Testament prophets had predicted a glorious restoration of Israel to the land. But the various struggles of the Jews who returned from exile seemed anything but glorious. The temple rebuilt in Ezra 4–6 did not remain forever—it was eventually destroyed by the Romans in A.D. 70. Spiritual apathy had begun long before this, however. Within a single generation after the rebuilt temple’s dedication (6:19–22), the Jews of Ezra’s time walked away from God (see Ezra 9–10; also Nehemiah 13). The spiritual problem of human hearts that cannot stay faithful to God finds its only solution in the saving grace of Jesus Christ. He is in himself a new temple (John 1:14; 2:18–21). Through his atoning work he has restored God’s presence to his people—the very reason the temple existed. And through the work of Jesus and the Holy Spirit, God is now building his church into a new temple in Christ that will embody his presence in the world (1 Cor. 3:16–17; Eph. 2:21; 1 Pet. 2:5).

The Proclamation of Cyrus

EZRA 1 [†] [a]In the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, [b]that the word of the LORD by the mouth of Jeremiah might be fulfilled, the LORD stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, so [c]that he made a proclamation throughout all his kingdom and also put it in writing:

[2][†]“Thus says Cyrus king of Persia: The LORD, the God of heaven, has given me all the kingdoms of the earth, and [d]he has charged me to build him a house at Jerusalem, which is in Judah. [3][†]Whoever is among you of all his people, may his God be with him, and let him go up to Jerusalem, which is in Judah, and rebuild the house of the LORD, the God of Israel—[e]he is the God who is in Jerusalem. [4]And let each survivor, in whatever place he sojourns, be assisted by the men of his place with silver and gold, with goods and with beasts, besides freewill offerings for the house of God that is in Jerusalem.”

[5][†]Then rose up the heads of the fathers’ houses of Judah and Benjamin, and the priests and the Levites, [f]everyone whose spirit [g]God had stirred to go up to rebuild the house of the LORD that is in Jerusalem. [6][†]And all who were about them [h]aided them with vessels of silver, with gold, with goods, with beasts, and with costly wares, besides all that was freely offered. [7] [i]Cyrus the king also brought out the vessels of the house of the LORD that [j]Nebuchadnezzar had carried away from Jerusalem and placed in the house of his gods. [8]Cyrus king of Persia brought these out in the charge of [k]Mithredath the treasurer, who counted them out to [l]Sheshbazzar the prince of Judah. [9]And this was the number of them: [m]30 basins of gold, 1,000 basins of silver, 29 censers, [10]30 bowls of gold, 410 bowls of silver, and 1,000 other vessels; [11]all the vessels of gold and of silver were 5,400. All these did Sheshbazzar bring up, when the exiles were brought up from Babylonia to Jerusalem.

The Exiles Return

EZRA 2 [†] [n]Now these were the people of the province who came up out of the captivity of those exiles [o]whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried captive to Babylonia. They returned to Jerusalem and Judah, each to his own town. [2][†]They came with Zerubbabel, Jeshua, Nehemiah, Seraiah, Reelaiah, [p]Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispar, Bigvai, Rehum, and Baanah.

The number of the men of the people of Israel: [3][q]the sons of Parosh, Pahath-moab, namely the sons of Jeshua and Joab, 2,812. [7]The sons of Elam, 1,254. [8]The sons of Zattu, 945. [9]The sons of Zaccai, 760. [10]The sons of Bani, 642. [11]The sons of Bebai, 623. [12]The sons of Azgad, 1,222. [13]The sons of Adonikam, 666. [14]The sons of Bigvai, 2,056. [15]The sons of Adin, 454. [16]The sons of Ater, namely of Hezekiah, 98. [17]The sons of Bezai, 323.

[18]The sons of Jorah, 112. [19]The sons of Hashum, 223. [20]The sons of Gibbar, 95. [21]The sons of Bethlehem, 123. [22]The men of Netophah, 56. [23]The men of Anathoth, 128. [24]The sons of Azmaveth, 42. [25]The sons of Kiriath-arim, Chephirah, and Beeroth, 743. [26]The sons of Ramah and Geba, 621. [27]The men of Michmas, 122. [28]The men of Bethel and Ai, 223. [29]The sons of Nebo, 52. [30]The sons of Magbish, 156. [31]The sons of [r]the other Elam, 1,254. [32]The sons of Harim, 320. [33]The sons of Lod, Hadid, and Ono, 725.
[34]The sons of Jericho, 345. [35]The sons of Senaah, 3,630.

[36][†]The priests: the [s]sons of Jedaiah, of the house of Jeshua, 973. [37]The sons of Immer, 1,052. [38]The [t]sons of Pashhur, 1,247. [39]The sons of Harim, 1,017.

[40]The Levites: the sons of [u]Jeshua and Kadmiel, of the sons of Hodaviah, 74. [41]The singers: the sons of [v]Asaph, 128. [42]The sons of the [w]gatekeepers: the sons of Shallum, the sons of Ater, the sons of Talmon, the sons of Akkub, the sons of Hatita, and the sons of Shobai, in all 139.

[43][†][x]The temple servants: the sons of Ziha, the sons of Hasupha, the sons of Tabbaoth, [44]the sons of Keros, the sons of Siaha, the sons of Padon, [45]the sons of Lebanah, the sons of Hagabah, the sons of Akkub, [46]the sons of Hagab, the sons of Shamlai, the sons of Hanan, [47]the sons of Giddel, the sons of Gahar, the sons of Reaiah, [48]the sons of Rezin, the sons of Nekoda, the sons of Gazzam, [49]the sons of Uzza, the sons of Paseah, the sons of Besai, [50]the sons of Asnah, the sons of Meunim, the sons of Nephisim, [51]the sons of Bakbuk, the sons of Hakupha, the sons of Harhur, [52]the sons of Bazluth, the sons of Mehida, the sons of Harsha, [53]the sons of Barkos, the sons of Sisera, the sons of Temah, [54]the sons of Neziah, and the sons of Hatipha.

[55][†] [y] The sons of Solomon's servants: the sons of Sotai, the sons of Hassophereth, the sons of Peruda, [56]the sons of Jaalah, the sons of Darkon, the sons of Giddel, [57]the sons of Shephatiah, the sons of Hattil, the sons of Pochereth-hazzebaim, and the sons of Ami.

[59][†]The following were those who came up from Tel-melah, Tel-harsha, Cherub, Addan, and Immer, [z] though they could not prove their fathers' houses or their descent, whether they belonged to Israel: [60]the sons of Delaiah, the sons of Tobiah, and the sons of Nekoda, 652. [61]Also, of the sons of the priests: the sons of Habaiah, the sons of Hakkoz, and the sons of [a] Barzillai (who had taken a wife from the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite, and was called by their name). [62]These sought their registration among those enrolled in the genealogies, but they were not found there, and [b] so they were excluded from the priesthood as unclean. [63]The [c] governor told them that they were not [d] to partake of the most holy food, until there should be a priest to consult [e] Urim and Thummim.

[64][f] The whole assembly together was 42,360, [65]besides their male and female servants, of whom there were 7,337, and they had 200 male and female [g] singers. [66]Their horses were 736, their mules were 245, [67]their camels were 435, and their donkeys were 6,720.

[68][†] [h] Some of the heads of families, when they came to the house of the Lord that is in Jerusalem, made freewill offerings for the house of God, to erect it on its site. [69][†]According to their ability they gave to [i] the treasury of the work 61,000 darics [1] of gold, 5,000 minas [2] of silver, and 100 priests' garments.

[70][j] Now the priests, the Levites, some of the people, the singers, the gatekeepers, and the temple servants lived in their towns, and all the rest of Israel [3] in their towns.

Rebuilding the Altar

EZRA 3 [†] [k] When the seventh month came, and the children of Israel were in the towns, the people gathered as one man to Jerusalem. [2][†]Then arose Jeshua the son of Jozadak, with his fellow priests, and [l] Zerubbabel the son of [m] Shealtiel with his kinsmen, and they built the altar of the God of Israel, to offer burnt offerings on it, [n] as it is written in the Law of Moses the [o] man of God. [3][†]They set the altar in its place, [p] for fear was on them because of the peoples of the lands, and [q] they offered burnt offerings on it to the LORD, burnt offerings morning and evening. [4][†] [r] And they kept the Feast of Booths, [s] as it is written, [t] and offered the daily burnt offerings by number according to the rule, as each day required, [5]and after that the regular burnt [u] offerings, the offerings at the new moon [v] and at all the appointed feasts of the LORD, and the offerings of everyone who made a freewill offering to the LORD. [6]From the first day of the seventh month they began to offer burnt offerings to the LORD. But the foundation of the temple of the LORD was not yet laid. [7]So they gave money to the masons and the carpenters, [w] and food, drink, and oil to the Sidonians and the Tyrians [x] to bring cedar trees from Lebanon to the sea, to Joppa, [y] according to the grant that they had from Cyrus king of Persia.

Rebuilding the Temple

[8][†]Now in the second year after their coming to the house of God at Jerusalem, in the second month, [z] Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel and [z] Jeshua the son of Jozadak made a beginning, together with the rest of their kinsmen, the priests and the Levites and all who had come to Jerusalem from the captivity. They [a] appointed the Levites, from twenty years old and upward, to [b] supervise the work of the house of the LORD. [9]And [z] Jeshua with his sons and his brothers, and Kadmiel and his sons, the sons of Judah, together [b] supervised the workmen in the house of God, along with the [c] sons of Henadad and the Levites, their sons and brothers.

[10]And when the builders laid the foundation of the temple of the LORD, the priests in their vestments came forward with trumpets, and the Levites, the sons of Asaph, with cymbals, to praise the LORD, [d] according to the directions of David king of Israel. [11]And they sang responsively, praising and giving thanks to the LORD, [e]"For he is good,

for his steadfast love endures forever toward Israel."

And all the people shouted with a great shout when they praised the LORD, because the foundation of the house of the LORD was laid. [12][†]But many of the priests and Levites and heads of fathers' houses, [f]old men who had seen the first house, wept with a loud voice when they saw the foundation of this house being laid, though many shouted aloud for joy, [13]so that the people could not distinguish the sound of the joyful shout from the sound of the people's weeping, for the people shouted with a great shout, and the sound was heard far away.

Adversaries Oppose the Rebuilding

EZRA 4 [†]Now when [g]the adversaries of Judah and Benjamin heard that the returned exiles were building a temple to the LORD, the God of Israel, [2]they approached Zerubbabel and the heads of fathers' houses and said to them, "Let us build with you, for we worship your God as you do, and we have been sacrificing to him ever [h]since the days of [i]Esarhaddon king of Assyria [j]who brought us here." [3][†]But Zerubbabel, Jeshua, and the rest of the heads of fathers' houses in Israel said to them, [k]"You have nothing to do with us in building a house to our God; but we alone will build to the LORD, the God of Israel, [l]as King Cyrus the king of Persia has commanded us."

[4][†]Then [m]the people of the land discouraged the people of Judah and made them afraid to build [5]and bribed counselors against them to frustrate their purpose, all the days of Cyrus king of Persia, even until the reign of Darius king of Persia.

[6][†]And in the reign of [n]Ahasuerus, in the beginning of his reign, they wrote an accusation against the inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem.

The Letter to King Artaxerxes

[7][†]In the days of Artaxerxes, Bishlam and [o]Mithredath and Tabeel and the rest of their associates wrote to Artaxerxes king of Persia. The letter was written [p]in Aramaic and translated. [1] [8]Rehum the commander and Shimshai the scribe wrote a letter against Jerusalem to Artaxerxes the king as follows: [9][†]Rehum the commander, Shimshai the scribe, and the rest of their associates, the [q]judges, the [r]governors, the officials, the Persians, the men of Erech, the Babylonians, the men of Susa, that is, the [s]Elamites, [10]and the rest of the nations whom the great and noble [t]Osnappar deported and settled in the cities of Samaria and in the rest of the province Beyond the River. [11][†](This is a copy of the letter that they sent.) "To Artaxerxes the king: Your servants, the men of the province Beyond the River, send greeting. And now [12][†]be it known to the king that the Jews who came up from you to us have gone to Jerusalem. They are rebuilding that rebellious and wicked city. They are [v]finishing the walls and repairing the foundations. [13][†]Now be it known to the king that if this city is rebuilt and the walls finished, they will not pay [w]tribute, custom, or toll, and the royal revenue will be impaired. [14]Now because we eat the salt of the palace and it is not fitting for us to witness the king's dishonor, therefore we send and inform the king, [15]in order that search may be made in the book of the records of your fathers. You will find in the book of the records and learn that this city is a rebellious city, hurtful to kings and provinces, and that sedition was stirred up in it from of old. That was why this city was laid waste. [16]We make known to the king that if this city is rebuilt and its walls finished, you will then have no possession in the province Beyond the River."

The King Orders the Work to Cease

[17][†]The king sent an answer: "To Rehum the commander and Shimshai the scribe and the rest of their associates who live in Samaria and in the rest of the province Beyond the River, greeting. And now [18]the letter that you sent to us has been [x]plainly read before me. [19]And I made a decree, and search has been made, and it has been found that this city from of old has risen against kings, and that rebellion and sedition have been made in it. [20]And mighty kings have been over Jerusalem, [y] who ruled over the whole province Beyond the River, to whom [z] tribute, custom, and toll were paid. [21]Therefore make a decree that these men be made to cease, and that this city be not rebuilt, until a decree is made by me. [22]And take care not to be slack in this matter. Why should damage grow to the hurt of the king?”

[23]Then, when the copy of King Artaxerxes’ letter was read before Rehum and Shimshai the scribe and their associates, they went in haste to the Jews at Jerusalem and by force and power made them cease. [24][†]Then the work on the house of God that is in Jerusalem stopped, and it ceased until the second year of the reign of Darius king of Persia.

Rebuilding Begins Anew

EZRA 5 [†]Now the prophets, [a] Haggai and [b] Zechariah the son of Iddo, prophesied to the Jews who were in Judah and Jerusalem, in the name of the God of Israel who was over them. [2] [c] Then Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel and [d] Jeshua the son of Jozadak arose and began to rebuild the house of God that is in Jerusalem, and the prophets of God were [e] with them, supporting them.

[3][†]At the same time [f] Tattenai the governor of the province Beyond the River and Shethar-bozenai and their associates came to them and spoke to them thus: [g] “Who gave you a decree to build this house and to finish this structure?” [4]They [1] also asked them this: “What are the names of the men who are building this building?” [5]But [h] the eye of their God was on the elders of the Jews, and they did not stop them until the report should reach Darius and then an answer be returned by letter concerning it.

Tattenai’s Letter to King Darius

[6][†]This is a copy of the letter that [f] Tattenai the governor of the province Beyond the River and Shethar-bozenai and his associates, the [i] governors who were in the province Beyond the River, sent to Darius the king. [7]They sent him a report, in which was written as follows: “To Darius the king, all peace. [8][†]Be it known to the king that we went to the province of Judah, to the house of the great God. It is being built with huge stones, and timber is laid in the walls. This work goes on diligently and prospers in their hands.

[9]Then we asked those elders and spoke to them thus: [g]‘Who gave you a decree to build this house and to finish this structure?’ [10]We also asked them their names, for your information, that we might write down the names of their leaders. [2] [11][†]And this was their reply to us: ‘We are the servants of the God of heaven and earth, and we are rebuilding the house that was built many years ago, [j]which a great king of Israel built and [k]finished. [12][†] [l]But because our fathers had angered the God of heaven, he [m]gave them into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, the Chaldean, who destroyed this house and carried away the people to Babylonia. [13][†] [n]However, in the first year of Cyrus king of Babylon, Cyrus the king made a decree that this house of God should be rebuilt. [14][†] [o]And the gold and silver vessels of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar had taken out of the temple that was in Jerusalem and brought into the temple of Babylon, these Cyrus the king took out of the temple of Babylon, and they were delivered to one whose name was [p]Sheshbazzar, whom he had made governor; [15]and he said to him, “Take these vessels, go and put them in the temple that is in Jerusalem, and let the house of God be rebuilt on its site.” [16][†]Then this [p]Sheshbazzar came and [q]laid the foundations of the house of God that is in Jerusalem, and from that time until now it has been in building, and it is [r]not yet finished.’ [17]Therefore, if it seems good to the king, [s]let search be made in the royal archives there in Babylon, to see whether a decree was issued by Cyrus the king for the rebuilding of this house of God in Jerusalem. And let the king send us his pleasure in this matter.”

The Decree of Darius

EZRA 6 [†]Then Darius the king made a decree, and [t]search was made in Babylonia, in the house of the archives where the documents were stored. [2]And in Ecbatana, the citadel that is [u]in the province of Media, a scroll was found on which this was written: “A record. [3][†]In the first year of Cyrus the king, Cyrus the king issued a decree: Concerning the house of God at Jerusalem, let the house be rebuilt, the place where sacrifices were offered, and let its foundations be retained. Its height shall be sixty cubits [1] and its breadth sixty cubits, [4][†] [v]with three layers of great stones and one layer of timber. Let the cost be paid from the royal treasury. [5]And also [w]let the gold and silver vessels of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar took out of the temple that is in Jerusalem and brought to Babylon, be restored and brought back to the temple that is in Jerusalem, each to its place. You shall put them in the house of God.”

[6]“Now therefore, [x]Tattenai, governor of the province Beyond the River, Shethar-bozenai, [y]and your [2] associates the governors who are in the province Beyond the River, keep away. [7][†]Let the work on this house of God alone. Let the governor of the Jews and the elders of the Jews rebuild this house of God on its site. [8][†]Moreover, [z]I make a decree regarding what you shall do for these elders of the Jews for the rebuilding of this house of God. The cost is to be paid to these men in full and without delay from the royal revenue, the tribute of the province from Beyond the River. [9]And whatever is needed—bulls, rams, or sheep for burnt offerings to the God of heaven, wheat, salt, wine, or oil, as the priests at Jerusalem require—let that be given to them day by day without fail, [10]that they may offer pleasing sacrifices to the God of heaven [a]and pray for the life of the king and his sons. [11][†]Also I make a decree that if anyone alters this edict, a beam shall be pulled out of his house, and he shall be impaled on it, and [b]his house shall be made a dunghill. [12]May the God [c]who has caused his name to dwell there overthrow any king or people who shall put out a hand to alter this, or to destroy this house of God that is in Jerusalem. I Darius make a decree; let it be done with all diligence.”

The Temple Finished and Dedicated

[13]Then, according to the word sent by Darius the king, [x]Tattenai, the governor of the province Beyond the River, Shethar-bozenai, and their associates did with all diligence what Darius the king had ordered. [14][†][d]And the elders of the Jews built and prospered through the prophesying of Haggai the prophet and Zechariah the son of Iddo. They finished their building by decree of the God of Israel and [e]by decree of Cyrus and [f]Darius and [g]Artaxerxes king of Persia; [15][†]and this house was finished on the third day of the [h]month of Adar, in the sixth year of the reign of Darius the king.

16[†]And the people of Israel, the priests and the Levites, and the rest of the returned exiles, celebrated the [i] dedication of this house of God with joy. 17They offered at the dedication of this house of God 100 bulls, 200 rams, 400 lambs, and as a sin offering for all Israel [j] 12 male goats, according to the number of the tribes of Israel. 18[†]And they set the priests [k] in their divisions and the Levites [l] in their divisions, for the service of God at Jerusalem, [m] as it is written in the Book of Moses.

Passover Celebrated

19[†] [n] On the fourteenth day of the first month, the returned exiles kept the Passover. 20 [o] For the priests and the Levites had purified themselves together; all of them were clean. [p] So they slaughtered the Passover lamb for all the returned exiles, for their fellow priests, and for themselves. 21[†]It was eaten by the people of Israel who had returned from exile, and [q] also by every one who had joined them and separated himself [r] from the uncleanness of the peoples of the land to worship the LORD, the God of Israel. 22And they kept the Feast of Unleavened Bread [s] seven days with joy, for the LORD had made them joyful [t] and had turned the heart of [u] the king of Assyria to them, so that he aided them in the work of the house of God, the God of Israel.

Ezra Sent to Teach the People

EZRA 7 [†]Now after this, [v] in the reign of [v] Artaxerxes king of Persia, [w] Ezra the son of Seraiah, son of Azariah, son of Hilkiah, 2son of Shallum, son of Zadok, son of Ahitub, 3son of Amariah, son of Azariah, son of Meraioth, 4son of Zerahiah, son of Uzzi, son of Bukki, 5son of Abishua, son of Phinehas, son of Eleazar, son of Aaron the chief priest— 6[†]this Ezra went up from Babylonia. He was a scribe [x] skilled in the Law of Moses that the LORD, the God of Israel, had given, and the king granted him all that he asked, [y] for the hand of the LORD his God was on him.

7And there went up also to Jerusalem, in the seventh year of Artaxerxes the king, some of the people of Israel, and [z] some of the priests and [a] Levites, the singers and gatekeepers, and the temple [b] servants. 8And

Ezra [1] came to Jerusalem in the fifth month, which was in the seventh year of the king. [9][†]For on the first day of the first month he began to go up from Babylonia, and on the first day of the fifth month he came to Jerusalem, [c] for the good hand of his God was on him. [10][†]For Ezra had set his heart to study the Law of the LORD, and to do it [d] and to [e] teach his statutes and rules in Israel.

[11][†]This is a copy of the letter that King Artaxerxes gave to Ezra the priest, the scribe, a man learned in matters of the commandments of the LORD and his statutes for Israel: [12][†]“Artaxerxes, [f] king of kings, to Ezra the priest, the [g] scribe of the Law of the God of heaven. Peace. [2] [h] And now [13][†] [i] I make a decree that anyone of the people of Israel or their priests or Levites in my kingdom, who freely offers to go to Jerusalem, may go with you. [14]For you are sent by the king [j] and his seven counselors to make inquiries about Judah and Jerusalem according to the Law of your God, which is in your hand, [15][†]and also to carry the silver and gold that the king [j] and his counselors have freely offered to the God of Israel, [k] whose dwelling is in Jerusalem, [16] [l] with all the silver and gold that you shall find in the whole province of Babylonia, and [m] with the freewill offerings of the people and the priests, vowed willingly for the house of their God that is in Jerusalem. [17]With this money, then, you shall with all diligence buy bulls, rams, and lambs, with their grain offerings and their drink offerings, and [n] you shall offer them on the altar of the house of your God that is in Jerusalem. [18]Whatever seems good to you and your brothers to do with the rest of the silver and gold, you may do, according to the will of your God. [19][†]The vessels that have been given you for the service of the house of your God, you shall deliver before the God of Jerusalem. [20]And whatever else is required for the house of your God, which it falls to you to provide, you may provide it out of the king’s treasury.

[21]“And I, Artaxerxes the king, make a decree to all the treasurers in the province Beyond the River: Whatever Ezra the priest, the scribe of the Law of the God of heaven, requires of you, let it be done with all diligence, [22][†]up to 100 talents [3] of silver, 100 cors [4] of wheat, 100 baths [5] of wine, 100 baths of oil, and salt without prescribing how much. [23][†]Whatever is decreed by the God of heaven, let it be done in full for the house of the God of heaven, lest his wrath be against the realm of the king and his sons. 24We also notify you that it shall not be lawful to impose [o] tribute, custom, or toll on anyone of the priests, the Levites, the singers, the doorkeepers, the temple servants, or other servants of this house of God.

25"And you, Ezra, according to the wisdom of your God that is in your hand, [p] appoint magistrates and judges who may judge all the people in the province Beyond the River, all such as know the laws of your God. [q] And those who do not know them, you shall teach. 26Whoever will not obey the law of your God and the law of the king, let judgment be strictly executed on him, whether for death or for banishment or for confiscation of his goods or for imprisonment."

27[†] [r] Blessed be the LORD, the God of our fathers, [s] who put such a thing as this into the heart of the king, to beautify the house of the LORD that is in Jerusalem, 28 [t] and who extended to me his steadfast love before the king and his counselors, and before all the king's mighty officers. I took courage, for the hand of the LORD my God was on me, and I gathered leading men from Israel to go up with me.

Genealogy of Those Who Returned with Ezra

EZRA 8 [†]These are the heads of their fathers' houses, and this is the genealogy of those who went up with me from Babylonia, in the reign of Artaxerxes the king: 2Of the sons of Phinehas, Gershom. Of the sons of [u] Ithamar, Daniel. Of the sons of David, [v] Hattush. 3Of the sons of Shecaniah, who was of the sons of [w] Parosh, Zechariah, with whom were registered 150 men. 4 [x] Of the sons of Pahath-moab, Eliehoenai the son of Zerahiah, and with him 200 men. 5Of the sons of Zattu, [1] Shecaniah the son of Jahaziel, and with him 300 men. 6Of the sons of Adin, Ebed the son of Jonathan, and with him 50 men. 7Of the sons of Elam, Jeshaiah the son of Athaliah, and with him 70 men. 8Of the sons of Shephatiah, Zebadiah the son of Michael, and with him 80 men. 9Of the sons of Joab, Obadiah the son of Jehiel, and with him 218 men. 10Of the sons of Bani, [2] Shelomith the son of Josiphiah, and with him 160 men. 11 [y] Of the sons of Bebai, Zechariah, the son of Bebai, and with him 28 men. 12Of the sons of Azgad, Johanan the son of Hakkatan, and with him 110 men. 13Of the sons of Adonikam, those who came later, their names being Eliphelet, Jeuel, and Shemaiah, and with them 60 men. [14]Of the sons of Bigvai, Uthai and Zaccur, and with them 70 men.

Ezra Sends for Levites

[15][†]I gathered them to the river that runs to [z]Ahava, and there we camped three days. As I reviewed the people and the priests, I found there [a]none of the sons of Levi. [16]Then I sent for Eliezer, Ariel, Shemaiah, Elnathan, Jarib, Elnathan, Nathan, Zechariah, and [b]Meshullam, leading men, and for Joiarib and Elnathan, who were men of insight, [17][†]and sent them to Iddo, the leading man at the place Casiphia, telling them what to say to Iddo and his brothers and [3] the temple servants at the place Casiphia, namely, to send us ministers for the house of our God. [18]And [c]by the good hand of our God on us, they brought us a man of discretion, of the sons of [d]Mahli the son of Levi, son of Israel, namely Sherebiah with his sons and kinsmen, 18; [19]also [e]Hashabiah, and with him Jeshaiah of [f]the sons of Merari, with his kinsmen and their sons, 20; [20][g]besides 220 of the temple servants, whom David and his officials had set apart to attend the Levites. These were all [h]mentioned by name.

Fasting and Prayer for Protection

[21][†][i]Then I proclaimed a fast there, at the river [j]Ahava, that we might humble ourselves before our God, [k]to seek from him a safe journey for ourselves, our children, and all our goods. [22][†]For I was ashamed to ask the king for a band of soldiers and horsemen to protect us against the enemy on our way, since we had told the king, [l]“The hand of our God is for good on [m]all who seek him, and the power of his wrath is against all who forsake him.” [23]So we fasted and implored our God for this, and he listened to our entreaty.

Priests to Guard Offerings

[24]Then I set apart twelve of the leading priests: [e]Sherebiah, [e]Hashabiah, and ten of their kinsmen with them. [25]And I weighed out to them the [n]silver and the gold and the vessels, the offering for the house of our God that the king and his [o]counselors and his lords and all Israel there present had offered. [26][†][p]I weighed out into their hand 650 talents [4] of silver, and silver vessels worth 200 talents, [5] and 100 talents of gold, [27]20 bowls of gold worth 1,000 darics, [6] and two vessels of fine bright bronze as precious as gold. [28][†]And I said to them, [q]“You are holy to the Lord, and [r]the vessels are holy, and the silver and the gold are a freewill offering to the Lord, the God of your fathers. [29]Guard them and keep them until you weigh them before the chief priests and the Levites and the heads of fathers’ houses in Israel at Jerusalem, [s]within the chambers of the house of the Lord.” [30]So the priests and the Levites [p]took over the weight of the silver and the gold and the vessels, to bring them to Jerusalem, to the house of our God.

[31][†]Then we departed from the river Ahava [t]on the twelfth day of the first month, to go to Jerusalem. [u]The hand of our God was on us, and he delivered us from the hand of the enemy and from ambushes by the way. [32][†][v]We came to Jerusalem, and there we remained three days. [33]On the fourth day, within the house of our God, the silver and the gold and the vessels were [w]weighed into the hands of [x]Meremoth the priest, son of Uriah, and with him was Eleazar the son of Phinehas, and with them were the Levites, [y]Jozabad the son of Jeshua and Noadiah the son of [z]Binnui. [34]The whole was counted and weighed, and the weight of everything was recorded.

[35][†]At that time [a]those who had come from captivity, the returned exiles, offered burnt offerings to the God of Israel, [b]twelve bulls for all Israel, ninety-six rams, seventy-seven lambs, and as a sin offering twelve male goats. All this was a burnt offering to the Lord. [36][c]They also delivered the king’s commissions to the king’s [d]satraps [7] and to the governors of the province Beyond the River, and they aided the people and the house of God.

Ezra Prays About Intermarriage

EZRA 9 [†]After these things had been done, the officials approached me and said, “The people of Israel and the priests and the [e]Levites have not separated themselves from the peoples of the lands [f]with their abominations, from the [g] Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, the Ammonites, the Moabites, the Egyptians, and the Amorites. 2 [h] For they have taken some of their daughters to be wives for themselves and for their sons, so that the [i] holy race [1] has [j] mixed itself with the peoples of the lands. And in this faithlessness the hand of the officials and chief men has been foremost.” 3[†]As soon as I heard this, I [k] tore my garment and my cloak and pulled hair from my head and beard and [l] sat appalled. 4[†]Then all who [m] trembled at the words of the God of Israel, because of the faithlessness of the returned exiles, gathered around me while I sat [n] appalled until the evening sacrifice. 5And at the [n] evening sacrifice I rose from my fasting, with my garment [k] and my cloak torn, and fell upon my knees [o] and spread out my hands to the LORD my God, 6[†]saying:

“O my God, I am ashamed and blush to lift my face to you, my God, for our iniquities [p] have risen higher than our heads, and our [q] guilt has [r] mounted up to the heavens. 7[†] [s] From the days of our fathers to this day we have been in great [q] guilt. And for our iniquities we, our kings, and our priests have been given into the hand of the kings of the lands, to the sword, to captivity, to plundering, [t] and to utter shame, as it is today. 8[†]But now for a brief moment favor has been shown by the LORD our God, to leave us a [u] remnant and to give us a [v] secure hold [2] within his holy place, that our God may [w] brighten our eyes and grant us a little reviving in our slavery. 9[†] [x] For we are slaves. Yet our God has not forsaken us in our slavery, [y] but has extended to us his steadfast love before the kings of Persia, to grant us some reviving to set up the house of our God, to repair its ruins, and to give us protection [3] in Judea and Jerusalem.

10[†]“And now, O our God, what shall we say after this? For we have forsaken your commandments, 11which you commanded by your servants the prophets, saying, ‘The land that you are entering, to take possession of it, is a land impure with the impurity of the peoples of the lands, with their abominations that have filled it from end to end with [z] their uncleanness. 12 [a] Therefore do not give your daughters to their sons, neither take their daughters for your sons, and never seek their peace or prosperity, that you may be strong and eat the good of the land [b] and leave it for an inheritance to your children forever.’ [13]And after all that has come upon us for our evil deeds and for [c]our great guilt, seeing that you, our [d]God, have punished us less than our iniquities deserved and have given us such a [e]remnant as this, [14]shall we break your commandments again and [f]intermarry with the peoples who practice these abominations? Would you not be angry with us [g]until you consumed us, so that there should be no [e]remnant, nor any to escape? [15]O LORD, the God of Israel, you are just, for we are left a [e]remnant that has escaped, as it is today. Behold, we are before you in our [h]guilt, [i]for none can stand before you because of this.”

The People Confess Their Sin

EZRA 10 [†][j]While Ezra prayed and [k]made confession, weeping and [l]casting himself down [m]before the house of God, a very great assembly of men, women, and children, gathered to him out of Israel, for the people wept bitterly. [2][†]And Shecaniah the son of Jehiel, of the sons of Elam, addressed Ezra: [n]“We have broken faith with our God and have married foreign women from the peoples of the land, but even now there is hope for Israel in spite of this. [3][†]Therefore [o]let us make a covenant with our God to put away all these wives and [p]their children, according to the counsel of my lord [1] and of [q]those who tremble at the commandment of our God, and let it be done [r]according to the Law. [4]Arise, for it is your task, and we are with you; [s]be strong and do it.” [5]Then Ezra arose and made the leading priests and Levites and all Israel [t]take an oath that they would do as had been said. So they took the oath.

[6]Then Ezra withdrew [u]from before the house of God and went to the [v]chamber of [w]Jehohanan the son of [x]Eliashib, where he spent the night, [2] neither [y]eating bread nor drinking water, for he was mourning over the faithlessness of the exiles. [7][†]And a proclamation was made throughout Judah and Jerusalem to all the returned exiles that they should assemble at Jerusalem, [8]and that if anyone did not come within three days, by order of the officials and the elders all his property should be forfeited, and he himself banned from the congregation of the exiles.

[9][†]Then all the men of Judah and Benjamin assembled at Jerusalem within the three days. It was the ninth month, on the twentieth day of the month. And all the people sat in the open square before the house of God, trembling because of this matter and because of the [z]heavy rain. [10][†]And Ezra the priest stood up and said to them, “You have broken faith and married foreign women, and so increased the guilt of Israel. [11][†]Now then [a]make confession to the LORD, the God of your fathers and do his will. [b]Separate yourselves from the peoples of the land and from the foreign wives.” [12]Then all the assembly answered with a loud voice, “It is so; we must do as you have said. [13]But the people are many, and it is a time of heavy rain; we cannot stand in the open. Nor is this a task for one day or for two, for we have greatly transgressed in this matter. [14][†]Let our officials stand for the whole assembly. Let all in our cities who have taken foreign wives come [c]at appointed times, and with them the elders and judges of every city, [d]until the fierce wrath of our God over this matter is turned away from us.” [15]Only Jonathan the son of Asahel and Jahzeiah the son of Tikvah opposed this, and [e]Meshullam and [f]Shabbethai the Levite supported them.

[16][†]Then the returned exiles did so. Ezra the priest selected men, [3] heads of fathers’ houses, according to their fathers’ houses, each of them designated by name. On the first day of the tenth month they sat down to examine the matter; [17]and by the first day of the first month they had come to the end of all the men who had married foreign women.

Those Guilty of Intermarriage

[18][†]Now there were found some of the sons of the priests who had married foreign women: Maaseiah, Eliezer, Jarib, and Gedaliah, some of the sons of [g]Jeshua the son of Jozadak and his brothers. [19]They [h]pledged themselves to put away their wives, and their guilt offering was [i]a ram of the flock for their guilt. [4] [20][j]Of the sons of Immer: Hanani and Zebadiah. [21][k]Of the sons of Harim: Maaseiah, Elijah, Shemaiah, Jehiel, and Uzziah. [22]Of the sons of Pashhur: Elioenai, Maaseiah, Ishmael, Nethanel, Jozabad, and Elasah.

[23]Of the Levites: Jozabad, Shimei, Kelaiah (that is, Kelita), Pethahiah, Judah, and Eliezer. [24]Of the singers: Eliashib. Of the gatekeepers: Shallum, Telem, and Uri.

25And of Israel: of the sons of Parosh: Ramiah, Izziah, Malchijah, Mijamin, Eleazar, Hashabiah, [5] and Benaiah. 26Of the sons of Elam: Mattaniah, Zechariah, Jehiel, Abdi, Jeremoth, and Elijah. 27Of the sons of Zattu: Elioenai, Eliashib, Mattaniah, Jeremoth, Zabad, and Aziza. 28Of the sons of Bebai were Jehohanan, Hananiah, Zabbai, and Athlai. 29Of the sons of Bani were Meshullam, Malluch, Adaiah, Jashub, Sheal, and Jeremoth. 30Of the sons of Pahath-moab: Adna, Chelal, Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattaniah, Bezalel, Binnui, and Manasseh. 31Of the [l] sons of Harim: Eliezer, Isshijah, Malchijah, Shemaiah, Shimeon, 32Benjamin, Malluch, and Shemariah. 33Of the sons of Hashum: Mattenai, Mattattah, Zabad, Eliphelet, Jeremai, Manasseh, and Shimei. 34Of the sons of [m] Bani: Maadai, Amram, Uel, 35Benaiah, Bedeiah, Cheluhi, 36Vaniah, Meremoth, Eliashib, 37Mattaniah, Mattenai, Jaasu. 38Of the sons of Binnui: [6] Shimei, 39Shelemiah, Nathan, Adaiah, 40Machnadebai, Shashai, Sharai, 41Azarel, Shelemiah, Shemariah, 42Shallum, Amariah, and Joseph. 43Of the sons of Nebo: Jeiel, Mattithiah, Zabad, Zebina, Jaddai, Joel, and Benaiah. 44All these had married foreign women, and some of the women [n] had even borne children. Study Notes for Ezra

1:1–2:70 Cyrus's Decree and the Return of Exiles from Babylon. Ezra describes monumental political changes in the world as God's special work for his people.

1:1–4 The Decree. In the famous Cyrus Cylinder, Cyrus boasts that those "of the holy cities beyond the Tigris whose sanctuaries had been in ruins over a long period . . . I returned to their places." Ezra 1 reflects that proclamation as it affected the Jews.

EZRA—NOTE ON 1:1 the first year of Cyrus. The story of Ezra continues from Chronicles (see 2 Chron. 36:22–23). might be fulfilled. Jeremiah had predicted an exile lasting 70 years, after which Babylon would be punished and Judah would be restored to its land (see Jer. 25:11–14; 32:36–38). the LORD stirred up the spirit of Cyrus. God's hand was behind all the events of the book (see Ezra 1:5; 3:11; 5:5; 6:22; 7:6, 9; 8:18, 22; 10:14). On Cyrus's role, see also Isa. 44:28; 45:1.

EZRA—NOTE ON 1:2 God of heaven is used elsewhere as a title for the Lord when Jews relate to non-Jews (see 5:12). Cyrus uses diplomatic language typical of the time.

EZRA—NOTE ON 1:3–4 he is the God who is in Jerusalem. No doubt this is Cyrus's real view, although he is not necessarily claiming there is only one God (compare Darius's statement in 6:12). Go up to Jerusalem describes worship in the temple. The focus of the decree is on the rebuilding of the temple more than on the exiles returning. let each survivor . . . be assisted by the men of his place. Cyrus decrees that the people of his kingdom should supply the returning exiles with what they need for the rebuilding (compare Ex. 12:35–36).

FACT

Cyrus the Great was the founder of the largest empire the ancient Near East had seen thus far. He conquered much of Southwest and Central Asia, and reigned for 30 years. He was a strong military leader and a shrewd politician. Any people group he conquered was allowed to maintain its own customs and religion, so long as they swore loyalty to Persia, paid taxes, and did not rebel.

1:5–11 The Exiles Respond to the Decree. The exiles' leaders gather money and materials for the temple. Cyrus brings the items taken from the temple in 586 B.C. for the people to take back to Jerusalem.

EZRA—NOTE ON 1:5 The heads of the fathers' houses (extended families) and priests spearhead the response. The three tribes—Judah, Benjamin, and the Levites—had inhabited the former kingdom of Judah. They were taken off to Babylon in 586 B.C. No mention is made here or elsewhere of any large-scale return of other tribes, though a few people from other tribes are sometimes mentioned or implied (see 1 Chron. 9:3; Luke 2:36). The OT gives no further information on the fate of the other tribes.

EZRA—NOTE ON 1:6–11 The people of Persia help the Jewish exiles as their king commands. Cyrus gives back the vessels of the house of the LORD (v. 7), stolen from the temple in the Babylonian invasion (2 Kings 25:13–17). The title prince of Judah (Ezra 1:8) simply means he was a leader of the exiles.

2:1–70 The Exiles Live Again in Their Ancestral Homes. This long chapter tells of the exiles' return from Babylon to resettle in their former homes in Jerusalem and Judah. (The information in ch. 2 is given again in Neh. 7:6–73 in connection with a covenant renewal under Nehemiah.) It shows that the exiled Judeans responded to Cyrus's decree and saw it as a fulfillment of prophecy. The return is not just the end of the exile but also a reoccupation of the ancient Israelite homeland.

Chronology of Ezra

Event	Year	Reference
Cyrus king of Persia captures Babylon	539 B.C.	Dan. 5:30–31
First year of King Cyrus; issues proclamation freeing Jewish exiles to return	538–537	Ezra 1:1–4
Jewish exiles, led by Sheshbazzar, return from Babylon to Jerusalem	537?	Ezra 1:11
Altar rebuilt	537	Ezra 3:1–2

Temple rebuilding begins	536	Ezra 3:8
Adversaries oppose the rebuilding	536–530	Ezra 4:1–5
Temple rebuilding ceases	530–520	Ezra 4:24
Temple rebuilding resumes (2nd year of Darius)	520	Ezra 5:2; compare Hag. 1:14
Temple construction completed (6th year of Darius)	516	Ezra 6:15
Ezra departs from Babylon to Jerusalem (arrives in 7th year of Artaxerxes)	458	Ezra 7:6–9
Men of Judah and Benjamin assemble at Jerusalem	458	Ezra 10:9
Officials conduct three-month investigation	458–457	Ezra 10:16–17

EZRA—NOTE ON 2:2b–35 The laity is described partly by kinship (vv. 2b–19) and partly by place (vv. 20–35), without a real distinction (the men of and the sons of seem interchangeable). The places named are in Judah and Benjamin (see 1:5), north and south of Jerusalem, with a larger group in Benjamin (see Josh. 18:21–27).

EZRA—NOTE ON 2:2a Zerubbabel descended from King Jehoiachin (see 1 Chron. 3:16–19, where Jehoiachin is called Jeconiah). Jehoiachin was exiled in 597 B.C. and was later given a place in the Babylonian court (2 Kings 24:15; 25:27–30; see also Hag. 2:23). The Nehemiah named here is not the one who later rebuilt Jerusalem’s walls; he came to Jerusalem almost a century after these first returnees. The Mordecai of Esther was also much later, and did not return to Jerusalem.

EZRA—NOTE ON 2:36–58 Temple officials are divided by function, headed by the priests and Levites. The priests (vv. 36–39) are most important, set apart for worship at the altar. The Levites are attendants, some of them singers and gatekeepers (vv. 40–42; see also 1 Chron. 6:33–43; 9:17–18).

EZRA—NOTE ON 2:43–54 The temple servants were officials appointed by King David to help the Levites (see 8:20).

EZRA—NOTE ON 2:55–58 The sons of Solomon’s servants may be connected with foreigners whom Solomon drafted for building the temple (1 Kings 9:20–21). They are not regarded as slaves.

EZRA—NOTE ON 2:59–63 whether they belonged to Israel. People were coming back after a long exile to claim inheritance and property, so credentials needed to be established. excluded from the priesthood. Only priests from the correct lineage could serve at the altar. a priest to consult. The claims entered here are not permanently refused, but are investigated further before a ruling is made.

EZRA—NOTE ON 2:68 The location of the former temple is regarded as a holy place, so it can already be called the house of the LORD that is in Jerusalem.

EZRA—NOTE ON 2:69 Darics were gold coins used throughout the Persian Empire. Archaeologists have found darics bearing the name of the Persian province Yehud, probably indicating that the returned Jews were allowed to mint their own coins. Yehud was the Persian name for Judah (or Judea; see 9:9); it was within a larger province called Beyond the River (see 4:10; and note on 4:1–2).

FACT

Darics (2:69) were gold coins used throughout the Persian Empire. These coins were often called "archers" because of the image of an archer stamped on the face. When one particular king remarked that 30,000 archers had run him out of his kingdom, he was implying that he had been bribed to give up his throne.

EZRA—NOTE ON 3:1–6:22 The Returned Exiles Rebuild the Temple on Its Original Site. The book of Ezra spans several generations. The returnees begin rebuilding, encounter resistance, and finally receive renewed permission to rebuild.

3:1–13 The Foundations of the Temple Are Laid. The altar is rebuilt on its former site, and foundations are laid for the new temple.

EZRA—NOTE ON 3:1 The seventh month, Tishri (roughly September), was the month of the Day of Atonement (Lev. 23:26–32), followed by the Feast of Booths (or Tabernacles; Lev. 23:33–43), celebrating the exodus from Egypt. Thus, in the first year of their return, the people make their first pilgrimage to Jerusalem.

EZRA—NOTE ON 3:2 built the altar. The broken altar had to be rebuilt so sacrifices could once again be made.

EZRA—NOTE ON 3:3 in its place. There may have been visible remains of the original altar (perhaps implied by Jer. 41:4–5). In any case, its exact location was evidently known. It is possible the exiles hurried to build the altar because they feared the peoples of the lands—residents of Judah, and perhaps neighboring areas, who were not part of the returned exiles. Some may have had Jewish origins, but they appear to be a distinct group and would soon oppose the work.

EZRA—NOTE ON 3:4–7 For the Feast of Booths, see Num. 29:12–38.

EZRA—NOTE ON 3:8 Work begins with laying the foundation in the second year of the return (c. 537 B.C.). The second month, Ziv (1 Kings 6:1), is in the spring, the same time of year when Solomon had begun his temple (2 Chron. 3:2). The return from exile is dated starting after their coming to the house of God at Jerusalem. Even though the temple still lies in ruins, the place could be called "the house of God" because it had been consecrated for worship (see Jer. 41:5).

FACT

Joppa was 35 miles (56 km) northwest of Jeru-salem on the Mediterranean Sea and was a major seaport. Joppa had the only natural harbor in all of Palestine. Though the surrounding reefs made it dangerous for ships to enter the harbor, it was still greatly valued because of its strategic location for trade with the west.

EZRA—NOTE ON 3:12–13 But many . . . wept with a loud voice. Some of the older people remembered the former temple and believed this new one would not match its glory.

4:1–24 Enemies Stall the Project by Conspiring against It. The rebuilding project encounters opposition from other groups in the region, and the work ceases.

Adversaries Hinder Work

Ezra 4:5	The people of the land hired counselors to work against the Israelites from the reigns of Cyrus (539–530 B.C.) to Darius (522–486)
Ezra 4:6	Accusations arose during the reign of Xerxes (Ahasuerus) (486–464)
Ezra 4:7–23	Accusations arose during the reign of Artaxerxes (464–423):
	• First threat: they will withhold money (v. 13)
	• Second threat: the king is dishonored (v. 14)
	• Third threat: they have rebelled before (v. 15)
	• Fourth threat: they will take over the whole area (v. 16)
Ezra 4:24–6:12	Work on the temple stopped from 536–520; Darius finally gives order to rebuild it

EZRA—NOTE ON 4:1–2 the adversaries of Judah and Benjamin. The area where the returned exiles lived was officially a Persian province called Beyond the River (v. 10; that is, beyond the Euphrates from the perspective of Persia). Its administrative center was in Samaria, the capital of the former northern kingdom of Israel. Its population was largely descended from peoples settled there by Esarhaddon king of Assyria (see 2 Kings 17:24–33). Assyria had been resettling exiles from other lands in this area since Judah was conquered in 722 B.C. Let us build with you, for we worship your God as you do. Indeed, a priest had been sent to teach these peoples' ancestors the religion of Yahweh (2 Kings 17:24–28), though the account in 2 Kings reports that they worshiped other gods as well (2 Kings 17:29–41).

EZRA—NOTE ON 4:3 we alone will build to the LORD. Their stated reason for refusing the offer of help was that Cyrus's decree applied only to the returning exiles. No doubt they also understood that the actual intent of the offer was to sabotage the project.

EZRA—NOTE ON 4:4–5 The real attitude of these residents, now called the people of the land, becomes clear. They showed their opposition all the days of Cyrus . . . even until the reign of Darius, that is, right up to the completion of the temple in 516 B.C. They apparently turned local officials against the project. Even though the project had the full authority of King Cyrus, these local enemies took advantage of the distance of Jerusalem from the imperial capital in Persia.

EZRA—NOTE ON 4:6–23 This section interrupts the historical narrative (1:1–4:5), which resumes at 4:24.

EZRA—NOTE ON 4:6 This verse jumps forward to events during the reign of Ahasuerus (also called Xerxes, 486–464 B.C.), a key figure in the book of Esther (see Est. 1:1).

EZRA—NOTE ON 4:7–23 The author jumps forward again to another hostile episode, when leaders in the province sent a formal letter of complaint to King Artaxerxes I (reigned 464–423 B.C.).

EZRA—NOTE ON 4:7–8 The occasion of this letter against the Jewish community is not known, but apparently the people had attempted to rebuild the city walls even before the arrival of Nehemiah in 445 B.C. The letter was in Aramaic, the language used by Persian diplomats. When the letter is introduced (v. 7b), the language changes from Hebrew to Aramaic until 6:18. It returns to Hebrew from 6:19 to the end of the book. Citing the letters in Aramaic gives authenticity to Ezra's account.

EZRA—NOTE ON 4:9–10 The people sending the letter give their names, professions, and national origins. Their ancestors were among the foreigners brought in by the conquering Assyrians to resettle the northern kingdom of Israel after 722 B.C.

EZRA—NOTE ON 4:11 Beyond the River. See note on 4:1–2.

FACT

Beyond the River was the name given by Persian rulers to their province that included Judah and Israel (4:11). The "River" refers to the Euphrates River, running through present-day Iraq. From the perspective of people living in Persia, Israel was indeed "beyond the river."

EZRA—NOTE ON 4:12 that rebellious and wicked city. Actually, the kings of Israel and Judah had often sought compromise with their Assyrian and Babylonian oppressors. The writers of this letter assume that the Persian rulers will be easily convinced that the returned exiles are ready to rebel.

EZRA—NOTE ON 4:13–16 The threat of an independence movement in Jerusalem is exaggerated. The imperial records would include those of Assyria and Babylon.

EZRA—NOTE ON 4:17–22 The king allowed the work of rebuilding to be stopped by force. This may explain why it was later reported that the walls of Jerusalem lay in ruins (Neh. 1:3).

EZRA—NOTE ON 4:24 The word then picks up the story from v. 5, going back to the period soon after the first return. It is implied that the temple rebuilding had ceased soon after it began, within about two years after c. 537 B.C. (see 3:8). It resumed in the second year of the reign of Darius king of Persia, 520 B.C., about 15 years later.

5:1–17 The Work Is Resumed, and Local Officials Seek Confirmation of Cyrus's Decree. After a period of inactivity, the leaders resume work on rebuilding the temple, and provincial officials inquire into its legitimacy.

FACT

The Behistun Inscription. This 50-by-80-foot (15-by-24 m) inscription was carved into the face of a cliff in western Iran. Using various languages, it provides an autobiography of Darius's life, lineage, and victories as king of Persia.

EZRA—NOTE ON 5:1–2 The prophets, Haggai and Zechariah, are also known from their books. These two books contain prophecies made in the second year of King Darius, 520 B.C. (Hag. 1:1; 2:1; Zech. 1:1, 7; see note on Ezra 4:24; see also 6:14). Haggai says the people had lost sight of their priority of rebuilding the temple (Hag. 1:4–6). Ezra 5:1–2 connects the work of the prophets and the renewed activity. Zerubbabel and Jeshua are simply reconfirming Cyrus's decree, recognizing it as God's will.

EZRA—NOTE ON 5:3–5 The officials Tattenai and Shethar-bozenai are much more neutral than the officials in 4:8–10. Clearly they have no knowledge of Cyrus's decree, probably because the work had long been stopped. They are interested only in the proper authorization of this work. They do not interfere with its progress. The eye of their God was watching over the builders' activity and protecting them.

ZERUBBABEL

King Cyrus of Persia decreed that the Jewish exiles in Babylon should return to Jerusalem and rebuild the destroyed temple. Zerubbabel, whom the prophet Haggai refers to as "governor of Judah" (Hag. 1:1), was one of the first exiles to return. Along with the priest Jeshua, he rebuilt the altar of the Lord so that sacrifices could once again be made. The following year, under the guidance and supervision of Zerubbabel and Jeshua, work began on the temple itself. The foundations of the temple were laid, but opposition from local governors prevented its completion for more than 20 years. With the support of the prophets Haggai and Zechariah, Zerubbabel and Jeshua resumed and completed the reconstruction of the temple during the reign of King Darius. (Ezra 5:2)

EZRA—NOTE ON 5:6–17 Verse 6 introduces the copy of the letter sent by Tattenai and Shethar-bozenai to Darius, and vv. 8–17 recite the letter itself.

EZRA—NOTE ON 5:8 The province of Judah lay within the Persian province Beyond the River (see also note on 2:69). Tattenai (5:6) served as governor of the province, in Samaria. The house of the great God is a diplomatic way of referring to the temple and the God of Israel. It does not imply the letter writers believe in him.

EZRA—NOTE ON 5:11 The letter writers probably got their information from the returned exiles themselves, since it reflects their understanding of the situation. Instead of giving their actual names when asked, the returned exiles say, We are the servants of the God of heaven and earth. That is, they are serving the one true God of the whole world. The great king of Israel is Solomon.

EZRA—NOTE ON 5:12 This verse sums up the message of 1–2 Kings.

EZRA—NOTE ON 5:13–15 These verses repeat information given in 1:2–4. The text stops short of claiming that Cyrus had also commanded that the rebuilding be funded by donations from places in Babylon where the exiles lived (see note on 1:3–4). This was perhaps more than Tattenai or even the exiles cared to suggest at this point.

EZRA—NOTE ON 5:13 Cyrus the king made a decree. See 1:1–4.

EZRA—NOTE ON 5:14 Sheshbazzar was one of the early leaders of the returning exiles (see 1:8). Here he is called governor, a name applied to Tattenai himself in 5:3. The term could be used loosely, since Judah would not have had a "governor" on a par with the governor of the entire province Beyond the River (v. 6, etc.). Darius's reply also refers to a "governor of the Jews" (6:7), a name given to Zerubbabel in Hag. 1:1.

EZRA—NOTE ON 5:16–17 it has been in building. The period when building had stopped was irrelevant both to the information Tattenai was giving and the request he was making. Tattenai, following the Jews' own account, wants to link the original authorization and the present building activity. So he portrays Sheshbazzar as having laid the temple's foundations, since it was under his authority, though that achievement is attributed to Zerubbabel and Jeshua in 3:8–10.

6:1–22 King Darius Discovers and Reaffirms Cyrus's Decree, and the Work Is Completed. A record of Cyrus's decree is discovered, and King Darius confirms that the Jews are to be allowed to continue the work.

EZRA—NOTE ON 6:1–2 King Darius's search for Cyrus's decree is made first in Babylonia. This is where Cyrus had declared himself king in 539 B.C. and where many exiled Jews lived. But the scroll containing it was found in Ecbatana, a summer residence of Persian kings, where Cyrus may have gone soon after his triumph over Babylon. The province of Media was formerly the seat of an empire itself, but Cyrus had made it part of Persia. The document discovered is a record, apparently a memorandum on the decree rather than the decree itself, which would probably have been on a clay tablet.

EZRA—NOTE ON 6:3–5 This record is not identical with the decree as recorded in 1:2–4. It gives new specifications about the building, its location, its size, and its materials. Perhaps a copy of the original decree had been found (see note on 6:1–2), and instructions may have been added to it. Also, different copies of Cyrus's original decree may have been made for different purposes (the one in 1:2–4 included wording for public proclamation, while this version in 6:3–5 was for the royal archives). The size of the temple might be specified in order to limit it, since public funds were being used to pay for it. The absence of a length dimension is odd, and the greater breadth than Solomon's temple is unexpected (compare 1 Kings 6:2), especially in view of Ezra 3:12.

EZRA—NOTE ON 6:4 Using three layers of great stones and one layer of timber follows the construction of the older temple (1 Kings 6:36; 7:12). While the original decree had required people in Babylon to help pay for the project (Ezra 1:4), this record requires that the cost be met from the royal treasury.

EZRA—NOTE ON 6:7 Governor of the Jews refers to Zerubbabel (compare Hag. 1:1). What became of the first governor, Sheshbazzar, is not known.

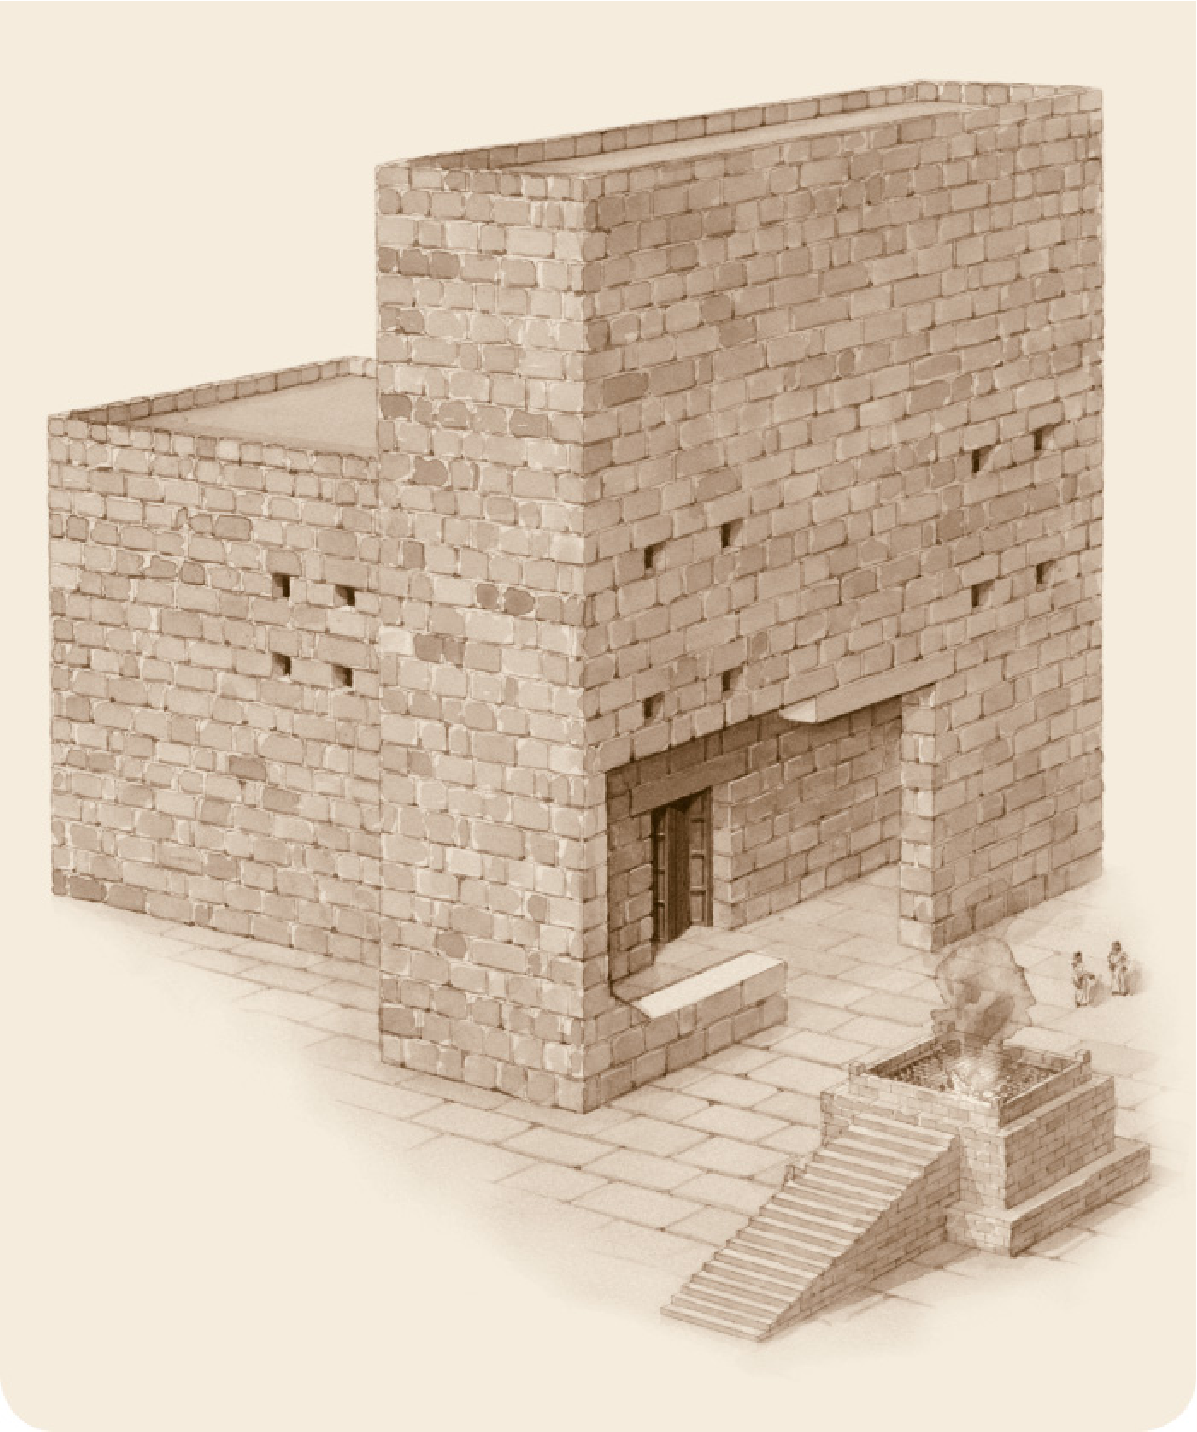
EZRA—NOTE ON 6:8–10 Darius confirms Cyrus's decree and also provides for costs from taxes raised in the province Beyond the River itself (v. 8). He also provides materials for sacrifices (v. 9), with the political condition that the Jews would pray for the life of the king and his sons (v. 10). Darius's generosity was part of his plan for maintaining Persian power.

EZRA—NOTE ON 6:11–12 Darius makes a further decree, backed up with a typical threat. He borrows language from the Israelite way of speaking about God's presence in Jerusalem (the God who has caused his name to dwell there, compare Deut. 12:5). This does not necessarily mean that Darius believes in the one true God (compare note on Ezra 1:3–4).

Zerubbabel's Temple

The rebuilding of Jerusalem's temple was done in stages (c. 536–516 B.C.). First, the altar was built, so that sacrifices could again be made (Ezra 3:2–3). The second phase was the laying of the foundation of the temple. This elicited mixed reactions from the people. Some rejoiced that the foundation was laid, while others, especially the elder priests, were sad, presumably because the quality of construction was inferior to that of the previous temple. Due to the opposition of the local population and the lack of motivation among the Jews, it took 20 years to complete the construction of the temple building.

The only information given in the biblical record about the architecture of the temple is the dimensions, which were sixty cubits (90 feet /27 m) high and wide (Ezra 6:3). As there is no mention of the length of the building, these dimensions must refer to the facade of the temple, i.e., the Porch.



EZRA—NOTE ON 6:14 God, speaking here through his prophets, is the real power behind events. But the actions of the Persian kings on behalf of the Jews are also acknowledged.

EZRA—NOTE ON 6:15 The month of Adar (February/March) was the last month of the year. The sixth year of the reign of Darius was 515 B.C., almost exactly 70 years after the destruction of the first temple (586), fulfilling the prophecy of 70 years of exile (see note on 1:1).

FACT

How long did it take to rebuild the temple? The Jews returning from exile faced many obstacles in rebuilding the temple. The non-Jewish people now living in the land resisted their efforts, and the returned exiles often lacked the motivation to work. The temple took 20 years to complete, and it fell far short of the grandeur of Solomon's temple.

EZRA—NOTE ON 6:16–17 the people of Israel. Even though the returned exiles consisted of only three tribes (see note on 1:5), they represent all 12, the number of the tribes of Israel. The other divisions, the priests and the Levites and the laity, are a typical way of describing the whole community in Ezra. with joy. The Lord had fulfilled his prophecies and answered his people's prayers. There is spontaneous joy when God's people see evidence that he is working in the world. The dedication of this house follows its completion.

EZRA—NOTE ON 6:18 The priests and Levites are set in their divisions, grouped according to their temple duties, as King David had done (1 Chronicles 23–27).

EZRA—NOTE ON 6:19–22 The text returns from Aramaic to Hebrew in v. 19 (see note on 4:7–8). The Passover is kept on its appointed date, followed immediately by the Feast of Unleavened Bread, which lasts for seven days (see Lev. 23:5–6). Participating are the people of Israel and the people of the land who had joined them (see note on Ezra 6:21). Persia's king now ruled over the territorial empire of the Assyrians, so he could be called king of Assyria.

EZRA—NOTE ON 6:21 Remarkably, the returning Jews are joined by every one who had . . . separated himself from the uncleanness of the peoples of the land to worship the LORD. The community was based on faith rather than on ancestry. Non-Israelites who expressed faith in God and a willingness to follow his law were welcome.

EZRA—NOTE ON 7:1–8:36 Ezra the Priest Comes to Jerusalem to Establish the Law of Moses. The text now skips ahead 57 years (see note on 7:1–7). Ezra the scribe is charged by King Artaxerxes to establish the Law of Moses in Jerusalem. This section tells of Ezra's commission, his journey, and his companions.

Kings of Persia Mentioned in Ezra–Nehemiah

Cyrus	539–530 B.C.
Darius I	522–486
Xerxes (Ahasuerus)	485–464
Artaxerxes I	464–423

7:1–28 King Artaxerxes Gives Ezra Authority to Establish the Mosaic Law. Artaxerxes gives Ezra the authority to establish the Mosaic law in Judah, to appoint officials to administer the law, and to provide for the further adornment of the temple.

EZRA—NOTE ON 7:1–7 Ezra is introduced first as a priest, in the line of Aaron the chief priest. He comes to Jerusalem in the seventh year, that is, in 458 B.C., 57 years after the temple dedication.

EZRA—NOTE ON 7:6–7 Ezra is a scribe skilled in the Law of Moses. The people badly need instruction in the law. Ezra has apparently asked the king for permission and resources to go to Jerusalem (v. 7). Artaxerxes grants Ezra all that he needs, for the hand of the LORD his God was on him (see note on 1:1). Ezra comes to Judah with a new wave of immigrants.

EZRA

Ezra is described as "a man learned in matters of the commandments of the Lord and his statutes for Israel" (7:11). Both a priest and scribe, Ezra was commissioned by King Artaxerxes of Persia to establish the Law of Moses in Jerusalem. The king also gave him money from the royal treasury to beautify the temple. Arriving in Jerusalem 57 years after the temple was rebuilt, Ezra appointed judges to administer the law. Seventy years of Babylonian exile had had a negative effect on the people's relationship with the Lord. The Lord enabled Ezra to guide Israel as they sought once again to live according to the law. (Ezra 7:1–6)

EZRA—NOTE ON 7:9 the first month . . . the fifth month. The journey of 900 miles (1,448 km) from Babylon to Jerusalem took nearly four months. This was a slow pace, probably because the caravan included children and elderly people.

FACT

How long was the journey from Babylon to Jerusalem? It took Ezra and the caravan he was traveling with four months to traverse the nearly 900 miles (1,448 km) from Babylon to Jerusalem. An army could have traveled much faster, but Ezra's entourage probably included children and elderly people.

EZRA—NOTE ON 7:10 Ezra's mission was to teach God's statutes and rules. These appear throughout Exodus to Deuteronomy, especially in Exodus 20–23, Leviticus, and Deuteronomy 12–26.

EZRA—NOTE ON 7:11 Artaxerxes' decree is in a letter in Aramaic (see note on 4:7–8) addressed to Ezra.

EZRA—NOTE ON 7:12 The title king of kings was used by Persia's kings. It expresses their sovereignty over many conquered peoples. Ezra is called the scribe of the Law of the God of heaven. This may refer to a responsibility he had in Babylon, even before returning to Jerusalem.

EZRA—NOTE ON 7:13–14 The decree from Artaxerxes echoes Cyrus's decree in authorizing any Jews who wish to go to Jerusalem (compare 1:3). The charge to make inquiries about Judah and Jerusalem according to the Law of your God no doubt reflects Ezra's own priority, and perhaps his belief that the law is not being properly kept there.

EZRA—NOTE ON 7:15–18 Ezra is permitted to gather further resources in the whole province of Babylonia. He is permitted to decide how best to use the resources.

EZRA—NOTE ON 7:19–20 vessels . . . for the service of the house of your God. Artaxerxes adds these to the temple treasures previously returned by Cyrus, apparently as his own gift. He also allows Ezra whatever he needs from the public funds in the king's treasury.

EZRA—NOTE ON 7:22 The talent was 75 pounds (34 kg). The amount of silver has been estimated at a quarter to a third of all the annual taxes paid in the province Beyond the River. The wheat, wine, and oil would have been used for cereal offerings, for drink offerings, and for the lamp in the temple (Ex. 27:20; 29:2). The quantities would have supplied the temple's needs for two years. Salt, supplied without limit, was for preservation and seasoning (Ex. 30:35; Lev. 2:13).

EZRA—NOTE ON 7:23 In making these provisions (v. 22), the king may have been hoping to keep away God's wrath against himself (the king) and his sons (see also 6:10).

EZRA—NOTE ON 7:27 who put such a thing as this into the heart of the king. See note on 1:1. to beautify the house of the LORD. The author uses the same terms as Isa. 60:7 (see note on Isa. 60:5–7); he sees this event as fulfilling Isaiah's prophecy.

8:1–36 Ezra Journeys to Jerusalem with a New Wave of Returnees, Bearing Royal Gifts for the Temple. This section gives a more extended account of Ezra's return to Jerusalem. Readers learn of those who returned with Ezra (vv. 1–14), how he recruited additional priests (vv. 15–20), their prayer for the journey (vv. 21–23), and Ezra's provision for the temple (vv. 24–36).

EZRA—NOTE ON 8:1–14 The party returning with Ezra was a considerable addition to Judah, numbered here according to the heads of their fathers' houses, that is, heads of families (v. 1). There are two priestly divisions, namely, Phinehas and Ithamar. These were the remaining sons of Aaron following the judgment on Nadab and Abihu (Lev. 10:1–7). Ezra was of the line of Phinehas (Ezra 7:5). Daniel (8:2) is otherwise unknown; he is not the Daniel carried off to Babylon in 605 B.C. A third division is a line of David (8:2; for Hattush, see 1 Chron. 3:22). Ezra's party aims to replenish the priesthood, and perhaps also to renew the claims of the Davidic house to rule in Judah.

EZRA—NOTE ON 8:15 The party camps outside Babylon at the river that runs to Ahava, no doubt one of the canals extending from the Euphrates. Ezra discovers that, though he had priests with him, there were none of the sons of Levi, that is, the Levites (see 2:40).

EZRA—NOTE ON 8:17–19 Nothing is known of Iddo or of Casiphia. But apparently there were Levites and temple servants (see 2:43–54; 1 Chron. 9:2) in Casiphia, perhaps training for when there would be a temple again in Jerusalem. Mahli and Merari belong to the same Levitical family (Num. 3:33).

EZRA—NOTE ON 8:21 a fast. Fasting had become important in the exile as a way of expressing repentance (see Neh. 9:1; Est. 4:3).

EZRA—NOTE ON 8:22–23 On the power of his wrath, see 6:10; 7:23. Contrast Ezra's policy in 8:22 with Nehemiah's (Neh. 2:9). and he listened to our entreaty. God's control of historical events is the background for this entire book (see Ezra 8:31; also note on 1:1).

EZRA—NOTE ON 8:26 The amounts of silver and gold are extraordinarily large, the silver weighing around 25 tons (22 metric tons) and the gold 3.75 tons (3.4 metric tons).

EZRA—NOTE ON 8:28–30 The priests themselves are holy to the LORD (Ex. 29:1). They are set aside for his service, as are the precious metals and vessels donated (see Ex. 30:26–29).

EZRA—NOTE ON 8:31 The group sets out on the twelfth day of the first month (Nisan, March/April). The plan to leave on the first day (7:9) had been delayed by the need to send for more Levites. he delivered us from the hand of the enemy. Whether there were actual attacks on the group is not said, but God's protection on the journey from Babylon recalls the exodus of Israel from Egypt.

EZRA—NOTE ON 8:32–34 We came to Jerusalem. This was on the first day of the fifth month (Ab, July/August), after nearly four months of travel (see note on 7:9).

EZRA—NOTE ON 8:35 For the first time, these exiles see and worship at the rebuilt temple.

EZRA—NOTE ON 9:1–10:44 Ezra Discovers and Confronts the Problem of Intermarriage. Ezra discovers that the Jewish community has mixed with idolatrous non-Jewish groups in religion and in marriage. He leads the community in repentance and in a systematic separation from the foreign women and their children.

9:1–15 Ezra Discovers the Problem of Marriage to Idolaters, and Prays. Ezra hears that many Israelites have married people of other religions. He prays about the situation (vv. 6–15).

EZRA—NOTE ON 9:1–2 For the peoples of the lands, see note on 3:3. the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, . . . and the Amorites. These were among the seven idolatrous nations Israel was commanded to drive out of the land (see Deut. 7:1–5). The Ammonites and Moabites lived east of the Jordan, outside of the Promised Land, and were especially hostile to Israel (Deut. 23:3–4). Some Israelites had taken wives from foreign nations who worshiped other gods. Such people could join the people of Israel, however, if they were willing to follow the Lord God alone (see note on Ezra 6:21). Their abominations (9:1) refers to their worship of other gods and the wicked practices that went with such worship (Deut. 12:31). The issue was not ethnic purity (see Ezra 6:21); intermarriage could lead to spiritual unfaithfulness, and so it was forbidden (Deut. 7:3). The holy race is literally “holy seed/offspring” and refers to the “offspring” of Abraham (Gen. 12:1–3; 15:5; 17:7–8). Isaiah uses the term “holy seed” to describe the surviving remnant of Israel that would be brought to life again after the terrible judgment of the exile (Isa. 6:13).

EZRA—NOTE ON 9:3 Ezra mourns that the “holy race” has compromised its newly won salvation by returning to the sins that had brought judgment in the first place.

EZRA—NOTE ON 9:4 Trembled at the words of the God of Israel describes eagerness to obey God and respect for his holiness (see Isa. 66:2).

EZRA—NOTE ON 9:6–7 Ezra confesses for the community, beginning with the historic sins of Israel that had led to the Babylonian exile. our iniquities . . . our guilt. These two strong terms are each repeated twice. Ezra knows that his people had deserved to be exiled because of their sins.

EZRA—NOTE ON 9:7 the days of our fathers. The time before the exile (see Zech. 1:4). The terms sword, captivity, plundering, and shame sum up the disasters experienced for failing to keep the covenant. They also bring to mind the consequences for disobedience noted in Lev. 26:14–39 and Deut. 28:15–68 (see 2 Kings 17:20; Jer. 24:9–10).

EZRA—NOTE ON 9:8 For a brief moment, that is, for the time following Cyrus's edict, Israel has enjoyed God's favor. It has actually been nearly a century, but that is "brief" compared to Israel's long history. Ezra refers to the returned exiles as the remnant, as does Nehemiah (Neh. 1:2; see also Isa. 10:20–22; Jer. 24:8). His holy place refers to the temple and, more broadly, to the land of Judah.

EZRA—NOTE ON 9:9 we are slaves. The exiles remain under the authority of Persia (see Neh. 9:36–37). Even so, God has shown the steadfast love that characterizes his covenant with Israel. He expects the same from Israel in return (compare Hos. 6:6). Judea. See note on Ezra 2:69.

EZRA—NOTE ON 9:10–12 Ezra alludes to Deut. 7:1–5 and the community's unlawful intermarriage. impure . . . impurity . . . uncleanness. The indigenous people's way of life and worship is totally incompatible with the life and worship required by the holy God of Israel.

10:1–17 The People Agree to Dissolve the Marriages. Ezra prays, and the people confess their sin (vv. 1–2). They agree to do God's will (vv. 3–5). Ezra seeks a solution (vv. 6–8), which is for them to separate from their wives (vv. 9–12), and the people obey (vv. 13–17).

EZRA—NOTE ON 10:1 While Ezra prayed. Ezra has been giving a first-person account since 7:27; now, a different narrator takes over. a very great assembly. Ezra's public prayer and grief bring many people to repentance—they wept bitterly.

EZRA—NOTE ON 10:2 Shecaniah speaks for the whole gathering. Jehiel. See also v. 26; Shecaniah's own father may have had a mixed marriage. The word translated married means literally "we have given a home," perhaps implying these were not actual marriages.

EZRA—NOTE ON 10:3 Shecaniah's belief that "there is hope for Israel" (v. 2) depends on their making a covenant with God. In this case it means a binding promise to put away the foreign wives and their children. This is not the usual expression for "divorce" and may also imply that these were not proper marriages. It simply means "bring out," in effect removing them from the community. Thus, the situation is not the same as 1 Cor. 7:12–14, where Paul tells Christians not to divorce their unbelieving spouses. This account in Ezra describes an unusual situation and does not call for divorcing unbelieving spouses today. the counsel of my lord (that is, Ezra). Ezra may have already outlined a plan for taking care of the foreign wives and their children, even though it is not recorded here (but see note on Ezra 10:18–44). according to the Law. That is, Deut. 7:1–5. those who tremble. See note on Ezra 9:4.

EZRA—NOTE ON 10:7–8 assemble at Jerusalem. This was a special gathering. Survival of the community was at stake. banned from the congregation. Anyone who refused to participate in the plan to renounce the foreign wives and children would also be removed from the community.

EZRA—NOTE ON 10:9 The ninth month, Chislev, is roughly December, the time of the so-called early rains. The people are trembling partly for fear of God (as in 9:4) and partly because they are cold and wet in the heavy rain.

EZRA—NOTE ON 10:10 increased the guilt of Israel. The return from exile had signified that Israel's past sins had been forgiven (Isa. 40:1–2). Ezra now points to renewed sin, and possibly the renewed wrath of God.

EZRA—NOTE ON 10:11 Make confession could also be translated in other contexts as "give thanks or praise" (compare Josh. 7:19 and ESV footnote). Rightful confession is itself a kind of worship.

EZRA—NOTE ON 10:14 wrath of our God. See note on v. 10.

EZRA—NOTE ON 10:16–17 examine the matter. Thorough inquiry was a part of judges' duties (see Deut. 17:4). The whole inquiry took three months.

FACT

An unscheduled assembly in Jerusalem. Three times each year, all the people of Israel were to gather in Jerusalem: Passover, Pentecost, and the Feast of Tabernacles. The unscheduled meeting in 10:9 took place in early winter, when it would have been cold and rainy in Jerusalem.

10:18–44 List of Those Who Were Implicated. The list of around a hundred names may suggest a more limited problem than one might have expected. In that case, the severe reaction of Ezra and the community recognizes the danger they all could face because of the actions of a few (see Deut. 17:7). The extensive inquiry must have considered each case separately (see Ezra 10:16–17). In some cases, a foreign wife and her children may have adopted Israel’s religion, as permitted in 6:21. Those who were turned away probably returned to their non-Jewish families.

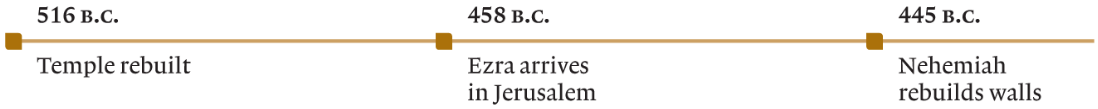
Introduction to Nehemiah

Introduction to Nehemiah

Timeline



Author and Date

Nehemiah is the central figure in the book. It contains some of his own records, but he is not the author of the entire book. The same author probably wrote Nehemiah and portions of Ezra. Nehemiah arrived in Jerusalem in 445 B.C., 13 years after Ezra arrived. He returned for a further visit sometime between 433 and 423 B.C. He may have made several journeys between Persian capitals and Jerusalem in this period of 20 years (see chart).

Theme

The theme of Nehemiah is the Lord's protection of his people and their need to be faithful in worship and in keeping the Mosaic law.

Purpose and Background

The basic purpose and background of Nehemiah are the same as that for Ezra (see Introduction to Ezra). Ezra, "a scribe skilled in the Law of Moses" (Ezra 7:6), called the returning exiles back to covenant loyalty and obedience to the law. Nehemiah rebuilt the city walls so that the community could be protected from enemies who might take advantage of them.

Key Themes

1. The Lord hears prayer (1:4–6).

2. The Lord works providentially, especially through powerful rulers, to bring about his greater purposes (e.g., 2:8).
3. The Lord protects his people. Because of this, they need not be afraid (4:14).
4. The Lord is merciful and faithful to his promises despite his people’s ongoing sin (9:32–35).
5. Worship is at the center of the life of God’s people. It includes the willing, joyful giving of resources (10:32–39).
6. God’s people need to be on their guard against their own moral weakness (ch. 13).

Outline

- I. Nehemiah Returns to Jerusalem to Rebuild Its Walls (1:1–2:20)
  - A. Nehemiah learns of Jerusalem’s dilapidation (1:1–11)
  - B. Nehemiah gains permission to return and inspects Jerusalem’s walls (2:1–16)
  - C. First signs of opposition (2:17–20)
- II. The Wall Is Built, Despite Difficulties (3:1–7:4)
  - A. The people work systematically on the walls (3:1–32)
  - B. Opposition intensifies, but the people continue watchfully (4:1–23)
  - C. Nehemiah deals with injustices in the community; Nehemiah’s personal contribution to the project (5:1–19)
  - D. A conspiracy against Nehemiah, but the wall is finished (6:1–7:4)
- III. A Record of Those Who Returned from Exile (7:5–73)
- IV. The Reading of the Law, and Covenant Renewal (8:1–10:39)
  - A. The law is read (8:1–8)
  - B. The people are to be joyful (8:9–12)
  - C. The people keep the Feast of Booths (8:13–18)
  - D. A prayer of confession, penitence, and covenant commitment (9:1–38)
  - E. Signatories and specific commitments (10:1–39)
- V. The Population of Jerusalem and the Villages; Priests and Levites (11:1–12:43)
  - A. Those who lived in Jerusalem and the villages of Judah (11:1–36)
  - B. High priests and leading Levites since the time of Zerubbabel (12:1–26)
  - C. Dedication of the walls (12:27–43)
- VI. Nehemiah Deals with Problems in the Community (12:44–13:31)

A. The administration of offerings for the temple (12:44–47)
B. Ejection of Tobiah the Ammonite from the temple (13:1–9)
C. Dealing with neglect of the offerings (13:10–14)
D. Dealing with Sabbath breaking (13:15–22)
E. The problem of intermarriage again (13:23–29)
F. Summary of Nehemiah’s temple reforms (13:30–31)

The Persian Empire at the Time of Nehemiah

c. 450 B.C.

During the time of Nehemiah, the Persian Empire had reached its greatest extent, engulfing nearly the entire Near East. In 539 B.C. the Persians under Cyrus the Great defeated the Babylonians and absorbed the lands of Israel and Judah (which they called “Beyond the River”) into their empire. The next year Cyrus allowed the people of Judah (now called Jews) to return home and rebuild the temple of the Lord. Several waves of returning Jews resettled in Judea. In about 445 B.C., Nehemiah was granted permission to rebuild Jerusalem’s ruined walls.

The Global Message of Nehemiah

The Big Picture of Nehemiah

The book of Nehemiah records the success and failure of visionary leadership among the exiles who returned to Jerusalem. Though the city wall in Jerusalem had been in ruins for almost 150 years (since Babylon destroyed Jerusalem in 586 B.C.), Nehemiah mobilized the Jews to rebuild the wall in only 52 days (Neh. 6:15)! He was an ordinary man whose preparation for ministry came in the Persian palace as the king's cupbearer (1:11–2:8). But he became an extraordinary leader through his diligence in prayer (1:5–11; 2:4; 4:9; 6:9), great faith in God (2:8, 20; 4:14, 20), and skill in organizing and managing people (chs. 3 and 5). Nehemiah's perseverance in the face of opposition led to the defeat of his opponents (chs. 4 and 6) and the renewal of the temple as a place of worship (ch. 12).

Nehemiah's Frailty

There is a darker side to Nehemiah's ambition, however. He is also portrayed as a leader whose task-oriented nature could lead him to lose sight of people (see his confession of guilt in Neh. 5:10). This trait became most evident when Nehemiah returned from a time in Persia to find that his ministry had failed despite its earlier success (ch. 13). Though his frustration is understandable, Nehemiah seems to go too far by becoming rather abusive against those who have broken their promises to God (13:25, 28; compare Ezra 9:3–5; 10:1). His career as a leader thus traces a familiar and troubling path: Nehemiah begins his ministry by confessing that he is a sinner like his people (Neh. 1:6) and he overcomes many obstacles through perseverance and prayer, but he concludes his ministry by confessing the sins of others with no mention of his own (13:29, 31). In this regard Nehemiah resembles other Old Testament leaders, such as David, Solomon, and Josiah, who started well but did not finish well.

In light of this focus on Nehemiah, the book that bears his name may seem somewhat unrelated to God's universal purposes. What does a story about rebuilding a city wall and reestablishing worship in Jerusalem have to do with God's universal mission to redeem his creation? Indeed, a book that describes intense opposition to intermarriage with other races (Nehemiah 13) may seem too sectarian for our pluralistic world (see "The Global Message of Ezra" for more discussion of intermarriage).

God's Global Purposes in Nehemiah

However, God's global purposes can still be seen in Nehemiah—in two major ways.

Strategic international influence. First, God reigns over the entire world as the "God of heaven" (Neh. 1:4, 5; 2:20; compare 9:5–6, 32). The book of Nehemiah begins, not in Jerusalem among God's people, but with an account of Nehemiah fulfilling the role of a civil servant in the Persian royal court. In God's sovereignty, the vocation of this cupbearer in exile provides the catalyst for the people of God to receive all that they need to revive their city (1:1–2:8). Like Joseph, Daniel, and Esther, Nehemiah has been placed by God in a foreign palace to advocate with rulers and achieve breakthroughs for God's people. This repeated pattern in the Old Testament shows that the exile played two complementary roles in God's plan for the nations: God sent the nations to take Israel into exile, but he also used the exile to move his children into positions of international influence. Thus God showed himself sovereign over the affairs of both his own people and the nations.

Blessing the nations. Second and related to this, the identity of God's chosen people is closely bound up with his purposes for all peoples. The communal confession of the Levites (Neh. 9:5–37), for example, begins by linking God's reign over creation with his special choice of Abraham and his descendants: "You are the Lord*, you alone*. You have made heaven, the heaven of heavens, with all their host, . . . You are the Lord, the God who chose Abram and brought him out of Ur of the Chaldeans and gave him the name Abraham" (9:6–7). God had blessed Israel so that they might bring divine blessing and righteousness to the nations (9:8–15; see also Gen. 12:1–3; 17:6–8). Yet the later history of Israel reveals a people who rebelled "presumptuously" (Neh. 9:16, 29) against God, much as Pharaoh "arrogantly" (9:10) opposed Israel. God's response to human pride, whether from foreign nations or his own people, has always been to vindicate his reputation: "you made a name for yourself, as it is to this day" (9:10). Thus God's people were treated as his enemies when they became indistinguishable from the nations, as when Israel disobeyed God by mingling with the peoples of the land and adopting their customs (13:4–29). The fulfillment of God's global purposes always requires that his people be distinct from the other nations, so that they can be a blessing to those nations (Deut. 26:16–19; 1 Pet. 2:11–12).

Lessons for Global Leaders

The universal themes of Nehemiah gain particular relevance for today when we notice the book's unique emphasis on the first-person "I," that is, Nehemiah's description of himself as a leader on the international stage of history. No other historical book of the Old Testament exhibits such a personal touch. This observation invites further reflections on Nehemiah as an example of both promise and peril in leading God's people.

In the world but not of it. Most significantly, our God chooses to place his servants in surprising yet strategic positions among the nations. Nehemiah was outwardly a steward of the Persian empire, yet inwardly he was a servant of God who was passionate for his people (Neh. 1:3–4), faithful in prayer (1:5–7), and knowledgeable in God's Word (1:8–11). The dual identity of Nehemiah illustrates how a marketplace witness plays a legitimate and necessary role in accomplishing God's global purposes. There is a great need today for faithful believers employed in so-called "secular" vocations who know God's Word, pray before acting, and take calculated risks for the sake of God's kingdom. Like Nehemiah, such individuals have a unique role to play in changing the course of history. While supporting and encouraging those like Ezra who are religious professionals by training, we must also encourage those like Nehemiah whose primary ministry is in the marketplace.

Opposition. The book of Nehemiah also reminds us that, in a sinful world, God's leaders can expect opposition to God's work. Setbacks do not indicate that God has somehow lost control. Difficulty in ministry can frequently be God's creative means of achieving breakthroughs that could not happen otherwise. By the same token, however, the conclusion of Nehemiah's leadership career shows that the successes and failures of ministry are not ultimately in human hands. Those who overlook this principle, as Nehemiah apparently did toward the end of his ministry, run the risk of forgetting that caring for people matters more than the things they might accomplish.

Anticipating the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

On a broader note, the unraveling of the Jewish community during Nehemiah's trip to Persia (Neh. 13:6–7) points forward to the New Testament. The ending of the book of Nehemiah demonstrates how Israel's various leaders among those who returned to Jerusalem remained unable to accomplish the lasting deliverance and restoration envisioned by the prophets (e.g., Isaiah 40–55). Here it is noteworthy that, chronologically speaking, Nehemiah 13 narrates the latest events in the Old Testament historical books (about 445 B.C.). By concluding Israel's story on a bitter note, this chapter anticipates the need for the New Testament's message of inner transformation for the human heart. No matter how sincere they are, our promises to God cannot be faithfully kept without the saving grace of Jesus Christ and the sustaining power of the Holy Spirit.

Report from Jerusalem

NEHEMIAH 1 [†]The words of [a]Nehemiah the son of Hacaliah.

Now it happened in the month of [b]Chislev, [c]in the twentieth year, as I was in [d]Susa the citadel, 2[†]that [e]Hanani, one of my brothers, came with certain men from Judah. And I asked them concerning the Jews who escaped, who had survived the exile, and concerning Jerusalem. 3And they said to me, “The remnant there in the province who had survived the exile is in great trouble and [f]shame. [g]The wall of Jerusalem is broken down, [h]and its gates are destroyed by fire.”

Nehemiah’s Prayer

4[†]As soon as I heard these words I [i]sat down and wept and mourned for days, and I continued fasting and praying before the [j]God of heaven. 5[†]And I said, “O Lord God of heaven, [k]the great and awesome God who keeps covenant and steadfast love with those who love him and keep his commandments, 6[†][l]let your ear be attentive and your eyes open, to hear the prayer of your servant that I now pray before you day and night for the people of Israel your servants, [m]confessing the sins of the people of Israel, which we have sinned against you. Even [n]I and my father’s house have sinned. 7[†][o]We have acted very corruptly against you and have not kept the commandments, the statutes, and the rules [p]that you commanded your servant Moses. 8Remember the word that you commanded your servant Moses, saying, ‘If you are unfaithful, [q]I will scatter you among the peoples, 9[†][r]but if you return to me and keep my commandments and do them, [s]though your outcasts are in the uttermost parts of heaven, from there I will gather them and bring them [t]to the place that I have chosen, to make my name dwell there.’ 10[†][u]They are your servants and your people, whom you have redeemed by your great power and by your strong hand. 11[†]O Lord, [l]let your ear be attentive to the prayer of your servant, and to the prayer of your servants who delight to fear your name, and give success to your servant today, and grant him mercy in the sight of this man.”

Now I was [v]cupbearer to the king.

Nehemiah Sent to Judah

NEHEMIAH 2 [†]In the month of Nisan, [w] in the twentieth year of King [x] Artaxerxes, when wine was before him, [y] I took up the wine and gave it to the king. Now I had not been sad in his presence. [2][†]And the king said to me, “Why is your face sad, seeing you are not sick? This is nothing but [z] sadness of the heart.” Then I was very much afraid. [3][†]I said to the king, [a] “Let the king live forever! Why should not my face be sad, [b] when the city, the place of my fathers’ graves, lies in ruins, and its gates have been destroyed by fire?” [4][†]Then the king said to me, “What are you requesting?” So I prayed [c] to the God of heaven. [5]And I said to the king, “If it pleases the king, and if your servant has found favor in your sight, that you send me to Judah, to the city of my fathers’ graves, that I may rebuild it.” [6]And the king said to me ([d] the queen sitting beside him), “How long will you be gone, and when will you return?” So it pleased the king to send me [e] when I had given him a time. [7][†]And I said to the king, “If it pleases the king, let letters be given me [f] to the governors of the province Beyond the River, that they may let me pass through until I come to Judah, [8]and a letter to Asaph, the keeper of the king’s forest, that he may give me timber to make beams for the gates of [g] the fortress of the temple, and for the wall of the city, and for the house that I shall occupy.” And the king granted me what I asked, [h] for the good hand of my God was upon me.

Nehemiah Inspects Jerusalem’s Walls

[9][†]Then I came to [i] the governors of the province Beyond the River and gave them the king’s letters. Now the king had sent with me officers of the army and horsemen. [10][†]But when [j] Sanballat the Horonite and [k] Tobiah the Ammonite servant heard this, it displeased them greatly that someone had come to seek the welfare of the people of Israel.

[11][†] [l] So I went to Jerusalem and was there three days. [12]Then I arose in the night, I and a few men with me. And I told no one what my God had put into my heart to do for Jerusalem. There was no animal with me but the one on which I rode. [13][†]I went out by night by [m] the Valley Gate to the Dragon Spring and to [n] the Dung Gate, and I inspected the walls of Jerusalem [o] that were broken down [p] and its gates that had been destroyed by fire. [14]Then I went on to [q] the Fountain Gate and to [r] the King's Pool, but there was no room for the animal that was under me to pass. [15]Then I went up in the night [s] by the valley and inspected the wall, and I turned back and entered by the Valley Gate, and so returned. [16]And the officials did not know where I had gone or what I was doing, and I had not yet told the Jews, the priests, the nobles, the officials, and the rest who were to do the work.

[17][†]Then I said to them, "You see the trouble we are in, [t] how Jerusalem lies in ruins with its gates burned. Come, let us build the wall of Jerusalem, that we may no longer [u] suffer derision." [18][†]And I told them [v] of the hand of my God that had been upon me for good, and also of the words that the king had spoken to me. And they said, "Let us rise up and build." [w] So they strengthened their hands for the good work. [19][†]But when Sanballat the Horonite and Tobiah the Ammonite servant and [x] Geshem the Arab heard of it, [y] they jeered at us and despised us and said, "What is this thing that you are doing? [z] Are you rebelling against the king?" [20][†]Then I replied to them, [a] "The God of heaven will make us prosper, and we his servants will arise and build, but you have no portion or right or claim [1] in Jerusalem."

Rebuilding the Wall

NEHEMIAH 3 [†]Then [b] Eliashib the high priest rose up with his brothers the priests, and they built [c] the Sheep Gate. They consecrated it and [d] set its doors. They consecrated it as far as the Tower of the Hundred, as far as the [e] Tower of Hananel. [2]And next to him [f] the men of Jericho built. And next to them [1] Zaccur the son of Imri built.

[3]The sons of Hassenaah built [g] the Fish Gate. [h] They laid its beams and [d] set its doors, its bolts, and its bars. [4]And next to them [i] Meremoth the son of Uriah, son of Hakkoz repaired. And next to them [j] Meshullam the son of Berechiah, son of Meshezabel repaired. And next to them Zadok the son of Baana repaired. [5][†]And next to them [k] the Tekoites repaired, but their nobles would not stoop to serve their Lord. [2]

[6]Joiada the son of Paseah and Meshullam the son of Besodeiah [l] repaired the Gate of Yeshanah. [3] [h] They laid its beams and [d] set its doors, its bolts, and its bars. [7][†]And next to them repaired Melatiah the Gibeonite and Jadon the Meronothite, the men of Gibeon and of Mizpah, the seat of [m] the governor of the province Beyond the River. [8][†]Next to them Uzziel the son of Harhaiah, goldsmiths, repaired. Next to him Hananiah, one of the perfumers, repaired, and they restored Jerusalem as far as [n] the Broad Wall. [9][†]Next to them Rephaiah the son of Hur, [o] ruler of half the district of [4] Jerusalem, repaired. [10]Next to them Jedaiah the son of Harumaph repaired opposite his house. And next to him Hattush the son of Hashabneiah repaired. [11]Malchijah the son of Harim and Hasshub the son of Pahath-moab repaired another section and [p] the Tower of the Ovens. [12]Next to him Shallum the son of Hallohesh, [q] ruler of half the district of Jerusalem, repaired, he and his daughters.

[13][†]Hanun and the inhabitants of Zanoah repaired [r] the Valley Gate. They rebuilt it and [s] set its doors, its bolts, and its bars, and repaired a thousand cubits [5] of the wall, as far as [t] the Dung Gate.

[14]Malchijah the son of Rechab, ruler of the district of [u] Beth-haccherem, repaired [t] the Dung Gate. He rebuilt it and [s] set its doors, its bolts, and its bars.

[15]And Shallum the son of Col-hozeh, ruler of the district of Mizpah, repaired [v] the Fountain Gate. He rebuilt it and covered it and [s] set its doors, its bolts, and its bars. And he built the wall of [w] the Pool of Shelah of [x] the king’s garden, as far as [y] the stairs that go down from the city of David. [16][†]After him Nehemiah the son of Azbuk, ruler of half the district of Beth-zur, repaired to a point opposite [z] the tombs of David, as far as [a] the artificial pool, and as far as the house of the mighty men. [17]After him the Levites repaired: Rehum the son of Bani. Next to him Hashabiah, ruler of half the district of Keilah, repaired for his district. [18]After him their brothers repaired: Bavvai the son of Henadad, ruler of half the district of Keilah. [19]Next to him Ezer the son of Jeshua, ruler of Mizpah, repaired another section opposite the ascent to the armory at [b] the buttress. [6] [20]After him Baruch the son of Zabbai repaired another section from the buttress to the door of the house of [c] Eliashib the high priest. [21]After him [d] Meremoth the son of Uriah, son of Hakkoz repaired another section from the door of the house of Eliashib to the end of the house of Eliashib. [22]After him the priests, the men of [e] the surrounding area, repaired. [23]After them Benjamin and Hasshub repaired opposite their house. After them Azariah the son of Maaseiah, son of Ananiah repaired beside his own house. [24]After him Binnui the son of Henadad repaired another section, from the house of Azariah to the buttress [25]and to [f] the corner. Palal the son of Uzai repaired opposite the buttress and the tower projecting from the upper house of the king at [g] the court of the guard. After him Pedaiah the son of Parosh [26][†] [h] and the temple servants living on [i] Ophel repaired to a point opposite [j] the Water Gate on the east and the projecting tower. [27]After him [k] the Tekoites repaired another section opposite the great projecting tower as far as the wall of Ophel.

[28]Above [l] the Horse Gate the priests repaired, each one opposite his own house. [29][†]After them Zadok the son of Immer repaired opposite his own house. After him Shemaiah the son of Shecaniah, the keeper of the East Gate, repaired. [30]After him Hananiah the son of Shelemiah and Hanun the sixth son of Zalaph repaired another section. After him [m] Meshullam the son of Berechiah repaired opposite [n] his chamber. [31]After him Malchijah, one of the goldsmiths, repaired as far as the house of the temple servants and of the merchants, opposite the Muster Gate, [7] and to the upper chamber of the corner. [32][†]And between the upper chamber of the corner and [o] the Sheep Gate the goldsmiths and the merchants repaired.

Opposition to the Work

NEHEMIAH 4 [†] [1] Now when [q] Sanballat heard that we were building the wall, he was angry and greatly enraged, and he jeered at the Jews. [2]And he said in the presence of his brothers and of the army of [r] Samaria, “What are these feeble Jews doing? Will they restore it for themselves? [2] Will they sacrifice? Will they finish up in a day? Will they revive the stones out of the heaps of rubbish, and burned ones at that?” [3] [q] Tobiah the Ammonite was beside him, and he said, “Yes, what they are building—[s] if a fox goes up on it he will break down their stone wall!” [4] [t] Hear, O our God, for we are despised. [u] Turn back their taunt on their own heads and give them up to be plundered in a land where they are captives. [5] [v] Do not cover their guilt, and let not their sin be blotted out from your sight, for they have provoked you to anger in the presence of the builders.

[6][†]So we built the wall. And all the wall was joined together to half its height, for the people had a mind to work.

[7][†] [3] But when [q] Sanballat and Tobiah and the Arabs and the Ammonites and the Ashdodites heard that the repairing of the walls of Jerusalem was going forward and that the breaches were beginning to be closed, they were very angry. [8] [w] And they all plotted together to come and fight against Jerusalem and to cause confusion in it. [9]And we prayed to our God and set a guard as a protection against them day and night.

[10]In Judah it was said, [4] "The strength of those who bear the burdens is failing. There is too much rubble. By ourselves we will not be able to rebuild the wall." [11]And our enemies said, "They will not know or see till we come among them and kill them and stop the work." [12][†]At that time the Jews who lived near them came from all directions and said to us ten times, "You must return to us." [5] [13]So in the lowest parts of the space behind the wall, in open places, I stationed the people by their clans, with their swords, their spears, and their bows. [14]And I looked and arose and said to the nobles and to the officials and to the rest of the people, [x] "Do not be afraid of them. Remember the Lord, [y] who is great and awesome, [z] and fight for your brothers, your sons, your daughters, your wives, and your homes."

The Work Resumes

[15][†]When our enemies heard that it was known to us [a] and that God had frustrated their plan, we all returned to the wall, each to his work. [16][†]From that day on, half of my servants worked on construction, and half held the spears, shields, bows, and [b] coats of mail. And the leaders stood behind the whole house of Judah, [17]who were building on the wall. Those who carried burdens were loaded in such a way that each labored on the work with one hand and held his weapon with the other. [18]And each of the builders had his sword strapped at his side while he built. The man who sounded the trumpet was beside me. [19]And I said to [c] the nobles and to the officials and to the rest of the people, "The work is great and widely spread, and we are separated on the wall, far from one another. [20][†]In the place where you hear the sound of the trumpet, rally to us there. [d]Our God will fight for us.”

[21][†]So we labored at the work, and half of them held the spears from the break of dawn until the stars came out. [22]I also said to the people at that time, “Let every man and his servant pass the night within Jerusalem, that they may be a guard for us by night and may labor by day.” [23]So neither I nor my brothers nor my servants nor the men of the guard who followed me, none of us took off our clothes; [e]each kept his weapon at his right hand. [6]

Nehemiah Stops Oppression of the Poor

NEHEMIAH 5 [†]Now there arose [f]a great outcry of the people and of their wives [g]against their Jewish brothers. [2][†]For there were those who said, “With our sons and our daughters, we are many. So let us get grain, that we may eat and keep alive.” [3]There were also those who said, “We are mortgaging our fields, our vineyards, and our houses to get grain because of the famine.” [4]And there were those who said, “We have borrowed money for [h]the king’s tax on our fields and our vineyards. [5][†]Now [i]our flesh is as the flesh of our brothers, our children are as their children. Yet [j]we are forcing our sons and our daughters to be slaves, and some of our daughters have already been enslaved, but it is not in our power to help it, for other men have our fields and our vineyards.”

[6]I was very angry when I heard [f]their outcry and these words. [7][†]I took counsel with myself, and I brought charges against the nobles and the officials. I said to them, [k]“You are exacting interest, each from his brother.”
And I held a great assembly against them [8][†]and said to them, “We, as far as we are able, [l]have bought back our Jewish brothers who have been sold to the nations, but you even sell your brothers that they may be sold to us!”
They were silent and could not find a word to say. [9][†]So I said, “The thing that you are doing is not good. Ought you not to walk [m]in the fear of our God [n]to prevent the taunts of the nations our enemies? [10][†]Moreover, I and my brothers and my servants are lending them money and grain. Let us abandon this exacting of interest. [11][†]Return to them this very day their fields, their vineyards, their olive orchards, and their houses, and the percentage of money, grain, wine, and oil that you have been exacting from them.” [12]Then they said, “We will restore these and [o]require nothing from them. We will do as you say.” And I called the priests and [p]made them swear [q]to do as they had promised. [13][†] [r]I also shook out the fold [1] of my garment and said, “So may God shake out every man from his house and from his labor who does not keep this promise. So may he be shaken out and emptied.” [s]And all the assembly said “Amen” and praised the LORD. And the people did as they had promised.

Nehemiah’s Generosity

[14][†]Moreover, from the time that I was appointed to be their governor in the land of Judah, from [t]the twentieth year to [u]the thirty-second year of Artaxerxes the king, twelve years, [v]neither I nor my brothers ate the food allowance of the governor. [15][†]The former governors who were before me laid heavy burdens on the people and took from them for their daily ration [2] forty shekels [3] of silver. Even their servants lorded it over the people. But I did not do so, [w]because of the fear of God. [16][†]I also persevered in the work on this wall, and we acquired no land, and all my servants were gathered there for the work. [17][†]Moreover, there were [x]at my table 150 men, Jews and officials, besides those who came to us from the nations that were around us. [18][y]Now what was prepared at my expense [4] for each day was one ox and six choice sheep and birds, and every ten days all kinds of wine in abundance. Yet for all this [v]I did not demand the food allowance of the governor, because the service was too heavy on this people. [19][†] [z]Remember for my good, O my God, all that I have done for this people.

Conspiracy Against Nehemiah

NEHEMIAH 6 [†]Now when [a]Sanballat and Tobiah and [b]Geshem the Arab and the rest of our enemies heard that I had built the wall and that there was no breach left in it ([c]although up to that time I had not set up the doors in the gates), [2][†]Sanballat and Geshem sent to me, saying, “Come and let us meet together at Hakkephirim in the plain of [d]Ono.” But they intended to do me harm. 3[†]And I sent messengers to them, saying, “I am doing a great work and I cannot come down. Why should the work stop while I leave it and come down to you?” 4And they sent to me four times in this way, and I answered them in the same manner. 5[†]In the same way Sanballat for the fifth time sent his servant to me with an open letter in his hand. 6In it was written, “It is reported among the nations, and Geshem [1] also says it, that you and [e] the Jews intend to rebel; that is why you are building the wall. And according to these reports you wish to become their king. 7And you have also set up prophets to proclaim concerning you in Jerusalem, ‘There is a king in Judah.’ And now the king will hear of these reports. So now come and let us take counsel together.” 8Then I sent to him, saying, “No such things as you say have been done, for you are inventing them out of your own mind.” 9For they all wanted to frighten us, thinking, “Their hands will drop from the work, and it will not be done.” But now, O God, [2] strengthen my hands.

10[†]Now when I went into the house of Shemaiah the son of Delaiah, son of Mehetabel, who was [f] confined to his home, he said, “Let us meet together in the house of God, within the temple. Let us close the doors of the temple, for they are coming to kill you. They are coming to kill you by night.” 11But I said, “Should such a man as I run away? And what man such as I could go into the temple and live? [3] I will not go in.” 12[†]And I understood and saw that God had not sent him, [g] but he had pronounced the prophecy against me because Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him. 13[†]For this purpose he was hired, that I should be afraid and act in this way and sin, and so they could give me a bad name in order to taunt me. 14[†] [h] Remember Tobiah and Sanballat, O my God, according to these things that they did, and also [i] the prophetess Noadiah and the rest of the prophets who wanted to make me afraid.

The Wall Is Finished

15[†]So the wall was finished on the twenty-fifth day of the month Elul, in fifty-two days. 16And [j] when all our enemies heard of it, all the nations around us were afraid and fell greatly in their own esteem, [k] for they perceived that this work had been accomplished with the help of our God.

[17][†]Moreover, in those days the nobles of Judah sent many letters to Tobiah, and Tobiah’s letters came to them. [18][†]For many in Judah were bound by oath to him, because he was the son-in-law of Shecaniah the son of [l]Arah: and his son Jehohanan had taken the daughter of [m]Meshullam the son of Berechiah as his wife. [19]Also they spoke of his good deeds in my presence and reported my words to him. And Tobiah sent letters to make me afraid.

NEHEMIAH 7 [†]Now when the wall had been built [n]and I had set up the doors, and the gatekeepers, the singers, and the Levites had been appointed, [2][†]I gave [o]my brother Hanani and Hananiah the governor of [p]the castle charge over Jerusalem, for he was [q]a more faithful and God-fearing man than many. [3]And I said to them, “Let not the gates of Jerusalem be opened until the sun is hot. And while they are still standing guard, let them shut and bar the doors. Appoint guards from among the inhabitants of Jerusalem, some at their guard posts and some in front of their own homes.” [4][†]The city was wide and large, but the people within it were few, and no houses had been rebuilt.

Lists of Returned Exiles

[5][†]Then my God put it into my heart to assemble the nobles and the officials and the people to be enrolled by genealogy. And I found the book of the genealogy of [r]those who came up at the first, and I found written in it:

[6][†][s]These were the people of the province who came up out of the captivity of those exiles whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried into exile. They returned to Jerusalem and Judah, each to his town.
[7]They came with Zerubbabel, Jeshua, Nehemiah, [t]Azariah, Raamiah, Nahamani, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispereth, Bigvai, Nehum, Baanah.

The number of the men of the people of Israel: [8]the sons of Parosh, 2,172. [9]The sons of Shephatiah, 372. [10]The sons of Arah, [u]652. [11]The sons of Pahath-moab, namely the sons of Jeshua and Joab, 2,818. [12]The sons of [v]Elam, 1,254. [13]The sons of Zattu, 845. [14]The sons of Zaccai, 760. [15]The sons of [w]Binnui, 648. [16]The sons of Bebai, 628. [17]The sons of Azgad, 2,322. [18]The sons of Adonikam, 667. [19]The sons of Bigvai, 2,067. [20]The sons of Adin, 655. [21]The sons of Ater, namely of Hezekiah, 98. [22]The sons of Hashum, 328. [23]The sons of [x]Bezai, 324. [24]The sons of Hariph, 112.

[25]The sons of [y]Gibeon, 95. [26]The men of Bethlehem and Netophah, 188.
[27]The men of Anathoth, 128. [28]The men [z]of Beth-azmaveth, 42. [29]The men of [a]Kiriath-jearim, Chephirah, and Beeroth, 743. [30]The men of Ramah and Geba, 621. [31]The men of Michmas, 122. [32]The men of Bethel and Ai, 123.
[33]The men of the other Nebo, 52. [34]The sons of [b]the other Elam, 1,254.
[35]The sons of Harim, 320. [36]The sons of Jericho, 345. [37]The sons of Lod, Hadid, and Ono, 721. [38]The sons of Senaah, 3,930.

[39]The priests: the sons of [c]Jedaiah, namely the house of Jeshua, 973.
[40]The sons of [d]Immer, 1,052. [41]The sons of [e]Pashhur, 1,247. [42]The sons of [f]Harim, 1,017.

[43]The Levites: the sons of Jeshua, namely of Kadmiel of the sons of [g]Hodevah, 74. [44]The singers: the sons of Asaph, 148. [45]The gatekeepers:
the sons of Shallum, the sons of Ater, the sons of Talmon, the sons of Akkub, the sons of Hatita, the sons of Shobai, 138.

[46]The temple servants: the sons of Ziha, the sons of Hasupha, the sons of Tabbaoth, [47]the sons of Keros, the sons of [h]Sia, the sons of Padon, [48]the sons of Lebana, the sons of [i]Hagaba, the sons of [i]Shalmai, [49]the sons of Hanan, the sons of Giddel, the sons of Gahar, [50]the sons of Reaiah, the sons of Rezin, the sons of Nekoda, [51]the sons of Gazzam, the sons of Uzza, the sons of Paseah, [52]the sons of Besai, the sons of Meunim, the sons of [j]Nephushesim, [53]the sons of Bakbuk, the sons of Hakupha, the sons of Harhur, [54]the sons of [k]Bazlith, the sons of Mehida, the sons of Harsha, [55]the sons of Barkos, the sons of Sisera, the sons of Temah, [56]the sons of Neziah, the sons of Hatipha.

[57]The sons of Solomon’s servants: the sons of Sotai, the sons of Sophereth, the sons of [l]Perida, [58]the sons of Jaala, the sons of Darkon, the sons of Giddel, [59]the sons of Shephatiah, the sons of Hattil, the sons of Pochereth-hazzebaim, the sons of [m]Amon.

[60]All the temple servants and the sons of Solomon’s servants were 392.

[61] [n]The following were those who came up from Tel-melah, Tel-harsha, Cherub, [o]Addon, and Immer, but they could not prove their fathers’ houses

nor their descent, whether they belonged to Israel: 62the sons of Delaiah, the sons of Tobiah, the sons of Nekoda, 642. 63Also, of the priests: the sons of Hobaiah, the sons of Hakkoz, the sons of Barzillai (who had taken a wife of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite and was called by their name). 64These sought their registration among those enrolled in the genealogies, but it was not found there, so they were excluded from the priesthood as unclean. 65[p] The [q] governor told them that they were not to partake of the most holy food until a priest with Urim and Thummim should arise.

Totals of People and Gifts

66The whole assembly together was 42,360, 67besides their male and female servants, of whom there were 7,337. And they had 245 singers, male and female. 68Their horses were 736, their mules 245, [1] 69their camels 435, and their donkeys 6,720.

70Now some of the heads of fathers' houses gave to the work. The [q] governor gave to the treasury 1,000 darics [2] of gold, 50 basins, 30 priests' garments and 500 minas [3] of silver. [4] 71And some of the heads of fathers' houses gave into the treasury of the work 20,000 darics of gold and 2,200 minas of silver. 72[r] And what the rest of the people gave was 20,000 darics of gold, 2,000 minas of silver, and 67 priests' garments.

73So the priests, the Levites, the gatekeepers, the singers, some of the people, the temple servants, and all Israel, lived in their towns.

[s] And when the seventh month had come, the people of Israel were in their towns.

Ezra Reads the Law

NEHEMIAH 8 [†]And all the people gathered as one man into the square before [t] the Water Gate. And they told [u] Ezra the scribe to bring the Book of the Law of Moses that the LORD had commanded Israel. [2][†]So Ezra the priest [v] brought the Law before the assembly, both men and women and all who could understand what they heard, [w] on the first day of the seventh month. [3][†] [x] And he read from it facing the square before the Water Gate from early morning until midday, in the presence of the men and the women and those who could understand. And the ears of all the people were attentive to the Book of the Law. [4]And Ezra the scribe stood on a wooden platform that they had made for the purpose. And beside him stood Mattithiah, Shema, Anaiah, Uriah, Hilkiah, and Maaseiah on his right hand, and Pedaiah, Mishael, Malchijah, Hashum, Hashbaddanah, Zechariah, and Meshullam on his left hand. [5]And Ezra opened the book in the sight of all the people, for he was above all the people, and as he opened it all the people stood. [6]And Ezra blessed the LORD, the great God, and all the people answered, [y] "Amen, Amen," [z] lifting up their hands. [a] And they bowed their heads and worshiped the LORD with their faces to the ground. [7][†] [b] Also Jeshua, Bani, Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan, Pelaiah, the Levites, [1] [c] helped the people to understand the Law, [d] while the people remained in their places. [8]They read from the book, from the Law of God, clearly, [2] and they gave the sense, so that the people understood the reading.

This Day Is Holy

[9][†]And Nehemiah, who was [e] the governor, and Ezra [f] the priest and scribe, and the Levites who taught the people said to all the people, [g] "This day is holy to the LORD your God; [h] do not mourn or weep." For all the people wept as they heard the words of the Law. [10]Then he said to them, "Go your way. Eat the fat and drink sweet wine and [i] send portions to anyone who has nothing ready, for this day is holy to our Lord. And do not be grieved, for the joy of the LORD is your strength." [11]So the Levites calmed all the people, saying, “Be quiet, for this day is holy; do not be grieved.” [12]And all the people went their way to eat and drink and to send portions and to make great rejoicing, because [j] they had understood the words that were declared to them.

Feast of Booths Celebrated

[13][†]On the second day the heads of fathers’ houses of all the people, with the priests and the Levites, came together to Ezra the scribe in order to study the words of the Law. [14]And they found it written in the Law that the LORD had commanded by Moses [k] that the people of Israel should dwell in booths [3] during the feast of the seventh month, [15]and that they should proclaim it and [l] publish it in all their towns and [m] in Jerusalem, “Go out to the hills and bring [n] branches of olive, wild olive, myrtle, palm, and other leafy trees to make booths, as it is written.” [16]So the people went out and brought them and made booths for themselves, each [o] on his roof, and in their courts and in the courts of the house of God, and in the square at [p] the Water Gate and in the square at [q] the Gate of Ephraim. [17][†]And all the assembly of those who had returned from the captivity made booths and lived in the booths, for from the days of Jeshua the son of Nun to that day [r] the people of Israel had not done so. And there was [s] very great rejoicing. [18]And day by day, from the first day to the last day, [t] he read from the Book of the Law of God. They kept the feast seven days, and [u] on the eighth day there was a solemn assembly, according to the rule.

The People of Israel Confess Their Sin

NEHEMIAH 9 [†]Now on the twenty-fourth day of [v] this month the people of Israel were assembled [w] with fasting [x] and in sackcloth, [y] and with earth on their heads. [2][†] [z] And the Israelites [1] separated themselves from all foreigners and stood and confessed their sins and the iniquities of their fathers. [3] [a] And they stood up in their place and read from the Book of the Law of the LORD their God for a quarter of the day; for another quarter of it they made confession and worshiped the LORD their God. [4]On the stairs of the Levites stood [b] Jeshua, Bani, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani, and Chenani; and they cried with a loud voice to the LORD their God.

[5]Then the Levites, Jeshua, Kadmiel, Bani, Hashabneiah, Sherebiah, Hodiah, Shebaniah, and Pethahiah, said, “Stand up and bless the LORD your God from everlasting to everlasting. [c]Blessed be your glorious name, which is exalted above all blessing and praise.

[6][†] [2] [d]“You are the LORD, you alone. [e]You have made heaven, [f]the heaven of heavens, [g]with all their host, [e]the earth and all that is on it, the seas and all that is in them; [h]and you preserve all of them; and the host of heaven worships you. [7][†]You are the LORD, the God [i]who chose Abram and brought him out of [j]Ur of the Chaldeans [k]and gave him the name Abraham. [8] [l]You found his heart faithful before you, [m]and made with him the covenant to give to his offspring [n]the land of the Canaanite, the Hittite, the Amorite, the Perizzite, the Jebusite, and the Girgashite. [o]And you have kept your promise, for you are righteous.

[9][†] [p]“And you saw the affliction of our fathers in Egypt and heard [q]their cry at the Red Sea, [10] [r]and performed signs and wonders against Pharaoh and all his servants and all the people of his land, for you knew that [s]they acted arrogantly against our fathers. And [t]you made a name for yourself, as it is to this day. [11] [u]And you divided the sea before them, so that they went through the midst of the sea on dry land, and you cast their pursuers into the depths, [v]as a stone into mighty waters. [12][†]By [w]a pillar of cloud you led them in the day, and by a pillar of fire in the night to light for them the way in which they should go. [13][†] [x]You came down on Mount Sinai [y]and spoke with them from heaven and gave them [z]right rules and true laws, good statutes and commandments, [14] [a]and you made known to them your holy Sabbath and commanded them commandments and statutes and a law by Moses your servant. [15][†] [b]You gave them bread from heaven for their hunger and [c]brought water for them out of the rock for their thirst, and you [d]told them to go in to possess the land that you had sworn to give them.

[16][†]“But they and our fathers [e]acted presumptuously and stiffened their neck and did not obey your commandments. [17]They refused to obey [f]and were not mindful of the wonders that you performed among them, but they stiffened their neck and appointed a leader to return to their slavery in Egypt. But you are a God ready to forgive, [g]gracious and merciful, slow to anger and abounding in steadfast love, and did not forsake them. [18]Even [h]when they had made for themselves a golden [3] calf and said, ‘This is your God who brought you up out of Egypt,’ [i]and had committed great blasphemies, [19]you [j]in your great mercies did not forsake them in the wilderness. [k]The pillar of cloud to lead them in the way did not depart from them by day, [k]nor the pillar of fire by night to light for them the way by which they should go. [20][l]You gave your good Spirit to instruct them [m]and did not withhold your manna from their mouth and gave them water for their thirst. [21][†] [n]Forty years you sustained them in the wilderness, and they lacked nothing. Their clothes did not wear out and their feet did not swell.

[22]“And you gave them kingdoms and peoples and allotted to them every corner. [o]So they took possession of the land of Sihon king of Heshbon [p]and the land of Og king of Bashan. [23][†]You multiplied their children [q]as the stars of heaven, and you brought them into the land that you had told their fathers to enter and possess. [24][r]So the descendants went in and possessed the land, [s]and you subdued before them the inhabitants of the land, the Canaanites, and gave them into their hand, with their kings and the peoples of the land, that they might do with them as they would. [25]And they captured [t]fortified cities and [u]a rich land, and took possession of [v]houses full of all good things, cisterns already hewn, vineyards, olive orchards and fruit trees in abundance. So they ate and were filled [w]and became fat and delighted themselves in [x]your great goodness.

[26][†] [y]“Nevertheless, they were disobedient and rebelled against you [z]and cast your law behind their back [a]and killed your prophets, who [b]had warned them in order to turn them back to you, [c]and they committed great blasphemies. [27][d]Therefore you gave them into the hand of their enemies, who made them suffer. [e]And in the time of their suffering they cried out to you and you heard them from heaven, and according to your great mercies you gave them [f]saviors who saved them from the hand of their enemies. [28][g]But after they had rest they did evil again before you, and you abandoned them to the hand of their enemies, so that they had dominion over them. Yet when they turned and cried to you, you heard from heaven, [h]and many times you delivered them according to your mercies. [29][†] [b]And you warned them in order to turn them back to your law. Yet [i] they acted presumptuously and did not obey your commandments, but sinned against your rules, [j] which if a person does them, he shall live by them, [k] and they turned a stubborn shoulder [l] and stiffened their neck and would not obey.

30[†]Many years [m] you bore with them [n] and warned them [o] by your Spirit through your prophets. [p] Yet they would not give ear. [q] Therefore you gave them into the hand of the peoples of the lands. 31Nevertheless, [r] in your great mercies [s] you did not make an end of them or forsake them, [t] for you are a gracious and merciful God.

32[†]“Now, therefore, our God, [u] the great, the mighty, and the awesome God, who keeps covenant and steadfast love, let not all the hardship seem little to you that has come upon us, upon our kings, our princes, our priests, our prophets, our fathers, and all your people, [v] since the time of the kings of Assyria until this day. 33 [w] Yet you have been righteous in all that has come upon us, for you have dealt faithfully [x] and we have acted wickedly.
34Our kings, our princes, our priests, and our fathers have not kept your law or paid attention to your commandments and your warnings that you gave them. 35Even in their own kingdom, [y] and amid your great goodness that you gave them, and in the large and [y] rich land that you set before them, [z] they did not serve you or turn from their wicked works. 36[†]Behold, [a] we are slaves this day; in the land that you gave to our fathers to enjoy its fruit and its good gifts, behold, we are slaves. 37 [b] And its rich yield goes to the kings whom you have set over us because of our sins. They rule over our bodies and over our livestock as they please, and we are in great distress.

38 [4] “Because of all this [c] we make a firm covenant in writing; on [d] the sealed document are the names of [5] our princes, our Levites, and our priests.

The People Who Sealed the Covenant

NEHEMIAH 10 [†] [1] [e] “On the seals are the names of [2] Nehemiah [f] the governor, [g] the son of Hacaliah, Zedekiah, 2 [h] Seraiah, Azariah, Jeremiah, 3Pashhur, Amariah, Malchijah, 4 [i] Hattush, Shebaniah, Malluch, 5Harim, Meremoth, Obadiah, 6Daniel, Ginnethon, Baruch, 7Meshullam, Abijah, Mijamin, 8Maaziah, Bilgai, Shemaiah; these are the priests. 9And the Levites: [j] Jeshua the son of Azaniah, Binnui of the sons of [k] Henadad, Kadmiel; [10]and their brothers, Shebaniah, Hodiah, Kelita, Pelaiah, Hanan, [11]Mica, Rehob, Hashabiah, [12]Zaccur, Sherebiah, Shebaniah, [13]Hodiah, Bani, Beninu. [14]The chiefs of the people: [l] Parosh, Pahath-moab, Elam, Zattu, Bani, [15]Bunni, Azgad, Bebai, [16]Adonijah, Bigvai, Adin, [17]Ater, Hezekiah, Azzur, [18]Hodiah, Hashum, Bezai, [19]Hariph, Anathoth, Nebai, [20]Magpiash, Meshullam, Hezir, [21]Meshezabel, Zadok, Jaddua, [22]Pelatiah, Hanan, Anaiah, [23]Hoshea, Hananiah, Hasshub, [24]Hallohesh, Pilha, Shobek, [25]Rehum, Hashabnah, Maaseiah, [26]Ahiah, Hanan, Anan, [27]Malluch, Harim, Baanah.

The Obligations of the Covenant

[28] [m] “The rest of the people, the priests, the Levites, the gatekeepers, the singers, the temple servants, [n] and all who have separated themselves from the peoples of the lands to the Law of God, their wives, their sons, their daughters, all who have knowledge and understanding, [29][†]join with their brothers, their nobles, [o] and enter into a curse and an oath [p] to walk in God’s Law that was given by Moses the servant of God, and to observe and do all the commandments of the LORD our Lord and his rules and his statutes. [30][†] [q] We will not give our daughters to the peoples of the land or take their daughters for our sons. [31][†] [r] And if the peoples of the land bring in goods or any grain on the Sabbath day to sell, we will not buy from them on the Sabbath or on a holy day. And we will forego the crops of the [s] seventh year and the [t] exaction of every debt.

[32][†]“We also take on ourselves the obligation to give yearly [u] a third part of a shekel [3] for the service of the house of our God: [33][†] [v] for the showbread, [w] the regular grain offering, [w] the regular burnt offering, the Sabbaths, the new moons, the appointed feasts, the holy things, and the sin offerings to make atonement for Israel, and for all the work of the house of our God. [34] [x] We, the priests, the Levites, and the people, have likewise cast lots [y] for the wood offering, to bring it into the house of our God, according to our fathers’ houses, at times appointed, year by year, to burn on the altar of the LORD our God, [z] as it is written in the Law. [35][†]We obligate ourselves [a] to bring the firstfruits of our ground and the firstfruits of all fruit of every tree, year by year, to the house of the LORD; [36][†]also to bring to the house of our God, to the priests who minister in the house of our God, the firstborn of our sons and of our cattle, [b]as it is written in the Law, and the firstborn of our herds and of our flocks; [37][†] [c]and to bring the first of our dough, and our contributions, the fruit of every tree, the wine and the oil, to the priests, [d]to the chambers of the house of our God; and to bring to the Levites the tithes from our ground, for it is the Levites who collect the tithes in all our towns where we labor. [38][†]And the priest, the son of Aaron, shall be with the Levites when the Levites receive the tithes. And the Levites shall bring up the tithe of the tithes to the house of our God, to the chambers of [e]the storehouse. [39]For the people of Israel and the sons of Levi [f]shall bring the contribution of grain, wine, and oil to the chambers, where the vessels of the sanctuary are, as well as the priests who minister, and the gatekeepers and the singers. [g]We will not neglect the house of our God."

The Leaders in Jerusalem

NEHEMIAH 11 [†]Now the leaders of the people [h]lived in Jerusalem. And the rest of the people [i]cast lots to bring one out of ten to live in Jerusalem [j]the holy city, while nine out of ten [1] remained in the other towns. [2]And the people blessed all the men [k]who willingly offered to live in Jerusalem.

[3][†] [l]These are the chiefs of the province who lived in Jerusalem; but in the towns of Judah [m]everyone lived on his property in their towns: Israel, the priests, the Levites, [n]the temple servants, [o]and the descendants of Solomon's servants. [4]And in Jerusalem lived certain of the sons of Judah and of the sons of Benjamin. Of the sons of Judah: Athaiah the son of Uzziah, son of Zechariah, son of Amariah, son of Shephatiah, son of Mahalalel, of the sons of [p]Perez; [5]and Maaseiah the son of Baruch, son of Col-hozeh, son of Hazaiah, son of Adaiah, son of Joiarib, son of Zechariah, son of the Shilonite. [6]All the sons of Perez who lived in Jerusalem were 468 valiant men.

[7]And these are the sons of Benjamin: Sallu the son of Meshullam, son of Joed, son of Pedaiah, son of Kolaiah, son of Maaseiah, son of Ithiel, son of Jeshaiah, [8]and his brothers, men of valor, 928. [2] [9]Joel the son of Zichri was their overseer; and Judah the son of Hassenuah was second over the city.

[10]Of the priests: Jedaiah the son of Joiarib, Jachin, [11][†]Seraiah the son of Hilkiah, son of Meshullam, son of Zadok, son of Meraioth, son of Ahitub, ruler of the house of God, [12]and their brothers who did the work of the house, 822; and Adaiah the son of Jeroham, son of Pelaliah, son of Amzi, son of Zechariah, son of Pashhur, son of Malchijah, [13]and his brothers, heads of fathers' houses, 242; and Amashsai, the son of Azarel, son of Ahzai, son of Meshillemoth, son of Immer, [14]and their brothers, mighty men of valor, 128; their overseer was Zabdiel the son of Haggedolim.

[15][†]And of the Levites: Shemaiah the son of Hasshub, son of Azrikam, son of Hashabiah, son of Bunni; [16]and Shabbethai and [q] Jozabad, of the chiefs of the Levites, who were over [r] the outside work of the house of God; [17]and [s] Mattaniah the son of Mica, son of Zabdi, son of Asaph, who was the leader of the praise, [3] who gave thanks, and Bakbukiah, the second among his brothers; and Abda the son of Shammua, son of Galal, son of Jeduthun. [18]All the Levites in [t] the holy city were 284.

[19]The gatekeepers, Akkub, Talmon and their brothers, who kept watch at the gates, were 172. [20][†]And the rest of Israel, and of the priests and the Levites, were in all the towns of Judah, [u] every one in his inheritance. [21] [v] But the temple servants lived on Ophel; and Ziha and Gishpa were over the temple servants.

[22]The overseer of the Levites in Jerusalem was Uzzi the son of Bani, son of Hashabiah, son of Mattaniah, son of Mica, of the sons of Asaph, the singers, over the work of the house of God. [23][†] [w] For there was a command from the king concerning them, and a fixed provision for the singers, [x] as every day required. [24]And Pethahiah the son of Meshezabel, of the sons of Zerah the son of Judah, was at the king's side [4] in all matters concerning the people.

Villages Outside Jerusalem

[25]And as for the villages, with their fields, some of the people of Judah lived in [y] Kiriath-arba and its villages, and in Dibon and its villages, and in Jekabzeel and its villages, [26]and in Jeshua and in Moladah and Beth-pelet, [27]in Hazar-shual, in Beersheba and its villages, [28]in Ziklag, in Meconah and its villages, [29]in En-rimmon, in Zorah, in Jarmuth, [30][†]Zanoah, Adullam, and their villages, Lachish and its fields, and Azekah and its villages. So they encamped from Beersheba to [z] the Valley of Hinnom. [31][†]The people of Benjamin also lived from Geba onward, at Michmash, Aija, Bethel and its villages, [32]Anathoth, Nob, Ananiah, [33]Hazor, Ramah, Gittaim, [34]Hadid, Zeboim, Neballat, [35]Lod, and [a] Ono, the valley of craftsmen. [36][†]And certain divisions of the Levites in Judah were assigned to Benjamin.

Priests and Levites

NEHEMIAH 12 [†]These are [b] the priests and the Levites who came up with [c] Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and [d] Jeshua: [e] Seraiah, Jeremiah, Ezra, [2]Amariah, Malluch, Hattush, [3]Shecaniah, Rehum, Meremoth, [4]Iddo, Ginnethoi, Abijah, [5]Mijamin, Maadiah, Bilgah, [6]Shemaiah, Joiarib, Jedaiah, [7]Sallu, Amok, Hilkiah, Jedaiah. These were the chiefs of the priests and of their brothers in the days of Jeshua.

[8]And the Levites: Jeshua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Judah, and Mattaniah, who with his brothers was [f] in charge of the songs of thanksgiving. [9]And Bakbukiah and Unni and their brothers stood opposite them [g] in the service. [10]And Jeshua was the father of Joiakim, Joiakim the father of Eliashib, Eliashib the father of Joiada, [11]Joiada the father of Jonathan, and Jonathan the father of Jaddua.

[12][†] [h] And in the days of Joiakim were priests, heads of fathers' houses: of Seraiah, Meraiah; of Jeremiah, Hananiah; [13]of Ezra, Meshullam; of Amariah, Jehohanan; [14]of Malluchi, Jonathan; of Shebaniah, Joseph; [15]of Harim, Adna; of Meraioth, Helkai; [16]of Iddo, Zechariah; of Ginnethon, Meshullam; [17]of Abijah, Zichri; of Miniamin, of Moadiah, Piltai; [18]of Bilgah, Shammua; of Shemaiah, Jehonathan; [19]of Joiarib, Mattenai; of Jedaiah, Uzzi; [20]of Sallai, Kallai; of Amok, Eber; [21]of Hilkiah, Hashabiah; of Jedaiah, Nethanel.

[22][†]In the days of Eliashib, Joiada, Johanan, and Jaddua, the Levites were recorded as heads of fathers' houses; so too were the priests in the reign of Darius the Persian. [23][†]As for the sons of Levi, their heads of fathers' houses [i] were written in the Book of the Chronicles until the days of Johanan the son of Eliashib. [24][†]And the chiefs of the Levites: Hashabiah, Sherebiah, and [j]Jeshua the son of Kadmiel, with their brothers who stood opposite them, [k]to praise and to give thanks, [l]according to the commandment of David [m]the man of God, [n]watch by watch. [25]Mattaniah, Bakbukiah, Obadiah, Meshullam, Talmon, and Akkub were gatekeepers standing guard at [o]the storehouses of the gates. [26]These were in the days of Joiakim the son of Jeshua son of Jozadak, and in the days of [p]Nehemiah the governor and of [p]Ezra, the priest and scribe.

Dedication of the Wall

[27][†]And at [q]the dedication of the wall of Jerusalem they sought the Levites in all their places, to bring them to Jerusalem to celebrate the dedication with gladness, with thanksgivings and with singing, [r]with cymbals, harps, and lyres. [28][†]And the sons of the singers gathered together from the district surrounding Jerusalem and from the villages of the Netophathites; [29]also from Beth-gilgal and from the region of Geba and Azmaveth, for the singers had built for themselves villages around Jerusalem. [30][†]And the priests and the Levites [s]purified themselves, and they purified the people and the gates and the wall.

[31][†]Then I brought the leaders of Judah up onto the wall and appointed two great choirs that gave thanks. [t]One went to the south on the wall to [u]the Dung Gate. [32]And after them went Hoshaiah and half of the leaders of Judah, [33]and Azariah, Ezra, Meshullam, [34]Judah, Benjamin, Shemaiah, and Jeremiah, [35]and certain of the priests' sons [v]with trumpets: Zechariah the son of Jonathan, son of Shemaiah, son of Mattaniah, son of Micaiah, son of Zaccur, son of Asaph; [36]and his relatives, Shemaiah, Azarel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethanel, Judah, and Hanani, [w]with the musical instruments of David [x]the man of God. And Ezra the scribe went before them. [37]At [y]the Fountain Gate they went up straight before them by [z]the stairs of the city of David, at the ascent of the wall, above the house of David, to [a]the Water Gate on the east.

[38][b]The other choir of those who gave thanks went to the north, and I followed them with half of the people, on the wall, above [c]the Tower of the Ovens, to [d]the Broad Wall, [39]and above [e]the Gate of Ephraim, and by [f]the Gate of Yeshanah, [1] and by [g]the Fish Gate and [h]the Tower of Hananel and

[h] the Tower of the Hundred, to [i] the Sheep Gate; and they came to a halt at [j] the Gate of the Guard. [40]So both choirs of those who gave thanks stood in the house of God, and I and half of the officials with me; [41]and the priests Eliakim, Maaseiah, Miniamin, Micaiah, Elioenai, Zechariah, and Hananiah, [k] with trumpets; [42]and Maaseiah, Shemaiah, Eleazar, Uzzi, Jehohanan, Malchijah, Elam, and Ezer. And the singers sang with Jezrahiah as their leader. [43]And they offered great sacrifices that day and rejoiced, for God had made them rejoice with great joy; the women and children also rejoiced. And the joy of Jerusalem was heard far away.

Service at the Temple

[44][†] [l] On that day men were appointed over the storerooms, the contributions, the firstfruits, and the tithes, to gather into them the portions required by the Law for the priests and for the Levites according to the fields of the towns, for Judah rejoiced over the priests and the Levites who ministered. [45]And they performed the service of their God and the service of purification, as did the singers and the gatekeepers, [m] according to the command of David and his son Solomon. [46]For long ago in the days of David and [n] Asaph there were directors of the singers, and there were songs [2] of praise and thanksgiving to God. [47]And all Israel in the days of Zerubbabel and in the days of Nehemiah gave the [o] daily portions for the singers and the gatekeepers; [p] and they set apart that which was for the Levites; [q] and the Levites set apart that which was for the sons of Aaron.

Nehemiah’s Final Reforms

NEHEMIAH 13 [†]On that day [r] they read from the Book of Moses in the hearing of the people. And in it was found written [s] that no Ammonite or Moabite should ever enter the assembly of God, [2]for they did not meet the people of Israel with bread and water, but hired Balaam against them to curse them—yet our God turned the curse into a blessing. [3]As soon as the people heard the law, [t] they separated from Israel all [u] those of foreign descent.

[4][†]Now before this, [v]Eliashib the priest, who [w]was appointed over the chambers of the house of our God, and who was related to [x]Tobiah, [5]prepared for Tobiah a large chamber where they had previously put the grain offering, the frankincense, the vessels, and the tithes of grain, wine, and oil, [y]which were given by commandment to the Levites, singers, and gatekeepers, and the contributions for the priests. [6][†]While this was taking place, I was not in Jerusalem, for [z]in the thirty-second year of Artaxerxes [a]king of Babylon I went to the king. And after some time I asked leave of the king [7]and came to Jerusalem, and I then discovered the evil that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, [b]preparing for him a chamber in the courts of the house of God. [8]And I was very angry, and I threw all the household furniture of Tobiah out of the chamber. [9][†]Then I gave orders, and they [c]cleansed the chambers, and I brought back there the vessels of the house of God, with the grain offering and the frankincense.

[10][†]I also found out that [d]the portions of the Levites had not been given to them, so that the Levites and the singers, who did the work, had fled each [e]to his field. [11][f]So I confronted the officials and said, [g]"Why is the house of God forsaken?" And I gathered them together and set them in their stations. [12]Then all Judah brought [h]the tithe of the grain, wine, and oil into the storehouses. [13]And [i]I appointed as treasurers over the storehouses Shelemiah the priest, Zadok the scribe, and Pedaiah of the Levites, and as their assistant Hanan the son of Zaccur, son of Mattaniah, [j]for they were considered reliable, and their duty was to distribute to their brothers.
[14][k]Remember me, O my God, concerning this, and do not wipe out my good deeds that I have done for the house of my God and for his service.

[15][†]In those days I saw in Judah people treading winepresses [l]on the Sabbath, and bringing in heaps of grain and loading them on donkeys, and also wine, grapes, figs, and all kinds of loads, [m]which they brought into Jerusalem on the Sabbath day. And [n]I warned them on the day when they sold food. [16][†]Tyrians also, who lived in the city, brought in fish and all kinds of goods and sold them on the Sabbath to the people of Judah, in Jerusalem itself! [17][o]Then I confronted the nobles of Judah and said to them, "What is this evil thing that you are doing, [p]profaning the Sabbath day? [18][†][q]Did not your fathers act in this way, and did not our God bring all this disaster [1] on us and on this city? Now you are bringing more wrath on Israel by profaning the Sabbath."

19[†]As soon as it [r] began to grow dark at the gates of Jerusalem before the Sabbath, I commanded that the doors should be shut and gave orders that they should not be opened until after the Sabbath. And I stationed some of my servants at the gates, that no load might be brought in on the Sabbath day. 20Then the merchants and sellers of all kinds of wares lodged outside Jerusalem once or twice. 21 [s] But I warned them and said to them, "Why do you lodge outside the wall? If you do so again, I will lay hands on you." From that time on they did not come on the Sabbath. 22[†]Then I commanded the Levites [t] that they should purify themselves and come and guard the gates, to keep the Sabbath day holy. [u] Remember this also in my favor, O my God, and spare me according to the greatness of your steadfast love.

23[†]In those days also I saw the Jews [v] who had married women [w] of Ashdod, [x] Ammon, and [x] Moab. 24And half of their children spoke the language of Ashdod, and they could not speak the language of Judah, but only the language of each people. 25[†] [o] And I confronted them and cursed them and beat some of them and pulled out their hair. [y] And I made them take an oath in the name of God, saying, "You shall not give your daughters to their sons, or take their daughters for your sons or for yourselves. 26 [z] Did not Solomon king of Israel sin on account of such women? [a] Among the many nations there was no king like him, and he was [b] beloved by his God, and God made him king over all Israel. Nevertheless, foreign women made even him to sin. 27Shall we then listen to you and do all this great evil and [c] act treacherously against our God by marrying foreign women?"

28And one of the sons of [d] Jehoiada, the son of [e] Eliashib the high priest, was the son-in-law of [f] Sanballat the Horonite. Therefore I chased him from me. 29[†] [g] Remember them, O my God, because they have desecrated the priesthood [h] and the covenant of the priesthood and the Levites.

30[†] [i] Thus I cleansed them from everything foreign, and I established the duties of the priests and Levites, each in his work; 31and I provided [j] for the wood offering [k] at appointed times, and for the firstfruits.

[l] Remember me, O my God, for good.

Study Notes for Nehemiah

1:1–2:20 Nehemiah Returns to Jerusalem to Rebuild Its Walls. This section recounts Nehemiah's vision for and first efforts in rebuilding Jerusalem. He learns of Jerusalem's decaying condition (1:1–11), gains permission to rebuild the city, inspects its walls (2:1–16), and endures the first wave of opposition (2:17–20).

1:1–11 Nehemiah Learns of Jerusalem's Dilapidation. Nehemiah hears of the distress of Jerusalem and Judah (vv. 1–3) and prays for God's favor toward them (vv. 4–11).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 1:1 Nehemiah means "Yahweh has comforted." The twentieth year is that of Artaxerxes' reign, 445 B.C., 13 years after Ezra's arrival in Jerusalem (Ezra 7:7). Chislev is the ninth month (November/December), in the winter. Susa the citadel was a winter residence of the king.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 1:2–3 Hanani, one of my brothers. See also 7:2. came with certain men. It is not known whether these men were residents of Jerusalem or of Persia. The nature of their mission is also unknown. the Jews who escaped, who had survived the exile. This, along with the remnant, refers to the returned exiles living in Jerusalem and Judah (see note on Ezra 9:8).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 1:4 wept and mourned. Compare Ezra 9:4–5; 10:1. God of heaven was a way of referring to God in international contexts (see Ezra 1:2; 5:12).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 1:5 O LORD God of heaven. This combination of names means that the God of Israel (Ex. 3:13–15) is the only God. keeps covenant and steadfast love with those who love him and keep his commandments. See Deut. 7:9. Steadfast love is God's faithfulness to Israel in his covenant with them, and it requires Israel's love in return (see also Deut. 6:5).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 1:6 Nehemiah's use of "servant" for himself (your servant) and Israel (your servants) is significant since he is also a servant of King Artaxerxes.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 1:7 the commandments, the statutes, and the rules. See note on Ezra 7:10.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 1:9 if you return to me. Nehemiah appeals to God’s promise that, if Israel repented, he would restore them to the land and prosperity (Lev. 26:40–42; Deut. 4:29–31; 30:1–6). While many of God’s people have returned from exile, the land is not yet secure. The place that I have chosen was primarily where the Lord’s sanctuary would be, that is, Jerusalem (2 Kings 21:4). to make my name dwell there. The Lord claimed the place as his own, against the claims of other gods or rulers.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 1:10 Redeemed by your great power and by your strong hand refers to the deliverance of Israel from Egypt (Exodus 7–15; compare Deut. 4:34).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 1:11 fear your name. On “fearing” God, see note on Prov. 1:7 and other verses mentioned there. God’s “name” here represents God’s character and all that he is. mercy in the sight of this man (Artaxerxes). Nehemiah knows that God can move powerful people to act in favor of his people (see Ezra 6:22). But he may also know that Artaxerxes has already decreed that work on rebuilding Jerusalem should stop (see Ezra 4:23; Neh. 1:2–3). The position of cupbearer to the king was a high office providing regular access to the king.

FACT

Cupbearer to the king may sound like a lowly position, but it was actually considered a high office. The cupbearer’s job was to taste any wine brought to the king, in case it was poisoned. The king had to trust his cupbearer with his very life. Because of their trusted position, many cupbearers, such as Nehemiah (1:11), were able to exert political influence in the royal court.

2:1–16 Nehemiah Gains Permission to Return and Inspects Jerusalem’s Walls. Nehemiah is allowed to go to Jerusalem (vv. 1–8). He surveys the walls, finding them in very poor condition (vv. 9–16).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 2:2 Nehemiah did not show his grief during the four months since 1:1, perhaps because it was part of his duty to be positive and encouraging. Nehemiah was very much afraid because he was about to say something that the king might take as disloyalty.

Chronology of Nehemiah

Event	Month/Day	Year	Reference
Hanani brings Nehemiah a report from Jerusalem (20th year of Artaxerxes I)		445–444 B.C.	1:1
Nehemiah before King Artaxerxes	1	445	2:1
Nehemiah arrives to inspect Jerusalem walls		445	2:11
Wall is finished	6/25	445	6:15
People of Israel gather	7	445	7:73–8:1
People of Israel celebrate Feast of Booths	7/15–22	445	8:14
People of Israel fast and confess sins	7/24	445	9:1
Nehemiah returns to Susa (32nd year of Artaxerxes I)		433	5:14; 13:6

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 2:3 Let the king live forever! Nehemiah first shows his loyalty and explains the reason for his grief, without yet making his request. my fathers' graves. He may think that this way of speaking about Jerusalem will make the king sympathetic.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 2:4–6 The king then invites a request. So I prayed. Nehemiah had already prayed a great deal, of course (see 1:4), but here he prays again before answering the king. When Nehemiah makes his request, the king agrees readily. He demands only that Nehemiah commit to a date when he will return to Susa.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 2:7–8 Nehemiah is encouraged by the king's positive response. He now asks for specific authority to show letters to the governors of the province Beyond the River. This included the very people who had previously persuaded Artaxerxes to stop the rebuilding of the city (Ezra 4:7–9). Nehemiah goes further, requesting timber from the king's forest (location unknown). The name Asaph suggests that he was a Jewish royal official. The fortress of the temple was a special defense of the temple, probably on the northern, most vulnerable side. The temple fortress may have included the towers mentioned in Neh. 3:1. The wood for the wall of the city would have been mainly for the gates.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 2:9 Nehemiah's imperial authority is shown by the officers and horsemen sent with him.

FACT

The fortress of the temple (2:8) provided extra defense for the temple area, since this section of Jerusalem was very vulnerable to attack. Many other governors of Jerusalem after Nehemiah built fortresses here, including Herod the Great, whose famous Antonia Fortress can be visited today.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 2:10 Sanballat the Horonite was later the governor of Samaria, and he may have been so at this time. Tobiah is a Jewish name, yet as an Ammonite his people are one of Israel's historic enemies (2 Sam. 10:1–14). Servant here may mean government official.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 2:11–12 three days. Compare Ezra 8:32. in the night. Nehemiah aims to keep his mission secret from potential enemies and his own people till his plans are fully formed (see also Neh. 2:16).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 2:13–15 Nehemiah surveys the walls mainly on the southern and eastern sides—the city of David and the Kidron Valley. The Valley Gate was probably on the southwestern side of the city of David, and the Dung Gate, leading to the city dump, at its southern tip. The Dragon Spring, Fountain Gate, and King's Pool are unidentified, but were no doubt on the east where the Kidron Valley's water sources were. The valley is the Kidron Valley.

2:17–20 First Signs of Opposition. Nehemiah now exhorts his countrymen. They are willing to work, but opposition quickly emerges, as vv. 9–10 have already hinted.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 2:18 the hand of my God. Compare 1:10; 2:8; Ezra 7:6, 28; 8:18. God was working to bless his people.

NEHEMIAH

As a Jewish captive in Babylon, Nehemiah held the distinguished position of cupbearer to King Artaxerxes. He was devastated to hear that the Jews who had returned to Jerusalem were in “great trouble and shame” (1:3). He expressed his concern to the king, and the king allowed him to return to Jerusalem to rebuild the city’s walls. Many of the non-Jewish people in Judah opposed the rebuilding effort, and the returned exiles soon became disheartened. Nehemiah encouraged the men, saying, “Do not be afraid of them. Remember the Lord, who is great and awesome, and fight for your brothers, your sons, your daughters, your wives, and your homes” (4:14). Under his leadership, the walls were rebuilt despite the difficult circumstances. As governor of Judah, Nehemiah was used mightily by God to bring the Jews back into a life of covenant faithfulness. (Nehemiah 2:17–18)

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 2:19 Opponents claim that the people are rebelling against the king. Artaxerxes had previously believed this extremely serious charge (Ezra 4:12–13, 19–22).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 2:20 Nehemiah knows the king is on his side, but recognizes the God of heaven as his true authority. but you have no portion or right or claim in Jerusalem. He is convinced that they are opposing God’s work.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 3:1–7:4 The Wall Is Built, Despite Difficulties. The people of Judah build and repair the walls, despite the efforts to stop them. Excavations in Jerusalem have uncovered remains of Nehemiah’s wall, which apparently incorporated walls from previous times.

Jerusalem in the Time of Nehemiah (c. 444–420? B.C.)

Jerusalem was destroyed by the Babylonians in 586 B.C. Upon their return from exile in 536 B.C., the Jews, under the leadership of Zerubbabel and Jeshua, first restored the altar and then laid the foundation of the temple. Twenty years later, in 516 B.C., the temple was rebuilt. This time period is referred to as the Second Temple period.

Later on, and under very difficult circumstances, Nehemiah restored the city wall. This is described in great detail in ch. 3. There is ample archaeological evidence, both positive and negative, to show that only the Eastern Hill of Jerusalem was fortified at that time and that the eastern wall of the city was built higher up the slope than the previous wall, so that the city was smaller than that of Solomon.

The Tower of Hananel, the Tower of the Hundred, the Sheep Gate, the Gate of the Guard, and the Corner Tower added strength to the northern wall of the Temple Mount, which also served as the northern city wall in this area.

The Valley Gate (2:13, 15; 3:13), the remains of which were excavated in 1924, was part of the western city wall. The other gates and the Tower of the Ovens, mentioned in chs. 3 and 12, are unattested to in the archaeological record, but are placed in the drawing in the order in which Nehemiah records them.

The Temple and the altar were rebuilt soon after the return from exile. The dimensions of the temple, given as 60 cubits (90 feet/27 m) high and wide (Ezra 6:3), probably refer to those of the porch. (For a cutaway illustration of the temple, see p. 813.)

The Western Hill was not occupied at this time. However, the ruins of the Broad Wall (3:8; 12:38), the Middle Gate (cf. Jer. 39:3), and the destroyed houses remained part of the landscape of Jerusalem. This area was not rebuilt until the middle of the second century B.C.

The Temple Mount was restored by Nehemiah as part of the fortification of Jerusalem.

The Great Projecting Tower (3:25–27) was tentatively identified by Charles Warren in 1867.

The Siloam Pool was again used as the city's water source. There is no mention in ch. 3 of the Gihon Spring, probably because it was no longer accessible after the Babylonians had destroyed its protective towers.

Remains of ancient walls used to support agricultural terraces.

The central section of the eastern city wall was built higher up the hill than the wall that preceded it. The two points where the new wall diverted from its original course were each called "the buttress" (3:19, 24, 25).

The Fountain Gate (2:14; 3:15; 12:37) was located in the southern part of the eastern wall, presumably close to the Siloam Pool.

The Valley Gate (2:13, 15; 3:13), the remains of which were excavated in 1924, was part of the western city wall. The other gates and the Tower of the Ovens, mentioned in chs. 3 and 12, are unattested to in the archaeological record, but are placed in the drawing in the order in which Nehemiah records them.

The Tower of Hananel, the Tower of the Hundred, the Sheep Gate, the Gate of the Guard, and the Corner Tower added strength to the northern wall of the Temple Mount, which also served as the northern city wall in this area.

Sheep Gate (hidden from view)

The Temple and the altar were rebuilt soon after the return from exile. The dimensions of the temple, given as 60 cubits (90 feet/27 m) high and wide (Ezra 6:3), probably refer to those of the porch.

The Temple Mount was restored by Nehemiah as part of the fortification of Jerusalem.

The Great Projecting Tower (3:25–27) was tentatively identified by Charles Warren in 1867.

The Siloam Pool was again used as the city's water source. There is no mention in ch. 3 of the Gihon Spring, probably because it was no longer accessible after the Babylonians had destroyed its protective towers.

The Fountain Gate (2:14; 3:15; 12:37) was located in the southern part of the eastern wall, presumably close to the Siloam Pool.

The Buttress
Remains of ancient walls used to support agricultural terraces.
The central section of the eastern city wall was built higher up the hill than the wall that preceded it. The two points where the new wall diverted from its original course were each called "the buttress" (3:19, 24, 25).

3:1–32 The People Work Systematically on the Walls. The building work is described, and the workers are named, section by section. The people responded to Nehemiah's challenge and believed that God would give them success.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 3:1–2 Eliashib the high priest was the grandson of Jeshua, the priest in Zerubbabel's time (see 12:10; Ezra 5:2). with his brothers. The work was assigned to groups mainly by family and sometimes according to where they lived. The work began and ended at the Sheep Gate, on the northern side of the temple. Tower. See note on Neh. 2:7–8.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 3:5 the Tekoites . . . their nobles. The leading people of Tekoa, not far south of Jerusalem, may have resented Nehemiah's leadership.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 3:7 Mizpah was an important administrative center after Jerusalem's fall (Jer. 41:1).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 3:8 goldsmiths . . . perfumers. Many workers were organized in groups by their trade.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 3:9 ruler of half the district of Jerusalem. Similar expressions occur six times in vv. 12–18. They may refer to an administrative system that divided the province into six sections.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 3:13–15 Valley Gate . . . Dung Gate. See note on 2:13–15. a thousand cubits. About 500 yards (457 m). Fountain Gate. See note on 2:13–15. city of David. The part of the city originally occupied by David, south of what is now the Temple Mount.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 3:16 After him describes each successive group of builders. Nehemiah the son of Azbuk is a different Nehemiah, of course. ruler of half the district. See note on v. 9.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 3:26 temple servants. See note on Ezra 2:43–54. Ophel was the whole southeastern hill. The Water Gate, in the old wall, probably opened onto the Gihon Spring, the main water source outside the city wall.

FACT

What was the Ophel? The Ophel (3:26) was a hill in Jerusalem between the Kidron and Central Valleys. It was northeast of the older City of David and just south of the Temple Mount. The oldest part of Jerusalem was built long before David captured the city from the Jebusites.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 3:29 The East Gate may have been a gate into the temple rather than a gate in the wall.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 3:32 Sheep Gate. See note on vv. 1–2.

4:1–23 Opposition Intensifies, but the People Continue Watchfully. While the building continues, Sanballat and his allies resort to direct action in order to stop it, but their plot is foiled.

FACT

Why did so many local people oppose Nehemiah? After the exile, people who had been living in Judah for over a hundred years saw it as belonging to them and not to the returning Jews. Nehemiah had the blessing of King Artaxerxes to rebuild the walls, but the king was in Persia, more than 1,100 miles (1,770 km) away. This made Nehemiah's enemies bolder in their opposition to him.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 4:1–2 Sanballat (see 2:9–10) mocks the work, no doubt to encourage his brothers (or allies) to join him in resisting. army of Samaria. It is not clear whether Sanballat really had authority to command an army.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 4:6 half its height. At this point, the project could still be stopped.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 4:7–8 It is hard to imagine that the Nehemiah's opponents could have been successful, since his work had been authorized by the Persian king. Still, they were probably intimidating, since the Persian capital was about 1,100 miles (1,770 km) away, a journey of some 55 days.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 4:12 Friends and families of people who have come from the villages to work on the walls try to persuade them to come home because of the danger.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 4:15 God had frustrated their plan. The immediate threat is apparently over, but the work continues with half the people's attention given to defense.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 4:16–17 each labored on the work with one hand and held his weapon with the other. Though Nehemiah and the people prayed and trusted God for protection (see vv. 4, 9, 14, 20), they also stayed ready to defend themselves. God often accomplishes his purposes by ordinary human means.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 4:20 With the people spread out, they were vulnerable at every point (v. 19). Nehemiah addresses this problem with his plan to let the sound of the trumpet be heard—a well-established call to battle. Our God will fight for us. Compare Ex. 14:14; Deut. 1:30.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 4:21–23 They worked on the wall in the day and guarded the city at night. By not taking off their clothes, they remained ready to engage the enemy.

5:1–19 Nehemiah Deals with Injustices in the Community; Nehemiah's Personal Contribution to the Project. Nehemiah takes measures to end the exploitation of the weak in the community by its powerful members, who are ignoring God's commandments.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 5:1 The people are the ordinary citizens, not nobles or officials (see v. 7). And of their wives adds to the picture of families made desperate by hunger. Jewish brothers shows the strong bond among all Israelites. By Mosaic law, no Israelite should permanently enslave or take advantage of another (Deut. 15:1–15).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 5:2–3 let us get grain. Perhaps the men who are working full time on the building project cannot do their usual work to feed their families. Some of them were mortgaging their fields and houses to pay the heavy tax charged by the Persians.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 5:5 forcing our sons and our daughters to be slaves. Temporary debt-slavery (but not permanent chattel-slavery) was permitted in Mosaic law among Israelites. It was often the only way a debt could be paid (see Deut. 15:12).

FACT

The returned exiles would sometimes mortgage their property (5:3) to raise money for the heavy taxes imposed on them. This mortgaging would have involved temporarily forfeiting the use of one's property and any fruit it produced to wealthier people who could afford to pay the taxes. The Mosaic law forbade such practices, and Nehemiah was quick to oppose it.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 5:7 The nobles and the officials within the Jewish community are accused of oppressing their own people. Oppression of the weak by the strong had been one of the reasons for the exile (see Isa. 5:7–10; Amos 2:6–8). exacting interest. Property might be taken in pledge, pending repayment of a loan. Taking interest from a fellow Israelite who borrowed out of need was forbidden (Deut. 23:19–20).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 5:8 sold . . . sell . . . sold. In his anger, Nehemiah points out the irony of the Jews being redeemed from exile only to be sold into slavery by their own brothers.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 5:9 fear of our God. See note on 1:11. taunts. See 4:1–4.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 5:10 Let us. Nehemiah suggests that he himself has been guilty of this injustice.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 5:11–12 Return . . . their fields. This commands returning the illegitimately seized interest, but it also seems to order a return of the items pledged to secure the loans. This goes beyond plans for debt-release (Deut. 15:1–11) or jubilee (Leviticus 25), since it is to be done without delay.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 5:13 shook out the fold. A symbolic action matching the words of the curse that follow. So may God shake out. This type of curse-formula was a way of compelling people to do something. By saying Amen, the whole assembly agreed to the terms of Nehemiah's curse.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 5:14 governor. This is the first indication that Nehemiah held this official post in the province of Yehud (Judea), within the larger province of Beyond the River. twentieth . . . to the thirty-second year. 445 to 433 B.C. Nehemiah returned to Susa in 433, and then returned to Jerusalem sometime between 433 and 423. food allowance of the governor. Governors could raise taxes for their own use, but Nehemiah has not done so.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 5:15 former governors. Nehemiah's predecessors had used the people to enrich themselves and their servants.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 5:16 I also persevered. Nehemiah has made himself equal with his fellow Jews, laboring with them and not using his position for gain.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 5:17–18 At my table seems to refer to Nehemiah's obligations as governor. Those who came . . . from the nations may have been diplomatic visitors. This heavy burden makes Nehemiah's self-sacrifice of the food allowance all the more remarkable.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 5:19 Remember. The first of Nehemiah's prayers asking God to remember either his deeds or his opponents' deeds (compare 6:14; 13:29).

6:1–7:4 A Conspiracy against Nehemiah, but the Wall Is Finished. Nehemiah's enemies try to scare him into ceasing the work, but he is not deterred and the wall is finished.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 6:2 Hakkephirim in the plain of Ono. This unknown place is presumably near the town of Ono (see Ezra 2:33), north of Jerusalem, perhaps serving as a neutral ground. Nehemiah sees it as a conspiracy, since he knows they want to interrupt his work.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 6:3 I am doing a great work and I cannot come down. Nehemiah refused to leave his work for discussions with his enemies. He knew such a meeting would be fruitless and probably dangerous.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 6:5–7 Sanballat's fifth attempt to defeat Nehemiah was an open letter (v. 5). Its public nature was intended to exert extra pressure on Nehemiah. Sanballat once again accuses the people of rebelling against Persia (see Ezra 4:12–13). He portrays himself as loyal to Persia and as a friend of the Jews. He offers to defuse the danger posed by their supposed rebellion. The king will hear is, of course, a veiled threat. While he may have held long-term messianic hopes, Nehemiah remained a loyal servant of Artaxerxes. He had no desire to be king, and there is no reason to think he was a descendant of David.

FACT

An open letter (6:5) was one that was read to the entire public, not just the individual to whom it was addressed. By publicly claiming that Artaxerxes would be angry about the rebuilding of the walls, Sanballat was hoping to frighten the laborers into ceasing their work.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 6:10–11 Shemaiah is not otherwise known, but he may have been a priest, which explains his proposal for a meeting in the temple (perhaps a second meeting from the one mentioned here). confined to his home. This possible translation of a difficult Hebrew word tries to explain why Nehemiah went to this man's house. It is not clear why he had been confined to his home: perhaps it was meant as a symbolic act suggesting that Jerusalem was surrounded by enemies. within the temple . . . for they are coming to kill you. This "warning" suggests a plot by Sanballat and other enemies. Shemaiah proposes that Nehemiah simply take refuge in the temple. Nehemiah replies that such an act would be cowardly.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 6:12 God had not sent him. Nehemiah sees that Shemaiah's prophecy was false.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 6:13 To be afraid would be the opposite of having faith in this situation, and so would be sin (see Deut. 1:28–33; note on Ezra 3:3). This sort of unbelief would allow his enemies to taunt Nehemiah (see Neh. 5:9) and thus undermine his authority.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 6:14 Remember. See note on 5:19; compare 1:8.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 6:15–16 Elul was the sixth month (August/September), so it has been less than six months since Nehemiah spoke to the king. they perceived that this work had been accomplished with the help of our God. If God had helped the people of Judah, the nations feared he would turn Judah into a powerful nation that would be a threat to them.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 6:17 The nobles of Judah were cooperating with Tobiah. They were connected because Tobiah, an "Ammonite" (2:10), and his son had married into Jewish nobility. Ezra's measures against intermarriage (Ezra 9–10) perhaps explain Tobiah's hostility to Nehemiah's work.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 6:18 bound by oath to him. It is not clear how they were bound. But there was clearly a powerful group in Jerusalem committed to Tobiah and opposed to Nehemiah.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 7:1 Gatekeepers, singers, Levites is a typical grouping of worship officials (see Ezra 2:40–42). It is surprising to find them guarding the walls. Yet protecting the city was ultimately related to establishing the worship of Yahweh in his temple.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 7:2–3 On Hanani, see 1:2. He and Hananiah possibly replace the "rulers" named in 3:9, 12. The appointed guards live in the city and so they are most committed to it.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 7:4 Apparently the people are relatively few. Building houses has taken second place to reconstructing the walls.

FACT

Can Nehemiah's wall be seen today? In the 2,500 years since Nehemiah's day, Jerusalem has been rebuilt, destroyed, and rebuilt again. This has made evidence of Nehemiah's wall difficult to find. However, a part of the wall can still be seen.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 7:5–73 A Record of Those Who Returned from Exile. Nehemiah lists the returned exiles from the time of Zerubbabel.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 7:5 my God put it into my heart. See 2:12. As seen in his frequent prayers, Nehemiah maintains a close relationship with the Lord. He decides to take a census of the people. He is helped by the discovery of the book of the genealogy of the first returnees.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 7:6–73 This list is virtually identical to the one in Ezra 2 (see notes there). Nehemiah's next concern is to repopulate Jerusalem (see Neh. 7:4).

8:1–10:39 The Reading of the Law, and Covenant Renewal. In this long section, the Book of the Law is solemnly read, the Feast of Booths is kept, and a great act of covenant renewal is performed. For the first time in this book, Ezra enters the story. This shows the unity of his and Nehemiah's projects. With the walls securely in place, the Mosaic law is once again made prominent. It is not security or the temple that is most essential to the life of the community; trust in God and obedience to his Word are most important.

8:1–8 The Law Is Read. Ezra reads the Book of the Law to all the people, and the Levites ensure that everyone has understood it.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 8:2 The inclusion of both men and women is stressed, since the strict keeping of the great Jerusalem feasts was expected of men only (Deut. 16:16–17). all who could understand. "Understanding" is a key theme in this chapter, since it was vital that all should know God's law. The teaching of the law may have been neglected in the nearly one hundred years since the first return from Babylon. The first day of the seventh month was a day of rest, like a Sabbath, in the month of the Day of Atonement (see Lev. 23:24–25, 27, 34).

FACT

The Feast of Booths (8:2) marked the end of the agricultural year. It was a time to celebrate God’s provision and to ask his blessing for the next year’s crops. Once every seven years, the Book of the Law of Moses was to be read during the festival. This was done to instruct the children and as a reminder for the adults.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 8:3–5 from early morning until midday. The book was lengthy, and there may have been frequent pauses for explanation (see note on v. 7). opened the book. The act of reading, in this setting, is also a corporate act of worship.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 8:7 The Levites presumably moved among the crowd, ensuring that all could understand. Such interpretation was one of their special tasks (see Deut. 33:10; 2 Chron. 17:7–9).

8:9–12 The People Are to Be Joyful. Though sorrow for sin was the desired response to the teaching, joy at renewed relationship with God was its ultimate purpose. the joy of the LORD is your strength. As the people rejoiced in God, he would show himself strong to help and defend them. Eat . . . drink . . . send portions are important themes of worship in Deuteronomy, associated with God’s rich gifts and the privilege of sharing them (Deut. 12:12; 14:23, 26, 27–29).

8:13–18 The People Keep the Feast of Booths. This family-oriented festival highlighted God’s protection of Israel in the desert, before the conquest of Canaan.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 8:13–15 The following day, as the leaders study the Law, they realize they are in the month of the Feast of Booths, the feast of the seventh month (Lev. 23:33–43). During this feast the people lived in temporary dwellings made from branches to commemorate how they had lived in booths in the wilderness (Lev. 23:43).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 8:17–18 Jeshua is another form of “Joshua.” had not done so. Although the Feast of Booths had been celebrated on occasion (see 1 Kings 8:65; 2 Chron. 7:9; Ezra 3:4), it had apparently not been celebrated in this way (with such great joy, or in such unsettled conditions, or with all the people participating). seven days. See Lev. 23:34. For the reading of the law at the Feast of Booths (every seven years), see Deut. 31:10–11.

9:1–38 A Prayer of Confession, Penitence, and Covenant Commitment. The next phase in the great act of covenant renewal is a prayer of praise, confession, and petition.

FACT

Word pictures for worship and teaching. Religious images were strictly forbidden under the Mosaic law, but Israel's leaders often used vivid imagery in their story-telling to teach the people and to help them worship. Chapter 9 gives an example of this, as the Levites publicly recite the nation's history, from creation to the present.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 9:1 the twenty-fourth day. It is still the seventh month, after the seven days of the Feast of Booths and an eighth day of solemn assembly (8:18).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 9:2–3 separated themselves from all foreigners. See Ezra 9–10. Here it refers not just to marriage but also to the integrity of the community in general. iniquities of their fathers. That is, of all previous generations, as in the prayer that follows (Neh. 9:6–37).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 9:6–37 The prayer mixes confession with memories of God's grace and petition. It follows the biblical story as told in Genesis–Kings.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 9:6 You are the LORD, you alone. The uniqueness of Israel's God was proclaimed in the story of creation. Heaven . . . the earth sums up the whole creation (see Gen. 1:1; Ex. 20:11). All their host could refer to either angels or stars.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 9:7–8 Ur of the Chaldeans is in southern Mesopotamia (see Gen. 11:31). the name Abraham. See Gen. 17:5. the covenant. God promised Abraham both descendants and land. The promise to drive out other nations has particular meaning in this period of restoration to the land.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 9:9–11 heard their cry at the Red Sea. This condenses the whole story from Exodus 2–15 (see Ex. 2:23–25; 14:1–15:27). signs and wonders . . . divided the sea. This refers to the miracles done to compel Pharaoh to release the Israelites (Exodus 7–15).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 9:12 The pillar of cloud and the pillar of fire provided God's guidance (see Ex. 13:21–22).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 9:13–14 Mount Sinai is where God gave the Ten Commandments and detailed instructions for applying them (rules, laws, statutes, commandments).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 9:15 bread from heaven . . . water. Compare Ex. 16:14–15; 17:6.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 9:16–18 appointed a leader. See Num. 14:4. The people must have gone ahead and chosen a different leader, though Numbers 14 contains no record of it. Golden calf refers to the rebellion committed while the covenant was still being made at Sinai (Exodus 32; Deut. 9:7–21).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 9:21 Forty years. See Deut. 2:7. Their clothes did not wear out and their feet did not swell. From Deut. 8:4, recalling God's extraordinary preservation of his people.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 9:23 stars of heaven. See Deut. 1:10.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 9:26–28 This pattern of sin, judgment, repentance, and deliverance is typical of the book of Judges. killed your prophets. Compare Matt. 23:31; Acts 7:52.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 9:29–31 The story of God's long patience with the Israelites' sin, finally ending in judgment, is told in 1–2 Kings (see especially 2 Kings 17).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 9:30–31 you gave them into the hand of the peoples. The northern kingdom was "[given] into the hand of" Assyria (2 Kings 17); Judah was conquered by Babylon (2 Kings 24–25). you did not make an end of them. God rescued his people from exile, as recorded in 2 Chron. 36:22–23 and in the books of Ezra and Nehemiah.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 9:32–33 All the hardship refers to the sufferings of both exiles (Assyrian and Babylonian). Yet God has been righteous in his judgment.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 9:36–38 we are slaves. The people's continuing sinfulness explains why they are not yet entirely free. To resolve this situation, the people will enter a solemn covenant.

10:1–39 Signatories and Specific Commitments. Many of the people agree to the covenant, and they accept the responsibility of funding the temple's activities.

FACT

Seals in the ancient Near East (e.g., 10:1) were stamps pressed into soft wax on documents that demonstrated ownership or authorship.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 10:1–27 The long list of names shows that the entire community supported the covenant.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 10:29 a curse and an oath. The two expressions together show the people's serious intention to keep their commitment.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 10:30 Mosaic law prohibited intermarriage with the peoples of the land because they worshiped other gods. This is in the forefront because it was such a problem recently (Ezra 9–10).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 10:31 The Sabbath commandment (Ex. 20:8–11; Deut. 5:12–15) was a key marker of Israel's identity. Trading with surrounding peoples on the Sabbath must have been a temptation (see Neh. 13:16–22). crops of the seventh year. The Sabbath idea extended to the seventh year, when normal cultivation was prohibited (Lev. 25:2–7).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 10:32 third part of a shekel. No Mosaic law requires this tax. It is a new commitment to support the service of the house of our God. (However, compare Ex. 30:11–16.)

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 10:33–34 showbread. See Lev. 24:5–9. wood offering. Again, no specific law requires this tax, but the need for it is implied in Lev. 6:12–13. This is why it is described as written in the Law.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 10:35–37 These agricultural offerings were to supply temple personnel, as specified in various laws (e.g., Ex. 23:19; Num. 18:12–13), but they were not always paid (see Neh. 13:10).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 10:36 firstborn of our sons. On the redemption of firstborn sons, see note on Ex. 13:2. herds . . . flocks. See Num. 18:15–18; Deut. 15:19–23.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 10:37 first of our dough. See Num. 15:20–21; Deut. 18:4. Tithes are for the Levites, according to Num. 18:21–24, though the entire nation is invited to partake of the tithe in Deut. 14:22–27.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 10:38 tithe of the tithes. The Levites give part of the tithe to the priests (Num. 18:25–32).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 11:1–12:43 The Population of Jerusalem and the Villages; Priests and Levites. These chapters depict the people's efforts to populate Jerusalem.

FACT

Why did the small towns of Judah send people to live in Jerusalem? In Nehemiah's time, Jerusalem was only one-fourth the size it had been before the exile. No one wanted to live in a city without defensive walls. Once the walls were completed, however, the community leaders wanted Jerusalem to become a thriving capital city once again. This meant transplanting citizens from the small towns (11:1–2).

11:1–36 Those Who Lived in Jerusalem and the Villages of Judah. This chapter addresses the need to maintain a proportion of the population in Jerusalem, and records the names of leaders who lived there. Populated villages of Judah are also named.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 11:1 The community's leaders are concentrated in Jerusalem, but it is underpopulated (see also 7:4). The people in the provincial towns cast lots to decide who should relocate to the capital.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 11:3–4 The temple servants, along with gatekeepers and singers (vv. 19, 21–22), were classes of Levites (see Ezra 2:40–43). the descendants of Solomon's servants. See note on Ezra 2:55–58. sons of Judah

. . . sons of Benjamin. These two tribes of the southern kingdom were exiled in Babylon, and now they make up the restored community.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 11:11–12 The ruler of the house of God is the high priest. Work of the house probably means work inside the temple; contrast “outside,” v. 16.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 11:15–16 The Levites were responsible for the outside work of the house of God, a lesser role than that of the priests in v. 12.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 11:20–21 the rest of Israel. That is, after a tenth of the population had been resettled in Jerusalem (v. 1). His inheritance refers to property owned by one’s ancestors (see note on Ezra 2:59–63). Ophel. See note on Neh. 3:26.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 11:23–24 Command from the king must refer to the Persian king. The note about Pethahiah being at the king’s side indicates he oversaw Jewish affairs at the royal court.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 11:30 from Beersheba to the Valley of Hinnom. The people of Judah lived south of Jerusalem. Beersheba was in the far south, and the Valley of Hinnom was on the southern edge of Jerusalem.

Judea under Persian Rule

538–332 B.C.

Under Persian rule, the lands of Israel (now called Samaria) and Judah (now called Judea) were minor provinces within the satrapy called Beyond the River. Returning Judeans settled mostly in the province of Judea, but a few settled in the plain of Ono and Idumea as well. The fact that the plain of Ono lay outside the jurisdiction of Judea may explain why Nehemiah suspected that the other local governors intended to do him harm there.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 11:31–35 The villages of Benjamin were mainly north and west of Jerusalem.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 11:36 The Levites were in effect a third tribe in the restored community.

12:1–26 High Priests and Leading Levites since the Time of Zerubbabel. This section records the priests and Levites from the time of Zerubbabel (c. 538–535

B.C.) to Nehemiah. The aim is to show that the Levitical service continued during a very difficult time in Israel's history.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 12:1a Zerubbabel . . . and Jeshua. See note on Ezra 2:2a. Zerubbabel was the first leader of the returning exiles following King Cyrus's decree in 538 B.C., about a century before Nehemiah. Jeshua the high priest returned with him.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 12:12–21 Joiakim was high priest after Jeshua (see v. 10), so this list gives the priests in his day, including Ezra (v. 13). heads of fathers' houses (v. 12). The list proceeds by family names: thus, Meraiah was priest in the (priestly) family of Seraiah.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 12:22–23 As with the priests, a record of Levites was kept by families.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 12:22 Darius the Persian is Darius I (522–486 B.C.), king of Persia at the time of Zerubbabel and the building of the temple (see Ezra 4:5, 24; 5:1–17; 6:1–22).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 12:23 Book of the Chronicles. This is not the biblical book of that name, but simply a record of names, perhaps kept by the priests.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 12:24–26 This is a similar record (see v. 23) for the time of Joiakim and later (see v. 10). David the man of God. See v. 36; 1 Chron. 25:2; 2 Chron. 8:14 in connection with David's organizing priests and Levites for temple service. Joiakim was high priest in Ezra's time (see Neh. 12:12).

12:27–43 Dedication of the Walls. This section describes the Levites' role at the dedication of the completed city wall. Two great choirs precede the leaders in two companies on the wall, north and south.

FACT

Dedications were ceremonies performed to consecrate something or someone for service to the Lord.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 12:28–29 Levitical singers had settled in villages around Jerusalem near their work. The Netophathites were from Netophah, near Bethlehem. Beth-gilgal is presumably Gilgal, near Jericho (see Josh. 4:19). Geba and Azmaveth were north of Jerusalem.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 12:30 They had purified themselves, as in readiness for worship (see Ex. 19:10, 14–15; Num. 8:5–7).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 12:31–40 Two great choirs symbolically enclose the whole city for the dedication. Ezra goes with the southern group, Nehemiah with the northern. Dung Gate (v. 31). See note on 2:13–15. Fountain Gate . . . Water Gate (12:37). See note on 3:26. For details of the wall's layout, see 2:11–16 and 3:1–32. Both groups continue into the temple area to conclude the ceremony.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 12:44–13:31 Nehemiah Deals with Problems in the Community. This section records problems that arose in relation to storing contributions for the temple and its personnel. It also describes Nehemiah's ongoing problems with his people and his opponents.

12:44–47 The Administration of Offerings for the Temple. These verses emphasize that the work of the priests and Levites had been in place since ancient times, and that since the days of Zerubbabel (a century before Nehemiah) they had been duly provided for. On that day. Arrangements for tithes and other offerings are made once again, at the dedication of the wall. portions required by the Law. The Mosaic requirement (Lev. 7:33) applied only to the priests, but here it is widened to include all the Levites.

13:1–9 Ejection of Tobiah the Ammonite from the Temple. While Nehemiah was in the Persian capital of Susa, reporting to the king (v. 6; see note on 2:4–6), his opponents took advantage of his absence and gave a non-Israelite a place to live in the temple. Upon his return to Jerusalem, Nehemiah discovered the problem and corrected it.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 13:1–3 no Ammonite or Moabite. Moabites and Ammonites were specifically excluded from Israel's religious assembly because of their historical conflict with Israel and their idolatry (see Numbers 22–25; Deut. 23:3–5). separated . . . foreign descent. This resembles measures Ezra had taken a decade or so earlier (Ezra 9–10). Note Ezra 6:21, however, which allowed foreigners to join Israel if they embraced the Jewish religion. Compare also the story of Ruth, who came to faith in Israel’s God even though she was a Moabite.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 13:4–9 The connection of these verses with vv. 1–3 is that Tobiah, an enemy of the community (2:10; 4:7–8), was an Ammonite. Eliashib’s offense is also related to proper care of tithes and offerings (12:44), because he gave Tobiah a room in the temple reserved for storing these.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 13:4 Now before this. The time is unspecified.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 13:6 I was not in Jerusalem. Nehemiah had been called back to the Persian court in the thirty-second year (433 B.C.; see 1:1) for an unspecified time. The journey between Jerusalem and Susa took about 55 days (see note on 4:7–8). Eliashib (see 12:10) may have taken advantage of Nehemiah’s absence, which may have been lengthy.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 13:9 Cleansed, that is, purified in a ritual sense. Nehemiah sees the misuse of the temple as a violation of its holiness. He restores the polluted area to its proper use.

FACT

Tobiah was not a priest, so moving his household furniture into the temple desecrated the area (13:5, 7). His presence in the temple also meant that one of Nehemiah’s fierce opponents had been given a luxurious home in the temple.

13:10–14 Dealing with Neglect of the Offerings. The people had stopped providing for the Levites, so they had fled each to his field, where they could provide for themselves and their families. This, of course, had a negative impact on worship at the temple. Contrast the commitments made by the people in 10:32–39. Nehemiah responds by organizing the administration of the offerings. I confronted the officials. Note Nehemiah’s fearless action (see also 13:17). Remember me. Compare 1:8; 5:19; 6:14.

13:15–22 Dealing with Sabbath Breaking. The community once again sins, this time by breaking the Sabbath by trading.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 13:16 Tyrians. Foreigners would not be bound by the Sabbath law, of course, but they find a ready market on the Sabbath among the Jews.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 13:18 Did not your fathers act in this way? Breaking the Sabbath was an obvious sign of previous generations' lack of commitment to God (see Jer. 17:19–27; Amos 8:4–6). Here it is given as the reason for the exile.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 13:19–22 Nehemiah still has authority and resources to enforce his reforms (though it is not clear whether he is still governor).

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 13:22 the Levites . . . purify themselves. The gatekeeper Levites had been neglecting their duties. They needed to be ritually purified again for their task.

13:23–29 The Problem of Intermarriage Again. As the returned exiles ignored covenantal commitments such as Sabbath keeping, they began losing their sense of identity as God's special people. One result was more intermarriages with pagans.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 13:23–27 Ezra's action against intermarriage (Ezra 9–10) apparently had little lasting effect. By losing the language of Judah (Neh. 13:24), the children of mixed marriages were losing their entire religious heritage.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 13:25–28 Nehemiah calls the people back to the Mosaic law (Deut. 7:1–5) and cites the example of Solomon, who was turned away from the Lord by his foreign wives (1 Kings 11). Spiritual unfaithfulness in intermarriage has even affected the family of the high priest Eliashib.

NEHEMIAH—NOTE ON 13:29 Remember them. See also 6:14. covenant of the priesthood. The special obligations of the priests and Levites, for the sake of the whole people (see 1 Sam. 2:27–36; Mal. 2:4–9).

13:30–31 Summary of Nehemiah's Temple Reforms. These verses highlight all that Nehemiah has done to ensure pure worship in the temple and to establish proper support for the priests. wood offering. See 10:34. Remember me. Nehemiah asks the Lord to take note of his faithful actions (see also 1:8; 5:19; 6:14; 13:14).

Author and Date

Like many OT books, Esther is an anonymous work. It is possible that the author was someone like Mordecai, who had access to historical documents (2:23; 6:1) and an interest in Jewish affairs.

Esther belongs to the period after the Babylonian exile, when Persia had replaced Babylon as the ruling power. The story is set in Susa, one of the Persian capitals, during the reign of King Ahasuerus, better known by his Greek name, Xerxes I (486–464 B.C.). Some Jews had returned to Jerusalem, where they enjoyed a reasonable amount of control over their own affairs. Others, like Esther and Mordecai, were still in exile. As a minority group, the Jews were viewed with suspicion and sometimes faced threats to their existence.

Overview and Purpose

The book of Esther tells how a Jewish girl became the queen of Persia and saved her people from a plot to destroy them. She is assisted in this by Mordecai, her cousin and guardian.

Esther was written to explain the origin of the Feast of Purim and to ensure that it would be observed by all future generations of the Jewish people (9:28). It has clearly achieved this purpose, since Jews have continued to observe Purim to the present day. The book of Esther is read as part of the celebration of Purim.

Esther is part of a much larger story that runs all the way from Abraham to Christ and, through him, to the church. If Haman had succeeded, the Jewish people as a whole would have been destroyed, and the story of God's saving work in and through Abraham's descendants would have come to an end. There would have been no fulfillment in Christ, and therefore no gospel and no Christian church. Christians should read the book of Esther, not just as a story about the Jews but as part of their own heritage. Christians are not obliged to observe the Feast of Purim, but they are to take to heart the truth that God providentially watches over his own (Rom. 8:28).

Key Themes

Esther is an entertaining historical story that also reveals important truths about how and why the Jews survived such an overwhelming threat:

1. Divine providence. God is not mentioned by name in the book of Esther. But it shows clearly that, even when God is most hidden, he is still working to protect his chosen people.
2. Human responsibility. Esther and Mordecai show great initiative and courage. Their actions are obviously significant. The providence of God does not negate the responsibility of people to act with courage and resolve when circumstances require it.
3. The absurdity of wickedness. Ahasuerus and Haman were important people who had considerable power. But the story of Esther often causes laughter at their expense. The proud people of this world are not nearly as powerful as they think they are. When they oppose God's people they bring about their own destruction. God laughs at such people (Ps. 2:4). The story of Esther invites us to laugh with him.

The Persian Empire at the Time of Esther

c. 479 B.C.

Long before Esther's time, the people of Israel and Judah (later called Jews) had been dispersed throughout the Near East by the Assyrians and the Babylonians. Eventually the Persians absorbed nearly all of these lands into their empire, which reached its greatest extent during the time of Esther. Thus Haman’s plot to exterminate all Jews throughout the Persian Empire would have annihilated virtually all of the Jewish people, and Esther’s daring actions saved the whole nation from complete destruction.

The Global Message of Esther

Esther and the Sovereign Rule of God

The book of Esther is set far away from the Promised Land, on the opposite end of the world in the city of Susa, the capital of the powerful Persian empire (c. 539–331 B.C.). After the Babylonian empire destroyed the Jerusalem temple and decimated the kingdom of Judah (587/586 B.C.), a significant portion of the remaining Jewish population was exiled to Babylon. After Cyrus defeated the Babylonians and established his Persian empire, Cyrus granted freedom for the exiled Jewish people to return to their homeland and rebuild their temple (c. 539 B.C.). Some, but not all, of the Jews returned to the Promised Land and began to rebuild their lives. Others remained in exile and began to build Jewish communities in the Persian empire. Esther and Mordecai, the main characters of the book of Esther, were from families that chose to remain.

The book of Esther is in the Bible to show us that the hiddenness of God is not the absence of God. Even though God is not even mentioned in the entire book, he sovereignly and mercifully preserves his poeple in the midst of adversity.

Still the Chosen People of God?

After the Jewish exiles returned to the homeland, they entered what is called the postexilic ("after the exile") period of their existence. It was a time of great uncertainty, and the people had many questions. Were they still the people of God, or was God finished with them? And if homeland Jews were still the people of God, what about those Jews who never returned but chose to remain behind and live among the pagans? Were they still members of the covenant people, or had they forfeited their inheritance?

Therefore, while the immediate purpose of the book of Esther was to explain why all Jews everywhere should celebrate Purim (a festival not prescribed by the Law of Moses; see Est. 9:26–32), its deeper and more significant purpose was to demonstrate that the postexilic Jews—even those outside the Land—remained the chosen people of God. Through them, God was still committed by covenant to accomplish his plan of worldwide redemption and new creation. They were therefore protected by his quiet yet overruling sovereignty from all pagan attempts to destroy them until the "fullness of time," when Israel gave the Messiah to the world (Gal. 4:4).

Universal Themes in Esther

The sovereign rule of God. The primary theme of Esther that is universally applicable to global Christians is the sovereign rule of God, even amid seemingly insignificant events. The book of Esther is noteworthy for its complete lack of any mention of God. This has caused some to question whether it belongs in Scripture. The lack of reference to God, however, works as a literary device to make the reader realize that God is on every page. Throughout the book, God is controlling, directing, and working through all the seemingly trivial circumstances in order to protect his people and accomplish his ultimate purpose of cosmic redemption.

Coincidences? Note how the following "coincidences" work in the book to attain God's purposes. First, how wonderful that Esther was so beautiful and that King Ahasuerus chose her from among all the young women of the kingdom to be his next queen (Est. 2:17). Second, how fortunate that Mordecai overheard the plot against the king and rescued him from assassination, and that Mordecai's valiant deed of loyalty was recorded in the royal archives (2:21–23). Third, note that when Esther presented herself before the king (which, in Persian law, was punishable by death), she "won favor in his sight" and was spared and allowed to speak (5:2). Fourth, it was quite a stroke of good fortune that the king could not sleep and therefore ordered that the chronicles of memorable deeds should be read to him; that the scribe just happened to read about Mordecai and his heroic act; and that the king was alert enough to ask whether Mordecai had been rewarded for his deed (6:1–3). Fifth, how ironic for Haman to walk in just as the king was considering how he might honor Mordecai for his deed (6:4–12). Sixth, how unfortunate for Haman that he "was falling on the couch where Esther was" to beg for his life just as the king returned, and the king interpreted Haman's move as an assault upon Esther (7:8). Seventh, how interesting that Mordecai was made second in command in place of Haman over all of the vast Persian empire (8:2; 10:2–3).

God works all things together for good. Are these events insignificant circumstances? Are they merely chance? Or are they examples of God quietly yet sovereignly working on behalf of his people to accomplish his purposes? The Lord so governs situations that he overrules and thwarts the schemes of those who would seek to destroy his chosen people and works them instead for ultimate good (see Rom. 8:28).

The Global Message of Esther for Today

Living in exile. The contemporary church around the world has much to learn from the book of Esther concerning empire and living in exile. With the church now a global faith, it finds itself located increasingly within countries that are unfamiliar with the Christian tradition or even hostile to it. The global church in many places now lives an "exiled" sort of existence under pagan rule or tyrannical leaders, in circumstances similar to those faced by Esther and Mordecai under Persian imperial rule. In the New Testament, the book of Acts narrates how regularly the church had to navigate the precarious waters of a pagan empire. In fact, the Roman empire crushed the key figures of the New Testament. Pontius Pilate, a Roman procurator, crucified Jesus. King Herod Agrippa beheaded James (Acts 12:1–2). Caesar executed Peter and Paul in Rome. Roman power exiled John to the island of Patmos (Rev. 1:9).

Global sojourners. The letter of 1 Peter teaches the global church that its members are "exiles of the Dispersion" and "sojourners" (1 Pet. 1:1; 2:11). As disciples lived out their new faith before their pagan neighbors, this at times resulted in misunderstanding, suffering, and persecution (1 Pet. 2:12; 4:12–13, 16, 19; 5:9–10). Undoubtedly, this felt like "exile," as Christians realized that they no longer fit in with the immoral and idolatrous culture around them. The Roman empire was no longer their true home. They lived in the Roman empire, and they were Romans citizens (or freedmen, or slaves), but they no longer acted like Romans in numerous and important ways. Ultimately, however, Peter meant something more significant when he called the early Christians "exiles" and "sojourners." He has theological exile in view. Like Abraham, who wandered as a homeless "exile" and "sojourner" in the very land that God had promised to him (Gen. 23:4), Christians are exiles and sojourners in the very land that they will inherit—the whole world (Rom. 4:13). They do not inherit it now, as it lies broken in its present and fallen state, but they will enjoy the liberated and renewed world when all is accomplished in Christ (Rom. 8:18–25; Phil. 3:20–21).

Working for justice and compassion. The book of Esther illustrates that, while the Christian community journeys in this exiled existence and waits in hope for “relief and deliverance” (Est. 4:14), some believers may find themselves in positions of government within the empires in which they reside. Christians should not be anxious about working in such contexts, but should instead use the God-given opportunity to work for just and compassionate legislation, which promotes peace and stability for all citizens. In this way, they anticipate the life of the new creation and bring a glimmer of light to a dark world.

The King’s Banquets

ESTHER 1 [†]Now in the days of Ahasuerus, the Ahasuerus who reigned [a] from India to Ethiopia over [b] 127 provinces, [2][†]in those days when King Ahasuerus [c] sat on his royal throne in [d] Susa, the citadel, [3]in the third year of his reign [e] he gave a feast for all his officials and servants. The army of Persia and Media and the nobles and governors of the provinces were before him, [4][†]while he showed the riches of his royal glory and the splendor and pomp of his greatness for many days, 180 days. [5]And when these days were completed, the king gave for all the people present in Susa the citadel, both great and small, a feast lasting for seven days in the court of [f] the garden of the king’s palace. [6][†]There were white cotton curtains and violet hangings fastened with cords of fine linen and purple to silver rods [1] and marble pillars, and also [g] couches of gold and silver on a mosaic pavement of porphyry, marble, mother-of-pearl and precious stones. [7]Drinks were served in golden vessels, vessels of different kinds, and the royal wine was lavished according to the bounty of the king. [8]And drinking was according to this edict: “There is no compulsion.” For the king had given orders to all the staff of his palace to do as each man desired. [9]Queen Vashti also gave a feast for the women in the palace that belonged to King Ahasuerus.

Queen Vashti’s Refusal

[10][†]On the seventh day, [h] when the heart of the king was merry with wine, he commanded Mehuman, Biztha, [i] Harbona, [j] Bigtha and Abagtha, Zethar and Carkas, the seven eunuchs who served in the presence of King Ahasuerus, [11]to bring Queen Vashti before the king with [k] her royal crown, [2] in order to show the peoples and the princes her beauty, for she was lovely to look at. [12][†]But Queen Vashti refused to come at the king’s command delivered by the eunuchs. At this the king became enraged, and his anger burned within him.

[13][†]Then the king said to [l] the wise men [m] who knew the times (for this was the king’s procedure toward all who were versed in law and judgment, [14]the men next to him being Carshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena, and [n] Memucan, [o] the seven princes of Persia and Media, [p] who saw the king’s face, and sat first in the kingdom): [15][†]“According to the law, what is to be done to Queen Vashti, because she has not performed the command of King Ahasuerus delivered by the eunuchs?” [16]Then Memucan said in the presence of the king and the officials, “Not only against the king has Queen Vashti done wrong, but also against all the officials and all the peoples who are in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus. [17]For the queen’s behavior will be made known to all women, causing them to look at their husbands with contempt, since they will say, ‘King Ahasuerus commanded Queen Vashti to be brought before him, and she did not come.’ [18]This very day the noble women of Persia and Media who have heard of the queen’s behavior will say the same to all the king’s officials, and there will be contempt and wrath in plenty. [19][†]If it please the king, let a royal order go out from him, and let it be written among the laws of the Persians and the Medes so [q] that it may not be repealed, that Vashti is never again to come before King Ahasuerus. And let the king give her royal position to another who is better than she. [20]So when the decree made by the king is proclaimed throughout all his kingdom, for it is vast, [r] all women will give honor to their husbands, high and low alike.” [21][†]This advice pleased the king and the princes, and the king did as Memucan proposed. [22]He sent letters to all the royal provinces, [s] to every province in its own script and to every people in its own language, that every man be master in his own household and speak according to the language of his people.

Esther Chosen Queen

ESTHER 2 [†]After these things, [t] when the anger of King Ahasuerus had abated, he remembered Vashti [u] and what she had done and what had been decreed against her. [2]Then the king’s young men who attended him said, “Let beautiful young virgins be sought out for the king. [3]And let the king appoint officers in all the provinces of his kingdom to gather all the beautiful young virgins to the harem in Susa the citadel, under custody of [v] Hegai, the king’s eunuch, who is in charge of the women. [w] Let their cosmetics be given them. [4]And let the young woman who pleases the king be queen instead of Vashti.” This pleased the king, and he did so.

[5][†]Now there was a Jew in Susa the citadel whose name was [x]Mordecai, the son of Jair, son of Shimei, son of Kish, a Benjaminite, [6][†][y]who had been carried away from Jerusalem among the captives carried away with Jeconiah king of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had carried away. [7][†]He was bringing up Hadassah, that is Esther, [z]the daughter of his uncle, for she had neither father nor mother. The young woman had a beautiful figure and was lovely to look at, and when her father and her mother died, Mordecai took her as his own daughter. [8][†]So when the king’s order and his edict were proclaimed, and [a]when many young women were gathered in Susa the citadel in custody of [b]Hegai, Esther also was taken into the king’s palace and put in custody of Hegai, who had charge of the women. [9]And the young woman pleased him and won his favor. And he quickly provided her [c]with her cosmetics and her portion of food, and with seven chosen young women from the king’s palace, and advanced her and her young women to the best place in the harem. [10][†][d]Esther had not made known her people or kindred, for Mordecai had commanded her not to make it known. [11]And every day Mordecai walked in front of the court of the harem to learn how Esther was and what was happening to her.

[12][†]Now when the turn came for each young woman to go in to King Ahasuerus, after being twelve months under the regulations for the women, since this was the regular period of their beautifying, six months with oil of myrrh and six months with spices and ointments for women— [13]when the young woman went in to the king in this way, she was given whatever she desired to take with her from the harem to the king’s palace. [14]In the evening she would go in, and in the morning she would return to the second harem in custody of Shaashgaz, the king’s eunuch, who was in charge of the concubines. She would not go in to the king again, unless the king delighted in her and she was summoned by name.

[15]When the turn came for Esther [e]the daughter of Abihail the uncle of Mordecai, who had taken her as his own daughter, to go in to the king, she asked for nothing except what [f]Hegai the king’s eunuch, who had charge of the women, advised. Now Esther was winning favor in the eyes of all who saw her. [16][†]And when Esther was taken to King Ahasuerus, into his royal palace, in the tenth month, which is the month of Tebeth, in the seventh year of his reign, [17]the king loved Esther more than all the women, and she won grace and favor in his sight more than all the virgins, so that he set [g]the royal crown [1] on her head and made her queen instead of Vashti. [18][†]Then the king [h]gave a great feast for all his officials and servants; it was Esther's feast. He also granted a remission of taxes to the provinces and gave gifts with royal generosity.

Mordecai Discovers a Plot

[19][†]Now when the virgins were gathered together [i]the second time, Mordecai was sitting [j]at the king's gate. [20] [k]Esther had not made known her kindred or her people, as Mordecai had commanded her, for Esther obeyed Mordecai just [l]as when she was brought up by him. [21]In those days, as Mordecai was sitting at the king's gate, [m]Bigthan and [n]Teresh, two of the king's eunuchs, who guarded the threshold, became angry and sought to lay hands on King Ahasuerus. [22]And this came to the knowledge of Mordecai, [o]and he told it to Queen Esther, and Esther told the king in the name of Mordecai. [23]When the affair was investigated and found to be so, the men were both hanged on the gallows. [2] And it was recorded in [p]the book of the chronicles in the presence of the king.

Haman Plots Against the Jews

ESTHER 3 [†]After these things King Ahasuerus [q]promoted Haman [r]the Agagite, the son of Hammedatha, [s]and advanced him and set his throne above all the officials who were with him. [2][†]And all the king's servants who were at the king's gate bowed down and paid homage to Haman, for the king had so commanded concerning him. [t]But Mordecai did not bow down or pay homage. [3]Then the king's servants who were [u]at the king's gate said to Mordecai, "Why do you transgress [v]the king's command?" [4]And when they spoke to him day after day and he would not listen to them, they told Haman, in order to see whether Mordecai's words would stand, for he had told them that he was a Jew. [5][†]And when Haman saw that [t]Mordecai did not bow down or pay homage to him, Haman was [w]filled with fury. [6]But he disdained to lay hands on Mordecai alone. So, as they had made known to him the people of Mordecai, Haman sought to destroy all the Jews, the people of Mordecai, throughout the whole kingdom of Ahasuerus.

7[†]In the first month, which is the month of Nisan, in the twelfth year of King Ahasuerus, [x] they cast Pur (that is, they cast lots) before Haman day after day; and they cast it month after month till the twelfth month, which is [y] the month of Adar. 8[†]Then Haman said to King Ahasuerus, "There is a certain people scattered abroad and dispersed among the peoples in all the provinces of your kingdom. [z] Their laws are different from those of every other people, and they do not keep the king's laws, so that it is not to the king's profit to tolerate them. 9[†]If it please the king, let it be decreed that they be destroyed, and I will pay 10,000 talents [1] of silver into the hands of those who have charge of the king's business, that they may put it into the king's treasuries." 10[†] [a] So the king took his signet ring from his hand and gave it to Haman [b] the Agagite, the son of Hammedatha, [c] the enemy of the Jews. 11And the king said to Haman, "The money is given to you, the people also, to do with them as it seems good to you."

12[†] [d] Then the king's scribes were summoned on the thirteenth day of the first month, and an edict, according to all that Haman commanded, was written to the king's [e] satraps and to the governors over all the provinces and to the officials of all the peoples, [f] to every province in its own script and every people in its own language. It was written [g] in the name of King Ahasuerus [h] and sealed with the king's signet ring. 13Letters were sent [i] by couriers to all the king's provinces with instruction [j] to destroy, to kill, and to annihilate all Jews, young and old, women and children, [k] in one day, the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is the month of Adar, [l] and to plunder their goods. 14 [m] A copy of the document was to be issued as a decree in every province by proclamation to all the peoples to be ready for that day. 15[†] [i] The couriers went out hurriedly by order of the king, and the decree was issued in Susa the citadel. And the king and Haman sat down to drink, [n] but the city of Susa was thrown into confusion.

Esther Agrees to Help the Jews

ESTHER 4 [†]When Mordecai learned all that had been done, Mordecai tore his clothes [o] and put on sackcloth and ashes, and went out into the midst of the city, and he cried out with a loud and bitter cry. [2]He went up to the entrance of the king's gate, for no one was allowed to enter the king's gate clothed in sackcloth. [3]And in every province, wherever the king's command and his decree reached, there was great mourning among the Jews, [p] with fasting and weeping and lamenting, and many of them [q] lay in sackcloth and ashes.

[4]When Esther's young women and her eunuchs came and told her, the queen was deeply distressed. She sent garments to clothe Mordecai, so that he might take off his sackcloth, but he would not accept them. [5]Then Esther called for Hathach, one of the king's eunuchs, who had been appointed to attend her, and ordered him to go to Mordecai to learn what this was and why it was. [6]Hathach went out to Mordecai in the open square of the city in front of the king's gate, [7]and Mordecai told him all that had happened to him, [r] and the exact sum of money that Haman had promised to pay into the king's treasuries for the destruction of the Jews. [8]Mordecai also gave him [s] a copy of the written decree issued in Susa for their destruction, that he might show it to Esther and explain it to her and command her to go to the king to beg his favor and plead with him on behalf of her people. [9]And Hathach went and told Esther what Mordecai had said. [10]Then Esther spoke to Hathach and commanded him to go to Mordecai and say, [11][†]"All the king's servants and the people of the king's provinces know that if any man or woman goes to the king inside [t] the inner court without being called, [u] there is but one law—to be put to death, except the one [v] to whom the king holds out the golden scepter so that he may live. But as for me, I have not been called to come in to the king these thirty days."

[12]And they told Mordecai what Esther had said. [13]Then Mordecai told them to reply to Esther, "Do not think to yourself that in the king's palace you will escape any more than all the other Jews. [14][†]For if you keep silent at this time, relief and deliverance will rise for the Jews from another place, but you and your father's house will perish. And who knows whether you have not come to the kingdom for such a time as this?" [15]Then Esther told them to reply to Mordecai, [16][†]“Go, gather all the Jews to be found in Susa, and hold a fast on my behalf, and do not eat or drink for [w]three days, night or day. I and my young women will also fast as you do. Then I will go to the king, though it is against the law, [x]and if I perish, I perish.” [17]Mordecai then went away and did everything as Esther had ordered him.

Esther Prepares a Banquet

ESTHER 5 [†] [y]On the third day Esther put on her royal robes and stood in [z]the inner court of the king’s palace, in front of the king’s quarters, while the king was sitting on his royal throne inside the throne room opposite the entrance to the palace. [2]And when the king saw Queen Esther standing in the court, [a]she won favor in his sight, [b]and he held out to Esther the golden scepter that was in his hand. Then Esther approached and touched the tip of the scepter. [3][†]And the king said to her, “What is it, Queen Esther? What is your request? It shall be given you, even [c]to the half of my kingdom.” [4][†]And Esther said, “If it please the king, let the king and Haman come today to a feast that I have prepared for the king.” [5]Then the king said, “Bring Haman quickly, so that we may do as Esther has asked.” So the king and Haman came to the feast that Esther had prepared. [6][d]And as they were drinking wine after the feast, the king said to Esther, [e]“What is your wish? It shall be granted you. And what is your request? [c]Even to the half of my kingdom, it shall be fulfilled.” [7]Then Esther answered, “My wish and my request is: [8][f]If I have found favor in the sight of the king, and if it please the king to grant my wish and fulfill my request, let the king and Haman come to [g]the feast that I will prepare for them, and tomorrow I will do as the king has said.”

Haman Plans to Hang Mordecai

[9][†]And Haman went out that day [h]joyful and glad of heart. But when Haman saw Mordecai [i]in the king’s gate, [j]that he neither rose nor trembled before him, he was filled with wrath against Mordecai. [10]Nevertheless, Haman restrained himself and went home, and he sent and brought his friends and [k]his wife Zeresh. [11]And Haman recounted to them the splendor of his riches, [l] the number of his sons, all the promotions with which [m] the king had honored him, and how he had advanced him above the officials and the servants of the king. 12Then Haman said, “Even Queen Esther let no one but me come with the king to the feast she prepared. And tomorrow also I am invited by her together with the king. 13Yet all this is worth nothing to me, so long as I see Mordecai the Jew sitting [i] at the king’s gate.” 14[†]Then [k] his wife Zeresh and all his friends said to him, [n] “Let a gallows [1] fifty cubits [2] high be made, and in the morning tell the king to have Mordecai hanged upon it. Then go joyfully with the king to the feast.” This idea pleased Haman, and he had the gallows made.

The King Honors Mordecai

ESTHER 6 [†]On that night the king could not sleep. And he gave orders to bring [o] the book of memorable deeds, the chronicles, and they were read before the king. 2And it was found written how [p] Mordecai had told about [q] Bigthana [1] and [r] Teresh, two of the king’s eunuchs, who guarded the threshold, and who had sought to lay hands on King Ahasuerus. 3And the king said, “What honor or distinction has been bestowed on Mordecai for this?” The king’s young men who attended him said, “Nothing has been done for him.” 4And the king said, “Who is in the court?” Now Haman had just entered [s] the outer court of the king’s palace to speak to the king about having Mordecai hanged on [t] the gallows [2] that he had prepared for him. 5[†]And the king’s young men told him, “Haman is there, standing in the court.” And the king said, “Let him come in.” 6[†]So Haman came in, and the king said to him, “What should be done to the man [u] whom the king delights to honor?” And Haman said to himself, “Whom would the king delight to honor more than me?” 7And Haman said to the king, “For the man whom the king delights to honor, 8let royal robes be brought, which the king has worn, [v] and the horse that the king has ridden, and on whose head [w] a royal crown [3] is set. 9And let the robes and the horse be handed over to one of the king’s most noble officials. Let them dress the man whom the king delights to honor, and let them lead him on the horse through the square of the city, [x] proclaiming before him: ‘Thus shall it be done to the man whom the king delights to honor.’” 10Then the king said to Haman, “Hurry; take the robes and the horse, as you have said, and do so to Mordecai the Jew, who sits [y] at the king’s gate. Leave out nothing that you have mentioned.” 11So Haman took the robes and the horse, and he dressed Mordecai and led him through the square of the city, proclaiming before him, “Thus shall it be done to the man whom the king delights to honor.”

12Then Mordecai returned to the king’s gate. But Haman hurried to his house, mourning [z] and with his head covered. 13[†]And Haman told [a] his wife Zeresh and all his friends everything that had happened to him. Then his wise men and his wife Zeresh said to him, “If Mordecai, before whom you have begun to fall, is of the Jewish people, you will not overcome him but will surely fall before him.”

Esther Reveals Haman’s Plot

14While they were yet talking with him, the king’s eunuchs arrived and hurried to bring Haman [b] to the feast that Esther had prepared.

ESTHER 7 So the king and Haman went in to feast with Queen Esther. 2[†]And on the second day, as they were drinking wine after the feast, the king again said to Esther, [c] “What is your wish, Queen Esther? It shall be granted you. And what is your request? [d] Even to the half of my kingdom, it shall be fulfilled.” 3Then Queen Esther answered, [e] “If I have found favor in your sight, O king, and if it please the king, let my life be granted me for my wish, and my people for my request. 4[†][f] For we have been sold, I and my people, [g] to be destroyed, to be killed, and to be annihilated. If we had been sold merely as slaves, men and women, I would have been silent, for our affliction is not to be compared with the loss to the king.” 5Then King Ahasuerus said to Queen Esther, “Who is he, and where is he, who has dared [1] to do this?” 6And Esther said, [h] “A foe and enemy! This wicked Haman!” Then Haman was terrified before the king and the queen.

Haman Is Hanged

7[†]And the king arose in his wrath from the wine-drinking and went into [i] the palace garden, but Haman stayed to beg for his life from Queen Esther, for he saw that harm was determined against him by the king. 8[†]And the king returned from [i] the palace garden to the place where they were drinking wine, as Haman was falling on [j] the couch where Esther was. And the king said, "Will he even assault the queen in my presence, in my own house?" As the word left the mouth of the king, they covered Haman's face. [9]Then [k] Harbona, one of the eunuchs in attendance on the king, said, "Moreover, [l] the gallows [2] that Haman has prepared for Mordecai, [m] whose word saved the king, is standing at Haman's house, fifty cubits [3] high." [10]And the king said, "Hang him on that." [n] So they hanged Haman on the gallows that he had prepared for Mordecai. [o] Then the wrath of the king abated.

Esther Saves the Jews

ESTHER 8 [†]On that day King Ahasuerus gave to Queen Esther the house of Haman, [h] the enemy of the Jews. And Mordecai came before the king, for Esther had told [p] what he was to her. [2] [q] And the king took off his signet ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gave it to Mordecai. And Esther set Mordecai over the house of Haman.

[3][†]Then Esther spoke again to the king. She fell at his feet and wept and pleaded with him to avert the evil plan of Haman [r] the Agagite and the plot that he had devised against the Jews. [4] [s] When the king held out the golden scepter to Esther, [5]Esther rose and stood before the king. And she said, "If it please the king, [t] and if I have found favor in his sight, and if the thing seems right before the king, and I am pleasing in his eyes, let an order be written to revoke [u] the letters devised by Haman [r] the Agagite, the son of Hammedatha, which he wrote to destroy the Jews who are in all the provinces of the king. [6]For how can I bear [v] to see the calamity that is coming to my people? Or how can I bear to see the destruction of my kindred?" [7]Then King Ahasuerus said to Queen Esther and to Mordecai the Jew, "Behold, [w] I have given Esther the house of Haman, and they have hanged him on the gallows, [1] because he intended to lay hands on the Jews. [8]But you may write as you please with regard to the Jews, in the name of the king, [x] and seal it with the king's ring, for an edict written in the name of the king and sealed with the king's ring [y] cannot be revoked."

[9][†] [z] The king's scribes were summoned at that time, in the third month, which is the month of Sivan, on the twenty-third day. And an edict was written, according to all that Mordecai commanded concerning the Jews, to [a] the satraps and the governors and the officials of the provinces [b] from India to Ethiopia, [b] 127 provinces, [c] to each province in its own script and to each people in its own language, and also to the Jews in their script and their language. 10 [d] And he wrote in the name of King Ahasuerus [e] and sealed it with the king's signet ring. Then he sent the letters by mounted couriers riding on [f] swift horses that were used in the king's service, bred from the royal stud, 11[†]saying that the king allowed the Jews who were in every city [g] to gather and defend their lives, [h] to destroy, to kill, and to annihilate any armed force of any people or province that might attack them, children and women included, [i] and to plunder their goods, 12[†][j] on one day throughout all the provinces of King Ahasuerus, on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is the month of Adar. 13 [k] A copy of what was written was to be issued as a decree in every province, being publicly displayed to all peoples, and the Jews were to be ready on that day to take vengeance on their enemies. 14So the couriers, mounted on their [f] swift horses that were used in the king's service, rode out hurriedly, urged by the king's command. And the decree was issued in Susa the citadel.

15[†]Then Mordecai went out from the presence of the king [l] in royal robes of blue and white, with a great golden crown [2] and [m] a robe of fine linen and purple, [n] and the city of Susa shouted and rejoiced. 16The Jews had [o] light and gladness and joy and honor. 17[†]And in every province and in every city, wherever the king's command and his edict reached, there was gladness and joy among the Jews, a feast and [p] a holiday. [q] And many from the peoples of the country declared themselves Jews, [r] for fear of the Jews had fallen on them.

The Jews Destroy Their Enemies

ESTHER 9 [†] [s] Now in the twelfth month, which is the month of Adar, [t] on the thirteenth day of the same, [u] when the king's command and edict were about to be carried out, [j] on the very day when the enemies of the Jews hoped to gain the mastery over them, the reverse occurred: the Jews gained mastery over those who hated them. 2 [v] The Jews gathered in their cities throughout all the provinces of King Ahasuerus to lay hands on those who sought their harm. And no one could stand against them, [w]for the fear of them had fallen on all peoples. [3]All the officials of the provinces and [x]the satraps and the governors and the royal agents also helped the Jews, for the fear of Mordecai had fallen on them. [4]For Mordecai was great in the king's house, and his fame spread throughout all the provinces, for the man Mordecai grew [y]more and more powerful. [5]The Jews struck all their enemies with the sword, killing and destroying them, and did as they pleased to those who hated them. [6]In Susa the citadel itself the Jews killed and destroyed 500 men, [7]and also killed Parshandatha and Dalphon and Aspatha [8]and Poratha and Adalia and Aridatha [9]and Parmashta and Arisai and Aridai and Vaizatha, [10][z]the ten sons of Haman the son of Hammedatha, [a]the enemy of the Jews, [b]but they laid no hand on the plunder.

[11][†]That very day the number of those killed in Susa the citadel was reported to the king. [12]And the king said to Queen Esther, "In Susa the citadel the Jews have killed and destroyed 500 men and also the ten sons of Haman. What then have they done in the rest of the king's provinces! [c]Now what is your wish? It shall be granted you. And what further is your request? It shall be fulfilled." [13]And Esther said, "If it please the king, let the Jews who are in Susa be allowed [d]tomorrow also to do according to this day's edict. And let the ten sons of Haman be hanged on the gallows."[1] [14]So the king commanded this to be done. A decree was issued in Susa, and the ten sons of Haman were hanged. [15]The Jews who were in Susa gathered also on the fourteenth day of the month of Adar and they killed 300 men in Susa, but they laid no hands on the plunder.

[16][†][e]Now the rest of the Jews who were in the king's provinces also [f]gathered to defend their lives, and got relief from their enemies and killed 75,000 of those who hated them, but they laid no hands on the plunder. [17]This was [g]on the thirteenth day of the month of Adar, and on the fourteenth day they rested and made that a day of feasting and gladness. [18]But the Jews who were in Susa gathered [g]on the thirteenth day and on the fourteenth, and rested [h]on the fifteenth day, making that a day of feasting and gladness. [19]Therefore the Jews of the villages, who live in [i]the rural towns, hold the fourteenth day of the month of Adar as a day for gladness and feasting, as [j] a holiday, and [k] as a day on which they send gifts of food to one another.

The Feast of Purim Inaugurated

20[†]And Mordecai recorded these things and sent letters to all the Jews who were in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus, both near and far, 21obliging them to keep the fourteenth day of the month Adar and also the fifteenth day of the same, year by year, 22as the days on which the Jews got relief from their enemies, and as the month that had been turned for them from sorrow into gladness and from mourning into [j] a holiday; that they should make them days of feasting and gladness, days for sending gifts of food to one another and gifts to the poor.

23[†]So the Jews accepted what they had started to do, and what Mordecai had written to them. 24For Haman the Agagite, the son of Hammedatha, [l] the enemy of all the Jews, [m] had plotted against the Jews to destroy them, and [n] had cast Pur (that is, cast lots), to crush and to destroy them. 25But when it came before the king, he gave orders in writing [o] that his evil plan that he had devised against the Jews [p] should return on his own head, and that he and his sons should be hanged on the gallows. [2] 26Therefore they called these days Purim, after the term [n] Pur. Therefore, because of all that was written in [q] this letter, and of what they had faced in this matter, and of what had happened to them, 27the Jews firmly obligated themselves and their offspring and [r] all who joined them, that without fail they would keep [s] these two days according to what was written and at the time appointed every year, 28that these days should be remembered and kept throughout every generation, in every clan, province, and city, and that these days of Purim should never fall into disuse among the Jews, nor should the commemoration of these days cease among their descendants.

29Then Queen Esther, [t] the daughter of Abihail, and Mordecai the Jew gave full written authority, confirming [u] this second letter about Purim. 30Letters were sent to all the Jews, [v] to the 127 provinces of the kingdom of Ahasuerus, in words of peace and truth, 31that these days of Purim should be observed at their appointed seasons, as Mordecai the Jew and Queen Esther obligated them, and as they had obligated themselves and their offspring, with regard to [w] their fasts and their lamenting. [32]The command of Queen Esther confirmed these practices of [x] Purim, and it was recorded in writing.

The Greatness of Mordecai

ESTHER 10 [†]King Ahasuerus imposed tax on the land and on [y] the coastlands of the sea. [2][†]And all the acts of his power and might, and the full account of the high honor of Mordecai, [z] to which the king advanced him, are they not written in [a] the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Media and Persia? [3][†]For Mordecai the Jew was [b] second in rank to King Ahasuerus, and he was great among the Jews and popular with the multitude of his brothers, for he [c] sought the welfare of his people and spoke peace to all his people.

Study Notes for Esther

ESTHER—NOTE ON 1:1–2:23 Introduction. The author sets the scene for the main action by describing Queen Vashti's downfall (1:1–22), her replacement by Esther (2:1–18), and how Mordecai prevented a plot against the king (2:19–23).

ESTHER—NOTE ON 1:1 Ahasuerus (Xerxes I) was king of Persia 486–464 B.C.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 1:2–3 Susa, in western Persia (now Shush, in southwestern Iran), was one of Persia's four capital cities (see Neh. 1:1; Dan. 8:2). Media. Northwestern Persia, near the Caspian Sea. Once a separate nation, it was conquered c. 550 B.C. by Cyrus the Great, who founded the Persian Empire.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 1:4–5 The 180 days were probably spent in festivities including lavish meals. The citadel probably refers to the fortified palace complex. The feast lasting for seven days probably completed the 180 days of festivities.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 1:6–9 no compulsion. King Ahasuerus set aside the custom that everyone had to drink whenever the king drank. A separate feast for the women was another departure from normal Persian practice (see v. 8; 5:5–6).

ESTHER—NOTE ON 1:10 eunuchs. Castrated men who, among other duties, served in the royal harem.

FACT

Persian drinking vessels. The Persians were famous for making elaborate, expensive drinking cups and vessels. In fact, no two were alike. When the Greeks crushed the Persian Empire, the Persian drinking vessels were among the most highly valued spoils.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 1:12 The author does not explain why Vashti refused to come. Even the queen was expected to obey the king absolutely.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 1:13–14 wise men. Official advisers to the king. the times. The most favorable times for particular actions (see 3:7). the seven princes. The inner circle of the king's advisers. Media. See note on 1:2–3.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 1:15–18 Memucan repeatedly uses the word all to warn the king of a breakdown of proper domestic order throughout society.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 1:19–20 The Persian king's laws, once written, may not be repealed (see Dan. 6:8). This could cause complications if the king changed his mind (see Est. 8:5–8; Dan. 6:14–18). Never again implies divorce and the end of her queenship.

FACT

Absolute authority. Once the king wrote a law, it could not be overturned (1:19–20). But it could be modified by an additional law (8:8–9:1).

ESTHER—NOTE ON 1:21–22 speak according to the language of his people. This command is probably intended to ensure that all family members everywhere understand the edict.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 2:1–4 The young men were probably the king's personal household servants (see 6:3). eunuch. See note on 1:10.

FACT

Who is King Ahasuerus? The Persian king Ahasuerus is also known as Xerxes I. It was his army that fought against the Greek Spartans in 480 B.C. at the Battle of Thermopylae.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 2:5 Mordecai was descended from King Saul. His great-grandfather, Kish, has the same name as Saul's father (1 Sam. 9:1–2).

ESTHER—NOTE ON 2:6 Jeconiah, also known as Jehoiachin (1 Chron. 3:16), was the second-to-last king of Judah. He was deported to Babylon in 597

B.C. (2 Kings 24:10–17), which would have been 114 years before the present events. Therefore who had been carried away from Jerusalem must refer to Mordecai’s ancestor Kish, rather than to Mordecai himself (Est. 2:5).

ESTHER—NOTE ON 2:7 Hadassah (“myrtle”) is the Hebrew name of Mordecai’s cousin. Esther (“star”) is her Persian name.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 2:8–9 It is unclear from the word taken whether Esther went willingly. Given the king’s order, she probably had no choice. The seven chosen young women were her personal maids.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 2:10–11 Mordecai’s instruction to Esther not to reveal her people or kindred is the first hint of the prejudice against the Jewish people that will be seen in ch. 3. See note on 3:15.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 2:12–15 myrrh. An expensive perfume obtained from trees native to Africa and southern Asia. Concubines, the king’s mistresses, were housed separately (in the second harem). They had a lower status than his wife or wives. Abihail is the uncle referred to in v. 7.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 2:16 Tebeth, in midwinter, was the tenth month of the Jewish calendar. The seventh year would have been four years after the events of ch. 1 (see 1:3; and chart).

Chronology in Esther

The events of Esther unfold over a period of 10 years.

Reference	Event	Month	Day	Year of Ahasuerus’s Reign	Year
1:3	Ahasuerus holds his banquets			3	483 B.C.
2:16	Esther goes to Ahasuerus	10		7	479
3:7	Haman casts his lots	1		12	474
3:12	Haman issues his decree	1	13	12	474
3:13	Date planned for annihilation of the Jews	12	13	13	473
8:9	Mordecai issues his decree	3	23	13	473
8:12; 9:1	Day upon which Jews could defend themselves from attack	12	13	13	473
9:6–10, 20–22	Ten sons of Haman executed; Feast of Purim celebrated	12	14, 15	13	473

ESTHER—NOTE ON 2:18 Esther’s feast honored her as the new queen (see 1:3, 5, 9). remission of taxes. A customary form of celebration. gifts with royal generosity. Probably food given to the poor, so that all could celebrate (see 9:22; Jer. 40:5).

ESTHER—NOTE ON 2:19–23 Mordecai happens to be in the right place at the right time to serve King Ahasuerus. This is one of many examples of God's hidden direction of events, though God is never actually mentioned in Esther (see Introduction: Key Themes).

ESTHER—NOTE ON 2:19–21 the second time. Possibly a second gathering of all the virgins (see v. 2) to complete the celebration of Esther's coronation. the king's gate. Where the king's officials dispensed justice (2 Sam. 15:2–6; see Ruth 4:1–11). Mordecai was sitting. Probably as an official, because of Esther's new influence with the king. the threshold. The door to the king's private rooms.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 3:1–9:19 Main Action. The plot to destroy the Jews (3:1–15) is foiled by the courageous actions of Esther and Mordecai (4:1–8:17), resulting in a complete victory for the Jews (9:1–19).

ESTHER—NOTE ON 3:1 the Agagite. A descendant of Agag, king of the Amalekites, one of Israel's ancient enemies (Ex. 17:8–16). Agag was defeated by King Saul and killed by the prophet Samuel (1 Sam. 15:1–33).

ESTHER—NOTE ON 3:2–4 bowed down and paid homage. Bowing was the normal way of paying respect to Persian royalty. It was not an act of worship (see Gen. 23:7; 1 Kings 1:16). Mordecai did not bow, because "he was a Jew." The text does not give any more reason. he had told them that he was a Jew. Mordecai did the very thing he had told Esther not to do (Est. 2:10, 20).

ESTHER—NOTE ON 3:5–6 Haman . . . disdained to lay hands on Mordecai alone. Haman hated the Jews and set out to destroy them all. the whole kingdom of Ahasuerus. This included Jerusalem and the surrounding area, with its mainly Jewish population (see 1:1; Neh. 1:1–3).

ESTHER—NOTE ON 3:7 Nisan. The first month of the Jewish religious calendar, which began in spring with the Passover (Ex. 12:1–2). the twelfth year. See Est. 2:16; Haman has been waiting for five years to carry out his plot. Pur (plural “purim”; see 9:26). The Persian word for “lot.” cast lots. A traditional way of seeking divine guidance (Josh. 18:6; Prov. 16:33).

ESTHER—NOTE ON 3:8 they do not keep the king’s laws. A reference to Mordecai’s refusal to bow (v. 2), implying that all Jews behave similarly. not to the king’s profit. A clever tactic by Haman. The remission of taxes (2:18) and Ahasuerus’s unsuccessful war with Greece in 480 B.C. may have left the royal treasury low on funds.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 3:9 10,000 talents of silver. About 12 million ounces (750,000 pounds).

ESTHER—NOTE ON 3:10–11 signet ring. A ring used to seal official documents (Jer. 22:24). Haman is empowered to act with royal authority. The money is given to you. Ahasuerus authorizes Haman to use as much of the 10,000 talents of silver as he needs to carry out his plot against the Jews.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 3:12–13 the first month. Presumably of the following (13th) year of Ahasuerus’s reign (see v. 7). the twelfth month. Because the empire was so large, it took almost 12 months to notify those responsible for carrying out the edict against the Jews.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 3:15 sat down to drink. Haman and the king callously celebrate the forthcoming massacre. but . . . Susa was thrown into confusion. This shows that many of Susa’s citizens did not share Haman’s intense hatred of the Jews.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 4:1–4 sackcloth and ashes . . . fasting and weeping. Traditional ways of expressing grief in the ancient Near East, including Israel. Such behavior was banned in the king’s gate (see note on 2:19–21). garments to clothe Mordecai. Because of the ban of 4:2, Esther probably feared for Mordecai’s safety.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 4:11 one law. The law in this matter was absolute, without any qualifications or exceptions. not been called . . . these thirty days. The king’s love for Esther may have begun to wane, making her task even more difficult (see 2:14, 17).

ESTHER—NOTE ON 4:14 deliverance will rise . . . from another place. Mordecai is confident that God will somehow rescue his people. your father's house. The family of Esther's father. Since Mordecai is sure the Jews will be delivered, his statement that Esther and her family will perish presumably means God will punish them for Esther's refusal to act. for such a time as this. Another hint of Mordecai's belief in God's providence.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 4:16 hold a fast. Not an outpouring of grief as in v. 3, but an effort to increase Esther's chances of success, through earnest prayer. This is the strongest indication yet of Esther's and Mordecai's faith in God (see Ezra 9:5; Neh. 1:4). if I perish, I perish. Esther realizes that God cannot be manipulated, even by fasting (see Dan. 3:17–18).

ESTHER—NOTE ON 5:1–2 At the end of the third day of fasting (4:16), Esther stands in the inner court, where Ahasuerus can see her, and risks her life by waiting for him to either reject or receive her. the golden scepter. A staff or rod; see 4:11.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 5:3 even . . . half of my kingdom. Esther rightly understands this as a traditional, grand gesture rather than one to be taken seriously (see Mark 6:23).

ESTHER—NOTE ON 5:4–8 the feast that I will prepare. Another feast, on the following day. Esther puts Haman further off guard, and makes sure the king is in the best possible mood, before making her request.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 5:9–13 joyful . . . filled with wrath. Haman is elated at how he has been treated by the king and queen, but he is again angry that Mordecai refuses to bow to him.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 5:14 There was a gallows in 2:23 but this is different one, built especially for hanging Mordecai. Its enormous height (75 feet/23 m) is probably intended to make a public spectacle of Mordecai. tell the king. Zeresh assumes that Haman's influence is now so great that he can virtually order the king to hang Mordecai.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 6:1 that night the king could not sleep. The perfect timing of the king's insomnia strongly suggests that God in his providence is guiding the circumstances and events, rather than their being mere coincidence or chance (compare Dan. 6:18). the book of memorable deeds, the chronicles. A record of significant events in the king's reign (see Est. 2:23; compare 1 Kings 14:29).

FACT

The invisible God. The book of Esther does not directly mention God, but his providential hand was clearly at work, as remains the case today all around the world.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 6:5 Haman is there. Haman now waits as Esther had done in 5:1. Again, the timing is perfect. Even though the text does not say so, God is invisibly at work.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 6:6–11 What should be done to the man . . . the king delights to honor? Neither Ahasuerus nor Haman is aware of the irony in the question. Haman's response shows both the extent of his vanity and his total unawareness of the trap he is walking into: do so to Mordecai the Jew.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 6:13 If Mordecai . . . is of the Jewish people, you . . . will surely fall before him. Even Haman's wife and advisers sense that an irresistible power or person protects the Jewish people.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 7:2 Even . . . half of my kingdom. See note on 5:3.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 7:4 I and my people. Esther reveals that she is a Jew and that Ahasuerus has been tricked into ordering the death of the queen he loves. we have been sold. Haman had "bought" the king's agreement to his plan (3:9). our affliction is not to be compared with the loss to the king. With this exaggerated comparison, Esther, like Haman, appeals to the king's self-interest: If he were to make the Jews his slaves, he would at least have their free labor. By killing them, he will lose a valuable asset.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 7:7 the palace garden. See 1:5. Ahasuerus withdraws briefly to compose himself.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 7:8 falling on the couch. Haman was probably kneeling, perhaps with his hands or arms on the couch, probably seeking mercy from Esther. But the king takes Haman's move as an assault on Esther. they covered Haman's face. Covering the head of a condemned prisoner is a well-known custom.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 8:1–2 Ahasuerus gave . . . Esther the house of Haman. The property of condemned criminals was forfeited to the crown. his signet ring. See note on 3:10–11.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 8:3–8 Haman was dead, but the decree he had issued with the king's authority was still in force, for an edict . . . cannot be revoked (v. 8; compare Dan. 6:8). The way to counter the edict was to issue another one that made it difficult or impossible to carry out the first one.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 8:9 Sivan. The third month of the Jewish religious calendar, in late spring.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 8:11 any armed force. The Jews are permitted to defend themselves only by destroying armed enemies who attack them, including any children and women who participate in the attack.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 8:12 the thirteenth day of . . . Adar. See 3:13.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 8:15–16 Susa . . . rejoiced (see 3:15). Further evidence that many of the Persian people did not share Haman's hatred toward the Jews. The Jews had . . . honor. Probably because people saw that the king himself now favored them.

FACT

Delivering the mail in Persia. The Persian Empire may have had the world's first postal service. Carriers rode on horseback to various stations throughout the empire, where they would deliver messages to other waiting carriers (8:14).

ESTHER—NOTE ON 8:17 many . . . declared themselves Jews. That is, they tried to pass themselves off as Jews. fear of the Jews. Because of the power now exercised by Mordecai (v. 15; 9:3–4).

ESTHER—NOTE ON 9:1–10 The Jews . . . did as they pleased (v. 5). They took full advantage of the opportunity to defeat their attackers, as they were allowed to do (see notes on 8:11; 9:11–15). laid no hand on the plunder (also in vv. 15–16). They had been given permission to take the property of those whom they conquered (8:11), but they did only what was necessary to defend themselves.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 9:11–15 tomorrow also. Probably because there were still armed men in Susa committed to carrying out the first edict. the ten sons of Haman were hanged. In keeping with Persian royal practice, the king wipes out the conspirator's family publicly, to prevent further trouble.

MORDECAI

Mordecai was a Jew living in exile in Persia. When Mordecai's cousin Esther became an orphan he took her as his own child. Eventually Esther became queen, and Mordecai became a royal official. One day, while serving King Ahasuerus, Mordecai discovered and reported a plot to kill the king, thus saving the king's life. Later, when Mordecai refused to bow down to Haman, who was second in command to the king, Haman persuaded the king to call for the death of all Jews. With the help of Queen Esther, Mordecai saved the Jews of Persia from this death sentence. Haman was hanged on the gallows he had prepared for Mordecai, and Mordecai replaced Haman as second in command to the king. (Esther 9:4)

ESTHER—NOTE ON 9:16–19 Two different dates arose for celebrating the deliverance of the Jews. In rural areas the fighting was completed on the thirteenth day of Adar, so they celebrated on the fourteenth. But in Susa it did not finish until the fourteenth, so they celebrated on the fifteenth. The celebration was still occurring on this date when Esther was written (v. 19).

ESTHER—NOTE ON 9:20–10:3 Conclusion. At the high point of the story, the tables are completely turned and the enemies of the Jews get what they deserve.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 9:20–21 fourteenth . . . also the fifteenth. (see note on vv. 16–19).

ESTHER—NOTE ON 9:23–32 Purim. The Hebrew plural of Pur (see note on 3:7). Jews still keep the Feast of Purim today. This second letter suggests that the differences between rural and urban Jews (9:9–16) had persisted to some extent in spite of the first letter (vv. 20–22). Both letters were distributed in the form of many letters, carried by many messengers but with the same basic content.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 10:1 imposed tax. Reversing the (temporary) remission of 2:18. If the coastlands of the sea are remote parts of Ahasuerus's empire (bordering the eastern Mediterranean), taxing them shows the impressive extent of his power (1:1; 10:2).

FACT

How is the festival of Purim related to Esther? Today, the Jewish festival of Purim celebrates the Jews' deliverance from Haman's plot to kill them. His plot involved casting lots ("purim") to gain the guidance of idols.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 10:2 the Chronicles. See note on 6:1. Media and Persia. See note on 1:2–3.

ESTHER—NOTE ON 10:3 second in rank to King Ahasuerus. Similar to Joseph (see Gen. 41:40). brothers. Fellow Jews.

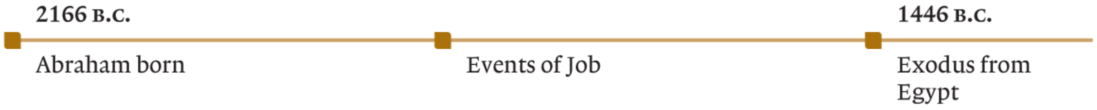
Introduction to Job

Introduction to Job

Timeline



Author and Date

The unknown Israelite author of this book presents Job as a person living in Uz (see note on 1:1). Job's godliness (1:1) matches the ideals of Israelite wisdom literature. He clearly knows Yahweh (1:21). The events of the book seem to be set in the times of the patriarchs (Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob).

Theological Themes

The book of Job concerns itself with the question of faith in a sovereign God. Can God be trusted? Is he good and just in his rule of the world? The book shows that the reasons for human suffering often remain a secret to human beings.

In the book of Job, God seems both too close and too far away. On the one hand, Job complains that God is watching him every moment so that he cannot even swallow his spit (7:19). On the other hand, Job finds God elusive (9:11). Though God is greatly concerned about humans, he does not always answer their most agonizing questions.

At the same time, Job's friends offer no real help. They come to "comfort" him (2:11), but Job ends up declaring them "miserable comforters" who would console him "with empty nothings" (21:34). These friends represent an oversimplified view of faith. They think that all human troubles are divine punishments for wrongdoing. Their "comfort" consists largely of urging Job to identify his sin and repent of it. These friends are negative examples of how to comfort those who are suffering.

The book illustrates that one does not need to fully understand God's will in order to be faithful while suffering. Those who suffer need not be afraid to express to God their confusion and questions.

Purpose

The book of Job was written to those who struggle with the question of how God can be good when the world is filled with suffering.

The author does not provide a formal defense of God's justice. Rather, as Job's friends offer their inadequate answers, the author shows how their reasoning fails. Then, in chs. 38–41, the Lord speaks in his own defense, bringing Job to fuller understanding (ch. 42).

Even during his suffering and confusion, before God finally speaks, Job can triumphantly declare, "I know that my Redeemer lives" (19:25).

The Global Message of Job

Universal Questions

With its story of one man's life and suffering, the book of Job raises universal questions. Why do people suffer, especially godly people? Where is God in suffering? Can God be trusted amid suffering? Job's friends try to answer such questions with superficial and simplistic solutions, eventually earning God's rebuke (Job 42:7–9).

Ultimately we learn from Job that we can hope steadfastly in our sovereign God. Instead of providing easy answers to hard questions, this incomparably glorious, all-knowing, and almighty God presents to people in all places and in all times the simplest, most powerful, and most universal answer to these questions. God's answer to human suffering has everything to do with his own infinite goodness and care for his creation.

Suffering in a Fallen World

In the life of Job we see the breadth and depth of human suffering. We see suffering in health (Job 2:7), suffering in the loss of property (1:14–17), and suffering in the tragic death of family members (1:18–19). In Job we also listen in on a discussion in the heavenly courtroom between God and Satan (1:6–12; 2:1–7), in which God delights in the upright life of Job. There we are given a window into the normally invisible reasons for our trials and suffering.

Sin and suffering. Suffering is universal, though the kind of suffering differs from circumstance to circumstance. Sometimes we suffer because of our own sin. There is no such thing as sin without consequences. Sometimes God himself directly chastises his people for their sins. However, Job's friends are wrong to assume that his suffering is a direct result of disobedience (Job 8:4), and it would likewise be wrong to conclude that all or even most suffering in the world today is divine punishment for specific sins. The speeches of Eliphaz (chs. 4; 5; 15; 22), Bildad (chs. 8; 18; 25), and Zophar (chs. 11; 20) reflect such wrong assumptions.

Common suffering. Another type of suffering is what we might call "common suffering." This is suffering that affects all people without distinction. It is simply the result of living in a fallen world. It includes health problems from colds to cancer. It includes bad weather, earthquakes, and typhoons. It includes financial struggles, and even death itself. Each tragic incident in Job's life includes an element of this common suffering.

Godliness and suffering. Not only are godly people afflicted with suffering just as others are, but the godly experience some kinds of suffering due specifically to their godliness (Matt. 10:24–33; Acts 14:22; 2 Tim. 3:12). Faithfulness to Christ will bring insult and at times persecution—suffering that could be avoided if we were not disciples of Christ. We see this principle in Job, for it was precisely Job's uprightness that prompted God to single him out to Satan and then led Satan to seek to afflict him (Job 1:8–12).

Devastating suffering. Job's suffering is uniquely profound and painful. Some suffering, we learn, defies any category. We discover in Job that Satan has a hand in some of the suffering of God's people (Job 1:6–12; 2:1–7; compare 2 Cor. 12:1–10). But even such demonically instigated suffering is not outside of God's sovereignty. Nor should our focus be on Satan when we suffer but rather on persisting in steadfast faith amid such God-ordained pain. At the very least a lesson to be learned from Job is that our vision and insight into suffering is severely limited. What is not limited, however, is God's perfect understanding and sovereign control over every event in our lives. In the "Yahweh speeches" of Job (chs. 38–41), God does not engage Job in the details of his questions and complaints. Rather, God reminds Job that God is God and Job is not. God laid the foundation of the earth (38:4); he is God over the seas (38:8, 16), over the stars (38:31–33), and over every creature (39:1–30; 40:15–41:34).

A Global Message of Comfort and Hope

The almighty, all-good God. Despite its focus on challenges and sufferings, the book of Job speaks a message of great hope to the world. We live in a world longing for comfort and hope, and such hope is found in the sovereign God who sees, who is good, and who is faithful. We are not victims of random fate or uncontrolled circumstances. We are loved faithfully and passionately by a sovereign God who works all things for our good (Rom. 8:28). The suffering global church can take comfort amid suffering, knowing that God is pleased with our faithfulness to him, even as God expressed delight in “my servant Job” (Job 1:6–8; 2:3). James 5:11 reminds us that God will fulfill his good purposes and is indeed compassionate and merciful toward his people.

No neat formulas. Living an upright life of faith in God does not exempt us from suffering. This was the fundamental misunderstanding of Job’s friends (Job 8:6) and the reason that their “comfort” was so “miserable” (16:2). Indeed, in Job and in all of Scripture we see that suffering is a part of the experience of godly people, and that suffering is also a means for our sanctification. Suffering is a blessing as through it we learn that God’s ways and purposes are much greater than we can know (chs. 40–41). His purposes and faithfulness are much greater than the achievement of ease and a comfortable life; the global church must not make an idol out of worldly comfort and earthly abundance.

The sufferings of the Savior. Job confessed faith in the living Redeemer (Job 19:25). That Redeemer would one day come and suffer for us on a cross. Here we have yet another kind of suffering, the atoning sufferings of Christ. He suffered for our salvation, bearing the penalty for our sin. It is also our great privilege to share in his suffering (2 Cor. 1:5; 2 Tim. 1:8; 2:3; 1 Pet. 4:13). These are not the sufferings of health problems or bad weather or the consequences of our own folly. These are sufferings that flow from our union with and loyalty to Christ. There is a global attack on the righteous, but God will continue to provide sufficient grace to his people (2 Cor. 12:9).He will grow both his people and his kingdom through such suffering as it is endured in faith.

Our Intercession and Mission of Hope

Though God’s righteous anger burned against the three friends of Job, their folly was forgiven in response to the righteous intervention of Job’s prayers (Job 42:7–9). What then is the Christian response to those who suffer—and to those who cause suffering?

We are to intercede for the world, both in prayer and in life. We are to “comfort those who are in any affliction, with the comfort with which we ourselves are comforted by God” (2 Cor. 1:4). This comfort must find expression in our ministry and service to those in need both where we live as well as around the world—to orphans, widows, and all those who suffer.

This comfort is most gloriously and eternally known as the church ministers the gospel of new hope in Christ to the world—to the lost, to the downtrodden, and even to our enemies (Matt. 5:44). For the greatest suffering in this world is not the loss of property or even family; it is to be lost in sin, without the living Redeemer.

Job’s Character and Wealth

JOB 1 [†]There was a man in the land of [a]Uz whose name was [b]Job, and that man was [c]blameless and upright, one who [d]feared God and [e]turned away from evil. [2][†]There were born to him [f]seven sons and three daughters. [3]He possessed 7,000 sheep, 3,000 camels, 500 yoke of oxen, and 500 female donkeys, and very many servants, so that this man was the greatest of all [g]the people of the east. [4]His sons used to go and hold a feast in the house of each one on his day, and they would send and invite their three sisters to eat and drink with them. [5][†]And when the days of the feast had run their course, Job would send and [h]consecrate them, and he would rise early in the morning and [i]offer burnt offerings according to the number of them all. For Job said, “It may be that my children have sinned, and [j]cursed [1] God in their hearts.” Thus Job did continually.

Satan Allowed to Test Job

[6][†]Now there was a day when [k]the sons of God came to present themselves before the LORD, and [l]Satan [2] also came among them. [7]The LORD said to Satan, “From where have you come?” Satan answered the LORD and said, “From [m]going to and fro on the earth, and from walking up and down on it.” [8]And the LORD said to Satan, “Have you [n]considered my [o]servant Job, that there is none like him on the earth, [p]a blameless and upright man, who fears God and turns away from evil?” [9]Then Satan answered the LORD and said, “Does Job fear God for no reason? [10]Have you not put [q]a hedge around him and his house and all that he has, on every side? You have [r]blessed the work of his hands, and his possessions have increased in the land. [11]But [s]stretch out your hand and [t]touch all that he has, and he will [u]curse you [v]to your face.” [12][†]And the LORD said to Satan, “Behold, all that he has is in your hand. Only against him do not stretch out your hand.” So Satan went out from the presence of the LORD.

Satan Takes Job’s Property and Children

[13][†]Now there was a day when his sons and daughters were eating and drinking wine in their oldest brother’s house, [14]and there came a messenger to Job and said, “The oxen were plowing and the donkeys feeding beside them, [15]and [w]the Sabeans fell upon them and took them and struck down the servants [3] with the edge of the sword, and I alone have escaped to tell you.” [16]While he was yet speaking, there came another and said, [x]“The fire of God fell from heaven and burned up the sheep and the servants and consumed them, and I alone have escaped to tell you.” [17]While he was yet speaking, there came another and said, [y]“The Chaldeans formed [z]three groups and made a raid on the camels and took them and struck down the servants with the edge of the sword, and I alone have escaped to tell you.” [18]While he was yet speaking, there came another and said, [a]“Your sons and daughters were eating and drinking wine in their oldest brother’s house, [19]and behold, a great wind came across [b]the wilderness and struck the four corners of the house, and it fell upon the young people, and they are dead, and I alone have escaped to tell you.”

[20][†]Then Job arose and [c]tore his [d]robe and [e]shaved his head [f]and fell on the ground and worshiped. [21][†]And he said, [g]“Naked I came from my mother’s womb, and naked shall I [h]return. The LORD [i]gave, and the LORD has taken away; [j]blessed be the name of the LORD.”

[22][k]In all this Job did not sin or charge God with [l]wrong.

Satan Attacks Job’s Health

JOB 2 [†]Again [m]there was a day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the LORD, and Satan also came among them to present himself before the LORD. [2]And the LORD said to Satan, “From where have you come?” Satan answered the LORD and said, “From going to and fro on the earth, and from walking up and down on it.” [3][†]And the LORD said to Satan, “Have you considered my servant Job, that there is none like him on the earth, a blameless and upright man, who fears God and turns away from evil? He still [n]holds fast his integrity, although you incited me against him to destroy him [o]without reason.” [4][†]Then Satan answered the LORD and said, “Skin for skin! All that a man has he will give for his life. [5]But

[p] stretch out your hand and touch his bone and his flesh, and he will [q] curse you to your face.” [6][†]And the Lord said to Satan, “Behold, he is in your hand; only spare his life.”

[7]So Satan went out from the presence of the Lord and struck Job with loathsome [r] sores from [s] the sole of his foot to the crown of his head. [8]And he took [t] a piece of broken pottery with which to scrape himself while he sat in [u] the ashes.

[9][†]Then his wife said to him, “Do you still [v] hold fast your integrity? [q] Curse God and die.” [10][†]But he said to her, “You speak as one of the [w] foolish women would speak. [x] Shall we receive good from God, and shall we not receive evil?” [1] [y] In all this Job did not [z] sin with his lips.

Job’s Three Friends

[11][†]Now when Job’s three [a] friends heard of all this evil that had come upon him, they came each from his own place, Eliphaz [b] the Temanite, Bildad [c] the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite. They made an appointment together to come to [d] show him sympathy and comfort him. [12][†]And when they saw him from a distance, they did not recognize him. And they raised their voices and wept, and they [e] tore their robes and sprinkled [f] dust on their heads toward heaven. [13][†]And they sat with him on the ground [g] seven days and seven nights, and no one spoke a word to him, for they saw that his suffering was very great.

Job Laments His Birth

JOB 3 [†]After this Job [h] opened his mouth and cursed the day of his birth. [2]And Job said:

[3][†] [i] “Let the day perish on which I was born,
and the night that said,
‘A man is conceived.’
[4] Let that day be darkness!
May God above not seek it,
nor light shine upon it.

[5] Let gloom and [j] deep darkness claim it.
Let clouds dwell upon it;
let the blackness of the day terrify it.
[6] That night—let thick darkness seize it!
Let it not rejoice among the days of the year;
let it not come into the number of the months.
[7] Behold, let that night be barren;
let no joyful cry enter it.
[8][†] Let those curse it who curse the day,
who are ready to rouse up [k] Leviathan.
[9] Let the stars of its dawn be dark;
let it hope for light, but have none,
nor see [l] the eyelids of the morning, [10] because it did not shut the doors of my mother’s womb, nor hide trouble from my eyes.

[11] “Why [m] did I not die at birth, come out from the womb and expire?
[12] Why did [n] the knees receive me?
Or why the breasts, that I should nurse?
[13][†] For then I would have lain down and been quiet;
I would have slept; then I would have been at rest, [14] with kings and counselors of the earth who [o] rebuilt ruins for themselves, [15] or with princes who had gold, who filled their houses with silver.
[16] Or why was I not as a hidden [p] stillborn child, as infants who never see the light?
[17] There the wicked cease from troubling,
and there the weary are at [q] rest.
[18] There the prisoners are at ease together;
they hear not the voice of [r] the taskmaster.
[19] The small and the great are there,
and the slave is free from his master.

[20][†] “Why is light given to him who is in misery,
and life to [s]the bitter in soul, [21] who [t]long for death, but it comes not,
and dig for it more than for [u]hidden treasures, [22] who rejoice exceedingly and are glad when they find the grave?
[23][†] Why is light given to a man whose [v]way is hidden, whom God has [w]hedged in?
[24] For my sighing comes [x]instead of[1] my bread, and my [y]groanings are poured out like water.
[25] [z]For the thing that I fear comes upon me,
and what I dread befalls me.
[26] I am not at ease, nor am I quiet;
I have no rest, but trouble comes.”

Eliphaz Speaks: The Innocent Prosper

JOB 4 [†]Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said:

[2] “If one ventures a word with you, will you be impatient?
Yet who can keep from speaking?
[3] Behold, you have instructed many,
and you have [a]strengthened the weak hands.
[4] Your words have upheld him who was stumbling, and you have [a]made firm the feeble knees.
[5] But now it has come to you, and you are impatient;
it touches you, and you are dismayed.
[6] [b]Is not your fear of God[1] your [c]confidence, and the integrity of your ways your hope?

[7] “Remember: [d]who that was innocent ever perished?
Or where were the upright cut off?
[8][†] As I have seen, those who [e]plow iniquity and sow trouble reap the same.
[9] By [f]the breath of God they perish, and by [g] the blast of his anger they are consumed.

10 The roar of the lion, the voice of the fierce lion,
[h] the teeth of the young lions are broken.
11 The strong lion perishes for lack of prey,
and the cubs of the lioness are scattered.

12[†] “Now a word was brought to me stealthily;
my ear received [i] the whisper of it.
13 Amid [j] thoughts from [k] visions of the night,
when [k] deep sleep falls on men, 14 dread came upon me, and trembling, which made all my bones shake.
15 A spirit glided past my face;
the hair of my flesh stood up.
16 It stood still,
but I could not discern its appearance.
[l] A form was before my eyes;
there was silence, then I heard [m] a voice:
17 [n] ‘Can mortal man be in the right before [2] God?
Can a man be pure before his Maker?
18 Even in his servants [o] he puts no trust,
and his angels he charges with error;
19 how much more those who dwell in houses of [p] clay, whose foundation is in [q] the dust,
who are crushed like [r] the moth.
20 Between [s] morning and evening they are beaten to pieces;
they perish forever [t] without anyone regarding it.
21 Is not their tent-cord plucked up within them,
[u] do they not die, and that without wisdom?’

JOB 5 [†] “Call now; is there anyone who will answer you?
To which of [v] the holy ones will you turn?
2 Surely vexation kills the fool,
and jealousy slays the simple.

3 [w] I have seen the fool taking root,
but suddenly I cursed his dwelling.
4 His children are [x] far from safety;
they are crushed in [y] the gate,
and there is no one to deliver them.
5 The hungry eat his harvest, and he takes it even out of thorns, [1]
and the thirsty pant [2] after his [3] wealth.
6[†] For affliction does not come from the dust,
nor does trouble sprout from the ground, 7 but man is [z] born to trouble
as the sparks fly upward.

8 “As for me, I would seek God,
and to God would I commit my cause,
9 who [a] does great things and [b] unsearchable,
[c] marvelous things without number:
10 he gives [d] rain on the earth and sends waters on the fields; 11 he [e] sets on high those who are lowly,
and those who mourn are lifted to safety.
12 He [f] frustrates the devices of the crafty,
so that their hands achieve no success.
13 He [g] catches the wise in their own craftiness, and the schemes of the wily are brought to a quick end.
14 They meet with darkness in the daytime and [h] grope at noonday as in the night.
15 But he [i] saves the needy from the sword of their mouth and from the hand of the mighty.
16[†] So the poor have hope,
and [j] injustice shuts her mouth.

17 “Behold, [k] blessed is the one whom God reproves;
therefore [l] despise not the discipline of the [m] Almighty.
18 For he wounds, but he [n] binds up;

he [o] shatters, but his hands heal.
19[†] He will [p] deliver you from six troubles;
in seven no [q] evil [4] shall touch you.
20 [r] In famine he will redeem you from death,
and in war from the power of the sword.
21 You shall be [s] hidden from the lash of the tongue, and shall not fear destruction when it comes.
22 At destruction and famine you shall laugh,
and shall not fear [t] the beasts of the earth.
23 For you shall be in league with the stones of the field, and the beasts of the field shall be at peace with you.
24 You shall know that your [u] tent is at peace,
and you shall inspect your fold and miss nothing.
25 You shall know also that your [v] offspring shall be many,
and your descendants as [w] the grass of the earth.
26 You shall come to your grave in [x] ripe old age, like a sheaf gathered up in its season.
27 Behold, this we have [y] searched out; it is true.
Hear, and know it for your good.” [5]

Job Replies: My Complaint Is Just

JOB 6 [†]Then Job answered and said:

2 “Oh that my vexation were weighed,
and all my calamity laid in the balances!
3 For then it would be heavier than [z] the sand of the sea;
therefore my words have been rash.
4 For [a] the arrows of the Almighty are in me;
my spirit drinks their poison;
the terrors of God are arrayed against me.
5 Does the wild donkey bray when he has grass, or the ox low over his fodder?
6 Can that which is tasteless be eaten without salt, or is there any taste in the juice of the mallow? [1]

7 My appetite refuses to touch them;
they are as food that is loathsome to me. [2]

8[†] “Oh that I might have my request, and that God would fulfill my hope, 9 that it would [b]please God to crush me,
that he would let loose his hand and cut me off!
10 This would be my comfort;
I would even exult [3] in pain [c]unsparing, for I have not denied the words of [d]the Holy One.
11 What is my strength, that I should wait?
And what is my end, that I should be patient?
12 Is my strength the strength of stones, or is my flesh bronze?
13 Have I any help in me,
when resource is driven from me?

14[†] “He who [e]withholds [4] kindness from a [f]friend
forsakes the fear of the Almighty.
15[†] My [g]brothers are [h]treacherous as a torrent-bed, as torrential [i]streams that pass away, 16 which are dark with ice,
and where the snow hides itself.
17 When they melt, they disappear;
when it is hot, they vanish from their place.
18 The caravans turn aside from their course;
they go up into [j]the waste and perish.
19 The caravans of [k]Tema look,
the travelers of [l]Sheba hope.
20 They are [m]ashamed because they were confident;
they come there and are [m]disappointed.
21 For you have now become nothing;
you see my calamity and are afraid.
22 Have I said, ‘Make me a gift’?
Or, ‘From your wealth offer a bribe for me’?
23 Or, ‘Deliver me from the adversary’s hand’?

Or, ‘Redeem me from the hand of [n] the ruthless’?

24 “Teach me, and I will be silent;
make me understand how I have gone astray.
25[†] How forceful are upright words!
But what does reproof from you reprove?
26 Do you think that you can reprove words,
when the speech of a despairing man is [o] wind?
27 You would even [p] cast lots over the fatherless, and bargain over your friend.

28[†] “But now, be pleased to look at me,
for I will not lie to your face.
29 [q] Please turn; let no injustice be done.
Turn now; my vindication is at stake.
30 Is there any injustice on my tongue?
Cannot my palate discern the cause of calamity?

Job Continues: My Life Has No Hope

JOB 7 “Has not man [r] a hard service on earth, and are not his [s] days like the days of a hired hand?
2 Like a slave who longs for [t] the shadow, and like [u] a hired hand who looks for his [v] wages,
3 so I am allotted months of [w] emptiness,
[x] and nights of misery are apportioned to me.
4 [y] When I lie down I say, ‘When shall I arise?’
But the night is long,
and I am full of tossing till the dawn.
5 My flesh is clothed with [z] worms and [a] dirt;
my skin hardens, then [b] breaks out afresh.
6 My days are [c] swifter than [d] a weaver’s shuttle and come to their end without hope.

7 “Remember that my life is a [e] breath;

my eye will never again see good.
8 [f] The eye of him who sees me will behold me no more;
while your eyes are on me, [g] I shall be gone.
9 As [h] the cloud fades and vanishes,
so he who [i] goes down to Sheol does not come up; 10 he [j] returns no more to his house,
nor does his [k] place know him anymore.

11[†] “Therefore I will not [l] restrain my mouth;
I will speak in the anguish of my spirit;
I will [m] complain in [n] the bitterness of my soul.
12[†] Am I the sea, or [o] a sea monster, that you set a guard over me?
13 [p] When I say, ‘My bed will comfort me, my couch will ease my complaint,’ 14 then you scare me with dreams and terrify me with visions, 15 so that I would choose strangling and death rather than my [q] bones.
16[†] I [r] loathe my life; I would not live forever.
[s] Leave me alone, for my days are [t] a breath.
17[†] [u] What is man, that you make so much of him,
and that you set your heart on him, 18 [v] visit him every morning and [w] test him every moment?
19 How long will you not [x] look away from me,
nor leave me alone till I swallow my spit?
20 If I sin, what do I do to you, you watcher of mankind?
Why have you made me [y] your mark?
Why have I become a burden to you?
21 Why do you not pardon my transgression and take away my iniquity?
For now I shall lie in [z] the earth;
you will [a] seek me, [b] but I shall not be.”

Bildad Speaks: Job Should Repent

JOB 8 [†]Then [c]Bildad the Shuhite answered and said:

[2] “How long will you say these things, and the words of your mouth be a [d]great wind?
[3] [e]Does God pervert justice?
Or does the Almighty pervert the right?
[4][†] If your [f]children have sinned against him,
he has delivered them into the hand of their transgression.
[5] If you will seek God and [g]plead with the Almighty for mercy, [6] if you are pure and upright, surely then he will [h]rouse himself for you and [i]restore your rightful habitation.
[7] And though your beginning was small,
[j]your latter days will be very great.

[8][†] “For [k]inquire, please, of bygone ages,
and consider what [l]the fathers have searched out.
[9] For we are but of yesterday and know nothing, for our days on earth are [m]a shadow.
[10] Will they not teach you and tell you and utter words out of their understanding?

[11][†] “Can papyrus grow where there is no marsh?
Can reeds flourish where there is no water?
[12] While yet in flower and not cut down,
they [n]wither before any other plant.
[13] Such are the paths of all who [o]forget God;
[p]the hope of [q]the godless shall perish.
[14] His confidence is severed, and his trust is [r]a spider’s web. [1] [15] He leans against his [s]house, but it does not stand;
he lays hold of it, but it does not endure.

[16] He is a lush plant before the sun,
and his [t] shoots spread over his garden.
[17] His roots entwine the stone heap;
he looks upon a house of stones.
[18] If he is destroyed from his [u] place, then it will deny him, saying, ‘I have never [v] seen you.’
[19] Behold, this is the joy of his way,
and out of [w] the soil others will spring.

[20][†] “Behold, God will not reject a blameless man, nor take the hand of evildoers.
[21] He will yet [x] fill your mouth with laughter, and your lips with shouting.
[22] Those who hate you will be [y] clothed with shame, and the tent of the wicked will be no more.”

Job Replies: There Is No Arbiter

JOB 9 [†]Then Job answered and said:

[2] “Truly I know that it is so:
But how can a man be [z] in the right before God?
[3][†] If one wished to [a] contend with him,
one could not answer him once in a thousand times.
[4] He is [b] wise in heart and mighty in strength —who has [c] hardened himself against him, and succeeded?— [5] he who removes mountains, and they know it not,
when he overturns them in his anger, [6] who [d] shakes the earth out of its place,
and [e] its pillars tremble;
[7] who commands the sun, and it does not rise;
who seals up the stars;
[8] who alone [f] stretched out the heavens and trampled the waves of the sea;
[9] who [g] made [h] the Bear and [i] Orion,

the Pleiades [j] and the chambers of the south;
10 who does [k] great things beyond searching out,
and marvelous things beyond number.
11 Behold, he passes by me, and I [l] see him not;
he moves on, but I do not perceive him.
12 Behold, he snatches away; [m] who can turn him back?
[n] Who will say to him, 'What are you doing?'

13[†] "God will not turn back his anger;
beneath him bowed the helpers of [o] Rahab.
14 [p] How then can I [q] answer him, choosing my words with him?
15[†] [r] Though I am in the right, I cannot answer him;
I must [s] appeal for mercy to my accuser. [1]
16 If I summoned him and he answered me,
I would not believe that he was listening to my voice.
17 For he crushes me with a tempest and multiplies my wounds [t] without cause; 18 he will not let me get my breath,
but fills me with bitterness.
19 If it is a contest of [u] strength, behold, he is mighty!
If it is a matter of justice, who can [v] summon him? [2] 20[†] Though I am in the right, [w] my own mouth would condemn me;
though I am blameless, he would prove me perverse.
21[†] I am [x] blameless; I regard not myself;
I [y] loathe my life.
22[†] It is all one; therefore I say,
'He [z] destroys both the blameless and the wicked.'
23 When [a] disaster brings sudden death,
he mocks at the calamity [3] of the innocent.
24 [b] The earth is given into the hand of the wicked;
he [c] covers the faces of its judges—
[d] if it is not he, who then is it?

25 “My [e] days are swifter than [f] a runner;
they flee away; they see no good.
26 They go by like [g] skiffs of reed,
like [h] an eagle swooping on the prey.
27 If I say, [i] ‘I will forget my complaint,
I will put off my sad face, and [j] be of good cheer,’ 28 I become [k] afraid of all my suffering, for I know you will not [l] hold me innocent.
29 I shall be [m] condemned;
why then do I labor in vain?
30 If I wash myself with snow and [n] cleanse my hands with lye, 31 yet you will plunge me into a pit,
and my own clothes will [o] abhor me.
32[†] For he is not a man, as I am, that I might answer him, that we should [p] come to trial together.
33 [q] There is no [4] arbiter between us, who might lay his hand on us both.
34 [r] Let him take his [s] rod away from me,
and let [t] not dread of him terrify me.
35 Then I would speak without fear of him,
for I am not so in myself.

Job Continues: A Plea to God

JOB 10 [†] “I [u] loathe my life;
I will give free utterance to my [v] complaint;
I will speak in [w] the bitterness of my soul.
2 I will say to God, Do not [x] condemn me;
let me know why you [y] contend against me.
3[†] [z] Does it seem good to you to oppress, to despise [a] the work of your hands
[b] and favor the designs of the wicked?
4 Have you [c] eyes of flesh?
[d] Do you see as man sees?
5 Are your days as the days of man, or your [e] years as a man’s years, 6 that you [f] seek out my iniquity and search for my sin,
7 although you [g] know that I am not guilty, and there is [h] none to deliver out of your hand?
8[†] [i] Your hands fashioned and made me,
and now you have destroyed me altogether.
9 Remember that you have made me like [j] clay;
and will you return me to the [k] dust?
10 Did you not pour me out like milk and curdle me like cheese?
11 You clothed me with skin and flesh,
and knit me together with bones and sinews.
12 You have granted me life and steadfast love,
and your care has preserved my spirit.
13 Yet these things you hid in your heart;
I know that [l] this was your purpose.
14 If I sin, you [m] watch me
and do not [n] acquit me of my iniquity.
15[†] [o] If I am guilty, woe to me!

If I am [p] in the right, I cannot lift up my head, for I am filled with disgrace and [q] look on my affliction.
16 And were my head lifted up, [1] you would hunt me like [r] a lion and again work [s] wonders against me.
17 You renew your [t] witnesses against me and increase your vexation toward me;
you [u] bring fresh troops against me.

18 [v] "Why did you bring me out from the womb?
Would that I had died before any eye had seen me 19 [w] and were as though I had not been, carried from the womb to the grave.
20 [x] Are not my days few?
[y] Then cease, and leave me alone, [z] that I may find a little cheer
21 [†] before I go—and [a] I shall not return—to the land of [b] darkness and [c] deep shadow, 22 the land of gloom like thick darkness,
like deep shadow without any order,
where light is as thick darkness."

Zophar Speaks: You Deserve Worse

JOB 11 [†]Then [d] Zophar the Naamathite answered and said:

2 "Should [e] a multitude of words go unanswered,
and a man full of talk be judged right?
3 Should your babble silence men,
and when you mock, shall no one shame you?
4 For [f] you say, 'My [g] doctrine is pure, and I am clean in God's [1] eyes.'
5 But oh, that God would speak and open his lips to you,
6 and that he would tell you the secrets of wisdom!
For he is manifold in [h] understanding. [2]

Know then that God [i]exacts of you less than your guilt deserves.

7[†] [j]“Can you find out the deep things of God?
Can you find out the limit of the Almighty?
8 It is [k]higher than heaven [3]—what can you do?
Deeper than Sheol—what can you know?
9 Its measure is longer than the earth and broader than the sea.
10 If he [l]passes through and [m]imprisons and summons the court, who can [n]turn him back?
11 For he knows [o]worthless men;
when he sees iniquity, will he not consider it?
12[†] But a stupid man will get understanding when [p]a wild donkey’s colt is [q]born a man!

13 “If you [r]prepare your heart,
you will [s]stretch out your hands toward him.
14 If iniquity is in your hand, put it far away,
and let not injustice dwell in your tents.
15 Surely then you will [t]lift up your face without [u]blemish;
you will be secure and will not fear.
16 You will [v]forget your misery;
you will remember it as waters that have passed away.
17 And your life will be [w]brighter than the noonday;
its darkness will be like the morning.
18 And you will feel secure, because there is hope;
you will look around and [x]take your rest in security.
19 You will [x]lie down, and none will make you afraid;
many will [y]court your favor.
20 But [z]the eyes of the wicked will fail;
all way of escape will be lost to them,
and their hope is [a]to breathe their last.”

Job Replies: The LORD Has Done This

JOB 12 [†]Then Job answered and said:

2[†] “No doubt you are the people,
and wisdom will die with you.
3 But I have [b]understanding as well as you;
I am not inferior to you.
Who does not know [c]such things as these?
4[†] I am [d]a laughingstock to my friends;
I, who [e]called to God and he answered me,
a just and blameless man, am a laughingstock.
5 In the thought of one who is [f]at ease there is contempt for misfortune;
it is ready for those whose feet slip.
6[†] [g]The tents of robbers are at peace,
and those who provoke God are secure,
who bring their god in their hand. [1]

7[†] “But ask the beasts, and they will teach you;
the birds of the heavens, and they will tell you;
8 or the bushes of the earth, [2] and they will teach you;
and the fish of the sea will declare to you.
9 Who among all these does not know that [h]the hand of the LORD has done this?
10 In [i]his hand is the life of every living thing and the breath of all mankind.
11 Does not [j]the ear test words
as the palate tastes food?
12 Wisdom is with [k]the aged,
and understanding in length of days.

13[†] [l]“With God [3] are wisdom and might;
he has counsel and understanding.
14 If he tears down, none can rebuild;
if he [m]shuts a man in, none can open.
15 If he [n]withholds the waters, they dry up;

if he [o] sends them out, they overwhelm the land.
[16] With him are strength and [p] sound wisdom;
the deceived and the deceiver are his.
[17] He leads [q] counselors away stripped,
and [r] judges he makes fools.
[18][†] He [s] looses the bonds of kings and binds a waistcloth on their hips.
[19] He leads priests away stripped and overthrows the mighty.
[20] He deprives of speech those who are trusted
[t] and takes away the discernment of the elders.
[21][†] He [u] pours contempt on princes and loosens the belt of the strong.
[22] He [v] uncovers the deeps out of darkness and brings [w] deep darkness to light.
[23] He [x] makes nations great, and he destroys them;
he enlarges nations, and [y] leads them away.
[24] He takes away understanding from the chiefs of the people of the earth and [z] makes them wander in a trackless waste.
[25] They [a] grope in the dark without light,
and he makes them [b] stagger like a drunken man.

Job Continues: Still I Will Hope in God

JOB 13 “Behold, my eye has seen all this,
my ear has heard and understood it.
[2] [c] What you know, I also know;
I am not inferior to you.
[3][†] [d] But I would speak to the Almighty, and I desire to [e] argue my case with God.
[4][†] As for you, [f] you whitewash with lies;
[g] worthless physicians are you all.
[5] Oh that you would [h] keep silent, and it would be your wisdom!

6[†] Hear now my argument and listen to the pleadings of my lips.
7 Will you [i] speak falsely for God and speak [i] deceitfully for him?
8 Will you show partiality toward him?
Will you [j] plead the case for God?
9 Will it be well with you when he [k] searches you out?
Or [l] can you deceive him, as one deceives a man?
10 He will surely rebuke you if in secret you show partiality.
11[†] Will not his [m] majesty terrify you,
and the dread of him fall upon you?
12 Your maxims are proverbs of [n] ashes;
your defenses are defenses of clay.

13 “Let me have silence, and I will speak, and let come on me what may.
14 Why should I take my flesh in my teeth and [o] put my life in my hand?
15 [p] Though he slay me, I will [q] hope in him; [1]
yet I will [r] argue my ways to his face.
16[†] This will be my salvation,
that the godless shall not come before him.
17 [s] Keep listening to my words,
and let my declaration be in your ears.
18 Behold, I have [t] prepared my case;
I know that I shall be in the right.
19 [u] Who is there who will contend with me?
For then I would be silent and die.
20[†] Only grant me two things,
then I will not [v] hide myself from your face:
21 [w] withdraw your hand far from me,
and let not [x] dread of you terrify me.
22 [y] Then call, and I will answer;

or let me speak, and you reply to me.
23 How many are my iniquities and my sins?
[z] Make me know my transgression and my sin.
24 Why [a] do you hide your face and [b] count me as your enemy?
25 Will you frighten [c] a driven leaf and pursue dry [d] chaff?
26 For you [e] write bitter things against me
and make me inherit [f] the iniquities of my youth.
27[†] You put my feet in [g] the stocks and [h] watch all my paths;
you set a limit for [2] the soles of my feet.
28[†] Man [3] wastes away like [i] a rotten thing,
like a garment that is [j] moth-eaten.

Job Continues: Death Comes Soon to All

JOB 14 “Man who is [k] born of a woman is [l] few of days and [m] full of trouble.
2 He comes out like [n] a flower and [o] withers;
he flees like [p] a shadow and continues not.
3 And do you [q] open your eyes on such a one and [r] bring me into judgment with you?
4[†] Who can bring [s] a clean thing out of an unclean?
There is not one.
5 Since his [t] days are determined, and [u] the number of his months is with you,
and you have appointed his limits that he cannot pass, 6 [v] look away from him and leave him alone, [1]
that he may enjoy, like [w] a hired hand, his day.

7[†] “For there is hope for a tree,
if it be cut down, that it will sprout again,
and that its shoots will not cease.

[8] Though its root grow old in the earth, and [x] its stump die in the soil, [9] yet at the scent of water it will bud and put out [y] branches like a young plant.
[10] But a man dies and is laid low;
man breathes his last, and [z] where is he?
[11] [a] As waters fail from a lake and a river wastes away and dries up, [12] so a man lies down and rises not again;
till [b] the heavens are no more he will not awake or be [c] roused out of his sleep.
[13] Oh that you would [d] hide me in [e] Sheol, that you would [d] conceal me [f] until your wrath be past,
that you would appoint me a set time, and remember me!
[14] If a man dies, shall he live again?
All the days of my [g] service I would [h] wait, till my renewal [2] should come.
[15][†] You would [i] call, and I would answer you;
you would long for the [j] work of your hands.
[16] For then you would [k] number my steps;
you would not keep [l] watch over my sin;
[17] my transgression would be [m] sealed up in a bag,
and you would cover over my iniquity.

[18] “But the mountain falls and [n] crumbles away,
and [o] the rock is removed from its place;
[19] the waters wear away the stones;
the torrents wash away the soil of the earth;
so you destroy the hope of man.
[20] You prevail forever against him, and he passes;
you change his countenance, and send him away.
[21] His sons come to honor, and he [p] does not know it;
they are brought low, and he perceives it not.
[22] He feels only the pain of his own body,

and he mourns only for himself.”

Eliphaz Accuses: Job Does Not Fear God

JOB 15 [†]Then [q] Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said:

2[†] “Should [r] a wise man answer with [s] windy knowledge, and fill his [t] belly with [u] the east wind?
3 Should he argue in unprofitable talk,
or in words with which he can do no good?
4[†] But you are doing away with the fear of God [1]
and hindering meditation before God.
5 For your iniquity teaches your mouth,
and you choose the tongue of the crafty.
6 Your [v] own mouth condemns you, and not I;
[w] your own lips testify against you.

7 [x] “Are you the first man who was born?
Or [y] were you brought forth [z] before the hills?
8[†] Have you listened in [a] the council of God?
And do you limit wisdom to yourself?
9 [b] What do you know that we do not know?
What do you understand that is not clear to us?
10 [c] Both the gray-haired and the aged are among us, older than your father.
11 Are the comforts of God too small for you,
or the word that deals gently with you?
12 Why does your heart carry you away,
and why do your eyes flash,
13 that you turn your [d] spirit against God and bring such words out of your mouth?
14[†] [e] What is man, [f] that he can be pure?
Or he who is [g] born of a woman, that he can be righteous?
15 Behold, God [2] [h] puts no trust in his [i] holy ones,
and the heavens are not pure in his sight;

16 [j] how much less one who is abominable and [k] corrupt,
a man who [l] drinks injustice like water!

17 “I will show you; hear me, and what I have seen I will declare 18 (what wise men have told,
without hiding it [m] from their fathers, 19 to whom alone the land was given,
and no [n] stranger passed among them).
20 [†] The wicked man writhes in pain all his days, through all the [o] years that are laid up for [p] the ruthless.
21 [q] Dreadful sounds are in his ears;
in [r] prosperity the destroyer will come upon him.
22 He does not believe that he will return out of darkness, and he is marked for the sword.
23 He [s] wanders abroad for bread, saying, ‘Where is it?’
He knows that a day of darkness is ready at his hand;
24 distress and anguish terrify him;
they [t] prevail against him, like a king ready for battle.
25 Because he has stretched out his hand against God and defies the Almighty, 26 [u] running [v] stubbornly against him with a thickly bossed shield;
27 [†] because he has [w] covered his face with his fat and gathered fat upon his waist 28 and has lived in desolate cities, in houses that none should inhabit,
which were ready to become heaps of ruins;
29 he will not be rich, and his wealth will not endure, nor will his possessions spread over the earth; [3] 30 he will not depart from darkness;
the flame will dry up his shoots,
and by [x] the breath of his mouth he will depart.
31 [†] Let him not [y] trust in emptiness, deceiving himself, for emptiness will be his payment.

[32] It will be paid in full [z] before his time,
and his branch will not be green.
[33] He will shake off his unripe grape like the vine,
and cast off his blossom like the olive tree.
[34] For [a] the company of the godless is barren, and [b] fire consumes the tents of bribery.
[35] They [c] conceive trouble and give birth to evil, and their [d] womb prepares deceit."

Job Replies: Miserable Comforters Are You

JOB 16 [†]Then Job answered and said:

[2] "I have heard [e] many such things;
[f] miserable comforters are you all.
[3] Shall [g] windy words have an end?
Or what provokes you that you answer?
[4] I also could speak as you do,
if you were in my place;
I could join words together against you
and [h] shake my head at you.
[5] I could strengthen you with my mouth,
and the solace of my lips would assuage your pain.

[6] "If I speak, my pain is not assuaged, and if I forbear, how much of it leaves me?
[7] Surely now God has worn me out;
[i] he has [1] made desolate all my company.
[8][†] And he has shriveled me up, which is [j] a witness against me,
and my [k] leanness has risen up against me;
it testifies to my face.
[9] He has [l] torn me in his wrath [m] and hated me;
he has [n] gnashed his teeth at me;

my adversary sharpens his eyes against me.
10 Men have [o] gaped at me with their mouth;
they have [p] struck me insolently on the cheek;
they [q] mass themselves together against me.
11 God gives me up to the ungodly and casts me into the hands of the wicked.
12[†] I was at ease, and he broke me apart;
he seized me by the neck and dashed me to pieces;
he set me up as his [r] target;
13 his [s] archers surround me.
He slashes open my kidneys [t] and does not spare;
he [u] pours out my gall on the ground.
14 He breaks me with [v] breach upon breach;
he [w] runs upon me like a warrior.
15[†] I have sewed [x] sackcloth upon my skin and have laid [y] my strength [z] in the dust.
16[†] My face is red with weeping,
and on my eyelids is [a] deep darkness, 17 although there is no [b] violence in my hands, and my prayer is pure.

18 “O earth, [c] cover not my blood,
and let my [d] cry find no resting place.
19[†] Even now, behold, my [e] witness is in heaven, and he who testifies for me is [f] on high.
20 My friends [g] scorn me;
my eye pours out tears to God, 21 that he would [h] argue the case of a man with God,
as [2] a son of man does with his neighbor.
22 For when a few years have come
I shall go the way [i] from which I shall not return.

Job Continues: Where Then Is My Hope?

JOB 17 “My spirit is broken; my days are [j] extinct;
[k] the graveyard is ready for me.
2 Surely there are mockers about me,
and my eye dwells on their [l] provocation.

3 “Lay down a pledge for me with you;
who is there who will put up [m] security for me?
4 Since you have closed their hearts to understanding, therefore you will not let them triumph.
5[†] He who informs against his friends to get a share of their property—the [n] eyes of his children will fail.

6 “He has made me [o] a byword of the peoples, and I am one before whom men spit.
7[†] My [p] eye has grown dim from vexation, and all my members are like [q] a shadow.
8 The upright are [r] appalled at this,
and the innocent stirs himself up against the godless.
9 Yet the righteous holds to his way,
and he who has [s] clean hands grows stronger and stronger.
10[†] But you, [t] come on again, all of you,
and I shall not find a wise man among you.
11 My [u] days are past; my plans are broken off,
the desires of my heart.
12 They [v] make night into day:
‘The light,’ they say, ‘is near to the darkness.’ [1]
13 If I hope for [w] Sheol as [x] my house,
if I make my bed in darkness,
14 if I say to the pit, ‘You are my father,’
and to the worm, ‘My mother,’ or ‘My sister,’ 15 where then is my hope?
Who will see my hope?

16 Will it go down to the bars of [w] Sheol?
Shall we [y] descend together [z] into the dust?”

Bildad Speaks: God Punishes the Wicked

JOB 18 [†]Then [a]Bildad the Shuhite answered and said:

[2] "How long will you [b]hunt for words?
Consider, and then we will speak.
[3] Why are we counted as [c]cattle?
Why are we stupid in your sight?
[4] You who [d]tear yourself in your anger, shall the earth be forsaken for you,
or [e]the rock be removed out of its place?

[5][†] "Indeed, [f]the light of the wicked is put out,
and the flame of his fire does not shine.
[6] The light is [g]dark in his tent,
and his lamp above him is put out.
[7][†] His strong steps are shortened, and his [h]own schemes throw him down.
[8] For he is cast into a net by his own feet,
and he walks on its mesh.
[9] [i]A trap seizes him by the heel;
a snare lays hold of him.
[10] A rope is hidden for him in the ground,
a trap for him in the path.
[11][†] [j]Terrors frighten him on every side,
and chase him at his heels.
[12] His strength is famished,
and calamity is [k]ready for his stumbling.
[13] It consumes the parts of his skin;
[l]the firstborn of death consumes his limbs.
[14][†] He is torn from the tent in which he trusted and is brought to [m]the king of terrors.
[15] In his tent dwells that which is none of his;
[n]sulfur is scattered over his habitation.

16 His [o] roots dry up beneath,
and his branches [p] wither above.
17 His [q] memory perishes from the earth, and he has no name in the street.
18 [r] He is thrust from light into darkness, and driven out of the world.
19 He has no [s] posterity or progeny among his people,
and no survivor where he used to live.
20 They of the west are appalled at his [t] day,
and [u] horror seizes them of the east.
21 Surely such are the dwellings of the unrighteous, such is the place of him who [v] knows not God."

Job Replies: My Redeemer Lives

JOB 19 [†]Then Job answered and said:

2[†] "How long will you torment me and break me in pieces with words?
3[†] These [w] ten times you have cast reproach upon me;
are you not ashamed to wrong me?
4 And even if it be true that I have erred,
my error remains with myself.
5 If indeed you [x] magnify yourselves against me
and make my disgrace an argument against me, 6[†] know then that God has [y] put me in the wrong and closed his net about me.
7[†] Behold, I [z] cry out, 'Violence!' but I am not answered;
I call for help, but there is no justice.
8[†] He has [a] walled up my way, so that I cannot pass,
and he has set darkness upon my paths.
9 He has [b] stripped from me my glory and taken the [c] crown from my head.
10 He breaks me down on every side, and I [d] am gone,
and my hope has he pulled up like a tree.

11 He has kindled his wrath against me
and [e] counts me as his adversary.
12 His [f] troops come on together;
they have [g] cast up their siege ramp [1] against me
and encamp around my tent.

13 “He has put my [h] brothers far from me,
and [i] those who knew me are wholly estranged from me.
14 My relatives [j] have failed me,
my close [k] friends have forgotten me.
15 The guests [l] in my house and my maidservants count me as a stranger;
I have become a foreigner in their eyes.
16 I call to my servant, but he gives me no answer;
I must plead with him with my mouth for mercy.
17 My breath is strange to my [m] wife, and I am a stench to the children of [n] my own mother.
18 Even young [o] children despise me;
when I rise they talk against me.
19 All my [p] intimate friends abhor me,
and those whom I loved have turned against me.
20[†] My [q] bones stick to my skin and to my flesh,
and I have escaped by the skin of my teeth.
21 Have mercy on me, have mercy on me, O you my friends, for the hand of God has [r] touched me!
22[†] Why do you, like God, [s] pursue me?
Why are you not satisfied with my flesh?

23[†] “Oh that my words were written!
Oh that they were [t] inscribed in a book!
24 Oh that with an iron [u] pen and lead
they were engraved in the rock forever!
25[†] For I [v] know that my [w] Redeemer lives, and at the last he will stand upon the [x] earth. [2] 26 And after my skin has been thus destroyed, yet in [3] my flesh I shall [y] see God, [27] whom I shall see for myself,

and my eyes shall behold, and not [z] another.
My heart [a] faints within me!
[28][†] If you say, ‘How we will [s] pursue him!’
and, ‘The root of the matter is found in him,’ [29][†] be afraid of the sword, for wrath brings the punishment of the sword,
that you may know there is [b] a judgment.”

Zophar Speaks: The Wicked Will Suffer

JOB 20 [†]Then [c] Zophar the Naamathite answered and said:

[2] “Therefore my [d] thoughts answer me,
because of my haste within me.
[3][†] I hear censure that insults me,
and out of my understanding a spirit answers me.
[4] Do you not know this from of old,
[e] since man was placed on earth,
[5] [f] that the exulting of the wicked is short,
and the joy of the godless but for a moment?
[6][†] [g] Though his height mount up to the heavens,
and his head reach to the clouds, [7] he will perish forever like his own [h] dung;
those who have seen him will say, [i] ‘Where is he?’
[8] He will fly away like [j] a dream and not be found;
he will be chased away like a vision of the night.
[9] [k] The eye that saw him will see him no more,
nor will his place any more behold him.
[10][†] His children will seek the favor of the poor, and his hands will [l] give back his wealth.
[11] His bones are full of his [m] youthful vigor,
but it will lie [n] down with him in the dust.

12 “Though evil is sweet in his mouth,
though he hides it [o] under his tongue, 13 though he is loath to let it go and holds it in his mouth, 14 yet his food is turned in his stomach;
it is the venom of [p] cobras within him.
15 He swallows down riches and vomits them up again;
God casts them out of his belly.
16 He will suck the poison of cobras;
[q] the tongue of a viper will kill him.
17 He will not look upon [r] the rivers,
the streams flowing with [s] honey and [t] curds.
18 He will [u] give back the fruit of his toil and will not [v] swallow it down; from the profit of his trading
he will get no enjoyment.
19 For he has crushed and abandoned the poor;
he has seized a house that he did not build.

20 “Because he [w] knew no [x] contentment in his belly,
[y] he will not let anything in which he delights escape him.
21 There was nothing left after he had eaten;
therefore his prosperity will not endure.
22 In the fullness of his sufficiency he will be in distress;
the hand of everyone in misery will come against him.
23 To fill his belly to the full,
God [1] will send his burning anger against him
and rain it upon him [z] into his body.
24 [a] He will flee from an iron weapon;
[b] a bronze arrow will strike [c] him through.
25 It [d] is drawn forth and comes out of his body;
[e] the glittering point comes out of his [f] gallbladder;
[g] terrors come upon him.
26 Utter darkness is laid up for his treasures;

[h] a fire not fanned will devour him;
what is left in his tent will be consumed.
27[†] [i] The heavens will reveal his iniquity, and the earth will rise up against him.
28 The possessions of his house will be carried away, dragged off in the day of God's [2] wrath.
29 [j] This is the wicked man's portion from God,
[j] the heritage decreed for him by God."

Job Replies: The Wicked Do Prosper

JOB 21 [†]Then Job answered and said:

2 [k] "Keep listening to my words,
and let this be your comfort.
3 Bear with me, and I will speak, and after I have spoken, [l] mock on.
4 As for me, is my [m] complaint against man?
Why should I not be impatient?
5 Look at me and be appalled, and [n] lay your hand over your mouth.
6 When I remember, I am dismayed, and shuddering seizes my flesh.
7[†] [o] Why do the wicked live, reach old age, and grow mighty in power?
8 Their [p] offspring are established in their presence, and their descendants before their eyes.
9 Their houses are [q] safe from fear,
and [r] no rod of God is upon them.
10 Their bull breeds without fail;
their cow calves and [s] does not miscarry.
11 They send out their [t] little boys like a flock,
and their children dance.
12 They sing to [u] the tambourine and [v] the lyre and rejoice to the sound of [v] the pipe.

13 They [w] spend their days in prosperity,
and in [x] peace they go down to [y] Sheol.
14 They say to God, [z] ‘Depart from us!
We do not desire the knowledge of your ways.
15 [a] What is the Almighty, that we should serve him?
And what [b] profit do we get if we pray to him?’
16 Behold, is not their prosperity in their hand?
[c] The counsel of the wicked is far from me.

17 “How often is it that [d] the lamp of the wicked is put out?
That their calamity comes upon them?
That God [1] distributes pains in his anger?
18 That they are like [e] straw before the wind, and like [f] chaff that the storm carries away?
19 You say, ‘God [g] stores up their iniquity for their [h] children.’
Let him pay it out to them, that they may [i] know it.
20 Let their own eyes see their destruction, and let them [j] drink of the wrath of the Almighty.
21 For what do they care for their houses after them,
when [k] the number of their months is cut off?
22[†] [l] Will any teach God knowledge, seeing that he [m] judges those who are on high?
23 One dies in his full vigor,
being wholly at ease and secure, 24 his pails [2] full of milk and [n] the marrow of his bones moist.
25 Another dies in [o] bitterness of soul,
never having tasted of prosperity.
26 They [p] lie down alike in the dust,
and [q] the worms cover them.

27 “Behold, I know your thoughts and your schemes to wrong me.
28 For you say, [r] ‘Where is the house of the prince?

Where is [s]the tent in which the wicked lived?’
29 Have you not asked those who travel the roads, and do you not accept their testimony 30 that [t]the evil man is spared in the day of calamity, that he is rescued in the day of wrath?
31 Who declares his way [u]to his face,
and who [v]repays him for what he has done?
32 When he is [w]carried to the grave,
watch is kept over his tomb.
33[†] [x]The clods of the valley are sweet to him;
[y]all mankind follows after him,
and those who go before him are innumerable.
34 How then will you comfort me with empty nothings?
There is nothing left of your answers but falsehood.”

Eliphaz Speaks: Job’s Wickedness Is Great

JOB 22 [†]Then [z]Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said:

2[†] [a]“Can a man be profitable to God?
Surely he who is wise is profitable to himself.
3 Is it any pleasure to the Almighty if you are in the right, or is it gain to him if you [b]make your ways blameless?
4 Is it for your fear of him that he reproves you and [c]enters into judgment with you?
5[†] Is not your evil abundant?
There is no end to your iniquities.
6 For you have [d]exacted pledges of your brothers for nothing [e]and stripped the naked of their clothing.
7 You have given no water to the weary to drink, and you have [f]withheld bread from the hungry.
8 [g]The man with power possessed the land,
and [h]the favored man lived in it.
9[†] You have [i]sent widows away empty, and [j]the arms of [k]the fatherless were crushed.

10 Therefore [l] snares are all around you,
and sudden terror overwhelms you, 11 or [m] darkness, so that you cannot see,
and a [n] flood of [o] water covers you.

12 “Is not God high in the heavens?
See [p] the highest stars, how lofty they are!
13[†] But you say, [q] ‘What does God know?
Can he judge through [r] the deep darkness?
14 [s] Thick clouds veil him, so that he does not see,
and he walks on the vault of heaven.’
15 Will you keep to the old way that wicked men have trod?
16[†] They were snatched away [t] before their time;
their foundation was washed away.
17 They said to God, [u] ‘Depart from us,’
and [v] ‘What can the Almighty do to us?’ [1] 18 Yet he filled their houses with good things—but [w] the counsel of the wicked is far from me.
19 [x] The righteous see it and are glad;
the innocent one [y] mocks at them, 20 saying, ‘Surely our adversaries are cut off,
and what they left [z] the fire has consumed.’

21[†] [a] “Agree with God, and [b] be at peace;
thereby good will come to you.
22 Receive instruction from [c] his mouth,
and [d] lay up his words in your heart.
23 If you [e] return to the Almighty you will be [f] built up;
if you [g] remove injustice far from your tents, 24 if you lay gold in [h] the dust,
and gold of [i] Ophir among the stones of the torrent-bed, 25 then the Almighty will be your gold and your precious silver.

26 For then you [j] will delight yourself in the Almighty and [k] lift up your face to God.
27 You will [l] make your prayer to him, and he will hear you,
and you will [m] pay your vows.
28 You will decide on a matter, and it will be established for you,
and [n] light will shine on your ways.
29 For when they are humbled you say, 'It is because of pride'; [2] but he saves [o] the lowly.
30[†] He [p] delivers even the one who is not innocent, who will be delivered through [q] the cleanness of your hands."

Job Replies: Where Is God?

JOB 23 [†]Then Job answered and said:

2[†] "Today also my [r] complaint is bitter; [1]
my [s] hand is heavy on account of my groaning.
3[†] Oh, [t] that I knew where I might find him, that I might come even to his [u] seat!
4 I would [v] lay my case before him and fill my mouth with arguments.
5 I would know what he would answer me
and understand what he would say to me.
6 Would he [w] contend with me in the greatness of his power?
No; he would pay attention to me.
7 There an upright man could argue with him,
and I would be acquitted forever by my judge.

8 "Behold, [x] I go forward, but he is not there,
and backward, but I do not perceive him;
9 on the left hand when he is working, I do not behold him;
he turns to the right hand, but I do not see him.
10 But he [y] knows [z] the way that I [a] take;
when he has [b] tried me, I shall come out as gold.
11 My foot [c] has held fast to his steps;

I have kept his way and have [d]not turned aside.
12 I have not departed from the commandment of his lips;
I have [e]treasured the words of his mouth more than my [f]portion of food.
13[†] But he is unchangeable, [2] and [g]who can turn him back?
What he [h]desires, that he does.
14 For he will complete what he [i]appoints for me,
and many such things are [j]in his mind.
15 Therefore I am terrified at his presence;
when I consider, I am in dread of him.
16 God has made my [k]heart faint;
the Almighty has terrified me;
17 yet I am not silenced because of the darkness,
nor because thick darkness covers my face.

JOB 24 [†] “Why are [l]not times of judgment [m]kept by the Almighty, and why do those who know him never see his [n]days?
2[†] Some move [o]landmarks;
they seize flocks and pasture them.
3 They drive away the donkey of the fatherless;
they [p]take the widow’s ox for a pledge.
4 They [q]thrust the poor off the road;
the poor of the earth [r]all hide themselves.
5 Behold, like wild donkeys in the desert
the poor [1] [s]go out to their toil, [t]seeking game;
the wasteland yields food for their children.
6 They gather their [2] fodder in the field,
and they glean the vineyard of the wicked man.
7 They [u]lie all night naked, without clothing, and have no covering in the cold.
8 They are wet with the rain of the mountains and [v]cling to the rock for lack of shelter.
9 (There are those who snatch the fatherless child from the breast, and they take a pledge against the poor.)

[10] They go about naked, without clothing; hungry, they [w] carry the sheaves;
[11] among the olive rows of the wicked [3] they make oil;
they tread the winepresses, but suffer thirst.
[12] From out of the city the dying groan,
and the soul of [x] the wounded cries for help;
yet God charges no one with [y] wrong.

[13][†] “There are those who rebel [z] against the light, who are not acquainted with its ways,
and do not stay in its paths.
[14] The murderer rises before it is light, that he [a] may kill the poor and needy,
and in the night he is like a thief.
[15] The eye of the adulterer also waits for [b] the twilight, saying, ‘No [c] eye will see me’;
and he veils his face.
[16] In the dark they [d] dig through houses;
by day they shut themselves up;
they do not know the light.
[17] For [e] deep darkness is morning to all of them;
for they are friends with the terrors of deep darkness.

[18][†] “You say, [f] ‘Swift are they on the face of the waters;
their portion is cursed in the land;
no treader turns toward their vineyards.
[19] Drought and heat snatch away the snow waters;
so does [g] Sheol those who have sinned.
[20] The womb forgets them;
the worm finds them sweet;
they are [h] no longer remembered,
so wickedness is broken like [i] a tree.’

[21][†] “They wrong the barren, childless woman, and do no good to the widow.

22 Yet God [4] prolongs the life of the mighty by his power;
they rise up when they despair of life.
23 He gives them security, and they are supported,
and his [j] eyes are upon their ways.
24 They are exalted [k] a little while, and then [l] are gone;
they are brought low and gathered up like all others;
they are [m] cut off like the heads of grain.
25 If it is [n] not so, who will prove me a liar and show that there is nothing in what I say?”

Bildad Speaks: Man Cannot Be Righteous

JOB 25 [†]Then [o] Bildad the Shuhite answered and said:

2 “Dominion and fear are with God; [1]
he makes peace in his high heaven.
3 Is there any number to his [p] armies?
Upon whom does his [q] light not arise?
4[†] How then can man be [r] in the right before God?
How can he who is [s] born of woman be [t] pure?
5 Behold, even the moon is not bright,
and the stars are not pure in his eyes;
6 [u] how much less man, who is [v] a maggot, and [w] the son of man, who is a worm!”

Job Replies: God’s Majesty Is Unsearchable

JOB 26 [†]Then Job answered and said:

2 [†] “How you have [x]helped him who has no power!
How you have saved [y]the arm that has no strength!
3 How you have [z]counseled him who has no wisdom,
and plentifully declared sound knowledge!
4 [†] With whose help have you uttered words, and whose breath [a]has come out from you?
5 [†] The [b]dead tremble
under the waters and their inhabitants.
6 Sheol is [c]naked before God, [1]
and [d]Abaddon has no covering.
7 He [e]stretches out the north over [f]the void and hangs the earth on nothing.
8 He [g]binds up the waters in his thick clouds, and the cloud is not split open under them.
9 He covers the face of the full moon [2]
and [h]spreads over it his cloud.
10 He has inscribed [i]a circle on the face of the waters at the boundary between light and darkness.
11 [†] [j]The pillars of heaven tremble and are astounded at his [k]rebuke.
12 By his power he [l]stilled the sea;
by his understanding he shattered [m]Rahab.
13 [n]By his wind the heavens were made fair;
his hand pierced [o]the fleeing serpent.
14 Behold, these are but the outskirts of his [p]ways, and how small [q]a whisper do we hear of him!
But the thunder of his power who can understand?”

Job Continues: I Will Maintain My Integrity

JOB 27 And Job again [r] took up his discourse, and said:

2 “As God lives, who has [s] taken away my right, and the Almighty, who has [t] made my soul bitter, 3 as long as my breath is in me,
and [u] the spirit of God is in my nostrils, 4 my lips will not speak [v] falsehood,
and my tongue will not utter [v] deceit.
5 Far be it from me to say that you are right;
till I die I will not put away my [w] integrity from me.
6[†] I [x] hold fast my righteousness and will not let it go;
my heart does not [y] reproach me for any of my days.

7[†] “Let my enemy be as the wicked, and let him who rises up against me be as the unrighteous.
8 [z] For what is the hope of the godless [a] when God cuts him off, when God takes away his life?
9 [b] Will God hear his cry
when distress comes upon him?
10 Will he [c] take delight in the Almighty?
Will he call upon God at all times?
11[†] I will teach you concerning the hand of God;
[d] what is with the Almighty I will not conceal.
12 Behold, all of you have seen it yourselves;
why then have you become altogether vain?

13[†] [e] “This is the portion of a wicked man with God, and the heritage that [f] oppressors receive from the Almighty:
14 If his [g] children are multiplied, it is for [h] the sword, and his descendants have not enough bread.
15 Those who survive him the pestilence buries,
and his [i] widows do not weep.
16 Though he [j] heap up silver like dust,

and pile up clothing like clay, 17 he may pile it up, but the righteous will wear it,
and [k] the innocent will divide the silver.
18 He builds his [l] house like a moth’s, like [m] a booth that [n] a watchman makes.
19 He goes to bed rich, but will [o] do so no more;
he opens his eyes, and [p] his wealth is gone.
20 [q] Terrors overtake him like [r] a flood;
in the night a whirlwind [s] carries him off.
21 [t] The east wind lifts him up and he is gone;
it [u] sweeps him out of his place.
22 It [1] hurls at him [v] without pity;
he flees from its [2] power in headlong flight.
23 It [w] claps its hands at him and [x] hisses at him from its place.

Job Continues: Where Is Wisdom?

JOB 28 [†] “Surely there is a mine for silver,
and a place for gold that they [y] refine.
2 Iron is taken out of the earth, and copper is smelted from the ore.
3 Man puts an end to darkness and searches out to the farthest limit the ore in [z] gloom and [a] deep darkness.
4 He opens shafts in a valley away from where anyone lives;
they are forgotten by travelers;
they hang in the air, far away from mankind; they swing to and fro.
5 As for the earth, [b] out of it comes bread,
but underneath it is turned up as by fire.
6 Its stones are the place of [c] sapphires, [1]
and it has dust of gold.

7 [†] “That path no bird of prey knows,
and the falcon’s eye has not seen it.

8 [d] The proud beasts have not trodden it;
[e] the lion has not passed over it.

9 “Man puts his hand to [f] the flinty rock and overturns mountains by the roots.
10 [†] He cuts out channels in the rocks,
and his eye sees every precious thing.
11 [†] He dams up the streams so that they do not trickle, and the thing that is hidden he brings out to light.

12 [†] [g] “But where shall wisdom be found?
And where is the place of understanding?
13 Man does not know its worth, and it is not found in [h] the land of the living.
14 [i] The deep says, ‘It is not in me,’
and the sea says, ‘It is not with me.’
15 [†] It [j] cannot be bought for gold, and silver cannot be weighed as its price.
16 It cannot be valued in [k] the gold of [l] Ophir,
in precious [m] onyx or [n] sapphire.
17 Gold and glass cannot equal it,
nor can it be exchanged for jewels of fine gold.
18 No mention shall be made of [o] coral or of crystal;
the price of wisdom is above [o] [p] pearls.
19 [q] The topaz of Ethiopia cannot equal it, nor can it be valued in pure gold.

20 “From where, then, does wisdom come?
And where is the place of understanding?
21 [†] It is hidden from the eyes of [r] all living and concealed from the birds of the air.
22 [†] [s] Abaddon and Death say,
‘We have heard a rumor of it with our ears.’

23 [†] [t] “God understands the way to it, and he knows its place.

24 For he [u] looks to the ends of the earth and sees everything under the heavens.
25 When he [v] gave to the wind its weight and apportioned the waters by measure, 26 when he made a decree for the rain and [w] a way for the lightning of the thunder, 27 then he saw it and declared it;
he established it, and searched it out.
28 And he said to man,
'Behold, [x] the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom, and to [y] turn away from evil is understanding.'"

Job's Summary Defense

JOB 29 [†]And Job again [z] took up his discourse, and said:

2[†] "Oh, that I were as in the months of old,
as in the days when God watched over me,
3 when his [a] lamp shone upon my head,
and by his light I walked through darkness,
4 as I was in my prime, [1]
when the [b] friendship of God was upon my tent, 5 when the Almighty was yet with me,
when my [c] children were all around me, 6[†] when my steps were [d] washed with [e] butter, and [f] the rock poured out for me streams of [g] oil!
7[†] When I went out to [h] the gate of the city,
when I prepared my seat in the square, 8 the young men saw me and withdrew,
and the aged rose and stood;
9 the princes refrained from talking and [i] laid their hand on their mouth; 10 the voice of the nobles was hushed,
and their [j] tongue stuck to the roof of their mouth.

11[†] When the ear heard, it called me blessed,
and when the eye saw, it approved, 12 because I [k]delivered the poor who cried for help,
and the fatherless who had none to help him.
13 [l]The blessing of him who was [m]about to perish came upon me, and I caused [n]the widow’s heart to sing for joy.
14[†] I [o]put on righteousness, and it clothed me;
my justice was like a robe and [p]a turban.
15 I was [q]eyes to the blind and feet to the lame.
16[†] I was a father to the needy, and I searched out [r]the cause of him whom I did not know.
17[†] I [s]broke [t]the fangs of the unrighteous and made him drop his prey from his teeth.
18 [u]Then I thought, ‘I shall die in my [v]nest,
and I shall multiply my days as [w]the sand, 19 my [x]roots spread out to [y]the waters,
with the dew all night on my [z]branches, 20[†] my glory fresh with me,
and my [a]bow ever [b]new in my hand.’

21[†] “Men listened to me and waited and kept silence for my counsel.
22 After I spoke they did not speak again,
and my word [c]dropped upon them.
23 They waited for me as for the rain, and they [d]opened their mouths as for the [e]spring rain.
24[†] I smiled on them when they had no confidence, and [f]the light of my [g]face they did not cast down.
25[†] I chose their way and sat as chief,
and I lived like [h]a king among his troops,
like one who comforts mourners.

JOB 30 [†] “But now they [i]laugh at me, men who are [j] younger than I,

whose fathers I would have disdained to set with the dogs of my flock.
2 What could I gain from the strength of their hands,
[k] men whose [l] vigor is gone?
3 Through want and hard hunger
they [m] gnaw [n] the dry ground by night in [o] waste and desolation; 4[†] they pick saltwort and the leaves of bushes, and the roots of the broom tree for their food. [1] 5 [p] They are driven out from human company;
they shout after them as after a thief.
6 In the gullies of the torrents they must dwell,
in holes of the earth and of [q] the rocks.
7 Among the bushes they [r] bray;
under [s] the nettles they huddle together.
8[†] A senseless, a nameless brood,
they have been whipped out of the land.

9[†] “And now I have become their [t] song;
I am [u] a byword to them.
10 They [v] abhor me; they keep aloof from me;
they do not hesitate to [w] spit at the sight of me.
11[†] Because God has loosed my cord and humbled me,
they have cast off restraint [2] in my presence.
12 On my [x] right hand the rabble rise;
they push away my feet;
they [y] cast up against me their ways of destruction.
13 They break up my path;
they promote my [z] calamity;
they need no one to help them.
14 As through a wide [a] breach they come;
amid the crash they roll on.
15 [b] Terrors are turned upon me;
my honor is pursued as by the wind,

and my prosperity has passed away like [c] a cloud.

16 [†] “And now my soul is [d] poured out within me;
days of affliction have taken hold of me.
17 [e] The night [f] racks my bones,
and the pain that [g] gnaws me takes no rest.
18 With great force my garment is [h] disfigured;
it binds me about like the collar of my tunic.
19 God [3] has cast me into the mire,
and I have become like [i] dust and ashes.
20 I cry to you for help and you do not answer me;
I stand, and you only look at me.
21 You have [j] turned cruel to me;
with the might of your hand you [k] persecute me.
22 [l] You lift me up on the wind; you make me ride on it, and you toss me about in the roar of the storm.
23 [m] For I know that you will bring me to death and to the house appointed for [n] all living.

24 [†] “Yet does not one in a [o] heap of ruins stretch out his hand, and in his disaster cry for help? [4]
25 Did not I [p] weep for him whose day was hard?
Was not my soul grieved for the needy?
26 But [q] when I hoped for good, evil came,
and when I waited for light, [r] darkness came.
27 My inward parts are in turmoil and never still;
days of affliction [s] come to meet me.
28 I [t] go about darkened, but not by the sun;
I stand up in [u] the assembly and cry for help.
29 I am a brother of [v] jackals and a companion of [w] ostriches.
30 My [x] skin turns black and falls from me,
and my [y] bones burn with heat.
31 My [z] lyre is [a] turned to mourning, and my [z] pipe to the voice of those who weep.

Job's Final Appeal

JOB 31 [†] "I have made a covenant with my [b] eyes;
how then could I gaze at a virgin?
[2] What would be [c] my portion from God above and [c] my heritage from the Almighty on high?
[3] Is not calamity for the unrighteous, and disaster for the workers of iniquity?
[4] [d] Does not he see my ways and [e] number all my steps?

[5] "If I have walked with falsehood and my foot has hastened to deceit;
[6] (Let me be [f] weighed in a just balance, and let God know my integrity!)
[7] if my step has turned aside from the way and [g] my heart has gone after my eyes,
and if any [h] spot has stuck to my hands, [8] then let me [i] sow, and another eat, and let what grows for me [1] be rooted out.

[9][†] "If my heart has been enticed toward a woman, and I have [j] lain in wait at my neighbor's door, [10] then let my wife [k] grind for another,
and let others [l] bow down on her.
[11] For that would be a heinous crime;
that would be an iniquity [m] to be punished by the judges; [12] for that would be a fire [n] that consumes as far as Abaddon, and it would burn to the root all my increase.

[13][†] "If I have rejected the cause of my manservant or my maidservant, when they brought a complaint against me, [14] what then shall I do when God rises up?

When he [o] makes inquiry, what shall I answer him?
15 Did [p] not he who made me in the womb make him?
And did not one fashion us in the womb?

16[†] “If I have [q] withheld anything that the poor desired, or have [r] caused the eyes of the widow to fail, 17 or have eaten my morsel alone,
and the fatherless has not eaten of it 18 (for from my youth the fatherless [2] grew up with me as with a father, and from my mother’s womb I guided the widow [3]), 19 if I have seen anyone [s] perish for [t] lack of clothing, or the needy without [t] covering, 20 if his body has not [u] blessed me, [4]
and if he was not warmed with the fleece of my sheep, 21 if I have raised my hand against [v] the fatherless, because I saw my help in [w] the gate, 22 then let my shoulder blade fall from my shoulder,
and let my arm be broken from its socket.
23 For I was [x] in terror of calamity from God,
and I could not have faced his [x] majesty.

24[†] [y] “If I have made gold my [z] trust or called [a] fine gold my confidence, 25 if I have [b] rejoiced because my wealth was abundant or because [c] my hand had found much, 26 [d] if I have looked at the sun [5] when it shone, or [e] the moon moving in splendor, 27 and my heart has been secretly enticed,
and my mouth has kissed my hand, 28 this also would be [f] an iniquity to be punished by the judges, for I would have been false to God above.

29 “If I have [g] rejoiced at the ruin of him who hated me, or exulted when evil overtook him 30 ([h] I have not let my mouth sin by asking for his life with a curse), [31][†] if the men of my tent have not said,

'Who is there that has not been filled with his [i]meat?' [32] ([j]the sojourner has not lodged in the street;
I have opened my doors to the traveler),
[33][†] if I [k]have concealed my transgressions [l]as others do [6] by hiding my iniquity in my heart, [34] because I stood in great fear of [m]the multitude,
and the contempt of families terrified me,
so that I kept silence, and did not go out of doors—[35][†] Oh, that I had one to hear me!
(Here is my signature! Let the Almighty [n]answer me!)
Oh, that I had [o]the indictment written by my adversary!
[36] Surely I would carry it on my [p]shoulder;
I would [q]bind it on me as [r]a crown;
[37] I would give him an account of all my steps;
like a prince I would approach him.

[38] "If my land has cried out against me
and its furrows have wept together, [39] [s]if I have eaten its yield without payment and made its owners [t]breathe their last, [40] let [u]thorns grow instead of wheat, and foul weeds instead of barley."

The words of Job are ended.

Elihu Rebukes Job's Three Friends

JOB 32 [†]So these three men ceased to answer Job, because he was [v]righteous in his own eyes. [2]Then Elihu the son of Barachel [w]the Buzite, of the family of Ram, burned with anger. He burned with anger at Job because he justified himself [x]rather than God. [3]He burned with anger also at Job's three friends because they had found no answer, although they had [y]declared Job to be in the wrong. [4]Now Elihu had waited to speak to Job because they were older than he. [5]And when Elihu saw that there was no answer in the mouth of these three men, he burned with anger.

[6][†]And Elihu the son of Barachel the Buzite answered and said:

“I am young in years,
and you are [z]aged;
therefore I was timid and afraid to declare my opinion to you.
[7] I said, ‘Let days speak,
and many years teach wisdom.’
[8][†] But it is [a]the spirit in man,
[b]the breath of the Almighty, that makes him [c]understand.
[9] [d]It is not the old [1] who are wise,
nor the aged who understand what is right.
[10] Therefore I say, ‘Listen to me;
let me also declare my opinion.’

[11] “Behold, I waited for your words,
I listened for your wise sayings,
while you searched out what to say.
[12] I gave you my attention, and, behold, there was none among you who refuted Job or who answered his words.
[13] Beware [e]lest you say, ‘We have found wisdom;
God may vanquish him, not a man.’
[14] He has not directed his words against me,
and I will not answer him with your speeches.

[15] “They are dismayed; they answer no more;
they have not a word to say.
[16] And shall I wait, because they do not speak, because they stand there, and answer no more?
[17] I also will answer with my share;
I also will declare my opinion.
[18][†] For I am full of words;
the spirit within me constrains me.

[19] Behold, my belly is like wine that has no vent;
like new [f]wineskins ready to burst.
[20] [g]I must speak, that I may find [h]relief;
I must open my lips and answer.
[21] I will not [i]show partiality to any man or use flattery toward any person.
[22] For I do not know how to flatter, else my Maker would soon take me away.

Elihu Rebukes Job

JOB 33 [†] “But now, hear my speech, O Job, and listen to all my words.
[2][†] Behold, I [j]open my mouth;
the tongue in my mouth speaks.
[3] My words declare the uprightness of my heart,
and what my lips know they speak sincerely.
[4] [k]The Spirit of God has made me,
and [l]the breath of the Almighty gives me life.
[5] [m]Answer me, if you can;
[n]set your words in order before me; take your stand.
[6] Behold, I am toward God as you are;
I too was pinched off from a piece of [o]clay.
[7] Behold, no [p]fear of me need terrify you;
my [q]pressure will not be heavy upon you.

[8] “Surely you have spoken in my ears,
and I have heard the sound of your words.
[9][†] You say, ‘I am [r]pure, without [s]transgression;
I am clean, and there is no iniquity in me.
[10] Behold, he finds occasions against me,
he [t]counts me as his enemy, [11][†] he [u]puts my feet in the stocks and [v]watches all my paths.’

12 “Behold, in this you are not right. I will answer you, for God is greater than man.
13 Why do you [w] contend against him, saying, ‘He [x] will answer none of man’s [1] words’? [2] 14[†] For God [y] speaks in one way, [z] and in two, though man [a] does not perceive it.
15 In [b] a dream, in [c] a vision of [d] the night, when [c] deep sleep falls on men,
while they slumber on their beds, 16 then he [e] opens the ears of men and terrifies them with warnings, 17 that he may turn man aside from his [f] deed and conceal pride from a man; 18[†] he keeps back his soul from the pit,
his life from [g] perishing by the sword.

19[†] “Man is also rebuked with pain on his bed and with continual strife in his [h] bones, 20 so that his [i] life loathes bread,
and his appetite [j] the choicest food.
21 His flesh is so wasted away that it cannot be seen,
and his bones that were not seen [k] stick out.
22 His soul draws near [l] the pit,
and his life to [m] those who bring death.
23[†] If there be for him [n] an angel, [o] a mediator, [p] one of the thousand,
to declare to man what is [q] right for him, 24 and he is merciful to him, and says,
‘Deliver him from going down into the pit;
I have found [r] a ransom;
25 let his flesh [s] become fresh with youth;
let him return to the days of his youthful vigor’;
26 then man [3] [t] prays to God, and he accepts him;
he [u] sees his face with a shout of joy,

and he [v] restores to man his righteousness.
27 He sings before men and says:
‘I [w] sinned and perverted what was right,
and it was not repaid to me.
28 He has redeemed my [x] soul from going down [y] into the pit, and my life shall [z] look upon the light.’

29 “Behold, God does all these things, twice, [a] three times, with a man, 30 to bring back his soul from the pit, that he may be lighted with [b] the light of life.
31 Pay attention, O Job, listen to me;
be silent, and I will speak.
32 If you have any words, [c] answer me;
[d] speak, for I desire to justify you.
33 If not, [e] listen to me;
be silent, and I will teach you wisdom.”

Elihu Asserts God’s Justice

JOB 34 [†]Then Elihu answered and said:

[2] “Hear my words, you wise men,
and give ear to me, you who know;
[3][†] for [g] the ear tests words
as the palate tastes food.
[4] Let us choose [h] what is right;
let us know among ourselves what is good.
[5] For Job has said, ‘I am [i] in the right,
and [j] God has taken away my right;
[6] in spite of my right I am counted a liar;
my wound is incurable, though I am [k] without transgression.’
[7] What man is like Job,
who [l] drinks up scoffing like water, [8][†] who travels in company with evildoers and walks [m] with wicked men?
[9][†] For [n] he has said, ‘It profits a man nothing that he should take delight in God.’

[10][†] “Therefore, hear me, you men of understanding:
far be it from God that he should [o] do wickedness,
and from the Almighty that he should do wrong.
[11] For according to [p] the work of a man he will repay him,
and [q] according to his ways he will make it befall him.
[12] Of a truth, God will not do wickedly, and [r] the Almighty will not pervert justice.
[13] Who gave him charge over the earth, and who [s] laid on him [1] the whole world?
[14] If he should [t] set his heart to it and [u] gather to himself his [v] spirit and his breath, [15] all flesh would perish together,
and man would [w] return to dust.

16 “If you have understanding, hear this;
listen to what I say.
17 [x] Shall one who hates justice govern?
Will you condemn him who is righteous and mighty, 18 who [y] says to a king, ‘Worthless one,’
and to nobles, ‘Wicked man,’ 19 who [z] shows no partiality to princes, nor regards the rich [a] more than the poor,
for [b] they are all the work of his hands?
20 In a moment [c] they die;
at [d] midnight the people are shaken and pass away,
and the mighty are taken away by [e] no human hand.

21 “For his eyes are on [f] the ways of a man,
and he sees all his [f] steps.
22 There is no [g] gloom or [h] deep darkness where evildoers may hide themselves.
23[†] For God [2] has no need to consider a man further,
that he should go before God in [i] judgment.
24 He [j] shatters the mighty without investigation and sets [l] others in their place.
25 Thus, knowing their works,
he [m] overturns them in the night, and they are crushed.
26[†] He strikes them for their wickedness in a place for all to see,
27 because they turned aside from [n] following him
and had no regard for any of his ways, 28 so that they [o] caused the cry of the poor to come to him,
and he [p] heard the cry of the afflicted—29 When he is quiet, who can condemn?
When he hides his face, who can behold him,
whether it be a nation or a man?—
30 that a godless man should not reign, that he should not ensnare the people.

31 “For has anyone said to God,
‘I have borne punishment; I will not offend any more;
32 [r] teach me what I do not see;
if I have done iniquity, I will do it no more’?
33 Will he then make repayment to suit you,
because you reject it?
For you must choose, and not I;
therefore [s] declare what you know. [3] 34 [†] Men of understanding will say to me,
and the wise man who hears me will say:
35 ‘Job [t] speaks without knowledge;
his words are without insight.’
36 Would that Job were tried to the end, because he answers like wicked men.
37 For he adds rebellion to his sin;
he [u] claps his hands among us and multiplies his words against God.”

Elihu Condemns Job

JOB 35 [†]And Elihu answered and said:

2 [†] “Do you think this to be just?
Do you say, [v] ‘It is my right before God,’
3 that you ask, [w] ‘What advantage have I?
How am I better off than if I had sinned?’
4 I will answer you
and [x] your friends with you.
5 [y] Look at the heavens, and see;
and behold the clouds, which are higher than you.
6 [†] If you have sinned, [z] what do you accomplish against him?
And if your transgressions are multiplied, what do you do to him?
7 [a] If you are righteous, what do you give to him?
Or what does he receive from your hand?
8 Your wickedness concerns a man like yourself, and your righteousness [b] a son of man.

9 “Because of the multitude of [c] oppressions people [d] cry out;
they call for help because of the arm of [e] the mighty. [1] 10 But none says, ‘Where is God my [f] Maker, who gives [g] songs in the night, 11 who teaches us [h] more than the beasts of the earth and makes us wiser than the birds of the heavens?’
12[†] There they [i] cry out, but he does not answer, because of the pride of evil men.
13 Surely God does not hear an empty cry,
nor does the Almighty regard it.
14[†] How much less when you say that you [j] do not see him, that the case is before him, and you are [k] waiting for him!
15 And now, because [l] his anger does not punish,
and he does not take much note of transgression, [2] 16 Job opens his mouth in empty talk;
he [m] multiplies words [n] without knowledge.”

Elihu Extols God’s Greatness

JOB 36 [†]And Elihu continued, and said:

2[†] “Bear with me a little, and I will show you,
for I have yet something to say on God’s behalf.
3 I will get my knowledge from [o] afar and ascribe [p] righteousness to my [q] Maker.
4 For truly my words are not false;
one who is [r] perfect in knowledge is with you.

5[†] “Behold, God is mighty, and [s] does not despise any;
he is [t] mighty in strength of understanding.
6[†] He does not keep the wicked alive,
but gives [u] the afflicted their right.
7 He does not withdraw his [v] eyes from the righteous,

but with [w]kings on the throne
he sets them forever, and they are [x]exalted.
[8][†] And if they are [y]bound in chains and caught in the cords of affliction, [9] then he declares to them their work and their transgressions, that they are [z]behaving arrogantly.
[10][†] He [a]opens their ears to instruction and commands that they [b]return from iniquity.
[11] [c]If they listen and serve him,
they [d]complete their days in prosperity,
and their years in pleasantness.
[12] But if they do not listen, they [e]perish by the sword and die [f]without knowledge.

[13][†] “The [g]godless in heart cherish anger; they do not cry for help when he [h]binds them.
[14] They [i]die in youth,
and their life ends among the cult prostitutes.
[15] He delivers [j]the afflicted by their affliction and [k]opens their ear by adversity.
[16][†] He also allured you out of distress into [l]a broad place where there was no cramping, and what was set on your [m]table was full of [n]fatness.

[17] “But you are full of the judgment on the wicked;
judgment and justice seize you.
[18][†] Beware lest wrath entice you into scoffing, and let not the greatness of [o]the ransom turn you aside.
[19] Will your [p]cry for help avail to keep you from distress, or all the force of your strength?
[20] Do not long for [q]the night, when peoples vanish [r]in their place.
[21] Take care; [s]do not turn to iniquity,
for this you have chosen rather than affliction.

22[†] Behold, God is exalted in his power;
who is [t] a teacher like him?
23 Who has [u] prescribed for him his way,
or who can say, [v] ‘You have done wrong’?

24 “Remember to [w] extol his work,
of which men have [x] sung.
25 All mankind has looked on it;
man beholds it from afar.
26 Behold, God is great, and we [y] know him not;
the number of his [z] years is unsearchable.
27 For he draws up the drops of water;
they distill his [a] mist in [b] rain, 28 which [c] the skies pour down and drop on mankind abundantly.
29 Can anyone understand [d] the spreading of the clouds,
the thunderings of his [e] pavilion?
30[†] Behold, he scatters his lightning about him and covers the roots of the sea.
31[†] For by these he [f] judges peoples;
he gives [g] food in abundance.
32[†] He covers his [h] hands with the lightning and commands it to strike the mark.
33 Its crashing declares his presence;[1]
the cattle also declare that he rises.

Elihu Proclaims God’s Majesty

JOB 37 “At this also my heart trembles and leaps out of its place.
2 Keep listening to the thunder of his voice and the rumbling that comes from his mouth.
3 Under the whole heaven he lets it go,
and his [i] lightning to the [j] corners of the earth.
4 After it [k] his voice roars;

[l] he thunders with his majestic voice, and he does not restrain the lightnings [1] when his voice is heard.
5 God thunders wondrously with his voice;
he does [m] great things that we cannot [n] comprehend.
6 For to [o] the snow he says, ‘Fall on the earth,’ likewise to the downpour, his mighty downpour.
7[†] He [p] seals up the hand of every man, that all men whom he made may [q] know it.
8 Then the beasts go into their [r] lairs,
and remain in their [s] dens.
9 From [t] its chamber [u] comes the whirlwind, and [v] cold from the scattering winds.
10 By the breath of God [w] ice is given,
and [x] the broad waters are frozen fast.
11 He loads the thick cloud with moisture;
the clouds scatter his lightning.
12 They [y] turn around and around by his [z] guidance, [z] to accomplish all that he commands them on the face of [a] the habitable world.
13[†] Whether for [b] correction or for his [c] land or for [d] love, he causes it to happen.

14[†] “Hear this, O Job;
stop and [e] consider the wondrous works of God.
15 Do you know how God lays his command upon them and causes the lightning of his cloud to shine?
16 Do you know the balancings [2] of the clouds,
the wondrous works of him who is [f] perfect in knowledge, 17 you whose garments are hot when the earth is still because of the south wind?
18 Can you, like him, [g] spread out the skies, hard as a cast metal [h] mirror?
19 Teach us what we shall say to him;
we cannot draw up our case because of [i] darkness.

20 Shall it be told him that I would speak?
Did a man ever wish that he would be swallowed up?

21[†] “And now no one looks on the light
when it is bright in the skies,
when the wind has passed and cleared them.
22 Out of the north comes golden splendor;
God is clothed with [j] awesome majesty.
23 The Almighty—we [k] cannot find him;
he is [l] great in power;
[m] justice and abundant righteousness he will not [n] violate.
24 Therefore men [o] fear him;
he does not regard any who are [p] wise in their own conceit.” [3]

The LORD Answers Job

JOB 38 [†]Then the LORD [q] answered Job out of the whirlwind and said:

2[†] “Who is this that [r] darkens counsel by words [s] without knowledge?
3 [t] Dress for action [1] like a man;
I will question you, and you make it known to me.

4[†] “Where were you when I [u] laid the foundation of the earth?
Tell me, if you have understanding.
5 Who determined its measurements—surely you know!
Or who stretched the line upon it?
6 On what were its bases sunk,
or who laid its cornerstone,
7[†] when the morning stars [v] sang together and all [w] the sons of God [x] shouted for joy?

8 “Or who [y] shut in the sea with doors
when it burst out from the womb, 9 when I made clouds its garment and [z] thick darkness its swaddling band,

10 and prescribed [a] limits for it and set bars and doors, 11 and said, ‘Thus far shall you come, and no farther, and here shall your [b] proud waves be stayed’?

12[†] “Have you [c] commanded the morning since your days began,
and caused the dawn to know its place, 13 that it might take hold of [d] the skirts of the earth, and the wicked be [e] shaken out of it?
14[†] It is changed like clay under the seal,
and its features stand out like a garment.
15 From the wicked their [f] light is withheld, and [g] their uplifted arm is broken.

16 “Have you [h] entered into the springs of the sea, or walked in the recesses of the deep?
17 Have [i] the gates of death been revealed to you,
or have you seen the gates of [j] deep darkness?
18 Have you comprehended the expanse of the earth?
Declare, if you know all this.

19 “Where is the way to the dwelling of light, and where is the place of darkness, 20 that you may take it to its territory and that you may discern [k] the paths to its home?
21 You know, for [l] you were born then,
and the number of your days is great!

22[†] “Have you entered [m] the storehouses of the snow, or have you seen [m] the storehouses of the hail,
23 which I have reserved [n] for the time of trouble,
[n] for the day of battle and war?
24 What is the way to the place where the light is distributed,
or where the east wind is scattered upon the earth?

25 “Who has cleft a channel for the torrents of rain and [o] a way for the thunderbolt, 26 to bring rain on [p] a land where no man is,
on [q] the desert in which there is no man, 27 to satisfy the waste and desolate land,
and to make the ground sprout with [r] grass?

28 “Has [s] the rain a father, or who has begotten the drops of dew?
29 From whose womb did [t] the ice come forth, and who has given birth to [t] the frost of heaven?
30 The waters become hard like stone, and the face of the deep is [u] frozen.

31 [†] “Can you bind the chains of [v] the Pleiades or loose the cords of [v] Orion?
32 Can you lead forth the Mazzaroth [2] in their season, or can you guide [v] the Bear with its children?
33 Do you know [w] the ordinances of the heavens?
Can you establish their rule on the earth?

34 “Can you lift up your voice to the clouds, that [x] a flood of waters may cover you?
35 Can you send forth lightnings, that they may go and say to you, ‘Here we are’?
36 Who has [y] put wisdom in [z] the inward parts [3] or given understanding to the mind? [4] 37 Who can number the clouds by wisdom?
Or who can tilt the waterskins of the heavens, 38 when the dust runs into a mass and [a] the clods stick fast together?

39 [†] “Can you hunt the prey for the lion, or [b] satisfy the appetite of the young lions,

40 when they crouch in their [c] dens or lie in wait [d] in their thicket?
41 Who provides for [e] the raven its prey,
    when its young ones cry to God for help,
    and wander about for lack of food?

JOB 39 “Do you know when [f] the mountain goats give birth?
    Do you observe [g] the calving of the does?
2 Can you number the months that they fulfill,
    and do you know the time when they give birth, 3 when they [h] crouch, bring forth their offspring,
    and are delivered of their young?
4 Their young ones become strong; they grow up in the open;
    they go out and [i] do not return to them.

5 “Who has let the wild donkey go free?
    Who has [j] loosed the bonds of the swift donkey,
6 to whom I have given [k] the arid plain for his home and [l] the salt land for his dwelling place?
7 He scorns the tumult of the city;
    he hears not the shouts of the driver.
8 He ranges the mountains as his pasture,
    and he searches after every green thing.

9[†] “Is [m] the wild ox willing to serve you?
    Will he spend the night at your [n] manger?
10 Can you bind [m] him in the furrow with ropes, or will he harrow the valleys after you?
11 Will you depend on him because his strength is great,
    and will you leave to him your labor?
12 Do you have faith in him that he will return your grain and gather it to your threshing floor?

13 “The wings of the ostrich wave proudly, but are they the pinions and plumage of love? [1]

14 For she leaves her eggs to the earth and lets them be warmed on the ground, 15[†] forgetting that a foot may crush them
and that the wild beast may trample them.
16 She [o] deals cruelly with her young, as if they were not hers;
though her [p] labor be in vain, yet she has no fear, 17 because God has made her forget wisdom and [q] given her no share in understanding.
18[†] When she rouses herself to flee, [2]
she laughs at the horse and his rider.

19 “Do you give the horse his might?
Do you clothe his neck with a mane?
20 Do you make him leap like the locust?
His majestic [r] snorting is terrifying.
21 He paws [3] in the valley and exults in his strength;
he [s] goes out to meet the weapons.
22 He laughs at fear and is not dismayed;
he does not turn back from the sword.
23 Upon him rattle the quiver,
the flashing spear, and the javelin.
24 With fierceness and rage he swallows the ground;
he cannot stand still at [t] the sound of the trumpet.
25 When the trumpet sounds, he says ‘Aha!’
He smells the battle from afar,
the thunder of the captains, and the shouting.

26 “Is it by your understanding that the hawk soars and spreads his wings toward the south?
27 Is it at your command that the eagle mounts up and makes his [u] nest on high?
28 On the rock he dwells and makes his home,
on [v] the rocky crag and stronghold.
29 From there he spies out the prey;
his eyes behold it from far away.

30 His young ones suck up blood, and [w] where the slain are, there is he.”

JOB 40 [†]And the LORD [x] said to Job:

2 “Shall a faultfinder [y] contend with the Almighty?
He who argues with God, let him answer it.”

Job Promises Silence

3[†]Then Job answered the LORD and said:

4 “Behold, I am [z] of small account; what shall I answer you?
[a] I lay my hand on my mouth.
5 I have spoken [b] once, and I will not answer;
[b] twice, but I will proceed no further.”

The LORD Challenges Job

6[†]Then the LORD [c] answered Job out of the whirlwind and said:

7 [d] “Dress for action [1] like a man;
[e] I will question you, and you make it known to me.
8 Will you even put me in the wrong?
Will you condemn me that [f] you may be in the right?
9 Have you [g] an arm like God, and can you thunder with [h] a voice like his?

10 “Adorn yourself with majesty and dignity;
[i] clothe yourself with glory and splendor.
11 Pour out the overflowings of your anger, and look on everyone who is [j] proud and abase him.
12 Look on everyone who is proud and bring him low and [k] tread down the wicked [l] where they stand.
13[†] [m] Hide them all in [n] the dust together;
bind their faces in the world below. [2]

[14] Then will I also acknowledge to you that your own [o] right hand can save you.

[15][†] “Behold, Behemoth, [3] which I made as I made you;
he eats [p] grass like an ox.
[16] Behold, his strength in his loins,
and his power in the muscles of his belly.
[17] He makes his tail stiff like a cedar;
the sinews of his thighs are knit together.
[18] His bones are tubes of bronze, his limbs like bars of iron.

[19] “He is [q] the first of [r] the works [4] of God;
let him who made him bring near his sword!
[20] For the mountains yield food for him where all the wild beasts play.
[21] Under the lotus plants he lies, in the shelter of [s] the reeds and in the marsh.
[22] For his shade the lotus trees cover him;
the willows of the brook surround him.
[23] Behold, if the river is turbulent he is not frightened;
he is confident though Jordan rushes against his mouth.
[24] Can one take him by his eyes, [5] or pierce his nose with a snare?

JOB 41 [†] [1] “Can you draw out [u] Leviathan [2] with a fishhook or press down his tongue with a cord?
[2] Can you put [v] a rope in his nose or pierce his jaw with [v] a hook?
[3] Will he make many pleas to you?
Will he speak to you soft words?
[4] Will he make a covenant with you to take him for [w] your servant forever?
[5] Will you play with him as with a bird, or will you put him on a leash for your girls?

6 Will traders bargain over him?
Will they divide him up among the merchants?
7 Can you fill his skin with harpoons or his head with fishing spears?
8 Lay your hands on him;
remember the battle—you will not do it again!
9[†] [3] Behold, the hope of a man is false;
he is laid low even at the sight of him.
10 No one is so fierce that he dares to stir him up.
Who then is he who can stand before me?
11 [x] Who has first given to me, that I should repay him?
[y] Whatever is under the whole heaven is mine.

12 “I will not keep silence concerning his limbs, or his mighty strength, or his goodly frame.
13 Who can strip off his outer garment?
Who would come near him with a bridle?
14 Who can open the doors of his face?
Around his teeth is terror.
15 His back is made of [4] rows of shields, shut up closely as with a seal.
16 One is so near to another that no air can come between them.
17 They are [z] joined one to another;
they clasp each other and cannot be separated.
18 His sneezings flash forth light, and his eyes are like [a] the eyelids of the dawn.
19 Out of his mouth go flaming torches;
sparks of fire leap forth.
20 Out of his nostrils comes forth smoke,
as from a boiling pot and burning rushes.
21 His breath [b] kindles coals,
and a flame comes forth from his mouth.
22 In his neck abides strength, and terror dances before him.

[23] The folds of his flesh [c] stick together, firmly cast on him and immovable.
[24][†] His heart is hard as a stone, hard as the lower millstone.
[25] When he raises himself up the mighty [5] are afraid;
at the crashing they are beside themselves.
[26] Though the sword reaches him, it does not avail, nor the spear, the dart, or the javelin.
[27] He counts iron as straw, and bronze as rotten wood.
[28] The arrow cannot make him flee;
for him sling stones are turned to stubble.
[29] Clubs are counted as stubble;
he laughs at the rattle of javelins.
[30] His underparts are like sharp [d] potsherds;
he spreads himself like [e] a threshing sledge on the mire.
[31] He makes the deep boil like a pot;
he makes the sea like a pot of ointment.
[32] Behind him he leaves a shining wake;
one would think the deep to be white-haired.
[33] [f] On earth there is not his like,
a creature without fear.
[34] He sees everything that is high;
he is king over all the [g] sons of pride.”

Job’s Confession and Repentance

JOB 42 [†]Then Job answered the LORD and said:

[2] “I know that you can [h] do all things,
and that no purpose of yours can be thwarted.
[3][†] [i] ‘Who is this that hides counsel without knowledge?’
Therefore I have uttered what I did not understand, things [j] too wonderful for me, which I did not know.

4 ‘Hear, and I will speak;
[k] I will question you, and you make it known to me.’
5 I had heard of you by the hearing of the ear,
but now my eye sees you;
6[†] therefore I despise myself, and repent [1] in [l] dust and ashes.”

The LORD Rebukes Job’s Friends

7[†]After the LORD had spoken these words to Job, the LORD said to Eliphaz [m] the Temanite: “My anger burns against you and against your two friends, for you have not spoken of me what is right, as my servant Job has. 8[†]Now therefore take [n] seven bulls and seven rams and go to my servant Job and [o] offer up a burnt offering for yourselves. And my servant Job shall [p] pray for you, for I will accept his prayer not to deal with you according to your folly. For you have not spoken of me what is right, as my servant Job has.” 9 [q] So Eliphaz the Temanite and Bildad the Shuhite and Zophar the Naamathite went and did what the LORD had told them, and the LORD accepted Job’s prayer.

The LORD Restores Job’s Fortunes

10[†]And the LORD [r] restored the fortunes of Job, when he had prayed for his friends. And the LORD gave Job [s] twice as much as he had before. 11[†]Then came to him all his [t] brothers and sisters and all who had [t] known him before, and ate bread with him in his house. And they [u] showed him sympathy and comforted him for all the evil [2] that the LORD had brought upon him. And each of them gave him [v] a piece of money [3] and [w] a ring of gold.

12And the LORD blessed [x] the latter days of Job more than his beginning. And he had [y] 14,000 sheep, 6,000 camels, 1,000 yoke of oxen, and 1,000 female donkeys. 13He had also [z] seven sons and three daughters. 14[†]And he called the name of the first daughter Jemimah, and the name of the second Keziah, and the name of the third Keren-happuch. 15And in all the land there were no women so beautiful as Job’s daughters. And their father gave them an inheritance [a] among their brothers. 16[†]And after this Job lived 140 years, and [b] saw his sons, and his sons' sons, four generations. 17And Job died, an old man, and [c] full of days.

Study Notes for Job

1:1–2:13 Prologue: Job's Character and the Circumstances of His Test. The book opens by introducing Job as blameless and upright. He is blessed with family and possessions. His life embodies faith in God both for himself and on behalf of his family (1:1–5). The author then describes conversations between God and Satan as Satan requests permission to test Job's character by afflicting him (1:6–2:10). The author then describes how Job's three friends hear of his suffering and come to offer sympathy and comfort (2:11–13). This creates the context for the rest of the book.

FACT

Comfort is a key word in the book of Job. When faced with personal tragedies, Job receives no comfort from his friends (16:2). But when God answers him (see chs. 38–41), he finds the comfort he needs.

JOB—NOTE ON 1:1 The precise location of the land of Uz is unknown. It may be related to Aram (Gen. 10:22–23), where Abraham's nephew and family lived (Gen. 22:21), or to a descendant of Seir who lived alongside the sons of Esau in the land also referred to as Edom (Gen. 36:28; see also Lam. 4:21). Job's faithfulness is stated at the beginning and affirmed again in Job 1:8 and 2:3. He is blameless and upright (a phrase also used to describe Noah [Gen. 6:9] and Abraham [Gen. 17:1]). Job is one who feared God and turned away from evil, which is how the book of Proverbs describes one who is wise (see Prov. 3:7; 14:16; 16:6).

JOB—NOTE ON 1:2–4 The large numbers of children, livestock, and servants, along with the feasting, suggest Job has enormous wealth. on his day. Birthday. Compare 18:20.

JOB—NOTE ON 1:5 cursed God in their hearts. The Hebrew is literally "blessed God in their hearts" (see ESV footnote). The context indicates, however, that the opposite idea, “to curse,” is intended. The same verb is used in this way, as a euphemism, in v. 11; 2:5, 9; 1 Kings 21:10, 13.

JOB—NOTE ON 1:6–12 The Lord draws Satan’s attention to Job, initiating the chain of events related in the rest of the book.

JOB—NOTE ON 1:6 Sons of God refers to heavenly beings gathered before God like a council before a king (compare 15:8; Isa. 6:1–8). Satan. The Hebrew noun satan is commonly used to describe an adversary (e.g., 1 Sam. 29:4; 1 Kings 11:14). Here it refers to a specific individual (“the Adversary,” ESV footnote) who does not appear to be one of the sons of God but who also came among them. The dialogue that follows reveals the character of this figure to be consistent with that of the serpent in Genesis 3, a character who is also referred to by using this noun as a proper name, “Satan” (e.g., 1 Chron. 21:1; see also Rev. 12:9).

JOB—NOTE ON 1:12 Satan has to ask permission to test Job (see also 2:6). This indicates his authority is under God’s control.

JOB—NOTE ON 1:13–19 Job’s troubles come from multiple directions in rapid succession. The Sabeans come from the south (v. 15), the fire from heaven (v. 16), the Chaldeans from the north (v. 17), and the wind from the east (v. 19).

JOB—NOTE ON 1:20 In the wake of his loss, Job expresses both grief (Job . . . tore his robe and shaved his head) and trust in the Lord (and fell on the ground and worshiped).

JOB—NOTE ON 1:21 In contrast to what Satan suggests will happen (vv. 9–11), Job cries out, “blessed be the name of the LORD.”

JOB—NOTE ON 2:1–10 Job’s second test is like the first (1:6–22), but includes an attack on his health.

JOB—NOTE ON 2:1–6 The second glimpse of the heavenly court (Again, v. 1) deliberately echoes the first (compare 1:6–12).

JOB—NOTE ON 2:3 The Lord points out to Satan that even after all that has happened to him, Job still holds fast his integrity. His grief, worship, and profession of faith in 1:20–21 are a faithful response to the tragedies.

JOB—NOTE ON 2:4–5 Skin for skin! All that a man has he will give for his life. Satan is suggesting that Job has remained faithful so far because it cost him only the "skin" of his livestock and family, which he was happy to trade for his own life.

JOB—NOTE ON 2:6 only spare his life. For Job's faith to be truly tested, his life must be spared; he must be denied the mercy of death (compare 3:20–23).

JOB—NOTE ON 2:9 Curse God and die. Job's wife advises him to respond to his suffering in the very way that Satan was hoping he would respond (see 1:11; 2:5).

JOB—NOTE ON 2:10 Job does not presume fully to know his wife's heart, but he warns her against speaking like one of the foolish women.

JOB—NOTE ON 2:11 Eliphaz is from Teman, an important city in Edom (Gen. 36:11, 15; Ezek. 25:13; Amos 1:11–12). It was apparently known for its wisdom (Jer. 49:7). Bildad is from Shuah, which was probably in Edom or Arabia. Zophar is from Naamah, which was probably in the Sinai Peninsula or Arabian Desert.

JOB—NOTE ON 2:12 It is likely that Job's friends did not recognize him because, in addition to his sores, Job bore other external effects of his grief (see 1:20; 2:7–8).

JOB—NOTE ON 2:13 The silence over seven days and seven nights signifies a time of mourning in response to Job's suffering. Ezekiel exhibited a similar response upon meeting the exiles in Babylon (see Ezek. 3:15).

FACT

Seven days and seven nights was a traditional period for mourning in the ancient Near East (2:13).

JOB—NOTE ON 3:1–42:6 Dialogue: Job, His Suffering, and His Standing before God. Between the brief narrative sections of the prologue (1:1–2:13) and epilogue (42:7–17), the large central section of the book is dialogue in poetic form. It focuses on the question of what Job's suffering reveals both about him and about God's governing of the world.

3:1–26 Job: Despair for the Day of His Birth. Job is mystified by his current circumstances. He wonders whether he would have been better off in the darkness of never being born rather than having the light of life result in such suffering and grief. Throughout the dialogue with Job's friends, darkness and light will refer to death and life. It will also symbolize what is hidden vs. what is revealed.

JOB—NOTE ON 3:1–2 Job cursed the day of his birth because it began the path of his life, which had led to his present distress.

JOB—NOTE ON 3:3–10 In skillfully crafted poetry, Job says he wishes that he had never been born.

JOB—NOTE ON 3:8 Elements of ancient myth are sometimes used metaphorically in Scripture, often in images of God's power or authority (see 26:12). Leviathan. An ancient symbol of chaos (see note on Ps. 74:14).

JOB—NOTE ON 3:13–19 Job describes death as rest from the toil of life. He pictures its effect on people both high and low in society. He wishes he had joined those who were already in this state of rest rather than being born. Job refers to the kings and princes who labored to obtain wealth and build cities but now lay without them in death.

FACT

Was Job a real person? It is not known exactly when Job lived, but he was a real person. Ezekiel 14:14, 20 and James 5:11 refer to him as a historical figure.

JOB—NOTE ON 3:20–26 The final sequence of "why" questions reflects Job's current miserable state.

JOB—NOTE ON 3:23 Satan had argued that Job was upright only because God had put a “hedge” of blessing around him (1:10). Here, Job says that his suffering makes him one whom God has hedged in.

4:1–25:6 The Friends and Job: Can Job Be Right before God? The main section of the book contains the dialogue between Job and the three friends. It opens with Job’s initial lament (3:1–16) and then alternates between speeches by each friend (Eliphaz, Bildad, Zophar) and responses by Job.

JOB—NOTE ON 4:1–14:22 First Cycle. Eliphaz begins this round of dialogues with a fairly gentle tone (4:3–4). Sympathy for Job rapidly fades, however, as the friends assume that Job’s moral failures are the reason for his present trouble. Job, for his part, is bewildered by his suffering. He argues (chs. 6–7), disputes (chs. 9–10), and rejects (chs. 12–14) the counsel of his friends.

JOB—NOTE ON 4:1–5:27 Eliphaz opens his first response by acknowledging Job’s good character (4:2–4). He then states what he knows to be true about how God works (4:7–5:16). He summarizes what will be the argument of the three friends: in light of Job’s current suffering, he cannot possibly be right before God (see 4:17). Eliphaz suggests that Job accept his circumstance as God’s rebuke so that he might be delivered (5:17–27).

JOB—NOTE ON 4:8 those who plow iniquity and sow trouble reap the same. At the opening of his speech, Eliphaz introduces the claim that the friends will relentlessly defend throughout the dialogue: a person’s character can be judged by his or her circumstances.

JOB—NOTE ON 4:12–21 Eliphaz reports that he had a vision (vv. 12–16) and then describes its content (vv. 17–21). The vision raises the question, Can mortal man be in the right before God? Eliphaz argues that if God puts no trust even in his angels, then Job, a mortal man, should seek God’s help rather than presuming the right to protest against him.

JOB—NOTE ON 5:1 Eliphaz asks if there are any creatures left on earth (anyone) or in heaven (the holy ones) to whom Job can appeal. It is a rhetorical question; he assumes he is right and doesn’t really expect an answer.

JOB—NOTE ON 5:6–7 Returning to his agricultural comparison in 4:8, Eliphaz argues that affliction and trouble do not grow out of the dust or ground. Rather, they are the result of everything a person does from the day he is born.

JOB—NOTE ON 5:16–17 The wicked sit in stunned silence at the reversal of their fortune. Likewise, Eliphaz implies, Job should consider his misfortune as evidence of God's just purposes.

JOB—NOTE ON 5:19–26 from six troubles; in seven (v. 19). The numbers are used symbolically to draw particular attention to the final element: if Job will accept his situation as God's discipline, he will be spared from his trouble and will be brought to a "ripe old age" (v. 26).

JOB—NOTE ON 6:1–7:21 Job responds to Eliphaz's words of "comfort."

JOB—NOTE ON 6:8–9 Job expresses a hope for death at God's hand, to end his suffering.

JOB—NOTE ON 6:14 Eliphaz has suggested that Job's suffering may mean that he has been a fool (see 5:3–7). Job argues that a person such as Eliphaz who withholds kindness from a friend is himself acting unwisely (forsakes the fear of the Almighty).

JOB—NOTE ON 6:15 Job's friends are treacherous as a torrent-bed, which can suddenly appear, providing water to a thirsty traveler, but may then just as quickly dry up.

JOB—NOTE ON 6:25–26 If upright words are used properly, they can reprove a person and save him from foolishness. However, Job is a despairing man, pouring out his complaint before God. His friends are wrong to assume that he needs to be corrected.

JOB—NOTE ON 6:28–30 For the first time, Job declares that he is innocent and deserving of vindication.

JOB—NOTE ON 7:11 The three parallel statements of this verse (I will . . .) mark the transition from Job's response to Eliphaz to his response to God.

That transition is also marked by the change in reference to God from the third person (“he”) in 6:9 to the second person (“you”) in 7:12.

FACT

What is Sheol? In the OT, Sheol (7:9–10) is where the dead reside. It is a place of rest for believers (1 Sam. 28:14), but a place of punishment for the wicked (Isa. 14:3–23).

JOB—NOTE ON 7:12 Job wonders why God treats him as if he were as powerful and dangerous as the sea or a sea monster.

FACT

In the literature of the ancient Near East, the sea (9:8) is often seen as a threat to the order of nature. People looked upon the sea as something that could not be contained or conquered.

JOB—NOTE ON 7:16 I loathe my life. Compare 9:21; 42:6.

JOB—NOTE ON 7:17–18 What is man, that you make so much of him echoes Ps. 8:4 (“what is man that you are mindful of him”). However, where Psalm 8 marvels at how humanity has been crowned with glory by God, Job laments the weight of God’s watchful presence crushing him (Job 7:20).

JOB—NOTE ON 8:1–22 Bildad is the second friend to “comfort” Job.

JOB—NOTE ON 8:4–6 After the rhetorical questions in v. 3, Bildad presents two conditional statements (“if . . . then”) to Job that are meant to represent the consequences of God’s justice. The first statement (v. 4) assumes that Job’s children have suffered because of their sin. The second calls Job to remember that, if he will repent (v. 5) and if he is blameless (v. 6), then God will spare him from the end that his children have suffered.

JOB—NOTE ON 8:8–10 Bildad bases his advice on the wisdom of his fathers, that is, his ancestors.

JOB—NOTE ON 8:11–19 Papyrus and reeds grow quickly in the wetlands, but they are also very vulnerable. They need a constant supply of water. Other plants are deeply rooted in rocky soil, but they can be uprooted, leaving no trace of their presence. Likewise, the way of the wicked is fragile and futile.

JOB—NOTE ON 8:20–22 In his conclusion, Bildad asserts two things: if Job were a blameless man, God would not have rejected him; the tent of the wicked will not stand for long.

JOB—NOTE ON 9:1–10:22 Job responds, in a speech that is relentlessly legal: ch. 9 is framed by the term contend (9:3; 10:2), and legal terms occur throughout the chapter (e.g., 9:2, 3, 14, 19, 20, 32, 33).

JOB—NOTE ON 9:1–2 When Job says, "I know that it is so," he is most likely affirming that Bildad is right: God is just, and he will not reject the upright (8:3, 20). However, in light of these truths, and in light of how the friends have interpreted Job's circumstances, Job slightly modifies the original question of Eliphaz (4:17) and asks, But how can a man be in the right before God? If God is just and Job is in fact innocent of the foolishness or wickedness his friends accuse him of, how can he go about arguing his case?

JOB—NOTE ON 9:3–10 Job does not respond further to the specifics of Bildad's argument. Instead he describes the difficulty of anyone arguing a case before God (vv. 3–4), given his power and strength (vv. 5–10).

JOB—NOTE ON 9:13 Rahab, like Leviathan (see 3:8; compare 7:12), is the name of a beast from the myths of the non-Israelite peoples. Here the name seems to represent the forces of chaos (but see note on Isa. 30:6–7).

JOB—NOTE ON 9:15 Though I am in the right, I cannot answer him. Job states here (and again in v. 20) that his friends have applied their theology to him and his circumstances in a way that traps him. Job agrees that God is just, but he feels there is no room for him to make the case for his innocence.

JOB—NOTE ON 9:20 Job thinks that no matter what he says, God will find his words unpersuasive and perverse. When Job says, "I am blameless" (also in v. 21), he echoes God's description of him in 1:8; 2:3.

JOB—NOTE ON 9:21 I regard not myself. Job seems to be saying that he does not care whether he lives or dies. He is prepared to risk his life to find justice (13:14).

JOB—NOTE ON 9:22–24 Job argues that, from what one can observe in the world, both the blameless and the wicked are destroyed, both fall prey to disaster, and both suffer injustice. All of these things are governed by God (if it is not he, who then is it?).

JOB—NOTE ON 9:32–35 There is no arbiter. Job criticizes his friends for not comforting him. He longs for an impartial party to hear his case (see v. 33, ESV footnote). He also wants the threat of further suffering removed, so that he could speak freely.

JOB—NOTE ON 10:1–2 As in 7:11, Job explicitly announces his turn to address his Creator directly.

JOB—NOTE ON 10:3 Job's awareness that he is the work of God's hands provides the theme for the verses that follow.

JOB—NOTE ON 10:8–13 Job shares the wonder of the psalmist (Ps. 139:14) and the insight given to the prophet (Jer. 1:5a), but uses it here to proclaim his innocence.

JOB—NOTE ON 10:15–17 Even if he is in the right (v. 15; see also 9:15, 20), Job feels he has no strength to walk upright because of the weight of his suffering (10:15) and the threat of further affliction (vv. 16–17).

FACT

Clay was one of the most readily available materials in ancient times. It was used to construct buildings and to make everyday household items. Job describes himself as having been made "like clay" (10:9) and says that he will someday return to dust. This should remind readers of Genesis 2:7, where the Lord created man from dust.

JOB—NOTE ON 10:21–22 Job repeatedly describes death as darkness and shadow. The adjectives (thick, deep) underscore his plea to be released from suffering while he still has the light of life.

JOB—NOTE ON 11:1–20 Like Bildad (8:1–22), Zophar accuses Job of being presumptuous and speaking empty words.

JOB—NOTE ON 11:7 There is irony in this verse that Zophar will realize only during the events of the epilogue (42:7–9). Zophar accuses Job of wrongly thinking he can know the deep things of God, but it is Zophar who is presuming to know God's purposes in Job's suffering.

JOB—NOTE ON 11:12 Zophar says the path of the stupid man will never lead to understanding. He calls Job to turn away from insisting he is in the right and instead seek God in prayer and repentance (vv. 13–20).

JOB—NOTE ON 12:1–14:22 In the longest response of the dialogues with his three friends, Job shows his growing frustration with their claims of wisdom (even though he agrees with them about God's supreme power; 12:1–13:2) and with the conclusions they have drawn (13:3–19). Then, once again, he addresses his lamentation directly to God (13:20–14:22).

JOB—NOTE ON 12:2–3 Job reveals his frustration through sarcasm. Responding perhaps to Zophar's wish that God would tell Job "the secrets of wisdom" (11:5–6), Job says, "wisdom will die with you." In other words, Job's friends seem to think that they alone are wise.

JOB—NOTE ON 12:4–6 Job argues that his friends' understanding of wisdom seems to ignore both the suffering of the righteous and the security of the wicked. Furthermore, while true wisdom would make a person want to comfort those who are suffering, his friends have shown contempt instead (see note on 6:14).

JOB—NOTE ON 12:6 Job's reference to the tents of robbers may have been in response to one or more of his friends' earlier assertions (see 5:24; 8:22; 11:14).

JOB—NOTE ON 12:7–9 Job suggests that his friends inquire of the animals and plants of creation, because they know that it is the LORD who governs all of life.

JOB—NOTE ON 12:13–25 In these verses, Job asserts that God's providential governing of the world is much more extensive than his friends realize.

JOB—NOTE ON 12:18 He looses the bonds of kings, that is, kings lose their thrones. The bond is the royal sash or belt.

JOB—NOTE ON 12:21–24 He pours contempt on princes and makes them wander in a trackless waste. God governs the powerful as well as the weak. Loosens the belt is a way of describing the disarming of a soldier.

JOB—NOTE ON 13:3–19 Before he turns to address his lament directly to God (13:20–14:22), Job argues that his friends have misdiagnosed him (worthless physicians; 13:4) and misrepresented God (vv. 7–10).

JOB—NOTE ON 13:4 you whitewash with lies. Job's friends have tried to patch over his situation with statements they ought to know are not true about either Job or God.

JOB—NOTE ON 13:6–10 Using legal terminology, Job says his friends are showing favoritism to his divine opponent in making his case for him (v. 8).

JOB—NOTE ON 13:11 Will not his majesty terrify you? Job questions whether his friends have considered seriously the glory and power of God, as they speak so casually on his behalf.

JOB—NOTE ON 13:16 The salvation Job hopes for is that he will be able to make his case before God, and that God will be his redeemer (see 19:25).

JOB—NOTE ON 13:20 Only grant me two things. Job abruptly shifts from warning his friends to pleading his case with God.

JOB—NOTE ON 13:27 you set a limit for the soles of my feet. The symbolic language refers either to confinement ("set a limit for") or to the tracking of movement ("marked"; see ESV footnote). Both ideas express God's vigilant pursuit of Job: the Lord restrains Job’s feet, and watches (marks) everywhere he goes.

JOB—NOTE ON 13:28–14:22 As his lament before God continues, Job moves from referring primarily to his own situation (13:20–27) to focusing on the nature of life for all people.

JOB—NOTE ON 14:4–5 No mortal can work outside the limits that God has set.

FACT

The book of Job includes three cycles of conversations in which the friends of Job offer their comfort and advice, and then listen as Job responds. The first cycle covers chs. 4–14.

JOB—NOTE ON 14:7–14 Job laments the limits of mortality by contrasting the consequences of cutting down a tree (vv. 7–9) and the death of a man (vv. 10–14). There is hope (v. 7) for a tree: even if root and stump decay (v. 8), it may still grow again (v. 9). However, when a man dies, his life on earth is finished (see vv. 10, 12, 14).

JOB—NOTE ON 14:15–22 Job longs for a renewal in which God would secure his path and forgive his sin (vv. 15–17). But he concludes that just as the elements wash away rock and soil, so God will wear down a man over the course of his life (vv. 18–22). God can remove the hope of man through the persistent eroding effect of suffering.

JOB—NOTE ON 15:1–21:34 Second Cycle. The arguments of each participant harden in the second round of speeches. Once again the three friends say that Job is suffering because of his sin. Job refuses to accept that explanation. He sees the wicked not as sufferers but as those who prosper despite their godlessness.

JOB—NOTE ON 15:1–35 As in the first round of dialogues, Eliphaz speaks first.

JOB—NOTE ON 15:2 Eliphaz says Job is full of wind rather than wisdom.

JOB—NOTE ON 15:4 you are doing away with the fear of God. The Hebrew lacks the words "of God" (see ESV footnote). However, the reference to God in the second half of the verse and the overall emphasis of vv. 2–6 show that this is precisely what Eliphaz is saying. He thinks Job has become careless in his complaint to God and is thus "doing away with" the very thing that will bring him relief, namely, repentance and humility before God.

JOB—NOTE ON 15:8 Have you listened in the council of God? The question ought to appear ironic to the reader, who has overheard the conversations between the Lord and Satan in the prologue (1:7–12; 2:2–6). Eliphaz is guilty of the very sort of presumption for which he criticizes Job. He has concluded wrongly that Job's suffering is an obvious indicator of God's judgment.

JOB—NOTE ON 15:14–16 Eliphaz revisits the central questions of his first response (see 4:17–21): if God does not trust fully even his heavenly servants, how can Job, a mere man, continue to claim innocence?

JOB—NOTE ON 15:20–35 Eliphaz describes the wicked man. He hopes that Job will see himself in the descriptions and will repent.

JOB—NOTE ON 15:27 The double occurrence of fat in this verse should call to mind other uses of the word to describe a proud disregard of God (see Ps. 73:7; 119:70; contrast Job 16:8 and note).

JOB—NOTE ON 15:31–35 Assuming that his perspective is correct, Eliphaz mercilessly chooses words that focus on the loss of Job's children as an indication of God's judgment. Given what the reader knows about Job, this section ought to instill humility in any person who seeks to rebuke another. Job has endured not only his children's deaths but also the condemning "comfort" of his friends.

JOB—NOTE ON 16:1–17:16 Job responds again. He begins by pointing out that his friends have failed as comforters (16:2–5), even though comfort was their original purpose for coming to him (see 2:11). He then describes the seeming paradox of his situation: God is the one who has brought this suffering upon him, and although others take this as a sign of divine judgment, Job trusts that God will vindicate him (16:6–17:9). The friends' condemnation of Job leaves death as his only hope, but to long for death is to give up any possibility of vindication and thus is no hope at all (17:10–16).

JOB—NOTE ON 16:8 To counter Eliphaz's description of the "fat" wicked person (15:27), Job points to his own shriveled and shrunken state. It testifies that God's hand is against him, but not that he is guilty (16:17).

JOB—NOTE ON 16:12–14 Like a city invaded during war, Job feels that he has endured breach upon breach from God.

JOB—NOTE ON 16:15 sewed sackcloth upon my skin. Job's constant grief is like a coarse cloth stitched to his skin, a reality of unending pain. laid my strength in the dust. Literally, "buried my horn in the ground." The horn of an animal represents strength, power, and nobility. Every indication of dignity and worth has been taken from Job.

FACT

Sackcloth (16:15) was an outward sign of grieving. It was a coarse fabric used for grain sacks. It was very uncomfortable to wear and thus showed that the person was truly grieving. It was also worn to show repentance.

JOB—NOTE ON 16:16 deep darkness. Literally, "shadow of death." Job's gaunt eyes are those of a dying man.

JOB—NOTE ON 16:19 witness . . . in heaven. Job either believes he already has an advocate in heaven or that God will eventually see he is blameless and declare him innocent. See 9:33; 19:25.

JOB—NOTE ON 17:5 Since vv. 1–4 are likely addressed to God, in v. 5 Job may be asking God to remember what his friends have done, or he may be warning the friends of the consequences of such actions, or both. Verse 5 may be quoting a proverb of the day, similar to other warnings in the OT against being a false witness (see Deut. 19:18–19; Prov. 19:5).

FACT

Proverbs in Job. In 17:5, Job may have been quoting a proverb to warn his friends not to make false accusations against him. Proverbs are an effective and memorable way of stating a truth. The book of Proverbs is a rich resource of such wisdom.

JOB—NOTE ON 17:7 all my members. Job's entire body is exhausted from grief and pain. Compare 16:7–16.

JOB—NOTE ON 17:10–16 In both lines of v. 12, Job appears to refer to the viewpoint of his friends. They have said that if Job would simply repent, God will restore him and turn his night into day (see 5:17–27; 8:5–7; 11:13–20). However, Job argues that accepting that way of thinking would be to make his bed in darkness (17:13). It would mean denying that God is both sovereign and just (and thus knows the truth). Job continues to hope (v. 15) that God will vindicate him.

JOB—NOTE ON 18:1–21 Like Eliphaz, Bildad expressed his frustration (vv. 2–4): Who is Job to maintain his position and criticize the words of his friends? The remainder of Bildad's response is a description of the destiny of the wicked (vv. 5–21).

JOB—NOTE ON 18:5–6 Bildad is likely responding to Job with the repeated images of the light of the wicked (flame, lamp) going dark (put out, does not shine). Job ought to take the "darkness" as a warning.

JOB—NOTE ON 18:7–10 Bildad uses the vocabulary of a trap (net, snare, rope) to argue that what Job describes as God breaking him apart (see 16:7–14) is better described as Job suffering the consequences of his own sin.

JOB—NOTE ON 18:11–14 Firstborn of death and king of terrors personifies the process and finality of death.

JOB—NOTE ON 18:14–21 Bildad refers throughout these verses to the destruction of both the house and the household of the wicked (both of which Job has endured; 1:13–19) to assert that Job’s circumstances show he is one who knows not God (18:21).

JOB—NOTE ON 19:1–29 Job responds, asking his friends how long they will persist in accusing him and why they feel no shame for doing so. Even if he has done wrong, it is God who has brought about his circumstances (vv. 2–6). Job laments that his suffering has brought only isolation and indifference from his family and friends (vv. 7–22). Job hopes that his trust in the Lord will be a permanent witness (vv. 23–27). He warns his friends against judging him, lest they fall under the very judgment they assume has fallen on Job (vv. 28–29).

JOB—NOTE ON 19:2 How long? Job echoes the question from the first line of each of Bildad’s speeches (8:2; 18:2) to draw attention to how his friends have been condemning him.

JOB—NOTE ON 19:3 Ten times indicates completion, not 10 literal times (compare Gen. 31:7, 41; Num. 14:22).

JOB—NOTE ON 19:6 Job affirms that God is just, but also that his suffering is not because of his sin. It is God who has allowed or brought about his circumstances.

JOB—NOTE ON 19:7 I cry out, “Violence!” Habakkuk opens his prophecy with a similar complaint (Hab. 1:2–4).

JOB—NOTE ON 19:8 He has walled up my way. God’s fence had once kept trouble away from Job (1:10), but it has now become a wall that gives Job no way of escape (compare 3:23).

JOB—NOTE ON 19:20 by the skin of my teeth. Job has narrowly escaped death.

JOB—NOTE ON 19:22 Why are you not satisfied with my flesh? Job’s friends seem so convinced that he has sinned and that his suffering represents God’s judgment. Job asks why they continue to pursue him.

JOB—NOTE ON 19:23–24 Job wishes his words could be recorded as a witness that would remain when he is dead. He refers to two methods of recording: inscribed in a book could refer to a scroll, a book, or a clay tablet; engraved in the rock would provide a more public and permanent record.

JOB—NOTE ON 19:25–27 For. Job states why he wants his words recorded (see vv. 23–24): I know that my Redeemer lives. The Hebrew word for "Redeemer" often refers to a "kinsman-redeemer" (see Ruth 4:1–6 and Introduction to Ruth). This person had the right and responsibility to protect members of his family. Job believes that God will ultimately declare him innocent.

JOB

Job was a wealthy man whom the Bible describes as "blameless and upright" (1:1). When God pointed out Job's faithfulness, Satan responded that Job feared God only because the Lord had protected and blessed him. To test Job's integrity, God allowed Satan to take away all of Job's possessions and his children. In a single day Job lost everything, yet he responded faithfully (1:21). Next God gave Satan permission to attack Job's health. He struck Job with painful sores (2:7). Job's wife then urged him to "curse God and die" (2:9). Job's friends wrongly concluded that his sins caused his suffering, but Job refused to accept this. Instead, Job asked God to explain why he was suffering. God eventually answered Job's cries, and Job humbly submitted to God's sovereignty. The Lord then restored Job's fortune, giving him "twice as much as he had before" (42:10), and blessed him with more children. (Job 19:25)

JOB—NOTE ON 19:28–29 Job uses the image of the sword to refer to passing judgment. He warns the friends against assuming that they can wield the sword of judgment that belongs to God alone.

JOB—NOTE ON 19:29 The wrath of the friends is a sin that deserves punishment (see 31:11, 28). False testimony demands the same penalty that would have been given the accused (Deut. 19:16–19). know there is a judgment. The appearance of the Redeemer, says Job, would be bad news for his friends.

JOB—NOTE ON 20:1–29 In his second response, Zophar expresses frustration at Job's continued belief that God has brought about his suffering but will ultimately vindicate him (vv. 2–3). Zophar then describes the life of the wicked, implying that Job is himself such a person (vv. 4–29).

JOB—NOTE ON 20:3 censure that insults me. Zophar may be referring to Job's response to his previous speech. Job had sarcastically criticized his friends and claimed that he was not their inferior (see 12:2–3).

JOB—NOTE ON 20:6–7 Zophar warns Job that whatever height a wicked man may have achieved will not change the fact that, when his end comes, it will be quick and complete.

JOB—NOTE ON 20:10–21 Zophar argues that neither the wicked man (vv. 12–19) nor his offspring (v. 10) will enjoy what he has acquired, because he has gained it through taking advantage of the weak (vv. 19–21). Instead, his children will be forced to beg from the poor (v. 10), who were some of the very people their father mistreated to gain his wealth (v. 19).

JOB—NOTE ON 20:27 Zophar wrongly assumes that Job's circumstances on earth are a transparent indicator of his guilt before God in the heavens.

FACT

Honey is mentioned often in the Bible (see 20:17). People probably gathered the honey from wild bees. The gathering of wild honey led to an interesting episode in the life of Samson (Judg. 14:8–20).

JOB—NOTE ON 21:1–34 Job's response closes the second cycle of the dialogue with his friends.

JOB—NOTE ON 21:7–16 Job argues that, contrary to what his friends have been saying (e.g., 18:5–21), the wicked often prosper and their offspring flourish (compare Psalm 73).

JOB—NOTE ON 21:22 Since God is the judge of those who are on high, who are therefore unseen, the friends should be all the more careful about claiming to understand what God’s purposes are, based merely on what they see on earth.

JOB—NOTE ON 21:33 all mankind follows after him. Many people are fooled by the external successes of the evil man. They follow his example in life and honor him when he dies.

JOB—NOTE ON 22:1–25:6 Third Cycle. The consistent pattern of the first two cycles unravels in this last dialogue. Eliphaz describes Job’s life as a constant stream of wicked activity (ch. 22). Job’s reply (chs. 23–24) strongly implies that the divine power that has afflicted him is impulsive and destructive. Bildad offers the beginning of a reply (ch. 25) before Job interrupts with a further assertion of the mystery of divine power (ch. 26; see next section). Zophar does not speak in this cycle. Job and his friends disagree more strongly now than when they started this discussion.

JOB—NOTE ON 22:1–30 In his final speech, Eliphaz once more calls Job to repent.

JOB—NOTE ON 22:2–4 Eliphaz argues that there could be no purpose for suffering other than to indicate judgment and a need to repent (v. 4).

JOB—NOTE ON 22:5–11 Eliphaz assumes that Job’s circumstances reveal significant evil in his life. He describes the likely ways that Job has sinned.

JOB—NOTE ON 22:9 Eliphaz assumes that Job has mistreated widows and the fatherless. He speaks in terms similar to the warnings in the law (see Ex. 22:22; Deut. 24:17) and the prophets (see Isa. 1:17; Jer. 22:3; Ezek. 22:7) about such behavior.

FACT

A pledge (22:6) was an object of worth given as a down payment on a debt. Israelites were not to take in pledge essential items such as clothing (Ex. 22:26) or tools a person needed for their work (Deut. 24:6).

JOB—NOTE ON 22:13 you say, . . . Can he judge through the deep darkness? Eliphaz accuses Job of saying that God is so far above humans that he is unable to know about their lives.

JOB—NOTE ON 22:16–18 Within these verses, Eliphaz essentially quotes Job's words from 21:14–16. However, while Job was arguing that the wicked prosper in spite of their rebellion against God, Eliphaz says that the prosperity of the wicked is only temporary, and they are snatched away before their time. Likewise, while Job said, "the counsel of the wicked is far from me" (21:16) to distance himself from their wicked practices, Eliphaz uses the same words, the counsel of the wicked (22:18), to describe Job's position.

JOB—NOTE ON 22:21 When he urges Job to "Agree with God," Eliphaz assumes that his own interpretation of Job's circumstances matches God's viewpoint.

JOB—NOTE ON 22:30 Eliphaz suggests that, if Job would repent of his supposed sin, he would be able to intercede even for one who is not innocent. Eliphaz does not realize that he himself stands in need of the very intercession he describes. In fact, forgiveness will later be granted to Eliphaz through Job's intercession on his behalf (see 42:7–9).

JOB—NOTE ON 23:1–24:25 Job is tired of arguing his case before his friends. In this reply, he ignores most of Eliphaz's most recent response. Instead, he expresses his desire to stand personally before the Lord.

JOB—NOTE ON 23:2 The opening phrase of Job's response is probably directed at his friends more than at God. Today also. Job is implying that his friends have neither comforted him well nor persuaded him of his guilt. My hand is heavy describes discouragement (compare "our hands fall helpless," Jer. 6:24).

JOB—NOTE ON 23:3–7 The last time Job used this kind of legal language, he was convinced that God would both ignore and condemn him (see 9:3, 16, 19). Here, his convictions are just the opposite: if Job were granted an audience, God would pay attention (23:6), and Job would be acquitted (v. 7).

JOB—NOTE ON 23:13–17 Although he has carefully considered his way (vv. 10–12), Job knows his future depends on what the Lord appoints to happen (vv. 13–14; compare Prov. 16:1, 9; 20:24; Jer. 10:23). Therefore, he is terrified at the thought of God's presence (Job 23:15–16). Still, even in the darkness of not being able to understand God's purposes fully, he continues his lament: yet I am not silenced.

JOB—NOTE ON 24:1–25 Job wishes that God's plans for the world and for Job would be more apparent.

JOB—NOTE ON 24:1 Job asks, why is it that (1) the wicked do not seem to experience times of judgment and (2) the righteous never see his days? Both parts of the question probably refer to the OT idea of the "day of the Lord," which often denotes the coming judgment (see Joel 2:1–11; and note on Amos 5:18–20) but which also represents the full revealing of God's glory.

JOB—NOTE ON 24:2–12 Job describes the injustices of the wicked (vv. 2–4) and the effects of the injustices on their victims (vv. 5–12). He concludes that God ignores these evils (v. 12). For a very different conclusion, see Lam. 3:31–36.

JOB—NOTE ON 24:13–17 Job describes people who oppose wisdom and righteousness as those who rebel against the light. Their reversal of the typical times of sleep and activity (deep darkness has become morning) shows that they do not know the light and instead have chosen to become friends with the terrors of deep darkness.

FACT

Those who rebel against the light is how Job describes people who oppose wisdom and righteousness (24:13). They sleep during the day and do their evil deeds at night.

JOB—NOTE ON 24:18–20 Job restates his friends' assertions to show that they seem to ignore the actual state of affairs on earth.

JOB—NOTE ON 24:18 “Swift are they on the face of the waters” may be a popular saying from the time of Job, but its meaning is unclear.

JOB—NOTE ON 24:21 Job notes the prevalence of injustice to the barren, childless woman and the widow. The care of such helpless people was an important part of the law (see Ex. 22:21–27; Deut. 24:17–22), and yet it seems as though God is not judging those guilty of such injustice.

JOB—NOTE ON 25:1–6 Bildad’s words represent the final speech of the three friends. The friends have argued that their theological understanding and application represent God’s perspective. They have never really considered the possibility that they could be wrong.

JOB—NOTE ON 25:4 How then can man be in the right before God? This question is repeated several times by Job and his friends in slightly different forms (4:17; 9:2; 15:14).

26:1–31:40 Job: The Power of God, Place of Wisdom, and Path of Integrity. Up until now, the dialogue between Job and his three friends has followed a pattern in which each speech by Job is followed by responses from the friends in a particular order: Eliphaz, Bildad, and Zophar. After two full cycles of the dialogue, it appears that Job is tired of the repetitive nature of his friends’ responses. He signals the end of the dialogue by cutting Bildad’s third response short and refusing to allow any third speech from Zophar. Job concludes with a lengthy monologue in which he takes up several themes. The friends’ presumed knowledge does not necessarily promote justice nor take into consideration the mystery of God’s ways (26:1–14). Job cannot agree that his suffering reveals wickedness, and he wishes that those who oppose him would be cut off along with the wicked (27:1–23). Job describes the value, mystery, and place of wisdom (28:1–28). He longs for the past (29:1–25), laments the present (30:1–31), and finishes with a plea that the true character of his life would be revealed and would be properly judged (31:1–40).

FACT

Hanging on nothing? Although he didn’t have all the tools of modern science, Job understood that God “hangs the earth on nothing” (26:7). His infinite power keeps every planet, moon, and star in its appointed place (Col. 1:15–17).

JOB—NOTE ON 26:2–3 How you have helped . . . saved . . . counseled . . . ! The presumed theological correctness of Bildad and the other two friends rings hollow. In their defense of God, they have not helped the poor and needy. In fact, they have wrongly accused Job, who has been the protector of the poor and needy. Nor have they understood the potentially disastrous consequences of their sound knowledge, that is, their firm belief that people are poor as a result of their own sin.

JOB—NOTE ON 26:4 Job asks his friends to examine whose help and whose breath has been behind their words, so they won’t wrongly assume that they have spoken on God’s behalf.

JOB—NOTE ON 26:5–10 The state or realm of the dead is not visible to humanity (it is under the waters), but it is naked and has no covering before God (vv. 5–6). Likewise, other things may be hidden: the heavens appear perched over the void, and the earth appears to hang on nothing (v. 7). It is God who has set the limits for all of these things (v. 10).

JOB—NOTE ON 26:11–14 The world reveals God’s power and understanding as the one who created and governs everything. How, then, can anyone who merely hears the thunder of his power claim to understand it?

JOB—NOTE ON 27:6 By saying that he will hold fast to his integrity, Job echoes the Lord’s description of him in the prologue (2:3).

JOB—NOTE ON 27:7–8 If Job is right to maintain his integrity (see vv. 2–6), then his adversaries should be considered as the wicked and unrighteous. There is no hope for the wicked when God cuts him off.

JOB—NOTE ON 27:11 Eliphaz claimed to speak for God in correcting Job (see 22:26–27). Job in turn declared that he received revelation from God that he could not deny (6:10). Now, he says that he will not conceal the thoughts of the Almighty.

JOB—NOTE ON 27:13 If Job's integrity is actually what is true with God, then Job's friends ought to consider whether they are the ones who stand in danger of the judgment that they have described.

JOB—NOTE ON 28:1–4 Job describes the difficulties of mining precious metals.

JOB—NOTE ON 28:7–8 Neither the birds of the sky (falcon's eye) nor the animals of the earth (lion) have any knowledge of activities like mining. They are uniquely human endeavors.

JOB—NOTE ON 28:10 Channels may refer to either rivers in general or the Nile specifically.

JOB—NOTE ON 28:11 Job's description of human industry (vv. 1–11) is summed up well in the second line of this verse: the thing that is hidden he brings out to light.

JOB—NOTE ON 28:12–22 But where shall wisdom be found? (Compare v. 20.) With all the negative statements in these verses, the answer is that true wisdom is unknown to mankind.

JOB—NOTE ON 28:15–19 These verses contain many references to gold and precious stones. All are expensive and difficult to obtain, yet none compare with the value of wisdom.

JOB—NOTE ON 28:21 The place of wisdom is hidden from the eyes of all living creatures on the earth, including humans and the birds of the air.

JOB—NOTE ON 28:22 The reference to Abaddon and Death here is likely related to Job's earlier description of them as a realm that is hidden from human observation (26:5–6).

JOB—NOTE ON 28:23–28 Only God understands and knows wisdom and how it is acquired (v. 23). God gives wisdom, and it is defined in relation to him: the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom (v. 28; see Prov. 1:7; 9:10), and to turn away from evil is understanding (see Prov. 3:7; 16:6).

JOB—NOTE ON 29:1–31:40 Chapters 29–31 conclude the dialogues with Job's reflections on his current and future state.

JOB—NOTE ON 29:2–6 Job recalls a time when he felt as if he were in his prime, as the friendship of God was evident on his household (v. 5) as well as his flocks and fields (v. 6).

JOB—NOTE ON 29:6 washed with butter. Job was renowned for his cattle and his olive groves.

FACT

Rocks pouring out streams of oil (29:6) is a reference to olive trees. They are one of the few trees that thrive in rocky soil. It can be 10 years or more before an olive tree yields fruit, but then it can produce olives for hundreds of years. Some olive trees are more than a thousand years old.

JOB—NOTE ON 29:7–25 Job looks back on what he had thought the course of his life would be. He had seen it as a well-rooted tree that would continue to bear fruit, benefiting himself and others (vv. 18–20). For similar images of the benefits of a faithful life, see Ps. 1:3; Prov. 3:13–18; Jer. 17:7–8.

JOB—NOTE ON 29:11–13 The blessing that Job received from others reflected the blessing he had been to those who had no one to help them and who needed to be delivered.

JOB—NOTE ON 29:14–16 Job used his possessions and influence to provide what others could not provide for themselves.

JOB—NOTE ON 29:16 searched out the cause. Job took up legal cases even when there could be no possible benefit for him in doing so.

JOB—NOTE ON 29:17 Job describes his actions on behalf of the needy as breaking the fangs of the unrighteous. He uncovered the traps of the wicked for their prey, the poor.

JOB—NOTE ON 29:20 The life of wisdom brings internal strength (my glory) and external vigor (my bow).

JOB—NOTE ON 29:21–22 Unlike the present, when his three friends challenge his every word, there was a time when people recognized Job's wisdom and after he spoke they did not speak again.

JOB—NOTE ON 29:24 As one who worked for righteousness and justice (vv. 12–17), the smile and light of Job's face encouraged those without hope and reflected God's character and presence (see "lamp" and "light" in v. 3).

JOB—NOTE ON 29:25 While Job had once been like one who comforts mourners, his three friends had set out to comfort him (2:11) but ended up accusing him instead.

JOB—NOTE ON 30:1–8 Although Job had delivered the truly needy from their unrighteous oppressors (29:11–17), those who now mock him are themselves needy, because of their own actions and foolishness.

JOB—NOTE ON 30:4 The plants mentioned here represent desperation.

JOB—NOTE ON 30:8 The Hebrew word translated senseless implies that these men are morally responsible for their circumstances (compare "foolish," 2:10; see the description of the foolish in Prov. 1:7, 29–32).

JOB—NOTE ON 30:9–15 Job describes his three friends as casting off any restraint, as if they were taking advantage of an easy military conquest (through a wide breach).

JOB—NOTE ON 30:11 loosed my cord. God has taken away Job's security (compare 29:4).

JOB—NOTE ON 30:16 my soul is poured out. A description of grief.

JOB—NOTE ON 30:24–31 Job pictures himself as one of those whose cries for help he used to answer (vv. 24–25). In his own distress he has only found evil where he hoped for good (v. 26), and isolation and mourning (vv. 27, 29–31) when he has called for help (v. 28).

JOB—NOTE ON 31:1–4 Job believes that his life is lived before and governed by the Almighty, who does number all my steps. a covenant with my eyes. Job professes purity in avoiding sexual lust: how then could I gaze at a virgin?

JOB—NOTE ON 31:9–12 enticed toward a woman. Job had avoided adultery, knowing that it can have far-reaching destructive effects like fire (see also Prov. 6:27–29). burn to the root all my increase. A judge could order heavy fines on an adulterer.

JOB—NOTE ON 31:13–15 Job met the needs of his servants, so that they would not have a complaint against him for which he would have no answer for God.

JOB—NOTE ON 31:16–23 The law commanded Israelites to care for the poor, widow, fatherless, and needy (Ex. 22:21–27). Job lived this way because he believed God weighed his actions and that calamity was the consequence for the unrighteous (Job 31:23; compare vv. 2–4).

JOB—NOTE ON 31:24–28 Job has guarded against the idolatry of trusting in the wealth that God has provided rather than trusting in God himself. He has also avoided the idolatry of worshiping what God has created.

JOB—NOTE ON 31:31–32 Who is there that has not been filled with his meat? Job's household was always well fed. the sojourner has not lodged in the street. Lodging was of critical importance to protect strangers from the dangers of the streets at night.

JOB—NOTE ON 31:33 as others do. See ESV footnote.

JOB—NOTE ON 31:35–37 Job wishes once again for an answer regarding his offenses (see vv. 13–15). Then he could give an account of all my steps to the One who numbers them (see v. 4).

32:1–37:24 Elihu: Suffering as a Discipline. A new speaker, Elihu, is introduced (32:1–5), followed by an uninterrupted record of his speeches (32:6–37:24). These include an announcement of his intention to speak (32:6–22), an initial challenge to Job (ch. 33), a general dispute against what Job has asserted (ch. 34), a description of Job's place before God (ch. 35), and a lengthy section that describes and defends God's majesty (chs. 36–37). Some scholars believe that Elihu's viewpoint in the dialogue is closest to that of God himself, but there is no hint of this in the chapters recording the Lord's own words (chs. 38–41).

FACT

Elihu is the only character in the book of Job with a Hebrew name.

JOB—NOTE ON 32:6–22 Elihu's opening speech repeats what the introductory section has described (vv. 1–5). Elihu directs his remarks primarily at the three friends.

ELIHU

Elihu rebuked both Job and his three friends. He was angry at Job for defending himself rather than God, and he was angry at Eliphaz, Bildad, and Zophar for failing to provide an answer for Job. During his lengthy speech, Elihu shifted the focus away from Job to God as the only source of certainty and hope. At the same time, he seemed to overestimate his own understanding, even claiming to speak "on God's behalf" (36:2). Actually, Elihu didn't understand the reasons for Job's suffering any more than the three friends did, and his statements were often similar to theirs. Although there was some truth in Elihu's argument, his application of those truths and the conclusions he drew about Job were often incorrect. (Job 32:1–5)

JOB—NOTE ON 32:8 Elihu plays on the words spirit and breath in his early speeches (see also 33:4; 34:14). He probably intends this as a reminder of Job's earlier plea (see 27:2–3), as he asserts his own right to speak.

JOB—NOTE ON 32:18–20 As in v. 8, Elihu claims he is not speaking by choice but by necessity. Elihu may be thinking he is like a prophet, but the reader must judge whether he is right.

JOB—NOTE ON 33:1–33 Elihu opens and closes this section with a call for Job to listen to his words and answer if he is able (vv. 1–7, 31–33). He then presents a summary of Job's contentions regarding himself, his circumstances, and God's seeming silence (vv. 8–13) and then suggests ways in which God speaks in order to turn a person from the way that leads to death (vv. 14–30).

JOB—NOTE ON 33:2–4 Elihu appears to be remembering Job's earlier statement where he declared that, as long as he had breath, he could not agree that his friends were right (see 27:2–6).

JOB—NOTE ON 33:9 Elihu summarizes Job's statements as if Job had argued that he was pure and without transgression. However, it is clear from Job's regular practice of making burnt offerings that this was not his claim (see 1:5). By mischaracterizing Job's plea, Elihu ends up offering a similar argument to that of the three friends: God is greater than man (33:12) and thus he must have intended to warn or rebuke Job (vv. 14–30).

JOB—NOTE ON 33:11 puts my feet in the stocks. Elihu quotes Job (compare 13:27).

JOB—NOTE ON 33:14 For God speaks . . . though man does not perceive it. Elihu is suggesting that Job has not recognized, and maybe even has ignored, the ways in which God has spoken to him.

JOB—NOTE ON 33:18 Elihu repeatedly states that the purpose of God's speaking to a person is to keep his soul from the pit (also vv. 22, 24, 28, 30). Thus he implies that Job's suffering may serve to correct his overall path rather than simply to punish some hidden sin.

FACT

Pits were used for everything from water collection and food storage to animal traps and prisons. Pits were often seen as signs of danger, representing the final destination of the wicked (33:18). Often the wicked are described as falling into the very pits that they themselves dug (Ps. 7:15; Prov. 26:27).

JOB—NOTE ON 33:19–22 pain on his bed . . . strife in his bones. Elihu uses vivid images, to make Job see his physical state as God's warning to him.

JOB—NOTE ON 33:23–28 Elihu poses a hypothetical situation in which an angel or mediator might deliver a person (vv. 23–25). He suggests that the appropriate response would be repentance and rejoicing (vv. 26–28). He implies that the loss of all of Job's possessions and family might be a ransom for his deliverance (v. 24).

JOB—NOTE ON 34:1–37 Elihu calls on "wise men" to hear Job's contention that he is in the right (vv. 2–9) and "men of understanding" to hear Elihu's argument against this claim (vv. 10–34). He presents both groups as those who will agree with Elihu against Job (vv. 35–37).

JOB—NOTE ON 34:3 palate tastes food. Truth is discerned through hearing, just as the quality of food is discerned through tasting. Job used this same proverb earlier to challenge his friends (12:11).

JOB—NOTE ON 34:8 Elihu describes Job as one who walks with evildoers and wicked men, a path that the wise are called to avoid (see Ps. 1:1).

JOB—NOTE ON 34:9 Although Job had stated that the wicked and the righteous seem to suffer the same fate, he did not say precisely what Elihu quotes him here as saying. Job had governed his own life by delight in God (see 23:10–12); he had argued that it was the wicked who live as if service to the Almighty profits a man nothing (see 21:15).

JOB—NOTE ON 34:10–12 Elihu's argument against Job results in the same dilemma that the three friends had: either Job is in the right or God is in the right, but it cannot be both (see 8:2–7).

JOB—NOTE ON 34:23 God has no need to consider a man further. Job has been asking for an opportunity to present his case before either God or some human judge, but Elihu says that God has already acted and does not need to give further consideration to Job's or any other person's case.

JOB—NOTE ON 34:26–28 Elihu suggests that Job has been struck for all to see because he has turned aside from following the Lord's ways by mistreating the poor and afflicted.

JOB—NOTE ON 34:34–37 Elihu says that any who are truly men of understanding or wise would agree with him, and that Job speaks like a fool who is without knowledge or insight. Furthermore, Elihu wishes that God's supposed judgment against Job would be taken to its logical end, because Job's words express rebellion and arrogance against God.

JOB—NOTE ON 35:1–16 Elihu thinks Job believes that his righteousness entitles him to God's blessing, but Elihu believes that neither faithfulness nor wickedness influences God (vv. 1–8). Job had observed how the oppressed cry out and the wicked are not punished, but Elihu argues that the oppressed often cry out in pride, and thus God does not respond (vv. 9–16).

JOB—NOTE ON 35:2 my right before God. Job had claimed that God had wronged him (19:6). In Elihu's view, this meant Job was claiming that he was right, rather than God (see 32:2).

JOB—NOTE ON 35:6–8 Elihu repeats an aspect of Eliphaz's final argument against Job—that God does not profit from Job's righteousness (see 22:2–3). Neither Eliphaz nor Elihu understand that the motivation for Job's complaint is his desire to see God glorified on earth in and through the lives of those who are faithful to him.

JOB—NOTE ON 35:12–13 Elihu says that God does not hear the empty cry of the oppressed, because of the pride of evil men. The context indicates that he is most likely referring to the oppressed themselves as "evil men."

FACT

Songs in the night. Without the conveniences of modern streetlights or flashlights, nights in the ancient world were very dark and often frightening. People could easily hurt themselves at night or fall prey to animals or criminals. Songs of worship were a great comfort in those circumstances (35:10).

JOB—NOTE ON 35:14–16 Elihu argues that, if God does not regard the cries of the proud oppressed (vv. 9–13), how can Job expect an answer (v. 14)? Elihu assumes that Job is an even more obstinate person, who takes his lack of punishment as reason to speak foolishly (vv. 15–16). This is extraordinarily insensitive, considering Job's actual situation.

JOB—NOTE ON 36:1–37:24 Elihu concludes his lengthy speech.

JOB—NOTE ON 36:2–4 Elihu presents his final speech as something offered on God's behalf. He emphasizes that, unlike Job (see 34:35), he has understanding that comes from outside himself (36:3), and that he is perfect in knowledge, something he will later ascribe also to God (see 37:16). Elihu is more arrogant than he realizes.

JOB—NOTE ON 36:5–21 Elihu implies that Job's situation is an example of God using affliction to deliver the righteous from their sin—if they are willing to accept his correction.

JOB—NOTE ON 36:6–7 The heart of Elihu's argument is that the afflicted are treated justly by God; they reveal the state of their heart by how they respond to affliction.

JOB—NOTE ON 36:8–15 Elihu describes affliction as a kind of captivity. He argues that God uses affliction to speak to people about their sin (v. 9).

JOB—NOTE ON 36:10 When Elihu says that God opens the ears (also v. 15), he is continuing his point from an earlier speech (see 33:14, 16). He suggests ways in which God has been speaking and Job may be failing to listen.

JOB—NOTE ON 36:13–14 Elihu describes those who hold onto their anger rather than crying out when God binds them through affliction (see v. 8). He warns that Job's continued complaining could result in his being like the godless in heart.

JOB—NOTE ON 36:16–17 Elihu suggests that Job should see his own suffering as God seizing him in judgment and justice.

JOB—NOTE ON 36:18 Elihu suggests that Job should consider the loss of his family, his reputation, and all his household as the ransom (compare 33:24) by which the Lord is trying to turn him from sin. He should not let the awful greatness of the ransom turn him aside from the path of repentance and restoration.

JOB—NOTE ON 36:22–37:13 Elihu describes God's power and majesty as manifested in storms, through which he accomplishes whatever purpose he has in mind.

JOB—NOTE ON 36:30 Lightning represents God's glory (compare Ps. 104:2–3). His glory covers (lights up) even the depths of the sea.

JOB—NOTE ON 36:31 he judges peoples. Judging and nourishing are often parallel aspects of God's provision. The clouds bear God's throne, from which he governs and feeds his people.

JOB—NOTE ON 36:32 Hands may be a way of describing the great arches of heaven, filled with God's light.

JOB—NOTE ON 37:7 He seals up the hand of every man. This probably refers to the way severe weather causes people to take shelter and thus prevents them from working.

FACT

The snow from Mount Hermon is an important water source for the Jordan River, but the climate in much of Israel is too mild for regular snowfall. In Job, snow is a symbol of purity (37:6).

JOB—NOTE ON 37:13 God's providential purposes may relate to people (correction or love) or may be for his land (see also 38:25–27).

JOB—NOTE ON 37:14–20 Elihu focuses on God's majesty. He calls on Job to listen (Hear this, O Job) and consider this description in his complaint before God.

JOB—NOTE ON 37:21–23 Elihu likens the light that comes after a storm has cleared to the God who is clothed with awesome majesty, who cannot simply be found, who is extremely powerful, and who does not violate what is right.

38:1–42:6 Challenge: The Lord Answers Job. The Lord responds in two speeches, each followed by a brief response from Job. Aware of God as never before, Job responds by humbly submitting to God's sovereignty and regretting his earlier words (42:1–6).

JOB—NOTE ON 38:1–40:2 After telling Job to prepare himself (38:1–3), the Lord asks Job whether he knows how creation was established (38:4–11) and if he has the knowledge or ability to govern it (38:12–38) or to shape the lives of its wonderful variety of creatures (38:39–40:2).

JOB—NOTE ON 38:1 the LORD answered Job out of the whirlwind. God reveals himself to Job in a display of both majestic power and personal presence. What the Lord will now say to Job will be in the context of steadfast love, not as judgment for what the friends assumed was Job's sin.

JOB—NOTE ON 38:2 Elihu had said that Job's words were generally "without knowledge" (34:35; 35:16). The Lord does not reprove Job so extensively when he indicates that Job darkens counsel by words without knowledge. Job had drawn conclusions about the nature of God from what was revealed on earth. God will remind Job that, even in what is revealed about God and his creation, much is still hidden.

JOB—NOTE ON 38:4–11 Job had begun by lamenting his birth and the timing of his life (ch. 3). Using the same language of birth, the Lord now asks Job about the birth of the universe. Can Job explain how the origin of the cosmos could or should have been different?

JOB—NOTE ON 38:7 The sons of God (compare 1:6 and note) are the heavenly beings surrounding God's throne.

JOB—NOTE ON 38:12–38 The Lord reminds Job that he cannot see fully what the Lord is doing about justice and judgment (see vv. 13, 15, 17, 22–23).

JOB—NOTE ON 38:14 features stand out like a garment. The changing colors of sunrise (see v. 12) are compared to the dyeing of a garment.

JOB—NOTE ON 38:22–23 The reference to storehouses that are reserved for the time of trouble is another reminder to Job that the Lord's rule over the earth takes into account things that are not known on earth (see vv. 13–15).

JOB—NOTE ON 38:31–32 Mazzaroth is a transliteration of an otherwise unknown Hebrew word. In the context, it must refer to one of the constellations. The Bear is also a constellation, as indicated by its connection with Orion and Pleiades in 9:9.

JOB—NOTE ON 38:39–39:30 The Lord now turns from describing his rule over all creation to his rule over specific creatures.

FACT

God's great majesty shines forth in poetic language in chs. 38–39. These are some of the Bible's most awe-inspiring passages about God.

JOB—NOTE ON 39:9 Hunting the wild ox was a sport of royalty.

JOB—NOTE ON 39:15 foot may crush them. The ostrich lays her eggs in a shallow nest on the ground. She sometimes scatters some of them, or deliberately destroys them if the nest is discovered.

JOB—NOTE ON 39:18 rouses herself to flee. The ostrich easily outruns the fearless warhorse. As it flees, the ostrich takes strides of over 15 feet (4.6 m) in length and reaches speeds of more than 40 miles (64 km) an hour.

JOB—NOTE ON 40:1–2 The Lord asks Job to answer, but the questions of chs. 38–39 have helped Job see that some things are beyond the reach of human power or understanding.

JOB—NOTE ON 40:3–5 In response to the Lord's questions, Job puts his hand over his mouth, just as princes had previously done in Job's presence (see 29:9). He pledges silence.

JOB—NOTE ON 40:6–41:34 Job knew what it was like to be misunderstood and misjudged by his friends. The Lord now shows Job how he had misjudged the Lord's rule over the world (40:6–9). Job had displayed godly character (see 29:11–17), but in speaking about divine justice Job was going beyond what he could comprehend (40:10–14). The Lord illustrates this point further by describing Behemoth (40:15–24) and Leviathan (ch. 41). If Job is unable to subdue these powerful beasts, who are themselves a part of God's creation, how much less should he presume to challenge God's ways in his life (41:9–11).

JOB—NOTE ON 40:6–14 Will you even put me in the wrong? . . . that you may be in the right? Job has tried to defend his own integrity in a way that seems to imply that God is acting against his own character (v. 8).

JOB—NOTE ON 40:13 Hide them . . . in the dust is a euphemism for "bury."

JOB—NOTE ON 40:15 Behemoth is probably a hippopotamus. Verses 16–18 can be read as poetic exaggeration.

FACT

Behemoth can refer to cattle. In 40:15 it is probably a hippopotamus.

JOB—NOTE ON 41:1–34 The Lord describes the power of Leviathan in terms of man's inability to subdue him. He compares such power to his own (vv. 9–11).

JOB—NOTE ON 41:1 Leviathan may be a crocodile, though some see it as a mythical creature representing forces overcome by God in creation (compare 3:8). Whatever powerful creature is in view, it is a part of God's creation and is governed by his power (see note on Ps. 74:14).

JOB—NOTE ON 41:9–11 If people are unable to subdue Leviathan, who is a part of God's creation, then how much more cautious should Job be about his desire to bring his case and stand before God.

JOB—NOTE ON 41:24 Heart in this verse represents the chest (see Ex. 28:29).

JOB—NOTE ON 42:1–6 In response to the Lord’s rebuke, Job confesses that the Lord’s power and purposes will not fail, and that he has spoken of things beyond his knowledge.

JOB—NOTE ON 42:3–4 In each of these verses, Job quotes the Lord’s questions (see 38:2–3; also 40:7) before responding to them.

JOB—NOTE ON 42:6 The Lord has already been merciful to Job. His rebukes and questions have been for Job’s own good. I despise myself. That is, “I recognize the ignorance behind my own words.” God’s mercy is pictured further in Job’s humble posture. In dust and ashes Job finally enjoys the comfort that his friends had withheld from him. Repent translates a form of the same word used of the friends’ intention to “comfort” Job in 2:11 (see ESV footnote).

JOB—NOTE ON 42:7–17 Epilogue: The Vindication, Intercession, and Restoration of Job. The final section of the book reveals on earth what the prologue had stated: Job’s suffering was not a consequence of sin (see 1:1–2:13).

JOB—NOTE ON 42:7–9 In God’s presence, Job finds the righteous judge for whom he had longed.

JOB—NOTE ON 42:7 not spoken of me what is right, as my servant Job has. Job’s words certainly expressed deep anguish and frustration, but God does not count these words as sinful. This is probably because Job never lost his earnest desire to appear before God.

JOB—NOTE ON 42:8 for I will accept his prayer not to deal with you according to your folly. The friends had been so sure they were defending wisdom against Job’s “folly,” only to find out they were totally mistaken. By interceding for his friends, Job exhibits the character of the Lord (slow to anger, abounding in love and mercy). He embodies the very mercy he himself had received. By doing so, he also continues the intercessory role he had faithfully performed for his family (see 1:5).

JOB—NOTE ON 42:10–17 Now that he has surrendered to God and has been reconciled with his friends, Job experiences restoration. He is still broken and bereaved, but as the restoration proceeds, his previous possessions of livestock are doubled (v. 12; compare 1:3), and 10 more children are born to him (42:13; compare 1:2).

ELIPHAZ, BILDAD, AND ZOPHAR

After the Lord allowed Satan to afflict Job, three of his friends, Eliphaz, Bildad, and Zophar, came to comfort him. However, all three wrongly assumed that Job's suffering was the result of some hidden sin. Each man urged Job to repent so that God would have mercy on him. But Job insisted that he was innocent. Although it is true that some suffering is a result of sin, Eliphaz, Bildad, and Zophar oversimplified this truth. They believed that all troubles are punishments for wrongdoing, which was not the case for Job. The wrong actions of Job's three friends should remind believers today to be wise and sensitive when dealing with people in distress. The Lord rebuked Job's three friends and instructed Job to pray for them. (Job 42:7–9)

JOB—NOTE ON 42:11 After he was restored, Job's siblings and other friends came to him and showed him sympathy and comforted him, which corrected a loss that Job had earlier lamented (see 19:13–19). This was the original intention of the three friends (see 2:11), but Job ends up receiving comfort primarily through his matured relationship with the Lord (see 42:6).

JOB—NOTE ON 42:14 Jemimah . . . Keziah . . . Keren-happuch. The name of the first daughter means "dove"; the second, "a kind of perfume"; and the third, "a type of eye shadow."

JOB—NOTE ON 42:16 Job lived 140 years. His long life (compare Ps. 90:10) was another sign of restoration (Job 42:10).

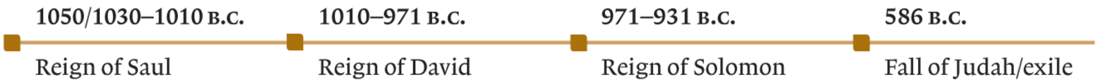
Introduction to The Psalms

Introduction to The Psalms

Timeline



Author and Date

Individual psalms come from diverse periods of Israel's history, but at every stage they served as the songbook of God's people. David wrote about half of the Psalms. His role as king was more than that of a ruler. He was to represent and even embody the people, and their well-being was tied to his faithfulness. David, then, writes as a representative, and the readers must discern whether the emphasis of a psalm is more on his role as ruler or more on his role as ideal Israelite, in which he is an example for all. The historical occasions mentioned in the psalm titles help the reader see how faith applies to real-life situations.

Key Themes

The Psalter is fundamentally the hymnbook of God's people. It takes the basic themes of OT theology and turns them into song:

1. Monotheism. The one God, Maker and Ruler of all, will vindicate his goodness and justice in his own time. Everyone must know and love this God, whose purity, power, wisdom, faithfulness, and unceasing love are breathtakingly beautiful.
2. Creation and fall. Though God made man with dignity and purpose, all people since the fall are beset with sins and weaknesses that only God's grace can heal.

3. Election and covenant. The one true God chose a people for himself and bound himself to them by his covenant. This covenant expressed God's intention to save his people, and through them to bring light to the world.
4. Covenant membership. In his covenant, God offers grace to his people: forgiveness of their sins, the shaping of their lives to reflect his own glory, and a part to play as light to the Gentiles. Each member of God's people is responsible to believe God's promises and to grow in obeying his commands. Those who do this enjoy the full benefits of God's love and find delight in knowing him. The well-being of God's people as a whole affects the well-being of each member. Each one shares the joys and sorrows of the others. When believers suffer, they should not seek revenge but should pray. They can be confident that God will make all things right in his own time.
5. Eschatology. The story of God's people is headed toward a glorious future, in which all kinds of people will come to know the Lord. The personal faithfulness of God's people contributes to his ultimate purpose. The Messiah, the ultimate heir of David, will lead his people in the great task of bringing light to the Gentiles.

Types of Psalms

The Psalms can be identified according to some basic categories:

Laments, which lay a troubled situation before the Lord, asking him for help. There are community (Psalm 12) and individual (Psalm 13) laments. This category is the largest by far, including up to a third of all Psalms.

Hymns of praise, which call God's people to admire his great attributes and deeds. Examples include Psalms 8; 93; and 145.

Hymns of thanksgiving. As with laments, there are community (Psalm 9) and individual (Psalm 30) thanksgiving psalms.

Hymns celebrating God's law (Psalm 119).

Wisdom psalms (Psalms 1; 37), which reflect themes from the Wisdom Books (Job, Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, Song of Solomon).

Songs of confidence, which enable worshipers to deepen their trust in God amid difficult circumstances (Psalm 23).

Royal psalms, which present the Davidic monarchy as the vehicle of blessing for God's people. Some of these are prayers (Psalm 20), some are thanksgivings (Psalm 21). All relate to the Messiah, the ultimate heir of David, either by setting a pattern (Psalms 20–21) or by portraying the king's reign in such a way that only the Messiah can completely fulfill it (Psalms 2; 72), or by focusing on the future (Psalm 110).

Historical psalms, which take lessons from the history of God's dealings with his people (Psalm 78).

Prophetic hymns, which echo the Prophets, calling people to covenant faithfulness (Psalm 81).

Structure

The standard Hebrew text divides the Psalms into five "books," perhaps in imitation of the five books of the Pentateuch.

Book 1	Psalms 1–41	Psalms 1–2 provide an introduction to the Psalms as a whole. Except for Psalms 10 and 33, the remaining psalms of Book 1 are psalms of David. Most of them are prayers of distress. Others are statements of confidence in the God who alone can save (e.g., 9; 11; 16; 18), striking the note that concludes the book (40–41). Reflections on ethics and worship are found in Psalms 1; 14–15; 19; 24; and 26.
Book 2	Psalms 42–72	Book 2 introduces the first group of psalms by the "sons of Korah" (42; 44–49; 50). There are also more psalms of David (51–65; 68–69), including most of the "historical" psalms (51–52; 54; 56–57; 59–60; 63). Once again, lament and distress dominate these prayers, which now also include a communal voice (e.g., 44; compare 67; 68). The lone psalm attributed to Solomon concludes Book 2 with a look at God's ideal for Israel's kings—ultimately pointing to Christ as the final great King of God's people.
Book 3	Psalms 73–89	The tone darkens further in Book 3. The opening Psalm 73 starkly questions the justice of God before seeing light in God's presence. That light has almost escaped the psalmist in Psalm 88, the bleakest of all psalms. Book 2 ended with the high point of royal aspirations; Book 3 concludes in Psalm 89 with these expectations badly threatened. Sharp rays of hope occasionally pierce the darkness (e.g., 75; 85; 87). The brief third book contains most of the psalms of Asaph (73–83), as well as another set of Korah psalms (84–85; 87–88).
Book 4	Psalms 90–106	Psalm 90 opens the fourth book of the psalms. It may be seen as the first response to the problems raised by Book 3. Psalm 90, attributed to Moses, reminds the worshiper that God was active on Israel's behalf long before David. This theme is taken up in Psalms 103–106, which summarize God's dealings with his people before any kings reigned. In between there is a group of psalms (93–100) characterized by the refrain "The LORD reigns." This truth refutes the doubts of Psalm 89.
Book 5	Psalms 107–150	The structure of Book 5 reflects the closing petition of Book 4 in 106:47. It declares that God does answer prayer (107) and concludes with five Hallelujah psalms (146–150). In between there are several psalms affirming the validity of the promises to David (110; 132; 144), two collections of Davidic psalms (108–110; 138–145); the longest psalm, celebrating the value of God's law (119); and 15 psalms of ascent for use by pilgrims to Jerusalem (120–134).

The Global Message of Psalms

The Psalms are a resounding call for all God's people and for all the world to sing! We are called to sing songs of confession and trust in God; to sing songs of thanksgiving and praise. The Psalms summon the global church to take up the cause of calling the world to join in such global and eternal songs of trust in, delight in, and worship of God for his magnificence—especially his magnificence displayed in his saving mercy.

Songs of Honest Lament

There is a surprising degree of honesty found in the prayers and songs of the Psalms. We find honest lament to God, with frequent repetition of questions such as "Why?" and "How long?" The psalmist asks in Psalm 42:9, "Why have you forgotten me?" Another psalm wonders, "Why, O LORD, do you stand far away? Why do you hide yourself in times of trouble?" (10:1; see also 88:14). "How long, O LORD?" is a frequent cry to God in the Psalms (see 6:3; 13:1; 79:5; 89:46).

Such prayers flow from desperately challenging situations, in which life feels overwhelming. Yet they also reflect the confident expectations of our honest cries to our compassionate and faithful God. The Lord invites his people worldwide to be boldly transparent before him—no masks, no pretense—even when the heart is breaking. He promises never to abandon those who belong to him.

Songs of Repentance and Trust

Songs of repentance are scattered throughout the Psalms. In such songs there are confessions of corporate sin—"Both we and our fathers have sinned; we have committed iniquity; we have done wickedness" (Ps. 106:6)—and individual songs of penitence (Psalms 6; 25; 32; 38; 51; 130; 143). These are not hopeless laments, but cries to a God who is a gracious deliverer (6:4), who deals with us according to his great love and mercy (51:1), and whose forgiveness flows from his goodness and not ours (130:3–4).

There is abundant reason to trust such a God for every good thing and in every situation (Psalm 23). To such a God we turn in times of great trouble, when we are at an utter loss in this fallen world. When enemies surround us and there is no one to help, God is our hope for deliverance (Psalm 22). Whether the desperate individual (Psalm 13) or the destitute community (Psalm 12) is in view, God is faithful to his promises. His steadfast love endures. He is worthy of our songs!

Songs of Thanksgiving and Praise

The Psalms are a divinely orchestrated hymnbook of thanksgiving and praise for God's people. The covenant people of God return thanks to God for his wonderful deeds of deliverance, justice, and defense (Psalm 9), and for his favor and mercies (30:5, 7, 8, 10). All of this moves his people to burst into songs of joy and glad dancing (30:11–12).

In the Psalms, the people of God rejoice in all that God is and all that he has done. These songs of praise exalt God for his unsearchable greatness, his glorious splendor, and his awesome deeds (Ps. 145:3–6). He is worshiped as the King over all creation (93:1),the eternal King (10:16), the King of glory (24:8, 10), the King of all the earth (47:7), and the great King above all gods (95:3).

The Global Message of the Psalms

For all God's people. The global message of the Psalms is that in light of God's unfailing love and faithfulness there is a song to be sung by all God's people everywhere—whatever their circumstances, whatever their emotions, whatever their adversity. The song to be sung will be of varied themes: lament, confession, repentance, thanksgiving, or praise to God. All of these, however, are songs of worship, expressing the universal experiences of God's people. This is worship of God by the individual and the community, local and global, young and old (Ps. 148:12), now and forever (89:52). For a lost world filled with rebellion and sorrow, there is no greater remedy than a song that brings those who sing it to take refuge in God himself: a song for the oppressed, the hungry, the prisoner, the sojourner, the widow, and the fatherless (146:7–9).

A new song. The message of the Psalms is a call to the whole world to "Sing a new song!" "Oh sing to the LORD a new song; sing to the LORD, all the earth!" (Ps. 96:1). This is not a song of empty promises, but a song full of hope, a song exulting in the salvation of a covenant keeping and merciful God; not a song that fades, but an enduring, eternal song; a song of a God who lifts us out of mud and mire (69:2, 14).

Celebrating salvation. The book of Psalms opens with a picture of the two ways of life—the blessed and fruitful life of the one who delights in God, and the fleeting life of the wicked who (apart from God) stand condemned (Psalm 1). The world is called to set aside folly and to join in the life and song of the Redeemer, celebrating the salvation that is rooted in the sacrifice of the Savior (Psalm 22). This new song has been sung down through the ages; it continues today throughout the world; and it will one day be sung in the very throne room of God (Rev. 14:3).

Summoning the Nations

To the ends of the earth. The global church has a message for the world: join in this song! It is a celebration that will generate further praise—globally, generationally, and eternally. The church is to "declare his glory among the nations!" (Ps. 96:3). From Israel to the Christian church today to the global kingdom that will one day be known to the very ends of the earth, the redeemed of the Lord will come from every nation, tribe, people, and language, giving God thanks and celebrating his grace (Rev. 7:9).

For all nations. There is a message for the nations: "Praise the LORD, all nations! Extol him, all peoples!" (Ps. 117:1). The Lord humbles the nations (9:5, 19, 20), but he extends to all an offer of mercy and grace. One day, the nations will become Christ's inheritance (2:8). This song begins with us but it must not end with us. There is a glorious globalization of the worship of God that we are privileged to help advance. In Christ we have found fullness of joy and pleasures forevermore (16:11). In turn we call the nations as well to be glad and sing for joy in him (67:4).

Fulfilled in Jesus. The love and mercy of God that forms the heart of the Psalms explodes onto history with the coming of Christ. It is in and through him that believers worldwide see God's covenant faithfulness right before their eyes.

Spreading God's glory. That glorious, global worship of God through Jesus Christ is not yet fully known or complete. Generating it is therefore our glad mission while on this earth. We will not rest till God's glorious name is blessed forever and the whole earth is filled with his glory (Ps. 72:19).

BOOK ONE

The Way of the Righteous and the Wicked

PSALM 1 [†] Blessed is the man [1] who [a] walks not in [b] the counsel of the wicked, nor stands in [c] the way of sinners,
nor [d] sits in [e] the seat of [f] scoffers;
[2][†] but his [g] delight is in the law [2] of the LORD, and on his [h] law he meditates day and night.

[3][†] He is like [i] a tree planted by [j] streams of water that yields its fruit in its season,
and its [k] leaf does not wither.
[l] In all that he does, he prospers.
[4][†] The wicked are not so,
but are like [m] chaff that the wind drives away.

[5][†] Therefore the wicked [n] will not stand in the judgment, nor sinners in [o] the congregation of the righteous;
[6][†] for the LORD [p] knows [q] the way of the righteous, but the way of the wicked will perish.

The Reign of the LORD’s Anointed

PSALM 2 [†] [r] Why do [s] the nations rage [1]
and the peoples plot in vain?
[2][†] The kings of the earth set themselves, and the rulers take counsel together,
against the LORD and against his [t] Anointed, saying, [3] “Let us [u] burst their bonds apart and cast away their cords from us.”

[4] He who [v] sits in the heavens [w] laughs;

the Lord holds them in derision.
5 Then he will speak to them in his [x] wrath, and terrify them in his fury, saying, 6 “As for me, I have [y] set my King on [z] Zion, my [a] holy hill.”

7[†] I will tell of the decree:
The Lord said to me, [b] “You are my Son;
today I have begotten you.
8[†] Ask of me, and I will make the nations your heritage, and [c] the ends of the earth your possession.
9 You shall [d] break [2] them with [e] a rod of iron and dash them in pieces like [f] a potter’s vessel.”

10[†] Now therefore, O kings, be wise;
be warned, O rulers of the earth.
11 [g] Serve the Lord with [h] fear, and [i] rejoice with [h] trembling.
12[†] [j] Kiss [k] the Son, lest he be angry, and you perish in the way,
for his [l] wrath is quickly kindled.
[m] Blessed are all who take refuge in him.

Save Me, O My God

A Psalm of David, [n] when he fled from Absalom his son.

PSALM 3 [†] O Lord, [o] how many are my foes!
Many are [p] rising against me;
2[†] many are saying of my soul,
[q] there is no salvation for him in God. Selah [1]

3 But you, O Lord, are [r] a shield [s] about me, my glory, and [t] the lifter of my head.
4 I [u] cried aloud to the Lord, and he [v] answered me from his [w] holy hill. Selah

5 I [x] lay down and slept;
I woke again, for the LORD sustained me.
6 I [y] will not be afraid of many thousands of people who have [z] set themselves against me all around.

7[†] [a] Arise, O LORD!
Save me, O my God!
For you [b] strike all my enemies on the cheek;
you [c] break the teeth of the wicked.

8[†] [d] Salvation belongs to the LORD;
your blessing be on your people! Selah

Answer Me When I Call

To the [e] choirmaster: with [e] stringed instruments. A Psalm of David.

PSALM 4 [†] Answer me when I call, O God of my [f] righteousness!
You have [g] given me relief when I was in distress.
Be gracious to me and hear my prayer!

2 O men, [1] how long shall my honor be turned into shame?
How long will you love vain words and seek after [h] lies? Selah 3[†] But know that the LORD has [i] set apart [j] the godly for himself;
the LORD hears when I call to him.

4[†] [k] Be angry, [2] and do not sin;
[l] ponder in your own hearts [m] on your beds, and be silent. Selah
5 Offer [n] right sacrifices, and put your [o] trust in the LORD.

6 There are many who say, “Who will show us some good?
[p] Lift up [q] the light of your face upon us, O LORD!”
7[†] You have put [r] more joy in my heart than they have when their grain and wine abound.

8 In peace I will both [s] lie down and sleep;
for you alone, O Lord, make me [t] dwell in safety.

Lead Me in Your Righteousness

To the choirmaster: for the flutes. A Psalm of David.

PSALM 5 [†] Give ear to my words, O Lord;
consider my [u] groaning.
2 [†] Give attention to the sound of my cry,
my [v] King and my God,
for [w] to you do I pray.
3 [†] O Lord, in [x] the morning you hear my voice;
in the morning I prepare a sacrifice for you [1] and [y] watch.

4 [†] For you are not a God who delights in wickedness;
evil may not dwell with you.
5 The [z] boastful shall not [a] stand before your eyes;
you [b] hate all evildoers.
6 You destroy those who speak [c] lies;
the Lord abhors [d] the bloodthirsty and deceitful man.

7 [†] But I, through the abundance of your steadfast love, will enter your house.
I will [e] bow down [f] toward your [g] holy temple
in the fear of you.
8 [h] Lead me, O Lord, in your righteousness
because of my enemies;
[i] make your way straight before me.

9 [†] For there is no truth in their mouth;
their inmost self is [j] destruction;
[k] their throat is [l] an open grave;
they [m] flatter with their tongue.
10 [†] [n] Make them bear their guilt, O God;
let them [o] fall by their own counsels;

because of the abundance of their transgressions cast them out,
for they have rebelled against you.

11 [†] But let all who [p] take refuge in you [q] rejoice;
let them ever sing for joy,
and spread your protection over them,
that those who love your name may [r] exult in you.
12 For you [s] bless the righteous, O LORD;
you [t] cover him with favor as with [u] a shield.

O LORD, Deliver My Life

To the choirmaster: with stringed instruments; according to [v] The Sheminith. [1] A Psalm of David.

PSALM 6 [†] O LORD, [w] rebuke me not in your anger, nor [x] discipline me in your wrath.
2 Be gracious to me, O LORD, for I am languishing;
[y] heal me, O LORD, [z] for my bones are troubled.
3 My [a] soul also is greatly troubled.
But you, O LORD—[b] how long?

4 [†] Turn, O LORD, deliver my life;
save me for the sake of your steadfast love.
5 [†] For in [c] death there is no remembrance of you;
in Sheol who will give you praise?

6 I am [d] weary with my [e] moaning;
every night I flood my bed with tears;
I drench my couch with my weeping.
7 My [f] eye wastes away because of grief;
it grows weak because of all my foes.

8 [†] [g] Depart from me, all you [h] workers of evil, for the LORD [i] has heard the sound of my weeping.
9 [†] The LORD has heard my [j] plea;
the LORD accepts my prayer.

10[†] All my enemies shall be ashamed and greatly troubled;
they shall [k] turn back and be put to shame in a moment.

In You Do I Take Refuge

A [l] Shiggaion [1] of David, which he sang to the LORD concerning the words of Cush, a Benjaminite.

PSALM 7 [†] O LORD my God, in you do I [m] take refuge;
[n] save me from all my pursuers and deliver me,
2 lest like [o] a lion they tear my soul apart, rending it in pieces, with [p] none to deliver.

3 O LORD my God, [q] if I have done this,
if there is [r] wrong in my hands,
4 if I have repaid [s] my friend [2] with evil or [t] plundered my enemy without cause, 5 let the enemy pursue my soul and overtake it,
and let him [u] trample my life to the ground and lay my glory in the dust. Selah

6[†] [v] Arise, O LORD, in your anger;
[w] lift yourself up against the fury of my enemies;
[x] awake for me; you have appointed a judgment.
7 Let the assembly of the peoples be gathered about you;
over it return on high.

8 The LORD [y] judges the peoples;
[z] judge me, O LORD, according to my righteousness and according to the integrity that is in me.
9 Oh, let the evil of the wicked come to an end, and may you establish the righteous—
you who [a] test [b] the minds and hearts, [3]
O righteous God!
10 My shield is [c] with God,
who saves [d] the upright in heart.
11 God is [e] a righteous judge, and a God who feels [f] indignation every day.

12 If a man [4] does not repent, God [5] will [g] whet his sword;
he has [h] bent and [i] readied his bow; 13 he has prepared for him his deadly weapons, making his [j] arrows [k] fiery shafts.
14 Behold, the wicked man [l] conceives evil and is [l] pregnant with mischief and gives birth to lies.
15 He makes [m] a pit, digging it out,
and falls into the hole that he has made.
16 His [n] mischief returns upon his own head,
and on his own skull his violence descends.

17[†] I will give to the LORD the thanks due to his righteousness, and I will [o] sing praise to the name of the LORD, the Most High.

How Majestic Is Your Name

To the choirmaster: according to The [p] Gittith. [1] A Psalm of David.

PSALM 8 [†] O LORD, our Lord, how majestic is your [q] name in all the earth!
You have set your [r] glory above the heavens.
2[†] [s] Out of the mouth of babies and infants,
you have established [t] strength because of your foes,
to still [u] the enemy and the avenger.

3 When I [v] look at your heavens, the work of your [w] fingers, the moon and the stars, [x] which you have set in place, 4 [y] what is man that you are [z] mindful of him,
and [a] the son of man that you [b] care for him?

5[†] Yet you have made him a little lower than [c] the heavenly beings [2] and crowned him with [d] glory and honor.
6[†] You have given him [e] dominion over the works of your hands;

[f] you have put all things under his feet,
7 all sheep and oxen,
and also the beasts of the field, 8 the birds of the heavens, and the fish of the sea, whatever passes along the paths of the seas.

9 O LORD, our Lord,
how majestic is your name in all the earth!

I Will Recount Your Wonderful Deeds

[1] To the choirmaster: according to Muth-labben. [2] A Psalm of David.

PSALM 9 [†] I will give thanks to the LORD with my whole heart;
I will recount all of your [g] wonderful deeds.
2 I will be glad and [h] exult in you;
I will [i] sing praise to your name, [j] O Most High.

3[†] When my enemies turn back,
they stumble and perish before [3] your presence.
4 For you have [k] maintained my just cause;
you have [l] sat on the throne, giving righteous judgment.

5 You have [m] rebuked the nations; you have made the wicked perish;
you have [n] blotted out their name forever and ever.
6 The enemy came to an end in everlasting ruins;
their cities you rooted out;
the very memory of them has perished.

7 But the LORD sits enthroned forever;
he has established his throne for justice, 8 and he [o] judges the world with righteousness;
he [p] judges the peoples with uprightness.

9 The LORD is [q] a stronghold for [r] the oppressed, a stronghold in [s] times of trouble.

10[†] And those who [t]know your name put their trust in you, for you, O LORD, have not forsaken those who seek you.

11[†] Sing praises to the LORD, who [u]sits enthroned in Zion!
Tell among the peoples his [v]deeds!
12[†] For he who [w]avenges blood is mindful of them;
he [x]does not forget the cry of the afflicted.

13[†] [y]Be gracious to me, O LORD!
See my affliction from those who hate me,
O you who lift me up from [z]the gates of death, 14 that I may recount all your praises, that in the gates of [a]the daughter of Zion
I may [b]rejoice in your salvation.

15[†] The nations have sunk in [c]the pit that they made;
in [d]the net that they hid, their own foot has been caught.
16 The LORD has made himself [e]known; he has executed judgment;
the wicked are snared in the work of their own hands. Higgaion. [4]
Selah

17[†] The wicked shall [f]return to Sheol, all the nations that [g]forget God.

18[†] For the needy shall not always be forgotten, and [h]the hope of the poor shall not perish forever.

19 [i]Arise, O LORD! Let not [j]man prevail;
let the nations be judged before you!
20 Put them in fear, O LORD!
Let the nations know that they are but [j]men! Selah

Why Do You Hide Yourself?

PSALM 10 [†] Why, O LORD, do you stand [k]far away?

Why [l]do you hide yourself in [m]times of trouble?

2 In arrogance the wicked hotly pursue the poor;
let them [n]be caught in the schemes that they have devised.
3[†] For the wicked [o]boasts of the desires of his soul, and the one greedy for gain [p]curses [1] and [q]renounces the LORD.
4 In the pride of his face [2] the wicked does not [q]seek him; [3]
all his thoughts are, [r]“There is no God.”
5 His ways prosper at all times;
your judgments are on high, [s]out of his sight;
as for all his foes, he [t]puffs at them.
6[†] He [u]says in his heart, “I shall not be moved;
throughout all generations I [v]shall not meet adversity.”
7[†] [w]His mouth is filled with cursing and [x]deceit and [y]oppression;
[z]under his tongue are [a]mischief and [b]iniquity.
8 He sits in ambush in the villages;
in [c]hiding places he murders the innocent.
His eyes stealthily watch for the helpless;
9 he lurks in ambush like [d]a lion in his [e]thicket;
he [f]lurks that he may seize the poor;
he seizes the poor when he draws him into his [g]net.
10 The helpless are crushed, sink down,
and fall by his might.
11[†] He says in his heart, “God has forgotten, he has [h]hidden his face, he [i]will never see it.”

12[†] [j]Arise, O LORD; O God, [k]lift up your hand;
[l]forget not the afflicted.
13 Why does the wicked [m]renounce God and say in his heart, “You will not [n]call to account”?
14[†] But you do see, for you [o]note mischief and vexation, that you may take it into your hands;
to you the helpless [p]commits himself;
you have been [q]the helper of the fatherless.

15[†] [r]Break the arm of the wicked and evildoer;
[s]call his wickedness to account till you find none.

16[†] [t]The LORD is king forever and ever;
the [u]nations perish from his land.
17 O LORD, you hear the desire of the afflicted;
you will [v]strengthen their heart; you will incline your ear 18 to [w]do justice to the fatherless and [x]the oppressed, so that [y]man who is of the earth may strike terror no more.

The LORD Is in His Holy Temple

To the choirmaster. Of David.

PSALM 11 [†] In the LORD I take refuge;
how can you say to my soul,
[z]“Flee like a bird to your mountain,
2 for behold, the wicked [a]bend the bow;
[b]they have fitted their arrow to the string to shoot in the dark at the upright in heart; 3[†] if [c]the foundations are destroyed,
what can the righteous do?” [1]

4[†] [d]The LORD is in his holy temple;
the LORD’s [e]throne is in heaven;
his eyes see, his eyelids [f]test the children of man.
5[†] The LORD [g]tests the righteous, but [h]his soul hates the wicked and the one who loves violence.
6[†] Let him rain coals on the wicked;
[i]fire and sulfur and a scorching wind shall be [j]the portion of their cup.
7 For the LORD is righteous;
he [k]loves righteous deeds;
[l]the upright shall behold his face.

The Faithful Have Vanished

To the choirmaster: according to The Sheminith. [1] A Psalm of David.

PSALM 12 [†] Save, O LORD, for [m]the godly one is gone;
for the faithful have vanished from among the children of man.
2 Everyone [n]utters lies to his neighbor;
with [o]flattering lips and [p]a double heart they speak.

3[†] May the LORD cut off all [o]flattering lips,
the tongue that makes [q]great boasts,

[4] those who say, “With our tongue we will prevail,
our lips are with us; who is master over us?”

[5][†] “Because [r]the poor are plundered, because the needy groan, [s]I will now arise,” says the Lord;
“I will place him in the [t]safety for which he longs.”
[6][†] [u]The words of the Lord are pure words, like silver refined in a furnace on the ground,
purified seven times.

[7][†] You, O Lord, will keep them;
you will guard us [2] from this generation forever.
[8][†] On every side the wicked prowl,
as vileness is exalted among the children of man.

How Long, O Lord?

To the choirmaster. A Psalm of David.

PSALM 13 [†] [v]How long, O Lord? Will you [w]forget me forever?
How long will you [x]hide your face from me?
[2][†] How long must I take [y]counsel in my soul and have sorrow in my heart all the day?
How long shall my enemy be exalted over me?

[3][†] [z]Consider and answer me, O Lord my God;
[a]light up my eyes, lest [b]I sleep the sleep of death,
[4] [c]lest my enemy say, “I have prevailed over him,” lest my foes rejoice because I am [d]shaken.

[5][†] But I have [e]trusted in your steadfast love;
my heart shall [f]rejoice in your salvation.
[6] I will sing to the Lord, because he has dealt bountifully with me.

The Fool Says, There Is No God

To the choirmaster. Of David.

PSALM 14 [†] [g] The [h] fool says in his heart, [i] "There is no God."
They are [j] corrupt, they do abominable deeds, [k] there is none who does good.

2 The LORD [l] looks down from heaven on the children of man,
to see if there are any who understand, [1]
who [m] seek after God.

3 [†] They have all turned aside; together they have become [n] corrupt;
there is none who does good,
not even one.

4 [†] Have they no [o] knowledge, all the evildoers who [p] eat up my people as they eat bread and [q] do not call upon the LORD?

5 [†] There they are in great terror,
for God is with [r] the generation of the righteous.
6 You would shame the plans of the poor,
but [2] the LORD is his [s] refuge.

7 [†] Oh, that salvation for Israel would come out of Zion!
When the LORD [t] restores the fortunes of his people,
let Jacob rejoice, let Israel be glad.

Who Shall Dwell on Your Holy Hill?

A Psalm of David.

PSALM 15 [†] O LORD, [u] who shall sojourn in your [v] tent?
Who shall dwell on your [w] holy hill?

2 [†] He who [x] walks blamelessly and [y] does what is right and [z] speaks truth in his heart;

3 who [a] does not slander with his tongue and does no evil to his neighbor, nor [b] takes up a reproach against his friend; 4[†] [c] in whose eyes a vile person is despised,
but who honors those who fear the LORD;
who [d] swears to his own hurt and does not change;
5[†] who [e] does not put out his money at interest and [f] does not take a bribe against the innocent.
He who does these things shall never be [g] moved.

You Will Not Abandon My Soul

A [h] Miktam [1] of David.

PSALM 16 [†] Preserve me, O God, for in you I [i] take refuge.
2 I say to the LORD, “You are my Lord;
[j] I have no good apart from you.”

3[†] As for [k] the saints in the land, they are the excellent ones, in whom is all my delight. [2]

4[†] The sorrows of those who run after [3] another god shall multiply; their drink offerings of blood I will not pour out or [l] take their names on my lips.

5[†] The LORD is [m] my chosen portion and my [n] cup;
you hold my [o] lot.
6 [p] The lines have fallen for me in pleasant places;
indeed, I have a beautiful inheritance.

7[†] I bless the LORD who [q] gives me counsel;
in [r] the night also my [s] heart instructs me. [4] 8 [t] I have [u] set the LORD always before me;
because he is at my [v] right hand, I shall not be [w] shaken.

9[†] Therefore my heart is glad, and my [x] whole being [5] rejoices;

my flesh also dwells secure.
10[†] For you will not abandon my soul to [y] Sheol,
[z] or let your [a] holy one see [b] corruption. [6]

11[†] You make known to me [c] the path of life;
in your presence there is [d] fullness of joy;
at your right hand are [e] pleasures forevermore.

In the Shadow of Your Wings

A [f] Prayer of David.

PSALM 17 [†] Hear a just cause, O LORD; [g] attend to my cry!
Give ear to my prayer from lips free of deceit!
2 From your presence [h] let my vindication come!
Let your eyes behold the right!

3[†] You have [i] tried my heart, you have [j] visited me by [k] night,
you have [l] tested me, and you will find nothing;
I have purposed that my mouth will not transgress.
4 With regard to the works of man, by the word of your lips
I have avoided the ways of the violent.
5 My steps have [m] held fast to your paths;
my feet have not slipped.

6 I [n] call upon you, for you will answer me, O God;
[o] incline your ear to me; hear my words.
7 [p] Wondrously show [1] your steadfast love,
O Savior of those who seek refuge from [q] their adversaries at your right hand.

8[†] Keep me as [r] the apple of your eye;
hide me in [s] the shadow of your wings, 9 from the wicked who do me violence,
my deadly enemies who [t] surround me.

10[†] [u] They close their hearts to pity;
with their mouths they [v] speak arrogantly.
11 They have now surrounded our [w] steps;
they set their eyes to [x] cast us to the ground.
12 He is like a lion eager to tear,
as a young lion [y] lurking in ambush.

13[†] Arise, O Lord! Confront him, subdue him!
Deliver my soul from the wicked by your sword, 14[†] from men by your hand, O Lord, from [z] men of the world whose [a] portion is in this life. [2]
You fill their womb with treasure; [3]
they are satisfied with [b] children,
and they leave their abundance to their infants.

15[†] As for me, I shall [c] behold your face in righteousness;
when I [d] awake, I shall be [e] satisfied with your likeness.

The Lord Is My Rock and My Fortress

To the choirmaster. A Psalm of David, [f] the servant of the LORD, [g] who addressed the words of this [h] song to the LORD on the day when the LORD rescued him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul. He said:

PSALM 18 [†] I love you, O Lord, my strength.
2 The Lord is my [i] rock and my [j] fortress and my deliverer, my God, my [i] rock, in [k] whom I take refuge,
my [l] shield, and [m] the horn of my salvation, my [n] stronghold.
3 I call upon the Lord, who is [o] worthy to be praised,
and I am saved from my enemies.

4 [p] The cords of death encompassed me;
[q] the torrents of destruction assailed me; [1]
5 [p] the cords of Sheol entangled me;
the snares of death confronted me.

6 [r] In my distress I called upon the LORD;
to my God I cried for help.
From his [s] temple he heard my voice,
and my cry to him reached his ears.

7[†] Then the earth [t] reeled and rocked;
the foundations also of the mountains trembled
and quaked, because he was angry.
8 Smoke went up from his nostrils, [2]
and devouring [u] fire from his mouth;
glowing coals flamed forth from him.
9 He [v] bowed the heavens and [w] came down;
[x] thick darkness was under his feet.
10 He rode on a cherub and flew;
he came swiftly on [z] the wings of the wind.
11 He made darkness his covering, his [a] canopy around him, thick clouds [b] dark with water.
12 Out of the brightness before him
[c] hailstones and coals of fire broke through his clouds.

13 The LORD also [d] thundered in the heavens, and the Most High uttered his [e] voice,
hailstones and coals of fire.
14 And he sent out his [f] arrows and scattered them;
he flashed forth lightnings and [g] routed them.
15 Then [h] the channels of the sea were seen, and the foundations of the world were laid bare at your [i] rebuke, O LORD,
at the blast of [j] the breath of your nostrils.

16 He [k] sent from on high, he took me;
he [l] drew me out of [m] many waters.
17 He rescued me from my strong enemy
and from those who hated me,
for they were [n] too mighty for me.

[18] They confronted me in the day of my calamity,
but the LORD was my support.
[19] He brought me out into [o]a broad place;
he rescued me, because he [p]delighted in me.

[20][†] The LORD dealt with me [q]according to my righteousness;
according to [r]the cleanness of my hands he rewarded me.
[21] For I have [s]kept the ways of the LORD,
and have not wickedly departed from my God.
[22] For [t]all his rules [3] were before me,
and his statutes I did not put away from me.
[23] I was [u]blameless before him,
and I kept myself from my guilt.
[24] So the LORD has rewarded me according to my righteousness, according to the cleanness of my hands in his sight.

[25] With [v]the merciful you show yourself merciful;
with the blameless man you show yourself blameless; [26] with the purified you show yourself pure;
and with [w]the crooked you make yourself seem tortuous.
[27] For you save [x]a humble people, but [y]the haughty eyes you bring down.
[28] For it is you who light my [z]lamp;
the LORD my God lightens my darkness.
[29] For by you I can run against a troop,
and by my God I can [a]leap over [b]a wall.
[30][†] This God—his way is [c]perfect; [4]
the word of the LORD [d]proves true;
he is [e]a shield for all those who [f]take refuge in him.

[31][†] For [g]who is God, but the LORD?
And who is [h]a rock, except our God?—
[32] the God who [i]equipped me with strength and made my way [j]blameless.
[33] He made my feet like the feet of a [k]deer and set me secure on [l] the heights.

34 He [m] trains my hands for war,
so that my arms can bend a bow of bronze.
35 You have given me the shield of your salvation,
and your right hand [n] supported me,
and your [o] gentleness made me great.
36 You [p] gave a wide place for my steps under me,
and my feet did not slip.
37 I pursued my enemies and overtook them,
and did not turn back till they were consumed.
38 I thrust them through, so that they were not able to rise;
they fell under my feet.
39 For you equipped me with strength for the battle;
you made those who rise against me sink under me.
40 You made my enemies [q] turn their backs to me, [5]
and those who hated me I destroyed.
41 [r] They cried for help, but there was none to save;
they cried to the Lord, but he did not answer them.
42 I beat them fine as [s] dust before the wind;
I cast them out like [t] the mire of the streets.

43 You delivered me from [u] strife with the people;
you made me [v] the head of the nations;
[w] people whom I had not known served me.
44 As soon as they heard of me they obeyed me;
[x] foreigners [y] came cringing to me.
45 [x] Foreigners lost heart and [z] came trembling out of their fortresses.

46[†] The Lord lives, and blessed be my rock,
and exalted be the God of my salvation—
47 the God who gave me vengeance
and [a] subdued peoples under me, 48 who delivered me from my enemies;

yes, you [b] exalted me above those who rose against me;
you rescued me from [c] the man of violence.

49 [d] For this I will praise you, O LORD, among the nations, and [e] sing to your name.
50 [†] Great [f] salvation he brings to his king,
and shows steadfast love to his [g] anointed,
to [h] David and his offspring forever.

The Law of the LORD Is Perfect

To the choirmaster. A Psalm of David.

PSALM 19 [†] [i] The heavens declare the glory of God, and the sky above [1] proclaims his handiwork.
2 Day to day pours out speech, and night to night reveals knowledge.
3 [†] There is no speech, nor are there words, whose voice is not heard.
4 [†] [j] Their [k] voice [2] goes out through all the earth, and their words to the end of the world.
In them he has set a tent for [l] the sun,
5 [m] which comes out like [n] a bridegroom leaving his chamber,
and, like a strong man, runs its course with joy.
6 Its rising is from the end of the heavens,
and its circuit to the end of them,
and there is nothing hidden from its heat.

7 [†] [o] The law of the LORD is perfect, [3]
[p] reviving the soul;
[q] the testimony of the LORD is [r] sure,
[s] making wise [t] the simple;
8 [†] [u] the precepts of the LORD are right, rejoicing the heart;
the commandment of the LORD is [v] pure,
[w] enlightening the eyes;

9 [†] the fear of the LORD is clean, enduring forever;
the rules [4] of the LORD are [x] true,
and righteous altogether.
10 More to be desired are they than [y] gold,
even much [z] fine gold;
[a] sweeter also than honey and drippings of [b] the honeycomb.
11 [†] Moreover, by them is your servant warned;
[c] in keeping them there is great reward.

12 [†] [d] Who can discern his errors?
[e] Declare me innocent from [f] hidden faults.
13 [†] [g] Keep back your servant also from [h] presumptuous sins;
let them not have [i] dominion over me!
Then I shall be blameless, and innocent of great transgression.

14 [†] Let the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart be acceptable in your sight,
O LORD, my [j] rock and my [k] redeemer.

Trust in the Name of the LORD Our God

To the choirmaster. A Psalm of David.

PSALM 20 [†] May the LORD [l] answer you in the day of trouble!
May [m] the name of the God of Jacob [n] protect you!
2 [†] May he send you help from [o] the sanctuary and give you support from [p] Zion!
3 [†] May he [q] remember all your offerings and regard with favor your burnt sacrifices! Selah

4 May he [r] grant you your heart’s desire and fulfill all your plans!
5 May we shout for joy over [s] your salvation, and in the name of our God set up our [t]banners!

May the LORD fulfill all your petitions!

6[†] Now I know that the LORD saves his anointed;
he will answer him from his holy heaven with [u]the saving might of his right hand.
7 Some trust in [v]chariots and some in [w]horses,
[x]but we trust in the name of the LORD our God.
8 They collapse and fall,
but we rise and stand upright.

9[†] O LORD, save [y]the king!
May he answer us when we call.

The King Rejoices in the LORD’s Strength

To the choirmaster. A Psalm of David.

PSALM 21 [†] O LORD, in your [z]strength the king rejoices, and in your [a]salvation how greatly he exults!
2 You have [b]given him his heart’s desire and have not withheld the request of his lips. Selah 3 For you [c]meet him with rich blessings;
you set [d]a crown of [e]fine gold upon his head.
4 He asked life of you; you [f]gave it to him,
[g]length of days forever and ever.
5 His [h]glory is great through your salvation;
[i]splendor and majesty you bestow on him.
6 For you make him most blessed forever; [1]
you make him glad with the [j]joy of your presence.
7[†] For the king trusts in the LORD, and through the steadfast love of the Most High he shall not be [k]moved.

8[†] Your hand will [l]find out all your enemies;
your right hand will find out those who hate you.
9 You will make them as [m]a blazing oven
when you appear.
The LORD will swallow them up in his [n]wrath,
and [o]fire will consume them.
10 You [p]will destroy their [q]descendants from the earth, and their offspring from among the children of man.
11 Though they plan evil against you, though they [r]devise mischief, they will not succeed.
12 For you will put them [s]to flight;
you will [t]aim at their faces with your bows.

13[†] Be exalted, O LORD, in your strength!
We will sing and praise your power.

Why Have You Forsaken Me?

To the choirmaster: according to The Doe of the Dawn. A Psalm of David.

PSALM 22 [†] [u] My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?
Why are you so [v] far from saving me, from the words of my [w] groaning?
2 O my God, I cry by [x] day, but you do not answer, and by night, but I find no rest.

3 Yet you are [y] holy,
[z] enthroned on [a] the praises [1] of Israel.
4 In you our fathers trusted;
they trusted, and you delivered them.
5 To you they [b] cried and were rescued;
in you they [c] trusted and were not put to shame.

6 [†] But I am [d] a worm and not a man,
[e] scorned by mankind and [f] despised by the people.
7 All who see me [g] mock me;
they make mouths at me; they [h] wag their heads;
8 [i] “He trusts in the LORD; let him [j] deliver him;
let him rescue him, for he [k] delights in him!”

9 [†] Yet you are he who [l] took me from the womb;
you made me trust you at my mother’s breasts.
10 On you was I cast from my birth, and from [m] my mother’s womb you have been my God.
11 Be not [n] far from me,
for trouble is near,
and there is [o] none to help.

12 [†] Many bulls encompass me;
[p] strong bulls of [q] Bashan surround me;
13 they [r] open wide their mouths at me,
like a ravening and roaring lion.

14 I am [s] poured out like water, and all my bones are [t] out of joint;
my [u] heart is like [v] wax;
it is melted within my breast;
15 my strength is [w] dried up like a potsherd, and my [x] tongue sticks to my jaws;
you lay me in the dust of death.

16 For [y] dogs encompass me;
a company of evildoers [z] encircles me;
they have [a] pierced my hands and feet [2]— 17 I can count all my bones—
they [b] stare and gloat over me; 18[†] [c] they divide my garments among them,
and for my clothing they cast lots.

19[†] But you, O LORD, [n] do not be far off!
O you my help, [d] come quickly to my aid!
20 Deliver my soul from the sword,
my precious life from the power of [e] the dog!
21 Save me from [f] the mouth of the lion!
You have rescued [3] me from the horns of [g] the wild oxen!

22[†] [h] I will tell of your name to my [i] brothers;
in the midst of the congregation I will praise you:
23 You who [j] fear the LORD, praise him!
All you offspring of Jacob, [k] glorify him,
and stand in awe of him, all you offspring of Israel!
24 For he has not despised or abhorred
the affliction of [l] the afflicted, and he has not [m] hidden his face from him,
but has heard, when he [n] cried to him.

25 From you comes my praise in the great [o] congregation;
my [p] vows I will [q] perform before those who fear him.

26 [r] The afflicted [4] shall [s] eat and be satisfied;
those who seek him shall praise the LORD!
May your hearts [t] live forever!

27 All [u] the ends of the earth shall remember and turn to the LORD,
and all [v] the families of the nations shall worship before you.
28 For [w] kingship belongs to the LORD, and he rules over the nations.

29 All [x] the prosperous of the earth eat and worship;
before him shall [y] bow all who go down to the dust,
even the one who could not [z] keep himself alive.
30 Posterity shall serve him;
it shall be told of the Lord to the coming [a] generation; 31 they shall [b] come and proclaim his righteousness to a people yet [c] unborn, that he has done it.

The LORD Is My Shepherd

A Psalm of David.

PSALM 23 [†] The LORD is my [d] shepherd; I shall not [e] want.
2 He makes me lie down in green [f] pastures.
He leads me beside still waters. [1]
3 [†] He [g] restores my soul.
He [h] leads me in [i] paths of righteousness [2]
for his [j] name's sake.

4 [†] Even though I [k] walk through the valley of [l] the shadow of death, [3]
I will [m] fear no evil,
for [n] you are with me;
your [o] rod and your staff,
they comfort me.

5[†] You [p] prepare a table before me in [q] the presence of my enemies;
you [r] anoint my head with oil;
my [s] cup overflows.
6 Surely [4] goodness and mercy [5] shall follow me
all the days of my life,
and I shall [t] dwell [6] in the house of the LORD [u] forever. [7]

The King of Glory

A Psalm of David.

PSALM 24 [†] [v] The earth is the LORD's and the fullness thereof, [1]
the world and those who dwell therein, 2 for he has [w] founded it upon [x] the seas and established it upon the rivers.

3[†] [y] Who shall ascend the hill of the LORD?
And who shall stand in his [z] holy place?
4 [a] He who has [b] clean hands and [c] a pure heart, who does not [d] lift up his soul to [e] what is false and does not swear deceitfully.
5 He will receive [f] blessing from the LORD and [g] righteousness from [h] the God of his salvation.
6 Such is [i] the generation of those who seek him, who [j] seek the face of the God of Jacob. [2] Selah

7[†] [k] Lift up your heads, O gates!
And be lifted up, O ancient doors, that [l] the King of glory may come in.
8 Who is this King of glory?
The LORD, strong and mighty,
the LORD, [m] mighty in battle!
9 Lift up your heads, O gates!
And lift them up, O ancient doors, that the King of glory may come in.

10 Who is this King of glory?
[n] The LORD of hosts,
he is the King of glory! Selah

Teach Me Your Paths

[1]. Of David.

PSALM 25 [†] To you, O LORD, I [o] lift up my soul.
2 [†] O my God, in you I [p] trust;
[q] let me not be put to shame;
[r] let not my enemies exult over me.
3 Indeed, [s] none who wait for you shall be put to shame;
they shall be ashamed who are [t] wantonly [u] treacherous.

4 [†] [v] Make me to know your ways, O LORD;
teach me your paths.
5 Lead me in your [w] truth and teach me,
for you are the God of my salvation;
for you I wait all the day long.

6 [†] Remember your [x] mercy, O LORD, and your steadfast love, [y] for they have been from of old.
7 Remember not [z] the sins of my youth or my transgressions;
according to your [a] steadfast love remember me,
for the sake of your goodness, O LORD!

8 [†] [b] Good and upright is the LORD;
therefore he [c] instructs sinners in the way.
9 He leads the humble in what is right, and teaches the humble his way.
10 All the paths of the LORD are [d] steadfast love and faithfulness, for those who keep his covenant and his testimonies.

11 For your [e] name’s sake, O LORD, pardon my guilt, for it is [f] great.

12 [†] Who is the man who fears the Lord?
Him [c] will he instruct in the way that he should choose.
13 His soul shall [g] abide in well-being,
and his [h] offspring [i] shall inherit the land.
14 [j] The friendship [2] of the Lord is for those who fear him,
and he makes known to them his covenant.
15 My [k] eyes are ever toward the Lord, for he will [l] pluck my feet out of the net.

16 [†] [m] Turn to me and be gracious to me,
for I am lonely and afflicted.
17 The troubles of my heart are enlarged;
bring me out of my distresses.
18 [n] Consider my affliction and my trouble,
and forgive all my sins.

19 Consider how many are my foes,
and with what violent hatred they hate me.
20 Oh, guard my soul, and deliver me!
[o] Let me not be put to shame, for I take refuge in you.
21 May integrity and uprightness preserve me,
for I wait for you.

22 [†] [p] Redeem Israel, O God, out of all his troubles.

I Will Bless the Lord

Of David.

PSALM 26 [†] [q] Vindicate me, O Lord, for I have [r] walked in my integrity,
and I have [s] trusted in the Lord without wavering.
2 [t] Prove me, O Lord, and try me;
test my heart and [u] my mind. [1]

3 For your [v] steadfast love is before my eyes, and I [w] walk in your [v] faithfulness.

4[†] I do not [x] sit with men of [y] falsehood, nor do I consort with hypocrites.
5 I [z] hate the assembly of evildoers, and I will not sit with the wicked.

6 I [a] wash my hands in innocence and go around your altar, O LORD, 7 proclaiming thanksgiving aloud,
and telling all your [b] wondrous deeds.

8 O LORD, I [c] love the habitation of your house and the place where your glory dwells.
9 [d] Do not sweep my soul away with sinners, nor my life with bloodthirsty men, 10 in whose hands are evil devices,
and whose right hands are full of [e] bribes.

11 But as for me, I shall walk in my integrity;
redeem me, and be gracious to me.
12 My foot stands on [f] level ground;
in [g] the great assembly I will bless the LORD.

The LORD Is My Light and My Salvation

Of David.

PSALM 27 [†] The LORD is my [h] light and my [i] salvation;
[j] whom shall I fear?
The LORD is the stronghold [1] of my life;
of whom shall I be afraid?

2 When evildoers assail me
to [k] eat up my flesh,
my adversaries and foes,

it is they who stumble and fall.

3 [l] Though an army encamp against me,
my heart shall not fear;
though war arise against me,
yet [2] I will be confident.

4[†] [m] One thing have I asked of the LORD, that will I seek after:
that I may [n] dwell in the house of the LORD
all the days of my life,
to gaze upon [o] the beauty of the LORD and to inquire [3] in his temple.

5 For he will [p] hide me in his shelter in the day of trouble;
he will conceal me under the cover of his tent;
he will [q] lift me high upon a rock.

6 And now my [r] head shall be lifted up above my enemies all around me, and I will offer in his tent sacrifices with shouts of [s] joy;
[t] I will sing and make melody to the LORD.

7 [u] Hear, O LORD, when I cry aloud;
be gracious to me and answer me!
8[†] You have said, [v] “Seek [4] my face.”
My heart says to you,
“Your face, LORD, do I seek.” [5]
9 [w] Hide not your face from me.
Turn not your servant away in anger,
O you who have been my help.
Cast me not off; forsake me not,
[x] O God of my salvation!
10 For [y] my father and my mother have forsaken me, but the LORD will [z] take me in.

11 [a] Teach me your way, O LORD, and lead me on [b] a level path
because of my enemies.
12 [c] Give me not up to the will of my adversaries;
for [d] false witnesses have risen against me,
and they [e] breathe out violence.

13[†] I believe [6] that I shall look upon [f] the goodness of the LORD in [g] the land of the living!
14[†] [h] Wait for the LORD;
[i] be strong, and let your heart take courage;
wait for the LORD!

The LORD Is My Strength and My Shield

Of David.

PSALM 28 [†] To you, O LORD, I call;
[j] my rock, be not deaf to me,
lest, if you [k] be silent to me,
I become like those who [l] go down to the pit.
2[†] [m] Hear the voice of my pleas for mercy,
when I cry to you for help,
when I [n] lift up my hands
[o] toward your most holy sanctuary. [1]

3[†] Do not [p] drag me off with the wicked, with the workers of evil,
[q] who speak peace with their neighbors while evil is in their hearts.
4 [r] Give to them according to their work and according to the evil of their deeds;
give to them according to the work of their hands;
[s] render them their due reward.

[5] Because they [t] do not regard the works of the LORD or the work of his hands,
he will tear them down and build them up no more.

[6][†] Blessed be the LORD!
For he has [u] heard the voice of my pleas for mercy.
[7] The LORD is my strength and [v] my shield;
in him my heart [w] trusts, and I am helped;
my heart exults,
and with my [x] song I give thanks to him.

[8] The LORD is the strength of his people; [2]
he is [y] the saving refuge of his anointed.
[9] Oh, save your people and bless [z] your heritage!
[a] Be their shepherd and [b] carry them forever.

Ascribe to the LORD Glory

A Psalm of David.

PSALM 29 [†] Ascribe to the LORD, O heavenly beings, [1]
[c] ascribe to the LORD glory and strength.
[2] Ascribe to the LORD the glory due his name;
worship the LORD in [d] the splendor of holiness. [2]

[3][†] The voice of the LORD is over [e] the waters;
the God of glory [f] thunders,
the LORD, over many waters.
[4] The voice of the LORD is [g] powerful;
the voice of the LORD is full of majesty.

[5] The voice of the LORD breaks the cedars;
the LORD breaks [h] the cedars of Lebanon.
[6] He makes Lebanon to [i] skip like a calf,
and [j] Sirion like a young [k] wild ox.

7 The voice of the LORD flashes forth flames of fire.
8 The voice of the LORD shakes the wilderness;
the LORD shakes the wilderness of [l] Kadesh.

9 The voice of the LORD makes [m] the deer give birth [3] and strips the forests bare,
and in his temple all cry, “Glory!”

10[†] The LORD sits enthroned over [n] the flood;
the LORD sits enthroned [o] as king forever.
11 May the LORD give [p] strength to his people!
May the LORD bless [4] his people with [q] peace!

Joy Comes with the Morning

A Psalm of David. A song at the dedication of [r] the temple.

PSALM 30 [†] I will [s] extol you, O LORD, for you have drawn me up and have not let my foes [t] rejoice over me.
2 O LORD my God, I [u] cried to you for help, and you have [v] healed me.
3 O LORD, you have brought up my soul from [w] Sheol;
you restored me to life from among those who [x] go down to the pit. [1]

4[†] Sing praises to the LORD, O you [y] his saints, and [z] give thanks to his holy name. [2] 5 [a] For his anger is but for a moment, and [b] his favor is for a lifetime. [3]
[c] Weeping may tarry for the night, but [d] joy comes with the morning.

6[†] As for me, I said in my [e] prosperity,
“I shall never be [f] moved.”
7 By your favor, O LORD,
you made my [g] mountain stand strong;

you [h] hid your face;
I was [i] dismayed.

8 [†] To you, O LORD, I cry,
and [j] to the Lord I plead for mercy:
9 “What profit is there in my death, [4]
if I go down to the pit? [5]
Will [k] the dust praise you?
Will it tell of your faithfulness?
10 [l] Hear, O LORD, and be merciful to me!
O LORD, be my helper!”

11 [†] You have turned for me my mourning into [m] dancing;
you have loosed my sackcloth and clothed me with gladness,
12 that my [n] glory may sing your praise and not be silent.
O LORD my God, I will give thanks to you forever!

Into Your Hand I Commit My Spirit

To the choirmaster. A Psalm of David.

PSALM 31 [†] [o] In you, O LORD, do I [p] take refuge; [q] let me never be put to shame;
in your [r] righteousness deliver me!
2 Incline your ear to me;
rescue me speedily!
Be [s] a rock of [t] refuge for me,
a strong fortress to save me!

3 For you are my rock and my fortress;
and for your [u] name’s sake you lead me and guide me;
4 you [v] take me out of [w] the net they have hidden for me,
for you are my [x] refuge.
5 [†] [y] Into your hand I commit my spirit;
you have redeemed me, O LORD, [z] faithful God.

[6] I [a]hate[1] those who pay [b]regard to worthless [c]idols, but I trust in the Lord.
[7] I will rejoice and be glad in your steadfast love, because you have seen my affliction;
you have [d]known the distress of my soul, [8] and you have not [e]delivered me into the hand of the enemy;
you have set my feet in [f]a broad place.

[9] Be gracious to me, O Lord, for I am [g]in distress;
[h]my eye is wasted from grief;
my soul and my body also.
[10][†] For my life is spent with sorrow,
and my years with sighing;
my strength fails because of my iniquity,
and [i]my bones waste away.

[11] Because of all my adversaries I have become [j]a reproach, especially to my [k]neighbors,
and an object of dread to my acquaintances;
those who see me in the street [l]flee from me.
[12] I have been [m]forgotten like one who is dead;
I have become like [n]a broken vessel.
[13] For I [o]hear the whispering of many—terror on every side!—
[p]as they scheme together against me, as they plot to take my life.

[14][†] But I [q]trust in you, O Lord;
I say, “You are my God.”
[15] My [r]times are in your hand;
[s]rescue me from the hand of my enemies and from my persecutors!
[16] [t]Make your face shine on your servant;
save me in your steadfast love!
[17] O Lord, [u]let me not be put to shame,
for I call upon you;

let the wicked be put to shame;
let them go [v] silently to Sheol.
18 Let the lying lips be mute, which [w] speak [x] insolently against the righteous in pride and contempt.

19[†] Oh, how abundant is your goodness, which you have stored up for those who fear you
and worked for those who take refuge in you, [y] in the sight of the children of mankind!
20 In [z] the cover of your presence you hide them from the plots of men;
you [a] store them in your shelter from the strife of tongues.

21 Blessed be the LORD,
for he has wondrously [b] shown his steadfast love to me when I was in [c] a besieged city.
22 I had said in my [d] alarm,[2]
“I am [e] cut off from [f] your sight.”
But you heard the voice of my pleas for mercy
when I cried to you for help.

23 Love the LORD, all you his [g] saints!
The LORD preserves the faithful but abundantly [h] repays the one who acts in pride.
24 [i] Be strong, and let your heart take courage, all you who wait for the LORD!

Blessed Are the Forgiven

A Maskil[1] of David.

PSALM 32 [†] [j] Blessed is the one whose [k] transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered.
2 Blessed is the man against whom the LORD [l] counts no iniquity, and in whose spirit [m] there is no deceit.

3[†] For when I kept silent, my [n] bones wasted away through my [o] groaning all day long.
4 For day and night your [p] hand was heavy upon me;
my strength was dried up [2] as by the heat of summer. Selah

5 I [q] acknowledged my sin to you, and I did not cover my iniquity;
I said, “I [r] will confess my transgressions to the LORD,”
and you forgave the iniquity of my sin. Selah

6[†] Therefore let everyone who is [s] godly offer prayer to you at a time when you [t] may be found;
surely in the rush of [u] great waters,
they shall not reach him.
7 You are a [v] hiding place for me;
you preserve me from [w] trouble;
you surround me with [x] shouts of deliverance. Selah

8 I will [y] instruct you and teach you in the way you should go;
I will [z] counsel you with my eye upon you.
9 [a] Be not like a horse or a mule, without understanding, which must be curbed with [b] bit and bridle,
or it will not stay near you.

10 [c] Many are the sorrows of the wicked, but steadfast love surrounds the one who [d] trusts in the LORD.
11 [e] Be glad in the LORD, and rejoice, O righteous, and [f] shout for joy, all you [g] upright in heart!

The Steadfast Love of the Lord

PSALM 33 [†] [h] Shout for joy in the Lord, O you righteous!
[i] Praise befits the upright.
[2] Give thanks to the Lord with the [j] lyre;
make melody to him with [j] the harp of [k] ten strings!
[3] Sing to him [l] a new song;
play skillfully on the strings, with loud shouts.

[4][†] For the word of the Lord is upright, and all his work is done in [m] faithfulness.
[5] He [n] loves righteousness and justice;
[o] the earth is full of the steadfast love of the Lord.

[6] By [p] the word of the Lord the heavens were made,
and by [q] the breath of his mouth all [r] their host.
[7] He gathers the waters of the sea as [s] a heap;
he [t] puts the deeps in storehouses.

[8] Let all the earth fear the Lord;
let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him!
[9] For [u] he spoke, and it came to be;
he commanded, and it stood firm.

[10][†] The Lord [v] brings the counsel of the nations to nothing;
he frustrates the plans of the peoples.
[11] [w] The counsel of the Lord stands forever,
the plans of his heart to all generations.
[12] [x] Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord,
the people whom he has [y] chosen as his heritage!

[13] The Lord [z] looks down from heaven;
he sees all the children of man;
[14] from [a] where he sits enthroned he [b] looks out on all the inhabitants of the earth,

15 he who fashions the hearts of them all and observes all their deeds.
16 [c] The king is not saved by his great army;
a warrior is not delivered by his great strength.
17 [d] The war horse is a false hope for salvation, and by its great might it cannot rescue.

18 Behold, [e] the eye of the LORD is on those who fear him,
[f] on those who hope in his steadfast love,
19 that he may [g] deliver their soul from death and keep them alive in [h] famine.

20[†] Our soul [i] waits for the LORD;
he is our [j] help and [k] our shield.
21 For our heart is [l] glad in him,
because we [m] trust in his holy name.
22 Let your steadfast love, O LORD, be upon us, even as we hope in you.

Taste and See That the LORD Is Good

[1] Of David, when he [n] changed his behavior before [o] Abimelech, so that he drove him out, and he went away.

PSALM 34 [†] I will bless the LORD [p] at all times;
his praise shall continually be in my mouth.
2 My soul [q] makes its boast in the LORD;
let the humble hear and [r] be glad.
3 Oh, [s] magnify the LORD with me,
and let us exalt his name together!

4[†] I [t] sought the LORD, and he answered me and delivered me from all my fears.
5 Those who look to him are [u] radiant, and their faces shall never be ashamed.
6 [v] This poor man cried, and the LORD heard him and [w]saved him out of all his troubles.

7 [x]The angel of the LORD [y]encamps around those who fear him, and delivers them.

8[†] Oh, [z]taste and see that [a]the LORD is good!
[b]Blessed is the man who takes refuge in him!
9 Oh, fear the LORD, you his saints, for those who fear him have no lack!
10 [c]The young lions suffer want and hunger;
but those who [d]seek the LORD lack no good thing.

11 [e]Come, O children, listen to me;
[f]I will teach you the fear of the LORD.
12 [g]What man is there who desires life and loves many days, that he may [h]see good?
13 [i]Keep your tongue from evil and your lips from [j]speaking deceit.
14 [k]Turn away from evil and do good;
seek peace and [l]pursue it.

15[†] [m]The eyes of the LORD are toward the righteous
[n]and his ears toward their cry.
16 [o]The face of the LORD is against those who do evil, to [p]cut off the memory of them from the earth.
17 [n]When the righteous cry for help, the LORD hears and delivers them out of all their troubles.
18 The LORD is near to [q]the brokenhearted and saves [r]the crushed in spirit.

19 [s]Many are the afflictions of the righteous,
[t]but the LORD delivers him out of them all.
20 He keeps all his bones;
[u]not one of them is broken.
21 [v]Affliction will slay the wicked, and those who hate the righteous will be condemned.

22 The Lord [w] redeems the life of his servants;
none of those who take refuge in him will be [x] condemned.

Great Is the Lord

Of David.

PSALM 35 [†] Contend, O Lord, with those who [y] contend with me;
[z] fight against those who fight against me!
2 Take hold of [a] shield and buckler and rise for my help!
3 Draw the spear and javelin [1]
against my pursuers!
Say to my soul,
"I am your salvation!"

4[†] [b] Let them be [c] put to shame and dishonor who seek after my life!
Let them be [d] turned back and disappointed who devise evil against me!
5 Let them be like [e] chaff before the wind,
with the angel of the Lord driving them away!
6 Let their way be dark and [f] slippery,
with the angel of the Lord pursuing them!

7 For [g] without cause [h] they hid their net for me;
without cause they dug [i] a pit for my life. [2] 8 Let [j] destruction come upon him [k] when he does not know it!
And let the net that he hid ensnare him;
let him fall into it—to his destruction!

9[†] Then my soul will rejoice in the Lord,
[l] exulting in his salvation.
10 All my [m] bones shall say,
"O Lord, [n] who is like you, delivering the poor

from him who is too strong for him,
the poor and needy from him who robs him?"

11 [o] Malicious [3] witnesses rise up;
they ask me of things that I do not know.
12 [p] They repay me evil for good;
my soul is bereft. [4]
13 But I, [q] when they were sick—
I [r] wore sackcloth;
I [s] afflicted myself with fasting;
I prayed [t] with head bowed [5] on my chest.
14 I went about as though I grieved for my friend or my brother;
as one who laments his mother,
I [u] bowed down in mourning.

15 But at my stumbling they rejoiced and gathered;
they gathered together against me;
[v] wretches whom I did not know tore at me without ceasing;
16 like profane mockers at a feast, [6]
they [w] gnash at me with their teeth.

17 How long, O Lord, will you [x] look on?
Rescue me from their destruction,
[y] my precious life from the lions!
18 I will thank you in [z] the great congregation;
in the mighty throng I will praise you.

19[†] [a] Let not those rejoice over me who are [b] wrongfully my foes, and let not those [c] wink the eye who [d] hate me [e] without cause.
20 For they do not speak peace, but against those who are quiet in the land
they devise words of deceit.

[21] They [f] open wide their mouths against me;
they say, [g] “Aha, Aha!
Our eyes have seen it!”

[22][†] [h] You have seen, O LORD; [i] be not silent!
O Lord, [j] be not far from me!
[23] Awake and [k] rouse yourself for [l] my vindication, for my cause, my God and my Lord!
[24] [m] Vindicate me, O LORD, my God, according to your righteousness,
and [n] let them not rejoice over me!
[25] Let them not say in their hearts,
[o] “Aha, our heart’s desire!”
Let them not say, [p] “We have swallowed him up.”

[26] Let them be [q] put to shame and disappointed altogether who rejoice at my calamity!
Let them be [r] clothed with shame and dishonor who [s] magnify themselves against me!

[27][†] Let those who delight in my righteousness shout for joy and be glad [t] and say evermore,
[u] “Great is the LORD,
who [v] delights in the welfare of his servant!”
[28] Then my [w] tongue shall tell of your righteousness and of your praise all the day long.

How Precious Is Your Steadfast Love

To the choirmaster. Of David, the [x] servant of the LORD.

PSALM 36 [†] Transgression speaks to the wicked deep in his heart; [1]
[y] there is no fear of God before his eyes.

2 [z] For he flatters himself in his own eyes that his iniquity cannot be found out and hated.
3 The words of his mouth are [a] trouble and deceit;
[b] he has ceased to act wisely and do good.
4 He [c] plots [d] trouble while on his bed;
he sets himself in [e] a way that is not good;
[f] he does not reject evil.

5[†] Your steadfast love, O LORD, extends to the heavens,
your faithfulness to the clouds.
6 [g] Your righteousness is like the mountains of God;
[h] your judgments are like the great deep;
man and beast you [i] save, O LORD.

7 [j] How precious is your steadfast love, O God!
The children of mankind take refuge [k] in the shadow of your wings.
8 They feast on [l] the abundance of your house,
and you give them drink from [m] the river of [n] your delights.
9[†] For with you is [o] the fountain of life;
[p] in your light do we see light.

10[†] Oh, continue your steadfast love to those who [q] know you,
and your righteousness to [r] the upright of heart!
11 Let not the foot of arrogance come upon me,
nor the hand of the wicked drive me away.
12 There [s] the evildoers lie fallen;
they are thrust down, [t] unable to rise.

He Will Not Forsake His Saints

[1] Of David.

PSALM 37 [†] [u] Fret not yourself because of evildoers;
be not [v] envious of wrongdoers!
2 For they will soon [w] fade like [x] the grass and wither [y]like the green herb.

3 [z]Trust in the LORD, and do good;
[a]dwell in the land and befriend faithfulness. [2]
4[†] [b]Delight yourself in the LORD, and he will [c]give you the desires of your heart.

5 [d]Commit your way to the LORD;
[z]trust in him, and he will act.
6 [e]He will bring forth your righteousness as the light, and your justice as [f]the noonday.

7 [g]Be still before the LORD and wait patiently for him;
[h]fret not yourself over the one who [i]prospers in his way, over the man who carries out evil devices!

8 [j]Refrain from anger, and forsake wrath!
[h]Fret not yourself; it tends only to evil.
9[†] [k]For the evildoers shall be cut off, but those who wait for the LORD shall [l]inherit the land.

10 In [m]just a little while, the wicked will be no more;
though you look carefully at [n]his place, he will not be there.
11[†] But [o]the meek shall inherit the land and delight themselves in [p]abundant peace.

12[†] The wicked [q]plots against the righteous and [r]gnashes his teeth at him, 13 but the Lord [s]laughs at the wicked,
for he sees that his [t]day is coming.

14 The wicked draw the sword and [u]bend their bows to bring down the poor and needy, to slay those whose [v]way is upright;
15 their sword shall enter their own heart,

and their [w] bows shall be broken.

16 [x] Better is the little that the righteous has than the abundance of many wicked.
17 For [y] the arms of the wicked shall be broken,
but the LORD [z] upholds the righteous.

18 The LORD [a] knows the days of the blameless, and their [b] heritage will remain forever;
19 they are not put to shame in evil times;
in [c] the days of famine they have abundance.

20 But the wicked will perish;
the enemies of the LORD are like [d] the glory of the pastures;
they vanish—like [e] smoke they vanish away.

21[†] The wicked borrows but does not pay back, but the righteous [f] is generous and gives;
22 for those blessed by the LORD [3] shall [g] inherit the land,
but those cursed by him [h] shall be cut off.

23 The [i] steps of a man are [j] established by the LORD,
when he delights in his way;
24 [k] though he fall, he shall not be cast headlong, for the LORD [l] upholds his hand.

25 I have been young, and now am old, yet I have not seen the righteous forsaken or his children [m] begging for bread.
26 He is ever [n] lending generously,
and his children become a blessing.

27 [o] Turn away from evil and do good;
so shall you [p] dwell forever.
28 For the LORD [q] loves justice;

he will not forsake his [r] saints.
They are preserved forever,
but the children of the wicked shall be [s] cut off.
29 The righteous shall inherit the land and [p] dwell upon it forever.

30 The mouth of the righteous utters wisdom, and his tongue speaks justice.
31 [t] The law of his God is in his heart;
his [u] steps do not slip.

32[†] The wicked [v] watches for the righteous and seeks to put him to death.
33 The LORD will not [w] abandon him to his power or let him [x] be condemned when he is brought to trial.

34 [y] Wait for the LORD and keep his way,
and he will exalt you to inherit the land;
you will look on [z] when the wicked are cut off.

35 [a] I have seen a wicked, ruthless man, spreading himself like [b] a green laurel tree. [4] 36 But he passed away, [5] and behold, [c] he was no more;
though I sought him, he could not be found.

37 Mark the blameless and behold the upright, for there is a future for the man of [d] peace.
38 But [e] transgressors shall be altogether destroyed;
the future of the wicked [f] shall be cut off.

39 [g] The salvation of the righteous is from the LORD;
he is their stronghold in [h] the time of trouble.
40 The LORD helps them and [i] delivers them;
[j] he delivers them from the wicked and saves them, because they [k] take refuge in him.

Do Not Forsake Me, O LORD

A Psalm of David, [l] for the memorial offering.

PSALM 38 [†] O LORD, [m] rebuke me not in your anger, nor discipline me in your wrath!
[2] For your [n] arrows have sunk into me,
and your hand [o] has come down on me.

[3] There is [p] no soundness in my flesh because of your indignation;
there is no health in my [q] bones
because of my sin.
[4] For my [r] iniquities have gone over my head;
like a heavy burden, they are too heavy for me.

[5] My wounds stink and fester
because of my foolishness, [6] I am [s] utterly bowed down and [t] prostrate;
all the day I [u] go about mourning.
[7] For my sides are filled with burning,
and there is [p] no soundness in my flesh.
[8] I am feeble and crushed;
I [v] groan because of the tumult of my heart.

[9][†] O Lord, all my longing is before you;
my [w] sighing is not hidden from you.
[10] My heart throbs; my strength fails me,
and [x] the light of my eyes—it also has gone from me.
[11] My [y] friends and companions [z] stand aloof from my [a] plague, and my nearest kin [b] stand far off.

[12] Those who seek my life [c] lay their snares;
those who seek my hurt [d] speak of ruin and meditate [e] treachery all day long.

13 But I am like a deaf man; I do not hear, like [f] a mute man who does not open his mouth.
14 I have become like a man who does not hear,
and in whose mouth are no [g] rebukes.

15 [†] But for [h] you, O LORD, do I wait;
it is you, O Lord my God, who will answer.
16 For I said, "Only [i] let them not rejoice over me, who [j] boast against me when my [k] foot slips!"

17 For I am [l] ready to fall, and my pain is ever before me.
18 I [m] confess my iniquity;
I am [n] sorry for my sin.
19 But my foes are vigorous, they are mighty,
and many are those who hate me [o] wrongfully.
20 Those who [p] render me evil for good [q] accuse me because I [r] follow after good.

21 Do not forsake me, O LORD!
O my God, be not [s] far from me!
22 [t] Make haste to help me,
O Lord, my [u] salvation!

What Is the Measure of My Days?

To the choirmaster: to [v] Jeduthun. A Psalm of David.

PSALM 39 [†] I said, "I will [w] guard my ways, that I [x] may not sin with my tongue;
I will [y] guard my mouth with a muzzle,
so long as the wicked are in my presence."
2 I was [z] mute and silent;
I held my peace to no avail,
and my distress grew worse.
3 My [a] heart became hot within me.

As I mused, the fire burned;
then I spoke with my tongue:

[4][†] “O Lord, [b] make me know my end and what is the measure of my days;
let me know how fleeting I am!
[5] Behold, you have made my days a few handbreadths, and [c] my lifetime is as nothing before you.
Surely [d] all mankind stands as a mere breath! Selah [6] Surely a man [e] goes about as a shadow!
Surely for nothing [1] they are in turmoil;
man [f] heaps up wealth and does not know who will gather!

[7][†] “And now, O Lord, for what do I wait?
[g] My hope is in you.
[8] Deliver me from all my transgressions.
[h] Do not make me the scorn of the fool!
[9] [i] I am mute; I do not open my mouth,
[j] for it is you who have done it.
[10] [k] Remove your stroke from me;
I am spent by the hostility of your hand.
[11] When you discipline a man with [l] rebukes for sin,
you [m] consume like a [n] moth what is dear to him;
[o] surely all mankind is a mere breath! Selah

[12] [p] “Hear my prayer, O Lord, and give ear to my cry;
hold not your peace at my tears!
For I am [q] a sojourner with you,
[q] a guest, like all my fathers.
[13] [r] Look away from me, that I may smile again,
[s] before I depart and [t] am no more!”

My Help and My Deliverer

To the choirmaster. A Psalm of David.

PSALM 40 [†] I [u] waited patiently for the LORD;
he inclined to me and [v] heard my cry.
[2] He drew me up from [w] the pit of destruction,
out of [x] the miry bog,
and [y] set my feet upon a rock,
[z] making my steps secure.
[3] He put [a] a new song in my mouth,
a song of praise to our God.
Many will [b] see and fear,
and put their trust in the LORD.

[4] Blessed is the man who [c] makes the LORD his trust,
who does not turn to the proud,
to those who [d] go astray after a lie!
[5] You have multiplied, O LORD my God, your [e] wondrous deeds and your [f] thoughts toward us;
none can compare with you!
I will proclaim and tell of them,
yet they are [g] more than can be told.

[6][†] [h] In sacrifice and offering you have not delighted,
but you have given me an open [i] ear. [1]
Burnt offering and sin offering you have not required.
[7] Then I said, “Behold, I have come;
in the scroll of the book it is written [j] of me:
[8] [k] I delight to do your will, O my God;
your law is [l] within my heart.”

[9] I have told the glad news of deliverance [2]
in [m] the great congregation;

behold, I have not [n] restrained my lips,
    [o] as you know, O LORD.
10 I have not hidden your deliverance within my heart;
    I have spoken of your faithfulness and your salvation;
I have not concealed your steadfast love and your faithfulness from the great congregation.

11[†] As for you, O LORD, you will not restrain your mercy from me;
your [p] steadfast love and your faithfulness will ever preserve me!
12 For evils have [q] encompassed me beyond number;
my [r] iniquities have overtaken me,
    and I cannot [s] see;
they are [t] more than the hairs of my head;
    my heart [u] fails me.

13 [v] Be pleased, O LORD, to [w] deliver me!
    O LORD, [x] make haste to help me!
14 [y] Let those be put to shame and disappointed altogether who seek to snatch away my life;
let those be [z] turned back and brought to dishonor
    who delight in my hurt!
15 Let those be appalled because of their shame who [a] say to me, "Aha, Aha!"

16 But may all who seek you rejoice and be glad in you;
may those who love your salvation
    [b] say continually, "Great is the LORD!"
17 As for me, I am [c] poor and needy, but [d] the Lord takes thought for me.
You are my help and my deliverer;
    do not delay, O my God!

O Lord, Be Gracious to Me

To the choirmaster. A Psalm of David.

PSALM 41 [†] [e] Blessed is the one who considers the poor! [1]
[f] In the day of trouble the Lord delivers him;
[2] the Lord protects him and keeps him alive;
he is called blessed in the land;
you [g] do not give him up to the will of his enemies.
[3] The Lord sustains him on his sickbed;
in his illness you restore him to full health. [2]

[4] As for me, I said, "O Lord, [h] be gracious to me;
[i] heal me, [3] for I have sinned against you!"
[5] My enemies say of me in malice,
"When will he die, and his name perish?"
[6] And when one comes to see me, [j] he utters empty words, while his heart gathers iniquity;
when he goes out, he tells it abroad.
[7] All who hate me whisper together about me;
they imagine the worst for me. [4]

[8] They say, "A deadly thing is poured out [5] on him;
he will not rise again from where he lies."
[9][†] Even my [k] close friend in whom I trusted, who [l] ate my bread, has lifted his heel against me.
[10] But you, O Lord, be gracious to me,
and raise me up, that I may repay them!

[11][†] By this I know that [m] you delight in me:
my enemy will not shout in triumph over me.
[12] But [n] you have upheld me because of [o] my integrity, and [p] set me in your presence [q] forever.

[13] [r] Blessed be the Lord, the God of Israel,
from everlasting to everlasting!
Amen and Amen.

BOOK TWO

Why Are You Cast Down, O My Soul?

To the choirmaster. A Maskil[1] of [s] the Sons of Korah.

PSALM 42 [†] [t] As a deer pants for flowing streams, so pants my soul for you, O God.
2 [u] My soul thirsts for God,
for [v] the living God.
When shall I come and [w] appear before God? [2] 3 [x] My tears have been my food day and night,
[y] while they say to me all the day long,
“Where is your God?”
4 These things I remember,
as I [z] pour out my soul:
[a] how I would go [b] with the throng and lead them in procession to the house of God with glad shouts and songs of praise,
[c] a multitude keeping festival.

5 [d] Why are you cast down, O my soul,
and why are you [e] in turmoil within me?
[f] Hope in God; for I shall again praise him,
my salvation [3] 6[†] and my God.

My soul is cast down within me;
therefore I [g] remember you [h] from the land of Jordan and of [i] Hermon, from Mount Mizar.
7 Deep calls to deep
at the roar of your waterfalls;
[j] all your breakers and your [k] waves have gone over me.
8 By day the Lord [l] commands his steadfast love, and at [m] night his song is with me,

a prayer to the God of my life.
9 I say to God, [n] my rock:
"Why have you forgotten me?
[o] Why do I go mourning
because of the oppression of the enemy?"
10 As with a deadly wound in my bones,
my adversaries taunt me,
[p] while they say to me all the day long,
"Where is your God?"

11 [q] Why are you cast down, O my soul,
and why are you in turmoil within me?
Hope in God; for I shall again praise him,
my salvation and my God.

Send Out Your Light and Your Truth

PSALM 43 [†] [r] Vindicate me, O God, and [s] defend my cause against an ungodly people, from [t] the deceitful and unjust man deliver me!
2 For you are [u] the God in whom I take refuge;
why have you [v] rejected me?
Why do I [w] go about mourning
because of the oppression of the enemy?

3 [x] Send out your light and your truth;
let them lead me;
let them bring me to your [y] holy hill
and to your [z] dwelling!
4 Then I will go to the altar of God,
to God my exceeding joy,
and I will praise you with the lyre,
O God, my God.

5 [a] Why are you cast down, O my soul,
and why are you in turmoil within me?
[b] Hope in God; for I shall again praise him,
my salvation and my God.

Come to Our Help

To the choirmaster. [c] A Maskil[1] of the Sons of Korah.

PSALM 44 [†] O God, we have heard with our ears, [d] our fathers have told us,
what deeds you performed in their days,
[e] in the days of old:
2 you with your own hand [f] drove out the nations, but [g] them you planted;
you afflicted the peoples,
but [h] them you set free;
3 for not [i] by their own sword did they win the land,
nor did their own arm save them,
but your right hand and your arm,
and [j] the light of your face,
[k] for you delighted in them.

4 [l] You are my King, O God;
[m] ordain salvation for Jacob!
5 Through you we [n] push down our foes;
through your name we [o] tread down those who rise up against us.
6 For not in [p] my bow do I trust,
nor can my sword save me.
7 But you have saved us from our foes and have [q] put to shame those who hate us.
8 [r] In God we have boasted continually, and we will give thanks to your name forever. Selah

9[†] But you have [s] rejected us and disgraced us and [t] have not gone out with our armies.

10 You have made us [u] turn back from the foe,
and those who hate us have gotten spoil.
11 You have made us like [v] sheep for slaughter and have [w] scattered us among the nations.
12 [x] You have sold your people for a trifle, demanding no high price for them.
13 You have made us [y] the taunt of our neighbors,
the derision and [z] scorn of those around us.
14 You have made us [a] a byword among the nations,
[b] a laughingstock [2] among the peoples.
15 All day long my disgrace is before me,
and [c] shame has covered my face 16 at the sound of the taunter and reviler, at the sight of [d] the enemy and the avenger.

17[†] [e] All this has come upon us, though we have not forgotten you,
and we have not been false to your covenant.
18 Our heart has not turned back,
nor have our [f] steps [g] departed from your way;
19 yet you have [h] broken us in the place of [i] jackals and covered us with [j] the shadow of death.
20 If we had forgotten the name of our God or [k] spread out our hands to [l] a foreign god, 21 [m] would not God discover this?
[n] For he knows the secrets of the heart.
22 Yet [o] for your sake we are killed all the day long;
we are regarded as sheep to be slaughtered.

23[†] [p] Awake! Why are you sleeping, O Lord?
Rouse yourself! [q] Do not reject us forever!
24 Why [r] do you hide your face?
Why do you forget our affliction and oppression?
25 For our [s] soul is bowed down to the dust;

our belly clings to the ground.
26 Rise up; [t] come to our help!
[u] Redeem us for the sake of your steadfast love!

Your Throne, O God, Is Forever

To the choirmaster: according to Lilies. A Maskil[1] of [v] the Sons of Korah; a love song.

PSALM 45 [†] My heart overflows with a pleasing theme;
I address my verses to the king;
my tongue is like the pen of [w] a ready scribe.

2[†] You are [x] the most handsome of the sons of men;
[y] grace is poured upon your lips;
therefore God has blessed you forever.
3 [z] Gird your [a] sword on your thigh, O [b] mighty one,
in [c] your splendor and majesty!

4 In your majesty [d] ride out victoriously for the cause of truth and meekness and righteousness;
let your right hand teach you [e] awesome deeds!
5 Your arrows are sharp
in the heart of the king's enemies;
the peoples fall under you.

6[†] [f] Your throne, O God, is forever and ever.
The [g] scepter of your kingdom is a scepter of uprightness;
7 [h] you have loved righteousness and hated wickedness.
Therefore [i] God, your God, has [j] anointed you with the oil of [k] gladness [l] beyond your companions;
8 your robes are all fragrant with [m] myrrh and aloes and cassia.
From ivory palaces [n] stringed instruments make you glad;
9 daughters of kings are among your ladies of honor;
[o] at your right hand stands the queen in [p] gold of Ophir.

10[†] Hear, O daughter, and consider, and incline your ear:

forget your people and your father’s house, [11] and the king will desire your beauty.
Since he is your [q] lord, [r] bow to him.
[12] The people [2] of Tyre will [s] seek your favor with [t] gifts, [u] the richest of the people. [3]

[13] All glorious is [v] the princess in her chamber, with robes interwoven with gold.
[14] [w] In many-colored robes [x] she is led to the king, with her virgin companions following behind her.
[15] With joy and gladness they are led along as they enter the palace of the king.

[16][†] In place of your fathers shall be your sons;
you will make them [y] princes in all the earth.
[17] [z] I will cause your name to be remembered in all generations;
therefore nations will praise you forever and ever.

God Is Our Fortress

To the choirmaster. Of [a] the Sons of Korah. According to [b] Alamoth. [1] A Song.

PSALM 46 [†] God is our [c] refuge and strength, a very [d] present [2] help in [e] trouble.
[2] Therefore we will not fear [f] though the earth gives way, though the mountains be moved into [g] the heart of the sea, [3] though [h] its waters roar and foam, though the mountains tremble at its swelling. Selah

[4] There is [i] a river whose streams make glad [j] the city of God, the holy [k] habitation of the Most High.
[5] [l] God is in the midst of her; she shall not be moved;
God will help her when morning dawns.
[6] [m] The nations rage, the kingdoms totter;
he [n] utters his voice, the earth [o] melts.
[7] [p] The LORD of hosts is with us;

the God of Jacob is our fortress. Selah

8 [†] [q] Come, behold the works of the LORD, how he has brought desolations on the earth.
9 [r] He makes wars cease to the end of the earth;
he [s] breaks the bow and shatters the spear;
[t] he burns the chariots with fire.
10 [u] “Be still, and know that I am God.
[v] I will be exalted among the nations,
I will be exalted in the earth!”
11 [p] The LORD of hosts is with us;
the God of Jacob is our fortress. Selah

God Is King over All the Earth

To the choirmaster. A Psalm of [w] the Sons of Korah.

PSALM 47 [†] [x] Clap your hands, all peoples!
[y] Shout to God with loud songs of joy!
2 For the LORD, the Most High, [z] is to be feared,
[a] a great king over all the earth.
3 He [b] subdued peoples under us,
and nations under our feet.
4 He chose our [c] heritage for us,
[d] the pride of Jacob whom he loves. Selah

5 [†] God [e] has gone up with a shout,
the LORD with the sound of a trumpet.
6 Sing praises to God, sing praises!
Sing praises to our King, sing praises!
7 For God is [f] the King of all the earth;
sing praises [g] with a psalm! [1]

8 [†] God [h] reigns over the nations;
God sits on his holy throne.
9 [i] The princes of the peoples gather as the people of the God of Abraham.

For [j] the shields of the earth belong to God;
he is highly exalted!

Zion, the City of Our God

A Song. A Psalm of [k] the Sons of Korah.

PSALM 48 [†] [l] Great is the LORD and greatly to be praised in [m] the city of our God!
His [n] holy mountain, [2] [o] beautiful in elevation, is [p] the joy of all the earth,
Mount Zion, in the far north,
[q] the city of the great King.
[3] Within her citadels God has made himself known as a fortress.

[4] For behold, [r] the kings assembled;
they came on together.
[5] As soon as they saw it, they were astounded;
they were in panic; they took to flight.
[6] [s] Trembling took hold of them there, anguish [t] as of a woman in labor.
[7][†] By [u] the east wind you [v] shattered
the ships of [w] Tarshish.
[8] As we have heard, so have we seen in the city of the LORD of hosts,
in [m] the city of our God,
which God will [x] establish forever. Selah

[9][†] We have thought on your [y] steadfast love, O God, in the midst of your temple.
[10] As your [z] name, O God,
so your praise reaches to [a] the ends of the earth.
Your right hand is filled with righteousness.
[11] Let Mount [b] Zion be glad!

Let [b] the daughters of Judah rejoice because of your judgments!

12[†] Walk about Zion, go around her,
number her towers,
13 consider well her [c] ramparts,
go through her citadels,
[d] that you may tell the next generation
14 that this is God,
our God forever and ever.
He will [e] guide us forever. [1]

Why Should I Fear in Times of Trouble?

To the choirmaster. A Psalm of [f] the Sons of Korah.

PSALM 49 [†] [g] Hear this, all peoples!
Give ear, all inhabitants of the world,
2 [h] both low and high,
rich and poor together!
3 My mouth shall speak [i] wisdom;
the meditation of my heart shall be understanding.
4 I will incline my ear to [j] a proverb;
I will solve my [k] riddle to the music of the lyre.

5[†] [l] Why should I fear in [m] times of trouble,
when the iniquity of those who cheat me surrounds me, 6 those who [n] trust in their wealth and boast of the abundance of their riches?
7 Truly no man [o] can ransom another, or [p] give to God [q] the price of his life, 8 for [r] the ransom of their life is costly and can never suffice, 9 that he should live on forever and [s] never see the pit.

10 For he sees [t] that even the wise die;
[u] the fool and the stupid alike must perish and [v] leave their wealth to others.
11 Their [w] graves are their homes forever, [1] their dwelling places [x] to all generations, though they [y] called lands by their own names.
12 Man in his pomp [z] will not remain;
[a] he is like the beasts that perish.

13[†] This is the path of those who have [b] foolish confidence;
yet after them people approve of their boasts. [2] Selah 14 Like sheep they are appointed for Sheol;
death shall be their shepherd,
and the upright [c] shall rule over them in the morning.
[d] Their form shall be consumed [e] in Sheol, with no place to dwell.
15 But God will [f] ransom my soul from the power of Sheol, for he will [g] receive me. Selah

16 Be not afraid when a man becomes rich, when the glory of his house increases.
17 [h] For when he dies he will [i] carry nothing away;
his glory will not go down after him.
18 For though, while he lives, he counts himself [j] blessed —and though you get praise when you do well for yourself—19 his soul will [k] go to the generation of his fathers, who will never again [l] see light.
20 [m] Man in his pomp yet without understanding is like the beasts that perish.

God Himself Is Judge

A Psalm of [n] Asaph.

PSALM 50 [†] [o] The Mighty One, God the LORD, speaks and summons the earth
[p] from the rising of the sun to its setting.

2 Out of Zion, [q] the perfection of beauty,
[r] God shines forth.

3 Our God comes; he [s] does not keep silence; [1]
before him is a devouring [t] fire, around him a mighty tempest.
4 [u] He calls to the heavens above and to the earth, that he may judge his people:
5 “Gather to me my faithful ones, who made [v] a covenant with me by sacrifice!”
6 [w] The heavens declare his righteousness, for [x] God himself is judge! Selah

7[†] [y] “Hear, O my people, and I will speak;
O Israel, I will testify against you.
[z] I am God, your God.
8 Not for your sacrifices [a] do I rebuke you;
your burnt offerings are continually before me.
9 I will not accept a bull from your house or goats from your folds.
10 For every beast of the forest is mine,
the cattle on a thousand hills.
11 [b] I know all the birds of the hills, and all that moves in the field is mine.

12 “If I were hungry, I would not tell you,
[c] for the world and its fullness are mine.
13 Do I eat the flesh of bulls or drink the blood of goats?
14 [d] Offer to God a sacrifice of thanksgiving, [2]
and [e] perform your vows to the Most High, 15 and [f] call upon me in the day of trouble;
I will [g] deliver you, and you shall [h] glorify me.”

16[†] But to the wicked God says:

“What right have you to recite my statutes or take my covenant on your lips?
17 [i] For you hate discipline,
[j] and you cast my words behind you.
18 If you see a thief, [k] you are pleased with him,
[l] and you keep company with adulterers.

19 “You give your mouth free rein for evil,
[m] and your tongue frames deceit.
20 You sit and speak against your brother;
you slander your own mother’s son.
21 These things you have done, and I [n] have been silent;
you thought that I [3] was one like yourself.
But now I [o] rebuke you and [p] lay the charge before you.

22 “Mark this, then, you who [q] forget God, lest I tear you apart, and there be [r] none to deliver!
23 [†] The one who [s] offers thanksgiving as his sacrifice glorifies me;
to one who [t] orders his way rightly
I will show the [u] salvation of God!”

Create in Me a Clean Heart, O God

To the choirmaster. A Psalm of David, when [v] Nathan the prophet went to him, after he had gone in to Bathsheba.

PSALM 51 [†] [w] Have mercy on me, [1] O God, according to your steadfast love;
according to your [x] abundant mercy
[y] blot out my transgressions.
2 [z] Wash me thoroughly from my iniquity, and [a] cleanse me from my sin!

3 [b] For I know my transgressions, and my sin is ever before me.
4 [†] [c] Against you, you only, have I sinned and done what is evil [d] in your sight, [e] so that you may be justified in your words and blameless in your judgment.

5[†] Behold, [f] I was brought forth in iniquity, and in sin did my mother conceive me.
6[†] Behold, you delight in truth in [g] the inward being,
and you teach me wisdom in the secret heart.

7 Purge me [h] with hyssop, and I shall be clean;
[z] wash me, and I shall be [i] whiter than snow.
8 Let me hear joy and gladness;
[j] let the bones [k] that you have broken rejoice.
9[†] [l] Hide your face from my sins,
and [y] blot out all my iniquities.
10 [m] Create in me a [n] clean heart, O God,
and [o] renew a right [2] spirit within me.
11[†] [p] Cast me not away from your presence, and take not [q] your Holy Spirit from me.
12 Restore to me the joy of your salvation, and uphold me with a willing spirit.

13 Then I will teach transgressors your ways, and sinners will [r] return to you.
14[†] Deliver me from [s] bloodguiltiness, O God,
O [t] God of my salvation,
and [u] my tongue will sing aloud of your [v] righteousness.
15 O Lord, open my lips,
and my mouth will declare your praise.
16[†] [w] For you will not delight in sacrifice, or I would give it;
you will not be pleased with a burnt offering.
17 The sacrifices of God are [x] a broken spirit;
a broken and contrite heart, O God, you will not despise.

18 [y] Do good to Zion in your good pleasure;
[z] build up the walls of Jerusalem;

19 then will you delight in [a] right sacrifices, in burnt offerings and [b] whole burnt offerings;
then bulls will be offered on your altar.

The Steadfast Love of God Endures

To the choirmaster. A Maskil[1] of David, when [c] Doeg, the Edomite, came and told Saul, "David has come to the house of Ahimelech."

PSALM 52 [†] Why do you boast of evil, O mighty man?
The steadfast love of God endures all the day.
2 Your [d] tongue plots destruction, like [e] a sharp razor, you [f] worker of deceit.
3 You love evil more than good,
and [g] lying more than speaking what is right. Selah
4 You love all words that devour,
O deceitful tongue.

5 [†] But God will break you down forever;
he will snatch and [h] tear you from your tent;
he will uproot you from [i] the land of the living. Selah 6 The righteous shall [j] see and fear, and shall [k] laugh at him, saying,
7 "See the man who would not make God his refuge,
but [l] trusted in the abundance of his riches and sought refuge in his own destruction!" [2]

8 [†] But I am like [m] a green olive tree in the house of God.
I trust in the steadfast love of God
forever and ever.
9 I will thank you forever,
because you have done it.
I will wait for your name, [n] for it is good,
in the presence of the [o] godly.

There Is None Who Does Good

To the choirmaster: according to [p] Mahalath. A Maskil [1] of David.

PSALM 53 [†] [q] The fool says in his heart, "There is no God."
They are corrupt, doing abominable iniquity;
there is none who does good.

[2] God looks down from heaven on the children of man
to see if there are any who understand, [2]
who seek after God.

[3] They have all fallen away;
together they have become corrupt;
there is none who does good,
not even one.

[4] Have those who work evil no knowledge, who eat up my people as they eat bread,
and do not call upon God?

[5] There they are, in great terror,
[r] where there is no terror!
For God [s] scatters the bones of him who encamps against you;
you put them to shame, for God has rejected them.

[6] Oh, that salvation for Israel would come out of Zion!
When God restores the fortunes of his people,
let Jacob rejoice, let Israel be glad.

The Lord Upholds My Life

To the choirmaster: with [t] stringed instruments. A Maskil [1] of David, [u] when the Ziphites went and told Saul, "Is not David hiding among us?"

PSALM 54 [†] O God, save me by your [v] name, and vindicate me by your might.

2 O God, [w]hear my prayer;
give ear to the words of my mouth.

3[†] [x]For [y]strangers [2] have risen against me;
ruthless men [z]seek my life;
they do not set God before themselves. Selah

4 Behold, [a]God is my helper;
the Lord is the upholder of my life.
5 He will return the evil to my enemies;
in your [b]faithfulness [c]put an end to them.

6[†] With a freewill offering I will sacrifice to you;
I will give thanks to your name, O LORD, [d]for it is good.
7 For he has delivered me from every trouble, and my eye has [e]looked in triumph on my enemies.

Cast Your Burden on the LORD

To the choirmaster: with [f]stringed instruments. A Maskil [1] of David.

PSALM 55 [†] [g]Give ear to my prayer, O God, and hide not yourself from my plea for mercy!
2 Attend to me, and answer me;
I am restless [h]in my complaint and I [i]moan,
3 because of the noise of the enemy,
because of the oppression of the wicked.
For they [j]drop trouble upon me,
and in anger they bear a grudge against me.

4[†] My heart is in anguish within me;
[k]the terrors of death have fallen upon me.
5 Fear and trembling come upon me,
and [l]horror [m]overwhelms me.
6 And I say, "Oh, that I had wings like a dove!
I would fly away and be at rest;

7 [n] yes, I would wander far away;
I would lodge in the wilderness; Selah
8 I would hurry to find a shelter from [o] the raging wind and tempest.”

9[†] Destroy, O Lord, [p] divide their tongues;
for I see [q] violence and strife in the city.
10 Day and night they go around it on its walls,
and [r] iniquity and trouble are within it;
11 ruin is in its midst;
[s] oppression and fraud
do not depart from its marketplace.

12[†] For it is not an enemy who taunts me—
then I could bear it;
it is not an adversary who [t] deals insolently with me—
then I could hide from him.
13 [u] But it is you, a man, my equal,
my companion, my familiar friend.
14 We used to take sweet counsel together;
within God’s house we walked in [v] the throng.
15 Let death steal over them;
let them go down to Sheol [w] alive;
for evil is in their dwelling place and in their heart.

16[†] But I call to God, and the LORD will save me.
17 [x] Evening and [y] morning and at [z] noon
I [a] utter my complaint and moan, and he hears my voice.
18 He redeems my soul in safety from the battle that I wage,
for [b] many are arrayed against me.
19 God will give ear and humble them,

he who is [c] enthroned from of old, Selah because they do not [d] change and do not fear God.

20[†] My companion [2] [e] stretched out his hand against his friends;
he violated his covenant.
21 His [f] speech was [g] smooth as butter,
yet war was in his heart;
his words were softer than oil,
yet they were [h] drawn swords.

22[†] [i] Cast your burden on the LORD,
and he will sustain you;
[j] he will never permit
the righteous to be moved.

23 But you, O God, [k] will cast them down into [l] the pit of destruction;
men of [m] blood and treachery shall not [n] live out half their days.
But I will [o] trust in you.

In God I Trust

To the choirmaster: according to The Dove on Far-off Terebinths. A [p] Miktam [1] of David, when the [q] Philistines seized him in Gath.

PSALM 56 [†] [r] Be gracious to me, O God, for man [s] tramples on me;
all day long an attacker oppresses me;
2 my enemies trample on me all day long,
for many attack me proudly.
3 When I am afraid,
I [t] put my trust in you.
4 In God, whose word I praise,
in God I trust; [u] I shall not be afraid.
What can flesh do to me?

5 All day long they injure my cause; [2]
all their thoughts are against me for evil.
6 They [v] stir up strife, they [w] lurk;
they [x] watch my steps,
as they have waited for my life.
7 For their crime will they escape?
[y] In wrath [z] cast down the peoples, O God!

8[†] You have kept count of my tossings; [3]
[a] put my tears in your bottle.
[b] Are they not in your book?
9 Then my enemies will turn back
[c] in the day when I call.
This I know, that [4] [d] God is for me.
10 In God, whose word I praise,
in the LORD, whose word I praise,
11 in God I trust; [u] I shall not be afraid.
What can man do to me?

12[†] I must perform my [e] vows to you, O God;
I will [e] render thank offerings to you.
13 [f] For you have delivered my soul from death,
yes, my feet from falling,
[g] that I may walk before God
[h] in the light of life.

Let Your Glory Be over All the Earth

To the choirmaster: according to [i] Do Not Destroy. A [j] Miktam [1] of David, when he fled from Saul, in [k] the cave.

PSALM 57 [†] [l] Be merciful to me, O God, be merciful to me, for in you my soul [m] takes refuge;
in [n] the shadow of your wings I will take refuge, [o] till the storms of destruction pass by.
2 I cry out to God Most High,

to God who [p] fulfills his purpose for me.
3 [†] [q] He will send from heaven and save me;
he will put to shame [r] him who tramples on me. Selah
[s] God will send out [t] his steadfast love and his faithfulness!

4 My soul is in the midst of [u] lions;
I lie down amid fiery beasts—
the children of man, whose [v] teeth are spears and arrows, whose [w] tongues are sharp swords.

5 [x] Be exalted, O God, above the heavens!
Let your glory be over all the earth!

6 [†] They set [y] a net for my steps;
my soul was [z] bowed down.
They [a] dug a pit in my way,
but they have fallen into it themselves. Selah 7 [b] My heart is [c] steadfast, O God, my heart is steadfast!
I will sing and make melody!
8 [†] [d] Awake, [e] my glory! [2]
Awake, [f] O harp and lyre!
I will awake the dawn!
9 I will give thanks to you, O Lord, among the peoples;
I will sing praises to you among the nations.
10 For your [g] steadfast love is great to the heavens,
your faithfulness to the clouds.

11 [x] Be exalted, O God, above the heavens!
Let your glory be over all the earth!

God Who Judges the Earth

To the choirmaster: according to [h] Do Not Destroy. A [i] Miktam [1] of David.

PSALM 58 [†] Do you indeed decree what is right, you gods? [2]

Do you judge the children of man uprightly?
2 No, in your hearts you devise wrongs;
your hands [j] deal out violence on earth.

3[†] The wicked are [k] estranged from the womb;
they go astray from birth, speaking lies.
4 [l] They have venom like the venom of a serpent,
like the deaf adder that stops its ear,
5 so that it [m] does not hear the voice of charmers or of the cunning enchanter.

6[†] O God, [n] break the teeth in their mouths;
tear out the fangs of the young lions, O LORD!
7 Let them [o] vanish like water that runs away;
when he [p] aims his arrows, let them be blunted.
8 Let them be like the snail [o] that dissolves into slime, like [q] the stillborn child who never sees the sun.
9 Sooner than your pots can feel the heat of [r] thorns, whether green or ablaze, may he [s] sweep them away! [3]

10[†] [t] The righteous will rejoice when he sees the vengeance;
he will [u] bathe his feet in the blood of the wicked.
11 Mankind will say, “Surely there is [v] a reward for the righteous;
surely there is a God who [w] judges on earth.”

Deliver Me from My Enemies

To the choirmaster: according to [x] Do Not Destroy. A [y] Miktam [1] of David, [z] when Saul sent men to watch his house in order to kill him.

PSALM 59 [†] [a] Deliver me from my enemies, O my God;
[b] protect me from those who [c] rise up against me;
2 deliver me from [d] those who work evil,
and save me from [e] bloodthirsty men.

3 For behold, they [f] lie in wait for my life;

fierce men [g] stir up strife against me.
[h] For no transgression or sin of mine, O LORD,
4 for no fault of mine, they run and make ready.
[i] Awake, come to meet me, and see!
5 [†] You, [j] LORD God of hosts, are God of Israel.
Rouse yourself to punish all the nations;
spare none of those who treacherously plot evil. Selah

6 [†] Each evening they [k] come back, howling like dogs
and prowling about the city.
7 There they are, [l] bellowing with their mouths with [m] swords in their lips—
for [n] “Who,” they think, [2] “will hear us?”

8 But you, O LORD, [o] laugh at them;
you hold all the nations in derision.
9 O my Strength, I will watch for you,
for you, O God, are [p] my fortress.
10 [q] My God in his steadfast love [3] [r] will meet me;
God will let me [s] look in triumph on my enemies.

11 [†] Kill them not, lest my people forget;
make them totter [4] by your power and [t] bring them down,
O Lord, our [u] shield!
12 For [v] the sin of their mouths, the words of their lips, let them be trapped in their pride.
For the cursing and lies that they utter,
13 [w] consume them in wrath;
consume them till they are no more,
that they may [x] know that God rules over Jacob to [y] the ends of the earth. Selah

14 [z] Each evening they come back, howling like dogs

and prowling about the city.
15 They [a] wander about for food and growl if they do not get their fill.

16 But I will sing of your strength;
I will sing aloud of your steadfast love in the morning.
For you have been to me [b] a fortress and [c] a refuge in [d] the day of my distress.
17 O my Strength, I will sing praises to you,
for you, O God, [b] are my fortress,
[e] the God who shows me steadfast love.

He Will Tread Down Our Foes

To the choirmaster: according to [f] Shushan Eduth. A [g] Miktam [1] of David; [h] for instruction; when he [i] strove with Aram-naharaim and with Aram-zobah, and when Joab on his return struck down twelve thousand of Edom in the Valley of Salt.

PSALM 60 [†] O God, [j] you have rejected us, [k] broken our defenses;
you have been angry; [l] oh, restore us.
2 You have made the land to quake; you have torn it open;
[m] repair its breaches, for it totters.
3 [n] You have made your people see hard things;
[o] you have given us [p] wine to drink that made us stagger.

4 You have set up [q] a banner for those who fear you, that they may flee to it [r] from the bow. [2] Selah 5 [s] That your [t] beloved ones may be delivered, give salvation by your right hand and answer us!

6 [†] God has spoken [u] in his holiness: [3]
“With exultation [v] I will divide up [w] Shechem and portion out the Vale of [x] Succoth.
7 [y] Gilead is mine; Manasseh is mine;
[z] Ephraim is [a] my helmet;
Judah is my [b] scepter.

[8] [c] Moab is my washbasin;
upon Edom I [d] cast my shoe;
over [e] Philistia I shout in triumph.” [4]

[9] Who will bring me to the fortified city?
[f] Who will lead me to Edom?
[10] Have you not [g] rejected us, O God?
You [h] do not go forth, O God, with our armies.
[11] Oh, grant us help against the foe,
for [i] vain is the salvation of man!
[12] With God we shall [j] do valiantly;
it is he who will [k] tread down our foes.

Lead Me to the Rock

To the choirmaster: with [l] stringed instruments. Of David.

PSALM 61 [†] Hear my cry, O God,
[m] listen to my prayer;
[2] from the end of the earth I call to you when my heart is [n] faint.
Lead me to [o] the rock
that is higher than I,
[3] for you have been [p] my refuge,
a strong [q] tower against the enemy.

[4][†] Let me [r] dwell in your tent forever!
Let me take refuge under [s] the shelter of your wings! Selah [5] For you, O God, have heard my vows;
you have given me the heritage of those who fear your name.

[6][†] [t] Prolong [u] the life of the king;
may his years endure to all generations!
[7] May he be enthroned forever before God;
appoint [v] steadfast love and faithfulness to watch over him!

8 So will I ever sing praises to your name,
as I [w]perform my vows day after day.

My Soul Waits for God Alone

To the choirmaster: according to [x]Jeduthun. A Psalm of David.

PSALM 62 [†] For God alone [y]my soul [z]waits in silence;
from him comes my salvation.
2 [a]He alone is my rock and my salvation,
my [b]fortress; [c]I shall not be greatly shaken.

3[†] How long will all of you attack a man to batter him,
like [d]a leaning wall, a tottering fence?
4 They only plan to thrust him down from his [e]high position.
They take pleasure in falsehood.
[f]They bless with their mouths,
but inwardly they curse. Selah

5 For God alone, O [y]my soul, wait in silence, for my hope is from him.
6 [a]He only is my rock and my salvation,
my fortress; I shall not be shaken.
7 On God rests my [g]salvation and my glory;
my mighty rock, [h]my refuge is God.

8[†] [i]Trust in him at all times, O people;
[j]pour out your heart before him;
God is [h]a refuge for us. Selah

9 [k]Those of low estate are but a breath;
those of high estate [l]are a delusion;
in the balances they go up;
[k]they are together lighter than a breath.
10 Put no trust in extortion;

[m] set no vain hopes on robbery;
[n] if riches increase, set not your heart on them.

[11][†] [o] Once God has spoken;
[o] twice have I heard this:
that [p] power belongs to God,
[12][†] and that to you, O Lord, [q] belongs steadfast love.
For you will [r] render to a man
according to his work.

My Soul Thirsts for You

A Psalm of David, [s] when he was in the wilderness of Judah.

PSALM 63 [†] O God, you are my God; [t] earnestly I seek you; [u] my soul thirsts for you;
my flesh faints for you,
as in [v] a dry and weary land where there is no water.
[2] So I have looked upon you in the sanctuary, beholding [w] your power and glory.
[3][†] Because your [x] steadfast love is better than life,
my lips will praise you.
[4] So I will bless you [y] as long as I live;
in your [z] name I will [a] lift up my hands.

[5] My soul will be [b] satisfied as with fat and rich food,
and my mouth will praise you with joyful lips, [6][†] when I remember you [c] upon my bed,
and meditate on you in [c] the watches of the night;
[7] for you have been my help,
and in [d] the shadow of your wings I will sing for joy.
[8] My soul [e] clings to you;
your right hand [f] upholds me.

[9][†] But those who seek to destroy my life
[g] shall go down into [h] the depths of the earth;
[10][†] they shall be given over to the power of the sword;
they shall be a portion for jackals.
[11] But [i] the king shall rejoice in God;
all who [j] swear by him shall exult, [k] for the mouths of [l] liars will be stopped.

Hide Me from the Wicked

To the choirmaster. A Psalm of David.

PSALM 64 [†] Hear my voice, O God, in my [m] complaint;
preserve my life from dread of the enemy.
2 Hide me from [n] the secret plots of the wicked,
from the throng of evildoers, 3 who [o] whet their tongues like swords,
who [p] aim bitter words like arrows, 4 shooting from [q] ambush at the blameless, shooting at him suddenly and [r] without fear.
5 They [s] hold fast to their evil purpose;
they talk of [t] laying snares secretly, thinking, [u] “Who can see them?”
6 They search out injustice, saying, “We have accomplished a diligent search.”
For [v] the inward mind and heart of a man are deep.

7[†] [w] But God shoots his arrow at them;
they are wounded suddenly.
8 They are brought to ruin, with their own [x] tongues turned against them;
all who [y] see them will [z] wag their heads.
9 Then all mankind [y] fears;
they [a] tell what God has brought about and ponder what he has done.

10 Let [b] the righteous one rejoice in the LORD and [c] take refuge in him!
Let all [d] the upright in heart exult!

O God of Our Salvation

To the choirmaster. A Psalm of David. A Song.

PSALM 65 [†] Praise [e] is due to you, [1] O God, in Zion, and to you shall [f]vows be performed.

2 O you who [g]hear prayer,
to you [h]shall all flesh come.
3 When [i]iniquities prevail against me,
you [j]atone for our transgressions.
4 [k]Blessed is the one you choose and bring near,
to [l]dwell in your courts!
We shall be [m]satisfied with the goodness of your house,
the holiness of your temple!

5[†] By [n]awesome deeds you answer us with righteousness,
O God of our salvation,
the hope of all [o]the ends of the earth and of the farthest seas;
6 the one who by his strength established the mountains, being [p]girded with might;
7 who [q]stills the roaring of the seas,
the roaring of their waves,
[r]the tumult of the peoples,
8 so that those who dwell at the ends of the earth are in awe at your signs.
You make the going out of the morning and the evening to shout for joy.

9[†] You visit the earth and [s]water it;[2]
you greatly enrich it;
[t]the river of God is full of water;
[u]you provide their grain,
for so you have prepared it.
10 You water its furrows abundantly, settling its ridges,
softening it with [v]showers,
and blessing its growth.
11 You crown the year with your bounty;
your wagon tracks [w]overflow with abundance.
12 [x]The pastures of the wilderness overflow,

the hills [y] gird themselves with joy, 13 [z] the meadows clothe themselves with flocks,
the valleys deck themselves with grain,
they [a] shout and sing together for joy.

How Awesome Are Your Deeds

To the choirmaster. A Song. A Psalm.

PSALM 66 [†] [b] Shout for joy to God, all the earth;
2 sing the glory of his name;
[c] give to him glorious praise!
3 Say to God, [d] "How awesome are your deeds!
So great is your power that your enemies [e] come cringing to you.
4 [f] All the earth worships you
and sings praises to you;
they sing praises to your name." Selah

5 [†] [g] Come and see what God has done:
[d] he is awesome in his deeds toward the children of man.
6 He [h] turned the sea into dry land;
they [i] passed through the river on foot.
There did we rejoice in him,
7 who rules by his might forever, whose [j] eyes keep watch on the nations—let not the rebellious exalt themselves. Selah

8 Bless our God, O peoples;
let the sound of his praise be heard, 9 who has kept our soul among the living and [k] has not let our feet slip.
10 For you, O God, have [l] tested us;
you have tried us as silver is tried.
11 You brought us into [m] the net;
you laid a crushing burden on our backs;
12 you let men [n] ride over our heads;

we went through fire and through [o] water;
yet you have brought us out to a place of abundance.

13 [†] I will come into your house with burnt offerings;
I will [p] perform my vows to you,
14 that which my lips uttered and my mouth promised [q] when I was in trouble.
15 I will offer to you burnt offerings of fattened animals, with the smoke of the sacrifice of rams;
I will make an offering of bulls and goats. Selah

16 [†] [r] Come and hear, all you who fear God, and I will tell what he has done for my soul.
17 I cried to him with my mouth, and high praise was on [1] my tongue. [2]
18 If I had [s] cherished iniquity in my heart, [t] the Lord would not have listened.
19 But truly [u] God has listened;
he has attended to the voice of my prayer.

20 Blessed be God,
because he has not rejected my prayer or removed his steadfast love from me!

Make Your Face Shine upon Us

To the choirmaster: with [v] stringed instruments. A Psalm. A Song.

PSALM 67 [†] May God [w] be gracious to us and bless us and make his face to [x] shine upon us, Selah 2 that [y] your way may be known on earth, your [z] saving power among all nations.
3 [a] Let the peoples praise you, O God;
let all the peoples praise you!

4 [†] Let the nations be glad and sing for joy, for you [b] judge the peoples with equity and guide the nations upon earth. Selah

5 [a] Let the peoples praise you, O God;
let all the peoples praise you!

6[†] The earth has [c] yielded its increase;
God, our God, shall bless us.
7 God shall bless us;
let [d] all the ends of the earth fear him!

God Shall Scatter His Enemies

To the choirmaster. A Psalm of David. A Song.

PSALM 68 [†] [e] God shall arise, his enemies shall be [f] scattered;
and those who hate him shall flee before him!
2 As [g] smoke is driven away, so you shall drive them away;
[h] as wax melts before fire,
so the wicked shall perish before God!
3 But [i] the righteous shall be glad;
they shall exult before God;
they shall be jubilant with joy!

4[†] Sing to God, [j] sing praises to his name;
[k] lift up a song to him who [l] rides through [m] the deserts;
his name is [n] the LORD;
exult before him!
5 [o] Father of the fatherless and [p] protector of widows is God in his holy habitation.
6 God [q] settles the solitary in a home;
he [r] leads out the prisoners to prosperity,
but [s] the rebellious dwell in [t] a parched land.

7[†] O God, when you [u] went out before your people,
[v] when you marched through [w] the wilderness, Selah
8 [x] the earth quaked, the heavens poured down rain, before God, the One of Sinai, before God, the God of Israel.

9 [y]Rain in abundance, O God, you shed abroad;
you restored your inheritance as it languished;
10 your flock [1] found a dwelling in it;
in your goodness, O God, you [z]provided for the needy.

11[†] The Lord gives [a]the word;
[b]the women who announce the news are a great host:
12 [c]“The kings of the armies—they flee, they flee!”
The women at home [d]divide the spoil—13 though you men lie among [e]the sheepfolds—the wings of a dove covered with silver, its pinions with shimmering gold.
14 When the Almighty scatters kings there, let snow fall on [f]Zalmon.

15[†] O mountain of God, mountain of Bashan;
O many-peaked [2] mountain, mountain of Bashan!
16 Why do you look with hatred, O many-peaked mountain, at the mount that God [g]desired for his abode,
yes, where the LORD will dwell forever?
17 [h]The chariots of God are twice ten thousand, thousands upon thousands;
the Lord is among them; Sinai is now in the sanctuary.
18[†] [i]You ascended on high,
[j]leading a host of captives in your train and [k]receiving gifts among men, even among [l]the rebellious, [m]that the LORD God may dwell there.

19[†] Blessed be the Lord,
who daily [n]bears us up;
God is our salvation. Selah
20 Our God is a God of salvation,
[o]and to GOD, the Lord, belong deliverances from death.

21 [p] But God will strike the heads of his enemies, the hairy crown of him who walks in his guilty ways.
22 The Lord said,
“I will bring them back [q] from Bashan,
[r] I will bring them back from the depths of the sea,
23 that you may [s] strike your feet in their blood, that [t] the tongues of your dogs may have their portion from the foe.”

24 [†] Your procession is [3] seen, O God,
the procession of my God, my King, into the sanctuary—25 [u] the singers in front, [v] the musicians last, between them [w] virgins playing tambourines:
26 [x] “Bless God in the great congregation, the Lord, O you [4] who are of [y] Israel’s fountain!” 27 There is [z] Benjamin, the least of them, in the lead, the princes of Judah in their throng,
the princes of [a] Zebulun, the princes of Naphtali.

28 [†] [b] Summon your power, O God, [5]
the power, O God, by which you have worked for us.
29 Because of your temple at Jerusalem kings shall [c] bear gifts to you.
30 Rebuke [d] the beasts that dwell among the reeds,
the herd of [e] bulls with the calves of the peoples.
[f] Trample underfoot those who lust after tribute;
scatter the peoples who delight in war. [6]
31 Nobles shall come from [g] Egypt;
[h] Cush shall hasten to [i] stretch out her hands to God.

32 [†] [j] O kingdoms of the earth, sing to God;
sing praises to the Lord, Selah 33 to him [k] who rides in [l] the heavens, the ancient heavens;
behold, he [m] sends out his voice, his mighty voice.
34 [n] Ascribe power to God, whose majesty is over Israel,

and whose [o] power is in [p] the skies.
35 [q] Awesome is God from his [7] [r] sanctuary;
the God of Israel—he is the one who gives [s] power and strength to his people.
Blessed be God!

Save Me, O God

To the choirmaster: according to [t] Lilies. Of David.

PSALM 69 [†] Save me, O God!
For [u] the waters have come up to my neck. [1] 2 I sink in deep [v] mire,
where there is no foothold;
I have come into deep waters,
and the flood [w] sweeps over me.
3 [x] I am weary with my crying out;
[y] my throat is parched.
[z] My eyes grow dim with [a] waiting for my God.

4 [†] [b] More in number than the hairs of my head are [c] those who hate me [d] without cause;
mighty are those who would destroy me,
[e] those who attack me with lies.
What I did not steal must I now restore?
5 O God, you know my folly;
the wrongs I have done are not hidden from you.

6 [†] Let not those who hope in you [f] be put to shame through me,
O Lord GOD of hosts;
let not those who seek you be brought to dishonor through me,
O God of Israel.
7 For it is [g] for your sake that I have borne reproach, that dishonor has covered my face.

8 I have become [h] a stranger to my brothers, an alien to my mother’s sons.

9[†] For [i] zeal for your house has consumed me,
and [j] the reproaches of those who reproach you have fallen on me.
10 When I wept and humbled [2] my soul with fasting, it became my reproach.
11 When I made [k] sackcloth my clothing,
I became [l] a byword to them.
12 I am the talk of those who [m] sit in the gate, and the drunkards make [n] songs about me.

13[†] But as for me, my [o] prayer is to you, O LORD.
At [p] an acceptable time, O God, in the abundance of your steadfast love answer me in your saving faithfulness.
14 Deliver me
from sinking in [q] the mire;
[r] let me be delivered from my enemies and from [s] the deep waters.
15 Let not the flood sweep over me,
or the deep swallow me up,
or [t] the pit close [u] its mouth over me.

16 Answer me, O LORD, for your [v] steadfast love is good;
according to your abundant [w] mercy, [x] turn to me.
17 [y] Hide not your face from your servant;
[z] for I am in distress; [a] make haste to answer me.
18 Draw near to my soul, redeem me;
ransom me because of my enemies!

19 You know my [b] reproach, and my shame and my dishonor;
my foes are all known to you.

20 [b] Reproaches have broken my heart,
so that I am in [c] despair.
I [d] looked for [e] pity, but there was none,
and for [f] comforters, but I found none.
21 [†] They gave me [g] poison for food,
and for my thirst they gave me [h] sour wine to drink.

22 [†] [i] Let their own [j] table before them become a snare;
[k] and when they are at peace, let it become a trap. [3]
23 [l] Let their eyes be darkened, so that they cannot see,
[m] and make their loins tremble continually.
24 Pour out your indignation upon them,
and let your burning anger overtake them.
25 [†] [n] May their camp be a desolation;
let no one dwell in their tents.
26 For they [o] persecute him whom [p] you have struck down,
and they recount the pain of [q] those you have wounded.
27 [r] Add to them punishment upon punishment;
may they have no acquittal from you. [4] 28 Let them be [s] blotted out of the book of the living;
let them not be [t] enrolled among the righteous.

29 [†] But I am afflicted and in pain;
let your salvation, O God, [u] set me on high!

30 I will [v] praise the name of God with a song;
I will [w] magnify him with [x] thanksgiving.
31 This will [y] please the LORD more than an ox or a bull [z] with horns and hoofs.
32 When [a] the humble see it they will be glad;
you who seek God, [a] let your hearts revive.
33 For the LORD hears the needy and [b] does not despise his own people who are prisoners.

34[†] Let [c]heaven and earth praise him,
the seas and everything that moves in them.
35 For [d]God will save Zion and build up the cities of Judah, and people shall dwell there and possess it; 36 [e]the offspring of his servants shall inherit it,
and those who love his name shall dwell in it.

O LORD, Do Not Delay

To the choirmaster. Of David, [f]for the memorial offering.

PSALM 70 [†] [g]Make haste, O God, to deliver me!
O LORD, make haste to help me!
2 Let them be put to shame and confusion who seek my life!
Let them be turned back and brought to dishonor
who delight in my hurt!
3 Let them turn back because of their shame who say, "Aha, Aha!"

4[†] May all who seek you
rejoice and be glad in you!
May those who love your salvation say evermore, "God is great!"
5 But I am poor and needy;
[h]hasten to me, O God!
You are my help and my deliverer;
O LORD, do not delay!

Forsake Me Not When My Strength Is Spent

PSALM 71 [†] [i]In you, O LORD, do I take refuge;
let me never be put to shame!
2 In your righteousness deliver me and rescue me;
incline your ear to me, and save me!
3 Be to me a rock of [j]refuge, to which I may continually come;

you have [k]given the command to save me,
for you are my [l]rock and my fortress.

4[†] [m]Rescue me, O my God, from the hand of the wicked, from the grasp of the unjust and cruel man.
5[†] For you, O Lord, are my [n]hope,
my trust, O LORD, from my youth.
6 Upon you I have leaned [o]from before my birth;
you are he who [p]took me from my mother’s womb.
My praise is continually of you.

7 I have been as [q]a portent to many,
but you are my strong refuge.
8 My [r]mouth is filled with your praise,
and with your glory all the day.
9[†] [s]Do not cast me off in the time of old age;
forsake me not when my strength is spent.
10 For my enemies speak concerning me;
those who [t]watch for my life [u]consult together 11 and say, “God has forsaken him;
pursue and seize him,
for there is none to deliver him.”

12 O God, be not [v]far from me;
O my God, [w]make haste to help me!
13 May my accusers be [x]put to shame and consumed;
[y]with scorn and disgrace may they be covered who [z]seek my hurt.
14[†] But I will [a]hope continually and will [b]praise you yet more and more.
15 My [c]mouth will tell of your righteous acts, of your deeds of salvation all the day,
for [d]their number is past my knowledge.
16 With the mighty deeds of the Lord GOD I will come;

I will remind them of your righteousness, yours alone.

[17] O God, from my youth you have taught me,
and I still proclaim your wondrous deeds.
[18][†] So even to [e] old age and gray hairs,
O God, [f] do not forsake me,
until I proclaim your might to another generation,
your power to all those to come.
[19] Your [g] righteousness, O God, reaches the high heavens.
You who have done [h] great things,
O God, [i] who is like you?
[20] You who have [j] made me see many troubles and calamities will [k] revive me again;
from the depths of the earth
you will bring me up again.
[21] You will increase my greatness and comfort me again.

[22][†] I will also praise you with [l] the harp for your faithfulness, O my God;
I will sing praises to you with the lyre,
O [m] Holy One of Israel.
[23] My lips will shout for joy,
when I sing praises to you;
my soul also, which you have [n] redeemed.
[24] And my [o] tongue will talk of your righteous help all the day long,
for they have been [p] put to shame and disappointed who sought to do me hurt.

Give the King Your Justice

Of [q] Solomon.

PSALM 72 [†] Give the king your [r] justice, O God,
and your righteousness to the royal son!

[2] May he [s] judge your people with righteousness, and your poor with justice!
[3] Let the mountains bear [t] prosperity for the people, and the hills, in righteousness!
[4] May he defend the cause of the poor of the people, give deliverance to the children of the needy,
and crush the oppressor!

[5][†] May they fear you [1] while [u] the sun endures, and as long as the moon, [v] throughout all generations!
[6] May he be like [w] rain that falls on [x] the mown grass, like [y] showers that water the earth!
[7] In his days may [z] the righteous flourish,
and [a] peace abound, till the moon be no more!

[8][†] May he have dominion from [b] sea to sea, and from [b] the River [2] to the [c] ends of the earth!
[9] May desert tribes [d] bow down before him,
and his enemies [e] lick the dust!
[10] May the kings of [f] Tarshish and of [g] the coastlands render him [h] tribute;
may the kings of [i] Sheba and [j] Seba bring gifts!
[11] May all kings [k] fall down before him,
all nations serve him!

[12][†] For he delivers [l] the needy when he calls, the poor and him who has no helper.
[13] He has pity on the weak and the needy,
and saves the lives of the needy.
[14] From oppression and violence he redeems their life,
and [m] precious is their blood in his sight.

[15] Long may he live;
may [n] gold of Sheba be given to him!

May prayer be made [o] for him continually,
and blessings invoked for him all the day!
16 May there be abundance of grain in the land;
on the tops of the mountains may it wave;
may its fruit be like Lebanon;
and may people [p] blossom in the cities like the [q] grass of the field!
17[†] [r] May his name endure forever,
his fame continue as long as the sun!
[s] May people be blessed in him,
[t] all nations call him blessed!

18[†] [u] Blessed be the Lord, the God of Israel, who alone does [v] wondrous things.
19 Blessed be his [w] glorious name forever;
may [x] the whole earth be filled with his glory!
[y] Amen and Amen!

20 [z] The prayers of [a] David, the son of Jesse, are ended.

BOOK THREE

God Is My Strength and Portion Forever

A Psalm of [b] Asaph.

PSALM 73 [†] Truly God is good to [c] Israel, to those who are [d] pure in heart.
2 But as for me, my feet had almost stumbled,
my steps had nearly slipped.
3 [e] For I was [f] envious of the arrogant
when I saw the [g] prosperity of the wicked.

4 [†] For they have no pangs until death;
their bodies are fat and sleek.
5 They are not in trouble as others are;
they are not [h] stricken like the rest of mankind.
6 Therefore pride is [i] their necklace;
violence covers them as [j] a garment.
7 Their [k] eyes swell out through fatness;
their hearts overflow with follies.
8 They scoff and [l] speak with malice;
loftily they threaten oppression.
9 They set their mouths against the heavens,
and their tongue struts through the earth.
10 Therefore his people turn back to them,
and find [m] no fault in them. [1] 11 And they say, [n] "How can God know?
Is there knowledge in the Most High?"
12 Behold, these are the wicked;
always at ease, they [o] increase in riches.
13 [†] All in vain have I [p] kept my heart clean and [q] washed my hands in innocence.
14 For all the day long I have been [h] stricken and [r] rebuked [s] every morning.

[15] If I had said, “I will speak thus,”
I would have betrayed [t]the generation of your children.

[16][†] But when I thought how to understand this,
it seemed to me [u]a wearisome task, [17] until I went into [v]the sanctuary of God;
then I discerned their [w]end.

[18][†] Truly you set them in [x]slippery places;
you make them fall to ruin.
[19] How they are destroyed [y]in a moment, swept away utterly by [z]terrors!
[20] Like [a]a dream when one awakes,
O Lord, when [b]you rouse yourself, you despise them as phantoms.
[21][†] When my soul was embittered,
when I was pricked in heart,
[22] I was [c]brutish and ignorant;
I was like [d]a beast toward you.

[23] Nevertheless, I am continually with you;
you [e]hold my right hand.
[24] You [f]guide me with your counsel, and afterward you will [g]receive me to glory.
[25] [h]Whom have I in heaven but you?
And there is nothing on earth that I desire besides you.
[26] [i]My flesh and my heart may fail, but God is [j]the strength [2] of my heart and my [k]portion [l]forever.

[27] For behold, those who are [m]far from you shall perish;
you put an end to everyone who is [n]unfaithful to you.
[28] But for me it is good to [o]be near God;
I have made the Lord GOD my [p]refuge, that I may [q]tell of all your works.

Arise, O God, Defend Your Cause

A Maskil[1] of [r] Asaph.

PSALM 74 [†] O God, why do you [s] cast us off forever?
Why does your anger [t] smoke against [u] the sheep of your pasture?
2 [v] Remember your congregation, which you have [w] purchased of old, which you have [x] redeemed to be [y] the tribe of your heritage!
Remember Mount Zion, [z] where you have dwelt.
3 Direct your steps to [a] the perpetual ruins;
the enemy has destroyed everything in the sanctuary!

4 [†] Your foes have [b] roared in the midst of your meeting place;
[c] they set up their [d] own signs for [e] signs.
5 They were like those who swing [f] axes
in a forest of trees. [2] 6 And all its [g] carved wood they broke down with hatchets and hammers.
7 They [h] set your sanctuary on fire;
they [i] profaned [j] the dwelling place of your name, bringing it down to the ground.
8 They [k] said to themselves, “We will utterly subdue them”;
they burned all the meeting places of God in the land.

9 [†] We do not see our [l] signs;
[m] there is no longer any prophet,
and there is none among us who knows how long.
10 How long, O God, [n] is the foe to scoff?
Is the enemy to revile your name forever?
11 Why [o] do you hold back your hand, your right hand?
Take it from the fold of your garment [3] and destroy them!

12 [†] Yet [p] God my King is from of old, working salvation in the midst of the earth.
13 You [q] divided the sea by your might;
you [r] broke the heads of [s] the sea monsters [4] on the waters.

14[†] You crushed the heads of [t] Leviathan;
you gave him as food for the creatures of the wilderness.
15 You [u] split open springs and brooks;
you [v] dried up ever-flowing streams.
16 Yours is the day, yours also the night;
you have established [w] the heavenly lights and the sun.
17 You have [x] fixed all the boundaries of the earth;
you have made [y] summer and winter.

18[†] [z] Remember this, O LORD, how the enemy scoffs, and [a] a foolish people reviles your name.
19 Do not deliver the soul of your [b] dove to the wild beasts;
[c] do not forget the life of your poor forever.

20 Have regard for [d] the covenant, for [e] the dark places of the land are full of the habitations of violence.
21 Let not [f] the downtrodden [g] turn back in shame;
let [h] the poor and needy praise your name.

22 Arise, O God, [i] defend your cause;
[j] remember how the foolish scoff at you all the day!
23 Do not forget the clamor of your foes,
[k] the uproar of those who rise against you, which goes up continually!

God Will Judge with Equity

To the choirmaster: according to [l] Do Not Destroy. [m] A Psalm of Asaph. A Song.

PSALM 75 [†] We give thanks to you, O God;
we give thanks, for your name is [n] near.
We [1] recount your wondrous deeds.

2[†] “At [o] the set time that I appoint
I will judge [p] with equity.

3 When the earth [q] totters, and all its inhabitants, it is I who keep steady its [r] pillars. Selah 4[†] I say to the boastful, ‘Do not boast,’ and to the wicked, [s] ‘Do not lift up your horn; 5 do not lift up your horn on high,
or speak with haughty neck.’”

6[†] For not from the east or from the west and not from the wilderness comes [t] lifting up, 7 but it is [u] God who executes judgment,
[v] putting down one and lifting up another.
8 [w] For in the hand of the LORD there is [x] a cup with foaming wine, [y] well mixed,
and he pours out from it,
and all the wicked of the earth shall [z] drain it down to the dregs.

9 But I will declare it forever;
I will sing praises to the God of Jacob.
10[†] [a] All the horns of the wicked I will cut off,
[b] but the horns of the righteous shall be lifted up.

Who Can Stand Before You?

To the choirmaster: with [c] stringed instruments. A Psalm of [d] Asaph. A Song.

PSALM 76 [†] In Judah God is [e] known;
his name is great in Israel.
2 His [f] abode has been established in [g] Salem,
his [h] dwelling place in Zion.
3[†] There he [i] broke the flashing arrows,
the shield, the sword, and the weapons of war. Selah

4 Glorious are you, more majestic
[j] than the mountains full of [k] prey.
5 [l] The stouthearted were stripped of their spoil;

[m] they sank into sleep;
all the men of war
were unable to use their hands.
[6] At your rebuke, O God of Jacob, both [n] rider and horse lay stunned.

[7] [o] But you, you are to be feared!
Who can [p] stand before you when once your anger is roused?
[8] From the heavens you uttered judgment;
[q] the earth feared and was still,
[9] when God [r] arose to establish judgment, to save all the humble of the earth. Selah

[10] [†] Surely [s] the wrath of man shall praise you;
the remnant [1] of wrath you will put on like a belt.
[11] [t] Make your vows to the LORD your God and perform them;
let all around him [u] bring gifts to him who [v] is to be feared, [12] who [w] cuts off the spirit of princes, who [x] is to be feared by the kings of the earth.

In the Day of Trouble I Seek the Lord

To the choirmaster: according to [y] Jeduthun. A Psalm of [z] Asaph.

PSALM 77 [†] I [a] cry aloud to God, aloud to God, and he will hear me.
[2] [b] In the day of my trouble I seek the Lord;
in [c] the night my [d] hand is stretched out without wearying;
my soul [e] refuses to be comforted.
[3] When I remember God, I [f] moan;
when I meditate, my spirit faints. Selah

[4] [†] You hold my eyelids open;
I am so [g] troubled that I cannot speak.

5 I consider [h] the days of old,
the years long ago.
6 I said, [1] “Let me remember my [i] song in the night;
let me [j] meditate in my heart.”
Then my spirit made a diligent search:
7[†] “Will the Lord [k] spurn forever,
and never again [l] be favorable?
8 Has his steadfast love forever ceased?
Are his [m] promises at an end for all time?
9 [n] Has God forgotten to be gracious?
[o] Has he in anger shut up his compassion?” Selah

10[†] Then I said, “I will appeal to this, to the years of the [p] right hand of the Most High.” [2]

11 I will remember the deeds of the LORD;
yes, I will [q] remember your wonders of old.
12 I will ponder all your [r] work,
and meditate on your [s] mighty deeds.
13 Your way, O God, is [t] holy.
[u] What god is great like our God?
14 You are the God who [v] works wonders;
you have [w] made known your might among the peoples.
15 You [x] with your arm redeemed your people,
the children of Jacob and Joseph. Selah

16 When [y] the waters saw you, O God, when the waters saw you, they were afraid;
indeed, the deep trembled.
17 The clouds poured out water;
the skies [z] gave forth thunder;
your [a] arrows flashed on every side.
18 [b] The crash of your thunder was in the whirlwind;
[c] your lightnings lighted up the world;

the earth [d] trembled and shook.
19 Your [e] way was through the sea,
your path through the great waters;
yet your footprints [f] were unseen. [3] 20[†] You [g] led your people like a flock by the hand of Moses and Aaron.

Tell the Coming Generation

A Maskil [1] of [h] Asaph.

PSALM 78 [†] [i] Give ear, O my people, to my teaching;
incline your ears to the words of my mouth!
2 [j] I will open my mouth [k] in a parable;
I will utter dark sayings from of old,
3 things that we have heard and known,
that our [l] fathers have told us.
4 We will not [m] hide them from their children, but [n] tell to the coming generation
the glorious deeds of the LORD, and his might,
and [o] the wonders that he has done.

5 He established [p] a testimony in [q] Jacob and appointed a law in [q] Israel, which he commanded our fathers to teach to their children, 6 that [r] the next generation might know them,
the children yet unborn,
and arise and tell them to their children,
7 so that they should set their hope in God and not forget [s] the works of God,
but [t] keep his commandments;
8 and that they should not be [u] like their fathers,
[v] a stubborn and rebellious generation,
a generation [w] whose heart was not steadfast, whose spirit was not faithful to God.

9[†] The Ephraimites, armed with [2] the bow,
[x] turned back on the day of battle.
10 They [y] did not keep God's covenant, but refused to walk according to his law.
11 They [z] forgot his works and [a] the wonders that he had shown them.
12 In the sight of their fathers [b] he performed wonders in the land of Egypt, in [c] the fields of Zoan.
13 He [d] divided the sea and let them pass through it,
and made the waters [e] stand like a heap.
14 [f] In the daytime he led them with a cloud, and all the night with a fiery light.
15 He [g] split rocks in the wilderness and gave them drink abundantly as from the deep.
16 He made streams come out of [h] the rock and caused waters to flow down like rivers.

17[†] Yet they sinned still more against him,
[i] rebelling against the Most High in the desert.
18 They [j] tested God in their heart
by demanding the food they craved.
19 They spoke against God, saying,
[k] "Can God [l] spread a table in the wilderness?
20 [m] He struck the rock so that water gushed out and streams overflowed.
Can he also give bread
or provide meat for his people?"

21 Therefore, when the LORD heard, he was full of wrath;
[n] a fire was kindled against Jacob;
his anger rose against Israel, 22 because they [o] did not believe in God and did not trust his saving power.
23 Yet he commanded the skies above and [p] opened the doors of heaven,

24 and he [q] rained down on them manna to eat and gave them [r] the grain of heaven.
25 Man ate of the bread of [s] the angels;
he sent them food [t] in abundance.
26 He [u] caused the east wind to blow in the heavens,
and by his power he led out the south wind; 27 he rained meat on them like [v] dust,
winged birds like [w] the sand of the seas;
28 he [x] let them fall in the midst of their camp,
all around their dwellings.
29 And they [y] ate and were well filled,
for he gave them what they [z] craved.
30 But before they had satisfied their craving,
[a] while the food was still in their mouths,
31 the anger of God rose against them,
and he killed [b] the strongest of them and laid low [c] the young men of Israel.

32[†] In spite of all this, they [d] still sinned;
[e] despite his wonders, they did not believe.
33 So he made [f] their days [g] vanish like [3] a breath, [4] and their years in terror.
34 When he killed them, they [h] sought him;
they repented and sought God earnestly.
35 They remembered that God was their [i] rock,
the Most High God their [j] redeemer.
36 But they [k] flattered him with their mouths;
they [l] lied to him with their tongues.
37 Their [m] heart was not [n] steadfast toward him;
they were not faithful to his covenant.
38 Yet he, being [o] compassionate, [p] atoned for their iniquity and did not destroy them;
he restrained his anger often and did not stir up all his wrath.

39 He [q] remembered that they were but [r] flesh,
[s] a wind that passes and comes not again.
40[†] How often they [t] rebelled against him in the wilderness and [u] grieved him in [v] the desert!
41 They [w] tested God again and again and provoked [x] the Holy One of Israel.
42 They [y] did not remember his power [5] or the day when he redeemed them from the foe, 43 [z] when he performed his [a] signs in Egypt and his [b] marvels in [c] the fields of Zoan.
44 He [d] turned their rivers to blood, so that they could not drink of their streams.
45 He sent among them swarms of [e] flies, which devoured them,
and [f] frogs, which destroyed them.
46 He gave their crops to [g] the destroying locust and the fruit of their labor to the locust.
47 He destroyed their vines with [h] hail and their sycamores with frost.
48 He gave over their [i] cattle to the hail and their flocks to thunderbolts.
49 He let loose on them his burning anger, wrath, indignation, and distress,
a company of [j] destroying angels.
50 He made a path for his anger;
he did not spare them from death,
but gave their lives over to the plague.
51 He struck down every [k] firstborn in Egypt, the firstfruits of their strength in the tents of [l] Ham.
52 Then he led out his people [m] like sheep and guided them in the wilderness like a flock.
53 [n] He led them in safety, so that they [o] were not afraid, but [p] the sea overwhelmed their enemies.
54 And he brought them to his [q] holy land,

[r] to the mountain which his right hand had [s] won.
[55] He [t] drove out nations before them;
he [u] apportioned them for a possession and settled the tribes of Israel in their tents.

[56][†] Yet they [v] tested and [w] rebelled against the Most High God and did not keep his testimonies, [57] but turned away and acted treacherously like their fathers;
they twisted like [x] a deceitful bow.
[58] For they [y] provoked him to anger with their [z] high places;
they [a] moved him to jealousy with their [b] idols.
[59] When God heard, he was full of [c] wrath,
and he utterly rejected Israel.
[60] He [d] forsook his dwelling at [e] Shiloh,
the tent where he dwelt among mankind, [61] and delivered his [f] power to captivity, his [g] glory to the hand of the foe.
[62] He [h] gave his people over to the sword and [i] vented his wrath on his heritage.
[63] [j] Fire devoured their young men,
and their young women had no [k] marriage song.
[64] Their [l] priests fell by the sword,
and their [m] widows made no lamentation.
[65][†] Then the Lord [n] awoke as from sleep, like a strong man shouting because of wine.
[66] And he [o] put his adversaries to rout;
he put them to everlasting shame.

[67] He rejected the tent of [p] Joseph;
he did not choose the tribe of Ephraim, [68] but he chose the tribe of Judah,
Mount Zion, which he [q] loves.
[69] He [r] built his sanctuary like the high heavens, like the earth, which he has founded forever.

70 He [s] chose David his servant and took him from the sheepfolds; 71 from [t] following the nursing ewes he brought him to [u] shepherd Jacob his people,
Israel his [v] inheritance.
72 With [w] upright heart he shepherded them and [x] guided them with his skillful hand.

How Long, O LORD?

A Psalm of [y] Asaph.

PSALM 79 [†] O God, [z] the nations have come into your [a] inheritance;
they have defiled your [b] holy temple;
they have [c] laid Jerusalem in ruins.
2 They have given [d] the bodies of your servants to the birds of the heavens for food,
the flesh of your [e] faithful to [f] the beasts of the earth.
3 They have poured out their blood like water
all around Jerusalem,
and there was [g] no one to bury them.
4 We have become [h] a taunt to our neighbors,
[h] mocked and derided by those around us.

5[†] [i] How long, O LORD? Will you be angry [j] forever?
Will your [k] jealousy [l] burn like fire?
6 [m] Pour out your anger on the nations that [n] do not know you,
and on the kingdoms
that [o] do not call upon your name!
7 For they have devoured Jacob and laid waste his habitation.

8[†] [p] Do not remember against us [q] our former iniquities; [1]
let your compassion come speedily to meet us, for we are [r] brought very low.
9 [s] Help us, O God of our salvation,
for the glory of your name;
deliver us, and [t] atone for our sins,
for your [u] name's sake!
10 [v] Why should the nations say,
"Where is their God?"
Let [w] the avenging of the outpoured blood of your servants be known among the nations before our eyes!

11[†] Let [x] the groans of the prisoners come before you;
according to your great power, preserve those [y] doomed to die!
12 Return [z] sevenfold into the [a] lap of our neighbors
the [b] taunts with which they have taunted you, O Lord!
13 But we your people, the [c] sheep of your pasture, will [d] give thanks to you forever;
from generation to generation we will recount your praise.

Restore Us, O God

To the choirmaster: according to [e] Lilies. A Testimony. Of [f] Asaph, a Psalm.

PSALM 80 [†] Give ear, O Shepherd of Israel, you who lead [g] Joseph like [h] a flock.
You who are [i] enthroned upon the cherubim, [j] shine forth.
2 Before [k] Ephraim and Benjamin and Manasseh, [l] stir up your might and [m] come to save us!

3[†] [n] Restore us, [1] O God;
[o] let your face shine, that we may be saved!

4[†] O [p] Lord God of hosts,
[q] how long will you be angry with your people's prayers?
5 You have fed them with [r] the bread of tears and given them tears to drink in full measure.
6 [s] You make us an object of contention for our [s] neighbors, and our enemies laugh among themselves.

7 [n] Restore us, O God of hosts;
let your face shine, that we may be saved!

8[†] You brought [t] a vine out of Egypt;
you [u] drove out the nations and planted it.

[9] You [v] cleared the ground for it;
it took deep root and filled the land.
[10] The mountains were covered with its shade,
the mighty cedars with its branches.
[11] It sent out its branches to [w] the sea and its shoots to [w] the River. [2] [12] Why then have you [x] broken down its walls, so that all who pass along the way pluck its fruit?
[13] [y] The boar from the forest ravages it,
and all that move in the field feed on it.

[14] Turn again, O God of hosts!
[z] Look down from heaven, and see;
have regard for this vine, [15][†] the stock that your right hand planted, and for the son whom you made strong for yourself.
[16][†] They have [a] burned it with fire; they have [a] cut it down;
may they perish at [b] the rebuke of your face!
[17] But [c] let your hand be on the man of your right hand, the son of man whom you have made strong for yourself!
[18] Then we shall not turn back from you;
[d] give us life, and we will call upon your name!

[19] [e] Restore us, O LORD God of hosts!
Let your face shine, that we may be saved!

Oh, That My People Would Listen to Me

To the choirmaster: according to [f] The Gittith. [1] Of [g] Asaph.

PSALM 81 [†] [h] Sing aloud to God our strength;
[i] shout for joy to the God of Jacob!
[2] Raise a song; sound [j] the tambourine,
[k] the sweet lyre with [k] the harp.
[3] Blow the trumpet at [l] the new moon,
at the full moon, on our feast day.

4 [†] For it is a statute for Israel, a rule [2] of the God of Jacob.
5 He made it [m] a decree in [n] Joseph when he [o] went out over [3] the land of Egypt.
[p] I hear a language [q] I had not known:
6 “I [r] relieved your [4] shoulder of [s] the burden;
your hands were freed from the basket.
7 In distress you [t] called, and I delivered you;
I [u] answered you in the secret place of thunder;
I [v] tested you at the waters of Meribah. Selah
8 [†] [w] Hear, O my people, while I admonish you!
O Israel, if you would but listen to me!
9 There shall be no [x] strange god among you;
you shall not bow down to a [y] foreign god.
10 [z] I am the LORD your God, who brought you up out of the land of Egypt.
[a] Open your mouth wide, and I will fill it.

11 [†] “But my people did not listen to my voice;
Israel [b] would not submit to me.
12 So I [c] gave them over to their [d] stubborn hearts, to follow their own [e] counsels.
13 [f] Oh, that my people would listen to me,
that Israel would [g] walk in my ways!
14 I would soon subdue their enemies and [h] turn my hand against their foes.
15 Those who hate the LORD would [i] cringe toward him,
and their fate would last forever.
16 But he would feed you [5] with [j] the finest of the wheat, and with [k] honey from the rock I would satisfy you.”

Rescue the Weak and Needy

A Psalm of [l] Asaph.

PSALM 82 [†] [m] God [n] has taken his place in the divine council;
in the midst of [p] the gods he [q] holds judgment:
2 [†] “How long will you judge unjustly and [r] show partiality to [s] the wicked? Selah
3 [t] Give justice to [u] the weak and the fatherless;
[v] maintain the right of the afflicted and the destitute.
4 [w] Rescue the weak and the needy;
[x] deliver them from the hand of the wicked.”

5 [†] [y] They have neither knowledge nor understanding,
[z] they walk about in darkness;
[a] all the foundations of the earth are [b] shaken.

6 [†] [c] I said, “You are gods, sons of the Most High, all of you;
7 nevertheless, like men [d] you shall die,
and fall like any prince.” [1]

8 [†] [e] Arise, O God, judge the earth;
for you shall [f] inherit all the nations!

O God, Do Not Keep Silence

A Song. A Psalm of [g] Asaph.

PSALM 83 [†] O God, do not keep silence;
[h] do not hold your peace or be still, O God!
2 For behold, your enemies [i] make an uproar;
those who hate you have [j] raised their heads.
3 They lay [k] crafty plans against your people;
they consult together against your [l] treasured ones.
4 They say, “Come, [m] let us wipe them out as a nation;
let the name of Israel be remembered no more!”

[5] For they conspire with one accord;
against you they make a covenant—
[6] the tents of [n] Edom and [o] the Ishmaelites,
[p] Moab and [q] the Hagrites,
[7] [r] Gebal and [p] Ammon and [s] Amalek,
[t] Philistia with the inhabitants of [u] Tyre;
[8] [v] Asshur also has joined them;
they are the strong arm of [w] the children of Lot. Selah

[9][†] Do to them as you did to [x] Midian, as to [y] Sisera and Jabin at [z] the river Kishon, [10] who were destroyed at [a] En-dor,
who became [b] dung for the ground.
[11] Make their nobles like [c] Oreb and Zeeb,
all their princes like [d] Zebah and Zalmunna, [12] who said, [e] "Let us take possession for ourselves of the pastures of God."

[13] O my God, make them like [f] whirling dust, [1] like [g] chaff before the wind.
[14] As [h] fire consumes the forest,
as the flame [i] sets the mountains ablaze, [15] so may you pursue them [j] with your tempest and terrify them with your hurricane!
[16] [k] Fill their faces with shame,
that they may seek your name, O Lord.
[17] Let them be [l] put to shame and dismayed forever;
let them perish in disgrace,
[18] that they may [m] know that you alone,
[n] whose name is the Lord,
are [o] the Most High over all the earth.

My Soul Longs for the Courts of the Lord

To the choirmaster: according to [p] The Gittith. [1] A Psalm of [q] the Sons of Korah.

PSALM 84 [†] How [r] lovely is your [s] dwelling place,
O Lord of hosts!
2 My soul [t] longs, yes, [u] faints for the courts of the Lord;
my heart and flesh sing for joy to [v] the living God.

3 Even the sparrow finds a home,
and the swallow a nest for herself,
where she may lay her young,
at your altars, O Lord of hosts,
[w] my King and my God.
4 [x] Blessed are those who dwell in your house, ever [y] singing your praise! Selah

5[†] Blessed are those whose strength is in you,
[z] in whose heart are the highways to Zion. [2]
6 As they go through the Valley of Baca they make it a place of springs;
[a] the early rain also covers it with [b] pools.
7 They go [c] from strength to strength;
each one [d] appears before God in Zion.

8 O [e] Lord God of hosts, hear my prayer;
give ear, O God of Jacob! Selah 9 [f] Behold our [g] shield, O God;
look on the face of your anointed!

10[†] For a day [h] in your courts is better than a thousand elsewhere.
I would rather be [i] a doorkeeper in the house of my God than dwell in the tents of wickedness.
11 For the Lord God is [j] a sun and [g] shield;

the Lord bestows favor and honor.
[k] No good thing does he withhold from those who [l] walk uprightly.
12 O Lord of hosts,
[m] blessed is the one who trusts in you!

Revive Us Again

To the choirmaster. A Psalm of [n] the Sons of Korah.

PSALM 85 [†] LORD, you were [o] favorable to your land;
you [p] restored the fortunes of Jacob.
[2] You [q] forgave the iniquity of your people;
you [q] covered all their sin. Selah [3] You withdrew all your wrath;
you [r] turned from your hot anger.

[4][†] [s] Restore us again, O God of our salvation, and put away your indignation toward us!
[5] [t] Will you be angry with us forever?
Will you prolong your anger to all generations?
[6] Will you not [u] revive us again,
that your people may [v] rejoice in you?
[7] Show us your steadfast love, O LORD, and grant us your salvation.

[8][†] [w] Let me hear what God the LORD will speak, for he will [x] speak peace to his people, to his [y] saints;
but let them not [z] turn back to [a] folly.
[9][†] Surely his [b] salvation is near to those who fear him, that [c] glory may dwell in our land.

[10][†] [d] Steadfast love and faithfulness meet;
[e] righteousness and peace kiss each other.
[11] Faithfulness springs up from the ground, and righteousness looks down from the sky.
[12] Yes, [f] the LORD will give what is good,
and our land [g] will yield its increase.
[13] [h] Righteousness will go before him and make his footsteps a way.

Great Is Your Steadfast Love

[i] A Prayer of David.

PSALM 86 [†] [j] Incline your ear, O LORD, and answer me, for I am [k] poor and needy.
2 Preserve my life, for I am [l] godly;
save your servant, who [m] trusts in you—you are my God.
3 [n] Be gracious to me, O Lord,
for to you do I cry all the day.
4 Gladden the soul of your servant,
for [o] to you, O Lord, do I lift up my soul.
5 For you, O Lord, are good and [p] forgiving,
[q] abounding in steadfast love to all who call upon you.
6 [r] Give ear, O LORD, to my prayer;
listen to my plea for grace.
7 In [s] the day of my trouble I call upon you,
[t] for you answer me.

8 [†] There is [u] none like you among the gods, O Lord,
[v] nor are there any works like yours.
9 [w] All the nations you have made shall come and worship before you, O Lord,
and shall glorify your name.
10 For [x] you are great and [y] do wondrous things;
[z] you alone are God.
11 [†] [a] Teach me your way, O LORD,
that I may [b] walk in your truth;
[c] unite my heart to fear your name.
12 I give thanks to you, O Lord my God, with my whole heart, and I will glorify your name forever.
13 [d] For great is your steadfast love toward me;
you have [e] delivered my soul from the depths of Sheol.

14 [†] O God, insolent men have [f] risen up against me;
a band of ruthless men seeks my life,

and they do not set you before them.
15 But you, O Lord, are a God [g] merciful and gracious, slow to anger and abounding in steadfast love and faithfulness.
16 [h] Turn to me and be gracious to me;
give your strength to [i] your servant,
and save [i] the son of your maidservant.
17 [j] Show me a sign of your [k] favor, that those who hate me may see and be put to shame
because you, LORD, have helped me and comforted me.

Glorious Things of You Are Spoken

A Psalm of [l] the Sons of Korah. A Song.

PSALM 87 [†] On [m] the holy mount [n] stands the city he founded;
2 the LORD [o] loves the gates of Zion more than all the dwelling places of Jacob.
3 [p] Glorious things of you are spoken,
O [q] city of God. Selah

4 [†] Among those who [r] know me I mention [s] Rahab and Babylon; behold, Philistia and Tyre, with [t] Cush [1]—
“This one was born there,” they say.
5 And of Zion it shall be said,
“This one and that one were born in her”;
for the Most High himself will [u] establish her.
6 The LORD records as he [v] registers the peoples,
“This one was born there.” Selah

7 [w] Singers and [x] dancers alike say,
“All my [y] springs are in you.”

I Cry Out Day and Night Before You

A Song. A Psalm of [z] the Sons of Korah. To the choirmaster: according to [a] Mahalath Leannoth. A Maskil [1] of [b] Heman the Ezrahite.

PSALM 88 [†] O LORD, [c] God of my salvation;
I [d] cry out day and night before you.
[2] Let my prayer come before you;
[e] incline your ear to my cry!

[3] [†] For my soul is full of troubles,
and [f] my life draws near to [g] Sheol.
[4] I am counted among those who [h] go down to the pit;
I am a man who has no strength,
[5] like one set loose among the dead,
like the slain that lie in the grave,
like those whom [i] you remember no more,
for they are [j] cut off from your hand.
[6] You have put me in [k] the depths of the pit,
in the [l] regions dark and [m] deep.
[7] Your wrath [n] lies heavy upon me,
and you overwhelm me with [o] all your waves. Selah

[8] You have caused [p] my companions to shun me;
you have made me [q] a horror [2] to them.
I am [r] shut in so that I cannot escape;
[9] [s] my eye grows dim through sorrow.
Every day I call upon you, O LORD;
I [t] spread out my hands to you.
[10] [†] Do you work wonders for the dead?
[u] Do the departed rise up to praise you? Selah [11] Is your steadfast love declared in the grave, or your faithfulness in Abaddon?
[12] Are your [v] wonders known in [w] the darkness, or your righteousness in the land of [x] forgetfulness?

13[†] But I, O Lord, cry [y] to you;
[z] in the morning my prayer comes before you.
14 O Lord, why [a] do you cast my soul away?
Why [b] do you hide your face from me?
15 Afflicted and close to death from my youth up,
I suffer your terrors; I am helpless. [3] 16 Your wrath has swept over me;
your [c] dreadful assaults destroy me.
17 They [d] surround me like a flood [e] all day long;
they [f] close in on me together.
18 You have caused [g] my beloved and my friend to shun me;
my companions have become darkness. [4]

I Will Sing of the Steadfast Love of the Lord

A Maskil [1] of [h] Ethan the Ezrahite.

PSALM 89 [†] [i] I will sing of [j] the steadfast love of the Lord, forever;
with my mouth I will make known your [k] faithfulness to all generations.
2 For I said, [j] “Steadfast love will be built up forever;
in the heavens [l] you will establish your [k] faithfulness.”
3 You have said, “I have made [m] a covenant with my [n] chosen one;
I have [o] sworn to David my servant:
4 ‘I will establish your [p] offspring forever, and build your [q] throne for all generations.’” Selah

5 Let [r] the heavens praise your [s] wonders, O Lord, your faithfulness in the assembly of [t] the holy ones!
6 For [u] who in the skies can be compared to the Lord?
[u] Who among the heavenly beings [2] is like the Lord,
7 a God greatly [v] to be feared in the council of [t] the holy ones, and awesome above all [w] who are around him?
8[†] O Lord God of hosts,
[x] who is mighty as you are, O [y] Lord,

with your faithfulness all around you?
9 You rule the raging of the sea;
when its waves rise, you [z]still them.
10 You [a]crushed [b]Rahab like a carcass;
you [c]scattered your enemies with your mighty arm.
11 [d]The heavens are yours; the earth also is yours;
[e]the world and all that is in it, you have [f]founded them.
12 [g]The north and the south, you have created them;
[h]Tabor and [i]Hermon [j]joyously praise your name.
13[†] You have a mighty arm; strong is your hand, high your right hand.
14 [k]Righteousness and justice are the foundation of your throne;
[l]steadfast love and faithfulness go before you.
15[†] Blessed are the people who know [m]the festal shout, who walk, O Lord, in [n]the light of your face, 16 who exult in your [o]name all the day and in your righteousness are [p]exalted.
17 For you are [q]the glory of their strength;
by your favor our [r]horn is exalted.
18 For our [s]shield belongs to the Lord,
our king to [t]the Holy One of Israel.

19[†] [u]Of old you spoke in a vision to your godly one,[3] and said:
“I have [v]granted help to one who is [w]mighty;
I have exalted one [x]chosen from the people.
20 [y]I have found David, my servant;
with my holy oil I have [z]anointed him, 21 so that my [a]hand shall be established with him;
my arm also shall strengthen him.
22 The enemy shall not outwit him;
[b]the wicked shall not humble him.
23 I will [c]crush his foes before him and strike down those who hate him.
24[†] My [d]faithfulness and my [d]steadfast love shall be with him, and in my name shall his [e]horn be exalted.

25 I will set his hand on [f]the sea and his right hand on [f]the rivers.
26[†] He shall cry to me, ‘You are my [g]Father, my God, and [h]the Rock of my salvation.’
27 And I will make him the [i]firstborn, [j]the highest of the kings of the earth.
28 My steadfast love I will keep for him forever, and my [k]covenant will stand firm [4] for him.
29 I will establish his [l]offspring forever and his [l]throne as [m]the days of the heavens.
30 [n]If his children forsake my law and do not walk according to my rules, [5] 31 if they violate my statutes and do not keep my commandments, 32 then I will punish their transgression with [o]the rod and their iniquity with stripes, 33 but I will not remove from him my steadfast love or be false to my faithfulness.
34 I will not violate my [k]covenant or alter the word that went forth from my lips.
35 Once for all I have sworn [p]by my holiness;
I will not [q]lie to David.
36 His [l]offspring shall endure forever,
[r]his [l]throne as long as [s]the sun before me.
37 Like [s]the moon it shall be established forever,
[t]a faithful witness in the skies.” Selah

38[†] But now you have [u]cast off and rejected;
you are full of wrath against your [v]anointed.
39 You have [w]renounced [x]the covenant with your servant;
you have [y]defiled his [z]crown in the dust.
40 You have [a]breached all his walls;
you have laid his strongholds in ruins.

41 [a] All who pass by plunder him;
he has become [b] the scorn of his neighbors.
42 You have exalted the right hand of his foes;
you have made all his enemies rejoice.
43 You have also turned back the edge of his sword,
and you have not made him stand in battle.
44 You have made his splendor to cease and cast his throne to the ground.
45 You have cut short [c] the days of his youth;
you have [d] covered him with shame. Selah

46[†] [e] How long, O LORD? Will you hide yourself forever?
How long will your wrath [f] burn like fire?
47 [g] Remember [h] how short my [i] time is!
For what vanity you have created all the children of man!
48 [j] What man can live and never [k] see death?
Who can deliver his soul from the power of [l] Sheol? Selah 49 Lord, where is your [m] steadfast love of old, which by your [m] faithfulness you swore to David?

50 [n] Remember, O Lord, how your servants are mocked, and how I bear in my [o] heart the insults [6] of all the many nations, 51 with which your enemies mock, O LORD, with which they mock [p] the footsteps of your [q] anointed.

52 [r] Blessed be the LORD forever!
Amen and Amen.

BOOK FOUR

From Everlasting to Everlasting

A [s] Prayer of Moses, the [t] man of God.

PSALM 90 [†] Lord, you have been our [u] dwelling place [1] in all generations.
2 [v] Before the [w] mountains were brought forth,
or ever you had formed the earth and the world,
[x] from everlasting to everlasting you are God.

3[†] You return man to dust and say, [y] "Return, [z] O children of man!" [2] 4 For [a] a thousand years in your sight are but as [b] yesterday when it is past, or as [c] a watch in the night.

5 You [d] sweep them away as with a flood; they are like [e] a dream, like [f] grass that is renewed in the morning:
6 in [i] the morning it flourishes and is renewed;
in the evening it [j] fades and [k] withers.

7[†] For we are brought to an end by your anger;
by your wrath we are dismayed.
8 You have [l] set our iniquities before you,
our [m] secret sins in the light of your presence.

9 For all our days pass away under your wrath;
we bring our years to an end like a sigh.
10 The years of our life are seventy, or even by reason of strength eighty;
yet their span [3] is but toil and trouble;
they are soon gone, and we fly away.
11 Who considers the power of your anger,
and your wrath according to the fear of you?

12[†] [n]So teach us to number our days that we may get a heart of wisdom.
13[†] [o]Return, O LORD! [p]How long?
Have [q]pity on your servants!
14 Satisfy us in the [s]morning with your steadfast love, that we may [t]rejoice and be glad all our days.
15 Make us glad for as many days as you have [u]afflicted us,
and for as many years as we have seen evil.
16[†] Let your [v]work be shown to your servants,
and your glorious power to their children.
17 Let the [x]favor [4] of the Lord our God be upon us,
and establish [y]the work of our hands upon us;
yes, establish the work of our hands!

My Refuge and My Fortress

PSALM 91 [†] He who dwells in [a]the shelter of the Most High will abide in [b]the shadow of the Almighty.
2 I will say [1] to the LORD, “My [c]refuge and my [d]fortress, my God, in whom I [e]trust.”

3[†] For he will deliver you from [f]the snare of the fowler and from the deadly pestilence.
4 He will [g]cover you with his pinions, and under his [h]wings you will [i]find refuge;
his [j]faithfulness is [k]a shield and buckler.
5 [l]You will not fear [m]the terror of the night,
nor the arrow that flies by day,
6 nor the pestilence that stalks in darkness,
nor the destruction that wastes at noonday.

7 A thousand may fall at your side,
ten thousand at your right hand,
but it will not come near you.
8 You will only look with your eyes and [n] see the recompense of the wicked.

9 Because you have made the LORD your [o] dwelling place—
the Most High, who is my [c] refuge [2]— 10[†] [p] no evil shall be allowed to befall you,
[q] no plague come near your tent.

11 [r] For he will command his [s] angels concerning you to [t] guard you in all your ways.
12 On their hands they will bear you up,
lest you [u] strike your foot against a stone.
13 You will tread on [v] the lion and the [w] adder;
the young lion and [x] the serpent you will [y] trample underfoot.

14[†] "Because he [z] holds fast to me in love, I will deliver him;
I will protect him, because he [a] knows my name.
15 When he [b] calls to me, I will answer him;
I will be with him in trouble;
I will rescue him and [c] honor him.
16 With [d] long life I will satisfy him and [e] show him my salvation."

How Great Are Your Works

A Psalm. A Song for the Sabbath.

PSALM 92 [†] [f] It is good to give thanks to the LORD, to sing praises to your name, [g] O Most High;
2 to declare your [h] steadfast love in [i] the morning,
and your [h] faithfulness by [i] night,
3 to the music of [j] the lute and [j] the harp,
to the melody of [j] the lyre.
4 For you, O LORD, have made me glad by your [k] work;
at [l] the works of your hands I sing for joy.

5 How [m] great are your works, O LORD!

Your [n] thoughts are very [o] deep!
6 [†] The stupid man cannot know;
the fool cannot understand this:
7 that though [p] the wicked sprout like grass and all [q] evildoers flourish,
they are doomed to destruction forever;
8 but you, O LORD, are [r] on high forever.
9 [†] For behold, your enemies, O LORD, for behold, your enemies shall perish;
all evildoers shall be [s] scattered.

10 [†] But you have exalted my [t] horn like that of [u] the wild ox;
you have [v] poured over me [1] fresh oil.
11 My [w] eyes have seen the downfall of my enemies;
my ears have heard the doom of my evil assailants.

12 [†] [x] The righteous flourish like the palm tree and grow like a cedar in Lebanon.
13 They are planted in the house of the LORD;
they flourish in [y] the courts of our God.
14 They still bear fruit in old age;
they are ever full of sap and green, 15 [z] to declare that the LORD is upright;
he is my [a] rock, and there is [b] no unrighteousness in him.

The LORD Reigns

PSALM 93 [†] [c] The LORD reigns; he is [d] robed in majesty;
the LORD is [e] robed; he has [f] put on strength as his belt.
[g] Yes, the world is established; [h] it shall never be moved.
2 [i] Your throne is established from of old;
[j] you are from everlasting.

3 [†] [k] The floods have lifted up, O LORD,
the floods have lifted up their voice;

the floods lift up their roaring.
4 Mightier than the thunders of many waters,
mightier than the waves of the sea, [l]the LORD [m]on high is mighty!

5[†] Your [n]decrees are very trustworthy;
[o]holiness befits your house,
O LORD, forevermore.

The LORD Will Not Forsake His People

PSALM 94 [†] O LORD, God of [p]vengeance,
O God of vengeance, [q]shine forth!
2[†] [r]Rise up, O [s]judge of the earth;
repay to the [t]proud what they deserve!
3 O LORD, [u]how long shall the wicked,
how long shall [v]the wicked exult?
4[†] They pour out their [w]arrogant words;
all [x]the evildoers boast.
5 They [y]crush your people, O LORD,
and afflict your heritage.
6 They kill [z]the widow and the sojourner, and murder [z]the fatherless;
7 [a]and they say, “The LORD does not see;
the God of Jacob does not perceive.”

8[†] [b]Understand, O dullest of the people!
Fools, when will you be wise?
9 [c]He who planted the ear, does he not hear?
He who formed the eye, does he not see?
10 He who [d]disciplines the nations, does he not rebuke?
He who [e]teaches man knowledge—
11 [f]the LORD—knows the thoughts of man, that they are [g]but a breath. [1]

12[†] [h]Blessed is the man whom you [i]discipline, O LORD, and whom you teach out of your law, 13 to give him [j]rest from [k]days of trouble, until [l]a pit is dug for the wicked.
14[†] [m]For the LORD will not forsake his [n]people;
he will not abandon his [n]heritage;
15 for [o]justice will return to the righteous, and all the upright in heart will [p]follow it.

16[†] [q]Who rises up for me against the wicked?
Who stands up for me against evildoers?
17 [r]If the LORD had not been my help, my soul would soon have lived in the land of [s]silence.
18 When I thought, [t]“My foot slips,” your steadfast love, O LORD, [u]held me up.
19[†] When the cares of my heart are many,
your consolations cheer my soul.
20[†] Can [w]wicked rulers be allied with you,
those who frame injustice by [x]statute?
21 They [y]band together against the life of the righteous and condemn [z]the innocent to death. [2] 22[†] But the LORD has become my [a]stronghold, and my God [b]the rock of my [c]refuge.
23 He will bring back on them [d]their iniquity and [e]wipe them out for their wickedness;
the LORD our God will wipe them out.

Let Us Sing Songs of Praise

PSALM 95 [†] Oh come, let us sing to the LORD;
let us [f]make a joyful noise to [g]the rock of our salvation!
2 Let us [h]come into his presence with thanksgiving;
let us [f]make a joyful noise to him with songs of praise!
3 For the LORD is [i]a great God, and a great King [j] above all gods.

[4] In his hand are the depths of the earth;
the heights of the mountains are his also.
[5] The sea is his, for [k] he made it,
and his hands formed [k] the dry land.

[6] Oh come, let us worship and bow down;
let us [l] kneel before the Lord, our [m] Maker!
[7][†] For he is our [n] God,
and we are the people of his [o] pasture,
and the sheep of his hand.
[p] Today, if you [q] hear his voice,
[8] [r] do not harden your hearts, as at [s] Meribah,
as on the day at [t] Massah in the wilderness, [9] when your fathers put me to the [u] test and put me to the proof, though they had seen my [v] work.
[10] [w] For forty years I loathed that generation and said, “They are a people who go astray in their heart, and they have not known [x] my ways.”
[11][†] Therefore I [y] swore in my wrath,
“They shall not enter [z] my rest.”

Worship in the Splendor of Holiness

PSALM 96 [†] [a] Oh sing to the LORD [b] a new song;
sing to the LORD, all the earth!
2 Sing to the LORD, bless his name;
[c] tell of his salvation from day to day.
3 Declare his glory among the nations,
his marvelous works among all the peoples!
4 [†] For [d] great is the LORD, and [e] greatly to be praised;
he is to be feared above [f] all gods.
5 For all the gods of the peoples are worthless idols,
but the LORD [g] made the heavens.
6 Splendor and majesty are before him;
[h] strength and beauty are in his sanctuary.

7 [†] Ascribe to the LORD, O [i] families of the peoples,
[j] ascribe to the LORD glory and strength!
8 Ascribe to the LORD [k] the glory due his name;
bring [l] an offering, and [m] come into his courts!
9 Worship the LORD in [n] the splendor of holiness; [1]
[o] tremble before him, all the earth!

10 [†] Say among the nations, [p] “The LORD reigns!
Yes, the world is established; it shall never be moved;
he will [q] judge the peoples with equity.”

11 Let [r] the heavens be glad, and let [s] the earth rejoice;
let [t] the sea roar, and all that fills it;
12 let [u] the field exult, and everything in it!
Then shall all [v] the trees of the forest sing for joy 13 before the LORD, for he comes,
for he comes [w] to judge the earth.
He will judge the world in righteousness,
and the peoples in his faithfulness.

The Lord Reigns

PSALM 97 [†] [x] The Lord reigns, [y] let the earth rejoice;
let the many [z] coastlands be glad!
2 [a] Clouds and thick darkness are all around him;
[b] righteousness and justice are the foundation of his throne.
3 [c] Fire goes before him
and burns up his adversaries all around.
4 His [d] lightnings light up the world;
the earth sees and [e] trembles.
5 The mountains [f] melt like [g] wax before the Lord,
before [h] the Lord of all the earth.

6 [†] [i] The heavens proclaim his righteousness, and all [j] the peoples see his glory.
7 All worshipers of images are [k] put to shame,
who make their boast in [l] worthless idols;
[m] worship him, all you gods!

8 Zion hears and [n] is glad,
and the daughters of Judah rejoice,
because of your judgments, O Lord.
9 For you, O Lord, are [o] most high over all the earth;
you are exalted far above [p] all gods.

10 [†] O you who love the Lord, [q] hate evil!
He [r] preserves the lives of his [s] saints;
he [t] delivers them from the hand of the wicked.
11 [†] [u] Light [v] is sown [1] for the righteous, and joy for the upright in heart.
12 [w] Rejoice in the Lord, O you righteous, and [x] give thanks to his holy name!

Make a Joyful Noise to the LORD

A Psalm.

PSALM 98 [†] Oh sing to the LORD [y] a new song, for he has done [z] marvelous things!
His [a] right hand and his holy arm have worked salvation for him.
[2] The LORD has [b] made known his salvation;
he has [c] revealed his righteousness in [d] the sight of the nations.
[3] He has [e] remembered his [f] steadfast love and faithfulness to the house of Israel.
All [g] the ends of the earth have seen
[h] the salvation of our God.

[4][†] [i] Make a joyful noise to the LORD, all the earth;
[j] break forth into joyous song and sing praises!
[5] Sing praises to the LORD with the lyre, with the lyre and the [k] sound of melody!
[6] With [l] trumpets and the sound of [m] the horn
[i] make a joyful noise before the King, the LORD!

[7][†] [n] Let the sea roar, and [o] all that fills it;
[o] the world and those who dwell in it!
[8] Let the rivers [p] clap their hands;
let [q] the hills sing for joy together
[9] before the LORD, for he comes to [r] judge the earth.
He will judge the world with righteousness,
and the peoples with equity.

The LORD Our God Is Holy

PSALM 99 [†] [s] The LORD reigns; [t] let the peoples tremble!
He [u] sits enthroned upon the cherubim; [v] let the earth quake!
[2] The LORD is [w] great in Zion;

he is [x]exalted over all the peoples.
[3] Let them praise your [y]great and awesome name!
[z]Holy is he!
[4][†] [a]The King in his might [b]loves justice. [1]
You have established equity;
you have executed justice and righteousness in Jacob.
[5] [c]Exalt the LORD our God;
[d]worship at his [e]footstool!
[z]Holy is he!

[6][†] [f]Moses and Aaron were among his [g]priests,
Samuel also was among those who [h]called upon his name.
They [i]called to the LORD, and he answered them.
[7] In [j]the pillar of the cloud he spoke to them;
they [k]kept his testimonies and the statute that he gave them.

[8][†] O LORD our God, you answered them;
you were [l]a forgiving God to them,
but [m]an avenger of their wrongdoings.
[9] Exalt the LORD our God, and worship at his [n]holy mountain;
for the LORD our God is holy!

His Steadfast Love Endures Forever

A Psalm for [o]giving thanks.

PSALM 100 [†] [p]Make a joyful noise to the LORD, all the earth!
[2] [q]Serve the LORD with gladness!
[r]Come into his presence with singing!

[3][†] Know that [s]the LORD, he is God!
It is he who [t]made us, and [u]we are his; [1]
we are his [v]people, and [w]the sheep of his pasture.

[4][†] [x]Enter his gates with thanksgiving, and his [y]courts with praise!
Give thanks to him; [z]bless his name!

[5][†] [a]For the LORD is good;
his steadfast love endures forever,
and his [b]faithfulness to all generations.

I Will Walk with Integrity

A Psalm of David.

PSALM 101 [†] I will sing of [c]steadfast love and justice;
to you, O LORD, I will make music.
[2] I will [d]ponder the way [e]that is blameless.
Oh when will you [f]come to me?
I will [g]walk with [h]integrity of heart within my house;
[3] I will not set before my eyes anything [i]that is worthless.
I hate the work of those who [j]fall away;
it shall not cling to me.
[4] [k]A perverse heart shall be far from me;
I will [l]know nothing of evil.

[5][†] Whoever slanders his neighbor [m]secretly
I will [n]destroy.
Whoever has a [o]haughty look and an [p]arrogant heart
I will not endure.

[6][†] I will look with favor on the faithful in the land, that they may dwell with me;
he who walks in [q]the way that is blameless shall minister to me.

[7] No one who [r]practices deceit shall dwell in my house;

no one who utters lies shall [s] continue before my eyes.

8 [t] Morning by morning I will destroy all the wicked in the land, [u] cutting off all [v] the evildoers from [w] the city of the LORD.

Do Not Hide Your Face from Me

A Prayer of one afflicted, when he is [x]faint and [y]pours out his complaint before the LORD.

PSALM 102 [†] [z]Hear my prayer, O LORD;
let my cry [a]come to you!
[2] [b]Do not hide your face from me in [c]the day of my distress!
[d]Incline your ear to me;
[e]answer me speedily [f]in the day when I call!

[3][†] For my days [g]pass away like smoke,
and my [h]bones burn like a furnace.
[4] My heart is [i]struck down like grass and [j]has withered;
I [k]forget to eat my bread.
[5] Because of my loud groaning
my [l]bones cling to my flesh.
[6] I am like [m]a desert owl of the wilderness, like an owl [1] of the waste places;
[7] I [n]lie awake;
I am like a lonely sparrow on the housetop.
[8] All the day my enemies taunt me;
those who [o]deride me [p]use my name for a curse.
[9] For I eat ashes like bread and [q]mingle tears with my drink, [10] because of your indignation and anger;
for you have [r]taken me up and [s]thrown me down.
[11] My days are like [t]an evening shadow;
I [j]wither away like grass.

[12][†] But you, O LORD, are [u]enthroned forever;
you [v]are remembered throughout all generations.
[13] You will [w]arise and have [x]pity on Zion;
it is the time to favor her;

[y]the appointed time has come.
14 For your servants hold her [z]stones dear and have pity on her dust.
15 Nations will [a]fear the name of the LORD, and all [b]the kings of the earth will fear your glory.
16 For the LORD [c]builds up Zion;
he [d]appears in his glory;
17 he [e]regards the prayer of the destitute and does not despise their prayer.

18[†] Let this be [f]recorded for [g]a generation to come,
so that [h]a people yet to be created may praise the LORD:
19 that he [i]looked down from his holy height;
from heaven the LORD looked at the earth, 20 to hear [j]the groans of the prisoners,
to set free [k]those who were doomed to die, 21 that they may [l]declare in Zion the name of the LORD,
and in Jerusalem his praise, 22 when [m]peoples gather together,
and kingdoms, to worship the LORD.

23[†] He has broken my strength in midcourse;
he [n]has shortened my days.
24 "O my God," [o]I say, "take me not away in the midst of my days—[p]you whose years endure throughout all generations!"

25[†] [q]Of old you laid the foundation of the earth, and [r]the heavens are the work of your hands.
26 [s]They will perish, but [t]you will remain;
they will all wear out like a garment.
You will change them like a robe, and they will pass away,
27 but [u]you are the same, and your years have no end.
28[†] [v]The children of your servants [w]shall dwell secure;

[x] their offspring shall be established before you.

Bless the LORD, O My Soul

Of David.

PSALM 103 [†] [y] Bless the LORD, O my soul, and all that is within me,
bless his holy name!
2 [y] Bless the LORD, O my soul,
and [z] forget not all his benefits, 3 [†] who [a] forgives all your iniquity, who [b] heals all your diseases,
4 who [c] redeems your life from the pit,
who [d] crowns you with steadfast love and mercy, 5 who [e] satisfies you with good so that your youth is renewed like [f] the eagle’s.

6 [†] The LORD works [g] righteousness and justice for all who are oppressed.
7 [†] He made known his [h] ways to Moses,
his [i] acts to the people of Israel.
8 [†] The LORD is [j] merciful and gracious,
slow to anger and abounding in steadfast love.
9 [k] He will not always chide,
nor will he [l] keep his anger forever.
10 He does not deal with us [m] according to our sins, nor repay us according to our iniquities.
11 For [n] as high as the heavens are above the earth, so great is his [o] steadfast love toward [p] those who fear him;
12 as far as the east is from the west,
so far does he [q] remove our transgressions from us.
13 As [r] a father shows compassion to his children, so the LORD shows compassion [p] to those who fear him.
14 [†] For he knows our frame;[1]

he [s]remembers that we are dust.

[15] As for man, his days are like [t]grass;
he flourishes like [u]a flower of the field;
[16] for [v]the wind passes over it, and [w]it is gone, and [x]its place knows it no more.
[17][†] But [y]the steadfast love of the LORD is from everlasting to everlasting on [p]those who fear him,
and his righteousness to [z]children’s children, [18] to those who [a]keep his covenant and [b]remember to do his commandments.
[19] The LORD has [c]established his throne in the heavens, and his [d]kingdom rules over all.

[20][†] Bless the LORD, O you [e]his angels, you [f]mighty ones who [g]do his word,
obeying the voice of his word!
[21] Bless the LORD, all his [h]hosts, his [i]ministers, who do his will!
[22] [j]Bless the LORD, all his works, in all places of his dominion.
[k]Bless the LORD, O my soul!

O LORD My God, You Are Very Great

PSALM 104 [†] [l]Bless the LORD, O my soul!
O LORD my God, you are [m]very great!
[n]You are clothed with splendor and majesty,
[2] covering yourself with light as with a garment,
[o]stretching out the heavens [p]like a tent.
[3] He [q]lays the beams of his [r]chambers on the waters;
he makes [s]the clouds his chariot;
he rides on [t]the wings of the wind;
[4] he [u]makes his messengers winds,

his [v]ministers [w]a flaming fire.

5[†] He [x]set the earth on its foundations, so that it should never be moved.
6 You [y]covered it with the deep as with a garment;
the waters stood above the mountains.
7 At [z]your rebuke they fled;
at [a]the sound of your thunder they [b]took to flight.
8 The mountains rose, the valleys sank down to the place that you [c]appointed for them.
9 You set [d]a boundary that they may not pass,
so that they [e]might not again cover the earth.

10[†] You make springs gush forth in the valleys;
they flow between the hills;
11 they [f]give drink to every beast of the field;
the wild donkeys quench their thirst.
12 Beside them the birds of the heavens dwell;
they sing among the branches.
13 [g]From your lofty abode you [h]water the mountains;
the earth is satisfied with the fruit of your work.

14[†] You cause [i]the grass to grow for the livestock and [j]plants for man to cultivate, that he may bring forth [k]food from the earth 15[†] and [l]wine to gladden the heart of man,
[m]oil to make his face shine and bread to [n]strengthen man's heart.

16 The trees of the LORD are watered abundantly,
[o]the cedars of Lebanon [p]that he planted.
17 In them the birds build their nests;
the stork has her home in the fir trees.
18 The high mountains are for [q]the wild goats;
the rocks are a refuge for [r]the rock badgers.

19[†] He made the moon to mark the [s] seasons; [1]
the sun knows its time for setting.
20 [t] You make darkness, and it is night, when all the beasts of the forest creep about.
21 [u] The young lions roar for their prey, seeking their food from God.
22 When the sun rises, they steal away and lie down in their [v] dens.
23 [w] Man goes out to his work and to his labor until the evening.

24 O Lord, how manifold are your works!
In [x] wisdom have you made them all;
the earth is full of your creatures.
25[†] Here is the sea, great and wide,
[y] which teems with creatures innumerable,
living things both small and great.
26 There go the ships, and [z] Leviathan, which you formed to [a] play in it. [2]

27[†] These [b] all look to you,
to [c] give them their food in due season.
28 When you give it to them, they gather it up;
when you [d] open your hand, they are filled with good things.
29 When you [e] hide your face, they are [f] dismayed;
when you [g] take away their breath, they die and [h] return to their dust.
30 When you [i] send forth your Spirit, [3] they are created, and you [j] renew the face of the ground.

31[†] May the glory of the Lord [k] endure forever;
may the Lord [l] rejoice in his works, 32 who looks on the earth and it [m] trembles, who [n] touches the mountains and they smoke!

[33] I will sing to the LORD [o] as long as I live;
I will sing praise to my God while I have being.
[34] May my [p] meditation be pleasing to him,
for I rejoice in the LORD.
[35] Let [q] sinners be consumed from the earth, and let the wicked be no more!
[r] Bless the LORD, O my soul!
[s] Praise the LORD!

Tell of All His Wonderful Works

PSALM 105 [†] [t] Oh give thanks to the LORD; [u] call upon his name;
[v] make known his deeds among the peoples!
[2] Sing to him, sing praises to him;
[w] tell of all his wondrous works!
[3] Glory in his holy name;
let the hearts of those who seek the LORD rejoice!
[4] Seek the LORD and his [x] strength;
[y] seek his presence continually!
[5] Remember the [z] wondrous works that he has done,
his miracles, and [a] the judgments he uttered, [6] O offspring of [b] Abraham, his servant,
children of Jacob, his [c] chosen ones!

[7][†] He is the LORD our God;
his [d] judgments are in all the earth.
[8][†] He [e] remembers his covenant forever,
the word that he commanded, for [f] a thousand generations, [9] [g] the covenant that he made with Abraham,
his [h] sworn promise to Isaac,
[10][†] which he confirmed to [i] Jacob as a statute,
to Israel as an everlasting covenant,
[11] saying, [j] "To you I will give the land of Canaan as [k] your portion for an inheritance."

12[†] When they were [l] few in number,
of little account, and [m] sojourners in it,
13 wandering from nation to nation,
from one kingdom to another people, 14 he [n] allowed no one to oppress them;
he [o] rebuked kings on their account, 15[†] saying, [p] “Touch not my anointed ones,
do my prophets no harm!”

16[†] When he [q] summoned a famine on the land and [r] broke all supply [1] of bread, 17 he had [s] sent a man ahead of them,
Joseph, who was [t] sold as a slave.
18 His [u] feet were hurt with fetters;
his neck was put in a collar of iron; 19 until [v] what he had said came to pass,
the word of the LORD [w] tested him.
20 [x] The king sent and [y] released him;
the ruler of the peoples set him free;
21 he [z] made him lord of his house and ruler of all his possessions, 22 to bind [2] his princes at his pleasure and to teach his elders wisdom.

23 Then [a] Israel came to Egypt;
Jacob [b] sojourned in [c] the land of Ham.
24[†] And the LORD [d] made his people very fruitful and made them stronger than their foes.
25 He [e] turned their hearts to hate his people,
to [f] deal craftily with his servants.

26 He [g] sent Moses, his servant,
and Aaron, [h] whom he had chosen.
27 [i] They performed his signs among them and miracles in [c] the land of Ham.

28 He [j] sent darkness, and made the land dark;
they [k] did not rebel [3] against his words.
29 He turned their waters into blood and [l] caused their fish to die.
30 Their land swarmed with frogs,
even in [m] the chambers of their kings.
31 He spoke, and there came [n] swarms of flies,
[o] and gnats throughout their country.
32 He gave them hail for rain,
and fiery [p] lightning bolts through their land.
33 He struck down their vines and fig trees,
and [q] shattered the trees of their country.
34 He spoke, and the [r] locusts came,
young locusts without number,
35 which devoured all the vegetation in their land and ate up the fruit of their ground.
36[†] He [s] struck down all the firstborn in their land,
[s] the firstfruits of all their strength.

37 Then he brought out Israel with [t] silver and gold, and there was none among his tribes who stumbled.
38 [u] Egypt was glad when they departed, for [v] dread of them had fallen upon it.

39 He [w] spread a cloud for a covering,
and fire to give light by night.
40 [x] They asked, and he [y] brought quail,
and gave them [z] bread from heaven in abundance.
41 He opened the rock, and [a] water gushed out;
it flowed through [b] the desert like a river.
42[†] For he [c] remembered his holy promise, and [d] Abraham, his servant.

43 So he brought his people out with joy,

his [d] chosen ones with [e] singing.
44 And he [f] gave them the lands of the nations, and they took possession of the fruit of the peoples’ toil, 45 that they might [g] keep his statutes and [h] observe his laws.
[i] Praise the LORD!

Give Thanks to the LORD, for He Is Good

PSALM 106 [†] [i] Praise the LORD!
[j] Oh give thanks to the LORD, [k] for he is good,
[l] for his steadfast love endures forever!
2 Who can utter the mighty deeds of the LORD, or declare all his praise?
3 Blessed are they who observe justice, who [m] do righteousness at all times!

4[†] [n] Remember me, O LORD, when you show favor to your people;
help me when you save them, [1] 5 that I may look upon the prosperity of your [o] chosen ones, that I may rejoice in the gladness of your nation,
that I may glory with your inheritance.

6[†] [p] Both we and [q] our fathers have sinned;
we have committed iniquity; we have done wickedness.
7[†] Our fathers, when they were in Egypt,
did not consider your wondrous works;
they [r] did not remember the abundance of your steadfast love,
but [s] rebelled by the sea, at the Red Sea.
8 Yet he saved them [t] for his name’s sake,
[u] that he might make known his mighty power.
9 He [v] rebuked the Red Sea, and it [w] became dry, and he [x] led them through the deep as through a desert.
10 So he [y] saved them from the hand of the foe and [z] redeemed them from the power of the enemy.

11 And [a] the waters covered their adversaries;
not one of them was left.
12 Then [b] they believed his words;
they [c] sang his praise.

13[†] But they soon [d] forgot his works;
they did not wait for [e] his counsel.
14 But they had [f] a wanton craving in the wilderness, and [g] put God to the test in the desert;
15 he [h] gave them what they asked,
but sent [i] a wasting disease among them.

16[†] When men in the camp [j] were jealous of Moses and Aaron, [k] the holy one of the LORD, 17 [l] the earth opened and swallowed up Dathan, and covered the company of Abiram.
18 [m] Fire also broke out in their company;
the flame burned up the wicked.

19[†] They [n] made a calf in Horeb and worshiped a metal image.
20 They [o] exchanged the glory of God [2]
for the image of an ox that eats grass.
21 They [p] forgot God, their Savior, who had done great things in Egypt, 22 wondrous works in [q] the land of Ham,
and awesome deeds by the Red Sea.
23 Therefore [r] he said he would destroy them—had not Moses, his [s] chosen one, [t] stood in the breach before him,
to turn away his wrath from destroying them.

24[†] Then they [u] despised [v] the pleasant land, having [w] no faith in his promise.
25 They [x] murmured in their tents,

and did not obey the voice of the LORD.
[26] Therefore he [y] raised his hand and swore to them that he would make them fall in the wilderness, [27] and would make their offspring fall among the nations,
[z] scattering them among the lands.

[28][†] Then they [a] yoked themselves to the [a] Baal of Peor, and ate sacrifices offered to [b] the dead;
[29] they provoked the LORD to anger with their deeds,
and a plague broke out among them.
[30] Then [c] Phinehas stood up and intervened, and the plague was stayed.
[31] And that was [d] counted to him as righteousness from generation to generation forever.

[32][†] They [e] angered him at the waters of Meribah, and it went ill with Moses on their account, [33] for they [f] made his spirit bitter, [3]
and he [g] spoke rashly with his lips.

[34][†] They did not [h] destroy the peoples,
[i] as the LORD commanded them,
[35] but they [j] mixed with the nations and learned to do as they did.
[36] They served their idols,
which became [k] a snare to them.
[37] They [l] sacrificed their sons and their daughters to [m] the demons; [38] they poured out innocent blood,
the blood of their sons and daughters,
whom they sacrificed to the idols of Canaan,
and the land was [n] polluted with blood.
[39] Thus they [o] became unclean by their acts, and [p] played the whore in their deeds.

40 Then [q] the anger of the LORD was kindled against [r] his people,
and he abhorred his [r] heritage;
41 he [s] gave them into the hand of the nations,
so that those who hated them ruled over them.
42 Their enemies [t] oppressed them,
and they were brought into subjection under their power.
43 [u] Many times he delivered them, but they were rebellious in their [v] purposes and were [w] brought low through their iniquity.

44 Nevertheless, he looked upon their distress,
when he [x] heard their cry.
45 For their sake he [y] remembered his covenant, and [z] relented according to [a] the abundance of his steadfast love.
46 He caused them to be [b] pitied by all those who held them captive.

47 [c] Save us, O LORD our God, and [d] gather us from among the nations,
that we may give thanks to your holy name
and glory in your praise.

48[†] [e] Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel,
from everlasting to everlasting!
[e] And let all the people say, “Amen!”
[f] Praise the LORD!

BOOK FIVE

Let the Redeemed of the Lord Say So

PSALM 107 [†] [g] Oh give thanks to the Lord, [h] for he is good,
for his steadfast love endures forever!
2 Let [i] the redeemed of the Lord say so,
whom he has [j] redeemed from trouble [1] 3 and [k] gathered in from the lands, from the east and from the west,
from the north and from the south.

4 [†] Some [l] wandered in desert wastes, finding no way [m] to a city to dwell in;
5 hungry and thirsty,
their soul [n] fainted within them.
6 Then they [o] cried to the Lord in their trouble,
and he delivered them from their distress.
7 He led them by [p] a straight way till they reached [m] a city to dwell in.
8 [q] Let them thank the Lord for his steadfast love,
for his wondrous works to the children of man!
9 For he [r] satisfies the longing soul,
[s] and the hungry soul he fills with good things.

10 [†] [t] Some sat in darkness and in [u] the shadow of death, prisoners in [v] affliction and in irons, 11 for they [w] had rebelled against the words of God,
and [x] spurned the counsel of the Most High.
12 So he bowed their hearts down with hard labor;
they fell down, [y] with none to help.
13 [z] Then they cried to the Lord in their trouble,
and he delivered them from their distress.
14 He brought them out of [a] darkness and the shadow of death, and [b] burst their bonds apart.

15 [c] Let them thank the LORD for his steadfast love,
for his wondrous works to the children of man!
16 For he [d] shatters the doors of bronze and cuts in two the bars of iron.

17[†] Some were [e] fools through their sinful ways,
and because of their iniquities suffered affliction;
18 [f] they loathed any kind of food,
and they [g] drew near to [h] the gates of death.
19 [i] Then they cried to the LORD in their trouble,
and he delivered them from their distress.
20 He [j] sent out his word and [k] healed them,
and [l] delivered them from their destruction.
21 [m] Let them thank the LORD for his steadfast love,
for his wondrous works to the children of man!
22 And let them [n] offer sacrifices of thanksgiving, and [o] tell of his deeds in [p] songs of joy!

23[†] Some [q] went down to the sea in ships, doing business on the great waters;
24 they saw the deeds of the LORD,
his wondrous works in the deep.
25 For he [r] commanded and [s] raised the stormy wind, which lifted up the waves of the sea.
26 They mounted up to heaven; they went down to the depths;
their courage [t] melted away in their evil plight;
27 they reeled and [u] staggered like drunken men and [v] were at their wits' end. [2] 28 [w] Then they cried to the LORD in their trouble,
and he delivered them from their distress.
29 He [x] made the storm be still,
and the waves of the sea were hushed.
30 Then they were glad that the waters [3] were quiet, and he brought them to their desired haven.
31 [y] Let them thank the LORD for his steadfast love,

for his wondrous works to the children of man!
32 Let them [z] extol him in [a] the congregation of the people,
and praise him in the assembly of the elders.

33[†] He [b] turns rivers into a desert, springs of water into thirsty ground, 34 [c] a fruitful land into a salty waste,
because of the evil of its inhabitants.
35 He [d] turns a desert into pools of water,
[e] a parched land into springs of water.
36 And there he lets the hungry dwell, and they establish [f] a city to live in;
37 they sow fields and plant vineyards and get a fruitful yield.
38 [g] By his blessing they multiply greatly,
and he does not let their livestock diminish.

39 When they are diminished and brought low through oppression, evil, and sorrow, 40 [h] he pours contempt on princes and [i] makes them wander [j] in trackless wastes; 41 but [k] he raises up the needy out of affliction and [l] makes their families like flocks.
42 [m] The upright see it and are glad,
and [n] all wickedness shuts its mouth.

43[†] [o] Whoever is wise, let him attend to these things;
let them consider the steadfast love of the LORD.

With God We Shall Do Valiantly

A Song. A Psalm of David.

PSALM 108 [†] [p] My heart is steadfast, O God!
I will sing and make melody with all my being! [1]
2 Awake, O harp and lyre!

I will awake the dawn!
[3] I will give thanks to you, O LORD, among the peoples;
I will sing praises to you among the nations.
[4] For your steadfast love is great [q] above the heavens;
your faithfulness reaches to the clouds.

[5][†] Be exalted, O God, above the heavens!
Let your glory be over all the earth!
[6] [r] That your beloved ones may be delivered, give salvation by your right hand and answer me!

[7][†] God has promised in his holiness: [2]
"With exultation I will divide up Shechem and portion out the Valley of Succoth.
[8] Gilead is mine; Manasseh is mine;
Ephraim is my helmet,
Judah my scepter.
[9] Moab is my washbasin;
upon Edom I cast my shoe;
[s] over Philistia I shout in triumph."

[10][†] Who will bring me to the fortified city?
Who will lead me to Edom?
[11] Have you not rejected us, O God?
You do not go out, O God, with our armies.
[12] Oh grant us help against the foe,
for vain is the salvation of man!
[13] With God we shall do valiantly;
it is he who will tread down our foes.

Help Me, O LORD My God

To the choirmaster. A Psalm of David.

PSALM 109 [†] [t] Be not silent, O [u] God of my praise!
[2] For wicked and [v] deceitful mouths are opened against me, speaking against me with lying tongues.

[3] They encircle me with words of hate,
and attack me [w]without cause.
[4] In return for my love they [x]accuse me,
but I [y]give myself to prayer. [1] [5][†] So they [z]reward me evil for good,
and hatred for my love.

[6][†] [a]Appoint a wicked man [b]against him;
let an accuser stand [c]at his right hand.
[7] When he is tried, let him come forth guilty;
let his [d]prayer be counted as sin!
[8][†] May his [e]days be few;
may [f]another take his [g]office!
[9][†] May his [h]children be fatherless and his wife a widow!
[10] May his children [i]wander about and beg,
[j]seeking food far from the ruins they inhabit!
[11] May [k]the creditor seize all that he has;
may [k]strangers plunder the fruits of his toil!
[12] Let there be none to [l]extend kindness to him,
nor any to [m]pity his fatherless children!
[13] May his [n]posterity be cut off;
may his [o]name be blotted out in the second generation!
[14] May [p]the iniquity of his fathers be remembered before the LORD, and let not the sin of his mother be [q]blotted out!
[15] [r]Let them be before the LORD continually, that he may [s]cut off the memory of them from the earth!

[16][†] For he did not remember to show kindness, but pursued [t]the poor and needy and [u]the brokenhearted, to put them to death.
[17] [v]He loved to curse; let curses come [2] upon him!
He did not delight in blessing; may it be far [3] from him!
[18] He [w]clothed himself with cursing as his coat;

may it [x] soak [4] into his body like water,
like oil into his bones!
19 May it be like a garment that he wraps around him, like a belt that he puts on every day!
20 May this be the reward of my [y] accusers from the LORD, of those who speak evil against my life!

21[†] But you, O GOD my Lord, deal on my behalf [z] for your name's sake;
because your [a] steadfast love is good, deliver me!
22 For I am [b] poor and needy, and my heart is stricken within me.
23 I am gone like [c] a shadow at evening;
I am [d] shaken off like a locust.
24 My knees are weak [e] through fasting;
my [f] body has become gaunt, with no fat.
25 I am [g] an object of scorn to my accusers;
when they see me, they [h] wag their heads.

26 [i] Help me, O LORD my God!
Save me according to your steadfast love!
27 Let them [j] know that this is your hand;
you, O LORD, have done it!
28 [k] Let them curse, but you will bless!
They arise and are put to shame, but [l] your servant will be glad!
29 May my accusers be [m] clothed with dishonor;
may they [n] be wrapped in their own shame as in a cloak!

30[†] With my mouth I will give great thanks to the LORD;
I will [o] praise him in the midst of the throng.
31 For he stands [p] at the right hand of the needy one,
to save him from those who condemn his soul to death.

Sit at My Right Hand

A Psalm of David.

PSALM 110 [†] [q] The LORD says to my Lord:
[r] "Sit at my right hand,
[s] until I make your enemies your [t] footstool."

2 [†] The LORD sends forth [u] from Zion
[v] your mighty scepter.
[w] Rule in the midst of your enemies!
3 [x] Your people will [y] offer themselves freely on the day of your [z] power, [1] in [a] holy garments; [2]
from the womb of the morning, the dew of your youth will be yours. [3] 4 [†] [b] The LORD has [c] sworn and will [d] not change his mind, [e] "You are [f] a priest [g] forever
after the order of [h] Melchizedek."

5 [†] The Lord is at your [i] right hand;
he will [j] shatter kings on [k] the day of his wrath.
6 He will [l] execute judgment among the nations,
[m] filling them with corpses;
he will [n] shatter chiefs [4]
over the wide earth.
7 He will [o] drink from the brook by the way;
therefore he will lift up his head.

Great Are the LORD's Works

PSALM 111 [†] [1] [p] Praise the LORD!
I [q] will give thanks to the LORD with my whole heart,
in the company of [r] the upright, in the congregation.
2 [†] Great are the [s] works of the LORD,

[t] studied by all who delight in them.
3[†] [u] Full of splendor and majesty is his work,
and his [v] righteousness endures forever.
4[†] He has [w] caused his wondrous works to be remembered;
the LORD is gracious and merciful.
5[†] He provides food for those who fear him;
he [x] remembers his covenant forever.
6[†] He has shown his people the power of his works,
in giving them the inheritance of the nations.
7[†] The works of his hands are faithful and just;
all his precepts are [y] trustworthy;
8 they are [z] established forever and ever,
to be performed with [a] faithfulness and uprightness.
9 He sent [b] redemption to his people;
he has [c] commanded his covenant forever.
[d] Holy and awesome is his name!
10 [e] The fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom;
all those who practice it have [f] a good understanding.
His [g] praise endures forever!

The Righteous Will Never Be Moved

PSALM 112 [†] [1] [h] Praise the LORD!
[i] Blessed is the man who fears the LORD, who [j] greatly delights in his commandments!
2 His [k] offspring will be mighty in the land;
[l] the generation of the upright will be blessed.
3[†] [m] Wealth and riches are in his house,
and his [n] righteousness endures forever.
4[†] Light dawns in the darkness [o] for the upright;
he is gracious, merciful, and [p] righteous.
5 It is well with the man who [q] deals generously and lends;
who conducts his affairs with justice.
6 For the righteous will [r] never be moved;

[s] he will be remembered forever.
7 He is not [t] afraid of bad news;
his [u] heart is firm, [v] trusting in the LORD.
8 His heart is steady; he will not be afraid, until he looks in triumph on his adversaries.
9 He has [w] distributed freely; he has given to the poor;
his righteousness endures forever;
his [x] horn is exalted in honor.
10[†] The wicked man sees it and is angry;
he [y] gnashes his teeth and [z] melts away;
[a] the desire of the wicked will perish!

Who Is like the LORD Our God?

PSALM 113 [†] [b] Praise the LORD!
[c] Praise, O [d] servants of the LORD,
praise the name of the LORD!

2 [e] Blessed be the name of the LORD
from this time forth and forevermore!
3 [f] From the rising of the sun to its setting,
[g] the name of the LORD is [h] to be praised!

4[†] The LORD is [i] high above all nations, and his [j] glory above the heavens!
5 [k] Who is like the LORD our God,
who is seated on high,
6 who [l] looks far down
on the heavens and the earth?
7 He [m] raises the poor from the dust and lifts the needy from the ash heap, 8 to make them [n] sit with princes, with the princes of his people.
9 He [o] gives the barren woman a home, making her the joyous mother of children.

[b] Praise the LORD!

Tremble at the Presence of the Lord

PSALM 114 [†] When [p] Israel went out from Egypt, the house of Jacob from [q] a people of strange language,
2 Judah became his [r] sanctuary,
Israel his dominion.

3 [†] [s] The sea looked and fled;
[t] Jordan turned back.
4 [u] The mountains skipped like rams,
the hills like lambs.

5 What [v] ails you, O sea, that you flee?
O Jordan, that you turn back?
6 O mountains, that you skip like rams?
O hills, like lambs?

7 [†] [w] Tremble, O earth, at the presence of the Lord,
at the presence of the God of Jacob,
8 who turns [x] the rock into [y] a pool of water,
[z] the flint into a spring of water.

To Your Name Give Glory

PSALM 115 [†] [a] Not to us, O LORD, not to us, but to your name give glory, [b] for the sake of your steadfast love and your faithfulness!

2 [†] Why should the nations say,
[c] "Where is their God?"
3 [†] [d] Our God is in the heavens;
[e] he does all that he pleases.

4 [†] [f] Their idols are silver and gold,

[g] the work of human hands.
5 They have mouths, [h] but do not speak;
eyes, but do not see.
6 They have ears, but do not hear;
noses, but do not smell.
7 They have hands, but do not feel;
feet, but do not walk;
and they do not make a sound in their throat.
8 [i] Those who make them become like them;
so do all who trust in them.

9 O [j] Israel,[1] [k] trust in the LORD!
He is their [l] help and their shield.
10 O [j] house of Aaron, trust in the LORD!
He is their help and [m] their shield.
11 You [n] who fear the LORD, trust in the LORD!
He is their help and their shield.

12 The LORD has remembered us; he will bless us;
he will bless [o] the house of Israel;
he will bless [o] the house of Aaron;
13 he will [p] bless those who fear the LORD,
[q] both the small and the great.

14[†] May the LORD [r] give you increase,
you and your children!
15 May [s] you be blessed by the LORD,
[t] who made heaven and earth!

16 The heavens are the LORD's heavens, but the earth he has given to the children of man.
17[†] [u] The dead do not praise the LORD, nor do any who go down into [v] silence.
18 But [w] we will bless the LORD
from this time forth and forevermore.

[x] Praise the LORD!

I Love the LORD

PSALM 116 [†] I [y] love the LORD, because he has [z] heard my voice and my pleas for mercy.
[2] Because he [a] inclined his ear to me,
therefore I will call on him as long as I live.
[3][†] [b] The snares of death encompassed me;
the pangs of Sheol laid hold on me;
I suffered distress and anguish.
[4][†] Then [c] I called on the name of the LORD:
“O LORD, I pray, deliver my soul!”

[5][†] [d] Gracious is the LORD, and [e] righteous;
our God is [f] merciful.
[6] The LORD preserves [g] the simple;
when [h] I was brought low, he saved me.
[7] Return, O my soul, to your [i] rest;
for the LORD has [j] dealt bountifully with you.

[8][†] For [k] you have delivered my soul from death,
my eyes from tears,
my feet from stumbling;
[9] I will walk before the LORD
[l] in the land of the living.

[10] [m] I believed, [n] even when [1] I spoke:
“I am greatly afflicted”;
[11] [o] I said in my alarm,
[p] “All mankind are liars.”

[12][†] What shall I [q] render to the LORD for all his benefits to me?
[13] I will lift up [r] the cup of salvation
and [s] call on the name of the LORD,

[14] I will [t] pay my vows to the LORD
in the presence of all his people.

[15] [u] Precious in the sight of the LORD is the death of his [v] saints.
[16] O LORD, I am your [w] servant;
I am your servant, [x] the son of your maidservant.
You have [y] loosed my bonds.
[17] I will [z] offer to you the sacrifice of thanksgiving
and [s] call on the name of the LORD.
[18] I will [t] pay my vows to the LORD
in the presence of all his people, [19] in [a] the courts of the house of the LORD,
in your midst, O Jerusalem.
[b] Praise the LORD!

The LORD's Faithfulness Endures Forever

PSALM 117 [†] [c] Praise the LORD, all nations!
Extol him, all peoples!
[2] For [d] great is his steadfast love toward us,
and [e] the faithfulness of the LORD endures forever.
[b] Praise the LORD!

His Steadfast Love Endures Forever

PSALM 118 [†] [f] Oh give thanks to the LORD, for he is good;
for his steadfast love endures forever!

[2] [g] Let Israel say,
"His steadfast love endures forever."
[3] [g] Let the house of Aaron say,
"His steadfast love endures forever."
[4] [g] Let those who fear the LORD say,
"His steadfast love endures forever."

5 [h] Out of my distress I [i] called on the LORD;
the LORD answered me and set me [j] free.
6 [k] The LORD is on my side; [l] I will not fear.
What can man do to me?
7 [m] The LORD is on my side as my helper;
I shall [n] look in triumph on those who hate me.

8[†] [o] It is better to take refuge in the LORD
[p] than to trust in man.
9 It is better to take refuge in the LORD
[p] than to trust in princes.

10[†] [q] All nations surrounded me;
in the name of the LORD I cut them off!
11 They surrounded me, surrounded me on every side;
in the name of the LORD I cut them off!
12 [r] They surrounded me like bees;
they went out like [s] a fire among thorns;
in the name of the LORD I cut them off!
13 I was [t] pushed hard,[1] so that I was falling,
but the LORD helped me.

14[†] The LORD is my strength and my song;
[u] he has become my salvation.
15 Glad songs of salvation are in the tents of the righteous:
[v] "The right hand of the LORD [w] does valiantly, 16 the right hand of the LORD exalts,
the right hand of the LORD [w] does valiantly!"

17[†] [x] I shall not die, but I shall live, and [y] recount the deeds of the LORD.
18 The LORD has [z] disciplined me severely,
but he has not given me over to death.

19[†] [a]Open to me the gates of righteousness, that I may enter through them
and give thanks to the LORD.
20 This is the gate of the LORD;
[b]the righteous shall enter through it.
21 I thank you that [c]you have answered me
[u]and have become my salvation.
22[†] [d]The stone that the builders rejected has become the cornerstone. [2] 23 This is the LORD’s doing;
it is marvelous in our eyes.
24 This is the day that the LORD has made;
let us rejoice and be glad in it.

25[†] Save us, we pray, O LORD!
O LORD, we pray, give us success!

26[†] [e]Blessed is he who comes in the name of the LORD!
We [f]bless you from the house of the LORD.
27 The LORD is God,
and he has made [g]his light to shine upon us.
Bind the festal sacrifice with cords,
up to [h]the horns of the altar!

28[†] You are my God, and I will give thanks to you;
you are my God; I will [i]extol you.
29 [j]Oh give thanks to the LORD, for he is good;
for his steadfast love endures forever!

Your Word Is a Lamp to My Feet

Aleph

PSALM 119 [†] [1] Blessed are those whose [k] way is blameless, who [l] walk in the law of the Lord!
2[†] Blessed are those who [m] keep his [n] testimonies,
who [o] seek him with their whole heart, 3 who also [p] do no wrong,
but walk in his ways!
4 You have commanded your [q] precepts to be kept diligently.
5[†] Oh that my ways may [r] be steadfast in keeping your statutes!
6 [s] Then I shall not be put to shame,
having my eyes fixed on all your commandments.
7 I will praise you with an upright heart,
when I learn [t] your righteous rules. [2] 8 I will keep your statutes;
[u] do not utterly forsake me!

Beth

9 How can [v] a young man keep his way pure?
By guarding it according to your word.
10 [w] With my whole heart I seek you;
let me not [x] wander from your commandments!
11 I have [y] stored up your word in my heart,
that I might not sin against you.
12 Blessed are you, O Lord;
[z] teach me your statutes!
13 With my lips I [a] declare all the rules [3] of your mouth.
14 In the way of your testimonies I [b] delight as much as in all [c] riches.

15 I will [d] meditate on your precepts and fix my eyes on your [e] ways.
16 I will [f] delight in your statutes;
I will not forget your word.

Gimel

17 [g] Deal bountifully with your servant,
[h] that I may live and keep your word.
18 [†] Open my eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of your law.
19 I am [i] a sojourner on the earth;
[j] hide not your commandments from me!
20 My soul is consumed with [k] longing for your rules [4] at all times.
21 [†] You rebuke [l] the insolent, [m] accursed ones, who [n] wander from your commandments.
22 Take away from me [o] scorn and contempt,
[p] for I have kept your testimonies.
23 [†] Even though [q] princes sit plotting against me,
your servant will [r] meditate on your statutes.
24 Your testimonies are my [s] delight;
they are my [t] counselors.

Daleth

25 [u] My soul clings to the dust;
[v] give me life [w] according to your word!
26 When [x] I told of my ways, you answered me;
[y] teach me your statutes!
27 [z] Make me understand the way of your precepts, and I will [a] meditate on your wondrous works.
28 [b] My soul melts away for sorrow;
strengthen me according to your word!
29 Put false ways far from me and graciously [c] teach me your law!

30 I have chosen the way of faithfulness;
I [d] set your rules before me.
31 I cling to your testimonies, O LORD;
[e] let me not be put to shame!
32[†] I will run in the way of your commandments
when you [f] enlarge my heart! [5]

He

33 [g] Teach me, O LORD, the way of your statutes; and I will keep it [h] to the end. [6] 34 [i] Give me understanding, that I may keep your law and observe it with my whole heart.
35 [j] Lead me in the path of your commandments,
for I [k] delight in it.
36[†] [l] Incline my heart to your testimonies,
and not to [m] selfish gain!
37 [n] Turn my eyes from looking at worthless things;
and [o] give me life in your ways.
38 [p] Confirm to your servant your promise,
[q] that you may be feared.
39 Turn away the [r] reproach that I dread,
for your rules are good.
40 Behold, I [s] long for your precepts;
[t] in your righteousness give me life!

Waw

41[†] Let your [u] steadfast love come to me, O LORD, your salvation [v] according to your promise; 42 then [w] shall I have an answer for him [r] who taunts me,
for I trust in your word.
43 And take not the word of truth utterly out of my mouth, for my [x] hope is in your rules.
44 I will keep your law continually,
forever and ever,

45 and I shall walk [y] in a wide place,
for I have [z] sought your precepts.
46 I will also speak of your testimonies [a] before kings and shall not be put to shame, 47 for I [b] find my delight in your commandments, which I love.
48 I will [c] lift up my hands toward your commandments, which I love, and I will [d] meditate on your statutes.

ZAYIN

49 Remember [e] your word to your servant,
in which you have made me [f] hope.
50 This is [g] my comfort in my affliction, that your promise [h] gives me life.
51 [i] The insolent utterly deride me,
but I do not [j] turn away from your law.
52 When I think of your rules from of old,
I take comfort, O LORD.
53 [k] Hot indignation seizes me because of the wicked, who forsake your law.
54 Your statutes have been my songs in the house of my [l] sojourning.
55 I [m] remember your name in the night, O LORD, and keep your law.
56 This blessing has fallen to me,
that [n] I have kept your precepts.

HETH

57[†] [o] The LORD is my portion;
I promise to keep your words.
58 I [p] entreat your favor with all my heart;
be gracious to me [q] according to your promise.
59[†] When I [r] think on my ways,
I turn my feet to your testimonies;
60 I hasten and do not delay to keep your commandments.

61 Though [s] the cords of the wicked ensnare me,
I do not [t] forget your law.
62 At [u] midnight I rise to praise you, because of your [v] righteous rules.
63 [w] I am a companion of all who fear you,
of those who keep your precepts.
64 [x] The earth, O LORD, is full of your steadfast love;
[y] teach me your statutes!

TETH

65 You have dealt well with your servant,
O LORD, [z] according to your word.
66 Teach me [a] good judgment and knowledge,
for I believe in your commandments.
67 [b] Before I was afflicted I went astray,
but now I keep your word.
68 [c] You are good and do good;
[d] teach me your statutes.
69 [e] The insolent [f] smear me with lies,
but with my whole heart I [g] keep your precepts; 70 their heart is unfeeling [h] like fat,
but I [i] delight in your law.
71 It is [j] good for me that I was afflicted, that I might learn your statutes.
72 [k] The law of your mouth is better to me than thousands of gold and silver pieces.

YODH

73 [l] Your hands have made and fashioned me;
[m] give me understanding that I may learn your commandments.
74 Those who fear you shall see me and [n] rejoice, because I have [o] hoped in your word.
75 I know, O LORD, that your rules are [p] righteous, and that in [q] faithfulness you have afflicted me.

76 [†] Let your steadfast love comfort me
according to your promise to your servant.
77 Let your [r] mercy come to me, that I may live;
for your law is my [s] delight.
78 Let [t] the insolent be put to [u] shame,
because they have [v] wronged me with falsehood;
as for me, I will [w] meditate on your precepts.
79 Let those who fear you [x] turn to me,
that they may know your testimonies.
80 May my heart be [y] blameless in your statutes,
[z] that I may not be put to shame!

Kaph

81 My soul [a] longs for your salvation;
I [b] hope in your word.
82 My [c] eyes long for your promise;
I ask, [d] “When will you comfort me?”
83 [†] For I have [e] become like a [f] wineskin in the smoke, yet I have not forgotten your statutes.
84 [g] How long must your servant endure? [7]
[h] When will you judge those who persecute me?
85 [i] The insolent have [j] dug pitfalls for me;
they do not live according to your law.
86 All your commandments are [k] sure;
they persecute me [l] with falsehood; [m] help me!
87 They have almost made an end of me on earth,
but I have not forsaken your precepts.
88 In your steadfast love [n] give me life,
that I may keep the testimonies of your mouth.

Lamedh

89 Forever, O Lord, your [o] word is firmly fixed in the heavens.
90 Your [p] faithfulness endures to all generations;

you have [q] established the earth, and it [r] stands fast.
91 By your [s] appointment they stand this day,
for all things are your servants.
92 If your law had not been my [t] delight,
I would have perished in my affliction.
93 I will never forget your precepts, for by them you have [u] given me life.
94 I am yours; save me,
[v] for I have sought your precepts.
95 The wicked lie in wait to destroy me,
but I consider your testimonies.
96 I have seen a limit to all perfection, but your commandment is exceedingly [w] broad.

Mem

97 Oh how [x] I love your law!
It is my [y] meditation all the day.
98 [†] Your commandment makes me [z] wiser than my enemies, for it is ever with me.
99 I have more understanding than all my teachers,
for [a] your testimonies are my meditation.
100 I understand more than [b] the aged, [8]
for I [c] keep your precepts.
101 I [d] hold back my feet from every evil way,
in order to keep your word.
102 I do not turn aside from your rules,
for you have taught me.
103 How [e] sweet are your words to my taste, sweeter than honey to my mouth!
104 Through your precepts I get understanding;
therefore [f] I hate every false way.

Nun

105 [†] [g] Your word is a lamp to my feet and a light to my path.

[106] I have [h] sworn an oath and confirmed it,
to keep your [i] righteous rules.
[107] I am severely [j] afflicted;
[k] give me life, O LORD, according to your word!
[108] Accept [l] my freewill offerings of praise, O LORD, and [m] teach me your rules.
[109] I hold my life [n] in my hand continually,
but I do not [o] forget your law.
[110] The wicked have laid [p] a snare for me,
but [q] I do not stray from your precepts.
[111] Your testimonies are [r] my heritage forever,
for they are [s] the joy of my heart.
[112] I [t] incline my heart to perform your statutes forever, [u] to the end. [9]

SAMEKH

[113][†] I hate [v] the double-minded, but I love [w] your law.
[114] You are my [x] hiding place and my [y] shield;
I [z] hope in your word.
[115] [a] Depart from me, you evildoers, that I may [b] keep the commandments of my God.
[116] Uphold me [c] according to your promise, that I may live, and let me not be [d] put to shame in my [e] hope!
[117] [f] Hold me up, that I may be safe and have regard for your statutes continually!
[118] You [g] spurn all who [h] go astray from your statutes, for their cunning is in vain.
[119] All the wicked of the earth you discard like [i] dross, therefore [j] I love your testimonies.
[120] My flesh [k] trembles for fear of you,
and I am afraid of your judgments.

AYIN

121 I have done what is just and right;
do not leave me to my oppressors.
122 Give your servant [l] a pledge of good;
let not [m] the insolent oppress me.
123 My [n] eyes long for your salvation and for the fulfillment of your righteous promise.
124 Deal with your servant according to your steadfast love,
and [o] teach me your statutes.
125 I am your [p] servant; [q] give me understanding, that I may know your testimonies!
126[†] It is time for the LORD to act,
for your law has been broken.
127 Therefore I [r] love your commandments above gold, above fine gold.
128 Therefore I consider all your precepts to be right;
I hate every [s] false way.

PE

129[†] Your testimonies are [t] wonderful;
therefore my soul [u] keeps them.
130[†] The unfolding of your words gives light;
it imparts [v] understanding to the simple.
131 I [w] open my mouth and [x] pant, because I [y] long for your commandments.
132 [z] Turn to me and be gracious to me, as is your way with those who love your name.
133 [a] Keep steady my steps according to your promise, and let no iniquity [b] get dominion over me.
134 [c] Redeem me from man’s oppression, that I may keep your precepts.
135 [d] Make your face shine upon your servant,
and [e] teach me your statutes.
136 My eyes [f] shed streams of tears, because people [g] do not keep your law.

TSADHE

137 [h] Righteous are you, O LORD, and right are your rules.
138 You have appointed your testimonies in [i] righteousness and in all [j] faithfulness.
139 My [k] zeal consumes me,
because my foes forget your words.
140 Your promise is well [l] tried,
and your servant [m] loves it.
141 I am small and despised,
yet I do not [n] forget your precepts.
142 Your righteousness is righteous forever,
and your law is [o] true.
143 Trouble and anguish have found me out,
but your commandments are my [p] delight.
144 Your testimonies are righteous forever;
[q] give me understanding that I may [r] live.

QOPH

145 With my [s] whole heart I cry; answer me, O LORD!
I will [t] keep your statutes.
146 I call to you; save me,
that I may observe your testimonies.
147 I rise before [u] dawn and cry for help;
I [v] hope in your words.
148 My eyes are awake before [w] the watches of the night,
that I may meditate on your promise.
149 Hear my voice according to your steadfast love;
O LORD, [x] according to your justice [y] give me life.
150 They draw near who persecute me with evil purpose;
they are far from your law.
151 But [z] you are near, O LORD, and all your commandments are [a] true.

152 Long have I known from your testimonies that you have [b] founded them forever.

RESH

153 Look on my [c] affliction and deliver me, for [d] I do not forget your law.
154 [e] Plead my cause and redeem me;
[f] give me life according to your promise!
155 [†] [g] Salvation is far from the wicked,
[h] for they do not seek your statutes.
156 [i] Great is your mercy, O LORD;
[f] give me life according to your rules.
157 [j] Many are my persecutors and my adversaries,
but I do not [k] swerve from your testimonies.
158 I look at [l] the faithless with [m] disgust, because they do not keep your commands.
159 Consider how I [n] love your precepts!
[f] Give me life according to your steadfast love.
160 [o] The sum of your word is [p] truth, and every one of your [q] righteous rules endures forever.

SIN AND SHIN

161 [r] Princes persecute me [s] without cause, but my heart [t] stands in awe of your words.
162 I [t] rejoice at your word like one who [u] finds great spoil.
163 I hate and abhor falsehood,
but I love [v] your law.
164 Seven times a day I praise you for your [q] righteous rules.
165 Great [w] peace have those who love your law;
[x] nothing can make them stumble.
166 I [y] hope for your salvation, O LORD, and I do your commandments.

[167] My soul keeps your testimonies;
I [y] love them exceedingly.
[168][†] I keep your precepts and testimonies,
[z] for all my ways are before you.

TAW

[169] Let my [a] cry come before you, O LORD;
[b] give me understanding [c] according to your word!
[170] Let my plea come before you;
[d] deliver me according to your word.
[171] My lips will [e] pour forth praise,
for you [f] teach me your statutes.
[172] My tongue will sing of your word,
for [g] all your commandments are right.
[173] Let your hand be ready to help me,
for I have [h] chosen your precepts.
[174] I [i] long for your salvation, O LORD, and your law is my [j] delight.
[175] Let my soul live and praise you,
and let your rules help me.
[176][†] I have [k] gone astray like a lost sheep; seek your servant, for I do not [l] forget your commandments.

Deliver Me, O LORD

A Song of [m] Ascents.

PSALM 120 [†] In my distress I called to the LORD, and he answered me.
[2] Deliver me, O LORD,
from lying lips,
from a deceitful tongue.

[3][†] What shall be given to you,
[n] and what more shall be done to you,

you deceitful tongue?
4 [o] A warrior's [p] sharp arrows, with glowing [q] coals of the broom tree!

5[†] Woe to me, that I sojourn in [r] Meshech, that I dwell among [s] the tents of [t] Kedar!
6 Too long have I had my dwelling among those who hate peace.
7 [u] I am for peace,
but when I speak, they are for war!

My Help Comes from the LORD

A Song of [m] Ascents.

PSALM 121 [†] I [v] lift up my eyes to [w] the hills.
From where does my help come?
2 [x] My help comes from the LORD, who [y] made heaven and earth.

3[†] He will not [z] let your foot be moved;
he who [a] keeps you will not slumber.
4 Behold, he who keeps Israel will neither slumber nor sleep.

5 The LORD is your keeper;
the LORD is your [b] shade on your [c] right hand.
6 [d] The sun shall not [e] strike you by day,
nor the moon by night.

7 The LORD will [a] keep you from all evil;
he will [a] keep your life.
8 The LORD will keep your [f] going out and your coming in
from this time forth and forevermore.

Let Us Go to the House of the LORD

A Song of [m] Ascents. Of David.

PSALM 122 [†] I was glad when they said to me,
[g] “Let us go to the house of the LORD!”
[2] Our feet have been standing within your gates, O Jerusalem!

[3][†] Jerusalem—[h] built as a city that is [i] bound firmly together, [4][†] to which the tribes [j] go up,
the tribes of the LORD,
as was [k] decreed for [1] Israel,
to give thanks to the name of the LORD.
[5] There [l] thrones for judgment were set,
the thrones of the house of David.

[6][†] [m] Pray for the peace of Jerusalem!
“May they be secure who love you!
[7] Peace be within your [n] walls and security within your [n] towers!”
[8] For my brothers and companions’ sake
I will say, [o] “Peace be within you!”
[9] For the sake of the house of the LORD our God,
I will [p] seek your good.

Our Eyes Look to the LORD Our God

A Song of [m] Ascents.

PSALM 123 [†] To you I [q] lift up my eyes,
O you who are [r] enthroned in the heavens!
[2] Behold, as the eyes of servants look to the hand of their master, as the eyes of a maidservant to the hand of her mistress,

so our eyes look to the LORD our God,
    till he has mercy upon us.

3[†] [s]Have mercy upon us, O LORD, have mercy upon us, for we have had more than enough of [t]contempt.
4 Our soul has had more than enough of [u]the scorn of [v]those who are at ease, of the contempt of [w]the proud.

Our Help Is in the Name of the LORD

A Song of [m] Ascents. Of David.

PSALM 124 [†] [x] If it had not been the LORD who was on our side—
[y] let Israel now say—
2 if it had not been the LORD who was on our side when people rose up against us, 3 then they would have [z] swallowed us up alive,
when their anger was kindled against us;
4 then [a] the flood would have [b] swept us away,
the torrent would have gone [c] over us;
5 then over us would have gone
the raging waters.

6[†] Blessed be the LORD,
who has not given us
as prey to their teeth!
7 We have escaped like a bird from [d] the snare of the fowlers;
the snare is broken,
and we have escaped!

8[†] [e] Our help is in the name of the LORD, who made heaven and earth.

The LORD Surrounds His People

A Song of [m] Ascents.

PSALM 125 [†] Those who [f] trust in the LORD are like Mount Zion, which [g] cannot be moved, but abides forever.
2 As the mountains surround Jerusalem,
so [h] the LORD surrounds his people,
from this time forth and forevermore.
3[†] For [i] the scepter of wickedness shall not [j] rest on [k]the land allotted to the righteous, lest the righteous [l]stretch out their hands to do wrong.

[4][†] [m]Do good, O Lord, to those who are good,
and to those who are [n]upright in their hearts!
[5] But those who [o]turn aside to their [p]crooked ways
the Lord will lead away with [q]evildoers!
[r]Peace be upon Israel!

Restore Our Fortunes, O Lord

A Song of [m]Ascents.

PSALM 126 [†] When the Lord [s]restored the fortunes of Zion, we were like those who [t]dream.
[2] Then our [u]mouth was filled with laughter,
and our tongue with shouts of joy;
then they said among the nations,
[v]“The Lord has done great things for them.”
[3] The Lord has done great things for us;
we are glad.

[4][†] Restore our fortunes, O Lord,
like streams in the Negeb!
[5] [w]Those who sow in tears shall reap with shouts of joy!
[6] He who goes out weeping, bearing the seed for sowing,
shall come home with shouts of joy,
bringing his sheaves with him.

Unless the Lord Builds the House

A Song of [m]Ascents. Of Solomon.

PSALM 127 [†] Unless the Lord builds the house,
those who build it labor in vain.

Unless the LORD [x] watches over the city,
the watchman stays awake in vain.
2 It is in vain that you rise up early and go late to rest,
eating the bread of anxious [y] toil;
for he gives to his [z] beloved [a] sleep.

3[†] Behold, [b] children are a heritage from the LORD,
[c] the fruit of the womb a reward.
4 Like arrows in the hand of [d] a warrior are the children [1] of one's youth.
5 Blessed is the man
who fills his quiver with them!
He shall not be put to shame
when he speaks with his enemies [e] in the gate. [2]

Blessed Is Everyone Who Fears the LORD

A Song of [m] Ascents.

PSALM 128 [†] [f] Blessed is everyone who fears the LORD, who [g] walks in his ways!
2 You [h] shall eat the fruit of the labor of your hands;
you shall be blessed, and it shall be well with you.

3 Your wife will be like [i] a fruitful vine within your house;
your children will be like [j] olive shoots around your table.
4 Behold, thus shall the man be blessed who fears the LORD.

5[†] [k] The LORD bless you [l] from Zion!
May you see [m] the prosperity of Jerusalem
all the days of your life!
6 May you see your [n] children's children!

[o] Peace be upon Israel!

They Have Afflicted Me from My Youth

A Song of [m] Ascents.

PSALM 129 [†] “Greatly [1] have they [p] afflicted me [q] from my youth”— [r] let Israel now say—
[2] “Greatly have they [p] afflicted me [q] from my youth,
[s] yet they have not prevailed against me.
[3] [t] The plowers plowed [u] upon my back;
they made long their furrows.”
[4] The LORD is righteous;
he has cut [v] the cords of the wicked.
[5] [†] May all who hate Zion be [w] put to shame and turned backward!
[6] Let them be like [x] the grass on the housetops, which [y] withers before it grows up, [7] with which the reaper does not fill his hand
nor the binder of sheaves his arms,
[8] nor do those who pass by say,
[a] “The blessing of the LORD be upon you!
We [b] bless you in the name of the LORD!”

My Soul Waits for the Lord

A Song of [m] Ascents.

PSALM 130 [†] Out of [c] the depths I cry to you, O LORD!
[2] O Lord, hear my voice!
[d] Let your ears be attentive to [e] the voice of my pleas for mercy!

[3] [†] If you, O LORD, should [f] mark iniquities,
O Lord, who could [g] stand?
[4] But with you there is [h] forgiveness,

[i] that you may be feared.

5 [†] I [j] wait for the LORD, [k] my soul waits, and [l] in his word I hope;
6 my soul [m] waits for the Lord
more than [n] watchmen for [o] the morning, more than watchmen for the morning.

7 O Israel, [p] hope in the LORD!
For [q] with the LORD there is steadfast love,
and with him is plentiful redemption.
8 And he will [r] redeem Israel from all his iniquities.

I Have Calmed and Quieted My Soul

A Song of [m] Ascents. Of David.

PSALM 131 [†] O LORD, my heart is not [s] lifted up;
my eyes are not [t] raised too high;
I do not [u] occupy myself with things too great and [v] too marvelous for me.
2 [†] But I have calmed and quieted my soul,
like a weaned [w] child with its mother;
like a weaned child is my soul within me.

3 [x] O Israel, hope in the LORD
from this time forth and forevermore.

The LORD Has Chosen Zion

A Song of [m] Ascents.

PSALM 132 [†] Remember, O LORD, in David’s favor, all [y] the hardships he endured,
2 how he swore to the LORD
and [z] vowed to [a] the Mighty One of Jacob,

3 “I will not enter my house or get into my bed,
4 I will not [b] give sleep to my eyes
or slumber to my eyelids, 5 until I [c] find a place for the LORD,
a dwelling place for [a] the Mighty One of Jacob.”

6[†] Behold, we heard of it in [d] Ephrathah;
we found it in [e] the fields of Jaar.
7 “Let us go to his dwelling place;
let us [f] worship at his [g] footstool!”

8[†] [h] Arise, O LORD, and go to your [i] resting place, you and the ark of your [j] might.
9 Let your [k] priests be [l] clothed with righteousness, and let your [m] saints shout for joy.
10 For the sake of your servant David,
[n] do not turn away the face of [o] your anointed one.

11[†] [p] The LORD swore to David a sure oath
[q] from which he will not turn back:
[r] “One of the sons of your body [1]
I will set on your throne.
12 If your sons keep my covenant and my testimonies that I shall teach them, their sons also forever
shall [s] sit on your throne.”

13 For the LORD has [t] chosen Zion;
he has [u] desired it for his dwelling place:
14 “This is my [v] resting place forever;
here I will [w] dwell, for I have desired it.
15 I will abundantly [x] bless her provisions;
I will [y] satisfy her poor with bread.
16 Her [z] priests I will clothe with salvation, and her [z] saints will shout for joy.

17 There I will make [a] a horn to sprout for David;
I have prepared [b] a lamp for [c] my anointed.
18[†] His enemies I will [d] clothe with shame, but on him his crown will shine.”

When Brothers Dwell in Unity

A Song of [m] Ascents. Of David.

PSALM 133 [†] Behold, how good and pleasant it is when [e] brothers dwell in unity! [1] 2[†] It is like the precious [f] oil on [g] the head, running down on the beard,
on the beard of Aaron,
running down on [h] the collar of his robes!
3[†] It is like [i] the dew of [j] Hermon, which falls on [k] the mountains of Zion!
For there the Lord [l] has commanded the blessing, life forevermore.

Come, Bless the Lord

A Song of [m] Ascents.

PSALM 134 [†] Come, bless the Lord, all you [m] servants of the Lord, who [n] stand [o] by night in the house of the Lord!
2 [p] Lift up your hands to [q] the holy place and bless the Lord!

3[†] May the Lord [r] bless you [s] from Zion,
he who [t] made heaven and earth!

Your Name, O Lord, Endures Forever

PSALM 135 [†] [u] Praise the Lord!
Praise the name of the Lord,

give praise, O [v] servants of the LORD,
2 who [n] stand in the house of the LORD,
in [w] the courts of the house of our God!
3 Praise the LORD, for [x] the LORD is good;
sing to his name, [y] for it is pleasant! [1] 4 For the LORD has [z] chosen Jacob for himself,
Israel as his [a] own possession.

5[†] For I know that [b] the LORD is great,
and that our Lord is above all gods.
6 [c] Whatever the LORD pleases, he does,
in heaven and on earth,
in the seas and all deeps.
7 [d] He it is who makes the clouds rise at the end of the earth, who [e] makes lightnings for the rain and brings forth the wind from his [f] storehouses.

8[†] He it was who [g] struck down the firstborn of Egypt,
both of man and of beast;
9 who in your midst, O Egypt, sent [h] signs and wonders against Pharaoh and all his servants; 10 [i] who struck down many nations
and killed mighty kings, 11 [j] Sihon, king of the Amorites, and [k] Og, king of Bashan,
and [l] all the kingdoms of Canaan, 12 and [m] gave their land as a heritage,
a heritage to his people Israel.

13[†] [n] Your name, O LORD, endures forever,
[o] your renown, [2] O LORD, throughout all ages.
14 [p] For the LORD will vindicate his people and [q] have compassion on his servants.

[15][†] [r] The idols of the nations are silver and gold,
the work of human hands.
[16] They have mouths, but do not speak;
they have eyes, but do not see;
[17] they have ears, but do not hear,
nor is there any breath in their mouths.
[18] Those who make them become like them,
so do all who trust in them.

[19][†] [s] O house of Israel, bless the LORD!
O house of Aaron, bless the LORD!
[20] O house of Levi, bless the LORD!
You who fear the LORD, bless the LORD!
[21][†] Blessed be the LORD [t] from Zion, he who [u] dwells in Jerusalem!
[v] Praise the LORD!

His Steadfast Love Endures Forever

PSALM 136 [†] [w] Give thanks to the LORD, for he is good, [x] for his steadfast love endures forever.
[2] Give thanks to [y] the God of gods,
for his steadfast love endures forever.
[3] Give thanks to [y] the Lord of lords,
for his steadfast love endures forever;

[4][†] to him who alone [z] does great wonders,
for his steadfast love endures forever;
[5] to him who [a] by understanding [b] made the heavens,
for his steadfast love endures forever;
[6] to him who [c] spread out the earth [d] above the waters,
for his steadfast love endures forever;
[7] to him who [e] made the great lights,
for his steadfast love endures forever;
[8] the sun to rule over the day,
for his steadfast love endures forever;

[9] the moon and stars to rule over the night,
for his steadfast love endures forever;

[10][†] to him who [f] struck down the firstborn of Egypt,
for his steadfast love endures forever;
[11] and [g] brought Israel out from among them,
for his steadfast love endures forever;
[12] with [h] a strong hand and an outstretched arm,
for his steadfast love endures forever;
[13] to him who [i] divided the Red Sea in two,
for his steadfast love endures forever;
[14] [j] and made Israel pass through the midst of it,
for his steadfast love endures forever;
[15] but [k] overthrew [1] Pharaoh and his host in the Red Sea,
for his steadfast love endures forever;
[16] to him who [l] led his people through the wilderness,
for his steadfast love endures forever;

[17][†] to him [m] who struck down great kings,
for his steadfast love endures forever;
[18] and killed mighty kings,
for his steadfast love endures forever;
[19] Sihon, king of the Amorites,
for his steadfast love endures forever;
[20] and Og, king of Bashan,
for his steadfast love endures forever;
[21] and gave their land as a heritage,
for his steadfast love endures forever;
[22][†] a heritage to Israel his [n] servant,
for his steadfast love endures forever.

[23][†] It is he who [o] remembered us in our low estate,
for his steadfast love endures forever;
[24] and [p] rescued us from our foes,
for his steadfast love endures forever;

25 he who [q] gives food to all flesh,
    for his steadfast love endures forever.

26 Give thanks to [r] the God of heaven,
    for his steadfast love endures forever.

How Shall We Sing the LORD's Song?

PSALM 137 [†] By the waters of Babylon, there we sat down and wept,
    when we remembered Zion.
2 On the willows [1] there we hung up our lyres.
3 For there our captors required of us songs,
and our tormentors, mirth, saying,
    "Sing us one of the songs of Zion!"

4[†] [s] How shall we sing the LORD's song in a foreign land?
5 If I forget you, O Jerusalem,
    [t] let my right hand forget its skill!
6 Let my [u] tongue stick to the roof of my mouth,
    if I do not remember you,
if I do not set Jerusalem above my highest joy!

7[†] Remember, O LORD, against the [v] Edomites [w] the day of Jerusalem,
how they said, [x] "Lay it bare, lay it bare,
    down to its foundations!"
8 O daughter of Babylon, [y] doomed to be destroyed, blessed shall he be who [z] repays you with what you have done to us!
9 Blessed shall he be who takes your little ones and [a] dashes them against the rock!

Give Thanks to the LORD

Of David.

PSALM 138 [†] [b] I give you thanks, O LORD, with my whole heart;
before [c] the gods I sing your praise;
2 I bow down [d] toward your [e] holy temple and give thanks to your name for your steadfast love and your faithfulness, for you have exalted above all things your name and your word. [1] 3 On the day I called, you answered me;
my strength of soul you increased. [2]

4[†] [f] All the kings of the earth shall give you thanks, O LORD, for they have heard the words of your mouth,
5 and they shall sing of [g] the ways of the LORD,
for great is the glory of the LORD.
6 [h] For though the LORD is high, he regards the lowly,
but the haughty he knows from afar.

7[†] [i] Though I walk in the midst of trouble,
you [j] preserve my life;
you [k] stretch out your hand against the wrath of my enemies,
and your [l] right hand delivers me.
8 The LORD will [m] fulfill his purpose for me; [n] your steadfast love, O LORD, endures forever.
Do not forsake [o] the work of your hands.

Search Me, O God, and Know My Heart

To the choirmaster. A Psalm of David.

PSALM 139 [†] O LORD, you have [p] searched me and known me!
2 You [q] know when I sit down and when I rise up;
you [r] discern my thoughts from afar.
3 You search out my path and my lying down and are acquainted with all my ways.

[4] Even before a word is on my tongue, behold, O LORD, [s]you know it altogether.
[5][†] You [t]hem me in, behind and before,
and [u]lay your hand upon me.
[6] [v]Such knowledge is [w]too wonderful for me;
it is high; I cannot attain it.

[7][†] [x]Where shall I go from your Spirit?
Or where [y]shall I flee from your presence?
[8][†] [z]If I ascend to heaven, you are there!
[a]If I make my bed in Sheol, you are there!
[9] If I take the wings of the morning and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea, [10] even there your hand shall [b]lead me,
and your right hand shall hold me.
[11] If I say, [c]“Surely the darkness shall cover me, and the light about me be night,” [12] [d]even the darkness is not dark to you;
the night is bright as the day,
for darkness is as light with you.

[13][†] For you [e]formed my inward parts;
you [f]knitted me together in my mother’s womb.
[14][†] I praise you, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made. [1]
[g]Wonderful are your works;
my soul knows it very well.
[15][†] [h]My frame was not hidden from you,
when I was being made in secret,
intricately woven in [i]the depths of the earth.
[16] Your eyes saw my unformed substance;
in your [j]book were written, every one of them,
the days that were formed for me,
when as yet there was none of them.

[17][†] How precious to me are your [k]thoughts, O God!

How vast is the sum of them!
[18] [l] If I would count them, they are more than [m] the sand.
I awake, and I am still with you.

[19][†] Oh that you would [n] slay the wicked, O God!
O [o] men of blood, [p] depart from me!
[20] They [q] speak against you with malicious intent;
your enemies [r] take your name in vain. [2] [21] [s] Do I not hate those who hate you, O Lord?
And do I not [t] loathe those who [u] rise up against you?
[22] I hate them with complete hatred;
I count them my enemies.

[23][†] Search me, O God, and know my heart!
[v] Try me and know my thoughts! [3]
[24] And see if there be any grievous way in me, and [w] lead me in [x] the way everlasting! [4]

Deliver Me, O Lord, from Evil Men

To the choirmaster. A Psalm of David.

PSALM 140 [†] [y] Deliver me, O Lord, from evil men;
preserve me from [z] violent men,
[2] who plan evil things in their heart and [a] stir up wars continually.
[3][†] They make [b] their tongue sharp as [c] a serpent's, and [d] under their lips is the [e] venom of asps. Selah

[4] Guard me, O Lord, from the hands of the wicked;
preserve me from [z] violent men,
who have planned to trip up my feet.
[5] The arrogant have [f] hidden a trap for me,
and with cords they have spread [g] a net; [1] beside the way they have set [h] snares for me. Selah

6[†] [i] I say to the LORD, You are my God; give ear to [j] the voice of my pleas for mercy, O LORD!
7 O LORD, my Lord, [k] the strength of my salvation,
you have covered my head in the day of battle.
8 [l] Grant not, O LORD, the desires of the wicked;
do not further their [2] evil plot, or [m] they will be exalted! Selah

9[†] As for the head of those who surround me, let [n] the mischief of their lips overwhelm them!
10 Let [o] burning coals fall upon them!
Let them be cast into fire,
into miry pits, no more to rise!
11 Let not the slanderer be established in the land;
let evil hunt down the violent man speedily!

12[†] I know that the LORD will [p] maintain the cause of the afflicted, and [q] will execute justice for the needy.
13 Surely [r] the righteous shall give thanks to your name;
[s] the upright shall dwell in your presence.

Give Ear to My Voice

A Psalm of David.

PSALM 141 [†] O LORD, I call upon you; [t] hasten to me!
Give ear to my voice when I call to you!
2 Let [u] my prayer be counted as incense before you,
and [v] the lifting up of my hands as [w] the evening sacrifice!

3[†] [x] Set a guard, O LORD, over my mouth;
[y] keep watch over the door of my lips!
4 [z] Do not let my heart incline to any evil, to busy myself with wicked deeds
in company with men who [a] work iniquity, and [b] let me not eat of their delicacies!

5 [c] Let a righteous man strike me—it is a kindness;
let him rebuke me—it is oil for my head;
let my head not refuse it.
Yet [d] my prayer is continually against their evil deeds.
6[†] When their judges are [e] thrown over the cliff, [1]
then they shall hear my words, for they are pleasant.
7 As when one plows and breaks up the earth,
so shall our bones [f] be scattered at the mouth of Sheol. [2]

8[†] But [g] my eyes are toward you, O GOD, my Lord;
[h] in you I seek refuge; leave me not defenseless! [3]
9 Keep me from [i] the trap that they have laid for me and from the snares of evildoers!
10 Let the wicked [j] fall into their own nets, while I pass by safely.

You Are My Refuge

A Maskil[1] of David, when he was in [k] the cave. A Prayer.

PSALM 142 [†] With my voice I [l] cry out to the LORD;
with my voice I [m] plead for mercy to the LORD.
[2] I [n] pour out my complaint before him;
I tell my trouble before him.

[3] [†] When my spirit [o] faints within me,
you know my way!
In the path where I walk
they have [p] hidden a trap for me.
[4] [q] Look to the [r] right and see:
[s] there is none who takes notice of me; [t] no refuge remains to me;
no one cares for my soul.

[5] [†] I cry to you, O LORD;
I say, “You are my [u] refuge,
my [v] portion in [w] the land of the living.”
[6] [x] Attend to my cry,
for [y] I am brought very low!
Deliver me from my persecutors,
[z] for they are too strong for me!
[7] [a] Bring me out of prison,
that I may give thanks to your name!
The righteous will surround me,
for you will [b] deal bountifully with me.

My Soul Thirsts for You

A Psalm of David.

PSALM 143 [†] Hear my prayer, O LORD;
[c] give ear to my pleas for mercy!
In your [d] faithfulness answer me, in your [d] righteousness!

2 [e] Enter not into judgment with your servant,
for no one living is righteous [f] before you.

3 For the enemy has pursued my soul;
[g] he has crushed my life to the ground;
[h] he has made me sit in darkness like those long dead.
4 [†] Therefore my spirit [i] faints within me;
my heart within me is appalled.

5 [†] [j] I remember the days of old;
[k] I meditate on all that you have done;
I ponder the work of your hands.
6 [l] I stretch out my hands to you;
[m] my soul thirsts for you like [n] a parched land. Selah

7 [†] [o] Answer me quickly, O Lord!
[p] My spirit fails!
[q] Hide not your face from me,
[r] lest I be like those who go down to the pit.
8 [s] Let me hear in the morning of your steadfast love,
for in you I [t] trust.
[u] Make me know the way I should go,
[v] for to you I lift up my soul.

9 [†] [w] Deliver me from my enemies, O Lord!
I have fled to you for refuge. [1] 10 [x] Teach me to do your will,
for you are my God!
[y] Let your good Spirit [z] lead me on [a] level ground!

11 [b] For your name’s sake, O Lord, [c] preserve my life!
In your righteousness [d] bring my soul out of trouble!
12 And in your steadfast love you will [e] cut off my enemies, and you will destroy all the adversaries of my soul,

for I am your [f] servant.

My Rock and My Fortress

Of David.

PSALM 144 [†] Blessed be the LORD, my [g] rock, [h] who trains my hands for war,
and my fingers for battle;
2 he is my [i] steadfast love and my [j] fortress,
my [k] stronghold and my deliverer,
my [l] shield and he in whom I take refuge,
who [m] subdues peoples [1] under me.

3 [†] O LORD, [n] what is man that you [o] regard him, or the son of man that you think of him?
4 [p] Man is like a breath;
his days are like [q] a passing [r] shadow.

5 [†] [s] Bow your heavens, O LORD, and come down!
[t] Touch the mountains so that they smoke!
6 [u] Flash forth the lightning and scatter them;
[u] send out your arrows and rout them!
7 [v] Stretch out your hand from on high;
[w] rescue me and deliver me from the many waters,
from the hand [x] of foreigners,
8 whose mouths speak [y] lies and whose right hand is [z] a right hand of falsehood.

9 [†] I will sing [a] a new song to you, O God;
upon [a] a ten-stringed harp I will play to you, 10 [†] who gives victory to kings,
who [b] rescues David his servant from the cruel sword.
11 Rescue me and deliver me
from the hand [x] of foreigners,

whose mouths speak [y] lies
and whose right hand is a right hand of falsehood.

12[†] May our sons in their youth be like [c] plants full grown,
our daughters like [d] corner pillars cut for the structure of a palace;
13 [e] may our granaries be full,
[f] providing all kinds of produce;
may our sheep bring forth thousands and ten thousands in our fields; 14 may our cattle be heavy with young, suffering no mishap or failure in bearing; [2]
may there be no [g] cry of distress in our streets!
15 [h] Blessed are the people to whom such blessings fall!
[i] Blessed are the people whose God is the LORD!

Great Is the LORD

[1] A Song of Praise. Of David.

PSALM 145 [†] [j] I will extol you, my God and [k] King, and bless your name forever and ever.
2 Every day I will bless you
[l] and praise your name forever and ever.
3[†] [m] Great is the LORD, and greatly to be praised,
and his [n] greatness is unsearchable.

4[†] [o] One generation shall commend your works to another, and shall declare your mighty acts.
5 On [p] the glorious splendor of your majesty, and on your wondrous works, I will meditate.
6 They shall speak of [q] the might of your awesome deeds, and I will declare your greatness.
7 They shall pour forth the fame of your [r] abundant goodness and shall sing aloud of your righteousness.

8[†] The LORD is [s] gracious and merciful,
slow to anger and abounding in steadfast love.
9[†] The LORD is [t] good to all,
and his mercy is over all that he has made.

10[†] [u] All your works shall give thanks to you, O LORD, and all your [v] saints shall bless you!
11 They shall speak of the glory of your kingdom and tell of your power, 12 to [w] make known to the children of man your [2] [x] mighty deeds, and [y] the glorious splendor of your kingdom.
13[†] [z] Your kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and your dominion endures throughout all generations.

[The LORD is faithful in all his words and kind in all his works.] [3] 14[†] The LORD [a] upholds all who are falling and [b] raises up all who are bowed down.
15 The eyes of all [c] look to you,
and you give them their food in due season.
16 You [d] open your hand;
you [e] satisfy the desire of every living thing.
17 The LORD is [f] righteous in all his ways and [g] kind in all his works.
18 The LORD is [h] near to all who call on him,
to all who call on him [i] in truth.
19 He [j] fulfills the desire of those who fear him;
he also [k] hears their cry and saves them.
20[†] The LORD [l] preserves all who love him,
but all the wicked he will destroy.

21[†] My mouth will speak the praise of the LORD, and [m] let all flesh bless his holy name forever and ever.

Put Not Your Trust in Princes

PSALM 146 [†] [n] Praise the LORD!
Praise the LORD, O my soul!
2 I will praise the LORD [o] as long as I live;
[p] I will sing praises to my God while I have my being.

3[†] [q] Put not your trust in princes,
[r] in a son of man, in whom there is [s] no salvation.
4 When [t] his breath departs, he returns to the earth;
on that very day his plans perish.

5[†] [u] Blessed is he whose help is the God of Jacob, whose [v] hope is in the LORD his God, 6 [w] who made heaven and earth,
the sea, and all that is in them,
[x] who keeps faith forever;
7 [y] who executes justice for the oppressed,
[z] who gives food to the hungry.

[a] The LORD sets the prisoners free;
8 [b] the LORD opens the eyes of the blind.
[c] The LORD lifts up those who are bowed down;
[d] the LORD loves the righteous.
9 [e] The LORD watches over the sojourners; [f] he upholds the widow and the fatherless,
but [g] the way of the wicked he brings to ruin.

10[†] [h] The LORD will reign forever, your God, O Zion, to all generations.
[n] Praise the LORD!

He Heals the Brokenhearted

PSALM 147 [†] [i] Praise the LORD!
For [j] it is good to sing praises to our God;

for [k] it is pleasant, [1] and [l] a song of praise is fitting.
2 The LORD [m] builds up Jerusalem;
he [n] gathers the outcasts of Israel.
3 He heals [o] the brokenhearted and [p] binds up their wounds.
4 He [q] determines the number of the stars;
he [r] gives to all of them their names.
5 [s] Great is our Lord, and [t] abundant in power;
[u] his understanding is beyond measure.
6 The LORD [v] lifts up the humble; [2]
he casts the wicked to the ground.

7 [†] [w] Sing to the LORD with thanksgiving;
make melody to our God on [x] the lyre!
8 He covers the heavens with clouds;
he prepares [y] rain for the earth;
he makes [z] grass grow on the hills.
9 He [a] gives to the beasts their food,
and to [b] the young ravens that cry.
10 [†] His delight is not in [c] the strength of the horse, nor his pleasure in the legs of a man, 11 but the LORD [d] takes pleasure in those who fear him,
in those who [e] hope in his steadfast love.

12 [†] Praise the LORD, O Jerusalem!
Praise your God, O Zion!
13 For he strengthens [f] the bars of your gates;
he blesses your children within you.
14 He [g] makes peace in your borders;
he [h] fills you with the [i] finest of the wheat.
15 He [j] sends out his command to the earth;
his word runs swiftly.
16 He gives [k] snow like wool;
he scatters [l] frost like ashes.

17 He hurls down his crystals of [m] ice like crumbs;
who can stand before his [n] cold?
18 He [o] sends out his word, and melts them;
he makes his wind blow and the waters flow.
19 He declares his word to Jacob, his [p] statutes and rules [3] to Israel.
20 He [q] has not dealt thus with any other nation;
they do not know his rules. [4]
[r] Praise the LORD!

Praise the Name of the LORD

PSALM 148 [†] [r] Praise the LORD!
Praise the LORD [s] from the heavens;
praise him [t] in the heights!
2 Praise him, all his angels;
praise him, all his [u] hosts!

3 Praise him, sun and moon,
praise him, all you shining stars!
4 Praise him, you [v] highest heavens,
and you [w] waters above the heavens!

5 [x] Let them praise the name of the LORD!
For [y] he commanded and they were created.
6 And he [z] established them forever and ever;
he gave [a] a decree, and it shall not [b] pass away. [1]

7 [†] Praise the LORD [c] from the earth, you [d] great sea creatures and all deeps,
8 [e] fire and hail, [f] snow and mist,
[g] stormy wind [h] fulfilling his word!

9 [i] Mountains and all hills,
[j] fruit trees and all [k] cedars!

10 [l] Beasts and all livestock, creeping things and [m] flying birds!

11 Kings of the earth and [n] all peoples, princes and all rulers of the earth!
12 Young men and maidens together, old men and children!

13[†] [o] Let them praise the name of the LORD, for [p] his name alone is exalted;
[q] his majesty is above earth and heaven.
14 He has [r] raised up a horn for his people, [s] praise for all his saints,
for the people of Israel who are [t] near to him.
[u] Praise the LORD!

Sing to the LORD a New Song

PSALM 149 [†] [u] Praise the LORD!
Sing to the LORD [v] a new song,
his praise in [w] the assembly of the godly!
2 Let Israel [x] be glad in [y] his Maker;
let the children of Zion rejoice in their [z] King!
3 Let them praise his name with [a] dancing, making melody to him with [b] tambourine and [c] lyre!
4 For the LORD [d] takes pleasure in his people;
he [e] adorns the humble with salvation.
5 Let the godly exult in glory;
let them [f] sing for joy on their [g] beds.
6[†] Let [h] the high praises of God be in their throats and [i] two-edged swords in their hands, 7[†] to execute vengeance on the nations and punishments on the peoples, 8 to bind their kings with [j] chains and their nobles with fetters of iron,

9 to execute on them the judgment [k] written!
[l] This is honor for all his godly ones.
[u] Praise the Lord!

Let Everything Praise the Lord

PSALM 150 [†] [u] Praise the Lord!
Praise God in his [m] sanctuary;
praise him in [n] his mighty heavens! [1] 2 Praise him for his [o] mighty deeds;
praise him according to his excellent [p] greatness!

3[†] Praise him with [q] trumpet sound;
praise him with [r] lute and [r] harp!
4 Praise him with [s] tambourine and [s] dance;
praise him with [t] strings and [u] pipe!
5 Praise him with sounding [v] cymbals;
praise him with loud clashing cymbals!
6 Let [w] everything that has breath praise the Lord!
[x] Praise the Lord!

Study Notes for Psalms, Book One

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 1. The first psalm serves as the gateway into the entire book of Psalms. Those who would worship God genuinely must embrace his Law (or Torah), his covenant instruction. They must love the Law, and must see themselves as the heirs and stewards of its story of redemption.

PSALM—NOTE ON 1:1 Blessed. The truly happy person is happy because God showers him with favor. the man. A specific, godly individual is presented as an example for others to imitate. Such teaching by use of a concrete example is common in OT wisdom literature. wicked . . . sinners . . . scoffers. These are people who refuse to live by the covenant. The godly person will not imitate such people’s immoral way of life.

PSALM—NOTE ON 1:2 The law of the LORD may refer to the Law of Moses. Meditates describes concentrated thinking. day and night. One should face every situation in life with a desire to please the Lord.

PSALM—NOTE ON 1:3 As a tree bears fruit not for itself but for others, so also, when the faithful person prospers, he brings benefit to others. See Jer. 17:8 for the same image.

PSALM—NOTE ON 1:4 When a farmer tosses threshed wheat into the air, the wind drives away the chaff (husks and straw). Those who reject God’s covenant are like chaff in that they bring no benefit to anyone (see 35:5).

PSALM—NOTE ON 1:5 The judgment on the wicked is likely the final judgment, which allows some to enter the congregation of the righteous while excluding others (Eccles. 12:14).

PSALM—NOTE ON 1:6 Knows means “knows with affection and approval” (compare Gen. 18:19; Amos 3:2).

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 2. God made David and his descendants kings in order to fulfill the purpose for which Abraham was called: to bring blessing to all nations (Gen. 12:1–3). At a time when Gentile kingdoms sought to throw off Israelite rule, this psalm recalls the promises made to the Davidic king at his coronation. Gentiles will find lasting joy only as subjects of this king. The psalm also looks to the future, when the Davidic Messiah will rule all nations.

PSALM—NOTE ON 2:2 The word "Messiah" comes from transliterating the Hebrew word for Anointed, and the word "Christ" comes from translating "Anointed" into Greek. For the Gentiles to rebel against the Davidic king is to rebel against the Lord who made him king (see Acts 4:25–26).

PSALM—NOTE ON 2:7 The decree is the divine word spoken when the king took his throne. The LORD said. The past tense indicates that the king recalls the divine word at a time of trouble after his coronation. You are my Son. In 2 Sam. 7:14, God says that he will take the heir of David as a "son." The people of Israel as a whole are called the "son of God" (see Ex. 4:22–23; Ps. 80:15; Hos. 11:1), and the king is called the "son of God" because he represents the people (see Ps. 89:27). Hebrews 1:5 combines Ps. 2:7 with 2 Sam. 7:14 to identify Jesus as the messianic heir of David. In Acts 13:33 and Rom. 1:4, Paul portrays the resurrection of Jesus as his coronation as the Davidic king.

FACT

Where is Zion? Zion (2:6) is the mountain where Jerusalem and the temple were built. The term "Zion" sometimes refers to ancient Jerusalem and sometimes stands for the permanent home where God's people will live forever with him (see Isa. 4:2–6; 12:1–6; 65:17–25).

PSALM—NOTE ON 2:8 The Gentile nations of the earth will find blessing in the heir of David who makes them his subjects (see Gen. 22:18; also Ps. 72:8–11, 17). This includes those nations who were in revolt (2:1). Thus Paul looks forward to a day when people from all nations will come to faith (Rom. 1:5).

PSALM—NOTE ON 2:10 kings . . . rulers of the earth. See v. 2.

PSALM—NOTE ON 2:12 Kiss the Son. The Son is the heir of David (v. 7). The kiss denotes religious homage, which the Davidic king deserves (v. 2). The kings must understand that the ruler whom they reject is not just another human ruler but is God’s own appointed king for the whole world.

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 3. This is the first psalm with a title. The title names David as the author and ties the psalm to Absalom’s rebellion (2 Samuel 15–16). Fourteen of the Davidic psalms add further information in their titles, connecting the psalm to a specific incident in David’s life (see chart). Since David as king is the representative of God’s people, it is likely that this psalm emphasizes David as the ideal member of the people of God. Thus it can be considered an individual lament. The information in the title helps readers to apply the lesson of the psalm: David shows genuine faith in his difficult circumstances, and readers can do the same.

Psalms Based on Incidents in David’s Life

Psalm	Incident in David’s Life	References
3	David flees from and battles Absalom	2 Samuel 15–17
7	The words of Cush, a Benjaminite (persecution by Saul?)	Unknown
18	David delivered from enemies and from Saul	2 Samuel 22
30	Dedication of the temple	Nothing in David’s lifetime; see 1 Kings 8:63
34	David delivered from danger by feigning madness in the presence of King Achish of Gath	1 Sam. 21:12–22:1
51	Nathan confronts David about his adultery with Bathsheba	2 Samuel 11–12
52	Doeg the Edomite tells Saul that David went to the house of Ahimelech	1 Sam. 22:9–19
54	The Ziphites tell Saul that David is hiding among them	1 Sam. 23:19
56	The Philistines seize David in Gath	1 Sam. 21:10–11
57	David flees from Saul into a cave	1 Sam. 22:1 or 24:3
59	Saul sends men to watch David’s house in order to kill him	1 Sam. 19:11
60	David’s victory over Transjordan	2 Sam. 8:1–14
63	David in the desert of Judah	2 Samuel 15–17?; 1 Sam. 23:14–15?
142	David flees from Saul into a cave	Same as Psalm 57

PSALM—NOTE ON 3:2 As is usually the case in the OT, salvation here refers to both physical and spiritual deliverance from danger. The fact that the enemies are saying this of David’s soul means they are implying that his sins are so bad that God cannot save him.

PSALM—NOTE ON 3:7 Arise. Compare Num. 10:35. For you strike . . . you break. David can boldly ask God for help because God has often protected him from enemies.

FACT

A shield for his people. Without the proper shield, an ancient warrior had little chance in battle. Psalms uses the term “shield” (3:3) to describe God’s protection of his people.

PSALM—NOTE ON 3:8 Salvation belongs to the LORD. It is the decision of the Lord, not of the enemies (v. 2), that makes the difference.

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 4. This psalm expresses quiet trust amid troubling circumstances, combining the categories of individual lament and confidence.

PSALM—NOTE ON 4:1 Because of their past experience with the Lord (You have given me relief), the faithful can pray confidently (Answer me when I call and Be gracious to me and hear my prayer). Compare 3:7.

PSALM—NOTE ON 4:3 set apart. God gives his special attention and affection to a person or a people in order to distinguish them. The Hebrew word for the godly is related to the Hebrew word for “steadfast love.” Thus “the godly” are those who have sincerely responded to God’s steadfast love.

PSALM—NOTE ON 4:4 Be angry, and do not sin. That is, “Even if you are angry at those who slander you, do not sin by seeking revenge.” The way to prevent such sin is to ponder and be silent: that is, reflect on how trustworthy the Lord has been. See Eph. 4:26.

PSALM—NOTE ON 4:7 True joy is not the result of material wealth. Rather, joy comes from knowing the Lord’s presence (v. 6) and peace.

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 5. This individual lament from David is the first psalm that prays for the downfall of one’s enemies. Such Psalms relate to situations where one is faced with bloodthirsty and deceitful persecutors.

PSALM—NOTE ON 5:2 my King and my God. Even a king such as David should be subject to God’s divine kingship.

PSALM—NOTE ON 5:3 I prepare a sacrifice for you. The mention of the morning, and of the Lord's house (v. 7), suggests this is describing the regular morning sacrifice in the temple. The faithful worshiper receives assurance and expresses personal consecration when he offers his sacrifices.

PSALM—NOTE ON 5:4–6 The singer praises God for loving what is right.

PSALM—NOTE ON 5:7 Abundance of your steadfast love comes from Ex. 34:6, the basic confession of OT faith.

PSALM—NOTE ON 5:9 Paul refers to this verse in Rom. 3:13 as he explains that both Jews and Gentiles are under the power of sin.

PSALM—NOTE ON 5:10 Let them fall . . . cast them out describes the judgment that must fall on those who persecute the godly. for they have rebelled against you. To harm the godly is to attack God himself.

PSALM—NOTE ON 5:11–12 The psalm closes by expressing the assurance enjoyed by the faithful.

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 6. An individual lament from David. It describes a person whose hard circumstances have led him to see his sins and to repent. Thus, it is often considered one of the "penitential" Psalms (compare Psalms 32; 38; 51; 130; 143).

FACT

How are the Psalms divided? The Psalms are divided into five books: 1–41; 42–72; 73–89; 90–106; 107–150. Each book ends with a "doxology," a hymn of praise to God.

PSALM—NOTE ON 6:1–5 These verses describe a life-threatening situation, such as a sickness. The situation has arisen from God's displeasure at some particular sins. The psalm provides a way for people to properly express their concerns to God in such circumstances.

PSALM—NOTE ON 6:4 for the sake of your steadfast love. Those who are repentant appeal to God's love and mercy, and not to their own well-doing.

PSALM—NOTE ON 6:5 If Sheol refers to the grave here, the idea is that the dead do not have the privilege of praising God in public worship.

PSALM—NOTE ON 6:8 Depart from me, all you workers of evil seems to be spoken to those who would take advantage of the singer's distress. But if the LORD has heard, then these enemies have no real power. See Luke 13:27.

PSALM—NOTE ON 6:9 When the Lord hears the plea and prayer (vv. 1–5), he forgives.

PSALM—NOTE ON 6:10 There is a reversal here: the singer's bones and soul were troubled (vv. 2–3), but now the enemies will be greatly troubled.

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 7. The title of this individual lament from David refers to an otherwise unknown incident in his life when a man of Benjamin (the tribe of Saul) slandered David. The psalm enables those who have been unfairly criticized (vv. 3–5) and persecuted to call on God for help.

PSALM—NOTE ON 7:1–2 Amid desperate circumstances, David express trust (my God, refuge).

PSALM—NOTE ON 7:6–11 The singers see their requests as part of the larger picture: God is a righteous judge (v. 11), to whom all the peoples of mankind are accountable (vv. 7, 8). In the Psalms, God is often described as "judging" on behalf of the innocent and oppressed.

PSALM—NOTE ON 7:17 The Lord's righteousness and his status as the Most High (see vv. 6–11) lead to thanksgiving and praise.

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 8. This hymn of praise helps the Lord's people celebrate their glorious Creator, and their privileged place in his creation. With Genesis 1–2 as a background, the Psalm presents mankind as the pinnacle of creation, as the rulers over the animal world, and as the object of God's special attention. At the same time, the mention of "foes," "enemy," and "avenger" (Ps. 8:2) reminds readers of Genesis 3 and God's plan for fallen mankind. Israel was to be the firstfruits of restored humanity. This helps explain why Heb. 2:6–8 quotes Ps. 8:4–6: Jesus, as Davidic king, is the ideal Israelite, and thus the ideal human being. He is crowned with glory and honor after his suffering on behalf of mankind.

FACT

What was the main purpose of the Psalms for the people of God? The Psalms were the songbook of the people of God when they gathered for worship.

PSALM—NOTE ON 8:1 God's covenant name (LORD) is majestic . . . in all the earth, even if not all people acknowledge it.

PSALM—NOTE ON 8:2 Perhaps the babies and infants are the people of Israel, seen as weak in comparison with the mighty unbelieving Gentiles, who are the foes, the enemy, the avenger. It is through the insignificant mouths of infants (that is, of Israel) that God reveals his majesty.

PSALM—NOTE ON 8:5 the heavenly beings. See Heb. 2:7. Crowned him with glory and honor describes mankind as God's kingly representative.

PSALM—NOTE ON 8:6 This echoes Gen. 1:26. put all things under his feet. Paul quotes this verse along with the explicitly messianic Ps. 110:1 (see 1 Cor. 15:25–27; Eph. 1:22). This verse is also quoted in Heb. 2:6–9.

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 9. Psalms 9–10 together follow a basically acrostic pattern, with the first word of each line beginning with successive letters of the Hebrew alphabet. The acrostic is not perfect, however. Several letters of the alphabet are missing or are out of order. Both psalms say that God cares about those who are "oppressed" (9:9; 10:18); both mention "times of trouble" (9:9; 10:1); both call on God to "arise" (9:19; 10:12); and both are sure that God will not "forget the afflicted" (9:12; 10:12). The key difference between the two psalms is that Psalm 9 is full of praise and thanks while Psalm 10 is mostly a lament.

PSALM—NOTE ON 9:1 with my whole heart. The biblical ideal is for people to love and praise God (compare Deut. 6:5), both in private and in public.

PSALM—NOTE ON 9:3–6 The psalm recalls God's protection of his people from evil nations. When an Israelite sings of his just cause, he should think about why God chose Israel: God chose Israel to be a light to the Gentiles through their faithfulness to God (compare v. 11).

PSALM—NOTE ON 9:10 To know God's name, to put trust in him, and to seek him are all ideals in the OT, even though the people of Israel often fell short of those ideals.

PSALM—NOTE ON 9:11 Tell among the peoples his deeds. God called Abram and Israel to be a blessing to the whole world (Gen. 12:3). Israel should long for the time when the Gentiles would receive that blessing. Compare Rom. 15:8–12.

PSALM—NOTE ON 9:12 Mindful of them, namely, of the oppressed people of Israel (v. 9), whose blood God avenges when the Gentiles spill it unjustly.

PSALM—NOTE ON 9:13–14 The song now becomes a prayer for deliverance from affliction. The result of God's answer to the prayer will be further praise in worship.

PSALM—NOTE ON 9:15–18 God defends the poor by defeating their oppressors. The wicked (vv. 16, 17) are those Gentiles who oppose God's purposes (vv. 15, 17). The needy and poor are the people of Israel who are threatened (v. 18).

PSALM—NOTE ON 9:17 Sheol. See note on 6:5.

FACT

What is "Sheol"? In the OT, the Hebrew word "Sheol" (9:17) refers to the place where people go when they die. It is similar to the Greek word "Hades." Both words are usually translated "death" or "the grave."

PSALM—NOTE ON 9:18 not . . . forgotten. Compare "not forget," v. 12. This is in contrast to those who forget God (v. 17).

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 10. See note on Psalm 9. Psalm 10 is a lament, relating to cases in which “the wicked hotly pursue the poor” (v. 2). These wicked could be faithless, wealthy Israelites (vv. 4, 13), and the poor are Israelites who are faithful but are also defenseless against the wicked. It was the task of the Davidic king to ensure justice, by force if necessary. It was the task of the general public to pray, perhaps by reciting a psalm like this.

PSALM—NOTE ON 10:1 hide yourself. That is, ignoring cries for help (compare 55:1; Isa. 58:7).

PSALM—NOTE ON 10:3 renounces the LORD. Compare v. 13.

PSALM—NOTE ON 10:6 I shall not be moved. It is irritating to the pious person when impious people feel safe in their impiety.

PSALM—NOTE ON 10:7 See Rom. 3:14.

PSALM—NOTE ON 10:11 As the wicked person oppresses the faithful, he assumes that God has forgotten them—that God is indifferent to their suffering. The faithful mention this to God, asking him to show the wicked that he has not, in fact, forgotten his people (see vv. 12–14).

PSALM—NOTE ON 10:12–15 These verses call God to action in response to vv. 1–11. Verses 12–15 repeat many words from vv. 1–11: “mischief” (vv. 7 and 14); “forget” (vv. 11 and 12); “see” (vv. 11 and 14); “renounce” (vv. 3 and 13); “helpless” (vv. 8, 10, and 14); and “wicked” (vv. 2–4, and 13, 15). The repetition shows that God’s action will be a direct answer to the injustice described.

PSALM—NOTE ON 10:14 The OT law is full of warnings about oppressing such people as the fatherless (see Ex. 22:22; Deut. 10:18). The true Israelite will care for them.

PSALM—NOTE ON 10:15 till you find none. That is, until there is no more wickedness.

PSALM—NOTE ON 10:16 The LORD is king forever and ever. Compare the similar wording in Ex. 15:18, where God reigns for the sake of his people, to promote their peace and purity. Just as God removes unbelieving nations from his land, he can be trusted to purge unbelieving Israelites from it as well.

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 11. This psalm describes the confidence that the faithful may have, even in times of severe crisis.

PSALM—NOTE ON 11:3 The foundations would be either the people who lead Israel (compare the "pillars" of Isa. 19:10) or the principles of justice upon which Israel was founded. what can the righteous do? What security does he have?

PSALM—NOTE ON 11:4 His holy temple probably refers to God's heavenly dwelling, rather than his earthly temple. But one should not draw too much of a distinction between the two: in the OT, God's earthly sanctuary is the doorway into the heavenly (as in Isa. 6:1).

PSALM—NOTE ON 11:5 The wicked are those among God's people who would exploit and harm others.

PSALM—NOTE ON 11:6 fire and sulfur. See Gen. 19:24. portion of their cup. That is, the judgment God has assigned for them, whether in this life or the next (Jer. 13:25).

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 12. This is a community lament, describing a time when liars are in positions of authority.

FACT

What is a psalm of lament? The main purpose of a psalm of lament is to tell the Lord about a difficult situation, to ask him for his help, and to praise him for helping. Some laments are community, congregational psalms. Others are individual, personal laments. One third of all the Psalms are psalms of lament.

PSALM—NOTE ON 12:1–2 The particular kinds of lies described are flattering lips and insincere speech (a double heart). Such people manipulate others for the sake of gain (v. 2).

PSALM—NOTE ON 12:3 cut off. By removing them from his people (see Lev. 20:3).

PSALM—NOTE ON 12:5 True Israelites will not oppress the poor and needy but will care for them (see Deut. 15:11; 24:14). When the poor are oppressed, God takes action (compare Ps. 9:18).

PSALM—NOTE ON 12:6 God's words are pure, refined, and purified; they are free of the impurities of lies, flattery, or insincerity (see v. 2).

PSALM—NOTE ON 12:7 Them probably refers to the poor and needy (v. 5) and the godly (v. 1).

PSALM—NOTE ON 12:8 This final verse describes again the conditions described in vv. 1–2. Ending on this somber note reminds the faithful of their constant dependence on God.

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 13. This is an individual lament. The worshiper is on the verge of despair.

PSALM—NOTE ON 13:1 How long? The question, repeated four times, is not asking for information but is expressing despair. If this psalm were a sermon, it would explain that the abandonment described here (forget, hide . . . face) is only apparent. But a song, whose goal is to describe feelings, does not need the same level of precision as a sermon.

PSALM—NOTE ON 13:2 The enemy is typically one who hates. The enemy's hatred of the singer's faithfulness leads him to gloat over the singer's misfortunes.

PSALM—NOTE ON 13:3 For God to consider and answer would be for him to relieve the singer's circumstances.

PSALM—NOTE ON 13:5–6 Confidence in the steadfast love of God, as revealed in his covenant with Israel (Ex. 34:6), leads to a trusting expectation of salvation. Compare Ps. 3:2 and note.

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 14. This is a community lament. Humans in general do not seek after God and thus they treat God's people cruelly. Compare Psalm 53.

FACT

How many of the Psalms were written by David? David is the author of about half of the Psalms. Other authors include Asaph, Solomon, Moses, and the sons of Korah.

PSALM—NOTE ON 14:1 A fool is someone who stubbornly rejects wisdom. there is no God. Godless fools believe that God takes no interest in human affairs and will not judge people for their deeds.

PSALM—NOTE ON 14:3 The word all in this verse refers to the Gentiles described in v. 2, and v. 4 reveals that they oppose God's people. Paul adapts the Greek Septuagint translation of vv. 1–3 in Rom. 3:10–12 as part of his argument that "all, both Jews and Greeks, are under sin" (Rom. 3:9).

PSALM—NOTE ON 14:4 To eat up my people is to consume their wealth and freedom, and possibly even their lives (see Mic. 3:1–3).

PSALM—NOTE ON 14:5–6 In the face of such threats (v. 4) the faithful must remember that the God of the covenant (LORD) is their refuge. He will protect them and defeat the evildoers.

PSALM—NOTE ON 14:7 The people pray that God will rescue them and promote their well-being. Their prayer concludes with firm hope (when, not if).

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 15. This hymn celebrates the ideal worshiper of the Lord. The singers do not claim to have achieved these character qualities. They simply yearn to have them more and more.

PSALM—NOTE ON 15:1 The tent (compare 27:4–6) and holy hill describe the sanctuary where God is especially present with his people. To sojourn or dwell there is to be a welcomed guest in God's house (compare 61:4; 65:4).

PSALM—NOTE ON 15:2–5 These verses give specific examples of the kind of person who walks blamelessly and does what is right. Such a person is concerned about the well-being of fellow believers.

PSALM—NOTE ON 15:4 A vile person is the Israelite who rejects covenant life (compare Jer. 6:30, “rejected”). Those who fear the LORD are those who embrace the covenant.

PSALM—NOTE ON 15:5 does not put out his money at interest. When the law forbids Israelites to charge interest to fellow Israelites, it is referring to private loans to a neighbor rather than commercial transactions. In such cases, Israelites are forbidden to charge interest to their fellow Israelites (see Deut. 23:19–20, “your brother”), but they may charge interest to a foreigner. This psalm seems to suggest that the ideal person deals generously and fairly with all people, whether they are fellow Israelites or not. He goes beyond what the law requires.

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 16. When the faithful sing Psalm 16, they entrust themselves to the Lord. They experience confidence and contentment in his care. The psalm uses imagery from Israel’s allocation of the land under Joshua (vv. 5–6) to express contentment in this life. It also looks forward to everlasting life in God’s presence (vv. 9–11).

PSALM—NOTE ON 16:1–2 The Lord is the only one on whom the psalmist relies for well-being (no good apart from you, v. 2).

PSALM—NOTE ON 16:3 The saints are those who have embraced their privilege as God’s people. Since God has declared them holy, they live in a holy way.

PSALM—NOTE ON 16:4 Those who run after another god are idolaters, including unfaithful Israelites. Their names probably refers to the names of the false gods being worshiped.

PSALM—NOTE ON 16:5–6 The psalmist is satisfied with the Lord and his provision. The terms portion, lot, lines, and inheritance recall the allocation of the Promised Land into tribal and family plots.

PSALM—NOTE ON 16:7–8 God’s presence is seen in the moral instruction the psalmist receives (v. 7). It gives him assurance of stability (v. 8). The psalmist’s heart instructs him during the night, as he thinks about God’s word (compare 1:2).

PSALM—NOTE ON 16:9–11 The psalm is cultivating the hope of everlasting glory for the faithful, with the resurrection of Jesus (the ultimate holy one) as the first step in bringing this hope to fulfillment (compare Acts 2:25–28; Rom. 8:23; 1 Cor. 15:23).

PSALM—NOTE ON 16:10 Sheol. See note on 6:5. Here it is likely the abode of the wicked.

PSALM—NOTE ON 16:11 path of life. The covenant provides a "path" by which one walks toward life in all its fullness (Prov. 6:23; 10:17; Matt. 7:14). This is what the Lord makes known to his followers. To enjoy God's presence is the goal of the covenant (compare Ex. 33:14–15; Num. 6:24–26). The word pleasures is related to "pleasant places" (Ps. 16:6). The pleasure that the psalmist has begun in this life will reach its fullness in the world to come (forevermore).

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 17. This is an individual lament, dealing especially with cases in which a person considers himself unjustly accused of wrong (compare Psalm 7). The psalm is a prayer for vindication, and it ends with a feeling of confidence (compare Psalm 16).

FACT

What is parallelism? Parallelism is one of the main features of Hebrew poetry. All 150 Psalms include parallelism. Typically, the main lines in a psalm are followed by secondary lines that either repeat or expand upon an idea in the main line.

PSALM—NOTE ON 17:3–5 The singer proclaims his innocence (tried, visited, tested), and he recounts his efforts to stay pure.

PSALM—NOTE ON 17:8 apple of your eye. See Deut. 32:10; Prov. 7:2.

PSALM—NOTE ON 17:10 The singer cannot appeal to the attackers' pity or remorse, since they close their hearts to such feelings. Instead, they speak arrogantly.

PSALM—NOTE ON 17:13–14 Amid such threats, when it seems unlikely that the attacker will repent (v. 10), the proper response is prayer for the enemy's defeat.

PSALM—NOTE ON 17:14 The text describes these attackers as people whose only reward is in this life (their treasure and their children). They leave all their wealth behind when they die. This contrasts with the expectation of the faithful (v. 15).

PSALM—NOTE ON 17:15 behold your face. Compare 11:7; Rev. 22:4. when I awake. The beholding and the satisfaction refer to the everlasting bliss that the godly look for in the general resurrection.

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 18. This royal psalm celebrates the way God has shown his love to his people by giving them the Davidic monarchy and by preserving David through many dangers (see v. 50). The text of the psalm is almost identical to David's personal expression of gratitude to the Lord in 2 Samuel 22.

PSALM—NOTE ON 18:1–3 The opening verses summarize the theme of the psalm: David has found the Lord to be a reliable defender against his enemies.

PSALM—NOTE ON 18:7–19 God in his heavenly fortress suddenly takes notice of David's need and quickly comes to his aid.

PSALM—NOTE ON 18:20–30 David claims that he has faithfully kept the ways of the LORD (v. 21), and thus God has rewarded him (vv. 20, 24). These claims are not self-righteous; the ways, rules, and statutes of the Lord (v. 22) include provisions for receiving forgiveness of sins.

FACT

What defined someone as an "enemy" of the people of Israel? The "enemies" mentioned in the Psalms (e.g., 18:17) were people hostile to the faith of God's people. Sometimes they expressed their hatred by physically attacking the people of Israel, while other times they merely rejoiced when Israel faced misfortunes.

PSALM—NOTE ON 18:30 The ESV footnote (substituting "blameless" for perfect) suggests that following the Lord's blameless way (see v. 21) is what enables a man to become blameless (vv. 23, 25).

PSALM—NOTE ON 18:31–45 David's rescue (vv. 16–19) came by way of his military skill, which was itself God's gift.

PSALM—NOTE ON 18:46–50 David's expectation that he will praise the Lord among the nations (v. 49; see Rom. 15:9) returns readers to the call of Abram, in whom the nations were to find blessing (Gen. 12:1–3).

PSALM—NOTE ON 18:50 salvation. David's victories are part of God's commitment to his people and to the whole world. Steadfast love to . . . David and his offspring forever echoes 2 Sam. 7:12–16.

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 19. In singing this psalm, God's people celebrate his law as his supreme revelation of himself. The psalm recounts the way the creation speaks of its Maker (vv. 1–6), and the way the Mosaic law addresses the soul (vv. 7–11). This calls for a humble response (vv. 12–14).

FACT

Are the Psalms poetry? The Psalms often reflect the feelings or emotions of the person who wrote the psalm. The book of Psalms includes poetry that covers all kinds of emotional feelings and experiences, from anguish and sorrow to great joy and thanksgiving.

PSALM—NOTE ON 19:1 The glory of God includes his power, wisdom, and worthiness of honor and worship.

PSALM—NOTE ON 19:3 The speech here is the speech mentioned in v. 2a. voice is not heard. All people hear the voice, but not all respond to it.

PSALM—NOTE ON 19:4 See note on Rom. 10:18–19.

PSALM—NOTE ON 19:7 reviving the soul. That is, giving refreshment. sure. Trustworthy. simple. See Introduction to Proverbs: Reading Proverbs.

PSALM—NOTE ON 19:8 enlightening the eyes. For the eyes to have light or to be bright is for the person to be alert and active (compare 1 Sam. 14:27; Ezra 9:8; Ps. 13:3).

PSALM—NOTE ON 19:9 The fear of the LORD refers to the precepts of the covenant, which show how to properly revere God (compare 34:11).

PSALM—NOTE ON 19:11 reward. In this case, assurance and character growth.

PSALM—NOTE ON 19:12 hidden. Just as "there is nothing hidden" from the sun's heat (v. 6), so too the law searches all the hiding places of the soul.

PSALM—NOTE ON 19:13 presumptuous sins. Sins committed in proud disobedience to divine commands (Deut. 17:12). Such sins eventually will have dominion over the sinner. The faithful person desires, instead, to become blameless, just as the law is blameless (see note on Ps. 18:30).

PSALM—NOTE ON 19:14 Be acceptable comes from the language of sacrifice (as in Lev. 22:20). The singer is asking that his song be seen as a suitable act of worship before God, like a sacrifice.

Psalms PSALM—NOTE ON 20–21. These two psalms form a pair of royal psalms. Psalm 20 is a prayer that God will give success to the Davidic king, particularly in battle. Psalm 21 gives thanks to God for answering the request of Psalm 20.

PSALM—NOTE ON 20:2 The sanctuary in Zion is the place where God especially makes himself present among his people.

PSALM—NOTE ON 20:3 The offerings and burnt sacrifices were the means by which the worshiper gave himself to God and received assurance of God's love.

PSALM—NOTE ON 20:6–8 The worshipers now shift from speaking to the king to speaking about the king. They trust in God as the one who saves his anointed.

PSALM—NOTE ON 20:9 The terms save and "salvation" are repeated in this psalm (vv. 5, 6, 9).

PSALM—NOTE ON 21:1–7 These verses are addressed to the Lord (you) about the king (he), celebrating the military success prayed for in Psalm 20. The psalm assumes that the king is faithful to the Lord; it is not intended to endorse sinful plans.

FACT

What are royal psalms? Royal psalms (e.g., 18)emphasize God's promise to David that he would have an eternal kingdom (2 Samuel 7; 1 Chronicles 17). David and his descendants are called to bless Israel and the nations of the world. Some of these psalms are praises, some are thanksgivings, and some are confessions of sin. The promises to David point to the Messiah, the ultimate heir of David.

PSALM—NOTE ON 21:7 not be moved. Compare 10:6 and 15:5.

PSALM—NOTE ON 21:8–12 When the king (you) lives by the Davidic ideal, God takes hostility against the king as hostility against himself. Thus the godly king is the tool of God's wrath.

PSALM—NOTE ON 21:13 As in 18:46, the Lord is exalted when he shows his power by making the faithful king successful.

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 22. This psalm appears to be an individual lament. The singer has been attacked by unscrupulous people and mocked by those who should feel sympathy. Nevertheless, he looks forward to vindication and joyful worship with the rest of God's people. Because of its prominent place in the crucifixion story, Christian readers have found in this psalm a description of the sufferings of Jesus. See chart.

FACT

How often does the NT quote from the Psalms? Of all the OT books, the Psalms and Isaiah are by far the two most widely quoted in the NT.

PSALM—NOTE ON 22:1–2 why have you forsaken me? David feels distress because he has received no relief to his pain or answer to his prayers.

PSALM—NOTE ON 22:6–8 In contrast to God’s past faithfulness (vv. 3–5), the singer has been mocked by his fellow Israelites (v. 6).

The Use of Psalm 22 in Matthew 27

Ps. 22:18	They divide my garments among them, and for my clothing they cast lots.	And when they had crucified him, they divided his garments among them by casting lots.	Matt. 27:35
Ps. 22:7	All who see me mock me; they make mouths at me; they wag their heads.	And those who passed by derided him, wagging their heads.	Matt. 27:39
Ps. 22:8	“He trusts in the LORD; let him deliver him; let him rescue him, for he delights in him!”	He trusts in God; let God deliver him now, if he desires him. For he said, “I am the Son of God.”	Matt. 27:43
Ps. 22:1	My God, my God, why have you forsaken me? Why are you so far from saving me, from the words of my groaning?	And about the ninth hour Jesus cried out with a loud voice, saying, “Eli, Eli, lema sabachthani?” that is, “My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?”	Matt. 27:46

PSALM—NOTE ON 22:9–11 The singer again recalls the past, as in vv. 3–5, but this time it is more personal. In effect he tells the Lord, “Not only have you been faithful to our ancestors in Israel, you have always been faithful to me.” In this light he can pray confidently, be not far from me.

PSALM—NOTE ON 22:12–18 The singer’s enemies are bent on evil like bulls (v. 12), a lion (v. 13), and dogs (v. 16). This leaves the singer without energy (v. 14) or strength (v. 15). Compare 1 Pet. 5:8.

PSALM—NOTE ON 22:18 This verse is quoted in John 19:24.

PSALM—NOTE ON 22:19–21 do not be far off. While recalling God’s past answers to his prayers, the singer asks for relief in his present distress.

PSALM—NOTE ON 22:22–31 The singer is confident that when God answers his prayer, he will be vindicated and will again be able to join God’s people in worship. Indeed, all the families of the nations will join him in praising God (see Gen. 12:3; 22:18; etc.). The singer’s personal story of trouble and vindication is part of the larger story of God’s redemptive work in the world.

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 23. This psalm describes God in two ways: as the Shepherd who cares for the sheep (vv. 1–4), and as the Host who cares for his guest (vv. 5–6). In worship, the faithful celebrate God's greatness and majesty. He is the shepherd for Israel as a whole, and for each faithful Israelite as well.

Terms in Psalms

Term	Explanation	Example
Image	A word or phrase that names a concrete action or thing; by extension, a character, setting, or event in a story is an image—a concrete embodiment of human experience or an idea.	the way (or path); the congregation (or assembly); nature (or harvest) (Psalm 1)
Metaphor	An implied comparison that does not use the formula like or as.	"The LORD is my shepherd" (Ps. 23:1).
Simile	A figure of speech in which a writer compares two things using the formula like or as.	"He is like a tree planted by streams of water" (Ps. 1:3).
Personification	A figure of speech in which human attributes are given to something nonhuman, such as animals, objects, or abstract qualities.	Light and truth are personified as guides in Psalm 43:3.
Hyperbole	A figure of speech in which a writer consciously exaggerates for the sake of effect; usually that effect is emotional, and thus, loosely put, hyperbole usually expresses emotional truth rather than literal truth.	"My tears have been my food day and night" (Ps. 42:3).
Apostrophe	A figure of speech in which the writer addresses someone absent as though present and capable of responding. By slight extension, an apostrophe might be an address to something nonhuman as though it were human and capable of responding, even if the speaker is in the presence of the object.	The poet in Psalm 148:3 might well be looking up at the sun, moon, or stars as he commands them to praise God.

PSALM—NOTE ON 23:1 shepherd. The Bible often describes the Lord as a shepherd (see Gen. 48:15; 49:24; Ps. 28:9; 80:1; 95:7; 100:3; Rev. 7:17). Want means to lack what one needs.

PSALM—NOTE ON 23:3 The restoration of the soul indicates the returning of life or vitality (compare 19:7; Ruth 4:15; Prov. 25:13; Lam. 1:19). Those who are faithful to God will tend to follow the paths that lead to righteousness. This pursuit of morality is a blessing, not a burden.

PSALM—NOTE ON 23:4 shadow of death. In a valley in the desert of Judah one can encounter deep shadows. One cannot know what bandits or wild animals are lurking in those shadows. These desert valleys are often dry streambeds (wadis), so there can also be flash floods. But even in such times of suspense and danger, the faithful can know that God is with them, and thus they need not fear.

PSALM—NOTE ON 23:5–6 prepare a table. The psalm now describes the faithful person as God's guest at a meal. The enemies are powerless to prevent the enjoyment of God's generous hospitality. For a non-Levite to dwell in the house of the Lord is to have ready access to the sanctuary for worship (compare 27:4).

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 24. This psalm seems to be intended for public worship—perhaps a celebration remembering how David brought the ark of the Lord into Jerusalem (2 Samuel 6).

FACT

What does Selah mean? Although the word Selah is found 39 times in the book of Psalms, its exact meaning is uncertain. Most scholars believe it is a musical term or a term to be used by a worship leader, possibly to mark a pause.

PSALM—NOTE ON 24:1–2 The Lord is the one who founded the world, where human beings dwell. Humans dwell on the land, rather than on the seas (compare Gen. 1:9–10). In 1 Cor. 10:26, Paul quotes Ps. 24:1 to explain that, since God owns everything, the believer may eat any kind of food with a clear conscience.

PSALM—NOTE ON 24:3–6 Every Israelite has the right to attend worship at the sanctuary (the hill of the Lord, his holy place), but not everyone will really receive blessing, and not everyone will enjoy the status of righteousness. God expects the Israelites to show by behavior that they truly are his people (vv. 4, 6). This is a recurring theme in the OT: see 15:1–5; 51:16–19; Prov. 15:8; Isa. 1:11–17.

PSALM—NOTE ON 24:7–10 The people bearing the ark announce God’s presence in the ark, seeking entry into his sanctuary (v. 7). The people inside the sanctuary reply, Who is this King of glory? The people bearing the ark then say who the Lord is (The Lord, strong and mighty, the Lord, mighty in battle!) and then repeat the request for entry (v. 9).

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 25. In this lament, individual members of the worshiping assembly ask God for help in their various troubles. While the psalm expresses faith in God’s kindness, it does not end in the confident way of most laments (vv. 16–22). The psalm also includes penitential elements, as the worshipers confess their sins and pray for forgiveness (vv.

6–7, 11, 18). There are echoes of Pentateuch promises, showing that the godly in Israel were to view the Sinai covenant as a gracious one.

PSALM—NOTE ON 25:1 I lift up my soul means "I direct my desire" (compare 24:4; 86:4; 143:8).

PSALM—NOTE ON 25:2–3 These worshipers, who see themselves as being among the faithful (I trust . . . wait for you), expect that their hope in the Lord has a worthy basis, so that they will not be put to shame.

PSALM—NOTE ON 25:4–5 Those who trust in the Lord seek his guidance. They want to learn what manner of life (ways, paths) pleases him and how his commands apply to their specific circumstances.

PSALM—NOTE ON 25:6–7 The terms mercy, steadfast love, sins, and transgressions remind one of Ex. 34:6–7, which tells Israel of God's gracious intentions toward them. For God to remember something is for him to attend to it in order to act (compare Ps. 8:4; 9:12; 20:3). The faithful ask God to attend to them in mercy rather than according to their sins (compare 79:8).

PSALM—NOTE ON 25:8–11 This section celebrates the way in which God forgives his people and guides them in moral growth. As the people keep God's covenant, they will come to know the forgiveness and guidance that it graciously offers.

PSALM—NOTE ON 25:12–15 Verse 12 focuses on the particular person (the man) who fears the LORD. Such a person will know God's guidance, blessing, and friendship (compare 55:14; Prov. 3:32).

PSALM—NOTE ON 25:16–21 The psalmist prays for deliverance from the affliction, trouble, and foes that threaten (vv. 17–19). He can pray with confidence because his sins are forgiven (v. 18b). The virtues of integrity and uprightness are God's means of protecting his people.

PSALM—NOTE ON 25:22 Redeem generally means rescue and protect, especially in relation to Israel (see 44:26; 130:7–8) or a faithful worshiper (see 34:22; 55:18).

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 26. This psalm may be part of an entrance liturgy by which pilgrims came into the sanctuary. If this is the case, the psalm shows those who attend worship what qualities the ideal covenant participant should possess (see Psalms 15 and 24). The psalmist's claims of innocence must be understood in light of God's steadfast love and faithfulness (26:3). This clearly echoes Ex. 34:6 and shows that God's grace is the foundation for holy living.

PSALM—NOTE ON 26:1–3 For God to vindicate the worshiper means that he distinguishes between the faithful and the unfaithful. The faithful are those who obey the covenant, who keep God's steadfast love . . . before their eyes and walk in God's faithfulness. They live by the grace revealed in Ex. 34:6.

PSALM—NOTE ON 26:4–8 The faithful covenant participant refuses to join with the unfaithful (hypocrites, evildoers, wicked) in their crooked schemes. He rejects their values (see 1:1). He aims to take part in public worship with moral innocence and with delight (love, 26:8).

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 27. In singing Psalm 27, God's people have a way to express confidence in him and to respond to challenging life situations. The psalm describes a faithful person attacked by those who would destroy him. One who can trust God in those circumstances can trust him in other situations as well.

PSALM—NOTE ON 27:1–3 The terms fear and be afraid contrast with be confident. The faithful must learn to base their confidence on God's ever-present protection (light, salvation, stronghold). This confidence grows through experiences of deliverance (as v. 2 shows).

PSALM—NOTE ON 27:4 dwell in the house of the LORD. Compare 23:6. God's beauty is what the faithful yearn to gaze upon (that is, to view with admiration and affection) as they seek him in worship (see 27:13).

FACT

The term house of the LORD (27:4) always refers to the temple, where God in OT times lived among his people.

PSALM—NOTE ON 27:8 God addresses his words, Seek my face, to more than one person. The singer responds to the invitation. The seeking is done in the sanctuary (see. v. 4).

PSALM—NOTE ON 27:13 The goodness of the LORD is probably his gracious character, as revealed by his actions (Ex. 33:19; 34:6–7). On the land of the living see Isa. 38:11; Jer. 11:19.

PSALM—NOTE ON 27:14 To wait for the LORD is to look to him with dependence and trust, not passivity. This enables one to be strong and courageous (see Deut. 31:6).

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 28. This is a lament, a cry for help during the threat posed by evildoers. The threat is probably to the whole community (vv. 8–9), which each of the faithful is personally involved in (thus the references to "I," "me," and "my" throughout).

PSALM—NOTE ON 28:1–2 The situation is desperate. To be like those who go down to the pit is probably to be like those who suffer divine judgment (see 30:3, 9; 88:4; 143:7).

PSALM—NOTE ON 28:2 most holy sanctuary. This is the "innermost sanctuary" (see ESV footnote), the place mentioned in 1 Kings 6:16.

PSALM—NOTE ON 28:3–5 The wicked here are not simply people who commit sins, for even the faithful do that (see 32:6). The wicked are those who oppose God and his people with deceit and treachery (evil is in their hearts). Note the contrast between their work and the work of their hands (that is, of the wicked), and God's works and the work of his hands.

PSALM—NOTE ON 28:6–9 The psalm ends with confidence that God will protect his people and his anointed (the Davidic king, who represents and embodies the whole people; see 2:8).

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 29. This is a hymn of praise to God for his awesome power. A thunderstorm serves as a visible representation of God's majestic voice. It seems reasonable to suppose that setting the psalm in a thunderstorm deliberately places Yahweh over Baal, the storm-god widely worshiped in Syria-Palestine. God created the phenomena of nature. They serve his purposes and demonstrate his wisdom, glory, faithfulness, and even his love.

PSALM—NOTE ON 29:1–2 The psalm begins by urging the heavenly beings or angels to ascribe to the LORD glory and strength, that is, to acknowledge that these things are true of God, and that he deserves admiration for them.

PSALM—NOTE ON 29:3–9 The thunderstorm represents of the voice of the LORD. The reader should imagine a magnificent storm coming eastward from the Mediterranean and sweeping through Israel, from the northern end (Sirion) to the southern end (Kadesh). The faithful, worshiping in the temple in Jerusalem, see the storm's awesome power. They know that the voice of the LORD is even more powerful, and even more full of majesty. Hence their responsive cry, Glory!

PSALM—NOTE ON 29:10–11 The temple (v. 9) is the place where God sits enthroned (9:11; 22:3) as king forever, especially over his people. The word for flood here is used elsewhere only of Noah's flood (Gen. 6:17). Just as in that great flood, God's power makes distinctions between the faithful and the unfaithful.

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 30. According to the title, David composed Psalm 30 for the temple's dedication (which took place after David died, 1 Kings 8:63). The psalm's theme is one of personal thanksgiving for God's repeated care and deliverance over a lifetime. The psalm is based on David's experience, and the worshipers can liken their own experiences to his.

PSALM—NOTE ON 30:1–3 I will extol you. The singer is led to praise God by three experiences: deliverance from the attacks of the foes, answered prayer in desperate circumstances, and rescue from approaching death.

PSALM—NOTE ON 30:4–5 The singer urges his fellow worshipers to join him, to sing praises and give thanks. Though there is indeed weeping in the lives of the faithful, it comes to an end. Morning stands for the time when God gives relief (compare 90:14).

PSALM—NOTE ON 30:6–7 It is God who makes the believer's mountain stand strong (a picture of unshakable security). If the Lord should remove his care, the faithful are undone.

PSALM—NOTE ON 30:8–10 The mere prolonging of earthly days is not the goal of deliverance. The faithful live to praise God, to tell of his faithfulness.

PSALM—NOTE ON 30:11–12 My glory is a poetical term in Psalms for one's whole being (see 16:9; 108:1).

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 31. This is a lament seeking God's help amid persecution (vv. 4, 8, 11, 13, 15, 18, 20). There are many connections with the author David's life. The wording is general enough for all kinds of people to identify with this prayer.

PSALM—NOTE ON 31:1–2 I take refuge. The person who depends on and trusts the Lord (see 5:11; 16:1; 25:20) may seek his help. be put to shame. See note on 25:2–3. God's righteousness is his faithfulness to his promises. It is grounds for assurance, not for fear.

PSALM—NOTE ON 31:5 Into your hand I commit my spirit. Jesus uses these words on the cross (Luke 23:46). He dies as the innocent sufferer, trusting God for vindication (see note on Psalm 22).

PSALM—NOTE ON 31:10 David says that he is in distress because of my iniquity. But his prayer is that the purposes of God will prevail rather than the schemes of David's enemies or the disabilities due to his sins.

PSALM—NOTE ON 31:14–18 David's trust in the Lord during the present distress is based on his experiences as reported in vv. 3–8 and also on the promises of the covenant (steadfast love). For make your face shine, see Num. 6:25.

PSALM—NOTE ON 31:19–24 The God who has made promises and who has kept them in the past will continue to do both. On v. 24, see 27:14.

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 32. This is usually classified as a thanksgiving hymn. Worshipers thank God for the joy of having their sins forgiven. Since the psalm is about confession and forgiveness it can also be classified as a penitential psalm (see Psalms 6; 38 and note; 51; 130; 143).

PSALM—NOTE ON 32:1–2 On blessed, see note on 1:1. The terms transgression, forgiven, sin, and iniquity all echo Ex.34:6–7, which is a key passage about God's kindness and mercy toward those who receive his covenant. No one needs to force God to show mercy. Rather, the faithful confess their sins because they believe God is merciful.

PSALM—NOTE ON 32:3–5 Only those who are forgiven are truly happy. When the psalmist kept silent, refusing to confess his sins, God's hand was heavy upon him. But this was merciful because it led him to confess his sin (vv. 3–4).

PSALM—NOTE ON 32:6–11 Therefore. The conclusion for everyone who is godly is to offer prayer (of confession) at a time when God may be found. The psalmist is warning against being foolish and waiting indefinitely (see v. 9) before seeking the Lord.

FACT

Summers in Israel can be very hot, depending on where one is (see 32:4). In places like Masada, near the Dead Sea, temperatures can soar past 110 degrees Fahrenheit (43° C) without a drop of rain. However, Jerusalem, with its higher elevation, remains cooler with temperatures between 75 and 85 degrees (24 to 29° C).

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 33. This is a hymn of praise to the God who made all things, who rules all things for his own purposes, and who has chosen a people to be his own and to bless the whole world. Many of its themes come from Genesis. The psalm flows from a call to praise God, to several reasons for praise, to a closing filled with glad and peaceful hope.

PSALM—NOTE ON 33:1–3 The new song (see 40:3; 98:1; Isa. 42:10; Rev. 5:9) may describe a response to a new experience of God's grace.

PSALM—NOTE ON 33:4–9 The first reason for praise is God's word (vv. 4, 6, 9). It is upright, expressing God's righteous motives (vv. 4–5), and it is spoken by the God who made everything (vv. 6–9). See Gen. 1:1–2:3, where each time God spoke, what he commanded came to be.

FACT

A harp or a lyre? Both harps and lyres were hand-held stringed instruments with wooden frames. (See 33:2.)

PSALM—NOTE ON 33:10–12 The second reason for praise is that no power can oppose God successfully, because they all derive their being and power from God. people whom he has chosen as his heritage. The descendants of Abraham have been called by God to teach the whole world about him (Gen. 12:1–3). Blessed by God, thus they bless.

PSALM—NOTE ON 33:20–22 As the faithful understand the greatness and wonder of God, they are strengthened to rest their souls on the Lord. They are confident that God's plans will succeed.

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 34. This psalm is an expression of thanksgiving for God's protection and care for those who trust in him. The title connects the psalm to 1 Sam. 21:10–15, where David is saved from danger by pretending to be insane in the presence of King Achish of Gath. Probably the name Abimelech in the psalm is a title or alternate name for the king of Gath. David does not take credit for this narrow escape, nor does he deny the importance of the faithful using their wits in desperate situations.

PSALM—NOTE ON 34:1–3 After announcing his intention to bless the LORD at all times, the singer invites all the humble to join him in song. When God blesses someone (e.g., 29:11), he speaks a good word that leads to that person's well-being; when a human blesses God (e.g., 26:12), he speaks a good word about God's kindness and generosity (see Eph. 1:3).

PSALM—NOTE ON 34:4–7 The psalmist gives specific examples of God's kindness. Ashamed in this context means being disappointed at not finding what was hoped for.

PSALM—NOTE ON 34:8–14 The song encourages all who sing it to fear the LORD (v. 9), that is, to respect, obey, and worship God. It offers ways to show this through one's behavior (vv. 11–14). The verb taste (v. 8), which in the OT is commonly used in the literal sense, is a metaphor for personal experience (see 1 Pet. 2:3). First Peter 3:10–12 uses Ps. 34:12–16 to summarize the ideal behavior and lifestyle for Christians.

PSALM—NOTE ON 34:15–22 The final section describes how the Lord cares for his faithful. It also shows the difference between the way God treats the faithful and the wicked. Both the righteous and the wicked will have afflictions (see the repetition in vv. 19, 21). The difference is in the outcomes (contrast condemned, v. 21, with none . . . condemned, v. 22). On redeems, see note on 25:22.

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 35. This psalm shows how the faithful should pray when they know that hateful people are seeking to harm them. It explains the persecutors' evil schemes and asks God to fight on behalf of his faithful ones.

PSALM—NOTE ON 35:4–8 The faithful pray that the schemes of the pursuers would fail, and that the pursuers themselves would suffer disappointment, humiliation, and destruction. It is proper for God's people to pray this prayer since the pursuers devise evil (v. 4) without cause (vv. 7, 19). The prayer is not a vindictive response to personal injury but an appeal based on faith.

FACT

Strong offense and defense. The shield and buckler (35:2) and the spear and javelin (35:3) represented extremes in weaponry. While the shield was lighter and could be carried without the use of a helper, the larger buckler gave the warrior more protection. The javelin could be hurled at enemies from a distance while the spear served better in close combat.

PSALM—NOTE ON 35:9–10 The song looks forward to joy and gratitude when its request is answered.

PSALM—NOTE ON 35:19–21 The pursuers scheme (wink the eye), particularly against the hardworking faithful (those who are quiet in the land). In John 15:25 Jesus uses Ps. 35:19 (hate me without cause; see also 69:4) to portray himself as the quintessential innocent sufferer and to imply that his followers may expect the same treatment.

PSALM—NOTE ON 35:22–26 Asking God to be not silent (as if he were indifferent toward evil) but awake and rouse yourself (as if he were asleep) shows how urgent the singer feels the situation to be. God's righteousness, as often in the OT, is his faithfulness in keeping his promises (also v. 28).

PSALM—NOTE ON 35:27–28 The song's high point is the prospect of telling all the faithful (those who delight in my righteousness) of God's faithfulness (v. 28; see vv. 9–10, 18).

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 36. This is a lament that reflects on the wicked and on the steadfast love of the Lord. It concludes with a prayer that God will protect his people from the attacks of the wicked.

PSALM—NOTE ON 36:1–4 The wicked person has no fear of God before his eyes (see Rom. 3:18). He does evil and plans evil. He particularly schemes to bring trouble to others, especially the godly.

PSALM—NOTE ON 36:5–9 The pairing of God's steadfast love and faithfulness recalls Ex. 34:6, describing God's kindness. Righteousness and judgments express God's enduring commitment to act kindly toward his creatures and to save them. In view of this, people can take refuge under his wings and can be welcome guests at his table.

PSALM—NOTE ON 36:9 The fountain of life refreshes and sustains life; see Prov. 10:11; 13:14. To see light means to experience life (e.g., Job 33:28; Ps. 49:19).

FACT

The phrase shadow of your wings (36:7) is also found in two other psalms (17:8; 57:1). It symbolizes the protection and safety of the Lord.

PSALM—NOTE ON 36:10–12 The psalm ends with an appeal to God’s reliable love for his faithful ones (those who know you, that is, the upright of heart).

Psalm PSALM—NOTE ON 37. This can be called a wisdom psalm because it reflects on themes normally dealt with in the Bible’s Wisdom Literature, particularly in Proverbs. It addresses the issue of why godless people often prosper. It shows that it really is better to stay loyal to the Lord—a loyalty expressed in contentment, honesty, and generosity. In his own good time, the Lord will make a clear distinction between the godless and the faithful. Meanwhile, the faithful must wait patiently.

PSALM—NOTE ON 37:1 Because they know that the Lord will eventually bring justice, the faithful should not fret (see note on v. 9).

PSALM—NOTE ON 37:4 The Lord will give the faithful the desires of their heart, that is, he will give them what their heart longs for. It is safe to say this, because as the faithful delight in the Lord, their hearts will desire the right things (see vv. 16, 31).

PSALM—NOTE ON 37:9 The contrast between the two outcomes, those who shall be cut off and those who shall inherit the land, recurs throughout the psalm (vv. 11, 22, 28–29, 34). See also Prov. 2:21–22. “Cut off” describes the “future of the wicked” (Ps. 37:38), which likely refers to the afterlife.

PSALM—NOTE ON 37:11 Psalm 37 is concerned with ultimate outcomes, not simply the benefits of this present world. This accounts for why Jesus uses the first half of this verse in the third beatitude (Matt. 5:5): Jesus’ beatitudes describe benefits that are to be fully enjoyed at the last day.

PSALM—NOTE ON 37:12–20 The wicked person may hatch all manner of schemes against the righteous person (v. 12), but the faithful can live in contentment, even with little (v. 16; see Prov. 15:16; 16:8). They are confident that God knows the days of the blameless (Ps. 37:18) and will see to it that the wicked will perish, unfulfilled (v. 20).

PSALM—NOTE ON 37:21–31 The contented person is free to give generously to the needy (do good, v. 27). Without such contentment one might be greedy and envious, or else be fearful about becoming poor. He knows his steps . . . are established by the LORD (v. 23), and thus even though he fall (probably, "suffer material hardship") he can recover, for the LORD upholds his hand (v. 24). Verse 25 does not deny that there may be temporary setbacks for the righteous. The focus is on the ultimate outcome.
